The above property recovered by the police was returned to the owners.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant.

Percy Adams,
Chief of Police.

FUR-FARMING IN B.C.

Two Prince Edward Island Companies to Raise Foxes in This Province

Vancouver, B.C., May 4.—Fur-farming, which has been carried on as a highly profitable idustry in Prince Edward Island and Quebec of recent years, is to become an industry in British Columbia. Two of the largest fur-farming companies in Prince Edward Island are now in communication with the game department, and have notified their intention of locating in the province. Scores of other game-farms and would-be fur-farmers are also writing for information.

This has largely been due to the discovery that the fox furs of the province grade very highly in crosses and silvers, which are the more valuable of the furs. Certain of the crossed foxes have a great value because by inbreeding it is possible to produce litters of black foxes. While pelts of the silver foxes bring $500 to $600 apiece, the rarer pelts of the black foxes are fired only by the demand on the London market at the time of sale. Some of them bring fabulous prices. The highest percentage of cross foxes from the Prince Edward Island fur farms is 17 per cent. Last year a consignment of pelts from the Telegraph Creek district showed over 50 per cent cross furs. Seventeen live foxes from the Telegraph Creek district were exported last year, one Indian receiving $1,200 for a beautiful pup of but a few weeks old. It is probable that the fur farms will chiefly locate in the vicinity of Telegraph Creek, states the chief game warden, who is conducting the negotiations.

Some of the fur-farms have already contracted to sell at high prices for breeding purposes, all their stock which they will purchase for three years ahead.

ATTENTION! CONSERVATIVES!

The Annual Meeting of the local Conservative Association will be held in the Committee Room on Hanson Avenue, on Tuesday evening, May 19th, at 8.30 p.m.

BANQUET AND DANCE AT WASA

Pleasant Program Outlined for Annual Meeting of Cranbrook District Automobile Association

The annual meeting of the Cranbrook District Automobile association is to be held at Wasa next Monday evening, May eleventh. Mr. W. H. Wilson, the secretary, has issued invitations to a large number to attend the meeting this year and he expects the association will have their record attendance this year, as ladies are invited to go along with the men. The Cranbrook orchestra *has been engaged and will be in at*tendance, and dancing is announced at 10 o'clock following the regular business meeting.

Mr. N. Hanson, with his usual open-handed generosity, has offered to again supply the banquet to the members of the association and their guests. It is proposed to leave the city between 3 and 4 p.m. and all auto owners are requested to have their cars on hand at the government building promptly at 3 o'clock as the association desires to secure a good picture to be used for advertising purposes.

There is no doubt but that there will be a large attendance this year on account of the very pleasant program outlined. Many will take advantage of this occasion to visit the picturesque little wayside resort at Wasa, where hospitality is the keynote of their existence. The association has met there on two previous years and the success of their past meetings augurs well for a record-breaking attendance this season.

The association has performed many services in its short history of three years for the auto owners of this district. Agitation along the line of good roads has had a beneficial effect and every effort for the final completion of a grand trunk automobile highway through Cranbrook from Creston and south to Spokane through to Banff and the great prairies on the north has been encouraged so far that its ultimate completion is only a matter of time and expediency.

The association has done much advertising for the city and district through its car owners, pennants, etc. and in various ways wherever local autoists have been visiting.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Mexico is not entirely devoid of a navy. In fact, she possesses seven fighting ships, possibly four or five transports, and, for harbor service, she has three old schooners built by that Laird firm which was responsible for the armed cruisers which gave the North so much trauble during our civil war. The largest vessels of her little fleet are two cruiser transports, the "General Guerrero" and the "Progresso." These are modern ships, the first built by Vickers, Maxim, in 1908, and the second by Odero, in 1907. The "General Guerrero" is a vessel of 1,880 tons, armed with six 4-inch guns and two 3-pounders. Her engines of 1,200 horsepower gave the ship a speed of 12 knots. The "Progresso," of 1,690 tons, is a single-screw ship of 14 knots, armed with four 4-inch rapid-fire guns.

Next to these in size are four gunboats. The "Bravo" and "Morales," built by Orlando, in 1903, are sister ships of 1,200 tons displacement, carrying a complement of 150 knots with 2,600 horse-power, and each is armed with two 4-inch rapid-fire guns, six 6-pounders, and with one 14-inch torpedo tube carried above the water line. These are twin-screw gunboats, and each carries about 200 tons of coal. The other two gunboats are the "Tampico" and the "Vera Cruz," built in 1902 at Elizabethport, New Jersey. Each is of 980 tons displacement, and the complement of officers and men is 98. They can steam 16 knots with 2,400 horse-power, and the armament consists of two 4-inch rapid fire guns and six 6-pounders, with one 14-inch torpedo tube in the bow above the water.

The other vessels are obsolete, the most important being the "Zaragoza," built in 1891, and rebuilt in 1910. She is 1,200 tons displacement and steams at a speed of 15.5 knots. Her armament consists of six 4.7-inch rapid-fire, Schneider-Canet guns. The *navy is also credited with a trans*port, the "Oaxaco," and possibly three or four others. The harbor service vessels are quite negligible, being nearly forty years old.—Scientific American.

MARRIED

William Christopher Crebbin and Miss Jane Parnaby were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Monday, May 4th, 1914, at 8 a.m., at Christ church by Rev. E. P. Flewelling, the rector. Mr. and Mrs. H. Gridley, Mrs. Barrett and Mr. Cock, besides the immediate family of the bride were present at the ceremony. The young couple left on the afternoon train for the coast and will spend some time visiting Vancouver, Victoria and other points before returning here to make their future home.

The groom is an employee of the provincial government in the local office and has resided in the city for a number of years. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Parnaby and has resided in Cranbrook for the past three years.

Both of the young people have a large circle of friends in the city.

Miss Ada Hickenbotham spent last week in Calgary, attending the wedding of Miss Dell Comeron, formerly stenographer with the C.P.R. here.

PRE-EMPTORS TAKE NEARLY ALL LANDS OPENED

Government Office Scene of Rush on Opening Day---Every Applicant Receiving a Piece of Land---But Very Few Tracts Remain Open.

When the government lands were thrown open last Friday morning at nine o'clock sixty men were in line and between 6,000 and 7,000 acres were filed on. The line in front of the government office continued to increase all day Thursday and by evening there were about thirty in line. Hot coffee was served the men early in the morning by the Farmers' Institute and Dr. J. H. M. Bell sent coffee during the night before. Most of the men in line were provided with heavy coats and some with blankets and with the fine weather they experienced no great personal discomfort. Numbers were issued to the men by the city police, which gave the waiting ones an opportunity to move around. In a few instances the men left and were not present when the police checked up the line and the numbers were moved up to save possible argument.

When nine o'clock struck, the door of the government office was thrown open, and the homeseekers entered in pairs. R. A. Renwick, deputy minister of lands, and Gordon Smith, of the lands department, with Government Agent Wallinger, handled the rush, and everything was done with precision. A pamphlet had been provided by the department of lands, giving general description of lands opened for settlement.

Many residents of Cranbrook came to watch the scene and local photographers took up vantage points to get pictures of the occasion, the first of the kind seen in Cranbrook.

Below we give a full list of the lands filed on and the names of those who entered. In the list will be seen that most of the applications were from Cranbrook people, although there were some from the states, as well as from other parts of British Columbia and Alberta. There were several applications for the same tract, but when the second pre-emptor found the tract desired was already taken he immediately selected another lot and there was no confusion or argument over the lands.

