WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 24th, 1907

WAR AGAINST WHISKY!

THE GREAT DESTROYER!

Temperance was at one time looked upon as the fad of fanatics, but since statesmen, judges, magistrates, prison wardens, governors of lunatic asylums, and every day experience assure all thinking men and women that strong drink is responsible for most of the crime committed, it is not unreasonable to urge the boys to

WANTS PEACE

GERMANY WELCOMES FRIENDSHIP OF GREAT BRITAIN

Berlin, Nov. 18.—The ten years of estrangement between Germany and Great Britain appears today to be coming to an end and the conviction is held in government offices in Berlin that the present journey of the Emperor to Great Britain, taking into account the events which led up to it, is likely to have an enduring value. The courtesies which are now being extended to the Emperor in England were preceded, it is reported here by the decision on the part of its king to discontinue his personal policy of endeavoring to isolate Germany. The King came to this conclusion in July after the international conference at Algeciras had completed its matters. The policy of German isolation was looked upon by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman and Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, as unprofitable to Great Britain and incompatible with her aim of peace throughout the world. Furthermore there was a feeling of uneasiness among the members of the British cabinet as to whether or not the King's informal political suggestions to the British ambassadors, granted audiences by His Majesty, were strictly in accord with constitutional practices.

The Emperor had said privately now and then to members of his household that he would visit England if he was invited, and the king, with the approval of the government sent the invitation in June by Sir Frederick Lascelles, the British ambassador to Germany, who had sought for some months to bring about the present meeting. The German comment on the courtesies being extended to the Emperor by the King is distinctly appreciative and shows indeed, a great degree of good will.

Many articles are being published in the newspapers on how much Germany and Great Britain need one another, and Adolphe von Floeckher, formerly secretary of the German legation in Mexico City, and now a keen observer of and writer on international affairs, discussing the visit in Dr Grenzboten, developed the idea that the United States, Germany and Great Britain should draw closer together and follow in common the same international aims. Germany, the writer insists, should have no [illegible] or agreement with Great Britain, of which the United States is not informed, and in which the United States is not invited to participate. This provision, Dr. Von Floeckher urges should be insisted upon by Germany, preliminary to making any agreement, especially in view of the existing situation between the United States and Japan.

ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

Brandon, Nov. 15.—Hon. C. R. Caldwell was today elected member for Brandon by acclamation. He succeeds the late Hon. W. S. McInnis formerly minister of education for Manitoba.

TO ADOPT A PROGRAMME

LEMIEUX MAKES A START AT TOKIO

Tokio, Nov. 18.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Canadian postmaster general and minister of labor, who is here to consult with the Japanese authorities regarding emigration from this country, has established an office at the British embassy and is in frequent conference with officials of the foreign office. He expects a favorable reply on his mission.

To a representative of the Associated Press Mr. Lemieux said: "I am not proposing any change in the existing treaty but desire to reach an agreement with a friendly nation looking to the adoption of a program for the future which will be beneficial to both countries concerned.

The minister will be entertained by the municipality of Tokio tomorrow and the government is preparing an elaborate program for his entertainment during his stay in Japan. The foreign office has notified the imigration companies that 400 Japanese will be allowed to enter Hawaii during this month and December. It is understood that the government intends to keep a close watch on those going as students to San Francisco. There is reason to believe that considerable fraud has been practiced by registering laborers as students and that this has escaped the scrutiny of the immigration inspectors. United States Ambassador O'Brien has had a conference on this subject with Minister of Foreign Affairs Haisha, who has issued most stringest instructions to the inspectors and it is understood that further restrictions are under advice. The Japanese government is considering the advisability of shutting off immigration to the United States and Canada for the present on the ground that economic conditions render it inadvisable for citizens of Japan to visit foreign countries unless they are able to show that they are amply self-supporting.

The Hoch Shambun an opposition paper, insists that the government is tamely yielding to the foreigners on the immigration question while cleverly hiding the fact from the public and declares that the visit of Hon. Mr. Lemieux affords the best opportunity of settling the problem once and for all.

TRIAL OF GEORGE A. PETTIBONE

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 18.—The trial of George A. Pettibone for complicity in the murder of former Governor Steunenberg was reset by Judge Wood today for November 25. If the Adams' trial at Rathdrum is finished by that time there will not be any further postpouement.

A BOLD MOVE

MACKENZIE KING SEIZES JAPANESE DOCUMENTS

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—Under his authority as Dominion commissioner, Mackenzie King has seized all the records, letters, passports, etc., in the possession of the Canadian Nippon Supply & Employment company. These are being fully examined with the aid of an interpreter this afternoon. Alluding to what he had learned from the correspondence at the time of today's session, Commissioner King said: "I think that in the correspondence, documents and passports we have the crux of the whole situation." He stated to a representative of the company that he had noted one letter from the Grand Trunk Pacific. Pressed by Chas. Wilson, K. C., as to his method of examination he stated his intention of calling representatives of all railway lines at the coast, emphasizing this statement as follows: "I want it understood that there is no private corporation or concern of any kind that I am going to respect in this enquiry and I am anxious if the Grand Trunk Pacific have been bringing men here, to bring it out in the strongest possible way. My own personal belief, and I don't mind stating it, is, that all these companies have been interested in getting Asiatic labor in here."

Tomorrow afternoon R. G. MacPherson, M. P., will be examined and on the following days Immigration Officer Monro and his assistant, and C. Gardiner Johnson, president of the Nippon company.

Riot Damages Commissioner King tonight received a letter from Japanese Consul Morikawa, returning a cheque for $1600, allowed by the commissioner for the expenses of the consulate and lawyer's fees. Morikawa declares it is impossible for his government to accept a reward for protecting the interests and property of the subjects of the Mikado.

The Japanese consul added in a letter to Commissioner King: "You have done much to restore the feeling of my countrymen here, that the Canadian government and the people of Canada are opposed to every element whose purpose is to defy the ordinary rules of decency in life and the wider laws which binds nations in friendly accord."

MR. JAMIESON MAY GO TO WINNIPEG

REPORTED THAT CALGARY RAILWAY MAN IS TO BE PROMOTED

(Calgary Albertan.)

The Albertan received word last night that R. R. Jamieson, general superintendent of the C. P. R. western division, would shortly be moved to Winnipeg, where he would receive a higher appointment.

When called up last night at his residence on 12th avenue, Mr. Jamieson stated that he had heard nothing of the report, but refused to confirm or deny, simply stating that any announcement would come from Winnipeg, Mr. Jamieson refused to say anything, nor would he state when the move would take place.

THE CONSERVATIVES MEET

The Conservatives of Cranbrook held a meeting on Tuesday evening of last week, for the purpose of selecting delegates for the Provincial Conservative meeting that is being held in Vancouver this week. The following named gentlemen were selected as delegates from Cranbrook: J. A. Harvey, S. J. Mighton, B. H. Short, J. D. McBride, D. B. Dulmage and Thos. Cavin. It was also arranged that P. Lund, of Wardner, A. E. Watts, of Wattsburg, H. W. Drew, of Kimberley, J. McDonald, of Marysville, and N. Hanson, of Wasa, should be delegates. Mr. Drew was at the coast but was unable to remain until the convention met. Mr. Hanson was unable to go, and likewise Mr. Cavin. Messrs. Dulmage, Mighton and Short left by the C. P. R. train Tuesday morning and Messrs. Harvey and McBride left by the way of Spokane yesterday morning. It is expected that there will be a large gathering of Conservatives from all over the province and that the meeting will be a large one. W. R. Ross and Thos. Whelan, of Fernie, went through yesterday as delegates from Fernie.

IT IS GOING TO BE A BIG SUCCESS

The Cranbrook Park, Limited, which is the name of the corporation that has been organized for the purpose of giving to Cranbrook a first-class race meeting and also act as an auxiliary in holding a fruit and agricultural fair, is making most commendable progress. The first payments of the money subscribed are being paid in a most satisfactory manner and Secretary Roberts says that he is pleased with the manner the people are taking hold of the proposition. The grounds are to be surveyed and next spring they will be put in good shape and a sidewalk on an easy grade will be built up the hill, which will prove a great convenience to the entire public.

MONUMENT FOR McINNIS.

Brandon, November 19.—At a meeting of the delegates from different societies in Brandon in the city hall last evening it was decided to open a public subscription list of five dollars and under with which to erect a monument in Brandon to perpetuate the name of the Hon. S. W. McInnis. It was stated by those present that the feeling was very strong throughout the city that a monument should be erected in one of the public parks. It was finally decided if possible to erect a statue in West Park or on the city hall grounds. It is to be full size, built in marble or bronze on a stone pedestal.

THE PEOPLE ARE SATISFIED

The city council have built a sidewalk along the north side of Baker street, an improvement that has been long needed, and the people of the city generally are greatly pleased over the proposition.

BILL MINER IS CAPTURED

Vancouver, Nov. 20.—Penitentiary officials have been advised from Seattle, of the capture of a man answering to the description of Bill Miner, the famous holdup man who escaped several months ago while serving a life term for train robbery on the C. P. R. It is stated that certain tatoo marks and other appearances make the identity almost certain. The authorities will send men to make it absolutely certain.

Capt. H. A. Mellon announces the organization of a company which will at once start the construction of pulp and paper mills on the mainland on Howe Sound. The plant will represent the investment of a million dollars and will be in operation within eight months. Eighty-one acres have been secured for the location. The process is a new one, covered by chemical patents.

