WE NEED A CHANGE-VOTE FOR COLDICUTT

Enthusiastic Reception For A. W. Neill

COURTENAY, Oct. 14—There was a large attendance in the Gaiety Theatre on Tuesday night to hear the address of Mr. A. W. Neill, the Independent candidate for the Comox-Alberni riding in the Dominion Parliament.

The platform was also occupied by Mr. W. A. Urquhart, who was chairman on this occasion, and who introduced Mr .Neill to the audience, and Messrs. R. U. Hurford, J. W. McKenzie, jr., and Alec Cleland. In his introductory remarks, the chairman brought to the minds of those present how that Mr. Neill had spoken to them in the same place four years previously, and how since then Mr. Neill had become an outstanding member in the Federal House.

In opening his remarks, Mr. Neill said that an Independent candidate had a hard row to hoe, and the work was very far from being all beer and skittles. He spent some time in explaining his actions during the last four years as member in the House with a view of proving his independence. The real test of an Independent member was, he thought, by the non-payment of election campaign expenses from party funds, and the non-attendance of party caucus. Referring to the Hon. Arthur Meighen's advertised visit to the district which did not materialise, he expressed regret that the leader of the Conservative Party did not come to this district because he would have spoken as to my integrity and sincerity in the house, said the speaker and added "Mr. Meighen would doubtless have attacked me but it would have been in a very different way to that of Mr. Ladner," whose attack the speaker

TO RAISE FINANCES BY NOVEL SCHEME

To play the game of basketball, the winter sport that is so popular in Cumberland, one must first procure a ball—and that is where the Cumberland Basketball Association is stuck. The finances of the Association are practically nil at the present moment and will be until the gate receipts are received from the season's first game. Without a ball there will be no game—and no gate receipts.

To try to raise the necessary "shekels" a committee of five met at the Athletic Club Wednesday evening and after much weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth one of the members hit upon a novel idea which was immediately accepted. Here it is:

What will be the total number of votes polled in the district of Comox-Alberni in the election to be held on October 29th?

No one will know the answer to that question until after the complete returns are filed with the returning officer, but anyone can at least give an estimate of what the total will be. Here, then, is the idea. Tickets, similar to ordinary raffle tickets, will be printed and will sell for the sum of ten cents each. Each person buying one will be entitled to write on the stub his estimate of what the number of votes will amount to. Attractive cash prizes will be given, one to the person whose estimate is closest to the actual number of votes polled, and one to the person who has the next nearest estimate. In order to avoid any confusion or unfairness the contest will close at 6:00 p.m. on the 29th. The polling booths close one hour later, and the prize winners will be made known as soon afterward as is possible .

Wedding Bells

McDonald — Dalby

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon in Holy Trinity Church, the Rev. E. O. Robothan officiating, when Miss Floreen Dalby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs .F. Dalby, of Royston, became the bride of Mr. Hugh McDonald. The happy couple left for Ladysmith after the ceremony.

CUMBERLAND U. F. C. DANCES POPULAR

The dances held in the Ilo-Ilo every Saturday night under the auspices of the Cumberland United Football Club are proving very popular. A large number of out-of-town visitors were noticed at the last dance and it is confidently expected that these popular Saturday night affairs will be the center of attraction for the whole district. A fine dancing floor, first class music, hall heated if necessary and the cheapest dance in the whole district, Gents. 50c. and Ladies 10c. Dancing until mid night. Make a note of the time and place, every Saturday night at the Ilo-Ilo Hall, Cumberland

REGULAR MEETING OF P. T. A. MONDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held in the School on the evening of Monday the 18th, and parents and teachers are invited to be on time. Note that the hour has been changed to 7:30 for this meeting, as an experiment, so that those coming from a distance can get home earlier.

The programme for Monday night is in the hands of Dr. MacNaughton, and an invitation is extended to every parent to take an interest in the welfare and education of their children. Co-operation between teacher and parents can make things go better along those lines, and the more interest taken in school affairs the easier it is for both parents and teachers.

An opportunity to meet the teachers that are imparting knowledge to your children ought to be welcomed by every parent who has a child at school.

Two Candidates For Comox-Alberni

Only two candidates will be in the field in Comox-Alberni, these being T. D. Coldicutt, Conservative, and A. W. Neill, Independent. It was expected that Mr. David Little, of Cumberland, would also contest the seat as a Labor candidate, but yesterday after noon only the following two nominations were made:

Many games were indulged in, a jolly and profitable evening being enjoyed by all.