The following is the complete list of applications received at the local office:

1. George Parnaby, Cranbrook, 10366
2. Andrew Finlay, Cranbrook, 11625.
3. H. E. Sainsbury, Cranbrook, 10353.

WIFE REFUSES TO RETURN TO HUSBAND

Woman Arrested in Cranbrook on Charge of Theft Released at Lethbridge

One of the most interesting cases that ever came before the police magistrate was heard this morning, when the theft charge against a Mrs. Wm. Taylor, of Banff, was heard by David H. Elton, says the Lethbridge Herald.

William Taylor laid the charge of theft against his wife with a view toward reconciliation. The family were living at Banff, and the husband left on the 4th of March to do work at Strathmore. He was gone three weeks and upon his return discovered that his wife had left, taking with her nearly all of the movable belongings, and her son Percy, aged about 12 years, who was the star witness this morning.

Taylor traced his wife to Lethbridge where he learned that she had gone south. He went to Great Falls, Helena, Missoula and other Montana points but could not locate her. On his return to Lethbridge he found that she was engaged as a maid on a farm near Coaldale. He sought her out, and a step toward reconciliation was effected, she refusing to return to him, but promising to write, and to allow the son to write. Taylor returned to Banff and in the course of a few weeks learned that Mrs. Taylor had left the farm. He came again to Lethbridge, traced her to points in B.C. and followed her to Kingsgate, Yahk and finally to Cranbrook. All efforts to induce her to return to him failed, and he returned to Lethbridge, where his counsel advised him to place the charge of the theft of one of the trunks she had taken with her, against her. This was done, and the woman was arrested at Cranbrook on a warrant issued here.

The case was remanded until this morning, when the charge was dismissed by Magistrate Elton on the grounds that if the trunk had really been stolen, the fact that the theft was never mentioned at the time of the subsequent meeting, when an arrangement was made between husband and wife, disproved any claim to the property by Taylor.

Percy was placed in the box this morning by Mr. Harris, counsel for Mr. Taylor, and proved an interesting witness. He was there when the trunk was purchased, and was closely cross-examined on what took place at that time. His evidence favored the mother, and he exhibited a fortitude in answering the questions that called forth the admiration of the court.

"When the trunk was purchased," said he, "father told mother to pick out the one that suited her, and he gave her the trunk after it was bought."

"What was the trunk purchased for?" asked the counsel.

"To move our things across the track at Banff."

Later the boy stated that the father had told Mrs. Taylor some two weeks before the trunk was purchased, that her trunk was old and worn out, and that he would buy her a new one.

"But I thought you told the court that he bought it to use in moving," parried the lawyer.

"He did," said the boy, "but he also bought it because mother needed a new trunk, and because he had promised her one."

"Killed two birds with one stone, eh? You are a pretty good lawyer my boy."

When Taylor took the stand, he denied having given his wife the trunk, and stated that the boy had not told the truth.

"Did anyone tell you what to say at court this morning?" asked the counsel.

"I was only told to tell the truth," said the lad, who was on the verge of tears at the cross firing of the lawyers.

Habeas Horpus proceedings are being commenced for the possesion of the son.

SAVES BOY FROM DROWNING

Fort William, Ont., May 5.—But for the plucky action of John McAvay, jr., in jumping into the icy waters of the Kaministiqua river off the Empire elevator dock, two small *Italian boys would have undoubted*ly been drowned. The boys were fishing driftwood from the dock and losing their balance, both fell into the water where it is thirty feet deep.

John McAvay was a former Cranbrook boy, residing here about four or five years ago, being one of the members of the Cranbrook hockey team.

MARRIED

Russell Herbert Patterson, at Fort Steele, blacksmith, to Miss Sadie Bell Hill, of Fort Steele, at the home of Mr. Hill, in Cranbrook, on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The happy couple will reside at Fort Steele. Rev. W. K. Thomson performed the ceremony.

MEDIATORS TO MEET IN CANADA

Niagara, Ont., Is the Place Selected For Meeting of Peace Envoys and Representatives of Warring Factions in Mexico

Washington, May 5.—The three South American envoys who have undertaken by diplomacy to settle Mexico's civil strife as well as her international difficulties announced *tonight that the first formal confer*ence with representatives of the different parties interested in mediation would be held at Niagara Falls, Ont., on May 18th.

Secretary Bryan made the announcement from the three diplomats in a brief statement which read:

"The mediators have notified the different parties that Niagara Falls, Canada, has been selected as the place where the mediators will confer with representatives of the different parties interested in the mediation and that the 18th of May has *been fixed as the date when the con*ference will begin."

The language of the declaration attracted attention for, although the envoys had in a note earlier said they would withdraw their invitation for a Carranza representative unless an armistice between the rebels and the Huerta forces was arranged, no specific parties to the negotiations were named in the state department announcement.

It was later learned authoritatively that the reason for this was due to the fact that a further effort was being made to induce General Carranza to send a representative.

It was understood that the mediators had further explained their position to General Caranza and were still hopeful that he might be represented at the negotiations without seeking to limit his agent to discussion of any particular subjects.

ENFORCE THE LAW MORE STRICTLY

What is being done regarding the practise of carrying concealed weapons? It was not so very long ago that a law was passed by the provin*cial governmgent, a law more* stringent than any in the Dominion. It was perhaps too strict, since it did not permit the possession of weapons in one's own house. The law was passed, however, with the expectation that it would go far toward putting a stop to the shooting and stabbing affrays which occur with such monotonous regularity in Vancouver and British Columbia as a whole.

It has accomplished practically nothing. This is not the fault of the law nor of the government which passed the law, but seems to lie in the fact that it is almost impossible to carry out the intention which lay behind the legislation in question. The only solution appears to be a more merciless enforcement of the regulations. If the minimum penalty for the offence of carrying concealed weapons were a prison sentence of three or four years, the practice would soon be discouraged. The difficulty of coping with the growing foreign population increases daily. They all make a practice of carrying cheap revolvers or vicious-looking knives, yet the most vigilant police officer cannot search every man he meets unless he have some grounds to work upon.

Even the penalty for attempted murder seems hardly sufficient. One reads of innumerable cases where a sentence of but a few years has been imposed, yet if the victim had expired the sentence would have been death. If murder merits capital punishment, then attempted murder should mean what would amount to life imprisonment. If it were found after a few years that the prisoner had been cured of homicidal tendencies, the parole system may always be brought into use, but it does seem as though the enforcement of the law in Canada were growing strangely lax. The punishment should be made to fit the crime. In no other way is it possible to educate the horde of foreigners who play so great a part in the criminal annals of the country each year.—Saturday Sunset.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Ry. Y.M.C.A. will hold a tea at the Y.M. C.A. building from 3 to 6 on Wednesday afternoon, May 13th. Everybody welcome.

SPECIAL MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

Estimate for Seats at Band Stand Required—Sidewalk Will be Lowered at the Royal Hotel

Special meeting of the city council was held at the city hall last Friday evening at 8 o'clock with Mayor Taylor in the chair and Aldermen Hickenbotham, Leask, Horie and Campbell present.

Mr. E. A. Lezert appeared before the council and asked permission to connect his house outside the city limits with the city water. Motion by Horie and Leask carried that the mayor and clerk enter into an agreement with Mr. Lezert for the supply of water on the same terms as other residents outside the city are supplied.

The board of works asked for $600 from the contingency fund for the grading and clearing of alleys in the city, and same was granted.

Mr. R. C. Carr appeared before the council with reference to supplying enamelled street plates bearing the names of streets.