IMMIGRATION OFFICER DECEIVED

Vancouver, Nov 20—Morikawa, the local Japanese consul was the center of interest at commissioner King's inquiry this afternoon and probably that consul will personally appear later to explain several statements brought out. The question of immigrants arriving on the Kumerie and placing of $25 each in the bag held by the official consulate was very thoroughly discussed in the testimony of R. G. Macpherson and immigration officer Monro, and it was found that the consul had told three different stories as to the reason for the collection. Monro said he did not know until after the incident that the money did not belong to the immigrants personally. Advices shown him pointed to the fact that the money was sent on from Honolulu to make sure the men would have funds to pass inspection.

Solicitor Cowan—Then as dominion government you were hoodwinked?

Monro. "Yes! I was deceived, as I have since learned the money did not belong to Japanese passengers Cowan: "Then Morikawa was collecting money from Japanese which he knew did not belong to them?

Monro. "I would not say he knew it. It merely occured to me that he had a suspicion."

Commissioner King noted the receipt of a wire from McNichol of the G. T. P., stating that his company had not entered into any arrangements for importing Asiatic labor, and that the company's officials had no connection with the B. C. Tie and Timber company, of which D. M. Hays is secretary. The statements were acceptad, and the subpoenas for the Grand Trunk Pacific officials at Prince Rupert were cancelled, though their affidavits will be obtained. McNichol added that he did not know that subsidiary companies of the G. T. P. were importing Asiatic labor.

McPHERSON HAS A JOB

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—R. G. McPherson M. P., Vancouver, it is said will be appointed warden of the penitentiary at New Westminster.

TESTIMONIAL TO A GOOD MAN.

This evening the members of the fire department met as usual but there was a little more business to transact than generally comes up before the organization. A few days ago the department had received the written resignation of T. M. Roberts, who had been acting as secretary for the past five years, and of course it had to be accepted. The department is a volunteer one and the work that is done by any member of the department is for the good of the city. Mr. Roberts has done his work well and in a manner that has endeared him to all of the members of the fire department. In consequence there was a special meeting called for this evening and after a few remarks by those present Chief Fink arose and in a few words presented to Mr. Roberts a handsome locket. One one side the initials "T. M. R." were beautifully entwined while on the other side there was engraved the following: "Presented to T. M. Roberts by the Fire Boys." Mr. Roberts found it difficult to respond to the sentiment so nicely expressed in the gift but said a few words to show that he fully appreciated what had been done for him by the boys with whom he had been associated for such a long time. It is unfortunate for the city and for the department that Mr. Roberts has seen fit to resign his position as secretary. It will be difficult to get a man who will take the same interest in the work that Mr. Roberts has and do so much for the advancement of the department. It is no wonder that the members expressed themselves in the manner that they did, for every member knew that Mr. Roberts did all that he could for each individual member as long as he was secretary.

GARDEN OF PLENTY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

CHICAGO MAN WRITES OF THIS PROVINCE IN THE HIGHEST TERMS

Herbert Vanderhoof, secretary of the Western Canadian Immigration Association, writing in the Chicago Evening Post, has many nice things to say about British Columbia. He writes:

"No more beautiful country exists under the sun than this province, which is indeed Nature's picture gallery. However, it is a busy Eden—no lazy man's land. Mining, lumbering, agriculture, fruit growing, fisheries, mixed farming, dairying are all carried on in the fertile valleys between the great mountain ranges, and with almost unbelievable success.

Did you ever hear of selling strawberries at 25 cents a pound—seven berries weighing sixteen ounces? Did you ever hear of getting 70 cents a dozen for eggs and 10 cents a pound, live weight, for hogs? Did you ever hear of felling trees 300 feet high and fifty feet in circumference at the base? Did you ever—what's the use? British Columbia is never believed until it has been seen. Yet here are a few facts that may interest you.

"Less than fifty years ago British Columbia was shown on the maps of North America as 'New Caledonia,' and was held as a fur preserve by the Hudson's Bay company, under lease from the British government. To the world at large it was a hyperborean wilderness, a home of savage men and wild beasts. One day gold was discovered, thousands of treasure hunters rushed in, and sudden and important changes occurred.

"The territory was created a crown colony with a responsible government, laws were enacted and enforced in accordance with British precedent, roads and trails were made to the 'diggings,' civic, educational and religious institutions were established and British Columbia emerged from obscurity and became the Mecca of a vast army of sturdy pilgrims from all parts of the world.

"The primary object of the newcomers was gold, and the fortunate ones succeeded in winning about $30,000,000 between 1858 and 1868. But the needs of the miners encouraged other industries, and in due course British Columbia's timber and fisheries came to be regarded as nearly equal in importance to her gold mines.

"Cultivated fields and ranches slowly began to appear on the lake fronts and river banks. Those who went into pratical farming made money and today their fine residences surrounded by well-filled fields and cultivated orchards are the envy as well as the incentive of every new settler. The industry and intelligent efforts of those pioneer farmers demonstrated the capabilities of the soil of British Columbia for producing in perfection every cereal, fruit and vegetable that can be grown in the temperate zone.

"The opportunities for profitable diversified farming are practically unlimited. The demand for every product of the farm is great and ever increasing, the present supply being wholly inadequate for the local market. Under a system of small land holdings, with diversified farming, every object of cultivation is highly profitable, because produced by labor that might otherwise be unproductive.

"Large areas which require irrigation are now used for grain growing and stock raising, but will at no distant day, be supplied with water and will afford men of moderate means the opportunity to acquire homes and pursue general farm work under the most favorable conditions.

"Irrigation, though far from general, has already wrought a chance in agricultural methods in those districts in which it has been introduced, but so far farming under this system does not appeal to the average easterner. Many who have had no experience with irrigation entertain the feeling that it is suited to special farming only. When they learn the use of water, applied where and when it is needed, and come to understand that there is nothing intricate in it, or anything difficult to be learned in respect to it, they quickly appreciate its advantages.

"The productive value of land in British Columbia which has good water facilities is easily four times as great as land in Eastern Canada. The milder climate contributes to this in a measure, but the great advantage of irrigation lies in being able to control the elements, or in other words, being independent of them in farm work. Diversified farming is essentially practicable where irrigation is required. It enables the farmer to gratify his fancy with respect to crops, and at the same time realize from the land the greatest possible returns. The general farmer may combine stock raising, which includes dairying in a small way, hay, grain and poultry, hogs and sheep with a great variety of small fruits and vegetables.

"Dairying pays handsomely, especially in cases where the farmer is not obliged to employ skilled labor to do the milking and butter-making. The local demand for butter is constantly increasing with the population and the prices secured are far higher than in the east. The province possesses large possibilities for dairying. There are extensive pastoral lands in the interior, while increased cultivation in the lower country will form the necessary feeding ground. With a plentiful supply of good water and nutritious grasses, there is every required facility added.

"The coast climate is most favorable for dairying industries. Clover, one of the most valuable plants in cultivation, is practically a weed in British Columbia, west of the Cascade range. Once established in the soil it is practically impossible to get it out. Lucerne, or alfalfa, is succeeding admirably. In the Okanagan Valley and other points, three heavy crops of this nutritious fodder are produced annually.

"Cheesemaking has scarcely been attempted on a commercial basis, as there is but one cheese factory in the province. This factory is at Langley and has a daily capazity of about 1000 pounds of cheese. The article produced is of good quality and finds ready sale.

"Potatoes, turnips, mangolds, beets and all other roots grow in profusion wherever their cultivation has been attempted. Sixty-eight tons of roots to a measured acre is recorded at Chilliwack, and near Kelowna, on Okanagan Lake, twenty acres produced 403 tons of potatoes, which sold at $14 a ton, while carrots, turnips, parsnips and beets sell at an average of about 60 cents a bushel.

"Wheat is grown principally in the Fraser Valley, Okanagan, Spallumcheen, and in the country around Kamloops in the Thompson River Valley, and is manufactured at local mills at Enderby, Armstrong and Vernon. Good barley is grown in many parts of the province. Oats are the principal grain crop, the quality and yield being good, and the demand beyond the quality grown. Rye is grown to a limited extent and is used for fodder.

"Poultry raising is carried on to advantage, a pront of $2 a year on each hen being the average. Ducks, geese and turkeys do well in many parts of the country. The prices are excellent for poultry and eggs.

"Hop growing, tobacco raising, bee culture, cranberry, celery, sugar beet and melon growing also are carried on successfully. The culture of flowering bulbs on Vancouver Island is a profitable industry, the gains being estimated at over $2000 an acre.

"Cattle raising on a large scale was once a chief industry of the province, but the tendency of late has been for smaller herds and the improvement of the stock. While the province is capable of raising all the beef, mutton and pork required for home consumption, a large amount is annually exported.

"Fruit growing is one of the most important industries of the province. A few years ago the man who would venture to describe the Kootenays as fruit-growing districts would have been looked upon as a visionary or an imbecile, today all Southern British Columbia is acknowledged to be one of the finest fruit-growing countries on this continent. Not only will it produce fruit in abundance, but the quality of its fruit is equal to that grown in any other part of America. Certain varieties of fruit attain perfection in certain localities—for instance the Fameuse apple develops its best qualities on the island of Montreal—but, taking a collection of British Columbia fruit, it is as large, as finely colored and flavored as any similar miscellaneous lot the product of any other country.

