Minister Visits District

Takes Up Matter of Roads in the District and Kimberley

MAY DECIDE NEW ROAD

Monday of this week Cranbrook and Kimberley received a visit from the Hon. Dr. Sutherland, member for Revelstoke in the Provincial House. For some time past many questions in connection with the roads of the district have been presenting themselves to the local authorities, who, mainly through the absence of funds, could not be decided. A visit from the head of the department became imperative, when request after request went into the department for consideration. As stated above, the Minister of Public Works came, and in company with the department engineer, Mr. Brady, and road superintendent John Taylor, a trip of inspection was made over the Kimberley road, as well as the Kimberley townsite, and its later addition, Blarchmont Park.

As a result of his inspection and consultation with his engineer and supt., the following work was authorized and is now under way:

The Kimberley road from Black Bear bridge to Kimberley townsite, Blarchmont Park, is to be surfaced over its two miles; other work of opening up streets through the town was also ordered. This should prove a great boon, as there are many streets upon which good residences have been erected that are at present without means of ingress or egress. The party looked over the road and the plan recently made by engineer Cummings, and when this is further considered on the return of the minister to Victoria, an announcement will be made as to the department's intentions. It is considered likely that there will be a diversion from the old road by the new road from Cranbrook to Wycliffe, whereas the old road will be followed from Wycliffe to Black Bear Creek, where the new road is already constructed to Kimberley through Blarchmont Park. It is anticipated that something will be done on this end in the near future. In the Kimberley townsite, work is already being undertaken whereby the new road through the park will connect up with the Kimberley road through Mark Street, which is being surfaced, making the crossing of the track at the same point as at present. The matter of the crossing of the tracks at the point originally planned, at Wallinger Avenue, is being taken up with the Railway Commission, there being some matters of importance as far as the railway company are concerned to be considered.

While here the doctor expressed his utmost surprise at the growth that Kimberley had made, and while he had reasoned that the requests for improvement here and there in the town indicated that things were going ahead, he had had no idea that such steps had been made.

Before leaving the city for Kimberley, President W. H. Wilson, of the Cranbrook Board of Trade, got the doctor's ear for a short time, and we believe that as a result something will be done at once with the "stone set" highway between Moyie and Yahk. In company with engineer Brady, Dr. Sutherland left on Tuesday for the Windermere district.

Enjoying Holiday at Vancouver

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clark are enjoying a short vacation at the coast, After visiting in Vancouver, Mrs. Clark went on to Victoria, while Mr. Clark took in the class at the Y. in Seattle.

Mr. Porter Delivers Final Sermon

Sunday evening the union services which have been going on for the past months between the congregation of the Baptist and the United churches were concluded, when Mr. H. L. Porter who has been conducting these services spoke for the last time in the United church. Next Sunday the service will be taken by the pastor, Rev. B. C. Freeman. A large congregation were out and listened intently to the very able address given by the speaker, his remarks being timely and convincing. Mrs. Brumby favored with a well-rendered vocal solo which was most pleasing.

ELK PRAIRIE RANCHER CHARGED WITH MURDER OF ROAD FOREMAN

Jessie Mansfield, of Elk Prairie, near Natal, B. C., who is lodged in the Fernie jail charged with the murder of George Whiting, government road foreman in that district, is well known in Cranbrook. He is a war veteran, having served with the 225th battalion and later with the second C.M.R. On Wednesday of last week, the road gang of which Whiting as foreman, were working on a new road, the right-of-way of which was to take in about sixteen feet of the Mansfield ranch. Mansfield objected to this being done and ordered the road crew off his land. They refused and he went to the house for his gun. Returning to the scene of work, he fired four or five shots, two of which took effect, slightly wounding some of the road crew, the remainder fleeing from the scene of the shooting. Whiting was also slightly wounded in the back with one of the bullets.

Not satisfied with this, Mansfield proceeded to seek Whiting who had disappeared when the shooting began. In the meantime the police, who had been notified, were brought up to search for Mansfield but he lay concealed in the heavy brush until the following day when Whiting was shot dead while driving on his way home. The only motive which could be ascribed for the crime is that Mansfield conceived a grudge against Whiting for putting the new road through his property. Constable Smith of the provincial police, who was detailed to watch Mansfield's house, was able to secure him the next day after coolly reasoning with him while still armed with a high-powered sporting rifle. At the prisoner's request, he was taken to the Fernie jail by Constable Smith and Sargeant Greenwood.

Mansfield is a well-known trapper, hunter and guide of that district and is known to all the hunters of the district. Game Warden Gregory Thomas and Constable Charlie Johnson of this city are among those who are well acquainted with Mansfield. Three of his daughters reside in Fernie and two other children are with their mother at Elk Prairie, while Whiting is survived by a widow and six children.

MRS. CRAWFORD IS HONORED BY FRIENDS ON EVE OF LEAVING

Mrs. A. Crawford and son Billy left on Friday last for Calgary where Mrs. Crawford will make her home with a son for a while. She expects to take up nursing in that city. She has been a resident of this city for many years, conducting the Cottage hospital on Garden avenue, and during the time she has been so engaged, not less than one thousand youngsters have been added to the population of the district, with her assistance and care as a trained nurse. Her hospital maintained an extremely high percentage of successful cases, and many friends have expressed regret that Mrs. Crawford found it impossible to continue operating the institution.

On Friday evening a farewell party was tendered Mrs. Crawford by a number of her friends when a very pleasant time was had, the function taking place at the home of Mrs. W. B. McFarlane. During this time Mrs. Crawford was presented with a purse containing a check for an amount to show Mrs. Crawford that her friends held her in sufficiently high esteem to make their gift to her not inconsiderable.

FLOWER SHOW ATTRACTS A LARGE CROWD--MANY SPLENDID DISPLAYS--BIG SUCCESS

BIG PROGRAM FOR KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS AND SISTERS

Elsewhre in this issue is an item of a special meeting of the Knights of Pythias, to be held on Saturday evening next, when a degree team from Fernie will put on the rank of Knight on local candidates. It has since been arranged that on the same evening at the Oddfellows' hall the Pythian Sisters will participate in a similar joint meeting with Kimberley, and following the meeting a social time will be held in Castle hall. The following Sunday the local lodges, accompanied by the visiting Fernie members, will conduct the decoration ceremonies at the Cranbrook cemetery.

Returns After Short Holiday

Mr. J. Giegerich, accompanied by his aunt, Mrs. Callaghan, returned to Cranbrook after a visit to his home in Kaslo. Mr. Giegerich left on Wednesday for New York, whence he leaves via Panama for South America. Mrs. Callaghan will be staying for a few days, visiting with her niece, Mrs. G. E. L. McKinnon, before returning to her home.

Has Good Window Display

An interesting display has been noticed this week in the windows of Patey Bros.' Music Store showing the various steps in the process of manufacturing the famous Columbia records. The complete process is shown from the original recording which is made, and the steel and copper patterns or mother matrices to the finished cast including the special process of pressing the labels into the composition instead of sticking them on with adhesive. The manufacturing of records has grown to be an immense industry in this country and the process as illustrated by the various processes has been of much interest.

Visits City From Waterloo

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Towriss had the pleasure this week of a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Valentine, of Waterloo, Ont., Mrs. Valentine being a sister of Mrs. Towriss. While here the visitors were shown Kimberley, and the Concentrator. Mr. Valentine, who is a member of the firm of Valentine-Marten, of Waterloo, is a successful shoe manufacturer. Their firm at present does a large business, selling to such agencies as the Great West Saddlery and other wholesale houses. Concluding his business at Calgary, Mr. Valentine extended his journey to enjoy Banff and Lake Louise, coming to Cranbrook via Revelstoke and the Arrow Lakes. In conversation with one of the Herald's reporters, he stated that he was much impressed with the grandeur of British Columbia's scenery, and was enjoying it immensely. Looking at the West through his business optics he claimed that one could not help but be aroused with the wonderland that exists west of the Great Lakes. The potential greatness of Canada was everywhere apparent, and in his opinion, while the East was naturally desirous of going ahead, still it was up to the West to get whatever benefit that was legitimately theirs from the great prairie production. So far as the East is concerned, he felt that unless some measure of protection was given the shoe manufacturer, that nothing but disaster would be staring them in the face. At the present time it was the survival of the fitest. It was impossible to compete with labor at 50c a day, when you had to pay a dollar. The question of dealing with Preferential tariff would have to be tackled. While all right at one time, it does not fit in with conditions as we find them today. He was of the opinion that there would be an enormous scurrying to the Conservative ranks in the next election, as it would doubtless be fought out on the question of tariff, and that the people were now convinced that in a raising of the tariff was their only hope.

OFFICIALLY OPENED BY THE MAYOR ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON OF LAST WEEK

Were there any doubt as to the value of the Cranbrook Women's Institute to the community, one would only have to point to the Annual Flower Show which the Institute sponsors to show they are one of the important agents in the doing of things that count to the city and district. Characteristic of the Institute, their work is done without the blowing of trumpets, but with a thoroughness that always spells success. This may be seen not only in the annual flower show, but in the various avenues of endeavor in which their efforts are directed. That this year's show was the best and most successful on record is pleasing to note and should be gratifying and encouraging to the members of the Institute who took such an active part and who devoted so much time to insure it being so, and will doubtless be the means of spurring all the members on to still greater endeavors.

After carefully examining the various exhibits on display at the Knights of Pythias Hall on Thursday last, one wondered why the ladies called it a flower show, for while the display of the various flowers was excellent, there was also such a showing of other things, including fancy work, vegetables, home cooking, etc., that one thought it should be called the minature fall fair.

Prior to the opening ceremony, a short musical program was given. A duet by Mesdames MacPherson and Norgrove was greatly enjoyed and received a well deserved encore, as also did a violin solo by Mr. Padberg, accompanied by Mrs. Edmonson.

Besides voicing his sympathy with the work of the Institute, his worship gave tangible evidence thereof in his thoughtful donation of a beautiful silver flower basket for the best display of flowers, which was won by Mrs. George Smith and begrudged her by none, her excellent display of sweet peas and other blossoms being much admired by all.

As before mentioned, the whole show was a great credit to those responsible therefor and showed as well that the citizens of Cranbrook are not lacking in the possession of talents along artistic and other lines. The work of the judges was no easy task in picking the winners in the various competitions, the result of their work is given below.

