Means Much for Cranbrook

C. P. R. to Build Extension from Galloway into Baynes Lake

Editor, "Cranbrook Herald",

Dear Sir:—

Referring to your telegram of the 19th instant, which I regret to say has been delayed in answering.

In the interests of the lumber traffic the Company has decided to construct a railway from a point on our Crows Nest line in the vicinity of Galloway or Elko to reach the lumber interests at Waldo and Baynes Lake.

Yours truly,

W. White

Vice-President.

Winnipeg, Nov. 22nd 1910.

The above announcement cannot fail to prove of very great interest to every resident of Cranbrook. Direct railroad communication with the important lumbering section between Galloway and Baynes Lake is now an assured fact, something that means very much to the business men of this city.

The foregoing message from Mr. Wm. Whyte, 2nd vice-president of the C.P.R., was received by the editor of the Herald in response to a telegraphic query sent him because of rumors that had reached the Herald that it was the intention of the C.P.R. to construct this branch line. The Herald wished to be in a position to give its city and district readers authentic information on the subject.

Upon receipt of this communication from the second vice-president, the Herald at once interviewed Mayor Fink, who it knew had for a long time p ast been actively engaged in promoting the early construction of this line. It is a matter of general knowledge that some time ago the C.P.R. had this matter under consideration, but for one reason or another it was allowed to drop. Some six months back Mayor Fink entered into correspondence with District Freight Agent Haldane, at Nelson, on the subject, pointing out the advantage it would be to the C.P.R. to have direct communication with the lumber mills to the south of the Crows Nest line. Mr. Haldane replied in an appreciative manner, asking for a more detailed statement of the amount of business in sight for the proposed branch line. Mayor Fink at once entered into correspondence with the various mill owners, whose interest would be served by the construction of this line, securing a mass of useful information which was duly forwarded to Mr. Haldane, with a request that he take a personal tour through the district this proposed branch line would serve, Mayor Fink promising to accompany him. Th? trip was made, Mr. Haldane saw with his own eyes the possibilities of the section, not only from the lumbering point of view, but from the large area of excellent farming land awaiting development. Further reports were forwarded to headquarters, with the result as contained in Mr. W. Whyte's message to the Herald, published above.

The proposed line, which, it is understood, will start from an extension of the Crows Nest Lumber company's siding at Galloway, will extend as far as Baynes Lake, a distance of some ten miles, tapping the three big lumber mills of that section, the Ross-Saskatoon, the Adolph Lumber company's mills and the Baker's Lumber company's mills.

These mills last year shipped out upwards of 40,000,000 feet of lumber, equal to about 2,000 carloads.

After discussing Mr. Whyte's communication with Mayor Fink, the Herald showed it to Mr. V. Hyde Baker, who is directly interested in the new undertaking, which will prove of very great service to the mill at Waldo, in which he is largely interested. Mr. Baker expressed keen pleasure at the receipt of an authoritative statement that the line was to be built. He had known that the matter was under consideration, but, up to that time, had no idea that construction was definitely settled upon.

Mr. Chas. McNab, manager of the Baker Lumber company, was in town from Waldo during the week and to him also this important communication was shown. Mr. McNab expressed keen satisfaction at the news, saying that whilst they had been fairly well treated by the Great Northern railway, that at present taps that district, it would be of very great advantage to all the mills in the locality to have direct connection with the C.P.R. Crows Nest line. Mr. McNab went on to point out that not only would the local lumbering industry be greatly benefitted by the construction of this branch line, but that a large area of first-class agricultural land would be made accessible. He estimated that there were upwards of 150,000 acres of choice farming lands to be settled up within the ttrritory to be covered by this branch of the C.P.R. in addition to the three saw mills already enumerated. So that from a business point of view the construction of the ten miles of railway should prove a good venture for the C.P.R. from the outset.

Discussing the land settlement feature of this new railroad proposition, Mr. McNab said that the provincial government should at once set about clearing up some of the vast acreage available for settlement. He thought it would be good policy on the part of the government to adopt this course. A vast quantity of farm produce was imported into this section from Ontario and New Brunswick, which might infinitely better be grown at home. He intimated that fully 90 per cent of the farm stuff required by the lumber camps and mills was thus imported.

The early construction of this branch line certainly means a nice boost for Cranbrook. The big mills operated in the section to be served, do their banking in Cranbrook and with more direct communication they will certainly be prompted to do more of their trading with Cranbrook merchants. Their employes, also, once direct communication is provided, will be apt to come to Cranbrook to cash their cheques and purchase supplies.

Great Distillery for Fort Steele

Kursaal, Athletic Ground and Race Track to Make Great Amnsement Centre

A representative of one of the great distilling companies of eastern Canada, presumably the Corby's, though this is not known for certain, has been making quiet but effective investigations into conditions in East Kootenay with a view to establishing an extensive distilling and brewing plant in this locality to meet the growing demands of the western trade. It appears that Fort Steele has been selected as the site for the enterprise, which will involve an expenditure of at least $500,000.

One of the principal factors influencing the capitalists interested is the purity and softness of the water of the springs formerly used by the Fort Steele Brewing company, the streams from which can be noticed crossing the road on the flat between the cut-bank and the bridge. It is believed that the brewery and distillery will be built somewhere near the old brewery concern, formerly operated by Sick and Mutz. Another important consideration is the excellence of the barley grown on the Fenwick and Doyle ranches near Fort Steele. These barleys are proved by exhaustive chemical examinations in the great scientific laboratories in Germany to be richer in the constituents of those essentials which constitute the bouquet, or aroma, of the distilled or brewed article than any raised elsewhere in the world.

The gentleman from whom this important news was obtained also said that it was the intention of the capitalists to acquire several acres of the flat between the government buildings and the principal street of Fort Steele for the purposes of a recreation garden, something after the style of the German beer gardens so prominent a feature of the social life of cities like Milwaukee and others of the middle west. Here the people can sit and enjoy a quiet schooner or two while listening to the excellent music which is intended to be provided by those enterprising caterers for the public amusement. An athletic and baseball ground and race track will also be part of this extensive undertaking. Probably the first thing that will be erected will be the grand kursaal, or combined dance hall and vaudeville theater. It can be positively stated that no drinks will be served in the body of this house, but facilities will be provided in elegantly fitted bars on the side after the manner of the London music halls.

It appears to be the intention of the people who propose to carry out this large expenditure to make Fort Steele one of the most attractive places in the west for the tourist, who wants a good time on the level, or the finest of scenery on the rough ground. They will seek to cater for legitimate amisement, combined with conditions tending to the reasonable amelioration of a thirst, which can be stayed with a glass of pliable and long-vatted whiskey or a tankard of ale brewed on the premises.

While regretting that Cranbrook has not the ahvantages to attract such a money-making enterprise, still it is right to congratulate Fort Steele on its progress. After all, what is for the advantage of one part of the district, redounds to one benefit of the community generally.

Consolidated Like Sullivan Hill

Big C.P.R. Mining Corporation Corralling everything in Sight

When the Consolidated Mining company, of Trail, the big C.P.R. corporation, owners of the Trail smelter, the St. Eugene mine at Moyie, and numerous other properties, secured control of the Sullivan mine in this district, it was felt to be a big forward move for local mining interests. That the Consolidated think well of the Sullivan is amply demonstraeed by recent moves of the big cocporation. They have been steadily buying up and securing control of every mining claim on Sullivan Hill. Among other properties secured have been the King George claim, owned by Messrs. Beale and Elwell and a claim owned by N. C. McKinstry.

The Consolidated people are working very quietly just at present and little or nothing can be learned from them as to their intentions, but their activity in securing Sullivan Hill properties, points unmistakably to big doings in the near future, all of which must inure to the advantage of Cranbrook.

FOR FISH HATCHERY.

A meeting of the Cranbrook Fish and Game Protective association took place on Monday evening of this week, which was well attended. V Hyde Baker occupied the chair.

The first matter dealt with was a resolution from the Fernie Game association, relative to the imposition of a gun license, which, after full discussion, was unanimously endorsed and the secretary inatructed to so notify Provincial Game Warden Bryan Williams.

The resolution read as follows:

1. That all persons residing in this province who desire to fish or hunt shall pay a combined rod and gun tax of $2.00 per annum.

2. That no person, except constables and other persons allowed by law to carry fire arms on his person shall be allowed to carry firearms outside the limits of incorporated towns or cities dufing the open season unless he has taken out such license.

3. That no person, except as aforesaid, shall be allowed to carry firearms on his person outside thelimits of incorporated towns and cities during the closed season unless he has obtained a permit from the government agent of the district in which he resides, such permit to be issued after the said agent has satisfied himself that the request to carry arms is for the protection of the applicant.

4. That the persons obtaining licenses or permits as aforesaid shall when carrying arms outside of the limits mentioned have on their persons the licenses or permits, as the case may be, under a penalty of $ for each offence.

5. That each person taking out aforesaid license shall be required before he can obtain a license for the following season, to file with or forward to the proper officer appointed in that behalf a statutory declaration setting forth a description of the game, birds and animals killed or taken under the said license.

6. That a fund shall be created to be known as "The Game Protection Fund," the proceeds of which shall be used exclusively in the enforcement of this act, and that all fines, license fees and other revenue derived from the game bird and animals of this province shall be placed to the credit of this fund.

At the suggestion of the secretary, F. J. Deane, a resolution was drafted to be forwarded to the minister of marine and fisheries at Ottawa, setting forth the needs of a fish hatchery in East Kootenay and requesting the minister to instruct a competent official of his department to make early investigation and report, with a view to the establishment of such a hatchery at the earliest possible opportunity; also requesting the appointment of a fishery inspector, resident in East Kootenay.

LITERARY AND PICTORIAL TREAT.

By a special arrangement a very fine lecture on the beauties and wonders of California will be given in Knox church Friday, December 2nd. It is illustrated with 275 artistically colored lantern slides with the most modern dissolving effects, together with 1000 feet of moving picture film. The machine used is the most modern made, and thoroughly fireproof. The description of the pictures is by the professional lecturer, F. W. Prince. At Calgary last week 1200 people heard the lecture. At High River 320 gave fifty cents to attend. At Macleod 300 gave thirty-five cents.