"Whether the settler goes into mining, lumbering, stock raising, mixed farming, dairying, poultry raising or fruit growing, he is sure of a good market for his products in British Columbia. The agricultural industry cannot keep pace with the march of progress, and the thousands of men employed in the mines and lumber camps require more than the farmer can possibly produce. Then there is the Klondike market, and the Oriental trade, so that the future of the province is assured."

McAULIFFE STOCK COMPANY OPENS TONIGHT

The McAuliffe Stock company, headed by the great singing comedian, Jere McAuliffe, will commence a three nights and Saturday matinee engagement at the new opera house, commencing tonight in the great sensational comedy drama, "A Daughter of the People," with "Shamus O'Brien" and "Why Women Sin" to follow, with all special scenery, electrical and mechanical effects. The following high class specialties will be introduced at each and every performance. Jere McAuliffe, in an entire new line of parodies; All. W. Wilson, the world's greatest ventriloquist, introducing little Willie Green and Fred Martelle, in the latest illustrated songs. The following is from the Nelson Daily News: The Jere McAuliffe Stock company opened a seven night's engagement in the opera house last evening to a good audience, in a melodrama entitled "A Daughter of the People." The plot of the play is laid in France and winds up in Russia. The company is well balanced and sustained their parts throughout to the evident satisfaction of the audience. Jere McAuliffe, in the role of Alexander Wilson, the eccentric old American from Chicago, was a favorite with the audience, and Miss Augusta Perry, as Zita Radeloff, in the title role, received well-merited applause.

The specialties were of first-class order, consisting of illustrated songs by Fred Martell; Jere McAuliffe in parodies which kept the audience in laughter, and ensured him an enthusiastic reception during the rest of the engagement, and Al. W. Wilson, the ventriloquist, proved to be very clever, and was the recipient of much applause.

NOVEL SUIT FOR DAMAGES

MAN CLAIMS DAMAGES FROM C. P. R. FOR INJURIES RECEIVED IN ACCIDENT THAT NEVER HAPPENED

Ottaw, Nov. 14.—Mr. Edward T. G. Mostyn, 45 Bank street, through his solicitor, Mr. Gordon Henderson, yesterday afternoon filed a writ of damages against the C. P. R. for $2000, the facts in the case being of peculiar interest. While on his way to Kingston recently, with the body of his late wife, Mr. Mostyn was forced, in order to avoid an alleged collision, to jump the train near Sharbot Lake, and he says that a dozen other passengers jumped upon him as he lay on the ground. Injuries are said to have been inflicted that have prevented him from working since and in his opinion, have made him a physically ruined man.

The conductor of the train in question, with a brakeman, rushed into the coach in which he was sitting and called to the passengers to jump for their lives as a collision was going to occur. Mr. Mostyn jumped off his seat, fell in the car, was trampled on by the excited passengers and after he succeeded in clearing the train, over a dozen men and women leaped upon him before he could get up from the ground. There was no collision, but a gravel train was in front and a wreck might have occurred but for the prompt work of the C. P. R. men.

THE HOSPITAL BALL

Don't forget the hospital ball on Monday evening, November 25th. Cranbrook is extremely fortunate in having such an institution as the St. Eugene hospital, and no man in the district can invest $2 in a more worthy manner than by purchasing a ticket to the ball, no matter whether they attend or not.

MAURETANIA MAY ECLIPSE THE LUSITANIA

New York, Nov. 16.—The new quadruple screw turbine steamship Mauretania sailed on her maiden trip from Liverpool for New York today. Simultaneously her sister ship, the famous Lusitania, which is a few hundred tons less, started from this port for Liverpool. Tomorrow morning the Mauretania will begin her run from the start of the ocean race course off Daunt's Rock, near Queenstown.

It is said to be the intention of the line to have the Mauretania, which made a better showing on her trial trip than the Lusitania, beat the time of the latter record breaking vessel on the trip they begin together. The trial run of the Mauretania was from Carsewell Point to Lands End, a distance of 300 miles, and the ship maintained a speed of 27½ knots. The Mauretania has 300 tons more registered tonnage than the Lusitania and is five feet longer, making it the longest vessel in existence. There has also been spent upon her interior decorations and tapestries $200,000 more than upon those of the Lusitania.

The Mauretania was built by Swan, Hunter & Wigham Richardson, at their shipyards on the Tyne, and the builders believe that she will eclipse the Lusitania in speed. She is 790 feet long, 88 feet beam, moulded depth, 32,500 tons gross, 45,000 tons displacement, 37 feet 6 inches load draught, with funnels 155 feet high. The diameter of the funnels is 24 feet and the height of mast 206 feet.

There are many reasons for believing that the new Mauretania, on her initial trip, will surpass even the great Lusitania. The trial trips of the two vessels were made under similar conditions and the Mauretania eclipsed her sister ship in speed by an average of half a knot. These preliminary trials were carried out with the hull of the Mauretania in a very dirty condition, and with part of the launching ways still adhering. Now that she has been put into a perfect condition in the dry dock at Liverpool, it appears perfectly safe that she will maintain a mean speed of 26½ knots in the trip across the Atlantic. This means that the fortunate traveller who has secured passage on the first trip of the new ocean giant will be whisked through the seas at a speed of thirty miles an hour.

The Mauretania, like the Lusitania, is equipped with turbine machinery While the old style reciprocating engines still have many champions, the success of the Lusitania would seem to indicate that their days are numbered. Economy of the fuel, greater speed and the absence of vibration are the claims of superiority for the turbine engines. The only important disadvantage of this type of power for ocean liners is its non-reversibility. The use of turbines allows of a great division of power, and advantage is taken of this in the Mauretania by equipping it with four propellor shafts. As about 70,000 horse power is necessary to drive the boat at 26 knots, the division is absolutely required. The four turbines, arranged about the center of the ship, are on about the same level, tending to great stability. Two of the four are high pressure turbines, and two are low pressure, corresponding to the high and low pressure cylinders of a reciprocating engine. The steam enters the high pressure turbines from the boilers, and, after performing its work in them, passed into the low pressure turbines before reaching the condenser. It is then condensed and again returned to the boilers.

If the propelling machinery of the Mauretania is wonderful, the boiler equipment is none the less amazing. There are in all twenty-five boilers. Each is double ended and fixed from both ends. The installation is practically equivalent to one of fifty boilers of a size almost unprecedented in shipbuilding. These boilers will consume, on an average, one ton of coal and evaporate five tons of water every minute. All the auxiliary machinery of the Mauretania is on an equally large scale. The condensers with their myriad tubes, give the impression of enormous boilers.

The electrical equipment of the Mauretania is more complete than ever before attempted on an ocean liner. The generating plant has a total capacity of 2,000 horse power—considerably more than is required for a good-sized city—and electricity has been utilized in every possible way on the ship. It is applied to the domestic operation of slicing ham and bread, and to the important duty of producing a forced draught in the boiler furnaces, by which means alone a racing speed can be obtained. Over 5,000 electric lights are used in the various parts of the ship. The cranes for loading and unloading baggage and mail are also operated by electricity. All the ventilation is accomplished by means of electric-driven fans, and which send cool or hot air into the cabins and saloons direct from the top deck, where the atmosphere is pure and fresh.

London, Nov. 16.—The magnificent new Cunard liner Mauretania, the largest and in many respects the most marvellous ship ever built, sailed out from this port on her maiden voyage to New York. The event was a notable one. The big ship, which is a triumph of marine architecture, sailed gracefully down the Mersey, carrying a full complement of passengers, and a large consignment of specie. Cheers from a large crowd gave the vessel an enthusiastic "bon voyage" as she proceeded down the stream.

A MUSICAL TREAT

Lovers of music, and of negro melodies, will enjoy a treat when the Williams' Dixie Jubilee singers appear at the opera house on Friday evening, December 6th. The troupe consists of a double quartette—male and female—and pianist. The company is making its second tour through Western Canada and has been engaged in nearly every place where they appeared last year. The selection of songs varies from the opera to lullabies, negro boat and cabin songs. Plan to hear them. They will appear under the auspices of the Presbyterian church.

HER MOMUMENT

She built it herself, and she did not know that she had a monument. She lived in it, but she did not know that it existed.

Her monument was her home. It grew so quietly, as quietly as a flower grows, and no one knew—she did not know herself—how much she had done to tend and water and train it.

Her husband had absolute trust in her. He earned the money; she expended it. And as she put as much thought in her expenditure as he put in his earning, each dollar was doubled in the expending. She had inherited that mysterious faculty which we call taste, and she cultivated it with fidelity. Every home she visited she studied, though always unconsciously, so though it were a museum or an art gallery; and from every visit she brought away some thought which came out of her loving imagination fitted to its appropriate place in her own home. She was too genial to be an imitator—for imitation is always of kin to falsehood—and she abhored falsehood. She was patient with everything but a lie. So she never copied in her home or on her person that she had seen elsewhere; yet everything she saw elsewhere entered into and helped to complete the perfect picture of life which she was always painting with deft fingers in everything, from the honeysuckle which she trained over the door, to the bureau in the guest's room which her designing made a new mode of art for every new friend, if it were not by a new nosegay and a change of vases. Putting her own personality into her home, making every room and almost every article of furniture speak of her, she had the gift to draw out from every guest his personality and make him at home and so make him his truest and best self. Whither man or woman of the world could long resist the subtle influences of that home; the warmth of its truth and love thawed out the frozen properties from impersonated etiquette, and whatever circle of friends sat on the broad piazza in summer or open fire in winter knew for a time the rare joy of liberty of perfect truth and perfect love. Her home was hospitable because her heart was large; and any one was her friend to whom she could minister. But her heart was like the old Jewish temple—strangers only came into the court of the gentiles, friends into the inner court; her husband and her children found a court yet nearer her heart of hearts; yet even they knew that there was a holy of holies which she kept for her God and they loved and revered her the more for it. So strangely was commingled in her the exclusiveness of love, its hospitality and its reserve.