The city engineer and chairman of board of works were requested to ascertain how many street signs are required and report at the next meeting.

Motion by Hickenbotham and Horie carried instructing the city clerk to notify Mr. VanDecar that the city intends to lower the sidewalk abutting the Royal property and that Mr. VanDecar be instructed to remodel his verandah and balcony, both on street and alley to conform to city bylaw.

Motion by Hickenbotham and Campbell that the question of installing a street light on Norbury avenue be referred to the fire and police committee with power to act.

Motion by Campbell and Hickenbotham that the sprinkling of streets be referred to the board of works and fire chief with power to act. Motion carried.

Discussion as to the city band stand resulted in the council deciding to leave the stand in its present location and Alderman Leask was instructed to ascertain the cost of seats for about two hundred people and report at the next meeting.

Motion by Campbell and Leask that the city engineer be instructed to ascertain how many manhole covers will be required and to obtain estimate of the cost of same.

Alderman Horie and the city engineer were instructed to enquire into the price of a horse for the use of the city engineer and report at the next meeting.

Council adjourned.

CONNOLLY TO MEET ROLLER AT EDMONTON

Famous Mat Artists Will Wrestle for Title on May 23rd

Edmonton, Alta., May 4.—Pat Connolly, of Vancouver, undefeated heavy weight champion catch-as-catch-can wrestler of Great Britain, and Dr. Benjamin Roller, of Seattle, who has met most of the top notchers in the United States and Canada, have been matched for a finish bout, to take place in the Arena here the evening of May 23rd. Connolly, who weighs 200 pounds in condition, was seen in Edmonton recently in a match to throw two men, including "Kid" Sandow, in an hour. He turned the trick in a fraction less than 21 minutes, without extending himself. Reports are current in sporting circles here that S. G. Feltus, manager for Connolly, is negotiating for a match with Frank Gotch, the world's champion, to be staged soon after the bout with Roller. The Seattle man is now making a tour of the continent. Experts say that Connolly and Roller are fairly equally matched. The British champion has a large local following, but Roller is not without support.

LACROSSE

On May first the Cranbrook Lacrosse team ventured to Fernie to play for a purse of $100.00 offered by the Miners for their May day sports and were succesful in bringing home the money.

The Fernie boys started off with a rush and made things lively in the first quarter and had most of the Cranbrook players looking blue, but after settling down and a little more consistent team work the Cranbrook boys had no trouble in stopping the rush of the Fernie aggregation and succeeded in winning the game with a score of 8—6.

For Cranbrook McGregor scored three, Matthews three and Reburn one.

The following was the line-up of the visiting team: Goal, McKay; point, Moore; cover point, Duffy; first defense, McPhee; second derense, Leitch third defence, Chambers; center, Lefleur; third home, Reburn; second home, McGregor; first home, Callahan; outside home, McMillan; inside home, Matthews.

Arrangements were made with the Fernie team for a return game to be played in Cranbrook on May 25th. The boys are continuing their practicing and will be in shape to give a fine exhibition by that date.

THROWN FROM WAGON AND KILLED

Runaway Accident at Wild Horse Bridge Results in Death of Harry Jordan

Harry H. Jordan, of Fort Steele, was killed in a runaway accident on the Wild Horse Creek bridge above Fort Steele last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Jordan and Mr. Hardy were coming down the long grade into Fort Steele with a load of logs when their horses took freight and ran away.

Coroner Dr. J. H. M. Bell was called and an inquest was held, the verdict being that death resulted from being thrown from a wagon at the Wild Horse bridge by a runaway team. Deceased sustained a fracture of skull, and a fractured jaw and collar bone. A rider was attached to the verdict in which the jury recommended that the northern approach to the bridge be altered, as it is exceedingly dangerous. Mr. Hardy, the other victim of the accident, escaped with an injured foot. He was brought immediately to the St. Eugene hospital.

The authentic details of the accident are not to hand, but the report current is that some of the logs on the load worked loose on the long grade down the hill and struck the horses, scaring them into running away.

Funeral services for the deceased are being held in Fort Steele today.

Both men are well known in the Fort Steele district.

MACKENZIE AND MANN —OR THE PEOPLE

The third great feature of the present session of parliament is staged. First in importance among the outstanding features of the session is tariff revision in the interest of the government's political allies, and of the men who helped to put it in power, on whose influence and campaign subscriptions it depends primarily for another lease of power. The interests of the masses of producers and consumers were not considered The second feature outstanding is the attack on the Liberal party, on the National Transcontinental railway and on the Grand Trunk Pacific, through the report of Messrs. Gutelius and Staunton. In that case the credit of the Grand Trunk Pacific and of the road which the people own was damaged as well as the credit of Canada, by an unfair, untruthful and partisan report calculated to serve the political interests of the Conservative party and to play the game of the Canadian Pacific railway. Now comes a third outstanding feature. The credit of the Canadian Northern railway company and the profits therein of Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann are to be saved at the expenses of the people of Canada who are to practically assume responsibility for all present and future obligations of the company, pay all liabilities, if the road becomes insolvent, though still leaving the promoters in control, with the opportunity to make further profits and retire from the enterprise at the most opportune time with the profits already made and still to be made.

The government's proposals for the $45,000,000 bond guarantee to the C.N.R. were presented to the Conservative caucus on Tuesday last. As soon as the terms were made known Messrs. R. B. Bennett and W. F. Nickle, two of the leading supporters of the government, left the caucus to make public declaration that they would vote against a proposal so manifestly in favor of the railway promoters as compared with the interests of the public. Then the caucus after long and acrimonious discussion finally obeyed the crack of the party whip and swallowed the bargain. There was no cheering. With the exception of Messrs. Bennett and Nickle, the government followers have all been swung into line as the result of the assiduous lobbying of months past by Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann and their agents, ... the result of promises of assistance at the next election when the campaign fund has to be made up and because of fear as to what would happen if there were any more serious split in the party ranks.

One of the Liberals said there was another caucus on Thursday morning last in striking contrast to the caucus of Tuesday. It broke up, with cheers which echoed through the corridors and which served due warning on the government of the coming spectacular and bitter fight in the commons. This caucus was comparatively short. It was unanimous and it was enthusiastic. There was no objection to the principle of agreeing to any legitimate proposal for the completion of the Canadian Northern Transcontinental system; but there was strong objection to making Canada the junior partner of Mackenzie and Mann, bearing the burden of the credit of the whole undertaking without securing in return for that credit a strict accounting of what had been done with the two hundred million odd of public money and credit already granted, without securing adequate control and supervision of further expenditures and without making sure that the beneficiaries of the further public aid would be the people of Canada rather than the creditors of Mackenzie and Mann and the latters' own pockets.

The Borden government has looked after the financial interests of the railway promoters, has rehabilitated their credit and has given them an opportunity to realize full profits on their present vested interests in a capital stock of $60,000,000 in the road—said capital stock having cost nothing but the expense of printing the certificates. It remains for the Liberal party to look after the interests of the people of Canada who have already invested in cash and credit over $200,000,000; who assume all the liabilities for the past and future obligations entered into by Mackenzie and Mann; and who want to know what they are going to get in return.

