Fifth Street to Be Opened Up Between Dunsmuir Avenue and Derwent—Living Rooms Will Be Added to Fire Hall—Complaint Concerning Fire Menace of Old Buildings.

Matters of more than usual interest occupied the attention of the Council on Monday night, the investigation of alleged high prices, applications for opening up of streets, addition to Fire Hall and others matters being freely discussed.

Mayor MacDonald was in the chair, Ald. Parnham, Pickard, Bannerman and Thomson and City Clerk Mordy being present.

Addition to Fire Hall.

Mr. W. A. Owen submitted alternate plans for remodeling the rear of the Fire Hall, which would give accommodation for living quarters and so be of material benefit in having someone living on the premises. The cost of the first plan is placed at $450, and of the second, $550. The advantages of the latter were thought to be far superior to the first, and was favored by the Council, but the question was left with the Fire Wardens to take up with the Fire Brigade.

This plan calls for a living room 12 by 15 feet, kitchen 15 by 9.6, bedroom of the same dimensions, a hall, porch, pantry, bathroom and toilet.

The Fire Department have intimated their willingness to contribute a considerable part of the cost.

Communications.

Several communications were before the Council, the most important of which were the reply of Attorney-General Farris re meat investigation; the application of Harling & Ledingham for improvement of Fourth St.; letter from Campbell Bros. re fire menace of old buildings, and applications for opening up streets.

The letter from the Attorney-General is dealt with in another column.

To Open Up Fifth Street.

Letters were read from Mr. Alex. Henderson, Mr. A. Lockhart and Mr. J. Vaughan, asking that roads be opened up so that water mains and electric light lines can be laid to their residences.

After hearing their applications and fully discussing the matter, the Council decided to call for tenders for clearing the road full width, or as an alternative 20 feet of Fifth Street between Dunsmuir Avenue and Derwent Avenue, and also on Derwent Avenue between Fourth and Fifth Streets.

Want Fourth Street Repaired.

Messrs. Harling & Ledingham wrote drawing the attention of the Council to the bad condition of Fourth Street and asking that it be put in better shape. This was referred to the Board of Works. The improvement of this road is held up pending action of the

BRONZE TABLETS PLACED IN POSITION

The bronze tablets for the Cumberland War Memorial Monument arrived on Wednesday and are being set in place today. The manufacturers are Henry Birks & Sons, Ltd., Montreal, and their workmanship is excellent. The tablets were cast from a sketch furnished by Mr. W. A. Owen, and they match the general design of the monument perfectly. The monument is now complete and is of everlasting material, a worthy memorial to those brave men to whose memory it is erected and dedicated.

Mr. James Brown, who suffered injuries in a mine explosion several months ago, is opening up a tobacco and confectionery store in the premises just vacated by Mr. A. Maxwell of the Star Livery Stables.

Mr. Brown expects to have the place ready for business early in the week, and will have on sale a full line of tobaccos, cigars, cigarettes, soft drinks, confectionery, etc. There is no doubt that Mr. Brown will be accorded a good share of the public patronage.

Council Will Investigate The Prices Of Foodstuffs

Reply Received From Attorney-General Farris Concerning Meat Prices—City Clerk Instructed to Procure Necessary Data of Local Prices on Meats and Other Foodstuffs.

The City Council freely discussed the question of prices of meat and other foodstuffs in Cumberland at the meeting on Monday night. It will be remembered that at a recent meeting the Council instructed the city clerk to write Attorney-General Farris asking for an investigation into the prices of meat in Cumberland. The following reply was received:

Victoria, May 20, 1921.

City Clerk,
Cumberland, B. C.

Dear Sir,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 16th inst., regarding the price of beef sold by local butchers.

Before advising you in this matter I should like to be in possession of the following information:

(1) A statutory declaration showing the price of beef carcass per pound delivered to the wholesale dealer in Cumberland, or, in the absence of a wholesale dealer, to the retailer;

(2) A statutory declaration showing the range of prices, for the different cuts, at which this beef is sold to consumers;

(3) Whether the Council has knowledge of any association of dealers whose primary object is to fix prices.

On receipt of these declarations and information I shall be pleased to give the matter further consideration; although, in any event, I can only make my recommendations to the Federal government, under whom matters dealing with trade and commerce come, for their consideration and action.

Yours truly,

J. W. DE B. FARRIS,
Attorney-General.

Considerable discussion followed the reading of this communication, the aldermen agreeing that the cost of things generally were too high in Cumberland.

Eventually the Council authorized the city clerk to procure local prices on meat an other foodstuffs, and also the city prices, and submit them to the council.

A feature of the evening was the splendid orchestra, comprising eight players under Bandmaster Alverstone. There were two violins, two cornets, piano, trombone, clarinet and drums in the aggregation. The music was much enjoyed by the happy throngs of dancers. Dancing was kept up until about 2.30.

To Stand Trial For House Breaking

Joseph Short Suspected of Petty Thefts in District, Sent to Nanaimo for Trial.

During the latter part of April and beginning of May last, complaints were made to the Chief of Police to the effect that several small thefts had occurred at the School Buildings and the Cumberland Athletic Association Hall, the thefts being committed at night, entrance to the buildings having apparently being gained by the use of skeleton keys.

Enquiries led the chief to suspect a man named J. Short, who at one time had given the name of Muir, and answered the description of a man who had slept in a vacant passenger coach at the Wellington Colliery Railway depot. Further enquiries showed that this man had gone to Bevan, where he had apparently obtained work at No. 7 Mine.

On the 6th inst. Mr. F. Partridge reported to the chief that a man named Short had obtained two suit cases from him under what appeared to be false pretences. This report gave the chief definite information under which he could secure a warrant. Accordingly he notified Provincial Constable Dunbar, and together they proceeded to Bevan in search of Short, but enquiries only brought out the fact that Short had obtained board and lodging in a private house and had later been ejected for non-payment.

Short had been seen in Cumberland on the 6th inst. Apparently getting suspicious of police activities, he vanished. After a thorough search the chief discovered two suit cases which had been left by the suspected man in an unoccupied room in town. On the suit cases being opened they were found to contain articles which had been stolen from the two first-named buildings, and also some from a store in town.

Diligent enquiries were made as to the whereabouts of the suspect, but beyond the usual wild rumors which generally attend cases of this kind, no definite information could be obtained until, on Wednesday morning last, it was reported that a man had been seen near Royston about 8 o'clock.

At about the same time Mr. J. A. Fraser reported that his barber shop had been broken into and several small articles stolen. Chief of Police Bunbury and Constable Dunbar at once made haste to Union Bay. Enquiries on the road showed that Short had been seen about a mile from the Bay, but no other evidence of his appearance could be gathered, and it was presumed that he had taken to the railway track as a safe route.