Besides the entries for the competition, there were several in the different classifications whose cards indicated that they were non-competitive. Amongst these was a display of cut flowers and plants artistically arranged on the piano at the end of the hall. These were from the garden of Mr. W. D. Willis, and attracted much attention. Vieing with the excellent display of flowers at the Show was the wonderful showing of Fancy Work, which occupied a table and wall the entire length of the north side of the building. Here were to be seen examples of all sorts of embroidery, crochet, darned and knitted goods. The display of vegetables was also an indication of what might be done in the raising of garden vegetables. There is every likelihood that next year there will be a stronger competition in the vegetable line, as many are jealous of their neighbor's garden this year, and are determined to start in on this profitable hobby.

While attending to the vegetables and flower garden between times, or busy at other times with the needle or hook, it was evident that the women are not overlooking that most important section of their sphere, that of satisfactorily caring for the wants of the inner man of the members of their household. The display of home cooking, baking and canned goods was very creditable.

Much credit is due to the committee in charge of the Show, who

GRAND PROGRAM FOR LABOR DAY WILL HELP FAIR

The committee in charge of the Labor Day celebration have been hard at work preparing for the big day, and promise that Labor Day, 1925, will be one that will be enjoyed to the full by all.

The sports' committee have two good baseball games in view, while plans are still underway for a lacrosse game between Kimberley and Cranbrook. The racing at the grounds in the afternoon promises to attract all the horses in the district, while at night the big dance will attract a large crowd. The announcement of the winner of the Popular Girl contest will be an added attraction at the dance. Make it a point to patronize the events on Labor Day, as the revenue gained will go to defraying the expenses of the Fall Fair on the 16th.

Mr. McQuaid left on Sunday for San Francisco and other southern points, where he will enjoy a two weeks' holiday.

Following the hearing of several candidates for the pulpit of Knox church, the congregation by unanimous vote tendered a call to Rev. S. Blackburn. Mr. Blackburn has accepted and is expected to take up work here following his return from a wedding trip to the East. While temporarily in charge of the work here, Mr. Blackburn made many friends, who will be pleased to learn of his selection as pastor.

GYROS INSTALL NEXT WEEK

Invitations are out for the installation banquet of the Kimberley Gyro Club, which is to be held on Saturday evening, August 29th. This will mark the official institution of the local club, and representatives from a number of outside clubs will be in attendance.

HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL ARRIVES IN THE CITY FOR THE NEW TERM

R. M. Archer, B. A., the new principal of the high school, arrived in the city last week and is making preparations for the commencement of his work next term. Mr. Archer is a native of Ireland and a graduate of Dublin University, but has been many years in this country and has had extensive high school and public school teaching experience both in this province and in Alberta. He has been teaching recently at New Dayton, Alberta. Mr. Archer's family is resident in Vancouver.

He expects an attendance of at least one hundred and fifty at the high school this coming term. There will be two first-year and two second-year classes while the two senior classes will be conducted separately, making a total of six classes, which the staff of five will carry on. Two or three years ago Mr. Archer visited this city in the course of a motor trip. He expects to lay out his own work in the high school curriculum according to the capabilities of the remaining members of the staff, so that he is not yet certain what subjects he himself will be teaching.

Mrs. H. E. Jecks, Jr., and Mrs. A. W. Smith and daughter, all from Lethbridge, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Jecks, at "Hazeldene."

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Flett and family returned on Tuesday from a two weeks' holiday spent in the Banff-Lake Louise district, where a pleasant time was had.

After a visit of two weeks with friends in Lethbridge, Mrs. W. S. Johnson returned to the city on Sunday last, accompanied by her daughter, Florence. At Fernie she was joined by Miss Peggy Johnson, who has been spending the summer holidays at the home of Mrs. Thompson. While there she took advantage of the opportunity of getting some instruction in Highland and other fancy dancing.

Mr. George Leask, who has charge of the construction of the concrete structure over St. Joseph's Creek, on Edward Street, is making very favorable progress with same, the removal of the old structure has been completed and the forms are now ready for the pouring of the concrete. The whole work will be completed shortly. Traffic at the present time is being diverted through the tourist park, a temporary entrance being made thereto at Edwards Street.

Tourists continue to pass through Cranbrook in fairly large numbers, there being registered at the tourist park each night between 15 and 20 cars. Most of these coming in now are on their return journey, quite a large number of destination records being kept at the tourist park being marked "home." Cars showing registry from the more distant States are becoming fewer each week. Frost was reported in the mountain resorts Wednesday night, but tourists claimed that the delightful day following could not be improved upon.

The Windermere district Fall Fair is being held this week and it is expected it will be a big success. It is hoped that a considerable number of the exhibits, particularly those of live stock and produce, may be entered at the Fall Fair here on the 16th. It is stated that Mr. R. R. Bruce, who is always a heavy exhibitor at the Windermere Fair, may be sending a considerable number of his entries there to the Fall Fair here. The Invermere experimental farm is also expected to be represented at the Fall Fair here with its usual comprehensive and educational display.

Among the many important business transactions recorded recently, is one of the purchase of the Regina branch of the Western Grocers, Ltd., by the A. McDonald Company. This deal was the result of a very tempting offer to the Western Grocery for their branch in the prairie city. That the Western Grocers are at the same time expanding their sphere of operation is indicated by a recent announcement by the company, which reads as follows: "Our president and general manager announces that the company has purchased the wholesale grocery business of the Northern Grocery Company, Ltd., at Fort Francis, Ontario, and has taken possession. This gives us two wholesale grocery houses in Western Ontario, and a total of fourteen branches in Western Canada."

A Big Yield on Prairies

Harvesting Operations in Full Swing for Bumper Crop

CONDITIONS ARE GOOD

Harvesting operations will be in full swing throughout western Canada this week, with present prospects pointing to a bumper yield, according to the Canadian National Railways crop report, issued a few days ago.

Taken as a whole, conditions in the prairie provinces are good, states the report, some districts in Saskatchewan and Alberta have suffered from drought, but summerfallow wheat even in these parts gives promise of a fair crop.

Grain is well filled in Manitoba and reported to be ripening rapidly. Wheat cutting has started at many points, and estimates place the yields well above the average. Coarse grain cutting is general.

Drought has offset early crop estimates in many districts throughout Saskatchewan. Prince Albert division reports favorable conditions with grain ripening fast. Around Saskatoon, some damage has been caused by hail and hot weather, coarse grains and late wheat, however, have benefitted by recent rains. Rye and barley cutting is progressing in many districts.

In Alberta crop conditions vary greatly. In the Calgary division, wheat estimates from 20 to 35 bushels to the acre. Around Edmonton an average is indicated of 20 bushels for wheat and from 35 to 40 for coarse grains. Farmers in the Athabasca district report fields coming along splendidly. Estimates running up to 30 bushels to the acre. Some damage has been caused by hail and sawfly in the Stettler and Drumheller sub-divisions.

There is now no excuse for parking within the prescribed distance from the city hydrants, as the city authorities have had the curb painted red in the danger zone.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Tuesday, September 1st, in the K. P. Hall. A paper will be given A short musimal program, and afternoon tea wil lbe servd. Members are requested to attend, as important business is to be brought up at the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Worden and family returned on Saturday last from a two weeks' trip round the circle tour. Leaving Cranbrook they were accompanied by Miss Eileen Bulter who had returned from Penticton with Miss Worden. Following a short stay in Calgary, the party spent the balance of their holiday in Banff, Lake Louise and other points of interest in the mountains and report a very pleasant holiday. Mr. Burns Milne, of Toronto, nephew of Mrs. Worden, who is visiting at the Worden home, was a member of the party.

Arthur Burch left on Sunday last for the States, expecting to take a position in Nevada. He has been with Little & Atchison Grocery store here for the past twelve years, joining them to drive the delivery wagon and afterwards taking a position in the store. He has been an active member of the Oddfellows, and although a good many friends were at the station on Sunday to bid him good-bye, it was unfortunately not known soon enough that he would be leaving the city, so that his friends were not able to show their good wishes in the form they would have most desired.

As announced elsewhere in this issue, the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Canada's incomparable weekly magazine and newspaper, has made a drastic reduction in its subscription price, and it can now be had for $1.00 per year. A special introductory offer is being made for new subscribers for the balance of 1925 for the small sum of 25c. This means a four months subscription to this big paper for the sum of 25c. Such an offer has never been experienced before. An exceedingly favorable combination rate can be had with the Cranbrook Herald for the same period. The two papers can be had for the balance of 1925 for the sum of 75c. New subscribers to these papers should not fail to act immediately on this unparalelled offer.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

A ROMANCE OF THE SPANISH MAIN

By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

And their own they made her in the end, and at cost of nearly half their numbers. Driven to the quarter-deck, the surviving defenders, urged on by the infuriated Rivarol, maintained awhile their desperate resistance. But in the end, Rivarol went down with a bullet in his head, and the French remnant, numbering scarcely a score of whole men, called for quarter.

Even then the labors of Blood's men were not at an end. The Elizabeth and the Medusa were tight-locked, and Hagthorpe's followers were being driven back aboard their own ship for the second time. Prompt measures were demanded. Whilst Pitt and his seamen bore their part with the sails, and Ogle went below with a gun-crew, Blood ordered the grapnels to be loosed at once. Lord Willoughby and the Admiral were already aboard the Victorieuse. As they swung off to the rescue of Hagthorpe, Blood, from the quarter-deck of the conquered vessel, looked his last upon the ship that had served him so well. A moment she rocked after her release, then slowly and gradually settled down, the water gurgling and eddying about her top-masts, all that remained visible to mark the spot where she had met her death. As he stood there, above the ghastly shambles in the waist of the Victorieuse, someone spoke behind him. "Captain Blood, never before have I seen the impossible made possible by resource and valor, or victory so gallantly snatched from defeat.

He turned, and presented to Lord Willoughby a formidable front. His head-piece was gone, his breastplate dinted, his right sleeve a rag hanging from his shoulder about a naked arm. He was splashed from head to foot with blood, and there was blood from a scalp-wound that he had taken, matting his hair and mixing with the grime of powder on his face to make him unrecognizable.

But from that horrible mask two vivid eyes looked out preternaturally bright, and from those eyes two tears had ploughed each a furrow through the filth of his cheeks.

CHAPTER XXVIII

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR

It was not until the evening of the following day that van der Kuylen's truant fleet of nine ships came to anchor in the harbor of Port Royal, and its officers, Dutch and English, were made acquainted with their admiral's true opinion of their worth.

Six ships of that fleet were instantly refitted for sea. There were other West Indian settlements demanding the visit of inspection of the new Governor-General, and Lord Willoughby was in haste to sail for the Antilles.