Cumberland United Pile Up Large Score; Win 8-1

FOWLER SHOWS HOW RIGHT WING POSITION SHOULD BE PLAYED—MONAGHAN ALSO BRILLIANT

Cumberland forwards went on a rampage in last Saturday's Pacific Coast league game with St. Saviours, of Vancouver, and before the full ninety minutes had rolled around they had chalked up a total of eight goals to the Saints' one. To one who did not see the game, such a lop-sided score would give the impression that the Vancouver team was not in the game at all—and the impression would be a correct one. With the exception of the early part of the first half, Cumberland did what they wanted whenever they wanted, despite predictions made before the game that the Saints would provide the stiffest opposition the local boys have so far encountered.

GRAHAM CELEBRATES BY SCORING THREE

George Graham arrived in town on Friday morning with his transfer papers from St. Andrews correctly made out and was promptly given his old position at center-forward, Fowler being shipped to the right-wing to take the place of Bannerman, who is still on the injured list. Graham is doubtless the best center in the Province and he proved it on Saturday, celebrating his return to his old love by slipping in an even three of the total eight goals. True he and the other forwards had several misunderstandings but a little more practice together and another game will remedy that, or should.

FOWLER'S DISPLAY ON WING WAS DAY'S SURPRISE

"Gloomy" Fowler was the surprise of the day for the fans and decidedly not an unpleasant one. His performance on the right-wing was little short of marvellous; his crosses were perfect, and his speed and control of the ball were wonderful. He is really a wing man and Saturday's game proved it. Monaghan turned in his usual faultless game as did nearly all the remaining players with the exception of Stewart. The latter was ill before he went on the field and in addition it must be remembered that he has not played for some time.

On the field the players took their positions as follows:

St. Saviours—Root; Constable and Butcher; Hogg, Ross and Hendry; Moffat, Sinclair, Hammond, Coulter and Howden.

Cumberland — Walker; Mortimer and Stewart; Brake, Conti and Monaghan; Fowler, Plump, Graham, McDonald and Hitchens .

As soon as the first half started it became evident that the game was to be Cumberland's. For fully twenty minutes the local forwards hardly left the visitors' eighteen yard line but try as they would they could not get the ball between the uprights. The goalie, Root, played the game of his career but he was extremely lucky in his punching and kicking. On one occasion Hitchens was in the goalmouth but kicked just a few inches wide and Monaghan grazed the bar with one of his famous long shots. Fowler's kick luckily hit the goalie's knee and trickled over the line for a corner. Plump did manage to hit the net, but on the outside, and Graham lifted yards high when he had an open goal staring him in the eyes.

The visitors' goal came 25 minutes from the start of play and was a fine piece of work on the part on Howden and Hammond, the latter converting. It was the only time the visitors were really dangerous.

The set-back was just what the local forwards needed for inside of 2 minutes Graham evened the count by scoring the rebound of Fowler's center, which hit the upright. A few minutes from half time he did the trick again, this time from one of Hitchens' crosses.

Very little can be said of the second half. It was all in favor of Cumberland and to give the names of the players who scored the remaining 6 goals would be all that is necessary. Hitchens headed in MacDonald's pass, Conti came up and scored a low drive, Plump put in the fifth a few minutes later, Graham added the sixth from a penalty shot given when Constable slapped the ball, and MacDonald added the seventh and eighth.

Only one unpleasant incident occurred, and this near the end of the game. Conti and Moffat came to blows over some minor disagreement and were ordered off the field. A.S. Jones of Union Bay, handled the whistle.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS IN CUMBERLAND NOVEMBER 2

The first Monday in November will see the official opening of the 1925-26 Basketball season in Cumberland, when four ladies teams and two mens teams will take the floor in the Band Hall for their first start in the new leagues. Four separate leagues, two for each sex, will be run throughout the season and on account of the large number of teams entered it has been found necessary to arrange the schedule so that three games will be provided the fans on each playing evening, Mondays and Thursdays. One senior ladies and one senior mens game will be played each evening and the intermediate men and ladies will play on alternate nights.

