Hunting Season Opens Tomorrow

GROUSE AND DEER SAID TO BE PLENTIFUL

The hunting season open tomorrow morning at daybreak and already numbers of local sportsmen have been noticed wending their way to their favorite hunting grounds. Black Creek, near Merville is the rendezvous of many local bird hunters and as blue grouse are said to be plentiful this year there is sure to be a large number at the creek. Others have gone further afield, favoring the country round Campbell River and north of Oyster River. Deer are also said to be plentiful but Mr. Buck will be hard to bag if this dry weather continues. Prospects, however for a successful hunting season are bright as Willow grouse which become lawful prey on October 15th for seventeen days, the season being from the 15th to the 31st with both dates inclusive. With so many hunters patronizing this end of the Island it is to be hoped that no serious accident will happen. If hunters will take the necessary precaution there is no excuse for one hunter shooting another in mistake for a deer. A request has been sent *out by the Forestry department urg*ing hunters to be careful with fire during the dry spell prevalent just now. More fires were caused last September during the hunting season than at any time during the earlier part of the summer. Be sure your camp fire is out before leaving. On page 2 of this issue we publish some things to do if you are lost in the woods. Read them, they are good pointers.

BOWLING ENTERS ANOTHER ROUND.

Some third round games were played during the week in the doubles competition at the green of the Cumberland Lawn Bowling club which were keenly contested. One second round game, between R. Strachan and A. Kay playing against R. Laird and W. A. Owen was pulled off on Tuesday night with the former winning by a score of 21-7.

A good third round game was witnessed between J. Vernon-Jones and T. Carney against G. Shearer and J. Taylor, the former winning by 21-16; H. Jackson and W. Younger beat W. Whyte and J. Gibb, 21-14.

It had been hoped to be able to finish the tournament this week end but on account of the Nanaimo club wanting a number of the local bowlers to journey to the Hub city Sunday it is doubtful if the local tournament can be completed.

List of the members travellig to Nanaimo on Sunday for a series of inter-club games with the Nanaimo Lawn Bowling club has been posted at the club and includes J. Fellows, A. Dunsmore, R. T. Brown, T. D. Robertson, R. Strachan, H. Waterfield, A. Walker, T. Carney, G. Harvie, D. Bell, Jim Robertson, W. Whyte, W. Younger and three others.

VETERANS TO FORM LADIES' AUXILIARY.

A special meeting will be held in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, September the 16th at 8 p.m. for the purpose of forming a ladies' auxiliary to the British Empire Service League, Cumberland Branch.

All relatives, wives, mothers, etc., of ex-service men are cordially invited to be present. The Courtenay veterans have organized a very successful ladies' auxiliary and it is felt that there is room for such an organization in Cumberland.

LOCAL LADY GOLFER WINS COMPETITIONS.

The various competitions held recently at the Courtenay golf club links have been very successful. In a recent "pitching" contest, Mr. M. Minato won top honors with Mrs. W. Bruce Gordon, of Cumberland, winning a similar competition for ladies. Mrs. Gordon also won a ladies driving contest with a drive of 190 yards. She was also successful in winning the ladies putting contest held on the 9th green.

A ladies field day will be held tomorrow when it is expected a record number of entries will be received.

Official Times In the Nanaimo Athletic Meet

George Brown, of Cumberland, who wrote to the secretary of the recent Nanaimo Athletic meet with reference to the trophies won by local contestants, has received the following reply, together with a list of the events with official times:

"I have you enquiry of the 8th inst.

"First of all, I wish to congratulate you upon the splendid record you made in the 18 years and under event, and Nanaimo will look forward to seeing you run next year.

"All trophies in connection with the meet are for annual competition and will have to be competed for again next year.

"We realize that the medals we gave this year were not as showy as they should have been, but the committee were a few hundred dollars in the hole and were forced to economize. However, there is now a substantial sum on hand to ensure the finances for next year, and the medals in future will be properly engraved and made of gold, silver and bronze.

