TWO BALL GAMES.

The ball game between the Cranbrook and Nelson teams last evening was won by Cranbrook by a score of six to one. J. A. Duffy was umpire.

Cranbrook—Lunberg, Peterson, Burr, Potter, Sullivan, McWha, Jones, Sims and Galvin.

License Commissioners

The license commissioners for the city of Cranbrook, consisting of Mayor Hunt, D. J. Johnson and Jas. Caslake, met this morning and granted renewals for all of the licenses in the city. The application of the transfer of the license from Mrs. Small to E. H. Small was also granted.

AN OLD TIMER

Cranbrook had a visit this week from an old residenter in the person of Patrick Quirk. Quirk is eighty-nine years of age, and was in California during the gold excitement in the days of "forty nine." In 1867 he came to the Wild Horse country and has been in South East Kootenay ever since. He recently sold his place near Fort Steele and is now taking life easy. His memory is wonderfully clear for a man of his age, and he has a fund of good stories of pioneer days in the west.

WEDDING CREEK.

A new bridge has been built over an unnamed creek twenty-five miles west of Cranbrook. As this creek has never been named, the government employees have temporarily christened it Wedding creek, in honor of the nuptials of Superintendent Reid at Nelson last week.—Victoria Colonist.

NEW AUTOS.

Simon Taylor, of the Standard Lumber company, and H. A. McKowan, of the Cranbrook Sash and Door company this week received their new Ford cars. Both cars are the same, twenty horse power and of the latest make turned out of the factory. They were purchased through D. V. Mott, of Fernie, who is the western agent.

Mrs. F. E. Simpson is over from Kamloops visiting with her many friends in Cranbrook and attending the Rebekah assembly. She is stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Richards.

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has made it a favorite everywhere. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers. 15-tf

Fred Haines, at one time on the staff of the Herald, is up from Corbin attending the grand lodge. Fred looks good and is as happy as a clam. He quite recently became the father of a sixteen pound boy.

Judge Ryan left Wednesday evening for Calgary and Winnipeg and will be away from Cranbrook for about ten days. J. A. Arnold and C. M. Edwards, who are both justices of the peace, will sit on any police court cases that may come up during Judge Ryan's absence.

Live man or woman wanted for work at home, paying $2.00 or $3.00 per day with opportunity to advance. Spare time can be used. Work not difficult and requires no experience. Winston, Limited, Spadina Ave., Toronto, Ont. 16-3t

Capt. Taylor, of the Salvation Army, has purchased twelve band instruments for use in the local corps. These will be taken up as fast as he can get men for them. They will be on view in W. B. McFarlane's window on Monday next. The thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents so kindly contributed at the musical festival given by the Winnipeg S. A. band has been applied to the purchase of these instruments.

Pope Pius X has issued a dispensation permitting all the British subjects who are Catholic to eat meat on Friday, June 23, 1911, which is Coronation day.

Sewing Wanted—Ladies and children's underwear. Machine or hand made.—Mrs. Duckering, Martin avenue. 17-2t*

NEW BUILDING IS PLANNED

DAVIS BROS. ELECTRIC COMPANY CALL FOR TENDERS FOR BRICK STRUCTURE.

The Davis Bros. Electric company are calling for tenders for a large brick store building, which will be built on their lot on Baker street next to the office of the Cranbrook Agency company. By the putting up of this building the location of the firm will be improved, and it will enable them to handle a much larger stock of supplies. Tenders must be in by noon tomorrow, and there will be as little delay as possible in awarding the contract and getting the work under way. This will give Cranbrook's main street another substantial building. Davis Bros. have also started a branch store at Fernie, which will be run on about the same lines as the Cranbrook store.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

The plans for the new isolation hospital for Cranbrook have been received from Victoria, and they are now in the hands of G. H. Thompson, city solicitor. These plans will be submitted to the city council, probably at a special meeting. The government is giving a grant of two thousand five hundred dollars for this hospital, and the city, will probably give five hundred dollars. The whole cost of the building is not to exceed three thousand dollars. The building will be erected this summer. Mr. Caven is to be commended for his good work in procuring a grant for this building.

Real Estate

The following is a list of the transactions in real estate made by the firm of Beale and Elwell during the past three months. It shows that during that time no less than twenty-seven thousand seven hundred dollars worth of property was turned over by one Cranbrook firm:

County Court

The only case at the sitting of the county court here on June 8th and 9th was the Cranbrook Sawmill company vs. Oliver Nadeau. This was an action brought before Judge Wilson for breach of warranty on the sale of a horse by O. Nadeau to the Cranbrook Sawmill company. The horse delivered died within one month from the time of sale. The plaintiffs claimed that they had bargained for a good working horse. The defendant denied that he was aware of any defect in the horse. The horse died as above stated of swamp fever. After hearing the evidence of both parties the judge reserved judgment. A. B. Macdonald was for the plaintiff and G. H. Thompson for the defendant.

FLAGS FOR CHILDREN

On Coronation day, June 22nd., every school child in South East Kootenay will be presented with a coronation flag with the compliments of the Beattie-Murphy Company, Limited. Each flag has an artistically colored picture of the king and queen. The idea of this flag is to inculcate loyalty not only to the empire, but also to Canada. The Beattie-Murphy company are to be congratulated on the idea and the moral it teaches.

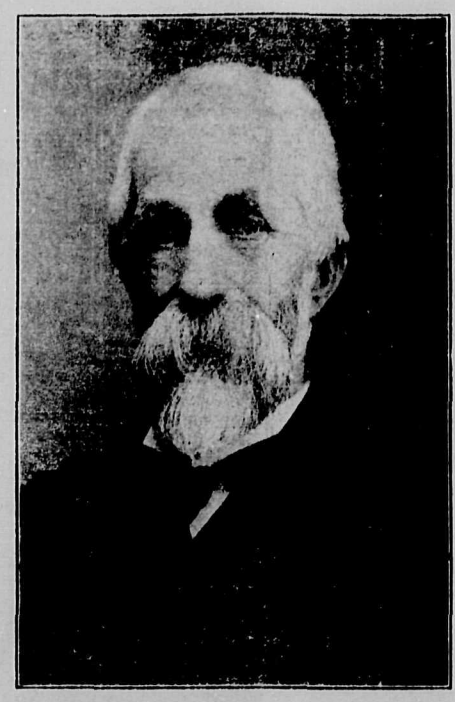
GAMBLE—DEAGON.

James Gamble and Miss Flora Deagon, both of Moyie, were married last Saturday evening at the Presbyterian manse by the Rev. W. J. MacQuarrie, B.A. They will make their home at Moyie, where Mr. Gamble holds a responsible position at the St. Eugene mine.



Mr. FRED DAVEY, M. L. A.

The "Grand Old Man" of Odd Fellowship in British Columbia. Last night Mr. Davey was elected for the twenty-eighth time as secretary of the I. O. O. F. grand lodge of this province. He has also been secretary of his home lodge in Victoria for thirty-five terms.

GRAND LODGE HAS A BUSY SESSION

Oddfellows Fill the City and Transact much Important Business --- Banquet Tonight.

Fully two hundred Odd Fellows and their wives have been in Cranbrook since Monday attending the Encampment, the Rebekah assembly and the thirty-seventh annual session of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia. These people are from all over the province, and they are being well cared for by the local committee. The hotels are crowded and many have rooms in residences. However, all of the delegates are comfortably housed. The delegates are putting in a pleasant time here. Of course they have plenty of work to do, but still they have some time on their hands to look over the sights of the city. Those business men owning motor cars have been taking parties for an outing, and the Nelson ball team was brought here to play two games with the home team.

This is the first meeting of the grand lodge to be held in East Kootenay, but there are more members of the order in East Kootenay now than there were in the whole province some thirty years ago when the B. C. Grand Lodge was instituted. In 1904 the Grand Lodge met at Rossland, and these have been the only meetings held in the eastern part of the province. At nine o'clock tonight the newly elected grand officers will be installed and the thirty-seventh annual session will be brought to a close. After the close of the session there will be a big banquet at the Auditorium. This morning Victoria was chosen as the place for the grand lodge meeting next year.

Tuesday evening a public meeting was held at the Auditorium to welcome the visitors and to confer the Decoration of Chivalry on seven Rebekah members. Ex-Mayor Fink was chairman of the meeting, and on the platform with him were Mayor Hunt, W. H. Cullin, the acting grand master and Fred Davey, the grand secretary.