The first step toward clearing up the problem must be the obtaining of full and complete information as to what are the actual conditions in regard to the road, what has been done with the public funds already invested, what is the security to be given for the investment of further public funds and what is the real meaning of the long and involved legal agreement entered into by Premier Borden and Hon. Arthur Meighen on behalf of the government with Mr. Z. A. Lash, the astute corporation lawyer, and Sir William Mackenzie, the astute financier. This agreement has been swallowed summarily by the now docile followers of the government, at the crack of the party whip. If it means what the Liberals think it means, it will never go through the commons except under closure at the instance of the government. There are many who believe that when the closure was introduced, it was really intended by the government as a weapon to be used for securing money from parliament which the people's representatives might be unwilling to grant. The Mackenzie and Mann deal may help to reveal its real purpose.

WHAT IS A GENTLEMAN

A gentleman is one who strives to be truthful, courageous, and honorable in word, thought, and act; clean in mind and in body and unselfish, considerate, and courteous in his relations to others. By the word "courteous" I do not mean an overbarade of politeness. On the contrary, the man who is too ostentatiously polite is seldom sufficiently "sure" of himself to be quite a gentleman. Your truly courteous man quietly and unobtrusively stands back to let a woman or an old man precede him in entering an omnibus or tram-car. Your merely polite one possibly waves an effusive hand and protests "Ladies first," or "After you, sir." One very pretty instance of tact and courtesy comes to my memory as I write. A train which happened to be very full was just starting, and a hunchbacked man with crutches was anxiously but unsuccessfully looking for a seat. "There is room for one in here," said a young fellow sitting near the door. As a matter of fact, there was no room but as the hunchback entered, the young fellow quietly slipped out. He knew that the hunchback, handicapped by crutches, was in likelihood of being left behind. Ostentatiously to have given up his seat would have drawn some attention to the other's deformity, so, as I say, he slipped out without comment to find another seat, or possibly to stand for the remainder of the journey.

His cap had possibly cost him sixpence-halfpenny, and had seen its best days. He was dressed in a soiled and shoddy suit, and his unblacked boots were badly patched. But as I, standing just outside the carriage of which he got, and so seeing and hearing everything, threw open the door of another compartment, so that he might jump in, I raised my hat as punctilously to that gentleman as if he had been the great Chesterfield himself, of whose last spoken words on earth, "Give Dr. Dayrolles a chair," the comment was made: "Superb! The man's breeding does not desert him even in death."—The Canadian Courier.

DUKE OF ARGYLL IS DEAD

Served as Former Governor-General of Canada With Marked Ability

Cowes, Isle of Wight, May 3.—The Duke of Argyll, son-in-law of Queen Victoria, and former governor-general of Canada, died last night at East Cowes, aged 69.

John Douglas Sutherland Campbell, ninth Duke of Argyll and possessor of many heretitary titles, was born at Stafford House, London, August 6th, 1845. He was the son of George, eighth Duke of Argyll, who died in 1900, a statesman who held office under several administrations and who was the author of several scientific and political works. In early life the future duke was known as the Marquis of Lorne.

The only information respecting his childhood days which comes under particular notice is contained in Queen Victoria's "Journal of Our Life in the Highlands," under date of August, 1847, at which time her majesty and the late prince consort paid a visit to Inverary, the ancestral seat of the Argylls. Speaking of the reception at the castle the royal journalist writes:

Dear, White, Fair Little Fellow

"Outside stood the Marquis of Lorne, just two years old, a dear, white, fair little fellow with reddish hair, but very delicate features, like both his father and mother; he is such a merry, independent little child."

About nine months subsequent to this event her majesty gave birth to a daughter, who was to become the bride of the Marquis of Lorne—Princess Louise. The wedding took place in 1871, when the marquis was 24 years of age. The marriage was celebrated with much splendor at St. George's chapel, Windsor. The princess had a magnificent reception when she paid her first visit to the ancestral seat of her husband at Inverary.

Visited Canada in Youth

The future governor of Canada received his early education at Eton, whence he passed successfully to the University of St. Andrews and Trinity College, Cambridge. In 1866 he was appointed captain of the London Scottish Rifle volunteers and subsequently became lieutenant-colonel of the 105th Rifle volunteers. During the same year he made a tour through the West Indies and the eastern part of the North American continent. His tour included brief visits to various cities in the Dominion, including Toronto, Niagara, Kingston and Ottawa.

In 1868 he entered the house of commons as member for Argyllshire and continued to represent that constituency down to his appointment to Canada. The appointment was hailed *with satisfaction in all parts of Can*ada and a great deal was made of the coming of a royal princess to Rideau hall. The London Times said shortly afterward:

Showed Marked Ability

"The experiment which was tried when the Marquis of Lorne was appointed governor-general of Canada has been crowned with success. It has been found possible to appeal effectively to the loyalty of our colonial fellow subjects without placing in jeopardy for a moment the dignity of the crown or the solid interests of the imperial connection.

"It is only fair to acknowledge that Lord Lorne has played a difficult part with remarkable ability."

This comment would have been warmly endorsed by Sir John Macdanald, who was his excellency's adviser during his term of office. Princess Louise, however, having sustained an accident in the early part of her sojourn in Canada, lived mostly in England. The Marquis of Lorne devoted himself to literary pursuits and was the founder of the Royal Society of Canada. Among his own published works are the "United States of the War" (1885), "Imperial Federation" (1885), "Memories of Canada and Scotland" (1884), "Canadian Pictures" (1885).

The Marquis of Lorne returned to England in 1893 and in 1894 he contested Bradford for the Liberal-Unionists. In 1895 he was elected for South Manchester and he retained the seat until 1900, when he succeeded to the peerage. He has been governor and constable of Windsor Castle since 1892. He was admiral of the western coast and isles, hereditary master of the royal household, Scotland, keeper of the great seal of Scotland, etc.

His heir is his brother, Lord Archibald Campbell, banker, of London.

Governor Blease of South Carolina, who has made himself notorious for his abuse of the pardoning power, has just released fourteen prisoners, of whom eight were convicted of manslaughter, three of larceny, two of arson and one of practising dentistry without a license. This makes 1,190 convicts to whom the governor has extended clemency since he assumed office in January, 1911. There were more than 1,300 prisoners in the state penitentiary when Mr. Blease became governor, but there are now only 186 left, and they will leave before long, as the governor told a committee of the legislature that he intended to empty the penitentiary by August 1st.

ZAM-BUK

MRS. A. SAICH, of Cannington Manor, Sask., Writes:—"My brother suffered severely from eczema. The sores were very extensive, and burned like coals into his flesh. Zam-Buk took out all the fire, and quickly gave him ease. Within three weeks of commencing with Zam-Buk treatment, every sore had been cured."

This is but one of the many letters we are constantly receiving from people who have proved the healing powers of Zam-Buk. For eczema, piles, sores, burns, cuts and all skin troubles there is nothing like this wonderful balm. No skin disease should be considered incurable until Zam-Buk has been tried.

CANADA GROWS FASTER THAN AUSTRALIA

Ottawa, May 5.—A return showing the growth of population in Australia and Canada at decennial intervals has been prepared by the commonwealth statistician of Australia and forwarded to the department of trade and commerce by the Canadian trade commissioner at Melbourne, Dr. D. H. Ross.

During the 50 years, 1851 to 1900, the population of Australia increased from 437,665 to 3,824,913, a gain of 3,387,248, while that of Canada, which increased from 2,384,409 to 5,371,315 showed a gain of 2,986,906, or 400,342 fewer than Australia's gain for the same half century. This advantage on the part of Australia was, however, more than balanced in the decennium 1901-11, when Canada's gain of population exceeded Australia's by no fewer than 2,886,842, the total being 7,758,000, as against 4,872,158 for Australia.

