CRESTON FRUIT MAN VISITS COAST

Bob Lamont, the largest individual owner of fruit lands in the Creston district, and one of the most progressive of the old-timers of the Kootenay, recently returned from a trip to Victoria, where he spent considerable time boosting Creston and East Kootenay.

Mr. Lamont, who owns 1200 acres of choice fruit lands in the Creston district, has this year planted 2800 fruit trees on his lands. These fruit trees are composed of the Delicious, McIntosh Red and Wagner apples. The Delicious apple is the highest priced apple in the valley.

SHIPPED OVER THIRTY CARS.

This year has been a banner year for the Creston district, over thirty cars of the fruit being shipped to Alberta markets. Among the principal shippers are Messrs. Stocks and Jackson, Frank Rose, W. K. Brown, the Dow Bros. and others. Mr. Lamont says that some of the old orchards this season yielded twenty to thirty boxes of apples to the tree, while the younger trees averaged six to eight boxes.

One of the oldest fruit growers of New York has recently sent an order to the provincial minister of agriculture for fifty-five carloads of non-irrigated apples. The minister of agriculture referred the order to Creston, but as most of the orchards there are young, the order could not be filled.

Several of Calgary's millionaires have recently become interested in Creston fruit lands and much good to the district is expected to result from this fact.

In the Creston district the winter-killed fruit trees are unknown, this is owing to the fact that the climate is of an even temperature and the coldest weather seldom exceeds zero.

Mr. Lamont says that any man who applies himself can make a great success of fruit growing at Creston. Imagine in orchards ten years old where the average yield per tree is say fifteen boxes of apples at $1.50 per box means $32.50 per tree, and sixty trees per acre means nearly $1300 per acre.

Mr. Lamont says that land values at Creston will increase rapidly as the shipping from that point increases. Land near Creston which can be obtained at from $100 to $200 per acre in a few years will be worth $500 an acre.

Mr. Lamont is a big man with big holdings and big ideas. His estimated interests at Creston now are worth probably $150,000, these in the natural course of events in three years' time should equal a quarter of a million.

Mr. Lamont lived for a number of years in Rossland, and while in the employ of the Bank of Montreal made many friends by his manly, straightforward manner. Some few years ago to benefit his health he removed to Creston to enjoy the more simple life.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AND THE BALLOT.

When J. J. Hill crossed the line from Canada into the United States he had to wait five years before he was allowed to vote even for constable. Today he would have to pass at the expiration of the incubation period, an examination in the principles of American government and produce witnesses vouching for his probity.

Over the line in British Columbia the Hon. H. H. Stevens, M.P., is loudly complaining of the laxity in the administration of the naturalization laws. Hundreds of Japanese, he avers, cast ballots even though they have never been naturalized. Canneries, loggers and mine operators, he asserts, keep a supply of used but otherwise perfectly good naturalization certificates on hand and pass them around among the newly arrived Asiatics they employ.

Why not? British Columbia has no educational standard to measure applicants for citizenship; it requires a residence of only three years; it does not insist upon knowledge of the English language, the franchise may have as little meaning to the applicant as Sanskrit and the cheering effect of distilled grape juice have to Mr. Bryan, still British Columbia confers the privilege. What difference does it make, under these circumstances, whether the certificate is conferred by a magistrate or by the boss of a salmon cannery?—Sunset Magazine.

WILL EXHIBIT AT PROVINCIAL SHOW

LOCAL POULTRYMEN WILL SHOW AT GRAND FORKS.

A special meeting of the Cranbrook Poultry and Pet Stock association was held in the old gymnasium building Friday evening last to make final arrangements for the Provincial Poultry show, which is being held at Grand Forks, opening on December 12th.

This is the first time the show has been secured by the interior and inland poultrymen are putting forth every effort to make this exhibition a success, as it will to a large extent determine whether or not the inland people will have another show.

A number of birds were brought along by members and were examined strictly according to the Standard of Perfection, Rev. W. E. Dunham handling the birds.

As a result of this meeting Cranbrook will be well represented at the Provincial show. About fifty birds will be sent and a number of local fanciers will attend and look after the birds. E. H. Slater, H. Piggott and A. B. Smith will be among those attending from Cranbrook.

Entries close on December 2nd. It is up to everyone who intends to exhibit at Grand Forks to get busy.

WORKINGMEN'S WAGES AND PRE-EMPTIONS

The following communication has been sent by a Cranbrook man to the Nelson Daily News and as it touches two questions of vital importance to this city and district, we reproduce in full:

Sir: I was at a public meeting on November 14th, part of a report of which was reported in your paper, but nothing was said about what, in my mind, was the most important matter discussed, and that was the "truck system" of payment of workmen. As a working man with many others I was intensely interested when the member of parliament for the district explained that the working man under British Columbia law is entitled to cash payment every fourteen days and that he has not the power to sign away that right, and even if he did sign an agreement he can still demand payment for his work every fourteen days. I am a working man with a large family and like many others have but a little laid by. I can obtain work from the wealthy lumber manufacturers if I will agree to take my wages next May. Meanwhile what is my family to exist upon. Merchants cannot afford to run the risk of giving us credit. Such as we, have helped to make the lumberman rich; many drive their motor cars, live in luxury, give banquets to boards of trade costing thousands, and, it is said, their tens of thousands to politicians. Is this the reason they are permitted to break the law and oppress the poor toilers?

Among many other interesting matters discussed, none of which were mentioned by your reporter, was the subject of the impossibility of poor men obtaining land as homesteads in British Columbia, which requires producers on its barren wastes, yet we working men ask for a pre-emption and cannot obtain one. Around Cranbrook are hundreds of square miles with the timber cut off, yet we are told the government will not give it to homesteaders. If that policy is persisted in British Columbia will remain sparsely populated and continue to be non-productive and to live on borrowed capital. What will support the subsidized railroads in the near future? One speaker hit the nail on the head when he submitted a resolution proposing that a committee be appointed to draft a petition ready for the signature of the citizens, asking the government to throw open the vacant lands for pre-emption for homesteaders, and I trust this committee will do its work promptly. This question was handled in good style, but not so the criticisms of the lumbermen's method of paying their workmen six months hence. This is a question of vital importance to working men with families, and, Mr. Editor, I wish you would express your views on the subject, and maybe the millmen will explain why they seek to oppress the toilers in this way. I have only heard one of them speak in public on the subject and he strongly condemned the practice. He was cheered to the echo. What have the others to say? Working men will anxiously look for their reply.

YELLOWHEAD PASS LUMBER COMPANY LTD.