After making some appropriate references to the order and the speakers, Mr. Fink introduced Mayor Hunt. The mayor extended a hearty welcome to the visitors, and hoped that their stay in the city would be a pleasant and profitable one. He sprung a surprise when he presented Mr. Cullin with a solid gold key—the key to the city. On the key are the three links, the emblem of the order, and the word Cranbrook. He then called upon Mr. Cullin, who said among other things that the past year has been the best year for the order the province had ever seen. He was glad to accept the key of the city from Mayor Hunt and promised to use due precaution in not abusing the privileges extended. From the mayor's knowledge of the order he considered him fully entitled to become a member—all he needed was the secret work. Fred Davey, grand secretary, was the last speaker, and gave some valuable information as to the growth of Odd Fellowship in the province.

The Decoration of Chivalry was then conferred upon the following members of the Rebekah order: Mrs. Grace Irving, of Nelson; Mrs. Motion, of Nelson; Mrs. Sadie McFarlane, of Cranbrook; Mrs. Kate P. Simpson, of Cranbrook; Mrs. Agnes Smith, of Rossland, Mrs. Annie Lee, of Rossland, and Mrs. M. Evans, of Rossland. This was conferred by the Patriarch's Militant in uniform and was a very pretty ceremony. Col. C. S. Keith was in command. The different marches and drills were well executed. At the close Col. Keith made a short talk and explained the object of the decoration. Then there were songs by Mr. Geo. D. Ingram, Mrs. Weisbrod, Mr. T. F. Stevenson, Mrs. Stevenson and Mr. Stevens, and two violin solos by Mrs. N. A. Wallinger.

THANK AUTO OWNERS.

The local committee of the I.O.O. F. Grand Lodge wish to particularly thank the gentlemen who so kindly supplied automobiles for the Rebekah lodge's trip to Fort Steele. The following cars were in the procession: V. Hyde Baker, E. H. Small, Dr. King, Roland Brown, Dr. Green, Jas. Laidlaw, W. H. Wilson, Mr. Bridges, Geo. Leitch, P. Matheson and A. C. Bowness.

REBEKAH ASSEMBLY.

The Rebekah assembly held their sessions in the L.O.L. hall. There was a good attendance of delegates, and when it came to the election of officers forty-two votes were cast. The degree team put through a class of candidates in their hall last evening. The officers of the Rebekah assembly for the ensuing year are:

Past Pres.—Sister Hanna, Vancouver.

Warden—Sister Parker, Cranbrook.

Secretary—Sister Walker, Victoria.

The last session of the assembly was held this afternoon.

SOUVENIRS.

The official badge selected this year was very appropriate. On each badge is a pendant with a photo of Mr. Fred Davey, grand secretary. These badges are very popular and will be kept by the representatives as souvenirs.

Wildey Lodge, No. 44, of Moyie, gave away two hundred souvenirs to the delegates. These souvenirs were in the way of a glass paper weight with a bulb filled with milled ores from the Moyie camp. The delegates are delighted with them.

FUNERAL AID.

Although this association was organized only eight months ago it is making splendid progress. The association is in connection with the Odd Fellows' order. Its object is quick relief when it is needed, viz: before the funeral, and to place a good sum of money in the hands of the family before the funeral. There is an officer in each lodge who has charge of the collection and payment of funds, and who receives applications for membership. The annual meeting, which has just closed in this city, was most enthusiastic and profitable.

The officers are:

Col. C. S. Keith—President.

Col. J. A. McKay—Vice-President.

W. C. Coatham—Secretary.

W. R. Brown—Treasurer.

TAYLOR MAKES VISIT

Hon. Thos. Taylor, who has well earned the soubriquet of "Good Roads Taylor," arrived here last Saturday, and in company with Thos. Caven and John Reid, government road foreman, made a thorough inspection of the road work that is going on in this district under the government supervision. Harry Wright, member for the Ymir riding, accompanied Mr. Taylor on his trip through East Kootenay. A large amount of money is being spent by the government for roads, trails and bridges this year, and Mr. Taylor is seeing to it that this money is being put to the best possible use. The season's work is well under way, and in every case where work is being done it is well done. The roads are made wide and the grades as easy as the country will permit. Mr. Taylor realizes that in John Reid he has a thoroughly competent road superintendent and that the work in this district will be in no way neglected.

SPECIAL CLAUSES IN CITY CONTRACT

Agreement Between Council and Galt Engineering Works

Following are the most important clauses in the agreement which the city of Cranbrook last week entered into with the John Galt Engineering company of Calgary:

3. The city will find all plant, labor and material necessary to carry on, construct, install and complete the said works, which said plant, labor and material shall be supplied under the direction and supervision of the engineers from time to time as, and when the same shall be required.

4. The engineers shall, as soon as possible, commence the construction of the said works and shall on behalf of the city, procure and obtain with all due dispatch such material as they may require for the proper construction and installation of the works; and shall on behalf of the city employ such common and skilled labor from time to time as may be required. The city, however, may, upon the advice of the engineers, enter into contracts with such person or persons as the city may be advised by the engineers, for the supplying of such materials and for such portions of the work as the engineers may consider advisable.

5. The engineers shall, in engaging labor for the city on the works, contract, on behalf of the city, to pay all workmen, mechanics, artisans and laborers employed on the works, such wages and remuneration as are generally accepted as current in each trade for competent workmen in the city of Cranbrook.

6. The engineers shall not directly or indirectly employ Chinese, Japanese or any other Asiatics upon, about or in connection with the works; and in event of their so doing the city will not be responsible for payment of their wages or remuneration.

9. The engineers shall, at their own expense and charge, employ a competent resident engineer to represent them on the works during the construction and to supervise the construction of the works.

11. The city shall have the right at any and all times during the construction of the works, to introduce additional material and labor there on over what was required or demanded by the engineers, but such material and labor shall be under the supervision and direction of the engineers. In case the engineers shall fail in the due performance in any part of their undertaking, or in the opinion of the municipal council of the city for just cause shown shall not proceed with the works in accordance with the terms of this agreement, or make default in the due carrying out of the works or any part thereof, or exercise such diligence or make such due progress as the municipal council shall deem proper, or if the municipal council should be dissatitfied for just cause with the character or construction of the works, or any part thereof, the city shall have the power, upon giving the engineers two weeks notice, specifying the default or omission on the part of the engineers, and in case such default or omission is not forthwith corrected and rectified, to discharge them from such supervision of the works and pay them compensation proportionate to the work done, and shall have the power to engage and employ such other engineer or engineers to supervise the works or to complete the works in such manner as the municipal council of the city may deem advisable. In case any portion of the works shall through the negligence of the engineers require to be reconstructed the engineers shall not be entitled to any remuneration for such re-construction. And if the city by its action shall delay in any manner the due progress of the works, so that the same shall not be completed within the time limit, then the engineers shall be entitled to an extension of time for such period as they may have been delayed by the action of the city; but all the rights and remedies of the city contained within this agreement shall continue to exist and shall be exercisable by the city. And the engineers shall be entitled to remuneration for such expense as they may have incurred by reason of the action of the city.

12. The engineers shall be liable for all damages sustained to traffic and for any injury or for trespass or otherwise to any persons, animals or things, public or municipal works, streets, alleys, properties, buildings or premises, which may be occasioned by their negligence or by that of any servant or official directly employed by them, but not otherwise.

13. The drawings and specifications in connection with the works are the property of the city and on completion of the works shall be returned to the city clerk. The engineers shall furnish to the city clerk from time to time detailed drawings showing the lines of pipe and the connections or pipe and the connections or places for connections.

15. Should the amount now voted by the city under Bylaw No. 96, of the city of Cranbrook be at any time expended previous to the completion of the works, the engineers, on receiving a notice in writing from the city to the above effect, shall stop the works, but in any case the engineers shall not be entitled to any further payment after the service of the notice above referred to, until the necessary funds shall have been voted by the ratepayers of the city and obtained by the city; nor shall the engineers have any claim for compensation or damages for the said suspension of payment.

16. The works shall be fully completed according to the plans and specifications and upon the terms of this agreement by the 30th day of November, 1912.

17. The city hereby agrees to pay to the engineers for the said designing, construction and supervision of the works, a sum of money equal to ten per centum (10 p.c.) of the total cost of the works to the city, same as hereinbefore provided for, payable in the following manner:

Eight per centum (8 p.c.) to be paid to them monthly on the tenth (10th) day of each month according to the estimated amount of work done and materials supplied at the end of the preceding month, and the balance one (1) month after the engineers have certified to the city that the works have been completed in a satisfactory manner according to the plans and specifications. Provided, however, that should the engineers break this agreement or be discharged from the employ of the city, for just cause, they shall be entitled to a commission of five per centum (5 p.c.) only upon material supplied but not installed.