The following letter from Rev. G. F. Salton, pastor of Zion Methodist church, speaks volumes:

Frederick W. Prince, Esq., San Francisco.

Dear Sir: The "Travel Talk" you gave last night in the above church was the most delightful entertainment of the kind I ever attended. For twenty-five years I have been a lover of lantern slides and an attendant (when possible) of illustrated lectures but never have I seen a lecture illustrated with such a profuseness of artistic gems. The slides were the best I have ever seen, the smoothness of the operator's work could not be improved, the array of facts, figures and eloquent descriptions was marvellous. If I had a church a thousand times more artistic than this lovely church is, it would not be too good for your incomparable "Travel Talk." Come again, we will welcome you with open arms.

Yours sincerely,

(Sgd.) Geo. F. Salton.

Pastor Zion Methodist Church.

Moose Jaw, Sask., Nov. 8, 1910.

All those who delight in beautiful pictures, skilfully shown, in fine artistic dissolving effects, in well worded and well spoken descriptive language—those who are interested in travel, in what other sections of the continent are doing, those who have been to California or who contemplate going—all such will be interested, entertained and delighted with this "Travel Talk."

To give an opportunity for everybody to see and hear this treat, only a free-will offering at the door of ten cents and upwards is being asked for.

Don't forget the "upwards," it is worth it.

C. C. Merrified and wife came down from Perry Creek on Monday last and left that evening for St. Paul, where they will spend the winter months.

News of the District

ELKO

(By Fred Roo.)

Martin Thorpe, Moyie's big game hunter, was down in Elko several days last week and returned on Saturday night's local with the venison.

Charlie Klingensmith, mine host of the Elk, is fixing up a winter garden in front of the hotel.

Frank Dickinson, of Jaffray, was in Elko between trains buying up sleighs, cutters and ice cutting implements.

Mr. J. Thompson, the new proprietor of the Columbia hotel, was up to Cranbrook Saturday and brought back a bunch of wall flower artists from the banana town. Mr. Thompson is remodeling the hotel and will go after the business like a Kentucky colonel after corn juice.

The residents of Elko are so tickled at the coming prospects their Kaiser Williams are wiggling at both ends.

Charlie Yeandle, who runs a road hog over the pike for the C. P. R., left Elko Sunday for the south fork of the Elk river. His Lethbridge friends will be eating venison in a few days and the young ladies will have mountain lion skins in front of their mirrors to cover the holes they have worn in the carpets. Charlie is sure as popular as a puff fashion sheet with the ladies.

FERNIE

(Special correspondence.)

The royal commission visited Fernie last week and heard twenty-two witnesses in the city council chamber. Evidence was taken on oath to insure definiteness. The mayor was called upon to give statistics regarding the city. Principal Bruce and Miss Hogan, of the public school staff, testified as to the curriculum, attendance, etc., of the public schools. Mr. Julian and Mr. McDonald representing the Michel miners and J. A. Carter, secretary of district No. 18, U. M. W. of A., were strongly in favor of night schools for miners. Mrs. Lane represented the Benevolent society, and poor gave evidence of her story of the homes of the the need of domestic science. W. S. Stanley, chairman of the school board, advised as to the financial side of the Fernie educational question. Rev. Father Michels gave some idea as to the needs of the foreign population. Their chief difficulty being lack of English. J. W. Bennett, formerly agent for the Scranton schools, reported on the number of people in this vicinity who have taken up correspondence courses. These people could be educated at less cost and with greater facility in night schools. James Ashworth, manager of the Crows Nest Pass Coal company, spoke of the value of technical training. F. H. Shaw, president of the Trades and Labor Council, Wm. Lancaster, pit boss, Bert Black, superintendent M. F. and M. railway, and Wm. Shanks, colliery superintendent at Coal Creek, testified to the personal benefits derived from technical education Dr. Bryce and Mr. Forsythe were well pleased with the interest shown by the people of Fernie in technical education and their idea was that should the government choose to establish technical schools, Fernie would, no doubt, appeal to the government as a logical location for one of these institutions.

The Fernie Lumber company mill closed down last week for the winter.

Broley and Martin have been awarded the contract for the new B. C. electrical depot at New Westminster for the sum of $80,000.

Mumps are quite the fashion in Fernie at present. Those who can't get them on both sides are willing to take them on one.

The first dance of the Fernie Quadrille club was held in Bruce's hall last Thursday night. The music was good and those who attended enjoyed themselves. These dances are to be held fortnightly during the winter months.

The K. of P. lodge gave a very successful dance in their hall on Tuesday night of this week.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church gave their first anniversary dinner on Monday night. After dinner the choir gave a very carefully prepared programme.

The choir of Knox Presbyterian church will give a musical entertainment in the basement of the church on Friday, December 2nd.

The rink managers are very busy making ready for ice. If these crisp nights continue we should soon be going "over the hill" with our skates over our shoulder.

There is some talk of the rink being kept open on Sunday afternoon. At least this was a suggestion thrown out by "an occasional skater and churchgoer," in last week's Free Press. There may be much said on both sides. There certainly are worse ways for people to spend Sunday, but we have at present moving pictures in three different places on one street, several poolrooms and last Sunday the roller rink open for Sunday amusement. Is this not enough? The writer's idea was that it is no worse to skate than walk. Is this true? When walking one is breathing pure oxygen, is face to face with mother nature in all its beauty, which furbishes the very best material for godly thoughts and conversation, while in the rink, one is face to face with four blank walls varied only at present, by broken window panes. In my skating experience there has not been much attention paid to deep thinking. We skate purely for the exercise. We walk for thought and conversation as well as physical development. We have at present in Fernie, a large number of youths who are not (apparently) shaping their lives to become noble citizens. Children from seven to twelve years of age are frequently being taken before the police magistrate for theft. Is this not a sad state of affairs? It seems to me that if more time were spent on thought for the rising generation and less on amusement, Fernie might have a cleaner reputation.

Dr. Wilson, superintendent of missions, and Capt. Logan, of Vancouver, spent Sunday in Fernie and addressed the congregation in Knox church Sunday morning. Capt. Logan was accompanied by Mrs. Logan.

MARYSVILLE

(Special correspondence.)

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mr. Chas. Finch left on Saturday for their home at Corbin.

P. Lund's lumber camp has closed down for the winter.

There is excellent sleighing in town at present.

One of the most noteworthy events in the history of this town took place at the Falls View hotel a few evenings ago, when a farewell dinner was tendered Mr. E. J. Clayton, who is severing his long and honorable connection with this community. For years past he has ranked among the most prominent of our business men and for the past twelve years he has filled the position of postmaster.

Mr. Meacham occupied the chair and filled that arduous position right worthily. After ample justice had been done the good things provided, Chairman Meacham, opened proceedings, of a speechmaking nature, with a few well thought out and appropriate remarks anent the resources and possibilities of the St. Mary's river district. He dealt more particularly with the mining industry.

The toast in honor of the guest of the evening was enthusiastically honored, the whole company joining in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Music formed an important and very enjoyable feature of the programme. Songs were sung by Mr. George James, Mr. Chas. Waterman and others. Following the banquet came a most enjoyable dance, for which music was provided by the Sawyer orchestra. Dancing was kept up until the early hours of the morning and it was a tired but thoroughly well pleased crowd that responded to the closing waltz, played by Mr. James Waterman.

BULL RIVER FALLS

(Special correspondence.)

Tonny Armstrong, who has been in the employ of the company for three years, concluded to seek a more congenial place a couple of weeks ago, has returned to his first love. "Be it ever so humble there's no place like home."

Thomas Glendenning has taken some fine photographs of the spillway, and the water rushing down the hill from the end of the flume, to where the power house is to be located. There is a great demand for the postal cards he has printed, as they are beautiful views.

Geo. E. Henderson, jr., Thomas Glendenning and Thomas Armstrong went to Cranbrook last Saturday. The two first gentlemen to become Canadian citizens, while Tommy went with them to see how it was done.

Dong Ying, who has been head cook for the company the past three years has quit and gone to Vancouver, where he expects to enter into some kind of business for himself.

Accidents seem to be contagious in the C.P.R. tie camps. At present four men are prostrate from accidents caused by axe, and broad axe. All are being cared for as best possible until they can reach the hospital. It is not a very desirable task to carry a man upon a stretcher over a stony trail covered with three inches of light snow, for five to ten miles to reach our camp to obtain conveyance to Wardner, where the train is taken to Cranbrook hospital.

Joseph Harling went to Cranbrook last Sunday to visit his daughter Emily, who has been in the hospital for several weeks to be treated for blood poison, caused by a pair shears dropping with their points on the back of her hand.

There has been an unusual variety of hideous noises at all hours of the night, which has causrd insomnia in the camp. One man went to Cranbrook to consult a doctor in his case, and was prescribed for. An investigation was ordered to locate the place and cause and it was found that John Hagstrom was taking lessons on a brass horn.

Wm. Bradner, of Fairchild, Wis., one of the heavy stockholders in the Bull River Electric Power Co., Ltd., has been visiting with us and looking over the works. After a thorough investigation he is elated over the conditions of the proposition. He left last Tuesday for the west by way of Spokane.

Mrs. Oscar Helmein has been on the sick list the past week. Oscar was compelled to leave his work to attend to the household duties.

Do not miss the poverty dance at the hall Saturday evening, December 3rd. Fine music and a good lunch is assured. You are cordially invited. This means you.

Perhaps there is no other camp in this section of the country that can boast of musical talent such as we can. There are four pianists, four violinists, one flutist and one zithern. There is music galore.

GATEWAY

(Special correspondence.)

Miss Reimer, who has been teaching school in Gateway ever since the term opened, left for her home in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on Monday.

The Gateway Mercantile store have their new supply of Christmas presents in. Everything is very reasonable.

Wm. Lacey, provincial constable from Elko, B.C., was a visitor in town on Friday.

Mr. Crocker, Bonners Ferry logging superintendent, is in Gateway on a business trip.

Thos. Green was a caller in Flagstone on Friday.

Miss Elsie Joule, of Gateway, who has been nursing for the last seven or eight months in the Fernie hospital is now laid up with typhoid fever in Fernie.

Miss Etter, the Flagstone school teacher, and her youngese sister, who is staying with her, from Nelson, B. C., were callers in Gateway on Saturday.