Your record of 10 1-5 secs. for the hundred will be recognized for all Island events until broken. I enclose herewith the official records.

"Yours sincerely.

"C Murray Reynolds".

Soccer For Upper Island Is Planned

Meeting Called for Sunday

In an effort to organize soccer for the coming season for the northern portion of the Island a meeting of all interested in the round ball game has been called for Sunday night in the Band Hall. It is almost certain that representatives from two of Cumberland's junior teams will be present in addition to representatives from Courtenay. Whether it is intended to include Parksville, Alberni and Nanaimo in the proposed northern league could not be ascertained. Soccer has had a long rest in this district and it seems rather a pity with so many promising juniors here and with a first-class field to play on that the old game should go by the board. A determined effort however will be made at the meeting on Sunday to bring the game back to a semblance of its former popularity.

Agricultural Conditions In Comox Valley

Weather conditions for August have been ideal for harvesting, with the exception of a few days, namely, the 15th, 16th, 22nd and 23rd, when some rainfall was experienced. The weather has been quite clear and warm.

Horticulture.

Scab has been very prevalent with apples and also the size and color of the fruit is not up to standard. From present indications, it looks as if the yield of both apples, plums and pears will be fairly small this year. The Transparents are now ready to pick in this district and the Gravensteins will be ready in the course of a few days. Some of the early plums are now on the local markets but even these are rather on the small side this year.

Field Crops.

The warm weather has in some cases hastened the ripening of grains rather too rapidly with the result that the oats in particular for threshing may be somewhat lessened in yield. Most of the oats are now either ready to cut or have been cut and threshed and threshing machines are now busy in many districts.

Potatoes have for the most part made luxuriant growth of tops but in some cases the tubers are rather on the small side. With continued favorable weather, these should still size up and make a very favorable showing.

The variety tests of oats which have been carried on in this district have now been completed and will be shipped to the University in the course of a few days.

On account of the wet weather during the early part of the season, from present observations, it can be seen that the feed situation in various districts will be well taken care of this year, although on the higher sandy lands ,the grass is suffering somewhat from the dry weather. In most cases the moisture in the soil is sufficient to keep these areas safe from drying up too much.

Railway Company being booked by Mr. Edward W. Bickle, local agent for the National Railway.

Doings At Ottawa

Ottawa, September 9th. (Special to the Islander).—As this letter is written the special session of Parliament to deal with unemployment is under way. The full program of the Government is, as Mr. Bennett promised, directed to immediate betterment of conditions. It is in no sense offered as a permanent remedy. That can be achieved, he believes, only by a rather comprehensive revision of fiscal policy, which, it is anticipated, will be laid before the regular session of the House early in the New Year.

The process will be lengthy and acrimonious. Even were the facts at hand to permit the introduction of such tariff changes as well provide a more staple remedy, it would be useless to bring them forward now with the idea of stimulating employment through the coming winter. They will unquestionably run counter to Opposition views and are likely to bring many weeks, if not months of debate and, when they are carried it will take months for their reaction upon economic conditions to become apparent in expanding employment.

The facts upon which Mr. Bennett will act in framing his fiscal policy are not sufficiently complete to enable him to proceed this week, or next. In truth, the conditions to be met are not wholly known. Nor can they be until such time as the Economic Conference of the Empire meets in London next month and proves the extent and limitations of actual and mutual cooperation possible at this period in trades within the Empire.

Upon the success or failure of proposals for mutually beneficial agreements within the Empire, must be largely premised the policy of the imediate future in Canada.

One of the greatest exponents of Empire economic cooperation is in Canada at the present time. He is Lord Melchett, the great industrialist, of London, England. He is seizing every opportunity to emphasize the wisdom and necessity of this co*operation, which he views as the life*blood of Empire solidarity. Were all Englishmen as "solid" on the subject as Lord Melchett, Mr. Bennett would have little difficulty in finding a permanent market for Canadian grain and other products of agriculture in Britain. Unfortunately, such is not the case.