A DELUGE OF WHEAT

The representative farmers of the wheat-growing States who have been protesting at Washington against reciprocity with Canada because it will bring down upon them a "deluge" of Canadian wheat seem to have a fairly accurate idea of what is happening on the plains of Saskatchewan and Alberta. That Canada very soon will be in a position to deluge both Europe and the United States with the best wheat grown is no figure of speech.

Vice-President William Whyte of the C.P.R. and Mr. Robert Meighen of the Lake of the Woods Milling company, two of the highest authorities in the Dominion, estimate that with favorable weather conditions during the next three months the Canadian West will produce two hundred million bushels of wheat. This enormous production will come from an area estimated at a little over ten million acres, and there are at least a hundred million acres of land suitable for the growing of wheat in the Canadian West. The total area devoted to wheat cultivation throughout the world is about 233,000,000 acres, so that Canada, were her western wheat fields fully tilled, could supply almost half the wheat now consumed throughout the world.

That is far in the future. The estimate of a yield this year of two hundred million bushels of wheat is a matter of the "living present." What does it mean? What will it do? In the first place it will congest every avenue of outlet from the wheat fields. A very big trainload of wheat is fifty cars, each containing one thousand bushels. It is said that the Grand Trunk Pacific hopes to be able to haul this sort of trainload on its main line and branches. Supposing the three railways all did so, it would require four thousand trains of fifty cars each to carry the wheat to the head of the lakes. It would require the despatch of over ten lake freighters daily, with a capacity of 200,000 bushels each, to carry the grain out of Fort William and Port Arthur between the time in September when the new crop begins to move and the close of navigation. That, of course, is a physical impossibility, and export grain on any such scale as that anticipated will have to be shipped out all-rail in winter as well as by vessels this fall and next summer.

If, says the Toronto Globe, the west produces two hundred million bushels of wheat and the Grangers of Minnesota and Dakota scare the United States senate into a rejection of reciprocity, the entire crop of the west—less the amount exported to the United States to be milled in bond by the millers there for their export trade—would have to be used in Canada for food or seed, or shipped abroad to Europe, South Africa, Newfoundland, or the other smaller customers for Canadian wheat and flour. How much would be available for shipment abroad? Taking our population at eight millions and eliminating the wheat grown in the east, it would require about eight bushels of wheat per capita to produce flour for home consumption. That would give about a pound of bread per day for each person, a very liberal allowance, the quantity in fact usually allotted to soldiers in camp. This disposes of 64,000,000 bushels. Seeding ten million acres would take probably 16,000,000 or 17,000,000 bushels. There would still remain available for export 120,000,000 bushels, a stupendous quantity. The greatest export up till the present time in any one year was in 1910, when 19,741,000 bushels of wheat were sent abroad and 3,061,028 barrels of flour, the equivalent of about 14,500,000 bushels. If Mr. Whyte and Mr. Meighen are reliable prophets, the export this year and next spring will be double that of the best year to date. That will be the first shower of the "deluge"—the beginning of results from the immigration pouring into the west.

AUTO SAVES LIFE

Complaints of the rate at which the city ambulance sometimes goes through the streets are sometimes heard, but it is probably owing to the furious driving of Charles Antenen, the ambulance driver, that Dr. D. M. Mackay, now in the general hospital, recovering from an attack of uraemia, owes his life, says the Vancouver Province.

Dr. Mackay was taken seriously ill in his office on Wednesday about noon. Medical aid was summoned and the ambulance was called. The ambulance was at the doctor's office at 9 Hastings sereet east in two minutes and a few minutes later the doctor was in the general hospital, the ambulance making the distance in record time.

At the hospital it was found that the doctor was so ill that all hope of saving his life was at first despaired of, but with the aid of the entire surgical staff of the hospital he was revived and is now on the road to recovery.

Mr. Antenen is probably the best auto driver in the city. Six years ago he was driver of a racing car in France and the world's record he set at that time stood for over a year.

On serious cases he drives through the streets of Vancouver faster than anyone else or anything else dares to travel. To one not on the machine it would seem that the driver was lucky not to be killed every time he goes out, but back of the wheel is a man with nerves of steel who knows that he is safe although he is travelling at times fifty miles an hour a foot from a street car, and who goes on errands of mercy with the speed of a fiend.

"PANAMA" HATS

Bamboo hats have lately masqueraded as the real Panama article and have been found to surpass these both in utility and beauty. The fact is that the most lauded Panama product exists more in fiction than in reality; that is, the extremely fine grade is scarcely to be had at all. The bamboo sails under the name of Panama since some time past and not one in a hundred knows the difference.

It is expected and probable that the United States agricultural bureau will do everything to encourage the new industry of manufacturing a superior grade of bamboo hats in the Philippine Islands. A Frenchman, the first to give the matter serious attention, has established himself near Batavia, in Java, and is doing a flourishing business. He already has a demand for goods for the export trade which far exceeds his manufacturing capacity.

The raw material, the bamboo, receives considerable care. It is cut at the time it has almost reached its maturity, but still is green. It must be handled with extreme care, for the slightest blow "bruises the sap" and produces an ineffaceable blotch or spot. On this account the bamboo is never hauled by rail or wagon, but cut and carried by the natives directly from the field to the factory.

Here the rather hard surface is peeled off with specially shaped knives. The bamboo is then exposed for two days to the heat of the sun and for twenty-four hours to the heavy night dews. This seasons the material sufficiently to permit its being sliced or pulled in "thongs" of exact length and wonderful firmness.

After the seasoning process the desired lengths are cut, then the "trunk" split into pieces about two inches wide. Only a lustrous close-grained portion, less than one-sixteenth of an inch, is kept and from this are pulled five or six ribbons of gossamer texture, light as air and yet as strong, glossy and pliant as the best quality of silk.

The hats are braided by native women, who are skilled in giving the shape desired without any mechanical aid. The hats are always double and the finishing process of the "bell"—lining—and the brim is intrusted to little Japanese children, the girls especially having obtained such a proficiency that worping by the piece they often earn more than their elders.

"I suffered so long from stomach trouble and indigestion, that I lost flesh rapidly — VINOL cured me after everything else had failed. It strengthened my digestive organs—gave me a hearty appetite, and I can eat anything without the slightest distress. I do not believe anything equals VINOL for stomach trouble and indigestion."

W. E. WATERHOUSE, Portland, Me.

Mr. Thos. G. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., writes, "I suffered for years from a chronic stomach trouble. VINOL entirely cured me after everything else had failed."

It is the curative medicinal elements of the cod's liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL, which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion, and at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Try a bottle of VINOL with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

ELKO

(By Fred Roo.)

The toad under the harrow knows
Exactly where each tooth point goes
But the butterfly on the road
Preaches contentment to that toad.

R. St. Clair, of the C.P.R. land department, Cranbrook, was visiting the Tobacco Plains country the last week. Driving round by Roosville he mistook a patch of Roosville's rosy red rhubarb for palm trees.

D. J. Elmer, advance agent for the David Harum Smokers Joy company, was in the best town on the Crow this week.

Eureka, the county town of Lincoln County, Montana, situated on Tobacco Plains, south of Roosville, will put up the biggest celebration ever held in Lincoln county or the whole State of Montana. There will be two days of fun and frolic. An excursion train will run from Elko and return. The new race track will be opened and some classy races will be run. Tod Sloan won't ride, but there will be others just as good.

Frank Allen drove into Elko from Passburg, Sunny Alberta, last week and said the fall wheat was heading out and that the ranchers would be throwing gold eagles at champagne corks this fall.

Mr. C. E. Ayre, wife and Miss Muriel left Sunday to attend the wedding of Mrs. Ayre's youngest sister at Revelstoke.

Colonel Pyne, of Baynes Lake, was an Elko visitor this week.

James Taylor, wife and family, arrived in Elko this week from Aberdeen, Scotland, visiting the Birnies.

Mr. Taylor is war correspondent for the Aberdeen Family Herald.

Women hate to be surprised. They don't get time to crimp the r hair or wash the back of their necks.

The Cranbrook Entertainer got the contract for printing the second edition of the Swampers Guide or the Bull Cook's road to Success. It will make more interesting reading than bigger ads and make your blood curdle like Dutch cheese.

There are seven more stores going up in Elko, also a codfish jelly factory. Elko sure looks as pretty as a Christmas tree to the travelling public, especially those in search of health, wealth or pleasure.