Ah, blessed home-builder. There is nothing so sacred on earth, and no priest on earth so divine as the wife and mother who makes it.

REFLECTION

Yes, when we consider that so vast a number of our young people, especially the boys, make such lamentable mistakes, we are led to reflect. The boys, our boys, how soon they become restive under the restraints of home and determine to become independent, and go out to mingle with the promiscuous crowd, become familiar with its ways, listen to its oaths, its songs, its obscene jests, learn to smoke, to chew, to drink, to gamble; associate with evil companions and at last crazed by the devil rum, commit some overt act that brings them down to shame, and disgrace falls on those who love them best.

All who fill our jails and stand beneath the shadow of the gallows, have once stood where you are standing now. Have you not seen that mother kneel and heard her pray that you may walk aright, and heard that father's warning voice bidding you beware? Every true friend you have on earth unite to bid you choose aright. We hold the mirror up that reflects the downward course, the fearful end, and with no motive save for your good, and no desire but for your future happiness.

Endeavor to make, at least, one little spot on earth more sweet and beautiful, and peradventure you may leave a few flowers blooming in the desert when you are gone.

DON'T WHINE

Don't be whining about having a fair chance. Throw a sensible man out of the window, and he'll fall on his feet and ask the nearest way to his work. The more you have to begin with the less you will have in the end. Money you earn youself is much brighter than any you get out of dead men's bags. A scant breakfast in the morning of life whets the appetite for a feast later in the day. He who tasted a sour apple will have the more relish for a sweet one. Your present want will make future prosperity all the sweeter. Eighteen pence has set up many a pedaler in business, and he has kept his carriage. As for the place you are cast in, don't find fault with that; you need not be a horse because you were born in a stable.

If a bull tossed a man of metal sky high, he would drop down into a good place. A hard working man with his wits about him will make money while others will do nothing but lose it.

Who loves his work, and knows how spare
May live and flourish anywhere.

As to the little trouble, who expects to find cherries without stones or roses without thorns? Who would win must learn to bear. Idleness lies in a bed sick of the mulligrubs, while industry finds health and wealth. The dog in the kennel barks at fleas, and the hunting dog does not even know that they are there. Laziness waits till the river is dry, and never gets to market. "Try" swims it, and makes all the trades. "Can't do it" would no eat the bread cut for him, but "Try" made meat out of mushrooms.

In the family relation every one should always be at his best. The home ought to be a heaven as is possible on earth. There should be no purposely withered flowers about the hearthstone and no purposely clouded sunbeams. Selfishness alone ought to be sufficient to make home conduct exemplary. Certainly all want a pleasant home. Certainly all want smiles instead of frowns. Home should be just one blaze of sunshine. But it can not be while some member of the family circle is snapping and fault-finding and selfishness. Do people ever go more deliberately and insanely at work to makr themselves miserable than they do when they deliberately cloud the lights of the only place on earth where they have any reason to expect anything like perfect quiet and happiness?

THE WESTERN FINANCIAL SITUATION

(A. E. Watts in Canada Lumberman)

The troublesome disease called "Stringency in the Money Market" has been diagnosed and expiated upon by the great authorities on such subjects after the manner of quack doctors, causes are explained in a superficial way, either through ignorance or lack of ability to grasp the subject and probe to the bottom.

The popular explanation given by most of the quacks is that this country is developed too quickly and using up capital faster than it can be imported or created; that is to say the farmer is ploughing too much land and producing too much grain, the manufacturers and their workmen are turning out too much of their products, the busy bees produce too much honey.

Yet the great bugbear, stringency of the money market, spells ruin, disaster, and poverty, that is, if the panic mongers can have their way and the general public are as helpless as a flock of sheep in the clutches of a horde of financial wolves. A panic means millions of dollars filched from the public by the wolves, consequently the panic always starts by the yelping of the wolves as they fully intend it should.

Panics of all kinds, in military actions or during fires in theatres are always assisted by, and disasters occur entirely through, the inherent cowardice of the human race. Just so is it in financial matters. The great financial string pullers who have the power to bull or bear the markets of the world, which they do whenever they can see the chance to rake in millions at the expense of the toiling masses, cry fire when there is no fire, cry money is scarce when there is just as much money in existence as ever there was, which can be proved by the rule of thumb and by statistics. Bankers assist in making the scare worse. They pay depositors no higher rates of interest, but they raise the interest on loans, they paralyze commerce and industries at one fell whoop by withdrawing credits they have encouraged merchants and manufacturers to accept for legitimate business enterprises.

The government and the horde of howling politicians are guilty of criminal negligence for taking no action in these matters which are of more vital importance to the masses than any other questions of the day. Legislatives measures should be enacted, making it impossible for financiers to paralyze industries.

Bankers, who encourage their clients to take funds for business enterprises and then demand immediate payment when they know it is impossible to comply, are guilty of worse than a moral crime. They and absolutely ruining merchants who could under considerate treatment pay two hundred cents on the dollar. I do not say all banks are guilty; there are some exceptions. I have no personal cause for complaint, therefore what I say cannot be construed as being prompted by any feeling of pique or animus. At the same time many flagrant cases have come to light, and banks adopting such methods should be tabooed and boycotted by the general public and by merchants and manufacturers. It is also the duty of the government to take a hand in the game, which it could easily do, and thereby palliate the effects of a threatened panic.

It is sheer nonsense to say money is scarce owing to overdevelopment of a country. That is a superficial view that will not bear analysis. A country or a property in the course of development does not exhaust nor destroy money, money being simply the medium of exchange. The same amount is in existence all the time, it may be diverted into various channels, but it is always available in some place; if a person borrows a million to develop a business or a property, not one cent of the actual money remains in that property—it simply changes hand and quickly finds its way back to the bankers, but it is in no way diminished in volume.

There might be some grounds for the argument that over-development exhausts money if the methods of the ancients were followed, and the money when earned by the masses was buried or hidden away. The cry of shortage of money is more imaginary than real, nevertheless, the effects will be just as disastrous if it culminates in a panic, but why should a panic occur in a country when in a high state of prosperity? Money like labor will be attracted wherever it can earn the highest wages or rates of interest. Why cannot the bankers of Canada pay a higher rate of interest, and charge their clients in proportion, and if they must tighten the purse strings, let it be on speculative transactions, and not on legitimate industries, except in case of over-production. In the latter case it would have a very salutary effect, if made general.

A glance at the chartered banks' statements to the Dominion government from time to time proves that the so-called stringency does not exist in fact, though it is made to do so in theory, and that really there is no just cause for uneasiness and certainly no reason for a panic.

THE CRANBROOK HERALD

$2.00 A YEAR — THE PAPER THAT IS READ BY THE PEOPLE — NOVEMBER 21, 1907

CRANBROOK HERALD

By the Herald Publishing Company, Limited.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL NO 540

Editor and Manager.

The Herald is worth $10 a year. It costs only $2. No man in South East Kootenay can afford to be without it, and everyone living outside of the district, who is interested in the progress of this section, should read it. It publishes the news while it is news. It is controlled absolutely by the publishers. No clique, party or individual dictates its policy. It don't try to please the people. It's desire is to publish a newspaper that will be a credit to the community. Send in your subscription and you will be thankful ever afterward.

Advertising rates $1 per inch per month, no more and no less.

Reading matter 15 cents per line to non-advertisers; 10 cents per line to regular advertisers.

If you desire to reach the people of South East Kootenay you must advertise in The Herald.

The Herald has a first-class job plant, and its work is of the best. The Herald don't want charity. It wants a square deal on your job work. If we can't suit you in quality and price, kick, and send your work to some Cheap John house in the east that never spends a cent in Cranbrook.

MORE THAN

4,600 a Month

This is the guaranteed circulation of the Herald

Press room and subscription lists open to investigation by advertisers at any time.

The Herald gives a dollar in value for a dollar in money. The advertiser has the right to know what he is receiving for his money. The Herald is one paper that courts investitigation.

CIRCULATION STATEMENT

Following is a statement of the circulation of the Cranbrook Herald for the past 9 months:

August	5,270
September	4,315
October	4,305
November	5,460
December	5,400
January	5,600
February	4,425
March	4,425
April	4,423
Total for 9 months	43,623

The total for the 9 months is 43,623, which divided by 39, the number of issues during that period, shows the average circulation per issue to have been 1,118 and 31-39.

The above is a true and correct statement of the circulation of the Cranbrook Herald for the time stated.

F. E. Simpson, Manager.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by the said F. E. Simpson, whom I personally know, this 27th day of May, 1907.

J. A. Arnold,

J. P. in and for British Columbia.

In eastern Canada and the States it is considered a conservative estimate that five people read every paper issued. In Cranbrook, to be on the safe side, we place the number at three, which is absolutely safe, and that would make 3,354 readers of the Herald each week.