"And meanwhile," he complained to his admiral, "I am detained here by the absence of this fool of a Deputy-Governor."

"Aha! But id it not necessary you remain for dat. And meandime de Vrench will haf deir eye on Barbados, vich is nod vell defended. You haf here chust the man you vant. He vill require no instructshons, dis one. He vill know how to make Port Royal safe, bedder nor you or me."

"You mean Blood? Egad! I had thought of it; and, rip me, why not?"

Blood was sent for. He was a trifle dazzled by the honor proposed to him, when Lord Willoughby made it known. It was so far beyond anything that he had dreamed, and he was assailed by doubts of his capacity to undertake so onerous a charge.

"Damme!" snapped Willoughby, "should I offer it unless I were satisfied of your capacity? If that's your only objection—"

"It is not, my lord. I had counted upon going home, so I had. I am hungry for the green lanes of England." He sighed. "There will be apple blossoms in the orchards of Somerset."

"Apple blossoms!" His lordship's voice shot up like a rocket and cracked on the word. "What the devil—? Apple blossoms!" He looked at van der Kuylen. The admiral raised his brows and pursed his heavy lips. His eyes twinkled humorously in his great face.

"So!" he said. "Fery boedical!"

My lord wheeled fiercely upon Captain Blood.

"If you want your past forgotten and your future assured, this is your chance. Your duty lies here, at least for as long as the war lasts. When the war's over, you may get back to Somerset and cider or your native Ireland and its potheen, but until then you'll make the best of Jamaica and rum."

Van der Kuylen exploded into laughter. But Blood remained solemn to the point of glumness. His thoughts were on Miss Bishop, who was somewhere here in this very house in which they stood, but whom he had not seen since his arrival. Had she but shown him some compassion . . .

And then the rasping voice of Willoughby cut in again, upbraiding him for his hesitation, pointing out to him his incredible stupidity in trifling with such a golden opportunity as this. He stiffened and bowed.

"My lord, you are in the right. It shall be as you wish; and very gratefully, let me assure your lordship. I shall know how to earn his majesty's approbation. You may depend upon my loyal service."

Thus it was settled, Blood's commission was made out and sealed in the presence of Mallard, the commandant.

"We sail tomorrow morning," his lordship announced. Blood was startled.

"And Colonel Bishop?" he asked.

"He becomes your affair. You are now the Governor. You will deal with him as you think proper on his return. Hang him from his own yardarm. He deserves it."

"Isn't the task a trifle invidious?" wondered Blood.

"Very well. I'll leave a letter for him. I hope he'll like it."

Captain Blood took up his duties at once. With the sanction of Lord Willoughby he marshalled his buccaneers and surrendered to them one-fifth of the captured treasure, leaving to their choice thereafter either to depart or to enrol themselves in the service of King William.

A score of them elected to remain, and amongst these were Jeremy Pitt, Ogle, and Dyke, whose outlawry, like Blood's, had come to an end with the downfall of King James. They were—saving old Wolverstone, who had been left behind at Cartagena—the only survivors of that band of rebels-convict who had left Barbados over three years ago in the Cinco Llagas.

On the following morning, whilst van der Kuylen's fleet was making finally ready for sea, Blood sat in the spacious whitewashed room that was the Governor's office, when Major Mallard brought him word that Bishop's homing squadron was in sight.

"I am glad he comes before Lord Willoughby's departure. The orders, Major, are that you place him under arrest the moment he steps ashore."

Peter Blood sat back in his chair and stared at the ceiling, frowning. Came a tap at the door, and an elderly negro slave presented himself. Would his excellency receive Miss Bishop? He sat quite still, conscious that his pulses were drumming in a manner wholly unusual to them. Then quietly he assented.

He rose when she entered, and if he was not as pale as she was, it was because his tan dissembled it. For a moment there was silence between them, as they stood looking each at the other. Then she moved forward, and began at last to speak, haltingly, in an unsteady voice, amazing in one usually so calm and deliberate.

"I . . . I . . . Major Mallard has just told me . . ."

"Major Mallard exceeded his duty," said Blood, and because of the effort he made to steady his voice, it sounded harsh and unduly loud. "You alarm yourself without reason, Miss Bishop. Whatever may lie between me and your uncle, you may be sure that I shall not follow the example he has set me. I shall not abuse my position to prosecute a private vengeance. On the contrary, I shall abuse it to protect him. Lord Willoughby's recommendation to me is that I shall treat him without mercy. My own intention is to send him back to his plantation in Barbados."

She came slowly forward now.

". . . I am glad that you will do that. Glad, above all, for your own sake." She held out her hand to him.

He considered it critically. Then he bowed over it. "I'll not presume to take it in the hand of a thief and a pirate," said he bitterly.

HISTORIC TROPHY IS BROUGHT BACK AS RELIC OF OLD FRANCE

Montreal—The arrival of the White Star liner Megantic which docked at Quebec last week marked an important event in the history of that city inasmuch as she carried among her passengers the Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, who brought back to this country the ancient escutcheon of King Louis XV. of France. No public ceremony was held, this having been postponed until September 10th.

The distinguished passenger was met by the Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Senator Casgrain, Mayor Samson and other representatives of Quebec.

In handing the escutcheon to the Mayor of the city the Hon. Mr. Peter Larkin said, that the people of Hastings, England, were naturally very much attached to this ancient souvenir, but out of sincere friendship for the Dominion of Canada and particularly for the city of Quebec they had decided to return this historic treasure to Quebec. He stated that the city of Hastings had requested him to have a replica made to replace the one now returned which had hung in their Council Chamber for so many years, and this has been done.

In accepting the escutcheon on behalf of the city of Quebec, Mayor Samson expressed the sincere thanks of the council and the people of the city. He assured Mr. Larkin that the people of the ancient capital of Canada very much appreciated the generous spirit which had prompted the return of the escutcheon which would be valued and guarded in Quebec as it had been in Hastings.

The historic crest was removed from one of the gates of Quebec in 1759 after the capture of that city by Wolfe and was taken to England by General Murray. Since that time this relic of the French regime has been in the possession of the city of Hastings, England, and some time ago negotiations were started with a view to its restoration which resulted in its return. The escutcheon measures 4 feet high and 3 feet wide and is beautifully carved and painted. Mr. Larkin has had constructed a mahogany case for the shield and during its journey across the Atlantic it had been carefully stored in a room specially provided on board the Megantic.

LAKE WINDERMERE NOTES

(Special to The Herald.)

(Special to the Herald)

Invermere, B.C., August 22—Mrs. Hugh L. Fuller and children, of Invermere Heights, have gone on a visit to relatives at the coast.

Mrs. McIntosh, of Toronto, and son, Kemp, are visitors at the home of Mrs. Basil G. Hamilton.

The whole of the Columbia Valley is again covered with a pall of smoke, due to the forest fires in the neighborhood.

Mr. Harding and Mr. Norman Harrington, mining men from the prairie, are in here in connection with their mining interests.

A most excellent improvement has been made in the main streets of Wilmer, at the instigation and cost of Mr. Perlain, the mining engineer of that place, who has had crude oil generously placed over the thoroughfares to lay the dust.

The directors of the Agricultural Association held their final meeting before the fall Fair time on Friday last and put the finishing touches on many things which required attention. For the fair which opens on Thursday, the 27th inst., and continues over the next day, everything will be in a state of readiness. It is expected that the number of entries will far exceed those of the last three years. The management is out to try and make a higher percentage than ever before.

General Montagu L. Hornby, D.S.O., at present residing near Lethbridge, Alberta, is here, having recently arrived with the intention of spending some time in looking over this agricultural propositions.

Hay cutting, inasfar as the first crop is concerned, is over and done with. The second cutting has in parts been commenced, but at the time of writing is not general. The quantity is quite up to standard. Local prices are said to be $27.00 per ton for Timothy and alfalfa, baled and in the yard. The potato crop shows up most excellently, and those which have been dug for current use are of fine quality. The Potato Growers' Association are making their arrangements for the marketing.

Amongst the visitors to the district this last week were Mr. A. Shaw, together with Mrs. Shaw and his son and daughter, from Regina, Saskatchewan, and Mr. C. W. Jones, of Kamloops, B.C., the uncle, aunt, cousin and brother respectively of Mrs. Wilfred H. Tompkins, with whom they visited. Mr. Jones was brought through from Golden by Mr. Tompkins in his car, the others making the trip across the prairie and mountains by way of the famous Banff-Windermere automobile highway.

Dr. Cora Best, the great Windermere district publicist, and her friend, Mrs. Shipman, both of Minneapolis, Minnesota, accompanied by Miss L. R. Ernest, of St. Louis, Mo., have been spending the summer holidays in the mountain resorts and in the wilds of the most removed fastnesses of the mountains to the north of here. Accompanied by Mr. Pete Bergenham, the guide, these three intrepid travellers again made the descent in a canoe from Kootenay River Crossing, on the Banff-Windermere highway, to Canal Flat. Thence, after portaging across the Flat, entered the Columbia River and north down it to Athalmer. This is the second time that Dr. Best has made this journey, and she is even more enthused over it than when she made her first. It is her hope next year to make the trip all the way the Kootenay River waters to the International boundary. Before coming back to civilization, Dr. Best and her party explored the unmapped country lying between Vermillion Crossing on the Banff-Windermere highway and the Wolverine Pass. She describes that part as being one of surpassing beauty, full of wonderful mountains, ice-fields, glacier fed lakes and marvellous spray falls.

The Coronation Hotel at Athalmer is about to re-open under new management, having been taken over after a period of quiescence by Mr. W. G. Pennington, Sr. The renovators are now busily engaged in making changes all over the hostelry and putting it to rights, painting, papering and cleaning throughout. A beer parlor will be opened in connection with the premises.

Mr. Chester, the newly appointed assistant superintendent on Dominion Government Experimental Stations, has arrived, and is busy with his new duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Plaxton have removed from Wilmer and gone to take up residence in Kimberley.

Deaconness White is ministering to the spiritual wants of members of the United Church of Canada, during the absence of Rev. Wm. Smith and daughter on a holiday.

Could Enrich Eastern Canada

In Eastern Canada, 150 million acres of soil are better adapted to tree crops than to farm crops. No other forest region in the world is so accessible by water or rail. It is the opinion of foresters that this region, properly stocked, could supply the markets of the world and assure Eastern Canada of vastly increased prosperity.

Flame Throwers Abroad

Nine out of ten forest fires this season have been caused by smokers, campers, land clearing operations of settlers and other human causes that indicate reckless conduct.