GOVERNMENT PROVIDES C.N.R. WITH $45,000,000

Liberals Joined by Two Conservatives in Fight to Protect the Peoples' Interests and Money

Ottawa, April 28.—At the crack of the party whip the Conservative caucus this morning formally endorsed the government proposals practically giving Mackenzie and Mann and their associates $45,000,000 par value of Canadian Northern railway stock, a, to the value of which there is uncertainty. The bargain is still to be completed in parliament, and the government has still to face not only the opposition of the Liberals, but also the opposition of some of its followers, who are openly protesting against swallowing the pill at the behest of party discipline and temporary political expediency.

Kicked Over the Traces

Two of the leading Conservatives, Messrs. R. B. Bennett and W. F. Nickle, kicked over the traces at once as soon as the proposal was placed before the caucus, and they left the gathering to make at once public declaration of the fact that they were irrevocably opposed to a proposal which considered only the interests of the railway promoters, and not the interests of the public. There were others who left the caucus early, taking little pains to conceal their antagonism to the government's proposals.

Bitter Words in Caucus

The real character of these proposals, and the members' fear of their effect upon the public, may be guaged by the long and acrimonious discussion which followed their presentation to caucus. It is understood that criticism was so decidedly pointed and bitter that cabinet ministers were mentioned by name and raked over the coals for getting the party into a bad political mess. It is significant that, following the early departures of recalcitrant members from the caucus, Hon. W. T. White came out glum and care-worn, and made his way to his office at least half an hour before the caucus gave its final decision and broke up.

All afternoon and this evening members of the government were busy trying to smooth things out. In the commons tonight the little journeys of Hon. Mr. White from member to member on his side of the house and back to Premier Borden were as significant as they were entertaining to the Liberal onlookers.

Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Donald Mann and Mr. Z. A. Lash are left in control of the company for at least two years to come, the only proviso being that the application of the money raised on the bond guarantee of $45,000,000 shall be towards the completion and equipment of the company's transcontinental system. There is no real accounting compelled of the public money and credit, amounting to over two hundred million dollars, which has already gone into the road. Practically all that the government gets of real value is the unwatering by sixty millions of the capital stock of the Canadian Northern company and its allied companies, including the Tunnel and the Terminal & Townsite companies. The capital stock of the parent company and these two subsidiary companies is now placed at one hundred anl forty-five millions. It represents, of course, no real investment by Mackenzie & Mann.

Government to Hold Forty Millions

The capital stock of the amalgamated company is to be reduced to one hundred millions par value. Of this the government is to hold for the people in actual possession forty millions, including the seven millions of capital stock in the Canadian Northern, which was transferred last year at the time of the fifteen million dollar gift. This represents the fifteen per cent of stock which it had been expected would be additional to the forty per cent., and would be held by a holding company, nominated by the government, to be transferred to the government in case of default of interest payment by the C.N.R.

Must Wait Three Years for Control

That proposal would practically have given the government at once control of a majority of the stock. But under the new arrangement presented at caucus this morning the only way in which the government can obtain control of a majority of the stock and therefore compel a reorganization of the company or exercise a real control of the financial operations of Mackenzie & Mann is by waiting three years, and then, if there is a default of interest payments the balance of sixty per cent of the stock may be transferred to the government. Meanwhile the railway promoters have two years in which to make good their vested interest and clean up. Just where the public interest comes in is not apparent on the face of it, beyond the claim that the aid proposed to be given will secure the completion of the road. Practically all the security in return for the public credit is the $33,000,000 par value of the stock, plus the $7,000,000 transferred last year, with a possible reversion of the whole amount of stock two years hence. But that reversion will take place only in case the road cannot pay interest on its bonded indebtedness, or, in other words, if the road proves financially unprofitable. And in that case the stock is intrinsically worth nothing. In that case, too, if the present government remains in power the possible understanding with the C.P.R. for the transfer of the system to that company at bargain rates may be carried out.

The Main Provisions Announced

The main provisions of the proposed legislation were summarized in a statement handed out from the premier's office shortly before midnight. In brief, they include the following, in addition to those already outlined:

The government undertakes to pay the interest if necessary on the forty-five millions guaranteed for three years after the opening of the through line between Montreal and the Pacific coast, such interest to be added to the principal and secured equally with it.

The stock issue of the Canadian Northern and its subsidary lines, amounting to $145,000,000, is reduced to $100,000,000, of which the government is to receive in actual possession for the public $40,000,000; this to incluude the seven millions transferred to the government last session at the end of the subsidy grant. As security the government receives a mortgage on the Canadian Northern lines in the three prairie provinces, comprising about five thousand miles. The value of this mortgage is problematical, in view of the prior lien of the provincial legislatures for bond guarantees. The subsidiary stock merged in the one campany and recapitalized at $100,000,000 includes the various subsidiary railway companies and the C.N.R. Steamship company. The interest to Mackenzie & Mann, Limited, which owns the townsites and valuable real estate in the three prairie provinces, is also pledged to the government as security. This security consists of ten millions of bonds and twelve millions of stock and the government regards it as a valuable asset. There are detailed stipulations designated to prevent any diversion of the money raised on the federal bond guarantee to purposes other than the completion of the transcontinental system.

"Country Sold Often; This the Worst Yet"

"This is the most damnable thing ever submitted to a body of public men. This country has been sold out many times, but this is the worst yet."

This amazing statement was made by a Conservative member in the parliamentary corridors this afternoon, following the breaking up of the party caucus called to hear the deal made by the government with the Canadian Northern railway. Other supporters of the government were talking equally frankly, if less forcefully.

"Denials" Measured at Worth

There is no longer doubt as to the absolute accuracy of the information, published from time to time, concerning this deal. The varied "denials" of Premier Borden and Finance Minister White are now measured at their worth. The stage play is finished. Members recognize how true were the assurances given in these despatches that the caucus was being hoaxed, that the country was being trapped, and that the "understanding" was reached between the government and Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Donald Mann and Mr. Z. A Lash several weeks ago.

Messrs. R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, and W. F. Nickle, of Kingston, left the Conservative caucus today immediately after the Government-Mackenzie deal had been outlined. They evidently took this course to free themselves of any suggestion of eaves-dropping by remaining to hear a frank and bitter acrimonious discussion. Surrounded by newspaper men they jointly made the following statement:

"After listening to the government's proposals of aid for Mackenzie & Mann, we left the caucus because, in our opinion, the proposals are in the interest of railway contractors and not in the interest of the people."

My Dear Mr. Editer:

Of you dont mindt I vos going to wridt to you every little vile a few lines gonzerning matters in sheneral and der shtate of pizness in Bridish Golumbia in perdigular. I am only a plain man of pizness und berhape dis town is a bit avay from der center of tings, but der looker-on sees der hole in der game and berhaps maybe dat my noticeings vill bring into der limelighta few tings dat might be vorth vile for a liddle buplicity, isn't it?

As a regular subschriptioner to your chournal you vill bermidt me to say dat I like der cheneral tone of your buplication, vich I tinks "vills a long felt vant." I vant to say also, dat all der beople in dis dishtrict are great boosters for de idea of der "subbort-der-home-mader-ardikle -industry - in - British - Columbia-movement," vot your chournal stands for.

Bersonally, I am a sthrong booster for der B. C. goods. For insthance I never shmoke imborted segars—but as I am not a shmoker, berhaps this is not a goot instance. But take for example—Beer. I alvays drink B.C. beer, in fact I makes a boint of drinkin all of it dat I can get my friends to buy me. I brefer to get my vriends to bay for it pecause I am also a sthrong perliever in der "keep your money at home" brinciple.