WARDNER

(Special correspondence.)

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith and family spent a couple of days this week in Lethbridge, Alta.

Mr. J. Wright and his party of electricians are very busy these days. They have completed the wiring at the Crows Nest store and have installed some excellent lights there. They are now busy placing the fixtures in their proper places in Mr. Lund's house and during the course of a couple of days that magnificent structure will be lighted from cellar to garret.

Mr. Aikin, of Cranbrook, has accepted a position on the staff of the Crows Nest Pass Lumber company's store.

Mr. J. Downey, photographer, was in Galloway this week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. George Custer, who have occupied Mr. Otto Wisner's home here for the past few months, left a few days ago to spend the winter months in Galloway, where Mr. Custer has accepted a position with the lumber company.

The restaurant which was started a short time ago on the street near the C.P.R. depot, is doing a rushing business. Good meals are being served at all hours.

Mrs. R. A. Green, who has been spending a few weeks with friends at Calgary, Banff and Innisfail, Alta., arrived home on Tuesday morning last quite improved in health.

Mr. Otto Wisner left a few days ago for Galloway to take charge of the company's new mill there, which is opening for the winter months.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes and it has never disappointed them. Sold by all druggists and dealers. 37-tf

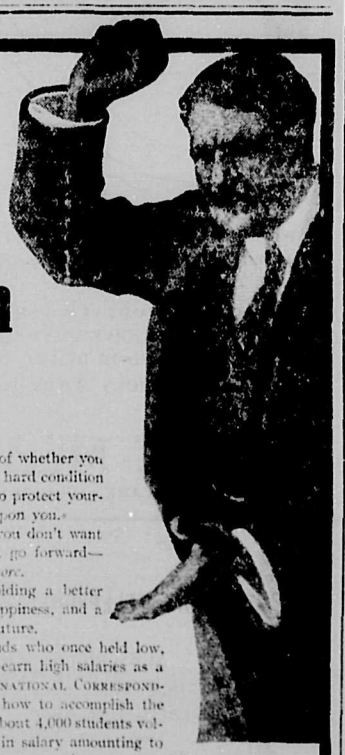
"You've GOT To Earn MORE"



It isn't a question alone of whether you want a better salary—it's a hard condition of life that you must face to protect yourself and those dependent upon you.

You can't stand still—if you don't want to go backward, you must go forward—that is, you've got to earn more.

Earning more means holding a better position—independence, happiness, and a chance to provide for the future.

Thousands upon thousands who once held low, poorly paid positions now earn high salaries as a result of letting the INTERNATIONAL CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS show them how to accomplish the change. During last year about 4,000 students voluntarily reported increases in salary amounting to over two million dollars! Every month an average of 300 men voluntarily report to us advancement in position and earnings. Why not make YOUR start this month?

HOW TO DO IT

Simply mark on the coupon the position you wish to secure, then tear out and mail the coupon to the International Correspondence Schools. This puts you under no obligation whatever but allows our experts to adapt a Course to your individual needs and circumstances.

You've got to earn more money. The I. C. S. will help you. Will you take the start today?

Good Printing

Is a Persistent Influence Exerted In Your Behalf!

Every bit of printing that goes out to serve you, makes SOME KIND OF AN IMPRESSION. Poor printing will leave a poor impression of its user as surely as would poor clothes, a poor store, or shop, or office. GOOD Printing will leave upon every mind an impression wholly favorable of its user.

Even if but one in a thousand of these "impressions" tips the scales for business, for orders, for you—GOOD PRINTING will have thus paid for itself!

You can get it at this office—whether you want a little of it, or a great deal.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

PAPER ON WINTER CARE OF BEES READ BY T. S. GILL.

Members of Farmers Institute:

Being down for a paper on the winter care and management of bees for this meeting, I have endeavored to get together some points I consider necessary but am obliged to omit a great deal on account of shortness of time.

It is a subject that is occupying the attention of all bee men north of the warm states. I think my experience in loss and success entitles me to advise what is best for the Cranbrook district, which will apply to any cold country. If bees are to be wintered outside, you must commence to prepare them in the summer. Any old combs from which the young bees have been hatched, then filled with honey and sealed over should be put in the brood nest in July, and when the honey flow is over they should have six full combs of honey and two empty combs in the center for breeding from August until the time the weather is too cold. If there is no nectar coming from the fields they should be fed a large cupful of pure sugar syrup every evening in a suitable feeder. This will encourage breeding and the old bees will, with the extra exertion, die off, and will be replaced with young bees, capable of enduring the cold winter months. When breeding stops, usually about October 1st, a quantity of syrup sugar should be fed (two parts sugar to one part water) sufficient to fill the two center combs. Before cold weather sets in these will be sealed over and a large force of bees, all young and vigorous to winter over. As soon as possible prepare winter cases to put hives in, large enough to allow for eight inches of packing on all sides, four inches on the bottom and one foot on the top. For an ordinary eight frame Langstroth this would require a case of 36 inches long, 30 inches wide and 26 inches deep.

The packing should consist of dry leaves, dry planer shavings or chaff. A bridge should be made to extend from the hive to the outer entrance, the full width. The bottom board of the hives should be changed to give a deeper space below the frames to allow for the accumulation of dead bees. Then fill up the bottom of the case four inches deep, have entrance cut to suit, place the hive in and the covered runway connecting the two entrances, now pack all around the sides up to the top of the hive. Then remove the cover and set aside, turn up the cloth quietly and fold one half back, next place three one inch square strips of wood over the frames crosswise and take an ordinary sack and fold over the top, pack more shavings to the depth of the top of the box, put a cover over all to keep out snow and rain. The object of the porous sack is to let the moiseure up through in the winter. The case should now be placed on the summer stand, where the hive sat facing the south, and raised about a foot from the ground, slightly higher in the back to run off rain or melted snow, also any moisture in hive will run down and out.

Don't attempt to winter in this district with larger than an 8-frame hive. I prefer the Langstroth pattern with 8 Hoffman frames. I use six frames and put division boards on the outside, shoving down a dry sack to fill the space of comb taken out of each side. This has a tendency to keep them dry and warm. The outside entrance can be closed all but an opening two inches wide in cold weather. This can be opened up to allow of any dead bees to be pulled out in winter or spring. Place a board from the ground up against the bottom of entrance for the bees to alight upon. Then when cold weather sets in get another board from the ground up against the hive above the entrance, this to prevent the sun shining in and inducing the bees to fly and the weather being too cold, die in the snow. When the board is there they will walk out and finding the weather too cold ecturn into the hive. The main causes of bees dying in winter are old age, cold, dampness or starvation. Old bees get restless and consume more stores and not being able to get out for a cleansing flight, contract dysentry and die. Another plan, sometimes used for wintering when no cellar is handy and outside wintering not desirable, is to select a dry, sandy bank or slope, where water won't lie, and dig a trench 3 feet wide, 18 or 20 inches deep, put about 4 or 6 inches dry leaves or straw in the bottom, lay two poles about 15 inches apart along the bottom the whole length and raised about 4 inches on blocks. On a cool day carry the hives and place side by side, facing alternately each way, then set up some poles to serve as rafters, clearing the hives a few inches. Lay boards on these then some straw and bank up all around same as pitting potatoes, leave a small hole at the bottom for ventilation and insert a small pipe in the top for the same purpose. To keep mice one put a piece of netting over the bottom hole. I would bank earth to the depth of one foot all over. The ends should be treated in the same way as the sides. Don't open these clamps or pits until the weather is warm. Select a cool day to open. This is to prevent the bees from coming out with a rush and not locating their own houses go into other hives, leaving some hives almost empty of bees. I do not recommend any of these plans to be entirely successful. In outside wintering in a cold country there is always a great loss and the consumption of stores is about 50 per cent more than cellar wintering. A properly constructed clamp may be just as good as the cellar, but it is difficult to get a dry sandy bank to suit and to get the ventilation and temperature just right.

Though the first cost is more I believe cellar wintering is to be recommended here. I prepare all colonies for winter in winter cases but smaller than those described for wintering outside. About the last of the mild weather I carry all into the cellar and tier them up in rows facing the wall away from the window. I find that when they are properly prepared for winter, and wintered in a good dry warm cellar, there is little loss in bees and stores. Out of six colonies wintered in the cellar last winter there was less than three hundred dead bees and they were on the floor and windows, there being none in the hives. The same winter seventeen wintered outside, there were two dead outright, two more queens gone, one died of starvation and one with abundance of stores. Those that were alive had from one to two thousand dead bees, about four out of the seventeen came out in good shape. A furnace in the cellar is an advantage, because it keeps the air fresh and dry. Another advantage of inside wintering is: the bees that are going to die crowd out and drop down and mix with the moisture and get mouldy and the hives are not so clean as might be, causing extra work for the owner and the bees in the spring.

A few dont's for bee keepers:

Don't handle bees without a smoker. In going to open a hive first blow a little smoke in at the entrance then raise the quilt a little and blow a few puffs of smoke in. Wait a moment and then open gently.

Don't strike at the bees. If one should bother you, walk away from the hive and strike to kill, using a piece of shingle.

Don't blow your breath on the bees while working with them.

Don't open hives and work with bees while there are robbers about and poking their noses into the hives you are opening.

Don't leave pieces of comb around containing honey or any sweet about the yard may cause robbery. Be gentle and firm. Don't jar a hive or jerk a comb. Use a tool to loosen the frames. Commence from the outside. Take out one at a time.

Don't jerk a comb with queen cells or it will kill or injure every occupant in the pupa stage. Catch a bee by both wings over the back and it cannot sting you. Catch a queen in the same way and handle her like a young baby. One rash move may injure her for life, and she may be your choicest breeding queen, value $10.00 or more. And before you get one into her place the colony is ruined.

Don't encourage your bees to swarm. Give plenty of room at the right time. Keep only strong colonies. A single bee may gather only ¼ oz. of honey in her lifetime. (Few bees, little surplus).

Don't raise drones. They don't gather honey, but use up that which the workers gather. A few drones are all that are needed in a yard and should be bred from a choice queen.

Don-t starve your bees. One pound of honey or thick sugar syrup will raise one pound of bees and they may gather five or six pounds of honey.

Don't keep old inferior queens. Keep good, three banded Italians. They are free from disease and are workers. They are gentle and protect themselves.