Mrs. Holbrook expects to move into her new department store for Dominion Day. The young people are looking forward to a big dance before then.

C. C. Snowdon, of the Standard Oil company, of Calgary, and W. E. Worden, his Cranbrook agent, were in Elko last week looking for a site to build a storage that will supply the whole of the Kootenays.

J. P. Fink, the Cranbrook wholesaler, was in Elko this week drumming up business. Jake says when they are ready for business they will make the other wholesale houses appeal for business sound like a tin solo at a charivari.

The Beattie-Murphy company are making great improvements at the Elko Drug Hall. Pake, "the business manager," is putting in a musical soda fountain, with an umbrella display on the top, and visitors to Elko will be able to get bronx cocktails with real live orange juice in them. The only look in Fred Roo will get will be to supply the oranges, while Pake will look live a pleasure excursion.

George Carter, the "Robin Hood" of Moose Jaw, was in Elko this week doing business.

The greatest sight in B. C. is the Elk River canyon, while Elko is the best town on the Crow.

FERNIE

(From the Free Press.)

There has been no funeral in Fernie for four weeks.

The city offers a reward of fifty dollars for information that will lead to the conviction of the person or persons who have been ringing in false alarms to the fire hall.

The school board met on Monday night and engaged two teachers for the fall term, subject to favorable reports from inspectors. Miss Margaret Nicholson, a graduate of a Nova Scotia college, will be offered a position.

During his recent visit in the east the Hon. W. R. Ross received many valuable pointers on forest protection from the Ontario Forestry department. Many changes in the forest policy of this province may be expected after the next session of the legislature.

Before Magistrate Alexander on Tuesday, Andy Good, of Crow's Nest was fined two hundred dollars and costs for selling liquor during prohibited hours. Mr. Good pleaded guilty, stating that he had learned that the breaches of the Liquor Act had been committed, although he had given strict orders to his bartenders that no patrons should be served during prohibited hours. The costs amounted to forty-one dollars.

Pat Whelan, who hands you the pen at the Napanee hotel, wears a ring that has no duplicate in Canada and but few in the world. The setting is a large deep sea amethyst, of pale sea green hue and of marvellous beauty. The stone was picked up on the sea shore at Crescent Beach, California. Only three or four of these stones have been found and they are supposed to be derived from fossilized ambergris.

There is one medicine that every family should be provided with and especially during the summer months, viz: Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed. It costs but a quarter. Can you afford to be without it? For sale by all dealers. 15-tf

WASA

(Special correspondence).

Mr. and Mrs. G. Erickson, of Cranbrook, Mrs. Donohue and N. Hanson went to Golden in Mr. Hanson's automobile and returned here the end of last week. The start was made from here at 8 o'clock a.m. and they were in Golden the same day at 6 p.m., which is a record run and demonstrates the high qualities of the Buick car. All of the party were well pleased with the trip.

Sunday last Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Misses B. Harrison and E. Prest and Mr. C. McCowan drove out from Cranbrook in Mr. Wilson's car.

Misses Madge and Marion Robertson, of Cranbrook, spent the week end here and returned in Mr. Hanson's auto on Monday.

D. Wilson, the Winnipeg real estate man, spent several days looking over some timber holdings in the Canal Flats country.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Stringer, of Calgary, were passengers on the stage from Golden last week. They registered at the Wasa hotel.

Quite a number of land and home seekers come through here every week and it is satisfactory to hear the words of praise they all have for the climate, scenery and general conditions of this district. That is the greatest advertisement possible.

There was a sudden rise of the Kootenay the end of last week and everybody anticipated getting wet feet, but the change in the weather caused the water to drop back considerable. About four miles from here the C.P.R. company has a boom strung across the river to hold the logs from Skockumchuk.

The fruit trees in Mr. Hanson's orchard are looking better than any previous year. The trees have passed the danger of frosts and the outlook is for a very large apple crop.

W. S. Santo, who, since he sold his ranch at Thunder Hill has been staying here with his family, left Friday last on an extended trip east. They expect to be gone about three weeks. After having looked about for a suitable place to settle down, Mr. Santo before leaving made the statement that after all he had seen nothing looked as good as this country and that upon their return from the east they intend to make Cranbrook their future home.

Geo. Watson, chief fire warden for this district, has promised us efficient fire ranging service and it is satisfactory to note that the fire wardens are already at the posts. Mr. Tisdale, who has the patrol of the Skookumchuk side of the river and J. Anderson, who's range is towards Mud creek, visited their respective districts last week. The fire wardens are thoroughly impressed with what has already been pointed out that they are employed for the purpose of preventing the outbreak of fires rather than fighting bush fires. If the service has this at heart and instructions are carried out, there is little danger of serious damage from spreading fires.

Government Road Foreman John Reid was a Wasa visitor last week. He inspected the repair work now being made on the road between here and Mud creek.

H. E. Foster, of Wilmer, was registered at the Wasa hotel the end of last week. Mr. Foster reports great activity in land around Wilmer and the arrival of many new settlers. Land values are steadily increasing and much outside money brought into the country.

N. Johnson and J. Nelson went up to their claims at Skookumchuk to commence work on their property.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Staples and Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Davis, of Wycliffe, were guests at Wasa hotel for the week end.

A. C. Bowness, of Cranbrook, and party automobiled out on Sunday.

Wm. French, of "The Grange" was here on business the end of last week.

Hon. Thos. Taylor, minister of public works, Thos. Caven, M.P.P. and John Reid came out with P. Matheson in the Cranbrook Garage company's car Sunday last.

Several parties from Cranbrook and elsewhere took advantage of last Sunday's exceedingly fine weather and journeyed out here to spend the day.

P. Matheson, of the Cranbrook Garage company, was out here with a party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Thompson, of Cranbrook, Mrs. Thos. Thompson and Mrs. Wm. Lane, of Toronto.

Mr. G. Erickson, of Cranbrook, was a Wasa visitor Monday last.

The C.P.R. log boom about four miles from here broke suddenly early on Tuesday morning and over three million feet of logs made their way down the river. For a time fear was felt for the bridge at Fort Steele, but the quick action of Mr. Erickson in sending a number of men to clear the jam averted the danger.

WARDNER

(Special correspondence).

James Downey was in Cranbrook Tuesday last to see the doctor. Jim is laid off with a sore side.

Mr. W. W. Douglass, of Taber, Alta., accompanied by his father, Senator Douglas, was in town Thursday.

Mr. R. A. Green, accompanied by his wife, left for his new post, High River, Alta., on Saturday last.

Mr. Rutherford succeeds Mr. R. A. Green as C.P.R. agent at Wardner.

Mr. Patrick, of Cranbrook, accompanied by Messrs. Bohart and Smith, of Wardner, motored to Waldo last week in Mr. Patrick's auto.

The Flyer was delayed here about two hours Thursday night last. A broken box on the engine and in consequence it had to wait until another one came from Cranbrook.

Police Constable Adney was in Cranbrook Friday.

The dance given by the young men of Wardner in the Library hall Friday night last was a big success. Much credit is due the decorative committee, and the Cranbrook orchestra, for the excellent music.

Miss Irene McKee, of Elko, spent Friday last in town, a guest of Mrs. R. A. Green.

Miss Holbcook, of Elko, was in town Friday for the dance.

Mr. H. Praty, of Lethbridge, manager of the Farmers Lumber company, was a visitor in town Sunday.

Mr. Arthur Lund is home on a visit.

Mr. R. H. Bohart was a Cranbrook visitor Monday.

Mr. Fred Burgess has severed his connection with the C.N.P.L. company office staff, and left for Cranbrook Saturday. Good luck to you Fred wherever you go.

The ball game on the park Saturday evening between Moyie and Wardner resulted in a win for Wardner. Score eleven to eight.

Police Constable Adney took a young man named Quirk to Cranbrook Monday. He had been acting strangely.

The C.N.P.L. company have commenced the building of a nice cottage for Mr. Murray.

Mr. Embree and children went to Jaffray on Tuesday's local.

Mr. John Martin was a visitor in town Tuesday.

Mr. Nels Anderson went to Cranbrook Tuesday.

Mrs. Skead and Neily were Cranbrook visitors Tuesday.

The Kootenay is going some this week.

BULL RIVER FALLS

(Special correspondence)

Prof. Richardson and John Kelly were at camp last Tuesday. The professor was looking after the iron claim up the river.

Mr. Green, of the C.P.R. depot, and wife, and another couple drove from Wardner last Thursday, viewing the sights.