The opening of Parliament, even for a brisk and abbreviated business session, was attended with customary pomp. It was shorn of the brilliant social functions—the drawing room and State dinner—which customarily follow, but the opening itself was up to the usual standard of social pageantry. A new Parliament brings many new members, and in this respect the present House is outstanding. While the families of many former members did not appear, those of men taking their places for the first time descended upon the capital en masse.

Gossip still flourishes as to the probable length of the session. While some correspondents are carrying it along into months, the best guess is that two weeks will see it prorogued, even if closure has to be adopted to do so. While Government apply that pressure reluctantly, they do it not infrequently. Mr. King enforced a type of closure only last session to stop debate upon resolution dealing with soldiers' pensions.

In the present instance the Government accepts full responsibility for its emergency measures and the necessity of permitting leading members of the Ministry to attend the London conferences, in order that a permanent remedy for unemployment may be arrived at, will be considered ample justification for using closure if obstruction develops.

If the session ends within fourteen days the cost will be $118,310. Each day costs $5,115 in indemnities, so that there is little foundation for the rumors spread that the session will cost a million or two million dollars.

Another Body Recovered At Blakeburn

Remains Believed to Be Those of Thomas Gibson

*The death tunnel of the Blake*burn coal mine gave up another body on Tuesday, believed to be Thomas Gibson, veteran driver boss, who with 44 other miners lost their lives in the explosion of August 13th. Thirty-nine bodies have now been recovered.

Thomas Gibson is survived by his widow and three children. His mother and two brothers reside in Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Henney, of Michel, are visiting in the district, guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Newman.

Badminton To Start In October

Badminton players are beginning to get their rackets all ready for the opening of the season for the popular indoor winter game. Organization meetings of several of the local clubs will be held this month with prospects bright for a new club to start in the Anglican Hall in October. The Whippets will use the Band Hall again and the United players the Church Hall of the United Church. Two or three small clubs are said to be getting ready and the Anglican Hall will be their headquarters.

As far as the big club goes, the Imperialites, it has not been learned yet whether the Imperial Pavilion will be available this year as rumour has it that Joe Idiens is contemplating putting in an up-to-date miniature golf course for the winter.

The Courtenay club will probably start towards the latter end of the present month, using the Native Sons hall and the Campbell River club will be stronger than ever and will use the Community hall at Campbellton.

Residents At Lang's Camp Get Big Scare

Fire Checked in Time

Residents at Lang's Beach, north of Union Bay, got quite a scare on Saturday last when a bush fire threatened to destroy the buildings. Messrs. T. H. Mumford and R. C. Lang who have been spending some considerable time at the beach, worked all Saturday in an effort to subdue the blaze. During the morning a call for assistance was sent into Courtenay and the fire warden arrived with equipment. Water was pumped from the salt chuck and with the assistance of the volunteers the blaze was got under control. After it was all over the fire warden was heard to remark that he never for one moment thought it was possible to subdue the fire. He thanked the volunteers for their great assistance, as without their help he would have been powerless.

Old Time Resident Passes To Her Rest

Mrs. Hilda Anderson, of Union Bay, Dies After Short Illness

Mrs. Hilda Anderson, of Union Bay, a native of Sweden, died in the Cumberland General Hospital on Thursday noon after a short illness. Deceased was admitted to the local institution on Monday suffering from stroke. Her sudden death came as a distinct shock to her many friends as only on Sunday last the deceased was busy in her small store at Union Bay. In addition to her husband she leaves to mourn her loss, two sons, Edwin and Andy, and one daughter, Mrs. L. Leithead, residing at the Bay. Her husband, Peter Anderson, who follows the occupation of fisherman was absent from home at the time and was eventually located by wireless some 35 miles north of Campbell River.