Don't be afraid of a queen. You can't induce her to sting.

Don't use leaky hives. See that they are protected with outer covers in cold weather and they will reward your kindness. If a bee stings you rub the sting out. It cannot sting again. It is only angry and will die anyway. So don't try to kill it.

Don't keep empty combs in a warm room in winter. Keep outside where they will freeze. All winter frosts kill the wax moth, larvae and eggs.

CRANBROOK, B. C., December 1, 1910

EDITORIAL NOTES

Another year has nearly wound its course. The Christmas and New Year holidays are at hand and we are all more or less apt to be looking back over the past months to size up how they have panned out. So far as our own good city of Cranbrook is concerned, we think we may all review the year, now rapidly drawing to a close, with a considerable measure of complacency. Cranbrook has made considerable growth during 1910 and it appears to be but at the opening of a long period of prosperity. Certainly the progress of the past eleven months has been such as to permit of every citizen anticipating with wholehearted satisfaction the joyous Christmas season. Evidences are already plentiful that Cranbrook merchants are preparing with lavish hands for an exceptionally busy holiday season. They are wisely taking time by the forelock and laying in their Christmas stocks in ample time to permit of early shopping, thus obviating that too frequent blemish on the Christmas shopping season—over-worked sales clerks. To assist Cranbrook merchants in adequately presenting to their city and district customers all the facts regarding their Christmas wares, the Herald has arranged to issue two special Christmas Shopping editions, on December 15th and December 22nd. Both these editions will be thoroughly circulated and in the hands of readers in ample time to allow of full advantage being taken of the good news therein contained—for Christmas store news is the best kind of news at Christmas time. Arrangements are being perfected for the most thorough circulation of these two editions throughout the territory covered by the Herald. Not only will these special shopping editions reach every household in the city, but they will go into thousands of homes throughout the districts tributary to Cranbrook, thus providing an unexcelled medium through which Cranbrook merchants can reach prospective customers with their seasonable announcements.

It is interesting to recall that twenty years ago this week Hon. Colonel Baker was at Ottawa endeavoring to interest the government in the construction of the Crows Nest Pass railway. It will be recalled that Colonel Baker was persistent in his efforts to secure the opening up of the Crows Nest Pass coal fields and the construction of a railway that would give Cranbrook connection with the outside world. The colonel's efforts for many years were unavailing, but upon the coming into office of the Laurier administration attention was immediately given the needs of this district and in a comparatively short time steps were taken which resulted in the construction of the present Crows Nest Pass railway. What the construction of this stretch of railroad has meant for East Kootenay it is unnecessary for us to dilate upon at this juncture. It has brought prosperity to a great section of the province that only needed transportation to place it in the forefront, and in considering the credit due for this special consideration must be given to the untiring efforts of the late Colonel Baker.

Municipal politics continue somnolent. Some effort has been made to secure a candidate for the mayoralty who would be acceptable to the business interests of the city, but so far without success. Mr. V. Hyde Baker was approached during the week with the request that he accept nomination. To this Mr. Baker gave a decisive refusal, mainly on the ground that he expected to be absent from the city during a considerable portion of next year and therefore would not be in a position to give effective service to the city.

IT WILL BE OF BRICK

PROPERTY OWNERS SO DECIDE —GEORGE LEASK TO BUILD NEW CITY HALL.

The voting on the bylaw to raise $15,000 for the erection of a brick city hall took place on Monday last and resulted in a verdict in favor of the bylaw, although the total vote polled was disappointingly small. The result being: 19 for, and 23 against.

At a special meeting of the city council held last evening, the city hall bylaw was finally passed and adopted.

The tenders for the new building, two in number, were opened and by unanimous vote of the council the contract was awarded to Geo. Leask and Co., whose tender was somewhat higher than that of W. R. Beattie, the only other tenderer. Geo. Leask's figures were $15,320 and W. R. Beatty's $14,000. Consideration was shown the Leask tender in view of the original contract awarded him, which was cancelled when the board of trade requested that the new city hall be built of brick.

The Fire Limits and Buildings Bylaw, No. 89, was finally passed.

LUMBERMEN IN SESSION

A well attended meeting of the district lumbermen was held yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Cranbrook committee rooms, on the call of W. A. Anstie, secretary of the Mountain Lumbermen's association. Various matters of special import to the district lumbermen were discussed. One matter of great importance was the question of present selling prices. After lengthy discussion it was the unanimous expression of opinion that mill men should hold their present stocks for the next six months and not attempt to force sales at present, as the prices obtainable, in view of increased cost of production, were quite unprofitable. The past year has been one of the heaviest on record in the matter of sales, but at the present moment the millmen have about as heavy stocks on hand as they had at this time last year. The season was, generally speaking, a very satisfactory one, and whilst buying is light now there is every prospect of a strong demand in 1911. Prairie retailers stocks are now below normal and manufacturers have every reason to anticipate an excellent trade next year. Another matter up for discussion was the enforcement of the B. C. logging scale in the interior. Up to the present the Doyle scale has been in force and it is noted locally that if the B. C. scale be enforced it will mean a grave injustice to interior mill men, who handle far smaller logs than their coast competitors. It would in fact raise the royalty paid by interior mill men from 30 to 35 p.c., and might probably lead to the leaving of quantities of small logs uncut that at present are used.

Fire losses, was another subject for discussion, but with this no action was taken that can at present be made public.

The first meeting of the provisional committee of the railway Y.M.C.A., was held Monday evening, November 28th, in the Y.M.C.A. building, when the following officers were elected by the committee:

Frank Dezall—Chairman.
R. Brown—Vice-Chairman.
B. Wanless—Rec. Secretary.
R. T. Brymner—Treasurer.

The usual railway Y.M.C.A. constitution and by-laws were accepted for the Cranbrook association by the committee, and a complete organization of the association effected.

A meeting of the committee will be held again on Monday evening next to complete organization committees and arrange prices for various features of the association.

Those on the committee not appointed as yet to a special office are: W. H. Wilson, J. S. Peck and Joe Sarvis.

IN LODGE CIRCLES

A preceptory of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland was instituted on Thursday and Friday, November 25th and 26th by J. W. Whiteley, of Vancouver, provincial organizer of the Loyal Orange association. Thirty-three candidates were put through the eleven degrees of the order, and two old members joined by certificate, making a charter membership of thirty-five. Two of the candidates came from Lethbridge, nine from Creston, and the remaining twenty-four from Cranbrook. On Thursday evening the first four degrees were exemplified, and on Friday night the other seven. The election of officers also took place on Friday night and resulted as follows:

W. Preceptor—Fred W. Swain.
Dep. Preceptor—S. L. Williams.
Registrar—R. S. Garrett.
Treasurer—F. L. Brown.
First Lecturer—A. Horsman.
Second Lecturer—Jos. Wallace.
First Censor—H. P. Wand.
Second Censor—W. G. Wayward.
First Standard Bearer—R. A. Fer.
Second Standard Bearer—A. S. Moore.
Pursuivant—W. H. Brown.
Tyler—D. J. Williams.
Committee—T. Horsman, A. Miller, W. H. Crawford, H. Chapman, W. J. Chapman, E. Corbett, G. Paisley.

After the officers were duly installed by R. W. Sir Knight J. W. Whiteley, an adjoutnment was made to the banquet room of the new Masonic temple, where an excellent repast had been prepared. After the wants of the inner man had been satisfied, the toasts of the King, the Grand Black Chapter of British America, our visiting brethren, Lethbridge Loyal Orange lodge, Cranbrook Loyal Orange lodge, Cranbrook Preceptory and the press, were drunk, and responded to as follows:

"The King," by all rising and singing the National Anthem.

"The Grand Black Chapter of British America," by R. W. Sir Knight J. W. Whiteley.

"Our Visiting Brethren," by Sir Knight Geo. McKeever, of Chilliwack and John Robb, of Wilmer.

"Lethbridge Loyal Orange Lodge," by Sir Knight W. J. Chapman.

"Cranbrook Loyal Orange Lodge," by Sir Knight Jos. Wallace, the oldest member of the lodge.

"Cranbrook Preceptory," by Sir Knight Fred W. Swain and Fred L. Brown.

"The Press," by Sir Knight R. S. Garrett.

In addition songs were rendered by Sir Knights L. P. Taylor and Harry Chapman, and recitations by Sir Knights R. A. Fraser and Andrew Miller. Sir Knight Swain performed the duties of toastmaster and made an excellent presiding officer. After the banquet the Sir Knights returned to the hall and completed the business of organization, the meeting closing about 4 a.m. with the singing of the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne.

During the evening a hearty vote of thanks was extended to R. W. Sir Knight J. W. Whiteley and Sir Knights Geo. McKeever and Jno. Robb for the excellent manner in which they exemplified the degrees and conducted the work of instituting the preceptory. The preceptory, which has been named after the late Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, will hold its meetings on the second and fourth Mondays in the old Masonic hall. This hall has been leased for a period of four years by the preceptory, and has been elegantly fitted up for lodge purposes, so that it can be rented to other societies. The trustees of the hall are Sir Knight R. A. Fraser, F. L. Brown and A. Horsman. The new preceptory starts out under very favorable auspices, and gives every promise of becoming one of the best in the interior of the province.

J. B. Nixon, of Toronto, Grand Lecturer of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masonry of Canada, visited Rocky Mountain Chapter on Thursday evening last and addressed the meeting on matters appertaining to the discipline and teachings of the organization. After the meeting a supper was given in the lodge hall, when addresses were made by several of the members present. Mr. Nixon left on Friday for Rossland.

At the regular meeting of the local Carmen's lodge, held last Friday evening, the chief item of business was a consideration of the work and objects of the B. C. Provincial Federation of Labor. After a very interesting discussion the following resolution was unanimously carried:

"Resolved, that the B. C. Provincial Federation of Labor, has proved itself a powerful factor in looking after the legislative interests of the workers;

Be it further resolved, that Kootenay lodge No. 173, seek affiliation with the said Federation at once."