One of the laborers at the C.P.R. camp met with an accident by being cut in the leg by a fellow workman, and was taken to the hospital last Wednesday.

The C.P.R. have a gang of men at work building a chute at the end of the large flume, preparatory to running the ties from up the river through the flume, into the river two hundred and fifty-three feet from the end of the flume.

H. H. Henderson, D. S. Ginter, Chas. Engles and Robt. Henderson drove to William Jones' ranch last Sunday, spending a pleasant day, and feasting on fresh buttermilk.

Mrs. Babb, formerly of this camp, but now a resident of Fort Steele, is visiting us for a few days enjoying the association of friends.

FAIR RATES

The flights made by Strobel's airship at the Calgary exhibition 1908 undoubtedly created a sensation. The first appearance of the airship was on the first of July, when it headed the procession to the exhibition grounds. In 1908 the airship was a great novelty, but the latest means of transportation today is by means of an aeroplane or heavier than air machine. At a very great expense the directors of the Calgary Industrial exhibition have arranged for the flights of Strobel's airship will daily for the forthcoming exhibition at Calgary, June 20th to July 7th.

Strobel's aeroplanes have experienced pheonomenal success, and have made some of the most thrilling flights yet made with heavier than air machines. Those who witnessed the flights pf Strobel's airship will realize that he will also make good with the aeroplane. Mr. Strobel's machine has a sweep of thirty feet and will be under canvas for the inspection of visitors to the exhibiton prior to and after each flight.

The aeroplane flights, together with the mono-rail demonstration, pictures of the coronation, grand display of fireworks and other special features, will provide entertainment for visitors to the exhibition after they have inspected the splendid displays of live stock and industrial exhibits.

There will be reduced passenger rates to the exhibition. Prize lists and other information may be obtained from E. L. Richardson, manager, Victoria Park, Calgary.

AS PERFECT AS FLOUR CAN BE

Here it is—watch for the name!

This is the flour you have been looking for. It is SEAL OF ALBERTA—the flour that experience has demonstrated to be faultless.

You can test this for yourself. Buy a sack of SEAL OF ALBERTA. Use some of it for baking your next batch of bread.

You may note these features about SEAL OF ALBERTA—It will absorb just a little more water—It will make a larger loaf—it will be better shaped—It will be beautifully rounded, neither falling over the edge of the pan nor flattening out on top. It will be lighter, sweeter, better bread.

Then test it. Make any comparisons you like. Consider color, texture, appearance. You will find every word we have said to be true. SEAL OF ALBERTA is not only different—It's better.

BEAUTIFUL CRANBROOL

It only requires a little business common sense to fortell with accuracy the ultimate destiny of Cranbrook. Consider the progress already made and compare it with the other cities and towns in the Kootenays. Its growth has been steady and permanent. Each year marks more and better improvements, and after the sewerage system is installed there will not be a more progressive or a more delightful place in the province in which to live. That Cranbrook is commanding widespread attention on the outside is evidenced by the publicity which it receives. Even the official publications devote a great deal of space to this particular section, as will be seen from the following extract taken from the official bulletin No. 26 recently issued by authority of the legislative assembly of British Columbia:

"Cranbrook is the natural centre, geographically and otherwise, of South East Kootenay. Tributary to the town, there are twenty-five saw mills, with a capacity of one million feet of lumber per day, and six large factories, at which are made all kinds of moulding, sashes, doors, etc. These thirty-one industries employ sixteen hundred people and the payroll amounts to fifty thousand dollars a month. Cranbrook is also a divisional point on the Canadian Pacific railway, and the payroll amounts to about sixty thousand dollars per month. The Kootenay Central railway, which is now being constructed, will open for settlement all the land in the valley north of Cranbrook. It will also greatly assist the mining industry. There are several mines along the Kootenay and Columbia rivers, partially developed, and now waiting for transportation. Cranbrook has a population of four thousand; has five churches, three banks, a large Y.M.C.A. building, good hotels and mercantile establishments, also good electric light and water system. Cranbrook has an excellent climate."

EDITORIAL NOTES

All roads lead to Cranbrook.

Welcome to the I.O.O.F. grand lodge.

Motto for a hotelkeeper: Every crowd has a silver lining.

All roads lead to Cranbrook. If you don't believe this just investigate it for yourself.

Fully fifty per cent of Cranbrook's business men and laboring men own tracts of land near town.

The sewerage contract is let. Now there is nothing to do but to get in and dig.

The visiting delegates to the I.O.O.F. grand lodge are delighted with Cranbrook.

luxury. Winter feeding is the extarded by the cold rains in May, is now coming to the front nicely.

Saloon men in Kansas will breathe easier now. Carrie Nation is dead and the hatchet is buried.

The straw hat crop, which was retarded by the cold rains in May, is now coming to the front nicely.

While they are going crazy with the heat back east we are enjoying life to the fullest out in this salubrious climate.

Meet a man or a boy on the streets of Cranbrook any of these days whistling, and dollars to doughnuts the tune is "Casey Jones."

The Calgary Albertan says that a Medicine Hatter's idea of heaven is a place with C.P.R. shops on every corner.

Depend upon this: the man who has never made a mistake has never made anything else worth a dam.—The Philistine.

Edmonton was without drinking water for several days, but no deaths were reported. Edmonton has three breweries, you know.

This is the season of the year when the preacher makes a hit with his congregation by cutting his Sunday evening sermons short.

We would rather be running the B. C. Gazette than any publication in the province that we know of. A recent issue contained 191 pages, and all advertising.

A popular soprano it said to have a voice of fine timbre, a willowy figure, cherry lips, chestnut hair and hazel eyes. She must have been raised in the lumber regions.

Three banks in Cranbrook have large working staffs and do a big business. Another indication that Cranbrook is the financial center for a large district.

Fruit growing in this district is no longer in the experimental stage. The country can show the goods. This is why the demand for fruit lands around Cranbrook is growing by leaps and bounds.

The speed mania shows no signs of abatement. Indianapolis had another auto race, in which a man was killed and six injured. Human life is held cheap when it comes to motor contests and aviation.

No, Silas, that weird sound that you heard while in town from the farm the other day was not the wail of a lost soul as you thought. We are more inclined to believe that what you heard was the horn of J. D. McBride's automobile.

John L. Sullivan says we are more in need of free public laundries than we are of free public libraries. He says: "Ever think how many poor women go broke physically over the washtub? Thousands of them. Every week they have to go through this stunt that would put a fighter to bed if it was part of his training, and they do it year after year. If this hardship was cut out of every poor woman's life there would not be so many children born cripples and tossed young into the gutters as orphans. It's a killing job, this washtub turn, to say nothing of the side plays that go with it."

Sensational press dispatches and fake advertising have done incalculable harm to new mining camps. The first reports from the Portland canal district told of a mountain of gold. The ledge was two miles wide and could be traced for thirty miles. Subsequent developments of course proved the absurdity of these statements. The camp, however, is coming out all right and some very good propecties are being opened up. Now some wild stories are being sent out about the Steamboat Mountain camp. One is to the effect that "since the bushes have been cleared away, it has been necessary to employ guards to keep intruders from picking up and appropriating small nuggets."

CHINOOKERS

(Spokesman-Review.)

It was the jokesmith—not a carpenter—who said. "Never be satisfied with your lot—build a house thereon."

Other men who write for a living may search through the dictionary for the right word if they choose, but as for the sporting editor, "biff" or "bingle" makes just as much of a "hit."

There may be a lot of highbrow musical notions afloat in a great city, but I notice that ragtime and barber shop chords nearly always get an encore.

You can still read a little about Jim Jeffries, but where on earth is "Doc" Cook?

Some men with nerve enough to fire the hired girl can't say "No, I'm not drinking anything."

We have "Mother's Day," "Daughter's Day," "Boy's Day" and "Doomsday," but the only day "Dad" has is pay day.

Smokers who are and always have been satisfied with a Missouri cob and a package of B. D. are wondering how they will be benefited by the attack on the tobacco trust.

Social note: President Taft's cow is visiting the Wisconsin dairy exhibit.

Nat Goodwin said he was never going to marry again, but that was three weeks ago.

Pastors are rapidly learning the value of advertising. Nowadays the best campmeeting ground is located near a lake, where the fishing is good.