REMARKABLE FINANCIAL SUCCESS OF A LOCAL COMPANY.

Whether operation or non-operation be the more profitable mode of dealing with timber holdings, there can be no question but the Yellowhead Pass Lumber company has a quite exceptionally favorable balance sheet to present to their lucky shareholders.

In the years 1906-7 the company acquired some seventy-five limits on Willow river, Ptarmigan creek and Goat river in the valley of the Fraser river between Fort George and Tete Jaune Cache. Some idea of the density of the growth can be formed from the fact that eleven of the limits on Goat river have been cruised to cut over one hundred and twenty-five million feet. The main line of the G.T.P. passes through those limits and touch closely upon another big bunch belonging to the company on Ptarmigan creek some one hundred miles nearer to Fort George. The completion of the Panama Canal and the certain prospect of being able to ship a deal of the product of those limits via the Canal to the eastern seaboard of the States enhances the remarkable value of all the company's property. Of course, all this was seen at the time the berths were acquired, but a load involving an expenditure of well over $8,0000 per annum for license fees, fire protection, surveying, etc., required powers of financing of a wholesouled and enthusiastic character. But those concerned, the directors, that is, fought on in the face of the direst discouragement and now have the satisfaction of being able to show that they have over half a million dollars in excess of their liabilities; that outside their indebtedness to the members of the company they owe but $263 and they have on hand available capital of over $28,000, or enough to discharge the license fees on the property for the next five years.

Mr. George H. Ashworth, who has just completed an exhaustive audit of the company's affairs, certifies that each $100 share is practically value for $400. The company's holdings amount to over six hundred and twenty-five million feet of standing timber.

Charles A. Gaskill, formerly of Cranbrook and now residing with his family at Fort George, was the moving spirit in the original acquisition of the timber and the formation of the company and still remains one of those most largely interested in it. To the remarkable courage and financial ability of the president, Mr. A. Carney, of Kaslo, must be attributed the success of the company. There were times in plenty, in the early days especially, when his hand alone saved the ship in the deep waters while very wise men stood safe on shore, knowing all that was at stake, and waited and watched for a chance of profiting by what wreckage might come ashore. However, the venture has come into port without a plank being started and those who cast their bread upon the waters find their profit three hundred fold.

It is not often that a legitimate opportunity arises for offering congratulations, but they appear to be in order in this case.

The head office of the company is here in Cranbrook. The directorate consists of Messrs. A. Carney, Kaslo, B.C., president; Lester Clapp, Cranbrook, vice-president; Louis Johnson, Marysville; Charles A. Cock, Cranbrook; Arthur B. Fenwick, Fort Steele and Joseph Ryan, police magistrate, Cranbrook, managing director and secretary.

CHEAP LABOR COMING.

During the first seven months of the present year, Canadian immigration shows a total of 327,913, made up as follows.

British	128,868
American	80,330
Other countries	118,715

During the corresponding period of last year the total immigration was 300,841, made up as follows:

British	118,497
American	100,140
Other countries	82,204

British immigration shows an increase of about ten thousand, American immigration a decrease of about twenty thousand, while there was an increase of over thirty-six thousand in the immigration from other countries. Under the existing policy the best immigration is apparently not encouraged, while efforts are devoted to getting in the hordes of cheap "foreign" labor. In everything that transpires under the present government the hands of their masters "the interests" are visible.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS FOR SIR WILFRID

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 24.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier quietly celebrating his 72nd birthday at his home and at his office in the house of commons building last Thursday. The ex-premier received messages of congratulations from His Majesty the King, and his representative in Canada, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, from Premier Asquith, Lloyd-George, Bonar Law, Lord Strathcona, Earl Grey and numerous other prominent men in Great Britain. From the Dominion overseas cable messages were this morning received from Senator the Hon. G. F. Pearce, ex-minister of state for defence, and ex-Premier Fisher, of Australia, while Premier Massey, of New Zealand, cabled his good wishes at noon.

Among the rank and file in both parties of politics, the desire to express good wishes is quite as evident. From the Yukon, Dr. Thompson, M.P., has wired his good wishes the Liberal chiefs and lieutenants have all expressed fealty and loyalty, while messages were received from many members of parliament who sit both to the right and the left of the speaker.

THE NEW PARCELS POST

In view of the approaching inauguration of the parcels post system in Canada it is somewhat encouraging to learn that a year's trial of a similar system in the United States has brought returns far beyond their best expectations. When, some ten or eleven months ago, they took final steps in the direction of adopting the system, they were assailed by grave doubts as to whether the service would prove of real benefit to the public and whether the public would be able to support it, owing to the fact that it must give people the advantage of moderate rates.

They have their answer already in the form of dollars, the term of service having already brought in an immense profit with a promise of some thirty million dollars to the good at the close of the year. These figures indicate that the service has paid from the very first and will continue to pay. Even when they have satisfied the railway companies' claim to a share in the profit, they will reap an immense harvest, as ten of the thirty millions will not make a noticeable depression in their gains.

Experience has shown the necessity of a readjustment with the railway companies, who claim that they are not adequately paid for carrying the mails. American public sentiment favors a generous treatment of these companies and it is believed that the continued growth of the parcels post service will more than defray any additional cost entailed thereby.

What the rates are to be for the seven zones into which Canada is to be divided are not yet known, but if they achieve results anywhere commensurate with those of the United States, the Canadian express companies will have some cause for bitter reflection upon their past highhandedness in the matter of their small parcell business and they will, no doubt, be more willing to please their customers.

There are great latent possibilities in the parcels post system, and a day may come when it will be not only an inter-Dominion asset but will assume the proportions of an inter-continental service.

CANADIAN SHIPBUILDING -- PAST AND PRESENT

"Canada's shipbuilding greatness lies in the performances of the past and the days when the forests provided the material, but it is gratifying to note what has been accomplished in the present with the change of steam and steel. We are too young a country to sit and brood over ancient glories and there are ample evidences that a new and greater shipbuilding industry will shortly arise in this country."

In an illustrated article in this week's issue of the Journal of Commerce, Montreal, Mr. F. William Wallace, editor of the Canadian Fisherman, has an interesting article on "Canadian Shipbuilding: Past and Present." His story of the rise and fall of the wooden shipbuilding industry and the gradual change to steel is one of the most interesting accounts ever written about this particular industry.

Mr. Wallace knows the sea and matters pertaining to shipping thoroughly and his story carries with it much of the glamour and romance which we associate with the "Wooden Walls of England."