The police drove to the docks, where the S.S. Charmer was on the point of sailing, and notified the officers of their search. They then proceeded to Union Bay and notified the agent, after which they went on to Fanny Bay and watched the railway track. Coming to the conclusion that their man must still be in Union Bay, they returned to that place and found that a telephone message had been sent to Cumberland stating that Short was on the wharf. Sergt. Brian of the R. N. W. M. P., was notified, and he in turn notified Constable Bolous, who was at Union Bay. Constable Bolous, accompanied by Mr. A. S. Abrams, proceeded to the wharf, where they found Short, and detained him until Chief of Police Bunbury and Constable Dunbar returned to Union Bay, when the chief arrested Short on a warrant.

On Thursday morning Short appeared before Magistrate Baird. The charge against him by the chief was withdrawn and two other charges were laid by Constable Dunbar, that of breaking and entering Fraser's Barber Shop and also the Literary and Athletic Hall and taking things therefrom.

Mr. Fraser testified as to the things taken from his store, some of which were produced in court and recognized by Mr. Fraser. These had been taken from Short's person when he was searched by the police.

Mr. Tremlett also identified things taken from the Athletic Hall.

Magistrate Baird committed the accused for trial at Nanaimo, to which city he was taken on the same afternoon by the provincial police.

Short appeared to be very repentant and intimated to the chief that he would plead guilty and take his medicine. He has been only twelve months in Canada and is an Imperial veteran, having served as a sergeant in the Military Police. He claims to have a wife and two children in Scotland.

Branch of Canadian Institute Mining and Metallurgy Formed

Aim to Make Island Branch One of Best in Dominion—Standardization of Certificates From Coast to Coast—Mr. Geo. O'Brien Elected Chairman.

A branch of the above institute was formed on June 2, 1921, with headquarters in Nanaimo, and will be known as the Vancouver Island Branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Mr. John Hunt, General Manager of the Canadian Western Fuel Co., was appointed chairman of the meeting and explained to the members the object of the meeting. He stated that Mr. G. McKenzie, the secretary-treasurer of the institute, was present to address the meeting, and after a few remarks called Mr. McKenzie to the platform.

Mr. McKenzie in a very able manner gave a lengthy address and stated that the executive council had instructed him to visit each mining centre from the Atlantic to the Pacific for the purpose of getting into personal touch with the members of the institute. He was very pleased to see so many present on such short notice, there being representatives from all the collieries on Vancouver Island in attendance. He also stated that it was the policy of the executive council to have the secretary-treasurer visit each centre from coast to coast at least once a year. It is expected that this will bridge the gap that now exists betwen the East and West.

Many matters of interest to the coal-mining members were touched upon, amongst which were the following: Standardization of certificates of mine officials throughout the Dominion of Canada; the proposal of transportation of Alberta coal to Eastern points over Transcontinental Railways; the admission of all underground mine officials to membership in the institute.

Standardization of Certificates.

The first subject should be of great importance to coal-mining officials in British Columbia, and in fact in all

G.W.V.A. Notes

A whist drive and dance will be held by the members of the G.W.V.A. on Friday evening, June 17. Whist drive to commence at 8 o'clock sharp, with dancing from 10 to midnight. Don't forget the date.

A concert will be held in the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on or about July 6 next, under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. A strong committee is now working on the preliminaries and later announcements will be made.

A general discussion took place at Tuesday's meeting of the G.W.V.A. on the apparent indifference of the Provincial and Dominion Governments with regard to returned men getting appointments under the Government Liquor Control Board, and as assistant enumerators in taking the census. There are a number of returned men in this district who are well qualified to take some of the positions and who have been entirely ignored by the powers that be. This does not appear as if the Federal or Provincial Governments are taking the interests of the returned men to heart, and considerable dissatisfaction is the result. Could anything else be expected?

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL ON WEDNESDAY NEXT

The Women's Auxiliary of Holy Trinity Church will hold a Strawberry Festival on the lawn of the vicarage on Wednesday afternoon next, June 15. Afternoon tea, ice cream and strawberries will be served. Should the afternoon be wet the event will be held in the church hall.

Have You a Vote?

Voters Who Neglected to Vote At Last Election Will Be Struck Off Roll.

Voters who failed to vote at the last Provincial Election will be struck off the roll unless they fill in a new application before the Court of Revision sits Monday week.

The Act in force last year called for the names of all who did not vote to be removed from the voters' list, but amendments passed during the recent session made provision for names of voters who failed to take advantage of their right to vote to be retained on the list provided new application forms were filled in. Mr. John Baird, Government Agent, is Registrar of Voters for the Comox Electoral District, and application should be made to him.

Court of Revision.

A sitting of the Court of Revision will be held on Monday, June 20, at 10 a.m., for the purpose of hearing any objections to the retention of names on the Register of Voters for the Comox Electoral District. The sitting will be held in the Court House, Cumberland.

SMOKING CONCERT SATURDAY NIGHT

A smoking concert under auspices of the St. John's First Aid and Mine Rescue Association will be held in the G. W. V. A. Hall on Saturday night, commencing at 8 o'clock. Admission fifty cents; refreshments served.

Nanaimo Team Here Saturday

Champions Have to Eliminate Other Teams to Enter Connaught Cup Series.

What promises to be a battle royal is the Connaught Cup game to be played Saturday between the Cumberland football team and the strong Nanaimo eleven. The Connaught Cup series is to decide which team shall go to Winnipeg to represent B. C. in the Dominion championship.

As far as British Columbia is concerned there should be no necessity for a series of games to decide which is the champion team to represent the province. Cumberland United have already won the distinction of being the champions of B. C., and in no uncertain manner. Why they should be called upon again to qualify is, in the writer's opinion, hardly a square deal. However, what the team has accomplished once it can do a second time.

The executive of the Nanaimo team is relying on the same team that beat the Wallace's team of Vancouver, to do duty here on Saturday.

Owing to Milligan leaving Cumberland for Regina, and indisposition of Jock Irvine, the local team will not be known until a short time before the game.

Given fine weather a good crowd should be on hand to greet the champions of B. C. The kick-off is scheduled for 5.45, giving people living outside the city ample time to get in.

In the event of a draw at the full time of 90 minutes, extra time will be played, as the powers that be have ordered the game played to a finish.

The Cumberland City Band will render some popular music for half an hour before the kick-off and also at half-time.

ILO-ILO THEATRE

Until further notice the moving picture shows at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre will be held on four nights each week only, Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The shows begin at 7 o'clock, with a continuous performance until 10.