Several old members turned up at Tuesday's meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge and were warmly welcomed by the regular attenders. There were various interesting propositions put before the lodge, some of which, it is believed, will be the means of causing a great stimulus in lodge circles. The election of officers for the ensuing term took place, when Bro. J. Boyce was unanimously elected to sit again as Grand Chancellor; Bro. J. A. Fergusson as vice-grand and Bro. F. M. Christian as K. of R. and S. At next week's meeting there will be candidates for the initiatory and second degrees. Roll up in round numbers for a good time.

Several matters of considerable importance were brought up at the regular meeting of Odd Fellows last Monday night. The election of officers for the ensuing term taking place, Bro. E. H. Patmore as noble grand; Bro. J. A. Fergusson as nobel vice-grand and W. Harris, secretary. The degree team later had their hands full in passing four new members through the initiatory stage. Next week these will take the first degree. A full attendance of members is requested.

The Independent Order of Foresters are changing their meeting night from the usual 2nd and 4th Tuesday to the 1st and 3rd Thursday in the month. The Foresters are preparing a basket social to be held on Wednesday, December 7th. A good time is anticipated.

Provincial organizer J. W. Whiteley last week organized an Orange lodge at Wilmer, with John Robb as master, and G. F. Slatk as secretary. The new lodge starts out with a good membership and every promise of a successful future.

Last night at the invitation of the Rebekahs the Pythian Sisters, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias attended a poverty social held in the I.O.O.F. and K. of P. hall, Norbury avenue. Poverty was represented by different characters and these certainly were poverty stricken, rags and tatters. Mary Janes and Lumber Jacks were closely represented. The judges had their hands full in choosing the one for first prize, but after the grand march the award was given, for ladies, to Mrs. Bowness, a hatpin stand; to the gentleman, Mr. Lorne Langin, a scarf pin. In awarding the prizes, C. R. Ward, chairman of prize committee, said that the contest was very close in merits, but he felt all would be satisfied with results, as the winners most clearly represented original life. During the evening refreshments and fruits were enjoyed, the evening closing with a dance, Stevens orchestra furnishing the music.

HOCKEY

The adjourned meeting of the Hockey association was held at the Cranbrook hotel on Wednesday night, the president, D. J. McSweyn, being in the chair. The Crows Nest Pass Hockey club wrote asking if Cranbrook proposed playing in the C. N. P. league. Before deciding the question it was agreed to send a delegate to attend a meeting of those clubs who proposed playing in the C. N. P. league, H. D. Kelly being appointed delegate.

The executive committee for the season was appointed as follows:

The president, D. J. McSweyn, with C. E. Dickson, H. D. Kelly, R. Milne and Campbell Lindsay. The manager, C. Pigeon, being an ex-officio member.

It was decided that clubs entering the league must send in a list of possible players and that no member of one team be allowed to turn over and play for another team in a league match without permission from the executive committee.

Matured as Good Whisky Should Be.

If a time limit had been set on the building of the Egyptian Pyramids, likely they would not be standing to-day. It doesn't pay to hurry some things. That is why is matured by the "slow but sure" method of storage in charred oak casks. For years the whisky is gradually ripened. Nature takes her time—but is thorough. The chemical properties of the charred wood remove the harshness of the new whisky. Age puts the finishing touches to the flavor—imparts the delicacy that is characteristic of Corby's "Special Selected."

Corby's
"Special Selected" Rye Whisky

This is the longest and consequently the most expensive method of maturing whisky. Not all whisky is aged this way. But it is the only way to get the Corby Quality.

Corby's "SPECIAL SELECTED" Rye Whisky is sold everywhere. Try it to-day.

YOU BREATHE IT.

By the simple act of breathing, we inhale life and death. You breathe air crowded with disease germs. These lodge in the membrane and at once commence their deadly work. In a night you develop a cold and before long you are in the grip of Canada's deadliest enemy—Catarrh.

You also breathe Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) and by so doing breathe in life—Hyomei is medicated and vaporized air. In its journey through the breathing organs it arrests and kills catarrh and cold germs, soothes the inflamed membrane and commences the work of healing. Ask the Beattie-Murphy Co. what they know about Hyomei. You will find that they not only sell it but guarantee it. A complete outfit will cost you $1.00 from your druggist or postpaid from the R. T. Booth Co., Limited, Fort Erie, Ont. You will find it invaluable for coughs, colds, catarrh and all kindred diseases. Money refunded if it fails.

A very unpleasant case engaged the attention of Stipendiary Magistrate Armstrong during three days of this week. A couple of vicious kids from Minnesota and a lascivious old man, named Andrew Loyst, were the principals invofved. The Minnesota kids, a girl of 17, named Alfamie Corwin, and a boy of the same age, Vencel Cerveny, eloped from Virginia, Minnesota to Calgary with the intention of getting married, but from one cause and another, mainly lack of money, deferred doing so. In the meantime they became acquainted with Andrew Loyst, a cook on a railway construction train, for whom young Cerveny went to work as cookee. The old man became enamored of the girl and trouble ensued, resulting in his arrest at Moyie, whither the trio had drifted on a charge of rape. The evidence of the boy and giel was of a most salacious nature, entirely unfit for publication. Magistrate Armstrong at the conclusion of the case for the prosecution, which was conducted by Chief Sampson, of Fernie, committed Loyst for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction. Mr. George Thompson appeared for the prisoner.

The annual open meeting of the W. F. M. S. was held in the Knox church school room yesterday evening. There was a large attendance and a social time was enjoyed. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Patterson, Messrs. Ingram and Worden; readings by Mrs. Belmont and Miss McNeil. Rev. C. O. Main delivered a fine address. Refreshments at the close were handed round. The total receipts for the evening were $22.10.

W. Doran, who recently sold out his ranche in this district and left for the coast, has returned to Cranbrook more than ever convinced that this is the best section of B.C. Mr. Doran stayed off at Kamloops, Ashcroft, Chiliwack, Vancouver, Westminister, Seattle and Spokane, with his eyes open for a good opportunity. However, after very careful investigation into openings at outside points he decided to return to Cranbrook thoroughly convinced that no where else in the province were the prospects so good. As Mr. Doran remarked to the Herald, "The outside places were not 1 2 3 in it with Cranbrook."

The Kootenay Fruit Land and Development Co., Ltd., who own lot 264, group 1, East Kootenay, at Wasa, intend embarking upon an active programme of development in connection with this property, which includes 1215 acres of the fruit land. Mr. H. E. Birch, the manager, has been in town of late perfecting arrangements. The company's plan is to subdivide the land into orchard tracts, plant and maintain the same for a period of four years for non-residents. Work of clearing and getting the land in shape for spring planting is now under way. This section of the Columbia valley is known, far and wide, as one of the most favored in East Kootenay, and with the advent of the K.C.R. there will undoubtedly be a rush to secure lands there. For this rush the Kootenay Fruit Land and Development Co., Ltd., proposes to be thoroughly prepared.

Bridges Lumber company had born of seven valuable draft horses. The rowed five teams from the Crothers Lumber company, to haul a big boiler from Fort Steele to the Crothers Lumber company's camp on Perry Creek. The mishap occurred on the second hill past the Mission. The teamsters, instead of following, keeping close inside the track went too close to the edge, with the result that the boiler overturned and dragged the teams down the side-hill. Seven of the horses were drawn under the boiler and so badly injured that they had to be shot. Save that the fittings were all knocked off, the boiler was uninjured. The loss is estimated at about $3,000.

A. Joliffe, who has been followiag the butchering business for the last twenty years, has confidence in the city and enterprise enough to believe that Cranbrook is now so large as to justify him opening a meat, fish, game apd poultry store. This will make the third of its kind in the city. Mr. Joliffe has gone to considerable expense in building a store that will meet all his immed ate requirements, the building with equipment costing him in the neighborhood of $2,500. The store contains under the one roof a business department, an office, a room for making sausages, this is to be his specialty; and a cold storage room. Mr. Joliffe has a large quantity of fine healthy cattle to draw from that would do credit to any owner on the continent. These premises are to be opened on Monday, December 5th and will be known as the Central Meat Market, located on Norbury avenue, next to the Catholic church.

The Cranbrook Farmers' Institute was in session on Monday afternoon and evening, when the members enjoyed the privilege of listening to interesting addresses by visiting experts. At the afternoon session, over which Mr. T. S. Gill presided, Mr. L. Harris, of Vernon, gave a practical talk on the "Housing of Bees." At the evening session, Mr. Gill again being in the chair, Mr. M. A. Jull, live stock commissioner, delivered a valuable address on the subject of poultry raising. Mr. Middleton, provincial horticulturist, spoke briefly on the topic of fruit tree planting, in the course of which he named the following varieties as being the best suited for this district: Pears: Bartlett, Flemish Beauty, Geurre Anjou; apples, Duchess of Oldenburg, Wealthy, Yellow Transparent, St. Lawrence, Macintosh Red, Jonathan, Bismarck, crab apple, Transcendent, Hyslop, plums, Pond Seedling, Italian Prune, Bradshaw, Peach Plum, Yellow Egg; cherries, Montmorency, Richmond. Veterinary Inspector George also briefly addressed the meeting, taking as his subject, the class of buildings that dairymen should have. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the various speakers at the close of the meeting.

H. A. Carney, a son of A. Carney, the well known timber inspector, is in town. Mr. Carney his one of the prominent business men of the new town of Fort George. He speaks very encouragingly of the prospects of the new northern city. Already Fort George is beginning to assume quite extensive proportions. The town now boasts of two schools, two churches, three banks, four stores, two sawmills, a hospital under construction and a resident doctor. There is a lot of good land around Fort George, upon which may be grown most anything. Mr. Carney himself last year helped to cut oats that stood over his head. There is abundance of good timber and large deposits of coal on Bear River, 10 miles south of Fort George. South East of Fort George there are placer diggings and big qaartz leads, which will be operated once the transportation problem is solved. Mr. Carney predicate that Barkerville, 60 miles south-east of Fort George, will shortly see a revival of the lively mining activities that prevailed half a century ago. Mr. Carney is throughly satisfied with Fort George prospects. He has made big money there and intends returning to add to his pile.