YAHK NOTES

Mrs. and Miss Foster, of Yahk, left on Friday for Kamloops and Vancouver. Mrs. Foster will be returning after a brief holiday, but Miss Foster will remain in Vancouver for a considerable time.

Mr. Wade, Mrs. McCartney and her son, Dan, were visitors to Moyie on Wednesday last.

Bill Staples, of Yahk, left on Wednesday for Lamb Creek, to cook for the bunch of men that are fighting a large bush fire there.

Corp. Crump, R.C.M.P., of Kingsgate, was a visitor to Yahk on Thursday.

Mr. C. H. Robinson, of the Dominion Fisheries Dept., paid a brief visit to Yahk on the 20th inst.

Mr. Peter Doerksen with his wife and two children, who were enroute to their home at Hepburn, Sask., last Friday in their Ford car, were unfortunate enough to meet with a serious accident at the Ryan Bridge railway crossing. Whilst passing over the crossing their engine stalled, and before they could get it started again or move the car, a freight train coming from Cranbrook struck the car. Their eldest child, Melvin, was unable to get out in time and was struck by the train, being knocked unconscious, but later recovering. The car was badly damaged, all four wheels being broken and the radiator and fenders badly bent. Mr. P. Doerksen was able to get his car in running order in a couple of days, and left with his family on Saturday for home.

Mr. John Leask, the Cranbrook magistrate, was a visitor to Kingsgate and Yahk on Saturday last.

Mr. Home, the superintendent of the Yahk saw mill and lumber camp, left on Sunday for a visit to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hamilton returned on Saturday from a visit to Portland, Ore. Their daughter Ethel, who accompanied them, had the misfortune to meet with a serious accident in Sand Point, Idaho, on the return journey, when she was knocked down by a passing car and her leg broken in two places. She is now at the Cranbrook Hospital.

WARDNER NOTES

Miss Mabel Embree left on Friday for her home in Creston, after spending the past few weeks in Wardner with her sister, Mrs. Elmer Thompson.

The C.G.I.T. girls held their third picnic of the summer on Wednesday last, having a huge time as usual. The girls were accompanied by their leader, Mrs. J. E. Scanland.

Oscar Helman was severely cut about the eyes and nose, and his whole face badly bruised on Friday evening, when the car driven by the Rev. Mr. Dingle was crowded off into the ditch and upset as the party were returning from a swim in a nearby lake. The remainder of the boys and girls in the party fortunately escaped with a few minor bruises and a shaking up.

The Wardner football team journeyed to Kimberley on Sunday for a game against that team, Kimberley winning out by a score of four to one.

Mr. Van Meer, of the Van Meer Oil Company, of Montana, spent Monday in Wardner on business with the local investors of the company, who are many indeed.

Elmer Thompson was slightly injured at the sawmill on Saturday, when he was struck by a sledge-hammer in the face. "Black eyes and a bruised nose looks like you had a 'beating up,' Elmer."

At a meeting of the Mountain Lumbermen's Association to be held during the next week at Calgary, a golf tournament has been arranged to take place among the members of the association, and a beautiful trophy, in the form of a large cup, has been put up for the competition by Mr. C. M. Pennock, vice-president of the C.N.P. Lbr. Co., and manager of the plant at Wardner. Naturally we hope to see Mr. Pennock return winner of the prize.

Harry and Sam Thompson, and Andy Stevenson attended the dance held at Elko on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Renick, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson motored to Cranbrook on Wednesday evening, Elmer visiting the dentist on appointment, and the party later attending the movies.

Little Phyllis Wynne is suffering from a slight attack of chicken pox.

Walter MacKenzie returned home on Thursday from St. Eugene Hospital, Cranbrook, where he has been confined during the past week, recovering from the effects of his fall off the verandah roof at his home. During his sojourn in the hospital, Walter took the opportunity to also have his tonsils removed by Dr. MacKinnon.

Cave Caverly, of Lumberton, spent Thursday in Wardner on business, motoring back to Cranbrook with friends in the evening.

Mrs. Fred Jones is a patient in the St. Eugene Hospital, Cranbrook, this week.

The Farmers' Institute of Wardner held their annual picnic on Sunday last at Peckham's Lake, the whole of the townspeople attending, practically, and many from the neighboring towns. Races, tug-of-war, and a ball game between the bachelors and benedicts filled in the afternoon to everybody's utmost satisfaction, the kids especially putting up keen competition for the cash prizes for the races. Although the day was rather cool, quite a few hardy souls donned bathing suits and spent some time swimming. A splendid lunch was served, picnic fashion, by the Institute to round out the day.

What might have ended fatally and was averted only by the quickness of thought on the part of one of the girls, happened on Saturday last. Three of the local girls were swimming in a shallow part of the river when one of them, only a beginner, got out of her depth. She frantically grabbed one of her companions in such a way as to keep her under water. The third girl, seeing they were in trouble, then swam to their assistance, and to her horror was also clutched hysterically and forced under water. The second girl, considerably weakened, then managed to get out from under and push the drowning girl off, and swimming to shore, got a heavy stick and again put out to the assistance of the other two and managed to get them ashore. It might pay to make sure that one's companions are not apt to make trouble in such cases.

WINDERMERE SCOUTS PENETRATE TO HEAD OF ROCKIES ON FOURTEEN DAY RIDE

(Special to the Herald)

Invermere, B.C., August 18—It is not every Troop of Boy Scouts that can get an opportunity of travelling on horseback nearly three hundred miles with a pack train of 30 animals, through the most wonderful scenery it is possible to imagine, and attend a great Trail Riders' pow-wow at the end of it. Such as been the good fortune of six members of the Lake Windermere Troop, who with their Scoutmaster, attended this year the second annual pow-wow of the Trail Riders of the Rocky Mountains, held at Wapta, B.C., on Aug. 10th.

The trip was made possible this year largely through the good offices of Mr. Walter J. Nixon, of Invermere, who is an executive member of that organization, and a well-known guide and outfitter at this place. The boys started from Invermere on the afternoon of Tuesday, August 4th. The party numbered eighteen in all, but some did not join until two days later. The first two days we travelled on the Banff-Windermere road, stopping one night at Firlands and another on the banks of the Kootenay River. Then striking on to the trail at Kootenay Crossing, we followed up the Kootenay River all the third day, sometimes through burnt-over territory with its new growth of jack pine, sometimes through spruce belts, shady and cool, sometimes through acres of flat meadow, with grass growing to the stirrups. The third night camp was made just below a small lake. The next morning we awakened to find a young deer, wild-eyed with curiosity, giving our camp the "once-over" at close quarters. Some trout were caught, too, but not in time for breakfast.

Continuing up the valley the next day, three members of the party made a side trip in the afternoon up to a lake, hidden high up in a basin of peaks, and in two hours, caught enough speckled trout to feed the whole party for a couple of meals. These fishermen caught up to the rest of the party in camp on the banks of Moose Creek, tired and hungry, at about half-past eight that night.

The next morning we started to climb. We were warned to see that our cinchas were tight, and as the trail got steeper and steeper, the horses had to be rested frequently. We seemed to be reaching the top of the world. About noon we came out on top of the Wolverine Plateau, palisades and majestic peaks to right and left of us, miles and miles of peaks beyond us, and under foot the softest alpine meadow. Here we met other large parties all heading for the pow-wow, and joining them after we had lunched, we formed a huge long procession of trail riders, heading north towards Mount Goodsir and Lake O'Hara. Camp that night was upon the Goodsir Plateau, about 8000 feet above sea level, facing a cliff rising sheer 6500 feet above its valley. The beauty and majesty of the surrounding peaks defies description. One runs out of adjectives in attempting to describe them, and one felt it was an insult to try and photograph them with an ordinary little camera. After a good supper that night, a sing song was held around the huge camp fire.

The next day we started off again, down hill, up hill, past wonderful water falls, feed by huge glaciers, fording icy creeks, and up and up again, until we came to a junction of trails, one leading to the Alpine Camp at Lake O'Hara, and the other to Lake McArthur. Some of us made the side trip to Lake McArthur, and found a gem of a lake, of the bluest water, fed by a big glacier, and surrounded by cold and forbidding peaks. The trail was very steep, and the surroundings wild and rugged. Some of us felt that it could not rival our own beautiful Lake of the Hanging Glaciers, with its ice wall from 60 to 150 feet high, with its seven hanging glaciers all around, and its graceful peaks. Later we made camp beside a little alpine lake not far from Lake O'Hara and after supper rode on down to the latter to attend another sing-song and camp fire. This time we donned our uniforms. We found Lake O'Hara a lovely spot, rivalling Lake Louise in grandeur and beauty.

The next day there was just a short ride of seven or eight miles down to Wapta, where the pow-wow was to be held, and here we found great bustle and excitement. Scores and scores of teepees, a huge sun dance lodge for the pow-wow and the C. P. R. bungalow camps catering lunches, and a dance afterwards in the evening.

The great trail ride was over, the pow-wow was over and some of our party returned by train, leaving us to ride back home again, happy and proud of ourselves for making the great trek and sure to remember it for ever afterwards.

We returned via Field, Leanchoil, camping a night on the Ottertail river, and another near to where we had camped once before on Moose Creek. Then a whole day of fishing was indulged in by the scouts up in that wonderful lake which had been tapped before.

The next day rain descended and it made a great test of our spirits. It was gratifying to notice how the Scouts made the best of it all and succeeded in keeping themselves and everyone else in good spirits in spite of the miserable conditions, for we all got very cold and very wet. We found a certain spruce belt a very good camping place one night and got warm and dry again to a certain extent before a huge fire and curled up sleep later in the shade of these huge trees. The next day brought us to Kootenay crossing and the Banff road again where the Scoutmaster had to leave by car in order to get back into town again. The boys stayed with their horses, and finally pulled into town, after a most welcome hot bath in the Sinclair hot springs, at about noon on Monday, August 17. Fourteen days in the saddle, nearly three hundred miles of trail. We are sure we shall never forget it.

ARTICLES ON BRITISH COLUMBIA WILD LIFE START IN ROD AND GUN

In "Rod and Gun in Canada" for September, a new series of British Columbia sporting articles from the pen of A. Bryan Williams commences. Breezes from the West, and the first part in the new issue promises a number of hunting and outdoor yarns of the first water. A nature story of a more unusual nature for the ing by H. R. Evans is a most graphic account of a young bear's first lone season.