The hall has been thoroughly cleaned and will be well heated so that fans need have no fear that they will have to sit with their overcoats on. Strict measures will also be taken to prevent a recurrence of the rowdyism that broke out occasionally last season amongst the more youthful fans, both on playing and practice nights. H. Stewart, referee during the latter part of last year's schedule, will supply the wind for the whistle again this year.

Following is the schedule for the first two weeks of the coming season:

Nov. 2—High School versus Public School (intermediate ladies); P. D. Q's versus Go Getters (senior ladies); Doo Dads versus Owls (senior men).

Nov. 5—Hornets vs. Public School (boys); Yellowjackets vs. P. D. Q's; Rangers versus Doo Dads.

Nov. 9—Public School versus High School (girls); Go Getters vs. Yellow jackets; Owls vs. Rangers.

Nov. 12—Hornets vs. Counter Jumpers; P. D. Q's vs. Go Getters; Doo Dads vs. Owls.

The complete schedule will be printed in a future issue of the Islander.

"AUTUMN TEA"

The Ladies' Aid of Saint George's United Church will hold an "Autumn Tea" at the home of Mrs. Geo. K. McNaughton, on Wednesday, October 21st, from 3 to 6 o'clock.

SCHOOL SURVEY VOLUME ISSUED

Coincident with the arrival of delegates to the convention of the British Columbia School Trustees Association which met in Victoria yesterday and today, the Government issued from the King's Printer, the voluminous report of the Educational Survey Commision of which Dr. J. H. Putnam, Inspector of Schools, Ottawa, and Dr. George Weir, Professor of Education in the University of British Columbia, were the members.

The publication now of the volume, which runs into 556 pages, with numerous tables and appendices is done to assist the trustees in their deliberations. Three issues which have always occupied a large share of attention at the convention sessions, Bible teaching in the schools, uniform cost of text books and teachers salary scales, are dealt with by the commissioners at some length.

Most of the financial proposals, and others of the numerous recommendations were summarized in the official summary issued on July 6 by the Minister of Education, which has already been published. The Commissioners put the matter of religious instruction up to the churches, by declaring that the various denominations must first agree upon the selection of a number of masterpieces from the Bible.

Their proposal to reduce the Government grant on salaries, under conditions explained, would doubtless create a strong fight by the municipalities, should the Legislature consider the recommendation.

Mrs. Eliza F. Banks, Chairman of the Cumberland School Board, is the local delegate attending the Trustees convention in Victoria.

A dainty buffet supper was served after the games.

Make a note of the time, 2.30 Sunday, October 18th. A. S. Jones, of Union Bay will referee.

Sudden Death Of Mr. A. Stenhouse

Mr. A. Stenhouse, of Courtenay died suddenly at his home on Wednesday afternoonabout a quarter to five. Mr. and Mrs. Stenhouse only returned from a visit to Scotland on Saturday and Mr. Stenhouse looked and said he never felt better in his life, consequently when the news of his death was known it came as a great shock to all who had known him. His only other relations are Mrs. Tom Herd, living at Royston and a brother in Winnipeg, but he has brothers and sisters surviving him in Scotland.

WILL SHE? Aha! French hair-dressers have decreed the death of the bob, and hundreds of thousands of Canadian and American women are wondering if the decree can be executed. It is a good bet that the French hair-dresser will win. The bobbed head has about run its course and we find a number of ladies of our acquaintance who are letting it grow and are tucking it under on the sly.

Women are funny, aren't they?

STEPPING ON IT How quickly the people of today exhaust life. With what panting haste we pursue everything. Every man and woman you meet seems to be late for a train. Hurry is stamped in the wrinkles of every face. We are men of action, we die without it; we go faster and faster as the years go by, speed our machinery to the utmost, stretch the silver cord of life until it snaps. We have not even time to die a natural death. Instead of the lingering maladies of our fathers, we drop down and die of heart failure and apoplexy.

Even death has adopted our terrible gait. If we would spend a few hours romping with our children or in the society of the home circle we would live longer and our children could follow in our pathway which would be plainly blazed out with these hours of recreation.

HAPPY DAYS There are many people who think that October is the finest month in all the year, and will enjoy to the limit the glorious, golden days of the next few weeks. A rare beauty is in the brown October with its flaming woods and its frosty air. In fact, there is beauty in gray November and snowy December, and there is also business in the next three months. So let us breathe deep of the snappy fall air, throw out our chests and step high. It is great to be alive and well, to have a job and home and a part in the work and welfare of a good town.