These circulation figures can be verified at any time by any advertiser who will take the trouble to go over the subscription books or watch the big press roll out the papers.

This is where the advertiser gets a run for his money. The Herald would like to see every newspaper make a sworn statement of its circulation. The advertiser is entitled to know. He pays his money and he should know what he is getting in return.

Why don't all papers do as the Herald does?

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE OLD MAN.

Our friend, Editor Pedlar, of the Fernie Free Press, confesses that he is up against the real thing so far as his policy of editing his paper is concerned, and makes the declaration that in the future he will cease to try to please everybody. If Mr. Pedlar had reached that stage of reasoning earlier in the game of newspaper publishing, it would have been better for him and better for the readers of the Free Press. It is unfortunate that Mr. Pedlar is comparatively a new man with the pen. He has ability and is possessed with a desire to give his readers a good paper, but has fallen into the error of trying to please all of them. As he grows older in the work, he will appreciate the fact that such a course is impossible. The only way to do is to publish a first-class paper, regardless of the criticisms of fanatics, would be journalistic dictators and cranks in general. Too many men in the newspaper business are influenced by criticisms of this character, lack moral courage, are too parsimonious in expenditure, on the paper, neglect it for job work, attempt to please everybody, and in the end make a failure.

The cause of Mr. Pedlar making the bold declaration that in the future he would not try to please everyone in the editorial management of the Free Press is the following correspondence:

Dear Sir:

What is the matter with the Free Press? You seem to suppress all the news worth reading. If we have an interesting council meeting or a spicy scandal or a "good" court case you suppress it. Where is your police court news? What about anything? We want the news. Why can't we get it? Why don't you turn loose on the characters that are notoriously making gossip that would make good reading, and get the facts for us. Go after the giddy boys, the tin horns, the police, the parsons, the parvenus, Society with the big S, in fact everybody. See if you can't put a little ginger into the old rag.

Yours with a yawn,
Tired Reader.

Dear Sir:

I have been a subscriber to your paper for five years and have always paid in advance, so I think I may not be considered presumptuous if I express an opinion on the Free Press from a reader's standpoint. I do not offer advice nor do I want to dictate the policy of the paper but these thoughts have occurred to me and I thought that you might like to have a friendly criticism.

To begin with I think that a weekly paper can scarcely claim to be a news sheet owing to the lapse of time between publication days. Then why not make it more of a literary paper and more educational. Suppose a page were devoted to mining from a scientific standpoint. A permanent column devoted to the lumber industry would help to make the paper typical of the district. Then a children's page, a page devoted to Western Home Life and a page of fiction covering the romance of life in the Rockies, would make interesting reading.

Personally I do not care who goes away or returns, who pays a five dollar fine in the police court, or who puts a new verandah on his premises. Local news is generally gossip, and is of interest only to the people written up. Something broader, more substantial and more valuable would appeal to the average reader. The material I suggest would also attract others than local readers and would help to advertise the city as a more advanced community.

Trusting that I have not intrusively presumed I am,

Yours sincerely,
Reader

Any man who has had experience in the publishing of a "country weekly" will readily recognize the fact that if the course indicated by either of the writers of the above communications were to be followed, his paper would be a rank failure in a very short time. There is a happy medium to follow that will lead to success. The man who wrote the first letter is evidently one who enjoys a stolen glimpse of the Police Gazette in the barber shop, where he is waiting for a shave, while the writer of the second would make a failure of publishing the British Columbia Gazette, where every line printed is at the legal rates provided by the law of the province.

Be not discouraged, Brother Pedlar. The future in Fernie is bright, and there is no better field for an up-to-now newspaper. Print the news, use good judgment in printing the same, treat everybody on the square, make no discrimination between the most humble worker in your town and the richest man, and the Free Press will be a success and the people will be satisfied.

The price of wood has been raised but up to the present the size of the cord is the same.

There is a good deal being said about the lumber combine of the country, but it is is not in it with the bank combine. Canada today is being cursed with the bank combine and there are municipalities that are selling debentures at 90 cents on the dollar that will realize this fact in the next few years.

There is no use of talking about hard times. British Columbia is the best province in all of Canada and there is no reason to feel worried over the prospects of this locality.

Politics are quiet in Cranbrook. That is the way it should be. There is no election on at the present time and why should people be crazy when there is every reason to be sane.

Dr. Beattie Nesbitt has resigned a $9,000 job to jump into politics again. If he likes it then may the gods be with him. A man who will give up $9,000 a year for the fun of monkeying in politics is entitled to all that is coming to him.

A preacher came into the Herald office this week and arranged for an advertisement, but before he would agree to pay the price he wanted to know the circulation. Good for the preacher. He showed a good business ability. If more men in business in Cranbrook would do the same thing it would make them money. Every man has a right to know what he is paying for.

FATALITY AT MICHEL

Michel, Nov. 20.—John Symatnik, a Polish miner, was fatally injured yesterday evening in No. 5 mine. He was employed as a rope rider in the incline in No. 5, which is very steep and was at work at the bottom of the track while a load of timber was being lowered, when the coupling broke and several cars broke loose, dropping down hill at a terrific rate of speed, running over the unfortunate victim, who had either not heard the onrushing cars or had been unable to get clear of the track. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the hospital where he was placed under medical care at once. However, he never regained consciousness and died early this morning.

The local Mineworkers union, of which the deceased was a member, had charge of the funeral arrangements, which were held today, interment taking place at Michel cemetery. He leaves a wife and children in the Old Country.

THE CURLING RINK

There was a meeting of the skips of the Curling Rink Association held last evening and quite a number of the rinks were formed. The Herald wanted to print the names of those who were selected but the maoagement said that it was not for the best interests of the organization to make the partial work of the skips public until the whole list had been selected. It is safe to say, however, that this season will eclipse the last as to enthusiasm and good work.

LOCAL NOTES

PICKED UP ABOUT THE CITY BY ASKING QUESTIONS OF MANY PEOPLE.

Curlers shoes at Fink Mercantile company.

Mrs. Holford, of Fort Steele, was in the city last Friday.

Mrs. Dr. Keith has left for Enderby, where the doctor has located.

Miss Ella Grant spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. D. C. Coleman, at Nelson.

The North West Fruit Growers' association will meet in Vancouver on December 4, 5 and 6. This is the fifteenth annual meeting of this organization and the members are doing a power of good for the fruit growers of the province.

Some of the women of the town should have some consideration when they go after their mail and take their baby carriages with them. It seems strange that they so far forget themselves as to fill up the aisles of the store so that people cannot get by. The post office is not a place for placing baby carriages on parade.

Hgrry W. Falconer, manager of the Pacific Division of the Guarantee & Accident Insurance company, with headquarters at Calgary, was in town this week interviewing his agents, Messrs. Arnold & Roberts. Mr. Falconer was very favorably impressed with Cranbrook and said that he was much pleased with the business that the local agents of the firm were doing.

J. Derr and wife, of Plains, Mont., were in the city a couple of days this week. Mr. Derr will be remembered as an old resident of Cranbrook and who went to Montana and bought a fruit farm. This last season he sold 1,800 boxes of apples at $1 a box and still has over a carload and a half for sale. Mr. Derr is doing well in his new home but still has a good feeling for Cranbrook.

W. H. Wilson, the jeweler, is always energetic and up-to-date. During the past week he has made arrangements to connect along the direct wire with the observatory at Ottawa and in this way he gets the correct time every morning about 10 o'clock. That is the way Mr. Wilson has. He wants everything there is in sight and he will have it no matter what it costs. It is the public that he wants to please.

Last Saturday evening about forty railroad men escorted a spotter out of town. They attended him to the mile board west of town and gave him an enthusiastic farewell. The boys did just the right thing. A man who will be a spotter is so low that a snake's belly is away up in the air in comparison. It is all right to insist on work being done right by a railway corporation or any other company. But when you get a spotter it is uncertain how he will report. He must hold his job and he will make any kind of report for that purpose.

Every person in this town and those of the district who are in town next Monday night should attend the hospital ball. There is not an institution in the country that does so much good as the hospital, and every man in the community should buy a ticket whether he can shake a foot or not. No one knows how soon that they may be taken ill and need the assistance that the hospital affords. Buy a ticket and help a good cause. There are a number of good-hearted ladies who are doing all in their power to make this event a success and the least that the men can do is to buy a ticket.

Roadmaster Kniert had his shoulder blade broken one day last week and narrowly escaped serious injury. He was in the caboose of a work train which was backing up, near Creston, and a slide came down and obstructed the track. Before the train could be stopped the caboose had struck the slide and was thrown from the tracks and projected several yards through the air. There were several others in the car at the time but in some miraculous manner all escaped uninjured.

Thomas Embleton, grand master of the I. O. O. F. lodge, will make his official visit to Key City lodge next Thursday evening. There is to be a joint meeting of the Odd Fellows and the Rebekahs for the purpose of receiving the Grand Master, and the officers are desirous of having a large attendance of the members of the lodge and also those Odd Fellows who are in town and are not members of Key City lodge. The Herald is requested to ask that every Odd Fellow in the city who can possibly turn out that evening be present and make the reception to the Grand Master a most hegrty one.