In addition to the regular staff, articles covering all phases of hunting, angling, shooting and outdoor life, September "Rod and Gun" contains a large number of very good stories adapted to the late summer.

"Rod and Gun in Canada" is published monthly by W. J. Taylor Limited, Woodstock, Ontario.

Train Hits Car at Crossing

At about ten o'clock last Thursday morning, the eastbound Soo freight, No. 92, crashed into an automobile driven by Mr. William Huston, of Blairmore, Alta., at the level crossing on the C.P.R., about one mile east of Hosmer station. Huston was accompanied at the time by his sister, Mrs. Edward W. Brown, wife of ex-Provincial Treasurer Edward Brown, of Winnipeg, Manitoba. The car was carried eighty-five feet from the crossing, and was a total wreck. Huston and Mrs. Brown were buried under the wreckage and when brought out were both found to be suffering from serious injuries. They were taken on board the west bound passenger train and taken to the Fernie Hospital. The hospital reports that Huston's injuries were not so serious as at first believed and that he is well on the way to complete recovery. Mrs. Brown sustained a fracture of the right leg, just below the knee, several cuts about the head, a slight concussion and bruises about the body.

Miss Ruth Tarkington, 12 Trafalgar St., St Thomas, Ont. "My grandmother was subject to rheumatism and used to call me from my playmates to go to the drug-store to get Minard's Liniment. HOW RICH IS AMERICA?
100 LITTLE PIGS.
ALSO VASSAR GIRLS.
WORK AND LIVE.

How much do you think the United States is worth, all together, in thousands of millions of dollars?

According to the Census Bureau, all the property in the United States three years ago amounted to about $320,803,862,000. That means 320 times one thousand million dollars, with 803 millions to spare.

It's a great deal of money, but you may be sure that it's much less than the United States is worth. Properly developed, the State of Texas will be worth more than the total "wealth of the United States" as now estimated.

Nobody has the faintest idea what the real wealth of this country amounts to. In ten years the total wealth according to the figures above, has increased more than seventy-two per cent. Give this nation fifty million more inhabitants, intelligent, willing to work, and they would raise the value of the nation's property five hundred per cent in half a generation.

A boy sends this information to the United States Agricultural Department. Five years ago, when he was in the public school, he bought a pure-bred pig, female, eight weeks old. Since then his pig has added 100 small pigs to the earth's porcine population. The little boy writes: "She paid for my clothes, three years in high school and gave me spending money also. I am now in my second year in college and she is still doing the same."

This boy has joined the "better sires—better stock" campaign, and will work hard to improve the pig breed.

If it were possible to improve human breed as easily as we improve cattle or swine, civilization would progress rapidly. Unfortunately, eugenists make little progress. But something might be done.

That proud mother of 100 little pigs in five years never smoked cigarettes or drank cocktails. And the father or fathers did not set before their sons the example of bootleg law breaking and contempt for the Constitution.

Dear young ladies of Vassar College, with beautiful, tall foreheads, nimble feet and nimble minds, tell what they think of tobacco. 433 say they like cigarettes, 524 never smoke.

No matter what you may think of women smoking, how would you answer this question?

Which will be married first, the 433 girls that smoke cigarettes, or the 524 that don't smoke cigarettes? And which will make the best mothers?

Men have spent most of their time on earth fighting and murdering each other. But the real job of the human race is to fight against and conquer Nature.

Every canal dug, desert irrigated, swamp drained, is a victory in the really important war.

Canada is growing rapidly. Up there they welcome good immigrants. Here we discourage immigration.

What is more important even than immigration is human happiness and independence. Canadians attend to that. In Canada 92 per cent of farmers own their own farms. In the United States, only 62 per cent own their land, the others are tenants paying rent.

The nations in which those that cultivate the land own the land on which they live grow in strength. The power of France is due largely to the fact that Frenchmen own their land. That small country has more than six million land owners, a great improvement on the days of monarchy, when a handful of nobles, ecclesiastics and royal princes were the land owners.

Lorenz Koenig, aged seventy-two, devotes his working hours to stacking shingles in a lumber yard at Omaha. He inherits $115,000, but goes on packing shingles. "If I quit, I'd die," he says, and he'll give the money to his children. Perhaps the habit of hard work hasn't got as firm a hold on them as it has on him.

Our life depends on the glands. Our happiness depends on habit. We are more like machines wound up and set running than creatures of free will.

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Rock Mound Submerged Dams, etc., Columbia River, B.C.," will be received until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving), Tuesday, September 8, 1925, for the construction of Rock Mound submerged Dams, and removal of portion of Deer Rock, Columbia River, below Burton, West Kootenay District, B.C.

Plans and forms of contract can be seen and specification and forms of tender obtained at this Department and in accordance with conditions contained therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, equal to 10 per cent of the amount of the tender. Bonds of the Dominion of Canada or bonds of the Canadian National Railway Commission will also be accepted as security, or bonds and a cheque if required to make up an odd amount.

Note.—Blue prints can be obtained at this Department by depositing an accepted cheque for the sum of $10.00, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, which will be returned if the intending bidder submit a regular bid.

BOYS WIN UNDER MR. HAY'S TUTELAGE

ATTACHED to the recent success of the Cranbrook district young men at the junior stock-judging contest at Vancouver, there is a greater significance than what may be realized by many not connected with stock raising. The lads from this neighborhood won in competition with the best from the university and with the pick from all over the province. Their success clearly shows that they are familar with good grade cattle. These may be seen on many of the farms in the Cranbrook district where live stock raising has made such rapid and healthy growth as to insure its success. One of the youths winning honors is only 13 years of age. The boys, however, attribute a great deal of credit for their success to Mr. Angus Hay, district agriculturist, who is responsible for the instructions they received.

CRANBROOK DISTRICT FAIR

THE Cranbrook agricultural fair this year should far exceed all previous events of this nature. Two important factors make this possible, one of which is the great abundance of the harvest, and the other is the liberal inducements provided by the association for exhibits of all kinds of vegetables, grains and fruits.

Agriculture in this district has passed through many stages of development and is becoming more scientific, more stable and more intensified from year to year, so that the annual fall fair has become a matter of very great importance in the life of the farmer, rancher and gardener. This year the fair will be held on Wednesday, September 16th. The management is looking forward to having the biggest attendance and the greatest number of exhibits in the history of the association; and, indeed, there should be, since this has been the most prosperous year for more than a decade.

* * * * *

The discovery of extensive mineral deposits within the borders of the Cranbrook district, the attention directed to the possibilities of commercial forestry and the importance attached to the utilization of these and other resources overshadowed for a time agricultural activities.

It is not in the production of vegetables alone, however, that the farmers in the Cranbrook district are destined to retain their position of prominence. The broadening out of the industry to embrace every phase of rural development has been in progress during the past recent years, and the success that is being attained is as remarkable as that which favored the growing of vegetables alone. It speaks well for permanency of the industry that such is the case. Mixed farming is proving an unqualified success.

The raising of live stock, the prosecution of dairying, the keeping of poultry and bees, the growing of vegetables, grains and grasses, and, more recently, of fruits, are branches of the calling firmly established.

The successful development and expansion of the varied commercial and industrial enterprises of the province depend largely on the ability of the farm and orchard to produce a wide range of the necessities of life, and on such development and expansion the farm depends for its permanency.

The successful establishment of a many-sided form of agriculture in this district has given the opportunity for the fullest development of the industry, with resulting enhanced prosperity and a record fair on the sixteenth of next month.

NOVA SCOTIA COMING INTO ITS OWN

WHEN the Honorable E. N. Rhodes and his party were chosen by the people of Nova Scotia to guide the political fortunes of that province, Mr. Rhodes also started to greatly improve the industrial fortunes of those engaged in the coal mining industry and averted the calamity of starvation which was coming upon thousands of innocent women and children.

For several months the coal mining industry and the huge iron and steel plants had been idle and destitution was making itself severely felt in hundreds of homes. Thanks to the timely intervention of the leader of the Conservative government of Nova Scotia, a settlement has been made, or at least, there has been entered into an agreement covering a period of six months. In the meantime, a Royal Commission may be appointed to make a thorough investigation and report on the general conditions existing in that province.

* * * * *

Nova Scotia occupies a strategic position as the gateway to Canada on the Atlantic coast. The port of Halifax is one of the finest harbors in the world, both as to its natural advantages and equipment for shipping and railway transport. Nova Scotia is the cradle of Canadian Confederation. Originally settled by the finest people the Motherland could produce, Nova Scotia became a great agricultural, industrial and trading centre. The thrift and enterprise of its people extended to the West Indies. They built up the Bank of Nova Scotia to the position where it is today, one of the "Big Four" banking institutions of Canada. They peopled Canada from east to west with much of its finest citizenship. They mined and shipped coal to Europe before the industry was dreamt of in the United States. Two hundred years ago they laid the foundation of industries that still exist, and under normal conditions would be today among the most prosperous in the world. It is this province which is the home and industrial centre of the British Empire Steel Corporation, whose name and affairs have been so prominently before the public of late by reason of the strike of coal miners.

British Empire Steel is today the greatest industrial organization in Canada and the largest employer of industrial labor. It proposes to develop iron and steel industries, based on the iron ore resources of the adjacent British Dominion of Newfoundland, to the point where it can supply the great bulk of the requirements of Canada in iron and steel.

Labor conditions in the iron and steel plants constitute a strange contrast compared with those in the coal mines. The relations between the company and the iron and steel workers have been fairly harmonious, the men's representative discusses with a company official any difference that may arise, and the result has been excellent.

* * * * *

There never was a time when peace and co-operation between operators and employees were more necessary than now to save the industry for those dependent upon it for their means of existence. During the past few days a great deal has been accomplished in settling the industrial dispute in Nova Scotia. The men are back to work and the future looks bright.

NOTE AND COMMENT

RECENT press despatches say that in Great Britain Bolshevism is active. The rainbow trail of Bolshevism may have as its signposts "higher wages," "shorter hours," "no bosses," "no capital," but its votaries find at its end nothing but chaos, unemployment, starvation and ruin. Its foundation is the hatred of honest toil and contempt for the dignity of labor on which have been built the monuments of civilization and the progress of the world.

* * * * *

NOVA Scotia has in the British Empire Steel Corporation industry a great industrial asset and one of which the people may well be proud. This company controls 70 per cent of the coal resources of Nova Scotia, estimated at 2,188,151,000 tons of actual and 4,891,817,000 tons of probable reserves. Its mines have a productive capacity of 21,000 tons a day.

* * * * *

IN its vegetable production, both in range of species and excellence of quality, the Cranbrook district stands second to no other part of the province.