LOCAL BRANCH OF CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF MINING AND METALLURGY FORMED

the provinces in which coal is mined. The regulations governing the various coal producing provinces at present stipulates that an official can not act as mine manager, mine foreman, fireboss or shotlighter unless he is in possession of a certificate of competency issued by the province in which coal production is carried on. This means that a person may be a very efficient mine manager in British Columbia, but if he did not possess a certificate as such in the other coal-mining provinces he could not act as mine manager, neither could he act in any other official position that requires a certificate.

In Great Britain the certificate of competency issued is good in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, and there is a greater variety of mining in those countries than there is in the Dominion of Canada at the present time. There is no reason why the standardization of certificates should not be carried out.

Membership Open to Underground Officials.

Another subject of importance was the action taken by the executive council of the institute in opening their ranks of membership to practically all underground officials. This is a underground mine officials. This is a step in the right direction, as the mine foreman and fireboss of today will be our mine managers, superintendents and general managers of tomorrow, and every mine official should take advantage of the new policy.

Election of Officers.

Nominations for officers of the new branch was then called for, and the following gentlemen were elected:

Chairman, Mr. G. O'Brien, Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., Cumberland.

Vice-chairman, Mr. T. A. Spruston, Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., Ladysmith.

Secretary-treasurer, Mr. W. H. Moore, Canadian Western Fuel Co., Nanaimo.

Local Council: Mr. Chas. Graham, Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., Cumberland; Mr. Jas. Strang, Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., Ladysmith; Mr. Chas. Campbell, General Superintendent, Cassidy; Mr. John John, Superintendent, New Jingle Pot, Nanaimo.

It is the intention to make the new branch one of the best of its kind in the Dominion, and plans are being prepared for this purpose.

Mr. John Hunt, General Manager of the Canadian Western Fuel Co., and Mr. Thomas Graham, General Superintendent of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., expressed their willingness to co-operate with the executive of the branch in making it a success, and also offered their help to defray some of the expenses incurred in the organization on behalf of the companies they represent.

This generous offer on behalf of the mining companies was accepted and it is hoped that all interested will put their shoulders to the wheel and make the Vancouver Island branch second to none.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. McKenzie, to which he suitably replied, and in the course of his remarks stated that he was highly satisfied and well repaid for the trouble of coming to Vancouver Island, as the meeting was one of the most enthusiastic he had attended during his tour of the Dominion.

The organization work was left in the hands of the Local Council, and a meeting will be called in the near future to hear their report.

HOUSING OF POULTRY

Not all who keep chickens either in town or country know how to secure the best results from their flocks. For lack of knowledge the chicks often develop into spindle-legged, small-bodied, poor-laying creatures. And yet any amount of instructive literature is published and can be had without cost by applying to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Housing shares in importance with feeding, if the best results are to be gained. In this connection it is interesting to observe that a revised edition of the bulletin on Poultry House Construction by F. C. Elford, Dominion Poultry Husbandman, has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, to meet the constantly increasing demand for information coming from almost every class of the community. The bulletin, which is based on trials of various kinds of poultry houses in different parts of Canada, treats of the subject clearly and comprehensively. Plans and building instructions, with illustrations and diagrams, are so given as to enable anyone to erect a poultry house as may be desired.

LIVE STOCK OF CANADA IN HEALTHY CONDITION

The report of the Veterinary Director-general recentlyq issued, covers two years, the first part for the year ending March 31, 1919, and the second part for the twelve months ending March 31, 1920. The health of Canada's live stock during both years is shown to have been highly satisfactory. In fact it is easy to believe that Canada is the healthiest country in the world for all breeds of live stock. No country can claim to be absolutely free from ailments in its cattle, horses, sheep and swine any more than it can that every human being is health-perfect. But Canada, it is safe to assert, comes nearer to the ideal state than any other land. None of the epizootic diseases that cause most anxiety to sanitary officials, such as foot and mouth diseases, cattle plague and contagious pleuro-pneumonia, are found within our borders. Diseases that do exist to a very limited extent, such as glanders, hog cholera and cattle mange, the report shows, are being kept well under control and are diminishing in number year by year. Glanders is proven to have existed only in Northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and in those provinces extremely few cases are reported. All the outbreaks, it is stated, have been efficiently dealt with and the disease eradicated.

WANTED—A FRIEND

WANTED—A friend who will recognize me when compelled to wear patched pants; who will take my hand when I am sliding down hill, instead of giving me a kick to hasten my descent; who will lend me a dollar without two dollars security; who will pull off his coat when the odds are two to one; who will talk of me behind my back as he does to my face. Such a being is wanted by ten thousand human being throughout the world.

You all know that it is a bad thing to let your watch run down. It ruins the works. It's just as bad to let your business run down—and advertising is the key that keeps it wound up.

CULLING THE FLOCK

Experimental Farms Note.

The hatching season should now be over on the well regulated poultry plant and attention directed to culling the flock to make room for the growing youngsters.

In the first place there should be vigorously culled from the flock all birds that show any physical defects, such as crooked beaks, backs or breasts, excessively long toe nails, sunken eyes and long "crow" head, knock-knees or other signs of poor stamina and low vitality

At this season, if they have not already been discarded, the hens over two years old, unless possessing the characteristics of extra high production and retained as breeders on this account, should be marketed as soon as they stop laying, show signs of broodiness or moult.

When trap nests are used this condition is readily noticeable, but if not the hens that have stopped laying can be readily distinguished by their shrinking comb and fading color of face and wattles, also by the contraction of the pelvic bones.

These bones, slightly protruding on each side of the vent, remain spread to the width of about three fingers placed perpendicularly between them, as long as the hen is laying. In the poor producer they will be found closed to the width of only one finger, and when the latter condition is evident early in the season, when she should be still producing, it is a fairly good indication that the bird has given up too soon and is not the type that makes the high record.

Vigor, health and high producing qualities are shown by distinctly visible characters, and all birds that do not carry these qualities in a marked degree should disappear from the flock.

The high-producing characters of primary significance are: Full, red comb, bright bulging eye, long keel bone with lots of width between stern extremity and pelvic bones showing depth of body with capacity for feed and room for producing organs; fine pelvic bones spread well apart and an elastic, velvet texture to the skin of the abdomen.

Hens that moult late in the season and in the yellow-skinned varieties those individuals that fade out white in the sections that show pigment, namely the skin, beak, shank and ear lobe, also indicate the possibility of high production, and should be kept in preference to those that do not carry these qualities.

There are more intricate decisive characters that help in the selection of good from poor layers, but the foregoing will be of some use in an elementary way, to the farmer in selecting his breeders to carry over to the next season. If carefully followed, they will eliminate most of the undesirable specimens that are a source of expense without profit and rob the deserving hens of the flock of their creditable record.