HOME Our nature demands home. It is the first essential element of our social being, which cannot be complete without the home relations. There would be no proper equilibrium of life and character without the home influence. The heart when bereaved and disappointed naturally turns for refuge to home life and sympathy. There is a mother's love and a father's influence, the loving brothers and sisters. Oh, what is life without these? Our habits, too, are under the moulding power of home. Every young woman should feel that just what she is at home will appear abroad. If she attempts to appear otherwise, everybody will soon see through the attempt. All the duties and labors of home, when rightly understood, are so many means of improvement. To love home with a deep and abiding interest, with a view to its elevating influence is to love truth and God. The grand idea of home is a quiet, secluded spot where loving hearts dwell, set apart and dedicated to improvement .

The Independent Platform

1. In the event of the return to power of either a Liberal or a Conservative government, the nominated candidate will be pledged to support any constructive legislation brought in by either party if it is in the best interests of Comox-Alberni and British Columbia generally.

(b) No increase of trap licenses.

3. Immigration. Absolute exclusion of Asiatics.

4. Labor. An act or resolution establishing the right of his industrial freedom to every citizen of Canada to bargain for his services.

5. Dominion assistance to the provinces to pass an old age pension act.

6. Revaluation where required of lands held under the Dominion Soldier Settlement act.

INTERESTING BOOKLET AIDS SMALL INVESTORS

An interesting and valuable little booklet is published by Burnett Sainte Clair & Co., investment bankers of Montreal, setting out an excellent plan whereby the public of Canada may buy good securities and pay for them over a period of one year. The object is to cultivate the habit of saving money among people who have never been accustomed to buying securities, and to show them how profitable it will be for them to invest their savings in this way and spread the payments over a year.

Good securities can be bought on this plan, with all the opportunities of taking advantage of market variations, and yet the investor has an entire year in which to pay off the balance due on his account. Under this plan the investor pays 25 per cent. of the purchase price on placing the order, and the balance, including the customary interest, in eleven equal monthly installments. The book outlining this plan can be obtained upon application to the company at its Montreal office, Canada Cement Building, Phillips Square.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for False Bay Wharf, Lasqueti Island, B.C.," will be received until 12 o'clock noon, Friday, October 30, 1925, for the construction of a pile bent and timber decking wharf at False Bay, Lasqueti Island, B.C.

Quality

The most urgent requirement in Canada's Agricultural Products

CANADA produces every year large quantities of wheat, oats, barley, butter, cheese, bacon, beef, eggs, apples, potatoes, grass seed and clover seed that she cannot consume. Her natural outlet for these products is, of course, Great Britain—the one great consuming country of the world with an open market.

Unfortunately, nearly every other country with any surplus of food products seems to want to send its surplus to this same market.

The keenness of the competition on this, our only market, and the energy and resourcefulness of our competitors began to impress themselves upon the Department of Agriculture some time ago, but it is only within very recent years that the real and only way to grapple with this problem has been discovered, or at least put into effect. This Department now believes, as do also most of the farmers of this country, that the "grading" of our agricultural products is the policy and practice that is seeing us through the struggle and will assure us of our rightful place on the British market.

"Grading" means the classifying of products, whether they be hogs, butter, cheese, eggs or anything else, into what might be called in a general way "BEST", "GOOD", "FAIR" and "POOR" classes.

These exact words are not used in describing the grades, but that is what is meant. The purpose served in grading is threefold—

(1) Educational. When the producer sees the relative quality of his product he is spurred on to maintain that quality if it is the "best" or to improve the quality where necessary.

(2) Fair Play. When products are not graded the inferior article for various reasons often brings as much as the superior article, and the credit and advantage of putting the superior product on the market is lost to the one who really deserves it.

(3) Facilitating Trade. The dealer learns to have confidence in the article he is buying and buys more freely, because it is guaranteed by grading, and gradually everybody gets to know what the "best" article really looks like or tastes like. In short, grading brings about standardization and ensures to the producer the best price.

Canada now grades her cereals, grass seeds, hay, potatoes, apples, eggs, butter, cheese, wool and bacon hogs. The results have been in every case beneficial and in some cases quite markedly so, even though the grading system has been in effect in some cases for only two or three years, thus:—

Cheese—Grading began April 1st, 1923. Canadian cheese the year before had fallen into such disfavour on the British market that New Zealand cheese was quite commonly preferred. Today Canadian cheese commands cents per pound higher than New Zealand.