PRESAGES A CHANGE

There is much significance in the recent change of government in the province of New Brunswick, the more so as following upon the almost literal extinction of the Liberal party in Nova Scotia. It is true both were merely provincial elections, and the theory—now obsolete in fact—may be presented by the defeated party that only local issues were at stake. This pretension should deceive no one. Rightly or wrongly, provincial and federal parties have been closely linked for many a year past, and the same party cry has been sounded by both whenever elections occur, so that Conservatives the country over have the same cause for rejoicing over the New Brunswick victory as would the Liberals had the result been otherwise. In the three maritime provinces Conservatives are now in power, and when the federal contest comes the presumption is that the delegation from those provinces will be of Conservative persuasion.

We have reached a critical situation, needing strong men and definite policy to bring relief. Men in office are being submerged by the high tide of public discontent, and as the Maritime provinces have gone, so will go the Dominion when opportunity is given the electors to place in office men of fixed purpose and of strong determination, able to grapple with the situation and test out a real Canadian policy.—Montreal Gazette.

A REMARKABLE CONTRAST

According to the police statistics recently made public in London, England, only 16 murders were committed in the metropolitan area during the twelve months of 1924. Eight of the murderers committed suicide, five were apprehended by the police and three escaped. In Chicago and New York, killings are said to average one a day. On August 7th there were ninety persons in the United States awaiting execution. In Great Britain crime generally appears to be on the decline. More than twenty prisons in England and Wales have closed since 1914. Only forty prisons are now in use in the country, and these are far from fully occupied. Such encouraging statistics are by no means forthcoming from the United States. It is a dull day indeed, when no item of criminal violence from some American centre appears in the news. Great Britain has occasion to feel proud over her remarkable record, particularly when one considers the nature of the times through which she is passing. But then the British people have always been noted for their courage under conditions of adversity.—Revelstoke Review.

A LESSON IN ETIQUETTE

When Newfoundland heard that among the parliamentary delegation coming from London to the Island Dominion was David Kirkwood, M.P., the Clydesdale member who declined to stand during the singing of "God Save the King," the government promptly cabled its regrets that it would be unable to extend a courtesy to a gentleman who declined to accord the same attention to the British monarch. There are several Socialists in the party of twelve who are visiting Corner Brook at the official opening of the world's largest and best equipped pulp and paper mill. Their visit is also in connection with the Empire Parliamentary Association, but Kirkwood is not among them. —Exchange.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Extracts from the Issue of The Cranbrook Herald of this Date Twenty Years Ago.

The July shipments from the St. Eugene mine at Moyie amounted to twenty-seven hundred tons of concentrates, which went to Nelson and Trail smelters.

Senator Templeton of Ottawa stopped over in Cranbrook on Monday. He is on an inspection trip through the Crow's Nest country.

A. E. Watts, of Wattsburg, is in town for a short visit this week. He states that his mill is kept going to its full capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McEarchen and daughter have arrived in Prince Edward Island on a short visit.

John Cholditch has arrived in the city from Vancouver and is taking a position as confidential clerk for V. Hyde Baker.

The Trites-Wood Company of Fernie, B. C., have commenced the erection of a new stone block on the site of their former store in that city.

A good shoot of high grade galina has been found in the Stemwinder mine at Kimberley. It appears to be at a depth of twelve and fifteen hundred feet below the lower levels of the North Star and Sullivan mines.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

One of last week's visitors to this part was Mrs. Hal Kane Clements, of Chicago, representing the Dominion Government Publicity Bureau. Mrs. Clements is making one of her first visits to this part on her annual tour of gathering information first hand relative to conditions in Western Canada which she embodies in a series of newspaper articles.

The total number of forest fires which have been reported to the Forest Branch up to August 15 is 1913, as compared with 1621 up to the same date last year and only 954 to that date in 1923. It was hoped the rain which fell would have some influence in reducing the fires, but in spite of that there were 211 outbreaks reported last week. On the coast, however, the situation has eased considerably. Sixty-two fires were caused by one electric storm, and one of the worst of the coast fires, which destroyed twenty homes of settlers, was due to a steel cable and the ignition of a dead tree by friction. The present hazardous conditions are common to the entire Pacific northwest, and in the states adjoining British Columbia great loss is being experienced. The cost of forest patrols in this Province is given by the Minister of Lands as being one-half cent per acre.

Friday evening last the patrons of the Star theatre were given a treat by the management when, besides an excellent feature picture and a comedy, the Tzaganos, the talented musical couple who have just completed a very successful chautauqua tour and who will be remembered as being the artists who rendered the musical program on the days that Judge Fred G. Bale lectured here, gave a thirty minute vaudeville performance. Judging from the hearty applause which they received, their offering was very much appreciated. The violin selections of Mr. Tzaganos and the singing of Mrs. Tzaganos showed that they are artists who well merited the favorable receptions they have met with not only on the chautauqua circuit but on the several vaudeville circuits on which they played. Mr. Tzaganos is the composer of several songs which are on the market. On Friday evening he sang for the first time a solo, the words of which were composed by Judge Bale, and the music written by himself just at the conclusion of their touring together on the chautauqua.

Farmers everywhere in the district are reporting bumper crops from the ranches, and on all sides it is clear that the yield of agricultural products this year will be far in excess of that of the previous three or four years. Cutting was completed on the St. Mary's Prairie last week, and though in some cases the extremely hot weather at the last of the ripening season caused the grain to mature while still a little small, nevertheless, the yield will be heavy, and the farmers seem extremely satisfied. Root crops still remaining to be harvested also promise extremely heavy returns, and the hay crops are reported as being the best in years. Taken all around, this season will prove one of the most successful from an agricultural standpoint, that the East Kootenay has known for a good many years. H. H. McClure, St. Mary's Prairie dairyman, states that he has sunflowers on his ranch that are so high one could scarcely reach the top by holding a long handled shovel in their hand. This is the open season for stories of tall sunflowers, and the Herald is prepared to hear from now on of sunflowers which have grown this season like Jack's beanstalk.

Interesting Announcement

Word comes from Montreal that the great family and farm paper The Family Herald and Weekly Star has been enabled to reduce its subscription price to one dollar a year. This certainly will be interesting news in every Canadian home where the Family Herald is known and to many who will avail themselves of the offer. At two dollars a year The Family Herald and Weekly Star was generally admitted to be good value, in fact big value, but when reduced to one dollar a year it will certainly be the marvel of the newspaper world.

Canada is proud of that great weekly, and has every reason to be so, as it has no superior and few equals in the world today. The publishers announce that notwithstanding the change in price every feature will not only be maintained but improvements will follow. The publishers are fortunate in being in a financial position to do this, and Canadian homes will have the advantage. When the new rate is made known it certainly will bring a rush of subscribers to the Family Herald. One dollar is a small amount for such a great paper.

Helps in the Delivery of Mails

With the object of speeding up sorting and delivery of mail addressed to Toronto, the post office department has devided the city into ten postal districts. The Postmaster-General requests the public to assist in making the new system a success by always placing the postal district number immediately after the word "Toronto," when mailing letters to that city.

It is important to remember that the full street and number should also be given as heretofore.

Not This Year

With reference to a rumor current in Toronto that Premier Stanley Baldwin and his wife might visit Canada this autumn, enquiries in London show that some time ago Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin had some idea of going to Canada this year, but the proposed visit is now out of the question.

Mr. Harry Collier and family are enjoying a few days' holiday at camp at Wasa lake.

At 3 p.m., Mayor Roberts, who had been asked to open the Show, extended, on behalf of the ladies of the Institute, a very cordial welcome to the large assemblage of citizens, his worship saying in part:

"I assure you it indeed gives me a great deal of pleasure in assisting in a small way today's proceedings. Permit me to congratulate not only the exhibitors on their beautiful display, but also those who by their labors have made such a real success of the Flower Show and Exhibition.

"I feel that you are in a way sowing the seeds of a movement which will eventually lead to the beautifying of town as a whole. The pride of home is the foundation of town pride, without which no city can hope to be permanently successful. The first symptoms of senile decay in a community are the untidy appearance of its houses and streets, and on the other hand a city with well kept homes is a sure sign of a happy and contented community.

"At the opening meeting of the council this year I ventured to throw out the suggestion that something might be done towards boulevarding our streets by the municipality. I am now of tht opinion that in order to ensure the success of that idea support must be looked for from without the council, rather than from within. By that I do not wish to imply that the council is not in sympathy with the movement, but there are, as you are probably aware, some things which can be more successfully carried out when that particular movement is attended to by those actually interested, rather than by having the same thing, so to speak, forced upon them.

"I would like to suggest, therefore, to the members of the Women's Institute that they might devote a portion of their energies in furthering this much desired civic improvement. I am confident that their activities along these lines will result in profit and pleasure to themselves and also to the city at large."

Stage hand (to manager): "Shall I lower the curtains, sir? One of the livin' statutes has the hiccups."

SEA CAPTAIN PURCHASES LAND FOR DANISH SETTLERS

One of the largest and most important land deals ever put through in the Creston Valley has recently been consummated in Toronto, when R. Lamont, Creston realty agent, sold his sub-division of over 160 acres adjoining Erickson station, to a Danish sea captain, for the price of $43,000. Danish settlers will be placed upon the land. Mr. Lamont states that Creston fruit district is one of the most desirable fruit producing districts in Canada, and with a progressive people as farmers, should soon double and treble its present production of over a quarter of a million dollars' worth of produce per year. And recently another very important industry is being put under way, in the form of an electric light plant which is about to be installed at the Goat River Falls to supply electric requirements for the valley. As Mr. Lamont is one of the half dozen old-timers now left in the valley, he was asked what his opinion was on the reclamation of the Kootenay Flats. He stated that in his opinion the present local movement was amateur, and not in the best interests of the place, for the reason that no matter who reclaims the land, it will still belong to British Columbia. There is equally as much land to be reclaimed adjoining to the south in the United States, and if Canada reclaims the land in this country at the estimated millions of dollars, this burden of expense will be added to the present debt of the country, and automatically reclaiming that portion of the United States land free, besides taking a chance of having an international question to settle with the United States. Taking the other view of this enterprising project, he believes it would be better and safer for Canada to give this land over to some organization in the United states, whose plans for the reclamation of Kootenay Flats would be confirmed by Canadian authority. Their milions of money would thus be spent in Canada, besides placing settlers on the land whose farm equipment and bank rolls would thus come to Canada. Consequently Canada would benefit by the money brought into Canada, the settlers and the reclamation of their land.