The family is exceptionally well known throughout the district having resided in Cumberland and Union Bay for the past 35 years. In the early days, the Anderson family lived in a log house close to the old Brewery and during their residence here made many friends who will mourn the passing of a kind and generous soul, in her 67th year.

The funeral will take place on Sunday at 2:30 from the undertaking parlors of T. E. Banks, interment taking place in the Cumberland cemetery with the Rev. Mr. Eby, of Union Bay, officiating.

QUOITERS TO PLAY FOR BONORA CUP.

Victor Bonora, the proprietor of the King George Hotel has donated a cup for competition amongst the quoiters of the district to be known as the Bonora cup. Competition for this trophy will be open to the whole of the Comox district and play will start at the courts at the King George Hotel on Saturday.

Among the Cumberland residents spending last week-end at Oyster River were Mr. and Mrs. W. Beveridge, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R. Coe and Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Kit Brown, Mrs. Witt and little son, Mr. and Mrs. C O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Schrader of San Francisco, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coe joined the party there.

Among those camping out at that ideal spot are Major and Mrs. W. Taylor, of Victoria, who will be remembered by many residents of this district as having been early settlers, they having formerly owned extensive property in the vicinity of Oyster River. They have been spending the past two weeks here.

LADY CRIB PLAYERS IN SECOND SESSION.

The Elite ladies crib club met this week at the Cumberland Hall for their second session of the present season. It is understood that the club will use the newly renovated Cumberland Hall for their weekly meetigs, the hall beig centrally located and quite suitable for the purpose. On Wednesday there were six tables in play and some very close games were witnessed with Mrs. Covert winning the first prize, and Mrs. A. Maxwell, Sr., the second. Refreshments were served by a picked committee and a most enjoyable evening ended with a general talk on the activities of the club for the season.

Blakeburn Is Thankful For Subscriptions

Mr. W. A. Wagenhauser, chairman of the Blakeburn relief fund states that the response to the appeal has been most gratifying and wishes to thank the generous people of the province for their very prompt response. Approximately $12,000 has been subscribed but it is estimated that at least $25,000 will be needed. All the bereaved families will have to move away from Blakeburn to become established in some other place. Many of these children have been born in British Columbia and we want to do our best to give them a start to become good citizens of this province.

Committee Named

A meeting has been held which appointed a committee of seven employees of Coalmont Collieries to collect all information concerning dependents of the dead miners and to arrange for the distribution of the fund. This committee will be governed in final decision by three trustees not employees of the company—Rev. Mr. Goodfellow of Princeton, Mr. Jerry Brown of Coalmont and Mr. Wagenhauser. The greatest effort will be made to complete the fund by the end of this month.

CLAIMS FORESTRY DEPARTMENT OPPOSED COAL INTERESTS.

Mr. Mitchell, a member of the Nanaimo Board of Trade, who attended the recent coal conference, in addressing the members of the Nanaimo Board of Trade this week said that the Forestry department was opposed to the coal interests all through the conference. However, said Mr. Mitchell, it was pointed out to them that one of the largest timber tracts had been worked out (The Timberland), near Nanaimo, with coal being used, and without a single fire. Also that the railroad between Royston and Cumberland, although operating through heavily wooded country ,and using coal, had not been responsible for a single fire during the past three years.

The Cumberland Islander

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY AT CUMBERLAND, B.C.

EDWARD W. BICKLE

FOR CUMBERLAND MERCHANTS

THERE'S money in Cumberland. There are people here to spend it and there's good business for you, Mr. Merchant—if you will join the Islander in helping to keep business in Cumberland.

It all boils down to the very important thought, that nearby towns and mail order houses are always trying to attract trade from smaller communities.

Always trying! Very often succeeding! And, sad but all too true, to the detriment of you, the merchants of Cumberland and the merchants of all other smaller towns.

What to do about it is a problem you must help to solve, if you are to prosper. A mighty vital problem it is, too, as you well know.