JIM WARDNER

When Jim Wardner was living he was the greatest townsite boomer of his time. He made famous the phrase "Keep Your Eye on Pasco," and perpetuated his name by having two towns named after himself, Wardner, Idaho, and Wardner, B. C. As a story teller he was par excellence. Here is a fair sample culled from an inrerview which he had with an eastern newspaper some years ago:

"Out in Kaslo, British Columbia, Wardner supported a church, paying the pastor's salary and other expenses. Soon thereafter Wardner lost all his money in a mine in Washington. He communicated the fact to the clergyman and advised him to resign his charge and accept a place as chaplain in a western penitentiary. This the minister did not want to do, but Wardner insisted and some months later sent to the members of the congregation a letter over the pastor's signature reading as follows:

"'Brothers and Sisters. I write to say goodbye. I don't believe God loves this church because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me, because you do not pay me my salary. Your donations are mouldy fruit and wormy apples, 'by their fruit ye shall know them.'

"'Brothers, I am going to a better place—I have been called to be a chaplain of a penitentiary. Where I go ye cannot now...come. I go to prepare a place for you, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls."

CORONATION DAY

By proclamation appearing in the current issue of the provincial Gazette, Thursday, the 22nd instant, being the day of His Majesty's coronation, is declared a public holiday to be observed with general thanksgiving and rejoicing throughout the Dominion of Canada. A communication to his excellency, the governor-general from Downing street, is also conspicuously displayed in which his excellency is asked to acquaint his ministers throughout Canada of the fact that His Majesty the King has decided that the Royal Standard, being the personal flag of the sovereign, is not in future to be flown except when and where His Majesty is personally present.

Dan McDonald Returns

Dan McDonald, one of the old timers of the Kootenays, and for several years proprietor of the Manitoba hotel, dropped in unexpectedly on his Cranbrook friends last Friday. He will remain in Cranbrook for at least a month. Mr. McDonald has been located in Detroit, Michigan, for some time and is interested in a firm that manufactures engine parts for automobiles. The factory employs from eighty to one hundred men. Detroit is becoming a great manufacturing point for motor cars, and the product turned out by that city last year was valued at one hundred and thirty millions of dollars. With so many working men in Detroit one would naturally expect labor troubles occasionally, but Mr. McDonald says there are none, and that he never met a better satisfied lot of men in his life. Mr. McDonald has completely recovered his health, and is now feeling fine. He weighs more now than he has for ten years. While he has all the comforts in the east a man could wish for, he admits that there is a fascination in the west that is hard to get away from.

VanWormer Sells Land

C. M. VanWormer, a former business man of Cranbrook, but now in the real estate business at Great Falls, Mont., was here a few days ago and closed a deal for the sale of his one hundred and seventy-five acre farm six miles north of Cranbrook on the Wycliffe road. The purchaser is James E. Splaine, of Great Falls, and he intends to move on his place at once and begin making improvements. Mr. VanWormer was glad to get back to Cranbrook and spend a day or two with his many friends. He says that Cranbrook is the best town he ever did business in.

Elmer Gives Cup

Dave Elmer, reprerenting the David Harum Cigar company, who was in town on Wednesday, has promised the town of Creston a solid silver cup on behalf of the makers of the popular brand of cigars. The conditions that he imposes are that a series of games be arranged between the single and married men of Creston at baseball, that seven games be played, and that the team gaining the highest aggregate of points for the year holds the cup. The team winning the cup two consecutive years will become holders for all time. Mr. Elmer suggests that a committee of one be seleceed from each side to arrange the details, and that they be assisted by an outsider.

The generous offer from Mr. Elmer is greatly appreciated by the local supporters of the popular game, and the David Harum series of games will be eagerly looked for.—Creston Echo.

Plans Are Accepted

City Clerk Roberts has received a letter from Dr. Fagan, provincial health officer, stating that the plans for the new sewerage system in Cranbrook met with his approval in every particular and that he took pleasure in placing his sanction on them. Work on installing the new sewerage system will probably commence about July first.

Bulkley and Nechaco Valleys

Messrs. Weir and White, two experts recently sent out by the department of agriculture, to make a comprehensive study of the agricultural and horticultural conditions in the valleys of the northern coast, have reported their safe arrival in Hazelton, and are now outfitting for the season's work. They report a large number of settlers alleady going into the Bulkley and Nechaco valleys by way of Hazelton, the majority of the newcomers being men experienced in the cultivation of lands, and bringing their wives and families with them.

Junction at Yahk

Curzon Junction is no more. Yahk, two miles east of the old junction, is now the point where the Sco-Spokane trains leave the Crows Nest line for the south. J. J. Cory, station agent at Curzon Junction, has been moved to Yahk, and all railway business in future will be transacted at the latter place. This will make Yahk a busy spot. A large amount of money has been expended by the C.P.R. in making this change. It meant the building of two miles of track and the putting in of several side tracks.

First Aid Work

First aid to the injured is a very important thing for everyone to know, and serious efforts are being made to make it generally known especially among those whose duties frequently place them in a position to render it when required. Seattle policemen are now supplied with outfits for giving first aid to sufferers from accident and sudden illness. Each has an emergency or first aid dressing package of the kind provided the soldiers in the army. The package is neat and handy, and fits conveniently into the policeman's pocket. It contains a tourniquet for stopping hemorrhages, bandages and other simple appliances, together with printed instrucctions. The policemen are instructed and drilled in the use of these things, and it is believed that their being able to use them quickly and intelligently, will be the means of saving many lives that would otherwise be lost.

"THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE."

The gorgeous musical extravaganza "The Cat and the Fiddle," which for the past four seasons has been such a whirlwind success will be the attraction at the opera house for one night, Wednesday, June 21st.

A company of some forty singers, dancers, comedians and a large and carefully drilled and beautifully gowned chorus are included. The plot is taken and founded on the favorite old nursery rhyme "Hey Diddle Diddle, the Cat and the Fiddle," elaborated upon, and worked out by deft touches into a fine big musical comedy extravaganza, just the sort that is a delight to our theatre-goers on account of its breeziness.

There are many new big song hits, and musical and dancing numbers by the famous beauty chorus, all of which have delighted thousands so that they are now on the musical programs of every band and orchestra concert in the country, and include "My Maid in the Moon," "Mother Goose's Dolls" and the successes of last season, "1822," "Rosy Dreams," "I've Never Been Introduced to You," "In the Shadow of an Old Date Tree."

The cast of principals here, many of whom are well known, include Harry B. Watson, the Boylans, Rose and Arthur, Narty Martz, J. O. Campbell, Geo. E. Wakefield, the Gotthard Bros., Claude Lucas and a host of others.

Columbia-Kootenay Valley

Descriptive Article by F. J. Clarke, Secretary, Bureau of Provincial Information

MINERAL RESOURCES.

The mineral wealth of the Columbia-Kootenay valley may be likened to a book with most of its pages still uncut, some just glanced at and a few perused and turned down for future reference. Dipped into here and there, its excellencies are recognised, but much time will elapse before their extent is fully grasped or their possibilities understood. Still it cannot be said that mining has been wholly neglected, for ever since 1863, when placer gold was discovered on Wild Horse creek, near Fort Steele, prospectors have been at work, some promising mines have been more or less developed, the existence of valuable ore-bodies of large extent has been proved, but there is opportunity for much more to be done in a mineralized area of seven thousand square miles. The Wild Horse Creek placers gave profitable employment to five thousand men for some years, and, after producing several million dollars, were abandoned to the Chinese, who were satisfied with more modest earnings. Finally hydraulic mining was introduced with variable success—the output of placer gold in 1909 being only one hundred and fifty ounces.

Considering the absence of means of transportation, a handicap under which the industry has languished, promising results have been achieved in several instances. In 1888, prospectors invaded the Golden and Windermere districts and located over a hundred claims, but beyond "assessment work" very little was accomplished. In 1893 the North Star mine was established, near Kimberley, in the Fort Steele district. This was followed by the opening of the St. Eugene and Sullivan mines in the same district in 1895. These three mines were developed systematically and contributed largely to the silver and lead production of the province, much of their success being attributable to the fact that they had rail way connection.

Many prospects show good bodies of ore carrying gold, silver, copper, and lead, in some instances smelter tests and assays giving high values in one or more of these metals—quite enough to tempt capital were transportation made easy. It is a notable fact that the greater number of these claims are on the eastern slope of the valley, in a formation largely composed of quartzites, talcose schists, slates, shales and crystalline limestone, while farther north in the Windermere district the mineral deposits are found in an almost identical formation on the opposite side of the valley on the eastern slope of the Selkirk range. The mineral-bearing zone apparently crosses the valley diagonally about midway of its length, as the rock formations of the eastern slope change from Canal Flats northward, being chiefly composed of dolomitic limestones interbedded with shales, slates, and sandstones, a combination which does not appeal to the British Columbian prospector, as it is invariably barren.