5000 FACTS ABOUT CANADA

The annual publication, "5000 Facts About Canada," is a gold mine of information about the Dominion that no Canadian can afford to be without, and its popularity is steadily growing. The 1921 edition is now out and may be had from leading newsdealers or fro mthe Canadian Facts Publishing Co., 588 Huron Street, Toronto, for 30c per copy. Its compiler, Frank Yeigh, is rendering a public service in thus making available, in accessible and condensed form, under fifty chapter headings, ranging from Agriculture to the Yukon, the story of Canada in a nutshell. It is a revelation of the wonderful wealth and growth of the country, and is, as well, a fine advertisement of the Dominion. Governments, banks, boards of trade and big financial and industrial concerns use hundreds of copies. It is moreover an excellent booklet to send to friends abroad as a unique cyclopedia of Canada.

ENDORSES BOWLING GREEN.

Editor Island.—The paragraph in last week's issue re the advisability of making a bowling green in Cumberland is a matter worthy of immediate earnest consideration.

Within this community there are many old-time bowlers who, I venture to hope, will avail themselves of the invitation to tell the public, through the columns of The Islander, of their desire, not only to have but to contribute willingly to the laying out of a good green whereon they could have, in due season, a good game of bowls. The suggested site (Public Park) is ideal and convenient.

Yours, eager for a game,

HAD A LOT OF SENSE

There was an old geezer and he had a lot of sense. He started up a business on a dollar and eighty cents. The dollar for stock, and the eighty for an ad. brought him three lovely dollars in a day!

Well, he bought more goods and a little more space, and he played that system with a smile on his face.

The customers flocked to his two-by-four and soon he had to hustle for a regular store. Up on the square where the people pass, he gobbled up a corner that was all plate glass. He fixed up the windows with the best he had, and told them all about it in a half-page ad.

He soon had 'em coming and he never, never quit, and he wouldn't cut down on his ads. one jilt. And he's kept things humming in the town ever since, and everybody calls him the Merchant Prince.

Some say it's luck, but that's all bunk—why, he was doing business when the times were punk!

People have to purchase, and Geezer was wise—for he knew the way to get 'em was to advertise!

Jack Dempsey was in Atlantic City on Hospital Day and paid the local institution a visit. The champion promised to provide a French patient early in July or come back in person.

THE LIQUOR CONTROL ACT

Wednesday next, June 15, is the date set when the new Liquor Act comes into operation, which will convert British Columbia, legally, from a semi-arid territory under the Prohibition Act to a semi-moist province under Government Control. There has been very much talk both in and out of Parliament, and volumes have been written upon the subject, but at the present time very little interest seems to be taken in the matter.

On enquiry at the local Government Office we are informed that not a single application has been made for a permit to purchase liquor! On the first day on which the permits were on sale in Vancouver twenty were sold, and in Victoria nineteen. Certainly the supposedly thirsty citizens of this fair province are not in a hurry to pay five dollars for the privilege of purchasing liquor in due season. The probability is the great majority will wait until they wish to purchase beer or liquor before getting the necessary permit. An objection is against the Liquor Control Board assessing the full five dollars for only half a year's use.

One clause that will give a great deal of trouble to the authorities and irritation to those affected, is the proposal to tax private stocks of liquor with the difference as paid by the owner and the price at which the Liquor Control Board will sell similar liquor. Prominent lawyers have ventured the opinion that the amount the government will get from this source will be nil. Such being the case it may prove cheaper to send out of the province for liquor than to purchase it from the Liquor Control Board, which would be a big blow to the financial success of the venture.

It has been reported that the chairman of the Liquor Board wants the price sufficiently high to enable funds to be available with which to fight the bootlegger and put him out of business. Should this be the policy of the Liquor Board we feel they are doomed to disappointment. The higher the cost of liquor the more bootlegging will there be, because there is more profit. Make the liquor so cheap that selling it will be unprofitable for this nefarious individual and he will automatically go out of business, to the great benefit of all concerned.

The public are asked to give the new Act a fair trial. If found unsatisfactory it can be amended at the next session of the Provincial Legislature in a few months.

ADVANTAGES OF BUYING CANADIAN-MADE GOODS

The advantages of more general support of the Made-in-Canada movement are abundantly apparent, and some of them may be listed as follows:

1. It would result in provision of employment for more workers in Canada in the mine, in the factory and on the farm, and would be a material factor in relieving unemployment. If even 25 per cent. of the goods imported into Canada last year had been supplied from Canadian sources, direct employment would have been provided for some 65,000 additional workers at good wages. Including dependents, such additional business would have supported directly more than 250,000 persons.

2. The supplying of a larger part of Canadian needs from Canadian sources would bring business to Canadian railroads, Canadian banks, Canadian insurance companies, Canadian merchants and, in fact, to practically every class in the community, and in this way much additional employment would be provided indirectly.

3. The home market for Canadian agricultural products, raw materials and semi-manufactured goods, would be considerably increased.

4. The enlarged home market for Canadian goods would make possible production at a lower unit cost and would give the advantages of quality production, with consequent benefits to the consumers. Canadian producers would be encouraged to add to their investment by installing specialized machinery and to attempt standardization of output to a larger extent than is now possible.

5. By adding to the volume of business conducted in Canada and making possible the profitable ocupation of an enlarged number of persons, the taxable income of the country would be considerably enlarged and the burden of taxation correspondingly eased.

SWAT THAT FLY

That the remorseless persecution of the fly is not a hopeless quest is amply proved by the success with which during the war the British medical service in France fought the deadly insect under very difficult conditions. The ideal of medical authorities is to make it as extinct as the dodo, for of all living creatures the common house fly is the one about which it seems to be generally agreed that it possesses no single virtue or use in its survival, even to the extent of "preserving the balance of nature."—London Daily News.

HOLD ON TO YOUR JOB

If the seamen, the printers, the miners, the plumbers—the whole bunch of good workingmen—will take our advice, they will arbitrate, negotiate, conversate, meditate, cogitate, argumentate and expostulate in setting forth their desires, but will be careful not to vacate their jobs. It is a mistake to assume that they are infallible, or that their demands are necessarily just, and it is the last word in folly to invoke the loss and waste of idleness by striking. —Houston Post.

SPRING CLEANING

House-cleaning time, house-cleaning time!
The housewives are busily chasing the grime;
The pictures are all taken down from the walls
The chairs and the tables are out in the halls,
And upstairs or downstairs, wherever you fare,
The odor of suds and ammonia is there,
Co-mingled with perfume of chloride of lime;
House-cleaning time! House-cleaning-time!