The Cranbrook Trading company have secured the services of a first-class harness maker and will pay special attention to repairing harness and making extra parts. 34-tf

The Herald extends congratulation to Mr. and Mrs. Frank VanDecar, the marriage having taken place in Seattle last Sunday. The bride was Miss Edith Marcella Escatel, and the wedding was a quiet one, only the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties being present. Mr. and Mrs. VanDecar arrived in the city last evening and are now at home at the Royal hotel.

Our prices are right—our stock is right—the reason is we buy direct and buy often.—Fink Mercantile Co., Ltd.

Miss E. Pauline Johnson, who is so favorably known in this city for her excellent work on the platform, is billed to appear here again on the evening of Wednesday, November 27, and this announcement will prove good news to the people of Cranbrook. Miss Johnson never fails to give satisfaction to the people of every city that she visits, and her appearances in Cranbrook have always been a pronounced success. She has many friends here and they will do all they can to get others out to enjoy the most excellent program that she presents.

The publication of the presentation of the turnip made to the Herald by Mr. Otis Staples, has brought a very substantial reply from the Windermere country. Ruff Kimpton, the man who has made the Windermere Valley famous as a fruit and agricultural district, has sent to the Herald a turnip that weighs 31½ pounds, and now we are waiting for some one who can beat that record.

Just received: A shipment of press-cut glass, prices always down—Fink Mercantile Co., Limited.

Mrs. T. Lewis left last Saturday for her home in Vancouver after visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. S. Baron.

W. P. White, superintendent of the St. Eugene mine, and one of the best fellows on earth, was in the city yesterday.

Most of the mills have closed down in this district and as a result the times are liable to be a little quiet for a few months.

The Herald is indebted to Hugh Stewart for a sample of fine pears that are the best that can be secured in the province toaay.

E. H. Small has bought the Wilga and will occupy the premises for home and use the extra rooms as an annex to the Cosmopolitan hotel.

The banana crop this year will be better than ever. In fact there is every reason to believe that there will be two crops harvested this season.

NOTICE—All outstanding accounts of Reid & Co. must be settled by the first of December, or they will be placed in the hands of a solicitor for collection.

George Beattie and Birne Hewitson made a visit to the Windermere country last week and say that they found everything getting along in good shape.

Dave Anderson, who has been sojourning in the Palouse country for the past few months, is in town visiting with his many friends in this community.

"Flash" Beattie, the only dog in the town that is as near as old as our dog "Brownie," was killed last week by being run down by an automobile. "Flash" was known by nearly every person in the city and his death was mourned by all.

F. Forsythe, who was arrested on the charge of shooting one Shannon at Swansea, was tried on Tuesday and given six months in the jail at Nelson. The evidence showed that there were mitigating circumstances and it was for that reason that the sentence was made so light.

D. C. McLaren, Grand Master of the Orange lodge of British Columbia, will visit the Cranbrook lodge on the evening of December 4th. There will be quite a reception for the Grand Master and all of the members of the lodge in the district are requested to be present on that occasion.

William Manahan, who at one time enjoyed the reputation of being the poet of the Crow, has been in town the past few days shgking hands with his Cranbrook friends. Mr. Manahan is travelling for his health and is thinking of accepting the invitation of the Mikado to go to Japan and give the Orientals a few pointers on how to railroad.

Syl Richards and R. Akins are building their new machine shop in the south part of the town. These gentleman expect to have everything ready by next spring when they will get intheir machinery and will then endeavor to take care of the work of the various mills of the district. Both of these men are practical machinists and have had a long experience with the mills of this district, and when they are fully equipped with the machinery that they have ordered, they will be ready to take care of any orders that may come their way.

Hugh Stewart, the restaurant man, has sold during the past month over a ton of Ontario grapes. Speaking to the Herald about it Mr. Stewart said that it was advertising that did the business, as he got orders from all over the district and the people said that they wanted the grapes that they saw advertised in the Cranbrook Herald. That is the result of advertising in the Herald. The people will read the paper and if they see anything advertised in it that they want they will buy.

E. Dedolph and family came down from the Sullivan smelter and took the train for Kaslo, where Mr. Dedolph will locate his family. Mr. Dedolph has resigned his position as superintendent of the smelter and will consider several propositions that he has in view. Before Mr. Dedolph left the people of Marysville gave him a big dinner and an address that told what they thought of him and his family, and their regret that they were leaving Marysville. Mr. Dedolph has been in charge of the smelter at Marysville for the past few years and has made staunch friends of every man who has worked for him. At the dinner that was given to him a handsome open face watch was presented as a testimonial of the feeling of the employes for their manager with many kind words and best wishes for the future of himself and family.

WARDNER

(From our own correspondent)

Don't get discouraged. It is often the last key on the bunch that opens the lock.

Mr. R. H. Bohart was in Cranbrook last Tuesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Thorpe, of Elko, spent a couple of days this week with Mr. and Mrs. Wisner, returning to Elko on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Rankin, of Cranbrook, spent this week visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thorpe.

Messrs. Parker and Thorpe returned from a business trip to Winnipeg one day recently.

With the money market tight, it is too much to expect any loose change.

Straws show which way the wind blows, but it takes money to buy hay.

Policeman Adney returned on Monday evening last from a trip to New Westminster and Victoria.

Mrs. Willson and Miss Rowland, of Cranbrook, visited friends in town on Monday of this week.

Mr. John Breckenridge, of Calgary, was in town on Monday on business.

Mrs. Anderson, of Lake Valley ranch, visited her daughter, Mrs. George Custer, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Purcell, who have been residing in Wardner for some time, have decided to move this week out to Parker & Thorpe's camp, where Mr. Purcell has a position as mill engineer.

The lumber company here intend closing their saw mill on Saturday night of this week, for the present season. Some of the camps have already closed down and the number of men in the remaining logging camps have been reduced to quite small numbers.

Our little town presented more of a wintery appearance on Tuesday morning than it has so far this season, the first light fall of snow coming during Monday night.

MOYIE

(From the Moyie Leader.)

The wedding of Mr. Chas. A. MacKay, manager of the Cambrian mine, and Miss Mary Craig, late of Salt Lake City, took place at the home of the groom on South Tavistock street in Moyie last evening, Rev. C. O. Main, of the Cranbrook Presbyterian church, officiating. The groomsman was Chas. G. Evans, and the bridesmaid was Miss Christina MacKay, of Nelson, sister of the groom. Only a few of the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. After the ceremony music was indulged in, and at 1 o'clock all sat down to a sumptuous spread. At the end of the meal Mr. Main proposed a toast to the bride and groom, which was very appropriately responded to by Mr. MacKay. Short talks were also made by Messrs. Lemon, Evans, Campbell, Sowerbutts and others. There was singing by Miss Watson, of Cranbrook, and Mr. Sowerbutts, of Moyie, and Mr. Pickering presided at the piano. Mr. Gunn, of Nelson, was there with the bagpipes. There were numerous gifts presented to the bride and groom. The Leader wishes the newly married couple the best that married life has on tap, and hopes that they may live as long as they want, and never want as long as they live.

E. A. Hill and wife were in Cranbrook Monday.

Mrs. Saunders returned home Thursday, from Cranbrook, where she was for several days visiting with friends.

M. A. Beale was in town yesterday looking after his insurance business. This was Mr. Beale's first visit since his return from the Old Country.

Joe McLaren, ex-president of the Moyie Miners' union, is leaving today for Scotland, where he will spend the next six months.

There is as yet nothing definite as to the date on which the St. Eugene arbitration board will hold their next meeting. No date will probably be set until the return of S. S. Taylor from the coast, where he is attending the session of the supreme court. The board was to have met in Nelson ten days or two weeks ago. Meanwhile everything is running smoothly at the mine, and the men do not seem to be worrying much over the outcome, as they feel confident of getting a square deal.

Arthur Pitman and his bride arrived Wednesday from England. They were accompanied by Mrs. James Roberts and her seven year old daughter. The party made the entire trip in 13 days.

Dividend No. 7 of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, has just been paid. This dividend is at the rate of 1¼ per cent. The reduction of the dividend from the usual rate of 2½ per cent has been thought desirable in view of large expenditures during the year on capital account for permanent improvements to the various properties of the company and to the fall in the price of metals during the past month or two.

From now until next spring the meetings of the Moyie Miners' union will open at 7 o'clock sharp, instead of 7.30.

The members of the Moyie Miners' union will make every endeavor to have their eighth annual ball surpass all previous efforts. They are taking time by the forelock and already have their committee appointed. It consists of Herb Lowes, A. G. Monkhouse, Geo. R. Hunt, Mike Torpy and Arnold Walker. The dance will be in Morley hall, which will be decorated appropriately for tht occasion. Supper will be served at the Hotel Kootenay. Tickets will be printed and will be on sale in a few days. The dance will be given on the evening of Thursday, December 12th.

FERNIE

(From the Fernie Ledger.)

Two accidents occurred at No. 2 mine, Coal Creek, this morning. James White is suffering from an injured back and leg, caused by a fall of rock, and Alfred Chisholm was crushed between the roof of the mine and the car upon which he was riding. Chisholm is a Scotchman and is 22 years of age.

A. Hurd commenced work as general manager of the Crows Nest Pass Coal company on Friday, the 8th. Mr. Hurd is well known to coal operators and miners.

Thomas Biggs, secretary of Gladstone local, of the United Mine Workers of America, left for Lethbridge on Wednesday night by special request to attend the conciliation board at that place.