Just the same, we can keep Cumberland's money in Cumberland and the people of Cumberland can be brought around to the habit of buying in Cumberland almost exclusively. And you can make both conditions possible.

This newspaper has joined with other newspapers of the Province in a wide campaign to convince national advertisers that they can best assist small town merchants by advertising in the local, home town papers of the small town merchants. The manufacturers advertising in Cumberland's home newspaper will help you sell more of your merchandise to more and to the greatest number of Cumberland people. This advertising support will help keep Cumberland's money in Cumberland. It will mean good business for you—and more of it.

The very next time a salesman from whom you order merchandise comes to your store, sell him on Cumberland. Of course, you must sell yourself first. Get Cumberland minded. Get the salesman feeling the same way. Enthusiasm is contagious, and that is what is required in Cumberland. The coal industry is coming back—no doubt about that and before very long Cumberland will be enjoying the prosperity to which she is justly entitled. The local Colliery Company is doing all in its power to bring about better conditions in the industry, advertising extensively in the daily papers in an effort to convince the people of British Columbia that Island coal is superior to any other fuel on the market. Results are bound to accrue and the experiments being carried on with pulverized coal will undoubtedly prove of benefit to the industry. Yes, Mr. Merchant, coal is coming back and before very long we shall see Cumberland once more the busy hive.

We ask you to join us and assist in this campaign. You need the advertising aid of the manufacturers whose goods you stock—urge their salesman to recommend your local home newspaper.

CHURCH SUPPORT

WE HEAR a lot nowadays about how much the average man should give towards his minister and his church. It is a matter that has been thrashed out time after time, and the result has been, so far as we can learn, that nothing definite has yet been arrived at. Men who are often free and open-handed in almost every other respect are often tight-fisted when it comes to church matters. We have seen it time after time. Crossing over to Vancouver recently we travelled with a well known business man, a real good sport. On the conclusion of the meal on the boat our friend left a tip for the waiter of 50c yet the same man when he does go to church, drops a nickel on the collection plate. There are lots like him. But our friend would not live in a community where there were no churches. Oh, no. He knows that church work and church attendance mean the cultivation of the habit of feeling responsibility for others. All good men do not attend church, but you will notice that most of the big men of affairs in the world belong to some church and attend its services quite regularly.

The preacher has a hard time of it at best. If he is grey, he is too old. If he is young, he hasn't had experience. If he stays at home in his study he is a poor mixer. If he is seen on the street he should be at home getting up a good sermon. If he calls on some poor family he is playing to the gallery. If he calls at the home of the rich he is an aristocrat. Whatever he does, someone could have told him better. He has a fine time living off donations which never come in and promises that never materialize.

Everybody should make it a point to contribute a fixed sum to his church, whether it be a dollar a week or a dollar a month, or ten times these amounts, but let it be something. One never hears of a man going bankrupt on account of his church contribution.

ESSAY ON SCOTLAND

By an Australian School Girl

Scotland is a braw wee land on the north of England. It has water nearly all round of it. The population is about four and a half millions, including Mrs. Andrew Carnegie. It has a peculiar language of its own, and if one can pronounce it coherently it is an infallible test of sobriety. It possesses considerable mineral wealth but very little of it finds its way out of the country. Gold has at times been discovered in certain districts as well as in the pockets of certain natives.

The best known exports are Harry Lauder, Peter Fraser and Scotch whiskey, though sufficient of the latter is retained in the country to satisfy the demands of home consumption.

The chief import in recent years is Winston Churchill.

The national dress of Scotland is the kilt, which is a kind of petticoat In pattern it resembles a chess board, but in cold weather the wearer finds it more like a draft board. It is believed to have been invented because the aboriginals were unable to find trousers big enough to get their feet through.