OLD COUNTRY NEWS
INTERESTING ITEMS

The Bishop of London was the central figure of a picturesque ceremony in St. Paul's churchyard the other day, when he unveiled the new "Paul's Cross," within a few yards of the famous old monument of that name which played such a prominent part in the life of bygone London. The new Paul's Cross, as has been announced, is due to a sum of £5000 left for its erection by the late Mr. H. C. Richards, K.C., M.P. The old Paul's Cross, whose memory it perpetuates, was removed by order of the Long parliament in 1643, but its intimate memories with the street life of the citizens of Ancient London go as far back as the date 1191. It will be remembered that at the old Paul's Cross the Pope's Bulls were promulgated. There at the Reformation the authority of the Popes was denounced. Luther's Bible was burned there. From Paul's Cross Latimer thundered against the vices of London, and there Jane Shore did penance in a white sheet for her offences, and a great man was publicly excommunicated for his sins. The figure on the summit of the pillar and the ornamental work of the base was done by Mr. Bertram Mackennal, A.R.A., the well-known Australian sculptor.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham, of Anchor Bay Farm, Erith, have, during the whole of their 56 years of married life, lived in the same house. Their descendants, who extend to the fourth generation, number over 100, the majority of the male portion being Thames watermen and lightermen. One of the grandsons two years ago won the Doggett's coat and badge, and he, with his brothers and sisters, holds the record for school attendance in the district.

A scheme which, if successful, may revolutionize methods of farming transport in this country and help the British agriculturist in his fight against foreign competitors, is shortly to be tested in Kent. It is nothing less than an attempt on a large scale to place Kentish farms, villages, and towns in direct touch with London by means of rapid motor traction. In order to secure the necessary capital a company, to be known as the Kent-London Motor Transport (Limited), is to be formed, with a capital of £75,000. Operations will be begun by establishing a service between the Maidstone, Tunbridge Wells, and Rochester districts and London.

Mr. Robert Young, ironmonger, Edinburgh, who passed away the other day, was known far and wide as a collector of horseshoes. Row upon row, on the walls of his shop, hung shoes dating from the time of the Roman occupation (these having been found in Monmouthshire) down to the present day. Among the latter were included shoes worn on the day of the race by such famous Derby winners as Lord Rosebery's Ladas and Sir James Miller's Rock Sand. Every country in the world, from China to Peru, had been laid under tribute.

The Scottish whisky trade continues in a depressed condition. Complaint is general of the limited turnover. All sections are more or less bad, but Highland malt is the worst. Blenders seem to have forsaken this description, and when business is done it is almost entirely in the younger bondings, the prices of which are unchanged. The market for single whiskies about this season is generally at its busiest, but this year there is little sign of any revival. Grain whiskey is suffering least, but even in that business is moderate, the demand being mostly for youngest bondings. Old grains are fetching little more than original price.

A law case which was begun in 1318, and was interrupted because Richard de Maundeville had to leave for the war in France, has just been resumed in the Chancery court. The point at issue was the right to hold a market at Stowmarket, Suffolk, and the suit was originally brought by the Abbot of St. Osyth, Essex, in the twenty-second year of Edward III., against Richard de Maundeville. According to the Abbot, who claimed to be lord of the manor, Richard had wrongfully obtained the grant of the right to hold a market in Stowmarket, and his claim was "to the grave damage of the said abbot." At the resumed hearing Mr. G. F. Howard and Mr. C. N. Peddar, the modern representatives of Richard, asserted that Mr. G. A. Woodward, the modern representative of the abbot, had no right to set up a rival market.

The first of a series of Overseas poetry evenings, promoted by the Poetry Society with a view to showing how full of poetic fire and virility is the English verse produced in Greater Britain, will be held on December 12, at the Holborn restaurant. The first evening will be devoted to Australian poetry, the representative selection being arranged by Mr. J. Henniker Heaton, jr. Sir George Reid, the high commissioner for the Australian commonwealth, will preside and several of the agents-general and others interested in Australasia are assisting. South Africans and Canadians will have an opportunity to show what they can produce at a later date. Already the Poetry Society has become a link between English-speaking people throughout the world. Australian and South African branches having been formed, and members obtained in Canada, India and Egypt, the bond of common speech and literature being thereby strengthened.

An extraordinary general meeting of the proprietors of the Midland and Great Western Railway company of Ireland was held in Dublin to consider a project for making Galway a transatlantic port, and establishing in connection therewith an Anglo-Canadian service, including the carriage of mails, and for the construction of a railway from Galway to Barna. Mr. R. J. Kelly pointed out that next year, in London, the Over-sea premiers would discuss the question of the terminal ports as regards the All-Red route, and it would then be decided finally as to whether an Irish port or an English one should be chosen. A resolution in favor of the scheme was carried.

The removal of the G.P.O. from St. Martin's-le-Grand to the building in King Edward street was new building in King Edward street was completed early on a recent Monday morning. The new offices had been fitted up in every particular, and the old offices, with their contents, were left exactly as they were. All that was done was to finish Sunday night's work at St. Martin's-le-Graod and start Monday's work at King Edward street. The sorters, numbering over one thousand, dealt with the outgoing mails in their old quarters, and arrangements were made for the incoming mails to be delivered at the new. The office has issued a remarkably interesting pamphlet, giving, among other things, some indication of the changed conditions since the old building in St. Martin's-le-Grand was first occupied.

	1829.	1510.
No. of staff	800	20,000
No. of post offices and post boxes in London	125	1,650
No. of letters delivered within an area of 12 miles per week	168,666	22,000,000

There was only one daily general collection of letters for the country throughout London in 1829. The average postage paid on a letter to and from the provinces was about 9d., and the postage in London was 2d. for a letter posted and delivered within three miles of the G.P.O. and 3d. within an area of twelve miles. There were six daily collections in the central parts of London in connection with the two-penny post; now there are seventeen or eighteen of all classes of correspondence in the central districts. The deliveries of London letters numbered six in 1829, but there was only one delivery of correspondence from the provinces. Now there are twelve deliveries of all classes.

The government has decided to make Tuesday, December 27th, a bank holiday, as well as Boxing day, in view of the incidence of Christmas day on a Sunday. This course would be on an analogy of making Monday a bank holiday when Boxing day falls on Sunday. The government is anxious that the normal incidence of Sunday as a weekly day of rest shall be preserved in the same way as when Christmas day falls on either a Saturday or a Monday, the result in each case being three consecutive days' holiday. The commercial community and other large interests likely to be affected were consulted, and no material objection was made to the proposal.

WORK for the WOMANLY BRAIN and HAND

With Dye Pot and Stencil Brush

THE time of year is upon us when it is necessary to think of the transformation of last spring's clothing into this fall's. Nothing in this work is so important as the dyeing and coloring of fabrics before making over. Besides this, there are always methods of rejuvenation by a careful use of stencil paints and water-colors.

Garments may be dyed entire or they may be ripped apart and dyed in breadth. The latter is better for skirts, long coats, etc.; but it is quite easy to dye blouses, ribbon trimmings and things of that sort just as they are, without ripping them.

Different directions come with the various prepared dyes, each of which has its own best methods. General information, however, can be given. The dye is usually mixed with boiling water in a tub or pot that will not be hurt by discoloration, and two stout sticks are used to keep the hands from the liquid. Rubber gloves should be worn.

Dip the material evenly, being sure that it is thoroughly permeated by the dye before removing it. For some varieties it must be left to cook overnight. Finally, take it out with the aid of the sticks and hang it on a line in the open air to drip without wringing or squeezing. Only in this way can you avoid streaking.

There are usually different dyes for cotton and linen and for wool and silk, as vegetable materials take dye much less quickly than animal fabrics. It is never possible to obtain the same rich shade by the use of the wrong dye as by the employment of that suited to the material.

As for mixed goods, they are usually cotton and wool, and must be dyed according to the predominating material. This is usually cotton, but there is a different rule for practically every fabric.

The great question of dyeing is that of color. In general, velveteen and a few woolen fabrics are the only goods that will dye to even dark colors. The important thing is to make the shade always darker than it has been. Of course, one phase of dyeing is simply the restoration of color—the rejuvenation of the shade always present.

In dyeing to another color the following rules should be observed: Blue and purple will not dye over yellow or orange, nor navy blue over brown. Green will not dye over red or brown. Seal brown, scarlet, crimson, cardinal and turkey red and garnet will not dye over green, nor the first two named over blue or slate. Crimson will not dye over purple or old gold, nor yellow over purple or slate. Golden brown, pink, orange and gray will not dye over any dark colors. Black is the only shade that will dye over everything.

Of course, figured goods will dye solid, though sometimes the stripes or dots will come out a lighter shade. In considering the color, you must have regard to every shade in the goods.

Often the dyes cannot be obtained the exact shade desired, and two or more must be mixed. Here are some of the commonest combinations: Apricot—orange and green; bronze—dark brown and green; cerise—pink and brown; ecru—orange and brown, diluted; maroon—purple and crimson; old rose—one part of pink to two parts of brown, diluted; salmon—pink, orange and brown; tan—dark brown and orange.

All sorts of materials can go into the dye pot; feathers are the only things with which the amateur does not seem to succeed. Silk stockings, maline and net ruffs, even leather slippers, dye easily. Straw hats find in this method an easy means to rejuvenation. One precaution must be observed with this; after the straw is dyed, do not let it drip, but rinse it in cold water to set the color until the water runs clear.

A pretty way of treating a dyed hat is to stencil it with the stains sold for that purpose. A cut stencil is not needed, but the design should be drawn in pencil and then covered with a soft, flat brush. This stenciling (so called) can be applied also to belts, tunics, yokes and sashes, and, in fact, to any article which is not large enough to require the regular cut-out stencil.

The subject of painting garments in place of embroidery might well take an article by itself. Nothing is more attractive than a lingerie gown with the flower design touched in color, or a hand-painted wreath or cluster of blossoms on a chiffon scarf or a pastel ribbon. The girl who can do this work should count herself fortunate.

A charming phase of this art is the emphasizing of lace motifs by picking out the pattern in delicate color—perhaps only a cream on white, or perhaps a more definite shade, giving the effect of a dipped lace. Do this work with a fine camel's-hair brush and the stencil dye.

Water colors may also play their part in the freshening of garments. One girl of my acquaintance always touches up the faded flowers on her hats, making them as good as new again; and the idea may be applied to other accessories of the same sort, such as colored figures on unwashable goods, feathers, fans, etc.