Mother is wearing a calico gown,
A towel for headdress—and also a frown;
And Willie is lingering out in the street,
Appalled at the prospect of rugs he must beat,
And hoping his mother won't ask him to scrub;
While father, dear father, stops down at his club—
For only a person with patience sublime
Can stick around home when it's house-cleaning time!

Oh, dustpans and buckets and brushes galore;
And mops, brooms and scrubbing rags clutter the floor.
You eat from the mantel or off of a shelf,
And all that you get you must rustle yourself.
The clotheslines are sagging with blankets and such,
And mattresses fill the whole yard, pretty much;
The furniture's piled in a sort of a heap;
There's no place to sit and there's no place to sleep.
And wise people flee to some far, foreign clime,
And stay there till after it's house-cleaning time!

—BERTON BRALEY.

News of Benjamin Franklin's "golden snowball"—the accrued interest on his thousand dollar bequest to the city of Philadelphia—is reviving in England some old Franklin stories. It seems that when he was a compositor in London he was known as "the American aquatic," not developing a taste for wine until he lived in Paris as American Minister. Abbe Mouellet in "Letters to Lord Shelbourne," quotes a letter in which Franklin says that the wickedness of man before the flood was due to there being nothing but water to drink. Noah had such a sickness of water whilst in the ark that he invented wine, and thereafter—with the exception of one lapse from sobriety—trod the path of virtue till death came. With his letter Franklin sent the Abbe some drawings to prove that whereas all other animals with long legs have long necks, so that they can drink easily from rivers and streams, man has a short neck. He evidently was meant to drink easily out of a glass, but Providence intends that the inferior animals shall drink water.

SINC SWANSON AND PETE MORRISON WILL WRESTLE AT NANAIMO

Both Men Working Hard for Event and Grim Contest Anticipated.

NANAIMO.—As was to be expected, the announcement that Sinc Swanson and Pete Morrison had at last signed up articles for a wrestling match which will be pulled off in the Opera House on the night of the 25th of June, has set all the local sports agog. Both men have their own particular following, and the long feud there has been between them invests the match with an interest all its own. Their meeting on the 25th will be no parlor exhibition of the wrestling game. Both men will be animated by a long and bitter rivalry, and as they have agreed that the winner is to take the whole of the stakes it will be a veritable struggle to the death. Neither of them will give in, and it is unlikely that there will be any fluke falls with two such masters of the game as Sinc and Pete, and sheer supremacy in grit, stamina and physique will determine the result. It goes without saying that the bout will be one of the fastest and most furious ever seen on a local mat.

Both men are hard at work, and as a matter of fact both of them were busy before the signing of the articles. They have both been too long at the game for either of them to be caught at a disadvantage, and when they take the mat on the 25th both will be in the best possible condition. They are both out to win; they are both confident of winning, and as each of them feels that a twenty years' mat record is at stake, as well as their prestige among their local supporters, they will both go the limit to pull off the match.—Herald.

Accused: "No; the chair breaking."

NEED OF MISSION WORKERS ON COAST

The need of mission workers along the Pacific Coast of British Columbia is strikingly illustrated in reports that are sent in from Rev. George C. F. Pringle, in charge of the Presbyterian Loggers' Mission. In one district he found twenty-one families who had never had a religious service, and most of their children are unbaptized. In other areas eighteen families have had no religious service for a year, and twenty-six families for two years. In yet another wide area, including several logging camps, the one hundred and twenty-six families have had nothing in the nature of a religious service for five years. The deep-sea fishermen of the coast, who are chiefly of Scotch and Scandinavian extraction, have long been untouched by any church. These are only a few examples of the urgent need for home mission work on the coast.

Pioneer Missions in B. C.

The first Presbyterian missionary reached British Columbia sixty years ago, the Irish Presbyterian Church sending a representative to Victoria in 1861, followed by others in 1862-5. Today there are 48 self-sustaining congregations, 31 augmented charges and 90 missions, or 169 in all.

The Sikhs in B. C.

The East Indians, or Sikhs, of British Columbia, are being ministered to by Presbyterian missionaries on Vancouver Island, as well as the mainland. The Sikhs have an imposing temple in Vancouver for their form of worship, and have recently collected $5,000 for a Sikh school in the Punjab.

The artist's lady friend was being shown around the studio. "Oh, perfect!" she exclaimed, looking at a picture. "Those ostriches are simply superb. You should never paint anything but birds." The artist winced under the blow. "These are not ostriches," he said; "they are angels."

To Our Customers—

Although the price of many staple commodities has fallen considerably in recent months, it is also true that there are other very much used articles which have not been reduced greatly, owing no doubt to the powerful interests which control and regulate the price of these goods.

In all cases and at all times, when the wholesale price is reduced to us, we bring down the retail price to the same extent.

The accompanying price list of this week will bear this out, but we also hope to see a greater reduction in such articles as Shoes, Clothing and Flour. The country is flooded with hides and wool. Why should Shoes and Clothing be still so high?

This is a matter that should interest those in authority.

MUCH IMPORTANT BUSINESS DEALT WITH BY CITY COUNCIL

Provincial Government on the highway scheme.

Fire Menace.

Messrs. Campbell Bros. wrote the Council as follows:

"Cumberland, B.C.,
"May 30, 1921.

"To the Mayor and Aldermen.

"Sirs.—We wish to draw your attention to the condition of several outbuildings between our store and Tarbell's store.

"Now that the hot weather is with us these shacks are very much of a fire menace, besides being an unnecessary obstruction in case of fire.

"The rates for fire insurance on this whole block might be reduced if these outbuildings were removed, or the owners were induced to have them torn down and others rebuilt in a more safe condition.

"We are, yours faithfully,

"CAMPBELL BROS."

This communication brought forth some strong remarks, the aldermen agreeing with the contents of the letter. Suggestions were made that steps should be taken to have these old places torn down.

The question was referred to the Board of Works.

Concerning an overshipment of about 200 feet of 6-inch pipe by Evans, Coleman & Evans, the Council decided to retain the pipes, as they will undoubtedly be needed n the near future.

Tender for Painting Accepted.

The tender of H. Parkinson for painting the Council chambers with two coats of paint, at a cost of $60, was accepted.

Poll-Tax Receipts Large.

City Clerk Mordy reported that the poll-tax of five dollars was coming in well and that it would produce several thousand dollars revenue for the city.

In connection with the poll tax collected by the Provincial Government previous to the Council adopted the Poll Tax Bylaw, the City Clerk was instructed to communicate with Mr. J. Baird, Government Agent, in reference to the money being turned over to the Council.