In future it will be impossible to buy the Fernie Ledger on the Canadian Pacific Railway platform at Fernie, that company having objected to the sale of papers on its platform. We shall expect all kinds of subscriptions now.

Mike Bernot shot a bob-tailed wildcat on Tuesday morning about four miles down the C. P. R. tracks west. The cat was in the act of springing on Mike when he brought it down with his shot gun. It is a good specimen of the species.

(From the Fernie Free Press.)

The hose wagon has arrived—after many days. It should be a winner after taking so long to get here. The outfit arrived Saturday but owing to carelessness in billing the local authorities had to get into communication with the manufacturers with regard to freight charges before it could be released. Driver Murphy has the horses trained to take the wagon pole in less time than the men take to hit the greasy pole and the fire department should now be able to give a good account of itself should occasion arise.

George Wagstaff met with a serious accident while at work in No. 8 mine early Monday morning. He was engaged in cutting down some coal from the roof of the room in which he works. While driving the pick into the coal a large amount dropped unexpectedly, though he tried to clear himself by jumping he was caught, the coal driving his pick into his shoulder from the top, making a deep, ugly wound, and breaking the collar-bone in two places. He was taken to the hospital at once, where the injuries were attended to. Although he is doing well at the present writing he will be unable to work for a long time. The accident is very deplorable, since about two months ago Mr. and Mrs. Wagstaff lost their youngest child after only a few days' illness. Shortly after their other child took seriously ill with the same disease and her life was despaired of for several days. Upon her recovery Mrs. Wagstaff took the little child to England about a month ago.

The Ministerial association met on Tuesday morning and passed the following resolution: That all the ministers of the city should preach on Sunday evening next on "The Moral Condition of the City."

E. Y. Brake, formerly Car Foreman here, has been promoted to be travelling car foreman for the district from Lethbridge to Elko, with headquarters at Macleod. He left for the latter point with his family on Monday night.

HOW DO YOU KNOW, SMYTH?

F. J. Smyth, the bachelor editor of the Moyie Leader, had the following in his paper last week:

There is one way by which an observer can approximate a woman's age—by watching her put on her shoes. Under 15 she sits on the floor to perform the operation; from 15 to 30 she puts her foot on a chair; from 30 to 45 she sits and endeavors, more or less successfully, to obviate the inconvenience of increasing avoirdupois by reaching down with a long handled button hook; after 45 she gives up the battle and depends on the children or the maid to perform this office.

B. OF R. T. BALL

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will give their annual ball on New Year's Eve this year at the new opera house and the committee in charge are making arrangements to give the people of Cranbrook the best ball in the history of the order in this city. Bear in mind the date and don't fail to secure a ticket.

JARDINE NAMED FOR DOMINION HOUSE

OTHER NEWS OF IMPORTANCE TO HERALD READERS

Vancouver, Nov. 18.—Provincial Secretary Young is now at work on the civil service bill, which will be presented early the next session of the legislature. The act will provide terms of appointment, superannuation, apportion civil servants to grades, fix proportionate salaries and provide for life, accident and illness insurance. In the superannuation and insurance program, it is understood that the civil servants are to contribute five per cent of their salaries. In the revision of the civil list incident to the proposed legislation it is understood that a change will be made in some salaries to suit the new conditions of living.

Bruce White, of Nelson, who has returned from the north coast, has bonded a copper proposition on the west coast of Moresby Island, said to assay as high as thirty per cent copper. The group is composed of abandoned mines, hidden in undergrowth, and believed to have been worked by Japanese or Russians a long time ago.

The Liberal convention at New Westminster this afternoon nominated a candidate for the Dominion house. The vote stood: Kennedy, 13; Oliver, 15; Jardine, 98. Jardine's nomination was then made unanimous. Kennedy sent a letter to the convention which was answered by a resolution expressing satisfaction of his representation. Resolutions covering Asiatic immigration, etc., were adopted in accordance with the action of the Vancouver convention.

Mackenzie King addressed the Canadian club this afternoon on the work of the labor department as organized by the Liberal government. He stated that in forty-two strikes in which the department's aid had been asked for, forty were settled without disruption.

ORATOR AND NEWSPAPER

Compare the orator, one of the noblest vehicles for the diffusion of thought, with the newspaper, and you may gain a faint glimpse of the ubiquitous power of the latter. The orator speaks but a few hundred, the newspaper addresses millions. The words of the orator may die in the air, the language of the newspaper is stamped on tablets imperishable as marble. The argument of the orator may follow each other so rapidly that the majority of the audience may struggle in a net of ratiocination—the reasoning of the newspaper may be scanned at leisure without fear of perplexity. The passion of the orator influences an assembly, the feeling of the newspaper a continent. The orator is for an edifice, the newspaper for the world—the one shines for an hour, the other for all time. The orator may be compared to lightning, which flashes over a valley for a moment, but it leaves it again in darkness; the newspaper to a sun blazing steadily over the whole earth, and "fixed on the basis of its own eternity." Printing has been happily termed "the art which preserves all arts." Printing makes the orator more than an orator. It catches up the dying words, and breathes into them the breath of life. It is the gallery through which the orator thunders in the ears of ages. He learns from the tomb over the cradle of rising generations.—Ex.

WHAT THE AGENT SAYS

The announcement that the great play "The Two Orphans" is coming to our city, is a matter of much import to the theater-goers in our midst. No drama of modern times has enjoyed the vogue that has been accorded to this classical translation from the French. The reason is apparent. The play is interesting from the rise of the curtain on the first act until the final fall in the fifth. The climaxes are strong and exciting and the story is one that will appeal to all classes of theatergoers, no matter what their situation in life may be. The situations, lines, and incidental business of the play are of such a nature that they compel the undivided attention of the spectators. A strong vein of comedy runs through the play, but it is so placed that never at any time, does it conflict with the more serious scenes. The author has been careful to preserve the dramatic unities, his characters are finely drawn, and as true to nature as possible.

"The Two Orphans" with a complete scenic, costume and lighting equipment will be presented in the new opera house on November 29th.

LOCKED IN LIVING TOMB

Mahoney City, Pa., Nov. 13.—Alive and unhurt but in darkness that will probably never be lifted, Michael McCabe, a miner, is awaiting certain death by starvation, 800 feet below the surface of Draper colliery. McCabe fired a blast that blew away a mine pillar and fleeing in the wrong direction got into a blind shaft. The breach extends to the surface where it yawns 60 feet wide right in front of McCabe's home, where his wife and six children vainly hope for his rescue.

Mine officials say it may be a year before it will be possible to reach where the man is shut up.

TRAINMAN ACQUITTED

Port Arthur, Ont., Eov. 13.—Frank McCarthy, the C. P. R. conductor charged with criminal neglect of duty in not seeing that the switch was closed at Kama, resulting in injury which caused the death of Ed. O'Donnell, of Fort William, and Oscar Anderson, brakeman, on a similar charge, were discharged by the jury today as "not guilty." The case was heard at the district court sittings now in progress.

For the third time this year strawberries are growing in the garden of Mr. Alfred Chivers, of Darlington.

Bills are exhibited at Rollesby, Norfolk, announcing a concert to be given in aid of a fund to purchase "cossacks" for the church choir.

A gunner of the Royal Artillery, in full uniform and wearing top boots, competed in a ploughing match and won a prize at Shalford, Essex, recently.

Parishioners of Earlsfield are being asked to give 500 chairs—at least one each—to furnish the new parish hall, which the bishop of Kingston opens this month.

The Arctic explorer, Captain Amundsen, says that in his next trip to the polar regions he will employ bears instead of dogs, and he hopes thus to reach the pole.

Messrs. J. L. Thompson & Sons, shipbuilders, of Sunderland, claim to have established a record by building the steamer Blackwell, a vessel of 7,500 tons, in sixty-nine days.

Mrs. Emma Ross, whose funeral has taken place at Torquay, celebrated her 103rd birthday last month. She lived during five reigns, and was present at Queen Victoria's coronation.

Why do some ladies nowadays try to conceal the ungloved hand? Simply to hide the tell-tale stains of nicotine on their fingers.—Mr. Issard Davies at a Carnarvon educat'on meeting.

All the policemen of Exeter have formed a rifle club, and a Morris tube range has been erected at the police station. The members of the Exeter force are already taught boxing, fencing and other exercises.

The oldest telegraph boy in the world has been discovered in the village of St. Benim d'Azy. His name of Anthony Magne, and he was born on March 22, 1827. He has been a member of the local fire brigade for more than fifty years.

Specimens of the poisonous fungi which caused the deaths of six people at Ipswich have been collected by Mr. F. Woolnough, curator, and placed on exhibition in the local museum, side by side with the harmless edible mushroom.

The Vicar of Shefford, Bedfordshire, has inaugurated a short service, beginning at 10 a.m., in order to give mothers an opportunity of getting home from church in sufficient time on Sunday mornings to make hot dinners for their families.

Corporal J. Partlo, of the Maidenhead Company Berks Volunteers, probably holds the record among volunteers for regular attendance at drill. Mr. Ernest Gardner, M. P., has congratulated him on not having missed a single drill for sixteen years.

Mr. James Bradford, J. P., of Buckingham Place, Brighton, who began life as a railway porter at Helpstone, near Peterborough, has just presented to his native place a block of almshouses which he has endowed. He is now reputed to be a millionaire.