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

Meeting of the board of trade has been called for Friday evening at the city hall when it is hoped that a large and representative attendance will be on hand to transact the business which will come before the meeting. The executive has been working on the matter of luncheons and will have a report to make to the meeting.

There are a large number of important subjects in connection with the work of the board during the coming year on which it is desired full discussion by all citizens.

During the past year the board of trade has been inactive, the work that has been done falling on a very few. The scope of the board of trade comprises matters of importance to every citizen residing in Cranbrook and it should be not only a business man's organization, but a citizen's organization, one in which every citizen feels an interest and all work together for the common weal of the city.

With a live organization comprising a majority of all citizens no one could estimate the amount of good work that could be accomplished in even one year. Factories could be encouraged, pressure brought on railroads for needed transportation facilities, settless induced to locate on the very desirable lands of the district and the city made more hospitable to the stranger within the gates and therefore, a stronger center for drawing the trade from an ever-increasing, growing and widening area of the district. Roads, bridges, farmer's and lumbermen's problems and the development of the mineral resources are all live subjects for discussion at board of trade meetings. Let all get together and boost and in a year surprise will be manifested at the progress made.

Endowed with a richness of resource surpassed by none, with undeveloped fields in every line of activity, which, if known to the outside world, would mean a great foregathering of new people in this district, Cranbrook offers the best advantages of any section of East Kootenay, if not of British Columbia or the entire of Western Canada. It lies within the province of the board of trade to gather the facts, to itemize the resources and to give to prospective newcomers the information wanted, and to constantly keep before the public the opportunities here afforded in such a comprehensive way that they must appeal to the home seeker, who is looking for the promised land.

CHEAP LIVING IN WINNIPEG

PLACE WHERE A FIVE CENT PIECE WILL BUY A LUNCH.

Recognizing the high cost of living as it exists today in Winnipeg, Doc Glube, proprietor of the Belmont hotel, has hit upon a scheme whereby he can assist the poor and needy to at least eat regularly at a minimum cost. He has opened in his hotel a bar at which no drinks can be purchased, but at which any one can obtain a good meal at the expenditure of five cents, the humble nickel.

The method under which the Belmont hotel proprietor has established his proposition is the same as that adopted by the American saloon keeper in supplying free lunches, but as this is against the law in Canada Doc Glube is charging the lowest price possible. There is no necessity for any man to enter the bar. He has simply to go to the hotel desk, pay five cents and ask for a lunch ticket.

Today the lunch provided was Irish stew and pork and beans.

"How do you do it?" was asked.

"Well," replied the hotelman, "I buy direct from the abbatoir, and the stuff is cooked in the hotel kitchen. Even if it is a loss, I have been quite successful in this city, and I am prepared to do a little for the place which has been generous to me."

Doc Glube was seen today eating from his own cheap lunch counter and as the Doc is a connoisseur in the matter of viands there is hardly a doubt that the food he is providing at this abnormally low price is fit for anyone to eat, in addition to being the cheapest meal ever presented in the city of Winnipeg, and one that will come in handy to many this winter.

FIRE AT PINCHER CREEK

SWEEPS HALF OF TOWN, NEARLY WIPING OUT BUSINESS SECTION.

Pincher Creek, Alta., Nov. 23.—Fire breaking out yesterday in the Hudson's Bay store, swept half the town, nearly wiping out the whole business section. The loss will exceed $33,000, the major portion being covered by insurance.

The cause of the blaze cannot be ascertained. The Hudson's Bay company was winding up a closing-out sale, and out of the $35,000 stock originally in the store only about $3,000 worth was unsold. Many of the buildings were completed gutted, the following being the list:

Hudson's Bay company, building $9,000 and stock $3,000 loss; insurance $20,000.

F. S. Blake, building, $3,500; insurance, $1,500.

Langlon's livery building, $5,000; insurance, $3,000.

J. Monoghan, shoe store, stock, $3,000; no insurance.

Partial loss, all insured: I. X. L. Blacksmith company, loss $500; Jackson Brothers, $500; Dr. S. G. Mills, $400; A. C. Kemmis, law office, $1,000.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME NEXT TUESDAY

On account of unforeseen circumstances the concert to be given by the Cranbrook city band was postponed from tonight until next Tuesday evening, December 2nd, 1913, when the concert will be given at the Young Men's Club building. The band is assisted in their musical program by the following ladies and gentlemen: Mrs. Maurice Quain, Mrs. Ira R. Manning, Miss Margaret Kennedy, Miss Ruth Stevens and Messrs. A. Raworth, G. S. Hougham, R. D. Cameron and H. Darling.

The concert will consist of vocal solos and duetts, readings, clarionet solo and selections by the band. The concert will start promptly at 8.30 o'clock.

The purpose of giving the concert is to raise funds for the maintenance of the band during the winter months when there are no engagements to meet the usual expenses. If the band disbands for a few months much valuable time is wasted and the players lose much of the value of their summer practice. If the band can be held together with steady practices during the winter, a much better class of music will result next year. For this concert the band has prepared a special programme of classical music and are giving one of the best concerts ever heard in Cranbrook by the local band. It is hoped that the citizens will give the concert their hearty support and thus encourage the members of the band to continue to exert themselves for the rendition of better music.

FELLOWSHIP BIBLE CLASS BANQUET

On Tuesday evening the Fellowship Bible class of the Baptist church held its first banquet in the dining room of the Ry. Y.M.C.A. The object of this gathering was social fellowship and organization of the Bible class into a definite working agency in the Sunday school and church. Tables were spread with appetizing dainties by the efficient oversight of Miss Leask, Miss Williams and Mrs. N. Watson. Covers were laid for forty. Thirty-five were present, the remainder being absent largely through illness. As soon as the edibles were disposed of, the company gathered about the tables gave attention to the business of organization. In a short address the pastor, Rev. O. E. Kendall, explained his ideal of the Bible class he desired this one should be. Using the triangle as an illustration he emphasized the prime object of the class as "Study of God's Word." Based upon this and a natural expression at it there must be "The Winning of Souls." Bible study and soul winning must converge upon "Social Fellowship." These three branches made the ideal Bible class, and any ideal lower than this was unworthy the serious endeavor of a Christian body. The officers of the class were elected, Mr. R. Palmer being chosen president, Mr. J. S. Mennie vice-president, Miss Sarah Palmer, scribe. The chairman of the social committee will be Miss M. Wade and the chairman of the committee on absentees will be Mrs. W. Watson. The proceedings throughout were characterized by general fellowship the work being enlivened by readings rendered by Mr. Palmer and Mrs. Kendall.