The following bills and accounts were received and referred to the Finance Committee:

Cumberland Motor Works, supplies to fire truck	7.55
C. H. Tarbell & Son, supplies	7.95
Courtenay Hardware, stable supplies	16.50
T. E. Bate, water supplies and labor	34.70

Ald. Bannerman reported that considerable water was flowing from the pipes of the Royal Candy Co. The chief of police was requested to look into the matter.

Followers of Izaak Walton will look forward to the June issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, which is now on sale. In this number there are five fishing stories and articles by such well well known authors as A. Bryan Williams, F. V. Williams, S. C. Cain, Robert Page Lincoln and S. H. Howard. "The Silver Doctor," an interesting story of fishing in the Shekak Canyon, is worthy of especial mention. The hunter and firearms man has been well looked after in this issue by C. S. Landis, the guns and ammunition expert. In addition to this feature, the latest proposed amendments to the firearms permit laws are published in full. Conservation, kennel and the other departments are up to their high standard. Rod and Gun in Canada ish published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont.

THE BOWLING GREEN

Editor Islander.—It was with pleasure I read the suggestion in The Islander of June 4th for a bowling green in Cumberland. As an enthusiast I have no hesitation in saying that, properly managed, a green would be a big success in this district. But I am rather dubious of the City Park as a suitable place, as a bowling green requires to be kept in very good condition, and the officers would hardly have sufficient control over a public ground to ensure this always being the case. The best idea, to my mind, is to form a club, procure private property and make a good lawn.

Let's all booost for a Bowling Club.

Yours in sport,

P. H. K.

CHINA'S ARMY

I smile when I think about this wonderful army of China. Chinese soldiers will give you a laugh twenty-four hours a day—there are 1,300,000 of them, and that's 1,300,000 laughs. You see them everywhere. They are drawing six silver dollars a month which they mostly don't get, and living off the fat and lean of the land by streaks.

Judged by the number of soldiers under arms, China this minute is one of the most military nations in the world—but she isn't to be taken seriously, except locally. And locally she is anything but the pacifist country she's cracked up to be.

America brought China into the war. Liberal China, that has always been friendly with America, wanted to be with America—and the militarists saw a chance to get the great national army they dreamed of. So China was swung into the war on August 14, 1917.

America refused to lend them money to build up the fighting force, and so they turned to Japan. In the year 1918 alone, twenty-nine loans, all on secret agreements, aggreagting $123,000,000, were made by Japan. In the forty-eight months preceding September, 1918, fifty-one loans, totalling $300,000,000,, were made by Japan.

Most of this money went for military purposes and resulted in the formation of a great northern army that has been more or less under the direct influence of Japanese military officers. This army kept the corrupt and inefficient Peking officials in power and drew tigher the stranglehold that Japan has on the Chinese Government. It kept the 400,000,000 people of China under the heel of the Peking militarists and the different military governors, and in turn held these military politicians under the spell of Japan.

China today is really less of a republic than Japan is—and Japan today is merely an echo of the Germany of Bismarck. The government, instead of being a responsible democracy, is nothing short of a military autocracy—or rather a collection of military autocracies. It is uncontrollably decentralized to the extent that the real power rests in some twenty Tu-chuns or military governors of provinces, each of whom has his own army and belongs to some clique of fellow Tu-chuns that controls combinations of different Tu-chuns.—Frazier Hunt in the International.

THE PARTING

I'll have to say good-bye, old bus,
You've ben a faithful friend to us!

Of service as our parting nears.

Your wobbly wheels and fender dents,
Scars of forgotten accidents.

To keep alive your frame of junk,
Now I must bid you "on the way,"
Our brand new car arrives today!

A man went into a drug store recently. He was a man who does not mind a joke against himself, but though he was well known to the druggist, the latter refused to supply him with some poison.

"But, rubbish!" remonstrated the customer. "You know me well."

"Sorry, sir," persisted the druggist, "but I cannot give you poison without a prescription."

"Why," said the customer, "do I look like a man who would kill himself?"

"I don't know," said the druggist, "but if I looked like you I should be tempted."

"HIS WIFE'S MONEY"

A Comedy-Drama Production of High Calibre—Both Wholesome and Gripping.

"His Wife's Money," the Selznick picture, starring Eugene O'Brien, is properly described as a comedy-drama. Its story is such as to permit of the painting of real life with plenty of light and shade, and as a consequence there is both wholesome comedy and gripping drama.

The picture public is always interested in "big things" which producers for the screen find it possible to use in telling their stories. An early incident of "His Wife's Money" shows a disabled motor boat with a beautiful girl its lone occupant, snatched from sure destruction as it hangs on the very brink of a precipitous waterfall. Deep in the bowels of the earth, later in the action, there is shown a terrific explosion which successfully uncovers a rich vein of ore which means a fortune for the hero. Still later is shown the money-mad stock exchange in New York in the throes of a "bear" movement that means ruin and disaster for hundreds of frenzied operators.

With Eugene O'Brien playing a role for which he is ideally suited, Zena Keefe as his principal support, and surrounded by a cast of players who are among the ablest ever assembled for a Selznick picture, it is not strange that the wealth of action which is indicated by these big scenes makes for drama of the kind that is rarely encountered in the picture theatre.

Synopsis of the Story.

Richard Flint, a young engineer, has gone to the Adirondacks for a rest. While fishing he is startled by a girl's cry for help. Marion Phelps, an heiress, is drifting towards a waterfall. Flint rescues her, and it is a case of "love at first sight."

Their love-making progresses rapidly. Flint, strong, independent and ambitious, regards Marion's wealth as a "golden barrier," but the marriage takes place after Marion has promised to live within her husband's income.

James Caldwell, trustee of Marion's estate, had hoped to win Marion for himself. Before the wedding Caldwell had attempted to poison Flint's mind against his fiancee, and after the marriage his efforts continued.

Tilts between Flint and his wife, based upon Flint's determination not to live upon "his wife's money" became frequent. Then Flint accepts an important commission to relocate a rich vein of ore which has "run out" on a big Western mining property.

Roughing it and playing for big game, Flint is delighted with the West. Marion finds the life unbearable.

The Uppingtons and Caldwell go West and visit the Flints. Marion is delighted—it means a break in her monotonous life. Caldwell sympathizes with Marion and induces her to leave Flint and return East.

At the mine Flint uncovers the lost vein of ore and he is a wealthy man. He rushes home to find his wife—gone. His rage against Caldwell is boundless. He vows to destroy him. He finds no blame for Marion. Flint's plan of revenge is to break Caldwell financially. By flooding the market with stocks he forces it down until Caldwell is ruined.

But Flint's efforts to break Caldwell have other effects not realized, which in the end result in a happy re-union.