It seems possible for Canada to make a deal with United States capital to go further, inasmuch as the United States land cannot be reclaimed without first reclaiming the land in Canada. The people on the U. S. side of the line are most anxious to have the work done, and it is seldom that Canadians can get an advantage in any deal with the Yankees as they have in this case. He suggests, by way of a bargain, that they connect Creston with West Creston, a distance of about five miles, with a high water level road and a swinging bridge over the Kootenay river. This method would eliminate possible trouble with the United States over the international question of lowering a navigable stream.

WRIGLEY'S

Keeps the Home Fires Burning

The Vicar of the Anglican Church was initiated into yet another thrill on Friday, when he helped to clear the new church site by burning. Aided by a small body of willing and energetic young men he kept "the home fire burning," merrily, and by midnight the site was completely cleaned up, and the last spark of the conflagration extinguished.

This marks another step forward in the history of the Anglican Church in Kimberley. It is hoped to get to work with the building in a very short time. Tenders are being called for and once the contract is placed, it will not be long before the building is up.

Kimberley Lady's Brother Killed

J. J. Kendall, fireman on the local train between Crows Nest and Lethbridge, who was killed in the wreck near Cowley several days ago was a brother of Mrs. B. H. Ryley, of Kimberley. Mr. and Mrs. Ryley left for Macleod on Monday. The funeral took place at Macleod on Monday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ryley unfortunately arriving too late to attend. Much sympathy is felt for Mrs. Ryley in her sudden bereavement.

NOTES BY THE WAY

By J. D. S. Barrett, who represented this paper at the Convention of Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, held at Winnipeg, on June 24, 25, 26 and 27.

Going through the mountains, it was the writer's privilege and pleasure to ride on the Trans-Canada on the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Trans-Canada is the last word in modern transportation facilities and the culmination of an improvement program involving the expenditure of many millions of dollars.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is Canada's heaviest taxpayer and pays annually into the revenues of the country nearly seven million dollars. It is also the world's greatest transportation system and owns and operates in Canada over 15,000 miles of railroad. The trip through from Calgary to Vancouver has a strong fascination for lovers of nature. At numerous points along the route of the C. P. R. the traveler may steep his soul in the pure brilliance of the many mirrored mountain lakes and streams, in the loveliness and sweet perfume of the wild flowers and the sublimity of the mountain peaks. In spite of the fact that this region is traversed by luxurious passenger trains, with accommodation equal to the best on the continent, yet a few minutes' walk from the railroad "nature is still as wild and solitary and beautiful as she was before the white man came."

* * * *

There are numerous tunnels through the Rockies and Selkirks along the line of the Canadian Pacific. The Connaught Tunnel being the most notable, five miles in length and built at a cost of millions of dollars.

* * * *

About the time this trip was made over the C. P. R. to the coast and to Vancouver Island, railroads in the north-western states were experiencing some trouble with land slides and falling-in of sections of tunnels as a result of earthquake disturbances.

Fortunately the Rockies have not been subject to violent disturbances in recent years and the quake across the border need hardly give cause for worry during future seasons. We shall still hope to enjoy the grandeur of our mountain scenery while passing over the Rockies and the beauty and magnificence of our national parks in the same area.

* * * *

In the pullman and other sections of the train where men were wont to gather, when the beautiful scenery or the excellent train service was not favorably commented on, the topic most generally discussed had to do with the mining activities of the province. This is not to be wondered at when one considers that mining is the basic industry of progress and civilization just as agriculture is the basic industry of subsistence. We cannot exist without agriculture but we could not progress materially without the product of the miner.

* * * *

The mining industry dates back to the early ages of man's history on the planet. It has always attracted the adventurous and progressive types of men. In the aggregate it has been and will be in the future a highly profitable business.

Mining in British Columbia embraces three distinct classes of the industry, namely, coal-mining, placer-mining and lode-mining.

Nearly all the mountain ranges of the province have been proved to contain workable mineral deposits, but large areas of these ranges have not yet been prospected.

The central belt is the important placer gold zone of the province, and throughout its length several important placer areas have been and are still being worked. About 200,000 square miles of country, known to be extensively mineralized, still remain as a virgin field for the "prospector," and for the investor in undeveloped prospects, a field such as exists today in but few other places in the world.

* * * *

Our train took us through Lytton where, in 1857, "placer" gold was found. The following year discoveries were made on the lower Fraser river and two or three years later the famous Cariboo gold rush began.

* * * *

Last year the output of lead in B. C. mines amounted to over seventy million dollars, while the value of the zinc output was in excess of four million dollars.

Kimberley boasts of having in the Sullivan mine the greatest lead and zinc deposits in the province, in the empire and in the world. While visiting the government department of mines at Victoria, the writer naturally expected to find some attractive exhibits from Kimberley.

Slocan and many other districts had an elaborate display, but Kimberley's exhibit is a discredit to the Sullivan mine and to the town. There is a small and very unattractive sample of zinc sulphide and another of lead sulphide, each marked, "Sullivan Mine, Mark Creek, Fort Steele Mining Division." The name of Kimberley does not appear in connection with those two quite insignificant and minature exhibits—and perhaps it is best that the correct location is not more accurately given at least until more pretentious ore samples are put on display there.

Surely here is an opportunity for the Kimberley Board of Trade to do some good work by placing before the public samples of a more creditable nature of the great and valuable ore deposits without which Kimberley would not be able to exist.

LEGISLATURE MEETS FOR FALL SESSION ON OCTOBER 20th

Two Members From Vancouver to Enter Cabinet Without By-Election

It has been given out by Premier Oliver that the government is at last taking the cognizance of the fact that Vancouver is entitled to cabinet representation, and two Vancouver members are to be taken into the provincial cabinet as ministers without portfolio. These being honorary positions and carrying no salary, no by-election will be necessary for them to enter the cabinet in this way. It is understood that Brigadier-General Odlum and Captain Ian Mackenzie are to be the two new ministers. The Premier gave out this statement in response to a warm communication from Charles Woodward, senior member for Vancouver. In his reply the Premier states that the difficulty has been that the Vancouver members have shown no desire or willingness to act with the government in this way.

October 26 was announced by Premier Oliver as the date on which the British Columbia legislature will convene for its next session. This disposes of the controversy as to whether the house should continue to hold fall sessions or revert to the old custom of meeting in January.

It is understood that one of the weightiest reasons for adhering to the present custom is the favorable bond market which usually exists in January and which could not be used if the requirements of the government had not been determined by the legislature prior to that period.

Since the government has been receiving its appropriations in the fall the ministers have also been able to launch their year's programme earlier than heretofore, this being of especial value to the Public Works Department in gaining use of the fine spring weather for construction and road work.

The session is likely to afford some excitement of a political nature, as the government is required to ask for a supplementary estimate of $1,300,000 to cover over-expenditure on the University work, a grant to which the Opposition is not expected to accede without obtaining exceedingly full particulars from the responsible ministers.

Attorney-General A. M. Manson is also likely to be the butt of attack for his conduct of the Yamamoto and Wong Sing murder cases.

A vigorous drive by northern members is also to be made for completion of the P.G.E. into Prince George, while some will likely urge that the North Vancouver-Squamish section also be put in. Premier Oliver is understood to be favorably disposed to at least the first of these proposals.

There may be an effort to curtail the export of unmanufactured timber from the province, and Victoria Conservative members have announced their determination to strive for abolition of absentee voting under the provincial elections act.

Demand for further strengthening of the Co-operative Societies Act is expected to be made and this will be the subject of a hard fight, as there are many who oppose too great a spirit of paternalism in legislation, while others, actuated by the revelations in the Duncan report of the activities of the alleged Nash combine, will be prepared to go a long way to assist the fruit growers in their marketing problems.

There is talk also of amendments to the Liquor Act, especially as affecting the new beer parlors, the working out of the present system having been none too satisfactory, either to prohibitionists or moderationists. There will undoubtedly be demands for the exclusion of women from beer parlors or for putting these places on a higher plane by allowing the serving of meals.

WHY SEND STUDENTS TO AMERICAN POINTS FOR BUSINESS COURSE?

The Nelson Business College, which is now established in its new home at Nelson, is in a better position than ever to give a thorough education in commercial subjects to boys and girls who are looking to the business world to provide them with permanent positions. There are a number of former students of the Nelson Business College holding good positions in this city, and some of the former Cranbrook pupils have been very successful. Mr. C. W. Tyler, who is the principal of the school, states that it is common knowledge that American business men will always give the preference to Canadian trained stenographers or office assistants. He can name at least twenty-five of his former students who have completed their courses at Nelson and are now filling responsible positions in the United States, which he feels is due to the better training received in Canadian schools. He is at a loss, therefore, to understand why parents in the East Kootenay should prefer to send their boys and girls to Spokane and other American points for a business education when it can be provided at Nelson under ideal conditions, and giving a system of training that brings excellent results. Full particulars of the courses for the Nelson college can be had by writing Mr. Tyler at Nelson.

To Develop Power at Goat River.

The first genuine effort that has been made in connection with developing the Goat River canyon to supply Creston and district with electric light and power was accomplished on Tuesday last, when after a previous investigation of the stream and a careful look into the records for many years past, as kept by the water recorder at Nelson, G. P. Horsley posted the statutory notices on the stream, and is also advertising the fact that it is the intention of a company, which he will head, to take and use 75 cubic feet per second for the development of electricity at a plant to be erected at the canyon. Mr. Horsley is manager of the Nakusp Power Company, Ltd., which a couple of years ago installed a power plant to serve the needs of Nakusp and district, and from a very modest beginning now has 220 customers taking light and power. To the Review Mr. Horsley stated that his registered plan of development calls for putting in a concrete dam with sluice and penstock gate to the power house. The dam will be 70 feet high, with a width of 90 feet at the top, and the first unit to be installed will develop approximately 500 horse power.—Creston Review.

Quebec to Have New Sport Facilities

With the first fall of snow covering the ground Quebec is putting the finishing touches to a programme of winter activities that will extend throughout the season and cover every phase of outdoor sport. A ski jump that will rival those of Montreal and Ottawa, and attract amateur skiers of international fame is planned for this city, and engineers are already at work making surveys and plans for its erection on the Dandurand Terrace property of the Quebec Seminary. The jump will be opened in due course under the auspices of the Frontenac Winter Sports Club, a new sportive organization under the patronage of the Chateau Frontenac and direction of E. Des Baillets, internationally known winter sportsman, who has drawn up a programme of international competitions, including figure skating, curling, ski-running and jumping, hockey and other events to take place in this city during the coming season. Mr. Des Baillets is supported by local civic, sporting, military and other authorities, while a number of offices in the Frontenac Winter Sports Club have been left open for representatives of clubs in the United States.