So the maiden who dyes and stains and paints may well rejoice in her knowledge of that useful craft, and her less wise sister would better learn it speedily, for it is a prime factor in the methods of the economical maid, and the few stains on hands and arms that are its only drawbacks are easily removed with pumice stone and lemon. And meanwhile your rejuvenated garment is drying on the line!

Paying Back

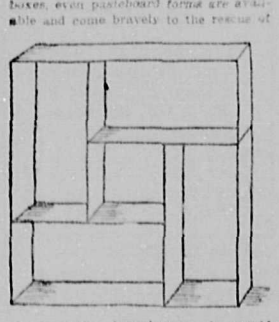
WHEN you go camping this autumn, or on your walking or mountain-climbing trip, why not take along some packages of hardy perennial flower seeds? You will find many places where you can make the desert blossom as a rose, so as to give a wonderful surprise to next year's comers. Often, as you go along in the railroad train, you can drop seeds from the window on promising-looking spots; and perhaps next season that track will run through a field of violets and poppies.

Besides these seeds, there are cornflowers, larkspur, foxglove, marigold, hardy asters—each part of the country will suggest new ones. Indeed, in one city of this country, it is the custom to sprinkle all the refuse heaps with nasturtium seeds, so that the unsightly outskirts of the city are like a wild garden.

It is like Senhouse, in Maurice Hewlett's book—you have all the delight of creating your own countryside and of growing blossoms where they never grew before.

BOXES TO THE RESCUE

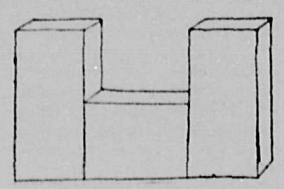
IF YOU have a collection of empty boxes in the storeroom taking up room and nothing more, bring them out into the practical light of day and make them into receptacles of any size and for varying purposes. It is astonishing how many opportunities for attractive cabinets or holders are knocking at your door. Tea boxes, packing boxes, even pasteboard forms are available and come bravely to the rescue of the hesitating housekeeper who would utilize them.



From four long boxes a case for boots and shoes is easily made. Place them with the long surfaces together and nail one above the other, as shown in the sketch. Now tack over the outer surfaces thin cardboard, so that the line of junction will be concealed, and paste a covering of cretonne or chintz.

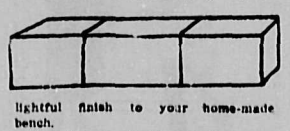
The three lower compartments will hold your shoes in neat lines, while polish, brushes or other accessories for the repair of boots can be kept on the top shelf. The whole can be conveniently pushed into a closet.

Arranged on the swastika plan is the square cabinet that gives five compartments from four boxes. All must be the same size, and best results are obtained when the length is twice the width. Follow the lines of the drawing. Nail each box to the adjacent ones, and stain the whole to harmonize with the furniture of the room. It may be used as a porch cabinet, a kitchen box, a convenient receptacle for tools or for toys. If you be versed in the art of wood joinery, you will add doors to each part and make this doubly valuable.



From three boxes a window seat can be improvised that is movable and in this matter is more desirable than the stationary kind. Place two stout boxes on their smaller ends, and a third (which may be as long as your window permits), you will place between and nail at the sides to the end ones. If a lid be attached to the central one, so much the better. Arrange so that this can be the convenient receptacle for odds and ends that endears a window seat to the heart of any practical woman.

Cover the whole with denim. If you wish, you can stencil a design upon the sides of this movable seat. Allow for short curtains at each side of the window. A pillow of the same material and similarly decorated will give a delightful finish to your home-made bench.

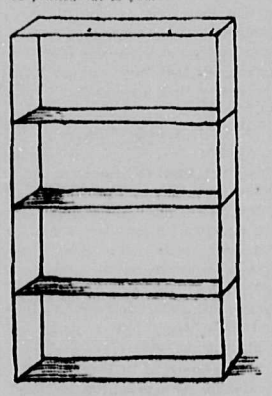


From tiny wooden boxes a long case for the bureau is easily made. With steel nails attach them in a long row. Cover with tapestry and gold galloon. Paste silk or soft leather on the inner surface before you tack on the galloon, and no prettier homemade article could be wished for.

Sandpaper is excellent to rub down all rough edges or surfaces; a wax finish is good if you do not care for a varnished surface; and any wood can be hidden beneath crash, cretonne, burlap or denim.

To your rescue, then, come the boxes that have too long been useless.

It is your business, O practical one, to avail yourself of the chances that are polated out to you.



Over 400 Perfumes

IT IS an interesting thing to know that 4200 species of plants are gathered and used for commercial purposes in Europe. Of these 420 have a perfume that is pleasing, and enter largely into the manufacture of scents, soaps and sachets. There are more species of white flowers gathered than of any other color—1124. Of these 187 have an agreeable scent, an extraordinarily large proportion. Next in order come yellow blossoms, with 951, seventy-seven of them being perfumed. Red flowers number 823, of which eighty-four are scented. The blue flowers are of 594 varieties, thirty-four of which are perfumed, and the violet blossoms number 308, thirteen of which are pleasantly odoriferous.

YOUR PICTURES

THE pictures that hang on the walls of our rooms speak eloquently of us. They are also silent factors in the molding of that part of our characters that is intangible, but necessary to happiness—the esthetic side.

When selecting pictures a very important thing to be considered is the framing.

A poorly chosen picture, or a good one unwisely framed and hung, will cause more discord than an inharmonious color. Fortunate indeed is she who starts with nothing worse than bare walls, or a troublesome present or two from some friends who recognize the claims of art, but whose sense of appreciation is limited to color likeness and a handsome frame.

Our selection of subjects is almost unlimited, but it is in this selection that the danger lies. Without absolute confidence in one's own taste and knowledge, the safest and broadest field lies in the copies of the world's art treasures. Further and further study awakens an appreciation of one great master after another, until our walls show the best examples of them all.

For a lover of the Florentine school the pure, tender faces of the Botticelli Madonnas, both in the National Gallery and in the Louvre, never lose their fascination. In the same room in the Louvre, with the almost too popular Mona Lisa of Leonardo da Vinci, is another by the same artist, his Saint Anne, full of his own peculiar fascination and charm.

Besides the masterpieces in which the human element is treated, there are the restful landscapes that should be framed and hung to give the impression of an open window, beckoning the onlooker into the meadows and woods beyond.

When Stamps Stick

IN THIS hot weather five minutes from postoffice to home will suffice to stick a sheet of postage stamps together in seemingly hopeless fashion. When this occurs do not soak them apart and then spend laborious and untidy hours in pasting them on envelopes. Instead, place them on the ironing-board and run a hot flatiron over them. The stamps will separate without removing the mucilage.

The same is true, of course, of any superfluity of paste between leaves of a book, etc.

SLENDER CONVENTIONAL DESIGNS

SEPARATE motifs for embroidery and stenciling usually are presented in running designs, in small or large squares or in single flowers that necessarily vary in shape, but tend toward general roundness as a whole. Now there are articles for the house beautiful that demand an upright or tall, slender motif, such as are shown in these illustrations. They belong to all who care to trace or transfer them and to the more experienced, who can enlarge them. They will be found applicable to lampshade panels, to such small articles as the fancy-work bag, the sash curtain and table runner and to many small crash hangings for the library and the boudoir. Also it will be possible to use these on various beaten brass articles and as pyrographic outlines for wood, leather or velvet.

The square outlines of the conventional rose and the more rounded tree design are especially planned for those who stencil, and it will be seen at a glance that they can be carried out in one color or in two. The rose itself may be a dull pink, with the stem reproduced in dull leaf green. All of the tree is green except the central portion of the upper head.

More suggestive of embroidery are the cattail and iris, both of which are intended for quick work in long flat stitches after the Japanese. Very frequently, when the outlines have been done in black to produce an effect quickly, just such stitches as are here shown are hastily placed within leaves and petals; just a few to produce the color, for instance, of the purple iris or the rich brown of the cattail.

All of these designs will serve also as models from which to paint upon Japanese burlap paper for lampshades, or upon parchment, and their outline will suggest the similar treatment of other flowers.

Buffalo Bill's End

NOTORIOUS WINDERMERE OUTLAW DEFEATS ENDS OF JUSTICE BY SUICIDE.

The man Moore, better known as Buffalo Bill, from the Windermere country who was charged with the abduction of a little girl, the daughter of a neighbor of his, and who was pursued with vengeance through the length of the Kootenay valley and run down ultimately at Macleod by the Northwest Mounted Police and brought back here for trial, has met with a tragic end by his own hand in the jail at Athalmer.

Bill, by his escape, raised the whole country on his trail. The Indians and others traced him from point to point until he made a point near Elko. Here, it is said, he abandoned his played-out horses and such was the strength of the man that it is said quite seriously that he packed the child (she is about fourteen years of age) either on his back or in his arms right through the Crows Nest Pass and over the mountains to where the police found him. Beyond a doubt he was a man of giant strength. He was often known to pack a whole deer on his back for twenty miles and many another feat of the like kind is attributed to him. When he fell into the hands of the Northwest men he was almost a wreck from the labors of his escape from Windermere and his spirit seemed crushed and broken. He crumpled into a nervous wreck and dreaded the result of the trial for his offence. He stated while lying in the local jail here that if he were imprisoned he would be dead in two months. He was taken up the valley to await trial before Judge Wilson and was to have been defended by A. B. Macdonald, of this city.

The morning before the intended trial Bill managed to get hold of the revolver belonging to Constable Tennant, who had left him in charge of some young fellow. On his return the constable demanded the return of the gun, but Bill simply pressed its muzzle to his heart and blew his life out. It is a gruesome bit of tragedy and to deepen the dark tints of it, just before Bill committed suicide his eldest child, a young girl, was taking some stock or horses over the Sinclair trail, east of Sinclair Springs, when the animal she was riding grew fractious and either by flinging her out of the saddle or by falling on her, inflicted such injuries as resulted in her death just about the time that the unfortunate father had started his soul on its journey to the Undiscovered Country. Death pays its debts, but, by all accounts there are a few people in the Windermere country who will sleep the easier now that there shall be no judicial investigation of the episode which lead up to the self-destruction of Buffalo Bill.

A WONDERFUL EXPERIENCE.

With Newbro's Herpicide.