HUERTA'S POWER CRUMBLING

Washington, Nov. 24.—President Wilson's belief that the Huerta government slowly is crumbling, was today reiterated at the White house. The president pointed out that the uncontradicted, baseless statements as to the future intentions of the United States.

As evidence of the ability of the Huerta government to spread any impression it pleased through the Mexican press, the president referred incidentally to optimistic predictions during the last few days in Mexican newspapers that recognition of the Huerta government by the United States was forthcoming. The Washington government, it is known, is irrevocably determined under no circumstances to recognize Huerta.

There were no new developments today in the situation generally, according to White House officials, but added interest was developed in the president's forthcoming annual message which he will read to congress when it became known that among the subjects to be a statement as to the status of the Mexican situation.

The president indicated that he would keep his message abreast of developments in Mexico so that his presentation of events would be up to the day of delivery.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It seems a shame that the architect who drew the plans for the Cranbrook post office failed in providing a place to instal the bell. The new makeshift "dog house" for this purpose is not in keeping with the architectural beauty of the building.

Reports from Vancouver are to the effect that the coast metropolis is hard hit just at present with results of the financial stringency. The next three months will see the worst of the hard times, as easier money will be available, without doubt, in the spring.

There are a large number of idle men on the streets this week. Some of these came in from the closed mills in the district and a number are reported to have arrived from Montana and Idaho where the mills are also closing down for the winter. If this condition should exist long it would mean a new thing for Cranbrook, which in years past has never experienced a winter when all the men available could not be employed. With more snow and colder weather a number of mills will be starting their camps and provide labor for all the men in the district. The Kootenay Central will also continue building operations as late as possible and will require men until the middle of winter.

Two little boys in Toronto went out the other day armed with rifles to shoot birds. They found no birds and began blazing away at each other with the result that one of them was killed. The age of these children was seven years and the police are holding the child who fired the fatal shot as a murderer. A child of seven years of age held by the police! What about the parents of the boys who allowed them to go out with rifles? They are the real criminals if there are any criminals in the case. We cannot believe that even police-ridden Ontario will hold a child of seven years of age for murder, or that the laws of Canada will permit such a thing.

COMMUNICATIONS

I, Bob Kellock, do hereby swear that I did on the 11th day of January, Saturday, quit the employment of James Bates on account of him being a dangerous man to work for and he did not make any remarks in regard to money taken until I was out of his employment and refused to return and to which I took him to court and beat him.

Editor Herald:

Dear Sir: A roan gelding belonging to me was lately found shot through the neck by a small bore bullet. The scene of the occurrence was on the western side of the valley between Ta-Ta creek and Skookumchuck.

The last seen of this horse, who was gifted with considerable horse sense, he appeared to be in the best of spirits and condition, so that the theory of suicide does not seem tangible. The same disease has also attacked a horse, the property of Mr. Eli Roach.

The only solution appears to be that some sportsman in search of game has been a little too precipitate, and to such as this the publication of these facts may be a deterrent.

Yours faithfully,
C. Hungerford Pollen.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ROYALTY AGAIN UNDER DISCUSSION.

A despatch from Victoria, B.C., states that representatives of coast and mountain lumbermen associations and officials of the forestry department are considering proposals for a new royalty basis, which, if acceptable, will probably be put into force by legislation at the next session of the legislature. It is understood that the mountain lumbermen will abandon the Doyle scale and accept the B. C. scale, now used by coast interests; that the present royalty figure of 50c. per thousand feet will continue until 1916, after which for ten years coast lumbermen will pay $1 per thousand feet on No. 1 and No. 2 fir and spruce and No. 1 cedar and 50c. on all other varieties of timber. Mountain lumbermen will pay 50c. on all varieties.

at the International Eisteddfod at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915. Othes large prizes will be offered for competitions in solos, recitations, musical and poetic compositions. A half dozen male choirs will compete from Wales. Many lands will send picked choirs to participate in the song festivals.

It is stated on the best authority that the Duke of Sutherland will follow politics as a career. It is said that he takes little interest in his Canadian estates, a matter which held the chief attention of his father, who had acquired large interests in Canada, particularly in the Northwest. The late Duke was keenly interested in securing immigration for Canada, particularly of time-expired soldiers.

Close friends of Miss Helen Densmore Huntington have been privileged to see the engagement ring given to her by Vincent Astor. The ring was made to order and is said to have cost $10,000. Each of the seven stones in the ring is a perfect specimen. The central stone is a huge emerald, Miss Huntington's favorite jewel. On each side of the gold band are three diamonds, the six stones being exactly matched.

Asking that standard time in British Columbia from the first Sunday in April until the third Sunday in October should by legislation be advanced one hour in order to provide more daylight for recreation and to reduce artificial light bills, a resolution has been passed by the Nelson board of trade and will be forwarded to provincial and dominion governments.

The British Columbia government has under consideration the building of a wireless station at Chatham Point which will complete the chain along the coast so that steamers plying between Vancouver and Prince Rupert will be in constant communication with land stations. At present there is one section where vessels cannot be reached by wireless and it is desired to fill this gap with the proposed improvement.

What Cures Eczema?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D.D.D. PRESCRIPTION as made in the D.D.D. Laboratories of Toronto, can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D.D.D. PRESCRIPTION.

Drop into our store today and let us tell you more about D.D.D. Ask us about D.D.D. Soap; it helps.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP AND TIMBER LANDS

The Dominion government now has under its control in the Rocky Mountains region some 25,000 square miles of forest lands, and there is some likelihood of extensive forest reserves, either under provincial or federal management, being established in other parts of Canada in the near future. This being the case, it should be of interest to consider what we may expect to gain from the public ownership of large timber resources. For an answer to this question we may turn to the national forests of the United States and see what advantages have accrued from the administration by the forest service of a vast estate, ten times larger than the present reserves under Dominion control.

Briefly enumerated, these advantages are:

1. The value of the forests is now increasing with use instead of depreciating.

2. More wood is grown per annum than is lost through cutting, fire, disease and decay.

3. Whenever timber is cut, the operation is so conducted that young growth will not be destroyed, thereby assuring a new crop in the future.

4. The opening of roads, fire lines and trails, and the construction of telephones, lookout stations and rangers' houses, is making an effective system of fire patrol possible.

5. Operators of small lumber mills are encouraged, except in inaccessible areas whose development involves a heavy outlay of capital.