Butter—Grading began same time as for cheese. The reputation of our butter was then indeed at low ebb. Canadian butter today, while not the best on the market, is rapidly improving in quality and gaining in reputation.

Hogs—Over two years ago the Department of Agriculture began to grade live hogs at the packing houses and stock yards. The 10% premium paid by the packers for "select" bacon hogs as against "thick smooths" as classed by departmental graders has done wonders to improve the quality of our hogs and develop the bacon industry.

Best Canadian bacon, which ordinarily was quoted two years ago from 10 to 18 shillings a long hundredweight below Danish, has gradually grown in the estimation of the British wholesale buyer until it is now quoted at only from 1 or less to at most 5 or 6 shillings per long hundredweight below the best Danish.

This improvement in price is, of course, due to quality and has come about very gradually, the spread narrowing down by a shilling or two a month until now it is not at all a rare occurrence to see best Canadian selling on a par with the Danish article.

Eggs—Canada was the first country to grade and standardize eggs. These grades and standards apply not only to export, interprovincial and inport shipments, but also to domestic trading.

The basis is interior quality, cleanness and weight.

Standardizing Canadian eggs has established confidence between producer and consumer and between exporter and British importer, and has resulted in a greatly-increased demand for the Canadian egg both at home and abroad.

Other products might be mentioned where grading has worked to the great advantage of the producer and to the advancement of Canadian agriculture.

Already Great Britain recognizes our store cattle, wheat, cheese, eggs, apples and oats as the best she can buy.

It is for us to so improve our other products, particularly our butter and bacon, as to bring them also into this list of "the best on the British market" and consequently the highest priced.

Grading enabled us to do this for cheese, wheat, eggs and apples.

Grading is helping us to do it for butter and bacon.

Quality Counts

Quality is thus the first objective for the Canadian export trade, and, then steady, regular supply. It is along these lines the Department of Agriculture is working by educational methods, and the result of this policy s seen in the growing volume of Canada's agricultural exports Look at these figures :—

THE UNHOLY THREE

BY TOD ROBBINS

Published by arrangement with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures Syndicate

SYNOPSIS

The Unholy Three, Echo, a ventriloquist; Hercules, a strong man, and Tweedledee ,a dwarf, plan a career of crime after being forced to flee the side show of a circus because of the dwarf's ungovernable temper and hate The Human Skeleton, enemy of Hercules and Tweedledee, is marked the first victim. His body is found standing upright in the window of a pawn shop displaying "good value" in clothing. A grim joke on the part of the murderers. The three disappear. Hector McDonald, aspiring to literary fame, has words with his wealthy uncle, Tobias Graham, a collector of rare rubies, who threatens to disown him because he will not give up his writing and accept a more material position. Hector leaves his uncle's house determined to succeed as a writer.

INSTALLMENT 5

When Hector McDonald left his uncle's house, the sun was still high in the heavens. The air was resonant with the hum of well-oiled machinery, the footsteps of loitering pedestrians, the shrill voices of the children. Above it all, a spotless sky smiled down o nthe city.

The young man's anger soon melted away. On such an afternoon, it was well-nigh impossible to harbor malice. Uncle Tobias, like other shadows, vanished in this glorious spring sunshine. At twenty-three, one is a mirror reflecting only momentarily the clouds that pass.

Hector McDonald, up to this, had not come into violent contact with the world. During all his twenty-three years, he had never found himself in want of any material luxury. At school, at college, his uncle had given him a liberal allowance which he had spent generously. He knew nothing of poverty—it had never come into his calculations. And now it seemed a very tiny speck, afar off on a limitless background. He had two hundred dollars in his pocket—the remainder of his month's allowance—and quite sufficient for his wants until he should be able to make more.

And there was no boubt in Hector McDonald's mind that he would make more—a great deal more. Fresh from college, where he had been editor of the Year Book, president of the "Literary Society," and prominent contributor to the Collegian, was it any wonder that the young man's mental horizon was limited?