The death has occurred in Edinburgh of Prof. Masson, Historiographer Royal for Scotland. Mr. J. M. Barrie, Mr. Crockett, and "Ian Maclaren" were students under the professor at Edinburgh. His "Life of John Milton" is regarded as his best work.

"They are two very dangerous institutions," remarked the Windsor magistrates' clerk, when told that a gardener named P. H. Leech, who was sentenced for obtaining money with useless cheques, attributed his downfall to "women and the stock exchange."

Mr. E. Miners landed a good specimen of the young grampus at Penzance. It measured 5 feet 11 inches over all, and 42 inches in girth. Lord St. Levan eventually purchased the fish and took it to St. Michael's Mount, where it will be preserved and added to his collection.

Miss Kate Cullingham, of London road, Ipswich, instead of appearing at the Ipswich police court to answer a charge of riding a tricycle after dark without a lamp, sent 2s. 6d. in a letter, asking the magistrates to accept that amount in payment of the fine at 2s. 6d.

The seal of the South African Republic, the sale of which was stopped by an order from the Colonial office, is not the "Great Seal." It was stated at the office of the Agent-General for the Transvaal that it was merely a seal used by the late Boer government for ordinary administrative business.

There are now five occupants of the bench, says the Law Journal—Lord Justice Vaughan Williams, Mr. Justice Bargrave Deane, and Mr. Justice Coleridge—whose fathers were judges before them. The late Lord Brampton was the son and the grandson of a solicitor.

Lecturing at the New Gallery photographic exhibition recently on the ethnology of New Guinea, Mr. A. H. Dunning, F.R.G.S., said one day he offered a native a bottle of strong smelling salts. After smelling it and going through some extraordinary contortions, the native brought another unsuspecting savage, whom he compelled to go through a like experience watching his sufferings with the keenest delight. The two returned with a third, and so it went on until the whole village had been victimized.

Three hundred out of the 500 German dock laborers who were taken on at Rotterdam to replace the strikers there, were sent back to Germany.

London's new concert hall in Great Portland street, erected and equipped at a cost of over £100,050, will be opened to the public on February 12, next.

A travelling showman, who was fined at West Ham for being concerned in gambling at the three-card trick, said they were playing a game called "Diabolo."

According to a return issued by the Board of Agriculture, the estimated production of hops this year is 374,-120 cwt., as compared with 245,688 cwt. last year.

Baptist ministers of the Devon and Cornwall district have been invited to write down the names of the newspapers and publications they favor, and to circulate the list among their congregations.

The High Wycombe guardians have decided to pay one of the inmates of the workhouse named Hill, 1s. 6d. for every pig which he kills, to be used as food in the "house." A legal point is raised thereby.

A giant crop of sloes has been gathered from the hedgerows among the Chiltern Hills, many of them being as large as damsons. This is the first session for several years that the fruit has attained perfection.

The Diobolo craze has taken a firm hold on Dover. A Diabolo competition on skates is to be the feature of a skating carnival in the Promenade Pier Pavilion. A series of Diabolo competitions are also to be held in Dover Institute.

At a two days' bazaar at Tunbridge Wells, in aid of the local hospital, the whole of the articles on a dozen stalls were given by the mayoress, Mrs. Woollan, a great traveller, who had collected large quantities of fancy goods in many lands.

"I do not like to see one firm taking action against another over a couple of sovereagns. It has taken two counsels, two solicitors, and seven witnesses to present this case in which the stake is so small."—The Southwark county court judge.

Whooping cough is generally regarded as an infantile disease, but in the Devonshire village of Upottery, although no children are affected, quite a number of elderly villages have been attacked by the ailment. The victim is over ninety years of age.

Many thousands of pigeons are proving a plague to farmers in Wiltshire. Mr. Henry Ball, a farmer near Warmingster, counted in the crop of a bird he shot no fewer than 300 beans; while a pigeon he killed earlier in the season had 600 kernels of green grain in its crop.

The mayor of Shoreditch has accepted the presidency of a borough brass band, which is being formed under the auspices of the borough council. Its object is to supplement the efforts of the bands provided by the L. C. C. in the summer time, and it will give concerts during the winter.

A postcard posted at Yarmouth more than five years ago has just arrived at Bourne, Lincolnshire. The person who should have received it left the town four years ago. Where the postcard has been is a mystery, but it appears to have come direct to Bourne from West Kensington.

While leading a bull to the water, Richard Whittingham, son of the tenant of Throstles Nest Farm, Wimmarleigh, near Preston, was attacked by the beast and hurled a considerable distance. The bull made a second rush at him, but was beaten off. Whittingham's collar-bone was fractured.

The captain of the government tug Langdon, attached to Dover, reports that whilst engaged in towing targets in the Straits for firing practice by the heavy gunns at Dover, he noticed four immense fish, apparently whales, swimming rapidly up channel. The shells from the Dover batteries had apparently scared them.

Awakened by the loud and incessant barking of his dog, a Lavenham (Suffolk) engine driver named Cansell, looked through the window and saw flames arising from a barn on adjoining premises. Damage to the extent of over £200 was done, but much property would have been destroyed, but for the dog's sagacity.

An inmate recently died in Wells workhouse who wilfully remained dumb for a period of four years. Nobody and nothing could induce him to speak. At last some wily lady guardians, discovered that the man had been an upholsterer, represented to him that they were in great difficulty about furnishing a ward, and begged for his advice and guidance. He could not resist this, and the ladies completed making leather goods and fancy mats for the Brabazon society.

The time some men spend in waiting to do something big could have been devoted to doing a lot of little things that need to be done.

There is always work that must be done, and the men who can do it best are sure of employment. There is a moral attached to this somewhere.

Beef extracts contain only the flavor and stimulating elements of beef—the nutritive values are lost in the making. Baron Liebig, the inventor of beef extracts, admitted that. He said "It is but a condiment and stimulant, containing no matter capable of sustaining life."
That is where BOVRIL differs from beef extracts.
BOVRIL does contain the nourishment and life-sustaining elements of beef as well as its rich flavor.
BOVRIL gives strength and nourishment to the invalid. With its help you can make left-over scraps into delicious consommes, bouillons and soups with very little trouble.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any available Dominion Lands within the Railway Belt in British Columbia, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the grown output.

Appreciation is Pleasant

To desire a real, good, tasty, refined suit of clothes is not a sign of weakness. Rather it is an indication of personal pride and character.

A well-groomed man invokes favorable comment always, and human nature is just vain enough to like it.

Our Fall and Winter Suits inspire confidence because they are correct. They are cut correcly, tailored perfectly, and fit accurately, with no room for improvement. It will require but a few moments for us to settle the Fall Suit proposition for you to your entire satisfaction.

A Cold Proposition

faces the man without an Overcoat this winter.

Some men wait till the cold snap comes, rush in and buy something they don't want, and after a couple of weeks' wear kick themselves till Spring.

And then a good many wise ones have us make their Overcoats to their measure or buy one of our Stylish, Durable and Comfortable Overcoats.

We invite you to look our line over.

Tailoring

In our Tailoring Department our assortment is very extensive, both in quality and designs. The newest shades are shown in all the plain colors, while the Fancy Suitings include Checks, Stripes and Plaids. The latter are especially noticeable in a wide variety of brown combinations--the newest colorings for winter wear.

BLANKETS = OFFERINGS THAT ARE TIMELY AND TEMPTING

Besides the first attraction of quality, there is notable favor in the completeness of the assortments, the wonderful range of selection, the liberal sizes and neatness of finish.

The G. T. P. may help to move the grain crop of 1907.

Canada owns 1,784 miles, and 19,569 private.

The Grand Trunk Pacific will build 23 branch lines.

RANCHING AND IRRIGATION

Canada has 100 million acres of grazing land in the west.

Twenty-five years ago the cattle trade of the west totalled 25 head.

Nearly one million animals were pastured in 1906 in the Canadian west.

Of this number 600,000 are cattle, 200,000 horses, 200,000 sheep.

The animals being pastured are double the number of three years ago.

Canada exported 13½ millions worth of cattle and sheep in 1905-6, chiefly to Great Britain.

20,000 different ranching brands are registered in the Canadian west.

Canada has 24 annual round-ups in her ranching country.

The first carload of cattle was shipped from the west in 1885.

Canada has 500 miles of irrigation canals in Alberta.

These are made up of 160 different canals and ditches.

The C. P. R. are building a 400-mile irrigation canal between Calgary and Medicine Hat.

This will cost 5 million dollars and is the largest undertaking of its kind by a single company under way on the continent.

It will reclaim 1½ million acres of land and make available another 1½ million acres for ranching.

This area, when reclaimed, will support a population of 500,000.

Nearly one hundred miles of this new system has been constructed, irrigating 300,000 acres.

In addition, 1 million acres are being reclaimed around Lethbridge.

Canada's ranchers marketed 40,433 beef cattle, 1904, 90,665, 1905; 130,426, 1906.

BRAIN LEAKS

(Gleaned from exchanges.)

It is easy to walk where love leads.

Men can not walk around to cross to glory.

A lot of men slip because they lack sand.

There can be no crown wearing without burden sharing.

We are very apt to admire the judgment of those who agree with us.

There is a heap of difference between man-made money and money-made men.

The man of fifty has considerable fun watching the boys of twenty who think they are cynics.

Justice is too often a seive that holds the little criminals and lets the big criminals sift through to safety.

About the best strike a workingman can engage in is to strike out for home on Saturday evening without even opening the pay envelope.