6. Speculation in, and monopoly of, public timber are prevented.

7. Abuse of homestead and prospectors' privileges is prevented.

CANADA'S ADVERSE BALANCE

During the past six months when Canada, in common with the world, was passing through a period of financial stringency, a great deal of emphasis was laid upon Canada's so-called adverse balance of trade. It was pointed out that this country presented one of the most dangerous fields in the world owing to the wonderful prosperity and expansion which had characterized her during the previous dozen years. There was a general belief expressed by Canada's critics that the pendulum would swing in the opposite direction and that this country would suffer severely from business depression. To substantiate their arguments, they pointed out the large excess of imports over exports and concluded therefrom that Canada had a heavy adverse balance of trade. It was pointed out that for the fiscal year 1912-13 our imports totalled $691,943,515, while our exports were but little more than half, amounting to $393,232,057.

Admitting the truth of the arguments that Canada had an adverse balance of trade, it is interesting to note that in the next six months of the fiscal year 1913-14, which ended 30th September last Canada's total trade amounted to $551,978,000 as compared with $596,265,000 for the corresponding six months of the previous year. The chief point to be emphasized, however, was the relation of imports to exports. For the six months just ended, our exports have been growing faster than our imports. The exports for the six months of the present year amounted to $211,000,000 as compared with $178,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1912, or an increase of $33,000,000. During the same period, our imports only increased from $328,000,000 to $340,000,000, a gain of but $12,000,000. For the month of September itself, this tendency is even more marked. While our total trade increased from $87,000,000 to $95,000,000, imports actually declined from $57,000,000 to $54,000,000, while exports showed a gain of from $29,000,000 to $41,000,000. In other words, the adverse balance of trade, which has been so frequently commented upon by hostile critics, is becoming a thing of the past and Canada, instead of borrowing money to pay her debts, is selling her natural products and thereby redeeming her obligations.

It is, of course, true that the world-wide financial stringency has had something to do with the lessening of Canada's importations. Our railroads, manufacturing concerns, industrial carporations and municipalities were unable to borrow as much money as they desired. This meant that they were forced "to cut their suit according to the cloth" or, in other words, spend less money than usual. This meant that as a people we were unable to purchase as many commodities as usual with the consequent result that our importations fell off. The favorable showing was also somewhat affected by the excellent crop with which Canada was blessed this year.

Canada's failure to go into liquidation as prescribed by her adverse critics will doubtless prove disconcerting to them. They had everything nicely figured out and conclusions reached which placed Canada among the dead or dying nations of the world. They did not reckon, however, with the virility and strength of this young country. Thanks to our excellent banking system which foresaw the financial stringency and prepared for it, and to a variety of other causes, Canada has weathered the financial gale with a minimum of loss and emerges today with flying colors. Even the one objection of possessing an adverse balance of trade has largely been removed and today Canada is paying her way through the exportation of her natural products.—The Journal of Commerce.

WAR!

The last of the savage instincts is war. The cave man's club made law and procured food. Might decreed right. Warriors were saviors.

In Nazareth a carpenter laid down a saw to preach the brotherhood of man. Twelve centuries afterwards his followers marched to the Holy Land to destroy all who differed with them in the worship of the God of Love. Triumphantly they wrote "In Solomon's Porch and in his temple our men rode in the blood of the Saracens up to the knees of their horses."

History is an appalling tale of war. In the seventeenth century Germany, France, Sweden and Spain warred for thirty years. At Madgeburg 30,000 out of 36,000 were killed regardless of sex or age. In Germany schools were closed for a third of a century; homes burned, women outraged, towns demolished, and the untilled land became a wilderness.

Two-thirds of Germany's property was destroyed and 18,000,000 of her citizens were killed, "because men quarreled about the way to glorify "The Prince of Peace." Marching through rain or snow, sleeping on the ground, eating stale food and starving, contracting diseases and facing guns that fire six hundred times a minute for fifty cents a day —this is the soldier's life.

At the window sits a widowed mother crying. Little children with tearful faces pressed against the pane, watch and wait. Their means of livelihood, their home, their happiness is gone. Fatherless children, broken-hearted women, sick, disabled and dead men. This is the wage of war.

We spend more money preparing men to kill each other than we do in teaching them to live. We spend more money building one battleship than in the annual maintenance of all our state universities. The financial loss resulting from destroying one another's homes in the civil war would have built 15,000,000 houses each costing $2,000. We pray for love but prepare for hate. We preach peace but equip for war.

Were half the power that fills the world with terror,
Were half the wealth bestowed on camp and court
Given to redeem this world from error
There would be no need of arsenal and fort.

War only defers a question. No issue will ever really be settled until it is settled rightly. Like rival "gun gangs" in a back alley, the nations of the world, through the bloody ages, have fought over their differences. Denver cannot fight Chicago and Iowa cannot fight Ohio. Why should Germany be permitted to fight France, or Bulgaria fight Turkey?

When mankind rises above creeds, colors and countries; when we are citizens, not of a nation, but of the world, the armies and navies of the earth will constitute an international police force to preserve the peace and the dove will take the eagle's place. Our differences will be settled by an international court with the power to enforce its mandates.

In times of peace prepare for peace. The wages of war are the wages of sin and the "wages of sin is death." —Leslie's Weekly.

The biggest single shipment of fish ever made out of Northern British Columbia waters was that sent out from Prince Rupert during the past week when the steamer British Columbia sailed with about 500,000 pounds of fresh halibut iced and frozen halibut. The bulk of the shipment is consigned to eastern markets.

The Indian potlatch is threatened. Two chiefs have been arrested for participating in one and other chiefs are now taking legal counsel to learn if they can maintain this ancient custom. The Indian department contends the potlatch has a demoralizing influence on the natives.

WARDNER

Mrs. Hayes was called to Cranbrook last Tuesday evening to the bedside of Mr. Hayes at the St. Eugene hospital. It is feared that Mr. Hayes' condition is serious. Both limbs were broken about four weeks ago, but other complications seem to have set in.

A joint meeting of the board of managers and the Ladies Guild from Bull River and Wardner churches was called for Tuesday evening in the church at Wardner. A number of the Bull River people were in attendance. The object of the meeting was to notify the superintendent, Dr. Ferguson, that these congregations wished to unite and become an augmented charge, also that they wished to extend a call to Rev. Wood, our present pastor. The subject was fully explained by Mr. F. W. Burgess chairman, and the minutes of the last meeting read by the secretary, Victor A. Lundborn, after which this action was unanimously agreed to by all present. After the official part of the meeting was disposed of, refreshments were served by some of the Wardner ladies.