WINDERMERE DIVISION.

In the Windermere division there are several mineral belts on the east slope of the Selkirk mountains, between Findlay creek and Salmon river, which have been partly prospected with promising results. In this mineral area, which includes over one thousand square miles, a large number of outcrops of argentiferous galena have been found carrying values in silver and lead. Where these prospects have been developed, smelter returns show values of forty to seventy ounces of silver and forty to sixty per cent of lead, with small give additional values in gold and ores. In several instances assays give additional values n gold and copper. The gold is usually found in association with iron-sulphides, and the copper occurs in grey copper and pyrites.

In past years substantial work was done on several properties, a few having advanced to the shipping stage, in spite of the difficulties and high cost of transportation; but these experiments were so hampered by inconvenience and expense that they were abandoned, and the mine-owners are now confining their efforts to actually necessary work, deferring further expenditure on development until the advent of the railway.

Some of the principal claims which have been partially developed are: The Paradise mine on Spring creek, a tributary of Toby creek, twenty miles from Wilmer. In 1903 it was estimated that there were fifty thousand tons of ore in sight on this property. About six thousand tons were mined, of which one thousand six hundred were shipped to the smelter and gave returns of fifty ounces of silver and sixty per cent lead per ton. The rest of the dump was estimated to run thirty-five ounces silver and thirty-five to forty per cent lead. Over three thousand six hundred feet of underground work had been done up to 1903, and the mine was well equipped with machinery and buildings, but no further work has been done.

The Ptarmigan mine, McDonald creek, a branch of Horsethief creek—Over three thousand feet of underground work has been done on this property. Small selected shipments have given returns of: Copper, 4.1 per cent; silver, 237 ounces; and gold, 0.41 ounces per ton. The company built an aerial tramway dropping two thousand feet in a distance of seven thousand five hundred and fifty-five feet; a wagon road from Wilmer, twenty-seven miles; an air compressor, sawmill, and several buildings, and installed a large quantity of mining machinery.

A great many claims have been staked in this division, and sufficient work has been done on some of them to demonstrate their possibilities. Drifts, tunnels, and crosscuts in many cases reveal promising ore-bodies, good enough to justify more exploratory work. In fact, there are some prospects which might possibly "pay their way from the grass roots" if the ore won in exploration could be shipped to a smelter. These claims are located principally on Findlay creek, Paradise basin, Spring creek, Toby creek and its forks, Dutch creek, Boulder creek, Low creek, McDonald creek, Horsethief creek, Copper creek and No. 3 creek.

GOLDEN DIVISION.

The Golden mining division includes the portion of the valley between Horsethief creek and Golden. Many claims were taken up in this division in the early days of lode-mining, but few have ever advanced from the prospect stage. The favorite prospecting ground appears to have been the Jubilee and Spillimacheen mountains, near the junction of the Columbia and Spillimacheen rivers. Several claims were also recorded on Bugaboo creek, French mountain, Middle Fork of the Spillimacheen, Copper creek, Caribou basin, Bobby Burns basin, Middle Fork, International basin, and McMurdo creek. Considerable work has been done on the mine, on Spillimacheen mountain, exposing a large body of barytes impregnated with galena, together with some arsenic, zinc, and antimony-sulphides, a very refractory ore, which it has been found impossible to treat economically in the company's mill.

The bulk of the ores in this division, however, carry principally galena and iron-sulphides, although many owners have been led astray by small showings of free gold where the sulphides have been oxidized by exposure. In many instances the veins are strong and appear continuous, and are therefore well worth developing for the gold contained in the sulphides, which assay as high as twenty dollars gold to the ton. Mining in this division, as in the rest of the valley, is practically at a standstill owing to lack of shipping facilities.

North of Golden several discoveries of minerals have been reported, notably some remarkable finds of mica, but owing to the difficulties of travel nothing has been done to verify them or turn them to account.

A PROMISING FIELD.

British Columbia, the mineral province of Canada, with all her undeveloped mineral wealth, possesses few, if any, mining districts more worthy of examination than those of the Columbia-Kootenay valley. The deposits are, as a rule, not difficult of access, prospecting, by comparison with other districts, is easy, and the climate and scenery are very attractive. Ten, or even five, years ago it would have been an unfriendly act to advise men to seek fortun? in this valley—the time was not ripe—but now, with the long-promised railway under construction, and the word of a great corporation pledged to complete it without unnecessary delay, the tide is at the flood, inviting those willing to embark in an enterprise which promises rich rewards for careful, conscientious work.

With a railway traversing the valley, the nearness of the Crows Nest coal mines should be a strong incentive to mining development. These mines, situated in the heart of the most extensive coal measures in the world, are producing close to a million tons of coal annually, but their capacity is practically unlimited. If smelters were established in the valley they would only have to haul their coal and coke supply one hundred and fifty miles, taking the distance from Fernie to Windermere as an average, an advantage of about one hundred miles over the smelters in West Kootenay. On the other hand, until development has established the existence of ore-bodies of sufficient extent and value to warrant the installation of smelting works, the railway would enable mine owners to ship to outside smelters ore which would yield a profit over and above cost of mining, transportation and smelting.

LIVE STOCK.

The conditions for horse, cattle, sheep and swine breeding are unsurpassed, the rich bottom lands, the benches, foothills, and mountain-slopes affording endless pasturage; while in the high altitudes there are numerous small mountain, or glacial, meadows, carpeted with lush, rich grasses—splendid feed for dairy cattle. In Norway, Sweden and Switzerland, the dairy herds are driven up the heights to similar meadows in the early spring and remain there all summer, the cream and milk being made into bueter and cheese on the spot. There are many small herds of cattle in the valley, in which scrubs predominate, but a few settlers have imported pure breeds and are taking pains to secure good grades. The bulk of cattle are allowed to roam at large, without care; the cows are not milked, and their owners use the condensed article, which, on account of high freight rates, is an expensive ception, many owners not even providing winter fodder, but allowing the cattle to pick up what they can during the cold season; the herds that are given shelter and food, however, show the good effects of such treatment in their sleek spring coats and greater size and weight. Range cattle sell for thr?e and a half to five cents per pound, live weight, dairy cows, fifty dollars to seventy-five dollars each.

There is not room for the slightest doubt that both cattle and horses can find food for themselves at all seasons. The existence of hundreds of wild horses is ample proof of this fact. These animals, running in bands numbering from ten or twenty up into the hundreds, make their home in the foothills and are always in prime condition. They are very troublesome to the ranchers, as the stallions entice away the young mares, and often the wild bands raid cultivated fields, doing considerable damage. At the written request of five or more owners of horses, the government agent of a district is authorized by statute to grant a license for the shooting of wild horses. In Montana and other States, the capture and breaking of wild horses is a regular and profitable business, and the example might be followed with advantage in British Columbia.

AN IDEAL LIFE.

Several thoroughbred stallions are owned in the valley, there being a manifest desire on the part of some of the ranchers to improve the strain of their studs. Captain Thorold, a retired officer of the British army, who wandered into the valley on a hunting trip six years ago, was so impressed by the beauty of the country that he returned with a band of ponies which he wintered on Dutch creek, and finally bought some land and settled down. After five years' residence Captain Thorold writes:

"I consider the country an ideal place for any Englishman with a small income who is fond of sport. There is capital bear hunting in the spring, and the season opens again on September 1st for deer; sheep, goats, etc. The only slack time is in the summer months, and if we only had a few more men we could play polo, as here it would be quite an inexpensive game and well within the reach of those with only moderate means.

"Personally, I am engaged in raising horses, and having a good thoroughbred stallion, which I got from Australia last year, hope to breed polo-ponies from the native mares of this country.

"In this way I expect to make my ranch self-supporting, and having no occupation at home it gives me great interest, and is at the same time a very healthy pursuit and a good change from England, which country one enjoys a great deal more from having been away. I may add that I have put in two winters here very pleasantly, and there is plenty of occupation for any active-minded person—he will not find the winters long nor be afraid of suffering any hardships from the cold."

Thus horse raising may be made a very pleasant and profitable occupation. The demand for horses throughout Wettern Canada is very great, and prices are high, roadsters selling for one hundred and seventy-five dollart to two hundred and fifty dollars, farm horses one hundred and fifty to two hundred and fifty, and heavy draught two hundred and fifty dollars to four hundred dollars a head.