Vhile on der subject of segars, gan you berhaps dell me vedder de "amendments to de noxious weeds act" vich I see in der rebort of der Agriculchural Commishon is gonnected vid B.C. segars?

I hope der united efforts of der manufacturers vill inbrove der pizness of der brovince in cheneral. Up here tings aint good shust now vid me. In fact, I am sorry to say tings is bad and I had to make an arrandgements mit my greditors last veek. Der chairman at der meetin told me dat after gonsiderashions dey had decided to agcept sixty cents on der dollar—cash. I told him dat ef I got to pay cash I vant der usual cash discount.

Having glosed up der drygoods store, I am tinkin of sthartin a boultry varm. But I am ub against a difficulty, Mr. Editer, and I vants you to pring the matter to der notice of der aszociation. I see vrom der bapers dat Chinese eggs is being imborted China and vot I vants to know is—vy sould my chickuns got to gompete vid Orientaol chickuns. Der last rebort of der Labor Gommishon regommends an eight-hour day and vy should my chickuns not be brotected against der cheap an sveated labor of der chink.

I nodice in der bapers der Segond Narrows Pridge Company has obened tenders for der brobosed pridge. I hear dis is goin to be a very vide span pridge. Ef der span is goin to be as long as der time dat vill probably elapse betveen der obening of der tneders und der glosing of der gontracts, it vill be der longest bridge in der vorldt.

How vos it dat B.C. got left in der cold over der Vestern Freight Rate decision? I dont see dat it is much penefit to B.C. dat a small reduction eastvards is given, ven a bigger reduction vestvard is given to der easterners.

PRESENT DAY HATS AND STYLES IN HAIR DRESSING CAUSE LOSS OF HAIR

We Cannat Change the Styles, But We Can Check Falling Ha ir

Up to the time we began to civilize him a bald headed Indian was a thing unknown. Wearing nothing on his head except the covering furnished by nature and being a stranger to the use of a hair brush, especially the public one, the scalp and hair had plenty of ventilation, much sunlight and, hence, a condition favorable to a luxuriant growth of hair existed at all times.

It was the adoption of air and light excluding head gears and artificial head decoration generally, together with the occasional use of a community hair brush, which gave the dandruff germ its opportunity. Since this parasits has multiplied to an alarming degree until now there is hardly a person who is not troubled more or less with dandruff and falling hair.

Many, to be sure, have passed the worry stage. Having become chronically bald they realize that nothing is capable of producing hair for them. Let these be a warning to all who are experiencing the significant annoyance of dandruff and falling hair.

Dandruff, which is due to a germ, and falling hair can both be overcome by the regular use of Newbro's Herpicide.

This wonderful scalp remedy frees the scalp of all dandruff and stops the hair from coming out. The destruction of the germ permits the hair to grow naturally and luxuriantly as nature intends.

Herpicide makes the hair bright, snappy, light and fluffy.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c. and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications obtained at the better barber shops and hair dresing parlors.

B. C. FIR AND THE PANAMA CANAL

What will be the effect of the opening of the Panama Canal upon the lumber trade of Canada? No one will be able to answer the question fully until trade has settled down into its new channels, but most of those who have been thinking of the matter have already found out, to their own satisfaction, that the effect will be widespread and important. By way of giving an instance which will indicate at the outset that the effect will be extensive, it is only necessary to mention the fact that the Panama Canal has already been the chief factor in the awarding of the contract for 24,000,000 feet of timbers to be used in Toronto's harbor improvement works, as reported in the April first issue of the Canada Lumberman. A small quantity of the timbers for this contract will be delivered by rail, but the contract is spread over four years, and after the opening of the canal to traffic, which is expected to occur about the first of July of the present year, the balance of the timbers will be shipped by vessel to some Atlantic coast port, and from there trans-shipped for carriage to Toronto. Here is a contract involving over $250,000 taken in advance of the opening of the canal, which the canal has rendered possible. After the canal has come into operation and trade has settled into its new channels, it is reasonable to believe, in view of this preliminary example, that the possibilities for increasing the trade in British Columbia timbers in Eastern Canada and the Eastern States will be very great.

At present, British Columbia timber and lumber pay a freight rate at 67c. per hundred pounds to Toronto from coast points. Fir in the rough weighs 3,200 lbs. per thousand feet, so that the freight rate figures out at $21.44 per thousand feet, a pretty stiff handicap when the timber has to face competition from eastern products and southern pine. Under the rate which will be brought into effect by the Panama Canal, British Columbia fir from coast points will reach Toronto for a charge of about 40c. per hundred pounds, which figures out at about $12.80 per thousand feet. Between $12.50 and $13.50 is expected to be the actual rate per thousand feet. This will mean a reduction in freight charges of between $8 and $9 per thousand feet and will enable coast manufacturers of fir to lay their products down in Toronto at less than the price of yellow pine. When one considers the increased trade in yellow pine which has developed during the last few years throughout all parts of Ontario and Eastern Canada generally, it is reasonable to conclude that the market for fir under the new conditions will be a large one. Shingles from the coast now pay 75c. a hundred lbs., or about $1.20 per thousand pieces. By way of the Panama Canal the rate will be about 65c. a hundred lbs., or about $1.04 per thousand pieces, making a reduction of about 16c. per thousand pieces.

ELKO

(By Fred Roo.)

Mr. Hicks and several engineers of the water branch, department of lands, were in Elko this week, and Engineer McKee is left in charge of skilled workmen putting in cement piers for wire cables.

Mr. Ed. Mallendaine, Capt. Powell and P. B. Fowler were visiting Elko and Flagstone this week.

Lieutenant F. H. Morris, member of the Canadian Bisley team for five consecutive years and winner of the deliberate and rapid fire championship of the British Empire, visited Elko this week and gave a free public demonstration of fancy aerial rifle shooting on the baseball diamond before a large crowd of spectators, a large number of ladies being present, as the exhibition was well advertised through the town. 22, 33, 30-30 and 32 special rifles were used. The 22 mushroom bullet was very popular with the boys, and we predict a great slaughter of gophers throughout the district with the 22 bullet from now on. The demonstration consisted of about three hundred fancy shots, throwing up pieces of coal, busting it, then some of the pieces before reaching the ground, shooting 100 shots in rapid succession and then exhibiting the barrel of the gun to show the cleanliness. Onions, carrots, spuds, oranges, canned corn, every ingredient for a mulligan was carted to the grounds and used in the exhibition. It was the finest exhibition of rifle shooting ever seen in Elko, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the ladies, and will prove a big boost for the Dominion Cartridge company, whose shells we found ourselves very punk three years ago. One of the lady spectators said she believed, he could shoot the eye out of a mosquito, and take the tip of his tongue off if he went to bite. He's as sharp as a tack, and as smooth as oil, said another, and he took all the compliments like a little tin soldier and made fast friends while some people would be getting acquainted. He left on the early morning train for Medicine Hat, but expects to return and visit the Tobacco Plains country.

The Hon. Thomas Taylor, minister of public works, Victoria, B.C., was an Elko visitor this week, the guest of the writer.

J. M. Agnew and family were Flagstone visitors this week.

Mrs. E. B. Holbrook was a Gateway visitor this week; Miss Albertson left for a month's visit to Wycliffe; Mrs. R. Joyce was to Cranbrook; Mrs. J. W. Kerr and Mrs. Hardman going to Fernie.