BAYNES LAKE

Last week one of the hands at the Adolph mill had a marvelous escape from death. He slipped on the log chains in trying to handle a heavy timber which had miscarried, and was pushed by it under the guard fending off from the five saws of the "slasher" which cuts in lengths the waste lumber. He was forced towards them until his legs were each side of a saw before his frantic efforts to escape succeeded.

The large winter logging camp of the Adolph Lumber company, a mile and a half out of Baynes, is now in full swing.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson of Waldo have arranged to give a large farewell dance in their honor on November 27th, before their departure for Medicine Hat. Mr. Robertson, who is a brother of the Bishop of Exeter, is secretary of the Baxter Lumber company, and intends taking up the real estate business in Medicine Hat.

The Baynes and district branch of the Farmers' Institute meets on Friday, November 28th, in the Adolph hall for the election of delegates to the central convention. G. Nutt has promised to read a paper on "Soils."

Rev. Mr. Bruce has taken charge of the Anglican congregations in Elko, Baynes and Waldo during the absence of Rev. J. Ross Colquhoun on sick leave, who left Calgary on November 15th for Glasgow. Mr. Bruce preached here last Sunday.

The children's Christmas tree in connection with Baynes Lake school is fixed for Friday, December 15th, when a concert by the juveniles will also be given.

The Adolph mill closes down next week, being the last of the three local firms firms to do so.

Mrs. Adolph, sr., has made satisfactory improvement after her serious illness at Los Angeles, Cal., whither she had gone some weeks ago for the winter.

The squirrels, gophers and other forest folk are still out and about quite lively.

On Sunday a traveller driving through the townsite about 6 p.m., when everyone was at supper, saw that the barn of J. Radford, of the Baynes Lake hotel was on fire, and immediately gave the alarm. Soon some twenty people were on the scene. The fire when discovered had a good hold on the upper story and the helpers had to climb along the roofs of adjoining buildings to throw water on the spreading flames. Two horses were in the stable underneath and were got out safely. In about three-quarters of an hour the fire was got under control, with only the gutting of the upper story, and the entire loss of the store of winter hay. It is supposed that some one passing through got into the barn and dropped a match when lighting a pipe. The building is not insured.

When Rev. A. E. Bruce drove over from Elko the same day to take the 11 a.m. Anglican service at Waldo not a soul turned out, though he waited till 11.30 a.m., and the Baker hall was opened and warmed for the service.

G. Welsby, the policeman acting at Elko, and last from Nelson, drove to Baynes and Waldo on duty on Sunday. He acted for several months as chief constable at Fernie. Mr. Collins, the Waldo policeman, is expected back from his fortnight's holiday this week end.

The newly established free reading room, housed in the Baynes Lake hotel is going ahead. The latest move of the association was to secure a circulating library under the rules of the government travelling libraries, at their meeting on Thursday, at Baynes Lake hotel, when Rev. J. Philp, president; S. Eoll, C. Brooks, J. Radford, W. F. Wright and G. Nutt were present. The library will start with fifty books, chiefly on fiction, literature, travel, science and books suitable for children. Rev. J. Philp also agreed to deliver on Thursday, December 4th, a lecture on "My Pilgrimage Through Palestine," illustrated by maps, charts, pictures and curios, and giving his varied experiences of "400 miles on horseback, stormed out of Hebron, robbed at Tiberias, attacked in the desert, when 72 persons perished." The function will include musical selections and the examination and explanation of the curios. The lecture will be in aid of the library fund. G. Nutt is librarian.

Rev. A. E. Bruce, the Anglican clergyman, recently put in charge of Baynes, Waldo and Elko districts, was here visiting for two days this week and meets with much acceptance.

On Friday G. Nutt will give a paper on "Soils" at the monthly meeting of the local Farmers' Institute.

It is hoped shortly to hold a Conservative meeting at Waldo, when a prominent member of the government will speak.

Miss Martin has just purchased a fine new Girard-Heintzman piano, which arrived here this week in good shape. Miss Martin has started a music class here and is now prepared to accommodate a larger number of pupils.

Mr. Pierson, brother of our well known townsman, arrived here on Monday from Cranbrook, where he had visited little Oscar Pierson, who is in the hospital suffering from pneumonia. He reports the child progressing favorably, although on two different occasions the physicians despaired of his life. It is expected that he will soon be able to return home.

On Wedoesday evening Mrs. Horn entertained a number of her friends at an informal card party, when a most enjoyable time was spent. The first part of the evening was spent in playing whist and other games and about midnight the guests were invited into Mrs. Horn's cozy dining room, where a sumptuous repast awaited them. After doing full justice to the appetising supper the guests again repaired to the parlor and it was well on into the wee sma hours of the morning before the party broke up. All report having spent a very jolly evening and pronounce Mr. and Mrs. Horn excellent entertainers.

Mrs. Nordine went to Cranbrook this week to see Harold, her son who is in the hospital, being treated for typhoid fever. She reports the boy doing well and expects he will soon be able to return home.

Miss Martin, principal of the public school, went to Cranbrook on Saturday. She was accompanied by little Hilda Wills, who went to the hospital for treatment for nervous trouble. Miss Martin returned on Sunday after having left her charge comfortably ensconced in the hospital, where it is hoped that quiet and rest will restore the shattered nerves of the child.

Mrs. Laing spent several days in Cranbrook this week shopping.

Mr. Willan, the Methodist missionery here, paid a visit to Kimberley and Marysville this week, where he gave lantern lectures to large audiences. The proceeds of the lectures was devoted to the work of the church in these places. Mr. Willan reports deep snow in that district, while here mild spring-like weather prepails.

Last Wednesday afternoon the school children of the senior division gave a little send off to Miss Mary Roberts, one of their school mates, who was leaving for the old country the next day. Games of all kinds were indulged in by the children and then some appetizing refreshments were served by the teacher and older pupils. The little gathering then broke up and all report having spent a most enjoyable afternoon.

The service which has been held in the Methodist church at 1.30 p.m. has been changed to the usual hour of 7.30 p.m. and services will be held at Yahk on Monday evening in place of Sunday afternoon as this is more convenient for the people.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and family, who are old residents of this place, left on Thursday night on the flyer for England. Mr. Roberts, who is suffering from cancer, had an operation performed some time ago at Spokane, but without any good results. His physician then advised him to refrain from having any more operations, as the case was hopeless and the treatment only aggravated the disease. Mr. Roberts then decided to return to his native country—England—where he intends to be treated with the X-ray and he hopes with the best of medical attendance to effect a recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts have made many friends here and will be much missed from our town, but they carry with them the best wishes of the whole community.