SHEEP, SWINE AND POULTRY.

Every rancher should have his small herd of sheep, a drove of swine, and flocks of fowl. They are easily raised, and are sure money makers. Sheep sell for six and a half cents per pound, live weight; lambs, four dollars to six dollars each; wool, thirteen cents per pound; and hogs, six and a half cents to seven and a half cents. Poultry of all kinds is scarce and very much in demand at all seasons. Chickens bring twenty cents per pound, live weight; geese and ducks about the same; and turkeys twenty-five cents up to thirty cents per pound. Eggs sell readily at thirty-five to fifty cents per dozen.

FISHING AND SHOOTING.

(By A. Bryan Williams, Chief Game Warden).

The Columbia-Kootenay valley offers exceptional opportunities to the sportsman; not only is excellent fishing obtainable, but in addition to ducks, geese, grouse, and prairie chickens, there is a greater variety of big game than in any other part of the province; and, furthermore, the weather conditions during the shooting season are generally ideal. Another great advantage the district has to offer is that it is easy of access. The main line of the C.P.R. passes pretty well through the center of it, so that in a few days' travel some of the best parts of the country can be reached; to a man whose time is limited this is a matter of importance.

The Columbia river itself contains many true trout, though the Dolly Varden, or char, can be taken up to three or four pounds with a minnow; while the Windermere lake, by trolling, fish running up to fifteen or sixteen pounds are sometimes caught. The same remark applies to most of the streams running into the Columbia. There are many lakes between Golden and Windermere where good trout fishing can be had, and the Kootenay river and some of its tributaries contain the cut-throat trout in numbers, running from three-quarter pound up to four pounds in weight. The cut-throat will take the fly.

From September first, when the hunting season opens, until the water is frozen, ducks and geese are numerous all up the Columbia. October is probably the best month.

Willow grouse are fairly plentiful in the bottom lands and blue grouse higher up in the mountains. The Franklin grouse, or fool hen, is very numerous, and, while not much as a sporting bird, furnishes a welcome addition to the larder. Prairie chickens are not very numerous, but a few can always be picked up in the grainfields.

Moose are increasing, but only one bull is allowed per man. The principal habitat is on the Kootenay and its tributaries.

Sheep are found in the Rockies. These sheep are the finest on the continent; they are still numerous, but owing to their living on the highest peaks nobody but an expert mountaineer can expect much success. Without doubt the Rocky Mountain big horn is the gamest animal on the continent, if not in the world, and the feat of bringing down a big ram is one a man may well be proud of. It can be done in the Kootenay, but to get them the main thing is a good guide and plenty of pluck and endurance.

Both black and grizzly bear are very plentiful. spring is the best to get them, generally about the first of May, when the snow first leaves the old snowslides. They can be got in the fall, but the skins are not generally in such prime condition.

Both white-tail and mule deer are numerous, the former being most plentiful from Golden to Spillimacheen.

Goat can be obtained almost anywhere, though there are more of these in the Selkirks than anywhere else.

Guides, horses, provisions, camping outfits, etc., can be obtained at any of the following points: Golden, Wilmer, Windermere, Athalmer or Cranbrook. Guides should be engaged as far as possible in advance. men who have more or less complete camping outfits and can supply pack-ponies and other requisites.

No special clothing is needed, the main thing is to have good easy boots; not too heavy, but capable of holding good nails. Very cold weather will not be met with, but the nights are generally frosty when high in the mountains, so plenty of blankets are advisable.

BE CAREFUL.

"In men whom men condemn as ill
I find so much of goodness still;
In men whom men pronounce divine,
I find so much of sin and blot;
I hesitate to draw a line,
Between the two—where God has not."

BREAKFAST FOOD.

"How do you like the new oatmeal soap?" inquired the barber, wielding the lather brush with ordinary freedom.

"Tastes nourishing," the customer replied, with a splutter, "but I've had my breakfast."

OLD COUNTRY NEWS

INTERESTING ITEMS

The coronation season is now in full swing, and the King and Queen are living in a perpetual whirl of social engagements and state functions. The most inecresting items on their crowded programme have been undoubtedly those connected with the entertainment of our prominent visitors from Oversea—the prime ministers and ministers of the Dominions. On a number of occasions have the nation's guests had the honor of meeting their King—at the royal courts, at the luncheon given to them at Buckingham Palace, and at functions the King has attended.

Mr. A. J. Balfour was the chief speaker at a great meeting at the Albert hall, London, in connection with the imperial preference campaign. He opened his speech by declaring that preference must be part of the imperial system. He was unable to see how, if they continued the present fiscal system, they could extricate themselves from the dilemma of either straining to breaking-point the commercial loyalty of the colonies or throwing their own system of commerce into hopeless confusion.

Addressing the girls of Queen's College, Harley street, W., the bishop of London spoke of the Queen's deep interest in social problems. On one occasion, he said, he accompanied the Queen in a tour through the Ghetto, and the street traders tried to sell articles to her as they would to any ordinary person.

A verdict of death from natural causes was returned at an inquest at Frindsbury, near Rochester, on Elizabetn Ann Marchant, aged eighty-three, an old age pensioner. The deceased had not washed for years, and her flesh was described by a medical witness as having become horny.

A famous old belfry from which the bells rang out for the wedding between Henry V. of England and Catherine, daughtet of Charles VI of France, has just fallen down in Troyes. The belfry, which was built in the thirteenth century, formed part of the church of St. Jean. It had been unsafe for some time, and its fall was expected. Over a thousand persons witnessed it at four o'clock in the morning. It toppled over and fell with a crash on a house opposite, where there is a bakery, and part of the ruins now cover the roof as with a hood.

The death has occurred in Gloucestershire of Dr. Edward Grace, the oldest of the Grace brothers, famous the world over as cricket players. Dr. Grace, who was seventy years old, had played cricket for nearly sixty years, and had scored seventy-six thousand seven hundred runs since he learned the game at ten years of age. He was at his best in 1863, when he took part in fifty games and obtained a total of three thousand and seventy-four runs.

Neither capital nor labor can afford to take any such position as that. In the scrupulous observation of contracts, which represent the results of collective bargaining, rests the only hope of industrial peace.—Winnipeg Free Press.

LATE AT CHURCH

A score os more of New York millionaires, including Mr. Pierpont Morgan, were roundly lectured by the rector of St. George's Episcopal church, New York, the other Sunday, for arriving late for divine service. The congregation of this church ranks as the richest in the metropolis.

Mounting the pulpit, the rector scanned the array of wealthy worshippers with a disapproving eye. Then, leaning forward, he observed, severely: "When I entered this church one minute before eleven o'clock not half the seats were filled. It is irreverent of you not to be in time. You should remember that eleven o'clock on Sunday morning is an appointment with God. I hope in future you will bear this in mind."

The rector followed the rebuke by a scathing sermon on "exclusive Christianity."

"I have been examining the pay rolls," he said, "of some of our great mills, and I find that the wages are too low. There should be no poor, for there is enough in this world for everyone. My friends, when the eye of God is upon you, you will be glad to throw money away. It is not right that some should have more than they want while others suffer. It must result harmfully for those who possess it.

"This exclusive Christianity is a parody, and yet," the clergyman added, with fervor, "you are saying to yourselves, 'I will not change it; I don't want to change it.' How would this pewed church appear in the sight of God? The day will come when all must pass before the All-seeing Eye. You will sum up the opportunities which were yours before, and you will say, 'Now I know.' But it will be too late."

HOBBLE SKIRTS

The hobble skirt is not so entirely a modern invention of fashion as might be expected. Ancient Jerusalem witnessed the hobble and in the Talmud is duly recorded the masculine comment. "The daughters of Sion on days of great feasts dressed very magnificently," reads the chronicle, and on particular occasions "they wore gowns so narrow and tight that they could only take the shortest steps." The reason for this was, adds the worthy book, "in order that they might give a longer time to the spectators to admire them."

A vase in Florence shows the design of a female figure wearing drapery that excels even the hobble skirt in tightness. So the hobble skirt was not confined ta Jerusalem in ancient times.

The modern revival must be taken, however, as only one of the signs that we are about to witness a change in women's dress.

For years reform has been advocated by women, advanced and otherwise. Unfortunately, only the most hideous forms of dress have been introduced as improvements. Bloomers and trousers are not, and never will be attractive to women no matter how they are disguised or altered.

The harem skirt, the directoire gown and the hobble skirt are the latest inventions of fashion to stand on trial. Many of the models are ludicrous and even dangerous to those who wear them.