"THE DEVIL TO PAY"

A Drama of a Society Leader Who Led a Double Life, Pitting God Against the Devil

Mystery and adventure plays are coming into vogue. That is the opinion of Robert Brunton, producer of the year's photodramatic sensation, "The Devil to Pay," released by Pathe and coming to the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Tuesday night of next week.

"For the past two years," says the producer, "as a logical aftermath of the war, picture-goers have reveled in the novelty of strange philosophy, ouija boards, mediums and weird cultism. Now reaction has set in. The public is reverting to simpler themes, and the most popular of these is the old-time mystery drama."

"The Devil to Pay," adapted from Frances Nimmo Greene's novel, is a striking embodiment of Mr. Brunton's theory. It is a powerful mystery drama of a political intrigue, packed with suspense, thrills and unique situations.

The leading banker of a small city commits a felony and causes an innocent employe to be sent to the gallows in his place. With the man officially hung, the banker believes himself safe from detection and begins to enjoy life with his old abandon. Then a weird voice calls him over the telephone, whispers in his house, haunts him day and night. It is the voice of the dead man—the only one who knew his guilt—the voice of the man whose death had long since been recorded by the State!

If the plot of "The Devil to Pay" happened in real life instead of between the pages of the book and on the screen, it would be the sensation of the age. Its thrills and mystery would have blazed from the front page of every newspaper in the country.

It would have baffled the world's keenest brains. Psychologists, neurologists, psychiatrists and psychoanalysts would have tried to explain with their pet theories. Ameatuer ouija board operators and professional mediums would have claimed it as evidence of life after death and spirit communication. The police would have admitted the mystery unfathomable.

"The Devil to Pay" keeps the spectators in a trance of wonderment until very near the end—just before the most amazing denouement ever put on the screen.

WOMAN AND HER CLOTHES

In "The Devil to Pay," Robert Brunton's sensational mystery drama, Fritzi Brunette, the piquant little beauty who plays the feminine role, appears in an array of fashionable attire that will both amaze and delight feminine votaries of fashion.

She wears seven complete changes of costume, each cleverly and harmoniously conceived. The entire wardrobe, from hand-worked shoes to elaborate hats, was designed by Fritzi herself and cost in the neighborhood of $5000.

Miss Brunette is very partial to new embroidery and displays much of it on suits and hats.

"JIGGS AND THE SOCIAL LION"

The millions who faithfully follow the inimitable comics in the hundreds of newspapers all over the land do not have to be told what that it means when Jiggs takes a whirl at the society game.

Johnny Ray, the famous comedian, will appear on Tuesday evening next in "Jiggs and the Social Lion," adapted from Geo. McManus famous story, "Bringing Up Father." Everyone will want to see this hilarious production.

FILMING OF BATTLE WITH A "KILLER" SHARK

The wonders of the motion picture camera never cease! The latest remarkable photographical feat to be accomplished by a resourceful cameraman is the filming of a spectacular battle between a man and a "killer" shark many feet below the ocean's surface, which appears in "The Cup of Hate," a Thomas H. Ince special production which is shortly to make its appearance.

The shark was captured after a long quest in the tropical waters off Mazatlan, Mexico, while the screen star whose skill and daring made the scenes possible is Hobart Bosworth, famous for his characterizations of sea types.

These vivid scenes of a death struggle beneath the waves were photographed off Catalina Island. The cameraman was located within a specially constructed diving bell, which could be rapidly moved from one point of vantage to another.

WHY NOT ALL SHOWS?

If the city has the right to censor moving pictures before being shown, why not have a board to examine the travelling "legit" shows before allowing the public to see them? The cases are perfectly analogous and parallel. —Portland (Ore.) Journal.

IRON SINKS

A man saw an advertisement the other day in a store window, as follows: "Iron Sinks." Feeling happier than usual, he looked in and told the storekeeper that he knew iron sank. "Yes," replied the man, "and time flies, wine vaults, and music stands, Niagara Falls, sheep runs, and the whole world goes round, trade returns and ——." But at this point the guy bolted, to reappear a moment afterwards; putting his head round the shop door he cried: "Yes, I know, and marble busts!"

At a target practice the captain swaggered up to the latest recruit. "See here," he said, "this thing is a rifle. Here is the barrel, and there's the stock. You slip the cartridge in here. Now you put the weapon to your shoulder. These little things on the barrel are the sights. When you have taken accurate aim, pull this little thing, which is the trigger. Now, remember what I have told you. Spruce up and look more like a soldier. What are you in civil life? A clerk, I suppose?"

"No, sir," was the reply; "I am a gunsmith."

"BREWSTER'S MILLIONS"

Laughs Crowd Each Other Very Swiftly When "Fatty" Arbuckle Appear in Picture

"Brewster's Millions," which has convulsed the thousands of readers of what is perhaps the most popular novel ever written by George Barr McCutcheon, threw other thousands of playgoers into spasms of laughter when it was presented on the stage. With the indescribably wider range of posibilities offered by the screen, this "Fatty" Arbuckle vehicle becomes a veritable expression of hilarity.

The story is one of pure comedy romance. It has been embellished highly in the screen version by the inclusion of a number of incidents that appear in neither the novel or the play, with the result that the production has a far greater comedy value than either of its forerunners. These additions are of such a character that only one living comedian can put across—"Fatty" Arbuckle.

It is the story of Monte Brewster who is left fatherless at the tender age of two years. "Fatty" permits no substitute to do the hard work in his plays, and this is no exception. He appears in person as the infant.

His two grandfathers quarrel as to how the boy, a promising and lusty youngster, should be brought up, so that, when he is five years of age, his mother's patience is exhausted, and she tells the grandfathers that she will bring up her child in her own way, just as she pleases, without interference from either of them. Monte himself, too young to realize the import of his mother's decision, plays artlessly with the usual toys of the ordinary five-year-old child, and little reckons what the future has in store for him. The grandfathers give it up as a bad job and wash their hands of responsibility for his up-bringing—all of which is a good thing for the youngster.

When he is twenty-five Monte (still "Fatty" himself) who is now an orphan, struggles along on a slim salary as a clerk in a steamship office.

After a series of incidents in which his poverty is accentuated, and his efforts to make both ends meet take on an extremely humorous aspect to the audience, it comes about that Grandfather Brewster offers to make a gentleman of his grandson, and presents him with a million dollars.

The other grandfather makes a counter proposition to Monte, to take him into his business as an active partner, and give him five million dollars, if at the end of the year he is absolutely broke. How he carries out this compact, spends the million and experiences the strangest tricks of Fate, rounds out the story in an hour and a half of riotous laughter.

"Brewster's Millions" will be shown at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Saturday of next week.

IF YOU HAVE A FRIEND WORTH LOVING

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him. Yes, and let him know
That you love him, ere life's evening
Tinge his brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words ne'er be said
Of a friend—till he is dead?