Arrivals this week: Sylvester Bradley, taking orders for the Creston peach crop, and was extra heavy on the tomatoes, string beans and crab apples; Frank Werley, with jams and jellies, honey coated candy dogs and other kinds of ginger snaps; Whitworth, with fence spikes, steele rails and sprinklers; Jim Black, making his first appearance this year, with men's furnishings and fleece-lined overalls, with his usual jovial personality and pleasing manners. Lou Birely, "the Sir Richard of the road" whose political arguments would make a militant suffragette stop home and study cooking. He delivered a splendid address to the board of trade on the imports we were receiving from the colonies, and which should be produced in our own province, and there was far more truth in his statements than fiction. Coming events cast their shadows before us, be ye therefore ready for ye know not when the next election will be called. There was about a dozen mill achinery men around and down the valley. A jobbers traveller from Winnipeg with a special brand of hardtack biscuits, Red River salmon, gum boots and overalls; a cigar traveller from Montreal, who handed us a cigar you couldn't light with a blow pipe; W. G. Scott, who is virtually king of the biscuit travellers; Miss Millie Moccasin String, the great Diva and only living rival to the famous Adelina Patti, with beaded gloves, belts and moccasins; Frankel the Jaffray meat king, new arrivals on every train.

MOYIE

(Special correspondence)

James Roberts, accompanied by his wife and daughter Mary, returned to Moyie on Wednesday from Dalton-in-Furness, England. They sailed on the steamship Virginian, returning by way of St. John, after an absence of about five months.

On Tuesday night a large circle of friends gave a surprise party on Mrs. H. H. Dimock.

A meeting of the Conservative association was held on Tuesday night in the International hall and was well attended.

The impresion prevails in London, that the Duke of Cannaught has intimated his willingness to favorably consider a future invitation to become the first lieutenant-governor of Ireland under home rule, should the bill be placed on the statutes books this session. The government realizes the enormous advantage of starting the new regime under one whose tact and impartiality to all classes and sects both in England and Ireland have full confidence.

WYCLIFFE

(From our own correspondent).

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith, on Sunday, April 26th, a nine-pound boy. Congratulations are in order.

The Methodist Ladies Aid society held their regular fortnightly meeting at the home of Mrs. G. F. Heath on Thursday afternoon, with a full attendance present. The ladies are planning a social evening on May 11th at the club house. A short musical programme will be given, followed by games and refreshments. It is hoped there will be a large attendance, as the object is to raise funds for a worthy cause.

Mr. and Mrs. Munn, of Calgary, were visitors at the Bennett ranch last week, with a view of purchasing same. It is hoped that the Bennett family will not leave this part of the country, as they would be greatly missed.

Andy Anderson, millwright at the Staples mill was unfortunate in getting some emery embedded in the ball of his eye last week, necessitating his seeing a physician in Cranbrook, who was able to remove the foreign substance.

Geo. Davis, our young postmaster, was a visitor in Spokane for several days the past week, having some dental work done and seeing the sights.

G. F. Heath took in thet annual roll call and social in Cranbrook Monday evening of the Key City lodge, of the I.O.O.F., and reports a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Staples, who have been in Cranbrook for a couple of weeks, combining business with pleasure, returned home Saturday.

Capt. and Mrs. Carruthers, of the Salvation Army, were in town several days the past week, and gave a very interesting and instructive entertainment at the schoolhouse Thursday evening, consisting mainly of views of the Life of Christ. They also visited Marysville and Kimberley during the week. While in town Capt. and Mrs. Carruthers were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

Several people from this section of the country were in Cranbrook on May 1st to file on the land that was thrown open for settlement on that date. Despite the rush there were a number fortunate in being able to file, among them being Messrs. Gustafson, Johnson, C. Conover, Wright, Soderholm and Miss Oman.

H. W. Davis, secretary of the Otis Staples Lumber company, returned Saturday from a trip of about a week to Winnipeg and Minnesota points.

Two new employees have arrived and are at work with the Otis Staples Lumber company. Andrew Hagen in the capacity of saw filer and David Guthrie as chief engineer.

Hugh Buchanan has been confined to his home a couple of days this week, suffering from a severe train received while at work in the mill as grader.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Crosby was the scene of a merry gathering on last Wednesday evening, when a large number of their friends gave them a surprise, the occasion being their tenth wedding anniversary. Doubtful music by a tin band was the first intimation that anyone was near, and the surprise was complete. The evening was spent in playing childhood games and in consuming a delicious three course lunch. The Rev. A. B. Lane, in a very witty little speech presented Mr. and Mrs. Crosby, on behalf of the party with a Universal bread mixer. The pleasant evening wound up with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and three cheers for the Crosbys.

Mr. Thomas Elmore Lucy appeared at the club house on Saturday evening under the auspices of the Methodist church, as an actor, artist and impersonator. Rarely indeed do we find so versatile and clever an entertainer as Mr. Lucy, not only being at the top notch as an impersonator and actor, but exceedingly clever with the crayon as a sketch artist and possessing a fine baritone voice, used with ease and expresion. His humorous selections were most mirth provoking and kept his listeners in a gale of laughter. They included extracts from Bill Nye, James Whitcomb Riley and others. As an exponent of Shakespeare, Mr. Lucy was especially fine, giving Cardinal Wolsey's pathetic farewell of Cromwell, from Henry the Eighth, and the scene between the Duke of Gloucester and Queen Anne, from Richard the Third. Among the famous men impersonated were Abraham Lincoln, dear to the heart of every American; Napoleon Bonaparte and Edgar Allen Poe, whose immortal poem "The Raven," was given with fine dramatic effect. Wycliffe people were very fortunate in being able to hear such an artist as Mr. Lucy, and it is hoped he will return at some future date.

Bills are out announcing a dance at the club house on the evening of May 12th, given by the mebers of the club. Music will be furnished by the Wallinger orchestra of Cranbrook, which should insure a good attendance.

CRESTON

(From our own correspondent).

The City Bakery, owned by Earl Barraclough, was gutted by fire on Monday at 2 a.m. A defective flue was the cause. Excitement ran high for some time, as it was thought that the whole block was doomed, but efficient work by the volunteer brigade saved the situation The loss will be about $500.00.

R. S. Bevan and Hugh McCreath motored to Port Hill on Saturday evening, returning Sunday morning.

In the provincial police court on Monday before Guy Lowenberg and William Watson, justices of the peace, Thos. D. Bunce was convicted of stealing a quantity of manure from the Morgan ranch on Goat river bottom. The prisoner was allowed his freedom on suspended sentence.

George Ferguson, of the Nelson Transfer barns, is in the Creston neighborhood purchasing light horses.

Creston will celebrate Victoria day.

Some Tasks are Hard and Some Tasks are Easy for ADVERTISING

While Few Indeed are Impossible

The easy advertising tasks are usually accomplished through ONE PUBLICATION of the advertisement. The hard advertising tasks may require REPEATED PUBLICATIONS of the advertising -- sometimes growing into the dignity of "advertising campaigns."

And, while purely "transient" advertising may not complete the task set for it, an "advertising campaign" does not fail if sensible persistence is used. This means that such difficult advertising tasks as that of finding ONE BEST BUYER for your property, or the man who will be glad to invest in your enterprise, or the best possible tenant for that store or business property, are SURE TO BE ACCOMPLISHED if you enter upon suitable advertising campaigns.

You Are Business-Like in Most Things, and Yet Not an Ad. Reader!

If you'll take the trouble to read the advertisements carefully, interestedly, in this and future issues of the "Herald," you'll decide that you've been using poor business judgment in overlooking them in the past. You'll find,even in your reading of the advertisements, buying opportunities --- clues to business opportunities that should be followed up --- money-saving and money-makng Facts.