The bagpipes provide a wind instrument which is said, when blown, to produce a tune. On many occasions in the history of wars, Scotch regiments have marched to death listening to the strains of the bagpipes, though it is not known whether their willingness to meet the former was inspired to escape the latter.

Scotland has produced many well known men, among them being Robert Burns, believed to have been a poet. It is usually denied that he was born in Battersea. His most famous poems are "Scots Who Have" and "Stop Your Tickling, Jock."

In Scotland for a couple to declare themselves man and wife in the presence of witnesses is tantamount to marriage, though there's often a tendency to dispense with the witnesses.

The chief national characteristic is reckless expenditure.

"SPRING IS HERE" at the Gaiety Theatre, Courtenay, this week end.

If You Are Lost In The Woods --

Don't get panicky.

Face the fact cooly.

Sit down and think the situation out. Many a man has been lost before and has been found little the worse.

Ask yourself: Do I know whether I am south or north of the railway line, or lake near which the camp is situated? If I travel in a definite direction, will I be sure to strike the lake shore or railway?

In most cases you will be able to answer yes.

Well, then, if you have a compass, use it and travel in the known direction, without hurrying, until you reach the goal. The rest is simple. Follow the railway line. Make use of the mileage posts to locate yourself. If on the lake shore and you do not konw whether your camp is left or right, follow the shore to a prominent point, build a camp fire and keep it going until your friends find you.

If you have no compass, use the watch system. Point the hour hand at the sun and the point between the hour hand and twelve o'clock will be approximately SOUTH.

If you have no watch, the trees will help you. Note the side of the trunks on which the moss grows the thickest. This will be north, and travel accordingly.

If the sun is not shining or you have no watch and no compass, and you cannot find moss on the sides of the trees, use your knife blade. Place the point on your polished thumb nail and it will give you a shadow thus locating the sun. Use your judgement as to time of the day and so determine your direction by the watch method described above. Reserve your energy.

All other things failing, there is still no need for alarm. Choose an open spot free of debris, and build a camp fire. Keep it going until you are found. In the day time you can make plenty of smoke by using damp grass, moss or green foliage; at night the bright fire is best. This is the day of the aeroplane, and before long you will be found.

Do not worry about food, you can get along without it. You won't starve, even if you go without food for a week or even longer. Drink plenty of water, except when travelling in warm weather ,and then drink very sparingly. If necessary to use swamp water—boil in a piece of birch bark over some live coals.

Do not attempt to travel at night. Sit by your camp fire, make a lean-to with some boughs and rest between periods of keeping your fire replenished.

When planning to travel in the woods, even for a short distance, it is well to take certain precautions. Carry a compass, (and use it), a watch, a supply of matches in a waterproof case, a good knife and a little food.

The hunting season starts on Saturday and never a season goes by without someone getting lost. Lovers of the woods have nothing to fear getting lost, if they will only use a little common sense. Above all don't get panicky.

HEALTH SERVICE
of the Canadian Medical Association

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184, College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by correspondence.

"ANYTHING WRONG WITH ME?"

If they were to be asked the question, the majority of people would reply, "There is nothing wrong with me." Yet we know that although this answer would be an honest expression of opinion, it would, in many cases, be far from the truth. By this we mean that many people have something wrong with them without their knowing it, and that trouble often takes possession without announcing its arrival.

Admittedly we should all be able to say "There is nothing wrong with me", but we should be able to say with assurance of its being true. It may be true, but we do not know whether it is or not unless we have had a health examination.

Why is it that when it is common knowledge that all machines require supervision and regular checking up to keep them running smoothly and to prolong their usefulness, there is utter disregard of the need for any such supervision of the body machines?

It is surprising how many successful business men seem to imagine that, because they have accumulated wealth, their bodies are in some way different, and who act as if they were in some way immune to the ills that befall.

It would seem that as health is such an evident asset, it would not be necessary to point out to any person the fact that it is. It might be expected that the man who is successful in business would make at least a fair success of living, and yet we know that this is not the case with many men and women.