Mr. Boisjolie, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Boisjolie, returned here on Monday from Lethbridge. They are old residents of this place, but have been absent for some time and their many friends are pleased to welcome them back again. Mr. Boisjolie has rented the Methodist parsonage for the winter and will move in as soon as the repairs are made. The parsonage has been vacant for some three months and the Ladies Aid Society are having the windows repaired and the inside of the house thoroughly renovated for the new tenant. Miss Boisjolie will spend the winter here with her father.

INVERMERE

Through the kind instrumentality of Professor Robertson, of the department of education, under the direction of School Inspector Miller two schools for public instruction will this season be opened in the district. One of these will be situated within this townsite and opens this week, the other will be on the benches overlooking Lake Lillian and will be opened as soon as a building has been erected.

The various curling clubs of the townsites in this neighborhood which form the district association have recently held their various annual meetings and appointed their officers for the ensuing year and mapped out their owo individual programmes. The Windermere District Curling association comprising players from rinks from Invermere, Athalmere, Wilmer and Windermere will be holding an annual meeting in the immediate future.

WINDERMERE

INVERMERE CURLING CLUB.

Those interested in the "roarin' game" to the number of about twenty assembled on Monday evening in the Hotel Invermere to hold the second annual meeting of the Invermere Curling club.

It was decided to make a rink of one or two sheets of ice on the vacant lot just opposite the Hotel Invermere. A supply of water will be easily available from the Invermere water works system and there should be no difficulty in making a good sheet of ice.

Messrs. Wedd, Bennett and Cleland were appointed a committee to meet representatives from the other club in the district and arrange for local competitions.

Davidson, jr., and Thorburn Allan, have made personal cash contributions to the building of the Windermere District General hospital amounting to $1300 and the funds have already been received and applied to the reduction of the building contract.

J. F. Spalding, of Fernie, who is touring the province collecting data for an illustrated touring guide of the government highway, called in at Athalmer this week. Capt. Carruthers and his bride returned to Cranbrook last Saturday after spending their honeymoon in Alberta and the Captain has again assumed charge of the local corp of the Salvation Army. The new benedict is receiving the congregations of his many friends in the city and Mrs. Carruthers is being welcomed. They were married in Winnipeg on November 4th. The bride is a Salvation Army officer with the rank of captain. She resided in Winnipeg for a number of years but has recently been stationed at Vancouver.

The December meeting of the Farmers' Institute will be devoted to the drafting of resolutions to be presented to the Central Convention of Farmers' Institutes in January. There are a number of questions of public importance that could be furthered by being brought forward in this way, as if endorsed, they will then have the weight of the whole Farmers' Institute body of the province back of them. The Institute will welcome anyone presenting any matter at this meeting and if supported by the members present will support it both here and at the coming convention. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. December 10th at old gymnasium building.

You can save 40c. on 98 lbs. of flour if you buy Leitch Bros. on Saturday. Every sack guaranteed.—Ira R. Manning.

On last Monday evening the Auditorium presented a very pleasing appearance, being crowded with a brilliant throng of merry makers, the occasion being the dance given in aid of St. Mary's school. There was a large crowd present and all thoroughly enjoyed the good time afforded, dancing continuing until 3 a.m. Mrs. Wallinger with an orchestra of four pieces furnished the music, which was thoroughly enjoyed and repeatedly encored. The supper was in charge of Miss Della Drummond and everything in the way of cuisine par excellence was served the dancers by a corp of capable young ladies, who diligently looked after the wants of the inner man until all were happily provided for. Mr. Ray Howard acted in the capacity of floor manager and furnishtd a programme of dances that kept all busy, not a wallflower being allowed to adorn the empty seats. It was a congenial crowd and one of the happiest dances of the season.

Few of us realize with what tremendous rapidity northwest Canada is being brought under cultivation. Train'oads of settlers during the summer come from Minneapolis. Shiploads come from the British Isles. Vast farms are being improved. Cities are upspring like mushrooms. The Hudson Bay company has already opened in Calgary a department store that represents a capital of $3,000,000. Another is building in Vancouver, say the newspapers, at a cost of $4,000,000. Still another at Victoria will cost $1,200,00. Winnipeg will have a $7,000,000 store. There will be one at Edmonton.—Vancouver World.

Twenty thousand dollars will be offered for the chief choral competition and $10,000 for the male choir

"The Life of Dante"

In three Reels, with Special Music

A Magnificent Historical Drama in which huge crowds appear in a most effective manner. The photographic quality is magnificent. The producer has very clearly kept the the thread of the story throughout every picture, and the actors have responded with high perfeet characterization. A picture that will create intense enthusiasm and appeal to all classes of people. The picture runs along with the story as follows:

The youthful Dante has for his teacher Brunetto Latini, a man of great learning. They are pursuing their studies one morning as usual when there appears to them a vision of the great poet Virgil. Dante resolves that thereafter Virgil shall be his guide.

As he is returning to his home after having seen the vision, he beholds for the first time, Beatrice, one of the fairest maids id all Florence. Between these two there is at once a feeling of mutual admiration, and Dante feels the first throb of love. On his return home he writes a poem, the theme of which is the beauty of Beatrice.

Dante soon afterward is formally introduced to Beatrice. It so happens that Simon de Baidi, one of her most ardent admirers, is present at the meeting, and he forms a great dislike to Dante.

The meetings between Dante and Beatrice are now very frequent; he is content only when devoting himself entirely to her.

At this time Florence is divided into two factions, "The Blacks" and "The Whites," who were continually warring with each other. One day the tolling of the bell calls the men to arms. Rumors of the tumult reach Dante and Grotti while they are at work art renovating, and Dante, laying down his tools, goes forth, and by his eloquence pacifies his countrymen. He receives a great ovation from the people and they carry him to the palace of the sovereignty, where he is made leader of "The Whites" and a member of the town corporation, by whom he is sent to the war of Arezzo as leader. After a last adieu to Beatrice he sets out for the front.

Dante arrives at the seat of war just in time to enter into the battle of Campaldino, in which the Florentines are losing. He immediately summons help from Corso Donati, a captain of the Pistoyans, on whose arrival the tide is turned and the Florentines are victorious.

During Dante's absence, Simone de Baidi induces Teleo Potinare to conspire with the "Blacks" to surrender the domain of Florence to Charles de Valois. Pope Boniface the eighth, sends an ambassador with a letter of approval, and the agreement is carried out. Charles de Valois enters Florence in state.

Meanwhile Simone de Baidi requests the hand of Beatrice as a token of his faith. The father of Beatrice grants this request. Thus both Beatrice and the liberty of Florence are sacrificed.