A number of farmers in this district are bitterly complaining of the large number of gophers that infest their land and that are destroying young vegetables, such as beans, cabbages, etc. One man stated that he was surrounded on all sides by wild land—and there are hundreds like him—and that he had to spend hours of his time on this land fighting back these animals in order to save his crop. This man was of the opinion that the government should furnish the poison and defray the expense of a farmer placed in such a position. A better plan would be for the government to place a bounty on these little destroyers and thus give the man on the land a chance to break even.

WOULD TAX MAIL ORDER HOUSES

Alberta Retail Merchants Discuss Plans to Fight Outside Business Competitors

Calgary, Alta., May 6.—Delegates to the convention of the Alberta branch of the Retail Merchants' association of Canada today discussed the advisability of urging the provincial government to create a portfolio of minister of inland trade in view of the fact that a much larger sum of money is invested in retail distribution than in any other manner in Alberta. The question was left over for another year.

Many delegates are in favor of the imposition of heavy taxes on large mail order catalogue houses and that the money secured in this fashion be paid into various municipalities from which it is taken. It was decided to ask the Dominion board of the association to find some means for dealing adequately with mail order houses, which are making serious inroads into the field the retailers regard as their own. A resolution was also passed to oppose any co-operative society legislation that might again be introduced at Ottawa. The convention is also opposed to municipalities running stores.

Among the week's visitors in the city from outside points were: H. Northwood, Macleod; R. J. Long, Creston; Mrs. Fred Ege, Kimberley; C. H. McDougall, Kimberley; W. P. Scott, Moyie, and L. Hulman and R. Graf, of Pincher Creek.

Mr. David Pye, of Cranbrook, was one of the successful engineers who recently passed the examinations held in Victoria and is now a fully accredited civil engineer. This was Mr. Pye's first attempt to pass, and he is to be congratulated on his success, as it is very seldom that young engineers are able to pass their first examination.

Thomas Elmore Lucy gave an entertainment at the Methodist church last Monday evening to which, unfortunately, only a meagre handful turned out to hear. Mr. Lucy is an extremely versatile entertainer, giving crayon sketches, singing songs, representing important characters in history and impersonating players in bits of plays. His make-up of Edgar Allen Poe and the rendition of "The Raven" was his best number.

Chinese eggs are still flooding the provincial and coast markets, although they are being sold as the product of Canadian hens. Another big shipment of two million eggs arrived from the Orient last Thursday by the Empress of India, of which a quarter of a million were consigned to the provincial markets. The remainder will be transported to southern coast points. It is to be hoped the sign "strictly fresh" will not appear on this consignment.

A catalogue of the famous library belonging to the late F. J. Deane is now complete, a portion of which will be offered for sale in Cranbrook bebore being disposed of elsewhere. The late Mr. Deane was essentially a literary man, and an excellent judge of books. This collection contains a large number of editions de luxe, with costly bindings, as well as a large number of rare old volumes. It is the finest private collection in British Columbia and one of the best in Canada.

Commencing last Monday a passenger coach was attached to the way-freight between Cranbrook and Crows Nest, leaving at 7 o'clock a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and returning on the same train on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. While this train does not make fast time it will assist somewhat in allievating the grievances over the discontinuance of the local. Passengers between all small stations along the route will be accommodated by this train.

BRITISH WARSHIPS BACKS UP DEMANDS

Haiti Republic Hastens to Pay $62,000 Indemnity to Mill Owner

Port au Prince, Haiti, May 6.—The Haitian congres authorized the government to treat with the British diplomatic representative in the matter of the demand submitted for the payment of $62,000 to a British subject and to open a credit for the payment of that amount.

The British diplomatic representative delivered an ultimatum to the Haitian government demanding the immediate payment of an indemnity of $62,000 to a British subject in compensation for the destruction by fire of his sawmill during the Le Conte revolution.

The national bank advanced the money to the government.

The payment of this sum of money had previously been ordered by a court of arbitration.

The incident is regarded as closed.

Cruiser in Harbor

Consternation had been caused in the capital by the British ultimatum, whose time limit expired at 6 o'clock this evening and which was supported by the presence of the British cruiser Suffolk.

A joint session of the senate and house conferees was called at once, but was soon dissolved, owing to the inability of the legislatures to reach a decision.

The cabinet was bitterly criticised for not being in a position to meet the payment, which had previously been awarded to Mr. Peters by a court of arbitration.

J. N. Leger, minister of foreign affairs, on threat of dismissal from the cabinet because of connection with the incident, resigned.

CRUISERS HONOR KING GEORGE

Vera Cruz Fleet Celebrates Fourth Anniversary of Throne Accession

Vera Cruz, May 6.—The American fleet off Vera Cruz dressed ship today and fired a salute of 20 guns in honor of the fourth anniversary of the accession to the British throne of King George.

The Spanish and French war vessels also fired salutes and the various admirals in port called upon Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, the British commander.

S. Banwell, who has been employed in the law officeof P. E. Wilson for the past year, is leaving today for Fernie, where he has accepted a similar position with another law firm.

The London Morning Post in an article dealing with the British financial interests in Mexico, says that the stock exchange emphatically has always been with Huerta, because it was believed that if the United States would recognize Huerta, he would be able to restore order and an effective administration. But, continues the Post, as that is now impossible, financial interests here would not be sorry to see active intervention by the United States as the only alternative method of ending the present ruinous state of affairs.

Reasons Why You Should Read

SUNSET, The Exposition Magazine

The Only Magazine containing Up-to-date News relative to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. San Francisco, 1915, and the Panama-California Exposition, San Diego, 1915. Illustrated in colors

SUNSET should be read by every automobilist because it presents monthly articles of interest concerning delightful trips. At the present time a series of splendid illustrated articles by E. Alexander, F.R.G.S., is running. Mr. Powell tells of a trip from Tia Juana on the Mexican line to British Columbia. The trip was of such magnitude and of such absorbing interest that twelve articles are necessary to described the events. This is declared by our readers to be the best automobile series ever published by any magazine in the United States.

Fiction lovers should read SUNSET because we are sparing no expense to purchase the best efforts of the best writers in America to-day. A ripping good tale is that by William R. Leighton, author of the "Billy Fortune" stories. "The Man Who Won," a serial of absorbing interest by this famous story teller has just begun. Another serial by the author of "The Lanagan Stories" will start shortly, an amateur detective story of San Francisco society life. It is a corker. Each month SUNSET presents three or four stories by the best known of American authors. They are equal to the best you will find in any magazine.

Business men will be interested in the series of articles soon to start by Arthur Street, a well known writer, who is now touring the islands of the Pacific and Eastern countries, digging up vital statistics and information relative to the impending contest for supremacy of the Pacific. The opening of the Panama Canal will cause some lively scrambling for the trade that is sure to flow through it. Who will get the bulk of it? Why should Merchants be alert and on the job? There will be plenty of meat in these articles. Mr. Street is going right after the real stuff that will mean dollars to American business men.

SUNSET each month contains color pictures that are undoubtedly the most beautiful carried in any magazine on the news stands to-day. These wonderful color pictures have set SUNSET apart from other magazines as distinctive. No only are they faithful photographic reproductions of scenes on the Pacific Coast, but are really colored by one of the best color artists in America. Every issue contains pictures worth framing.

Have you read our department "Pulse of the West?" It is the "meat in the cocoanut" concerning things Western. This department is conducted by Walter V. Woehlke, acknowledged the best posted man on Western topics writing to-day.