We are not suggesting that the right way to live is to cultivate a state of mind that considers nothing but possibilities of illness ;that would indeed be anything but desirable. We do state emphatically however, that the art of healthy living is the most important business responsibility we have.

Based on this misunderstanding, we recommend that the periodic health examination is a simple and desirable routine which should be practiced by everyone. Periodic health examination is a good habit; it is good business. Ignorance is always expensive, if not dangerous. Ignorance as to the condition of your body simply leads you to cheat yourself by depriving yourself of the care you may need.

The enemies to health can mostly all be overcome. Disease when treated early can usually be cured. The best way to accomplish this is by the periodic examination.

EMPIRE TRADE IS NECESSITY SAYS THOMSON

Former Food Controller Tells Vancouver Club B.C. Imports Needlessly

NO DALLIANCE WITH LIQUOR ENFORCEMENT

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—"Inter-Empire trade occupies the minds of almost every thinking man throughout the King's Dominion, and at the coming Imperial Conference, at which all parts of the Empire will be represented, this question will be uppermost and the result of that conference will indicate what lines the future expansion and consolidation of the Empire will take", Henry B. Thomson, chairman of the Liquor Control Board declared in his address before the Vancouver Canadian Club today.

"In that excellent book which has just been published, 'Economic Prosperity in the British Empire,' by Stephen Leacock, the position is summed up in these words:

"'It is within the reach of statesmanship to initiate in the British Empire an era of prosperity and progress such as the world has never yet seen anywhere at any time.'

"The statesmen of the Empire will foregather in London, the heart of the Empire, and they will be fully impressed with the importance of their work, as each of them realize their individual problems will, as a result of the conference, be blended into one Imperial policy." continued Mr. Thomson.

"Since the declaration of war in August, 1914, the minds of the public and the business men of the Empire have been endeavoring to grapple with the situation, but no clear-cut solution has yet been arrived at for the reason that the war completely disjointed and upset the trade of the world, and as a result of the war, new problems, new conditions, and entirely different surrounding circumstances had to be faced.

Dangerous Experiments

"Experiments have been made on many lines. Crank theories have been tried out and have in process of time been exploded. When interfering with the channels and methods of world trade which took centuries to build up, experiments can always be looked upon as dangerous, and of this we have had many examples. Amongst them might be mentioned the 'wheat pool', and you all know what effect this has had on business in general throughout Canada.

"Through the conditions brought about by the war, many people get away from the fundamental fact that the old principle of supply and demand is the only paramount ruling theory. In this regard Britain has her supplies of manufactured merchandise. On the other hand 80 per cent of the foodstuffs consumed in the British Isles is imported.

Enormous Food Imports

"England sends money out of the country at the rate of $5,000 per minute for foodstuffs:

"The total money paid out for foodstuff import amounts to $2,555,000,000 per annum, or at the rate of $7,000,000 daily.

"The imports of butter, bacon, eggs, beef, cheese and pork exceed $17,500,000 per week.

"Egg imports into Britain increased from $57,000,000 in 1920 to over $100,000,000 in 1929.

"New Zealand increased her cheese and butter exports from $35,965,875 in 1929 to $89,983,090 in 1928.

"In 1928 Britain imported over 21,000,000 dozen eggs from Egypt China and Morocco.

"The imported foodstuffs for the British breakfast table run into fabulous figures each year:

Bacon and pig products	$275,000,000
Eggs	100,000,000
Butter	275,000,000
Total	$650,000,000

Therefore the money sent out of the country amount to $1,780,825 a day for British breakfasts.

"New Zealand exports of frozen mutton and beef increased from $24,786,880 in 1918 to $5,548,310 in 1928.

"Butter imports into Great Britain from Denmark increased from $58,800,000 in 1920 to $98,648,365 in 1929.

Denmark increased her bacon export to England from $35,000,000 in 1920 to $1375,500,000 in 1929.