If you hear a song that thrills you,
Sung by any child of song,
Praise it. Do not let the singer
Wait deserved praises long.
Why should one who thrills your heart
Lack the joy you may impart?

If you hear a prayer that moves you
By its humble, pleading tone,
Join it. Do not let the seeker
Bow before its God alone.
Why should not your brothers share
The strength of "two or three' in prayer?

If you see the hot tears falling
From a brother's weeping eyes,
Share them. And by kindly sharing
Own our kinship in the skies.
Why should any one be glad
When a brother's heart is sad?

If a silvery laugh goes rippling
Through the sunshine on his face,
Share it—'Tis the wise man's saying—
For both grief and joy a place.
There's health and goodness in the mirth
When an honest laugh has birth.

If your work is made more easy
By a friendly helping hand,
Say so. Speak out brave and truly
Ere the darkness veil the land
Should a brother workman dear
Falter for a word of cheer?

Scatter thus your seeds of kindness
All enriching as you go—
Leave them. Trust the Harvest Giver;
He will make each seed to grow.
So, until the happy end,
Your life shall never lack a friend.

BASEBALL GAME SUNDAY

The baseball game arranged for Sunday last between Union Bay and Cumberland had to be postponed on account of inclement weather. Union Bay has again consented to play here on Sunday next, weather permitting, at 2 p.m. A very interesting game is anticipated, as both teams have done considerable training during the last two weeks.

The local boys are enthused over drawn game with Courtenay and are fully determined to give a better account of themselves during the rest of the season. So do not forget to be on the grounds at this game, as your presence means encouragement for the boys. Collection at the gate.

LIQUOR ACT COMES INTO FORCE JUNE 15

Not a Single Permit Has Been Applied for in Cumberland —Little Interest.

The following communication has been received by Mayor MacDonald in connection with the coming into operation of the Government Liquor Act on Wednesday next.

Very little interest seems to be taken in the subject that stirred British Columbia to the depths when the referendum was taken. Up to the time of going to press not a single permit has been applied for locally. Mr. John Baird, Government Agent, has full supplies on hand but purchasers are lacking. It begins to look as though the Liquor Control Board will have to offer some inducements by way of An Opening Sale or some such method if they wish to sell many permits.

No information has been received as to how or where liquor is to be purchased locally. However, this is not worrying the moderationists as no doubt they will be able to scare up a little reviver in case of need.

The letter from the Liquor Control Board reads as follows:

Victoria, June 1st, 1921.

To the Mayor and Chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners.

Dear Sir,—By proclamation dated the 28th day of May, 1921, the "Government Liquor Act" comes into operation on the 15th instant.

I wish to draw your attention to two of the most important provisions of the Act.

(1) From and after midnight of the 14th of June instant, it is unlawful for anyone in British Columbia, other than a Government vendor, to sell liquor to any person.

(2) From and after said date it is unlawful for anyone in British Columbia, other than a government vendor, to sell or deal in any liquor known and described as "beer" or "near-beer" or by any other name whatever commonly used to describe malt or brewed liquor.

The Board is well aware of existing conditions with respect to the unlawful sale of liquor and the trade that has been carried on in beer and near-beer, and I wish you would be good enough to see that instructions are given your officers to warn all hotels, bars, cafes, cabarets and soft drink places and any other place where beer or near-beer has been sold in the past, that the sale of beer or near-beer must cease on and after the 14th instant.

I draw your attention to section 44 of the act, which prohibits any person engaged in the business of selling non-intoxicating beverages to keep or have with his stock of such beverages or on his business premises any liquor, as defined by the Government Liquor Act.

I also draw your attention to section 45 of the act, which prohibits the owner or occupier of any building permitting any sign displaying the words "bar," "bar-room," "saloon," "tavern," "wines, beer, or liquors," or words of like import, upon the outside or kept up or near to, or to be otherwise displayed from the building or any shop or room therein.

The Board relies on the co-operation of all police officers, municipal and provincial, in the strict enforcement of the new act, and will at all times be pleased to assist you in carrying out and upholding the law.

Yours truly,

LIQUOR CONTROL BOARD,
A. M. Johnson, Chairman.

BIG FISH CAUGHT

To Mr. T. Michell belong the happy experience of catching the largest fish taken out of Comox Lake this year. Among the big catch secured by Mr. Michell on Saturday afternoon was a beautiful trout, weighing no less than seven pounds two ounces.

Mr. Michell devotes his fishing trips to this famous fishing ground, and has secured some fine bags of late.

Bevan Notes

On the afternoon of June 3rd, Miss Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Harry C. Brown, was "at home" to her friends, the occasion being her eighth birthday. From invitations sent out some twenty-four were present, many being from Cumberland. After a sumptuous repast had been partaken of, games, dances, ets., were indulged in until the clock chimed ten, when the guests departed for their respective homes. In dispensing the good things the hostess was ably aided by Miss Harris, Bevan, Miss McDonald, Cumberland, Grandma Brown, and the parents of the hostess.

Spend the first and second of July at Ladysmith. On the first there will be a big programme of sports, and the second of July will see a Band Contest pulled off, which will be the first Band Contest held on the Island. There is already great rivalry between the various contestants.

Military tanks are now being used for logging in France.

WHAT THE RED CROSS HAS DONE
Is Doing and Will Do

THE RED CROSS won the everlasting love of every British Columbian who fought in the Great War. Every veteran who went through the horrors of that titanic struggle knows how the Red Cross succored the wounded and dying—how it has worked faithfully and untiringly to nurse back to a semblance of their former selves, the crippled, blinded and helpless remnants of those terrible days, that they might once again take their place in the world of industry—how it has cared for the families of these men and brightened their darkest days—how it has faced every task which has confronted it, utilizing every ounce of its energy and resource. This is the Red Cross accomplishment.

THE RED CROSS is still caring for over 800 returned overseas men in the hospitals and sanatariums of this Province. It is conducting a workshop for disabled men in Victoria, where, with the aid of specially designed machinery and instructors, they are being taught new vocations which will make them self-supporting.

THE RED CROSS is conducting health campaigns to prevent disease and teach the people how to avoid contagion, and thus prevent pestilence. It is establishing emergency service and outfits throughout the Province for relief of those in distress in great disasters. It is maintaining throughout the Province, public health nurses who are ever ready to meet the call of the suffering, care for their needs and teach them how to intelligently direct their future health.

THE RED CROSS will, through its propaganda and educational programme, make this whole Province a better and safer place in which to live. It will stamp out the evils resulting through ignorance of the laws of health and hygiene so prevalent today, and so improve the general health and living conditions of every community.