The war being over, Dante returns to Florence only to find Charles De Valois in power, and he, Dante, is denied admittance to the home of Beatrice. This incident changes the whole course of his life and, hoping to forget Beatrice, he plunges into the pleasures of the world. While in the company of one of his new found friends one evening he meets Beatrice, and she, consumed with grief, and a victim of circumstances, returns to her home a martyred victim, to Simon De Bardi.

Beatrice's marriage to De Bardi having been consumated, they enter upon a life which is very distasteful to her. She still loves Dante, after an exchange of hot words, Beatrice falls in a faint and receives an injury from which she never recovers. Thinking of the poet, she calls for her chest of keepsakes. Among them she finds a rose which Dante had given her, and unable to bear the separation longer, she sends for him. He arrives only in time for a last embrace and weeps over her dead body.

Shortly after, Dante is forced to flee from Florence, and many weary years of exile, returns to Italy. He reproaches Pope Boniface with being the cause of the evils of Florence and his own downfall.

Again being warned of a plot to kill him, Dante takes refuge in a convent where he remains long enough to write his masterpiece, "The Divine Comedy." He is now informed that the Sovereignty of Florence grant him permission to return to Florence on the condition that he enter the town as a culprit, barefoot, with a rope around his neck, and a lighted brand in his hand. He refuses to accept these conditions, and in a short time, grieving over Beatrice and his beloved country, Florence, dies of a broken heart.

ANNIVERSARY OF REX THEATRE

Today marks the first anniversary of the opening of the Rex theatre and Johnson Bros., the proprietors, desire through these columns to thank the theatre going public of Cranbrook for the splendid patronage of the past year. They believe their efforts to give the public a first-class encertainment has been appreciated and they desire also to announce that the same high standard will be maintained throughout the coming months and they hope to merit a continuance of the same liberal support.

It has only been through the generous patronage of the theatre that the proprietors have been enabled to furnish the high quality of entertainment that has been their rule in the past. It is their intention to maintain the same in the future and plans are now underway to make their shows better if possible.

Some of the features af the Rex, which have been inaugurated during the past year are as follows: Clean, moral pictures, especially given careful attention for the children's matinees; the highest salaried orchestra in the Kootenays; special attention to neatness, cleanliness, proper ventilation and with exits sufficient to empty the house in three minutes in case of fire or panic; the most up-to-date appliances available for projection of the pictures and an operating booth as safe as money and skill can make it.

The Okanagan valley has made a good showing this year, having shipped fruit and produce to the value of over $1,300,000 so far, with more yet to be marketed. For the week ending November 19th, fifty-eight carloads were sent odt.

WALDO

The sawmill at Baynes has been closed down for the season. Mr. Adolph reports a very satisfactory cut.

Mr. Hales H. Ross went down to Swift Current last Tuesday.

Notices are already out concerning the Christmas entertainment to be given at Baynes on December 19th by the day school children. Rally round the youngsters. A nominal admission fee of 25c. will be charged.

Last winter a series of debates took place in Baynes on such lively topics as "Woman Suffrage," "Home Rule," etc. Surely it is possible to have the debates recommenced this winter? We have the talent, we can get the audiences, and can possibly get the hall free of charge again! Come, let us organize.

Rev. Mr. Bruce will hold service in Baynes on Sunday at 11 a.m. Loyal Anglicans, take note.

Fred Wood has become the organist pro tem at the Presbyterian services in Waldo, during the absence of Mr. Milne in Saskatoon.

Our prophecy of last week came true. Some fine deer have been shot by local hunters.

Waldo folks don't forget that good fresh meat will be sold at your door on Saturdays and Wednesdays by Mr. Blunt of Baynes. As an old flesher, Mr. Blunt knows his business. Support local enterprise.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Dr. W. H. Ball, of the international committee of the Y.M.C.A., New York, spent a couple of days at the local association and gave several lectures on health, hygiene and other subjects of interest and instruction to men.

Mr. J. M. Dudley, railroad secretary for Canada and Mr. John F. Moore, senior railroad secretary for North America, arrived from Revelstoke last Tuesday, spending some time in conference with the local board of directors and departed the next day. They stated that things were going well in Y.M.C.A. work all over the continent and were pleased to know of the bright prospects before the local institution.

The impromptu night of the Debating Society last Friday was a decided success from every point of view. A large number turned out and took part in the discussions. This meeting has been a success from its inception.

The pool table is being thoroughly overhauled and put in good condition and the Brunswick-Balke-Collenden Co. of Vancouver are going to put the alleys in first-class shape before the opening of the schedule games for the season.

The men's meetings on Sunday at 16.15k are well patronized. They are short, bright, informal meetings, just the kind a man likes. The Men's choir practices every Sunday at 17k. We have about thirty men in this but our number is not limited and we could do with a few more.

The Wednesday night Bible class is holding its own. It meets every Wednesday at 18k. Supper is served from 18k till 18.30k and the class takes up the study of the book, "Men of Steel," a book specially gotten up for railroad men. We are half through with the book now but will welcome any man who cares to come.

The Camera Club is under way and das a definite plan arranged for the winter. We have a dark room with running water and other accessories for photography which members may use.

We will be pleased to see any of the boys of the town come in and take a look at our splendid facilities for rest, recreation and instruction.

LOCAL DRUGGIST SAYS: "TAKE ONLY ONE DOSE"

We want to tell those in Cranbrook suffering from stomach or bowel trouble that we are agents for the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Alder-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. This is the most thorough bowel cleanser known and JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. You will be surprised at the QUICK action of Alder-i-ka.—Beattie-Murphy Drug Co.

B. C. NOTES

George Wilson, the Kimisquit Indian, was found guilty of manslaughter at Vancouver in connection with the shooting of three Indians, following a drunken brawl at the Kimisquit cannery, and was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment by Justice Morrison.

Frank August, an Indian, charged last week at Kamloops with assault, admitted striking his wife with his fists in the face. He was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and ordered to pay a fine of $20 and costs, or in default undergo an addicional two months' imprisonment.

One hundred and seventy-two births, 76 marriages and 72 deaths were registered at the government offices at Fernie for the half year ending October 31st.

Board and room can be had in a first-class hotel at Vancouver for $6 per week.

Joseph Harrison lost his life last week at Coal Creek in No. 1 east mine. A bump broke a bridge stick where the unfortunate man was working and the fall of rock which followed caused his death.

Ontario will send a number of its youthful prisoners to the lumber camps to serve their sentences. B.C. lumberjacks will probably resent the imputation that the pine woods are a substitute for jail.