While there are no thrills in the narration of Mrs. P. T. Nichols, 623 Broad St., Beloit, Wis., her story is nevertheless one of amazing interest. "Stricken with neuralgia and erysipelas, I lost all my hair. My doctor recommended Newbro's Herpicide. I used six or eight bottles and now have a fine head of slightly curly light brown hair. Not a gray hair in my head. This is the more remarkable as I am middle-aged."

While the results which follow the use of Newbro's Herpicide are always more or less astonishing, they are always natural. Herpicide destroys the dandruff germ, stimulates the flow of blood to the hair follicles and keeps the scalp perfectly healthy. It makes possible a natural and luxuriant growth of hair, except in cases of chronic baldness.

While remedies said to be "every bit as good" as Newbro's Herpicide are frequently offered, one should insist upon having the original germ destroyer, Herpicide. That is genuine. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

For sale at all drug stores. One dollar size bottles are guaranteed. Applications may be obtained at good barber shops. Send 10c. in postage for sample to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

CRANBROOK'S GROWING TIME

WELL EQUIPPED GARAGE TO BE ADDED TO CITY'S CONVENIENCES.

It will be welcome news to the many present and prospective owners of automobiles in this city and district, that a first-class, well equipped garage is to be established in town, under the competent management of Mr. P. F. Patrick, who has had several yeart training in some of the big English garages, and brings to the work the highest skill and experience.

The new garage will be in operation early in the new year. A fully equipped shop is to be installed, where complete overhauling of any make of automobile may be undertaken, and the skillful execution of vulcanized tire repairs by the latest electrical appliances. There will be on sale sixteen different models of cars and commercial trucks, ranging in price from $800 to $4,000 to choose from. Gasoline, oil and supplies, boarding and storage of cars, etc., also a 40 horse power McLaughlin Buick touring car for renting purposes will be on hand for the public service. The above equipment, with promptitude and reasonable prices, should ensure the undertaking a success from the start, as well as satisfy the most exacting of patrons, having regard to the size of the city and the number of machines now in the district. The sole agency for the well known McLaughlin Buick autos and Randolph trucks has been secured and two carloads of these reliable machines are ordered and due for delivery in town on the 15th of March next. One carload of them is already bespoken by well known residents of the district. Judging from the brisk demand and press reports, the demand will exceed the supply next season, and intending purchasers all over the Dominion will place their orders much earlier than heretofore on that account. It is necessary that they should, if they are to secure the car of their choice, instead of those available later on. Most of the manufacturers of repute, both in the United States and Canada, have already closed contracts, disposing of from two-thirds to their entire output for 1911. The intending motorist should see what this local firm have to offer in choice of cars, and remember that they will always be on hand to back up the car they represent, by keeping them in steady service of the owner, instead of out of commission for two weeks or more at a time after every little misfortune that will befall machinery of any kind. To quote the Herald "Patronize Home Enterprise," and watch the district grow.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

As announced last week arrangements are under way for an entertainment to be given by the public school children in the Opera house on Saturday evening, December 17th.

The children are now being trained by Mr. S. D. Ingram, choirmaster of Knox church, for the presentation of a Christmas cantata "Around the World With Santa." The cantata consists of choruses, songs, recitations and drills, and will present a very pretty spectacle, each of the participants appearing in costume. Mr. Ingram, assisted by the school staff, will spare no pains to perfect the children in their respective parts and a really excellent and enjoyable entertainment is assured.

BEARING DOWN PAINS.

What woman at sometime or other does not experience these dreadful bearing down pains. Mrs. E. Griffith, of Main street, Hepworth, Ont., says: "A heavy bearing-down pain had settled across my back and sides. I was often unable to stoop or straighten myself up. Many times each night I would have to leave my bed with irregular and frequent secretions of the kidney and just as done out in the morning as on retiring. I was languid and would have to let my house work stand. Nothing I had tried would benefit me. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and concluded I would try them, which I did, and soon found the long sought relief. My back strengthened and I began to feel better and stronger. I now enjoy my sleep without being disturbed and feel grateful to Booth's Kidney Pills for what they did for me."

Booth's Kidney Pills are a boon to women. She would know less of backaches if she took more of these wonderful pills. They are nature's greatest specific for all diseases of the kidney and bladder. All druggists, 50c. box, or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by The Beattie-Murphy Co.

APPRECIATE CRANBROOK'S HELP.

Secretary Benedict, of the Cranbrook board of trade, is in receipt of the following communication from the secretary of the Spokane chamber of commerce:

Cranbrook Board of Trade, Cranbrook, B. C.:

Gentlemen: We are very much obliged to you for having invited the National Grange to come to the Pacific Northwest next year and meet in Spokane.

The co-operative spirit in the Pacific Northwest is certainly to be commended. Four governors have sent in invitations; the mayors of all the leading cities in Oregon, Washington and Montana have done the same thing; every chamber of commerce and commercial club has taken action; the minister of agriculture for Alberta has sent a strong invitation. We have all gotten together and whether we get the convention or not we have at least demonstrated that the Pacific Northwest stands together for the good of all.

Let me assure you again that the action of the Cranbrook board of trade is appreciated.

Yours very truly,
R. J. Maclean,
Secretary.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE OF "FAUST" BY SANFORD DODGE CO.

Sanford Dodge certainly well sustained his advance reputation in his two performances in this city last week. The production of the "Three Musketeers" was enjoyable in every respect, save for the absolutely incompetent work of Walter Robinson as King Louis XIII., but this failure proved costly for the company, as many who were present at Friday night's production were so disgusted with Robinson's utter incapacity that they stayed away from the production of "Faust" on Saturday evening, whereby they missed quite one of the best dramatic treats that have come this way in many months.

Mr. Sanford Dodge's "Mephisto" was cleverly sustained throughout, it was a conception of the part new to many who had seen the Irving productions, but none the less thoroughly artistic. Miss Adelle Nickerson made a charming "Marguerite," and good support was given by the rest of the company. Altogether a very admirable production of this great play was given, and it is only to be regretted that more of Cranbrook's theatre-goers were not in attendance.

Central Meat Market is making a specialty of their sausages, accommodation being specially provided for same.

THE BOY AND THE CIGARETTE EVIL.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance meeting held last week was one of special interest to mothers and all lovers of the boy and his physical mental and moral development into a sturdy manhood. The attendance was good and the two subjects, presented by Evangelist Litch on "The Power of a Mother's Influence," and by Miss Dick on "The Cigarette Evil," made a deep impression on the hearers.

In the discussion which followed, warm appreciation was expressed, and Miss Dick was requested to allow her paper to be published in the Cranbrook Herald, and it is published in part therewith. The fact that groups of small boys as well as larger ones had been seen from time to time in quiet spots, smoking the subtle and ennervating cigarette was a matter of grave interest to those present at the meeting, and it was felt that all parents should be warned to guard against the danger to the boys. Facts came out from good authority that such use of the weed quickly stunted the physical, mental and moral development of the young life and discounted the ability of such youths in the eyes of employers, who were quick to detect the baneful effects of the cigarette in the growing boy. Positions of responsibility are closed to such in most of the great concerns of the country; and the fact that the laws of Canada and many of the American States have outlawed the use of cigarettes by boys and youths and made its sale to them illegal is significant. A unanimous resolution was registered by the ladies in vigorous protest against the dealers who, for gain, would not only violate the law but ruin the boys.

After a brief word as to the origin and the pernicious effects of over-indulgence in tobacco Miss Dick quoted a number of authorities as the best argument against the use of tobacco by boys and youths and dwelt more particularly upon the deadly influence of the cigarette.

Dr. N. B. Delamater, specialist in mental and nervous diseases, says. "The use of tobacco in any form previous to sixteen years of age has an undoubted tendency to lower very materially the mental forre, and to render the user a person without ambition, and may even cause insanity or idiocy."

Mr. Charles Hubbell, of the New York board of education, says: "I have found that a boy who smokes becomes morally and mentally weaker than those who do not. I have observed that boys employed in business houses and smoke are often dishonest, and that they do not attain the success that non-smoking boys do."

Dr. J. H. Kellogg: "The fact is established beyond a doubt, that tobacco is a poison, deadly in large doses, pernicious and harmful in all doses. It taints the breath, ruins the digestion, obliterates the taste and smell, spoils the blood, depresses the heart, irritates the nerves, wastes the muscles and deteriorates and contaminates every organ and tissue with which it comes in contact in the body.

"Its influence is to lessen vitality, to benumb the sensibilities, to shorten life, to kill. Using tobacco is dangerous, degrading. . . because it is an undisputed fact that two thirds of the young men who begin to smoke before they are fifteen years of age become drunkards. One writer calls it, in its many forms, "The tributaries to the great ocean of intemperance."

The use of tobacco in any form is hurtful, but cigarette smoking is by far the most injurious. It is an evil which has sprung into prominence within a very few years, and it is one which, unless checked and stamped out, will work untold injury to our nation. It is doing more today to undermine the constitutions of our young men and boys than any other one evil.

It may be of interest and profit to dig below the surface with the enquiry. "What pervirsity of nature influences a boy to enter the ranks of the cigatette users?" From a thousand sources comes the answer: "He smokes with the notion that it makes him more manly." In his eyes it is part of man's estate.

But why the cigarette more than other preparations of the same weed?

First.—It rarely makes him sick when first used; the cigar, pipe or plug would.

Second.—It leaves so slight an odor on breath and clothing, it is only detected when suspicion is already aroused. He can smoke and deceive those about him.

Third.—It is less than one-tenth the price. Any urchin with ten cents can buy a package containing one dozen.

We have no proper idea of the extent of the evil induced by this poisonous narcotic, or we would with one accord, rise up against it.

The Canadian women have the destiny of this nation in their hands; too long have they quietly slumbered and let this sin grow in strength and greatness, until like a monster he is monarch of all he surveys; but the halt has been called and the women are awakening from the Rip Van Winkle sleep, that has so long held them, and when once awake, King Alcohol and all his aides-de-camp will tremble, and trembling, fall.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Grand Forks, B.C.," will be received at this office until 4.00 p.m. on Wednesday, December 28, 1910, for the construction of a Public Building at Grand Forks, B. C.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of Mr. Wm. Henderson, resident architect, Victoria, O.C., at the Post Office, Grand Forks, and at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.