And after he had had much encouragement, after he had sat up night after night writing short stories that were to astonish the world, after he had taken all his friends into his confidence, Uncle Tobias had curtly told him that he must go into Mr. Arlington's office. What an absurdity that was! Such a life, for a man of gifts and spirit, was unendurable! If his mother had lived, she would never have consented to see him become a slave. No, she would have understood him, she would have encouraged him, she would have told her brother not to interfere. He remembered her as a tall, authoritative person—a lady who had sometimes ordered other people about, but who had never ordered him. Even Uncle Tobias had been a little in awe of her. He recollected that on one occasion, when quite a small boy, he had used the old gentleman's hat as a football with perfect impunity. Hector smiled at the remembrance and strode on.

And then there was Dorothy Arlington. For a year they had been unobtrusively engaged. He had told her all his hopes, all his ambitions. And she believed in him. She was confident that he would be a great man some day. What would she think of him if he knuckled under, if he gave up all claim to an individuality of his own, if he entered her father's office? Surely she would lose faith in him. He would sink in her estimation to the level of the average young man—the young man whom she met at dances and entertainments—the young man who talked business, bridge, horses, dogs and nothing else. No, he could write; his uncle could not force him to renounce his ambitions.

McDonald came to a sudden determination. He would go to Dorothy and tell her everything. He felt sure that she would applaud his decision. He drew out his watch and looked at it. It was just four. Mr. Arlington would not be home from the office yet—that was a satisfaction. There was open hostility existing between them which made chance meetings rather strained. He realized perfectly that the financier considered him a butterfly and, with natural perversity, did all in power to further his belief. Yes, he would go and see her now.

By this time he was nearing Fifth Avenue. Walking down a side street he passed a small bird store. In the window were at least a dozen cages—each inhabited by a large green parrot. They gazed out through the bars with solemn, yellow eyes. Gloomy captives with ruffled plumage and despondent, drooping wings, they silently implored the passerby to pity them, to loose his purse strings and take them out into the world.

At another time the young man would have stopped to look at them for, like a child, he was invariably fascinated by bird stores, but today he could see the Arlington house in the distance, so he hurried on. And yet, although he had passed it by unceremoniously, it was to be visualized again and again in his thoughts—to recur in the strange events which were to follow, like the motif in the weird musical melange. McDonald was to see many bird stores in the years to come, but never one without an involuntary shudder.

ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION GIVEN A. W. NEILL

termed most unfair. Mr. Neill took Mr. Ladner's charges one by one and dealt with them to the apparent satisfaction of the large audience. He reviewed the old platform, explained the various planks and results during his term of office. He dealt at some length on the Asiatic question, and showed in the matter of chinese eggs that some progress had been made for the protection of B.C. markets. The Japenese situation was not quite so satisfactory, owing to diplomatic relations. Referring to the soldier setlement question, he showed how payments had been extended over a period of 25 years $10,000,000, in interest remitted and a 20 and 40% rebate on stock, etc allowed the settlers.

Economy had been effected by the withdrawal of the Canadian N.W.M.P. from this district and elsewhere. He described the present freight situation as outrageous, saying that the effect was that wheat can now be bought in China cheaper than in B.C. This was a result of the export freight rates which he termed a very poor method. Legislation had tended to benefit B.C. regarding duty on fuel oil, coal, etc. He had perhaps put B.C. interests before those of the dominion when in the house and this may have been very selfish, but, said the speaker, "don't be afraid of that, the eastern manufacturers of Quebec and Ontario have lots of representation at Ottawa. He assured his audience that the Prairies were absolutely opposed to protection. He was not, however, opposed especially to foster the commencements of industries. He was applauded when he told the audience that the reduction of the duty on logging machinery would cause American and other companies to come to B.C. We have heard a lot aboutpeople leaving the country and cries of blue ruin and the speaker thought that if many had really left the district they must have taken their houses with them for it was impossible in some places to rent houses for love or money. He showed by a comparison of estimates compared from year to year that conditions were actually better now than formerly, even Mr. Meighen had admitted reduced taxation he said. He was willing to vote for an increase on the duty of eggs provided the measure was not wrapped up with other things that could not help us. At question time in answer to Mr. A. M. Hilton, the speaker explained the necessary formalities to be gone through for the leasing of foreshore rights. The singing of "God Save the King," and three cheers for the Independent candidate brought the meeting to a close.

NEWS FROM BOWSER

Keen interest is being taken in the forthcoming election and the general impression is that the present member will be given an overwhelming vote, so far as this polling division is concerned. A meeting of the Bowser Liberal Club was held on Monday last and it was planned that the club hold social evenings once a month for all members and to those interested in the political welfare of the district.