Featuring in the programme already outlined are ski, hockey and skating tournaments at which Canadian and American Universities will compete. In this connection it is announced that the Princeton University hockey team will meet the Sons of Ireland in Quebec, February 10th, and on the following day will meet the McGill team at the new Forum in Montreal. The American team comes from the University of which the late Woodrow Wilson was president when elected to the Presidency of the United States.

Ski-joring will receive much attention and owners of fast horses are being encouraged to train them for that sport. Races will be held on a track of well beaten snow. The Chateau dog team will play its usual part in aiding sport and merriment, and will be housed in a little Eskimo igloo, adding to their picturesqueness.

This youthful sleuth, now just 30, is chief of the U. S. Secret Service, succeeding Wm. J. Burns, resigned. He is J. E. Hoover, of Washington, who won the place by his great work in important government cases.

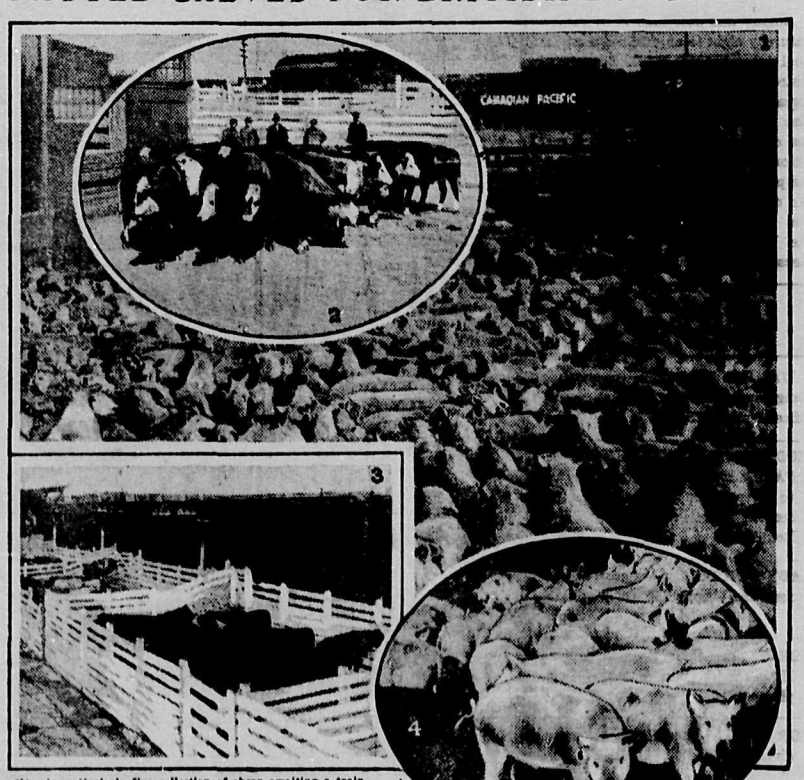
FATTED CALVES FOR BRITISH BUTCHERS



(1) A particularly fine collection of sheep awaiting a train.
(2) Western steers with J. H. Pierpont, manager of the Market, in the center background.
(3) Western steers en route for England, awaiting their train at the Canadian Pacific East End Cattle Market.
(4) These splendid hogs wouldn't feel so contented if they knew how close they are to an abattoir.

These four-footed emigrants are on their way to Europe. They belong to the Livestock Producers of Canada and have taken lodgings for the night at the Canadian Pacific East End Market, Montreal, before continuing their long journey from Winnipeg to Glasgow.

The extent and the variety of the activities of this Market, its value to the community and indeed the fact that it exists at all is not nearly as widely known as it should be, except among those farmers, drovers, butchers, buyers and exporters who make use of its manifold conveniences.

The market has been in operation on its present site for 12 years. It has accommodation for 3,000 head of cattle, 5,100 head of sheep, lambs and calves, 1,800 hogs and can provide sleeping quarters, board and valet service for a total of 14,000 animals at a time. Its export sheds (said to be the finest in Canada) have 30 modern, light, airy pens in which 1,000 transient guests may be housed without crowding or difficulty.

The establishment has facilities for handling, branding, exporting, killing and chilling cattle, sheep, lambs, calves, hogs, milch cows, bulls and horses. There is, in the market grounds, a modern and well equipped abattoir where local purchasers may have their stock killed quickly and efficiently. Incidentally, the stock coming from the western farms and shipped to England or sold locally is, almost invariably of superb quality, being equal to the finest stock in the world.

Cattle is sold on the market four days a week, auction sales of horses are held once a week, roping and branding takes place weekly and slaughtering is a daily occurrence.

The market, in all its branches is owned and operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway and is government inspected.

J. H. Pierpont, the manager, says that the present consignment, of which only a few are shown above, is one of the finest that has ever passed through his hands. Some of them are show cattle, bound for Wembley, and the others, less fortunate, will probably be converted into the roast beef of Old England and grace the tables of London, Leeds and Manchester, etc.

The consignment consists of 283 western steers, all fine, fat fellows, of which J. P. Kennedy, president of the Livestock Producers of Canada, is justly proud. Owing to some slight damage being done by fire to the vessels on which they were to travel, their departure has been delayed a few days. In the meantime they are living on the fat of the land, philosophically enjoying the comforts of the present, without concerning themselves too much with the uncertainties of the future.

Here and There

"Barring accidents, we are in for the greatest wheat crop in the history of Canada," says Andrew Kelly, of the Western Flour Mills. Mr. Kelly thinks the prairie wheat crop this year is off to the best start it ever had.

The first lot of Scottish boys enrolled as farm apprentices for Canada arrived recently on the Canadian Pacific Liner "Metagama." They were brought out under the auspices of the British Immigration and Colonization Association in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Canada's progress in the world of letters is illustrated by the fact that there is a Canadian literary section as one of the features of the Canadian pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley. It presents French-Canadian and English-Canadian literature from the earliest dates down to 1924.

Ten conventions, comprising almost 3,000 delegates, will be held in Montreal between now and August 31, according to an announcement by the Montreal Tourist and Convention Bureau. It is hoped to obtain the 1926 Kiwanian Convention for this city which would mean that some 7,000 Kiwanians will visit Montreal next summer.

The Crystal Gardens, the splendid new pleasure resort for the city of Victoria, B.C., will be opened at the end of June and will form one of the unique attractions of that city. It will be both a winter and summer garden and possesses a salt water swimming tank, claimed to be the largest on the continent. Citizens of Victoria are already using the Gardens prior to its official opening.

Screening at the Capitol Theatre, Montreal, of the scenes through which the University of Montreal across-Canada trip and the similar journey of the Teachers' Federation of Canada will pass, attracted a large and appreciative audience. The film was a revelation of the beauty of Canadian cities and scenery. The University of Montreal trip will start from that city July 7 and will return July 28. The trip of the Teachers' Federation will commence July 20 and will conclude August 10.

Frank W. Ashby, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association of Australia, a recent visitor at Banff, said he found Canada to have a most delightful climate and "cities which are more modern than our own." Mr. Ashby said the impression in Australia had been that Herschell Island and Baffin's Bay were linked up municipally with Montreal and Winnipeg, and thought that the best way to correct these geographical misconceptions was to encourage more tourist travel from other parts of the Empire.

That 4.4 beer now selling in the Province of Ontario had met with approval and was considered quite satisfactory by people of the province was the statement of Premier G. Howard Ferguson prior to his departure recently for England on the Canadian Pacific Liner "Empress of Scotland." Mr. Ferguson will endeavor to interest British and foreign capitalists in the industrial development of Ontario province.

W. J. Uren, Assistant General Superintendent, Quebec District, Canadian Pacific Railway, recently presented thirty employees of the system with certificates of First Aid, covering first to fourth year work. Mr. Uren said about thirty per cent. of Canadian Pacific Railway employees had passed examinations in First Aid and he was gratified to think that no accident could occur on the system without the high probability of there being some person on the spot who could afford expert First Aid.

Klan Parade at Washington

Probably one of the most picturesque parades ever to pass down historic Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington was that of the 60,000 Klansmen, August 8. Klansmen and families came from virtually every state in the nation. In the center, (foreground) is Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans.

The Musky with the Soul of a Broncho

The Mighty Muscalonge shown above was caught near Devil's Cap Bungalow Camp, in the waters of the Lake of the Woods, this summer by Mr. John A. Steele of Montreal. He (the fish) weighed exactly forty-one pounds and eight ounces and put up an amazingly desperate battle before he finally collapsed into the landing net. The details of this dreadful struggle between a man and a musky are herewith told by Mr. Steele himself. Tony, is the name of the Indian guide who accompanied him.

First they found what Tony considered a likely spot and anchored their canoe. "Five minutes later", writes Mr. Steele, 'there was a terrific yank on the line,and then—clear proof of the plenitude of 'lunges in Lake of the Woods—the big fight started.

"I don't think I ever struck a gamer fighter than that baby. If I had hooked a submarine I couldn't have been committed to a fiercer fight. The first few minutes went by in a bewildering, blood-curdling whirl and swirl of smashing, leaping, tearing furious resistance; the musky's movements being far too swift for the human eye to follow.

"The second stage was the longest of all. Here was the soul of a western broncho in the leviathan battling for life at the end of my trembling, humming line, for every trick and stratagem known to the prairie outlaw was to him old stuff, and he tried them all. He bucked, he reared, he turned summersaults, he "sunfished", "swapped ends", savaged, and all but screamed in impotent fury. In between, he threw in a lot of cut-ups which make the broncho's stunts look tame. At times he broke water, springing down, all flashing scales and bristling devil's teeth, with a clash and a shower of spray.

"And all the while, Tony, seated in the stern and quietly wielding an expert paddle, gave me priceless help and encouragement in his calm, deep voice 'Reel in!—More!—Hold him—let her run—Easy, now, easy—Steady.'

"And at last, after thirty minutes of steady battling, Tony gave me the hope I sought. 'He's tiring,' he said. And never were words more welcome.

"Then the lunge confirmed the statement beyond all question. In a few feet of water near the canoe, he rolled over on his back, just like a dying eagle and from that time onward there was no more fight in him than the flip of a fin. As I mopped my fevered brow with a red bandanna, George, from the bottom of the canoe, lifted the fatal landing net."