"Many people will say surely if the British farmer energized he could produce more eggs, butter and bacon. This is obvious, as Denmark has done it, and from a poor impoverished country thirty years ago her exports to Great Britain yearly alone in those commodities amount to:

Bacon	$136,147,580
Butter	98,684,365
Eggs	23,495,720
Total	$258,327,665

"The Danes are a thrifty, intelligent people, and under Government guidance have succeeded wonderfully, but the initiative and 'push' came from the people themselves.

"Britain imports from the Argentine $325,000,000 of foodstuffs a year.

"To bring this matter home to our own province, what is the condition of affairs here? The last year for which statistics are given show that British Columbia imported $22,044,070 worth of farm produce, 73 per cent of which came from other provinces within the Dominion and 27 per cent came from foreign ports.

B.C. Imports

"Last year in this province butter to the extent of 12,500,000 pounds was consumed; of this 7,500,00 lbs. were imported. This means 25,000 more cows, or, 2,500 new farmers could have been employed.

"Vancouver Island produces only enough butter to feed her population for fifty-three days in the year. Meat imports on the Island are 75 per cent of the consumption, and would equal 24,000 head of cattle, 63,000 sheep and 124,000 pigs.

"Some 7,000,000 pounds of canned meats are imported yearly into British Columbia; 3,500,000 pounds of canned vegetables and 3,300,000 lbs. of canned fruit.

"Surely we have a lesson to learn here, and before we need worry about the export market in these commodities we have a huge home trade at our door. After this is filled we can look farther afield for exports.

"We, in this province, the richest in natural resources in the Dominion are prone to brag about these resources, but what are we individually doing to develop them? The province, though small in size as regards population, which, according to the last statistics, is only 590,000, has an area exceeding the total combined area of the United Kingdom, France, Holland, Belgium and Denmark, yet our population is not as much as the town of Sheffield in England.

Work Is Solution

"This will give you some slight idea of the work we have before us, and it should be a matter of the keenest interest to every citizen in the province to see what can be done first of all to reduce our heavy imports of agricultural products, all of which can be raised here, and secondly, to put our shoulders to the wheel and further expand what exports we have and open up and develop British Columbia.

Cites New Zealand

"New Zealand is a wonderful example of what energy and organization can do with a population of less than 1,500,00 people. She exports over $275,000,000 worth of most agricultural products, and her exports of dairy products since the war have risen from $30,000,000 a year to $80,000,0000.

"New Zealand has nearly one cow per capita of her population and eighteen sheep. She supplies Great Britain, 1,400 miles away, with 55 per cent of British imports of mutton and lamb, 23 per cent of British imports of butter, 53 per cent of British imports of cheese and 23 per cent of British imports of wool.

Campaign in England

"Dealing with the conditions and affairs in Great Britain. As most of you are aware, a tremendous concentrated campaign has been conducted in those isles principally by a Canadian, Lord Beaverbrook, who, with the power of his wealth and his tremendous chain of newspapers, is bringing it home to the people of England that in order to re-establish prosperity they must seek an outlet for their goods, and particularly develop and reciprocal trade with all portions of the King's Dominions.

"It will be well remembered by many here the campaign of that great Imperial statesman, the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, which was started in July, 1903. His policy everyone now admits, would have unified the Empire and consolidated our world position. He gallantly fought the battle until ill health overtook him in 1910, and as we all know he passed away just before the war, July 3, 1914. Like many other prophets, he did not live to see the fulfilment of his great ideas and his great vision.

"On July 3, 1930, the famous bankers' manifesto was issued supporting the movements they had opposed in his lifetime. This was just sixteen years today from his death, and twenty-seven years from the starting of his great Imperial campaign. Large bodies move slowly.

"Even today there are many British statesmen who cannot grasp the importance of the situation. Not long ago Lord Grey of Fallodon summed up the position in these remarks:

"'Empire free trade will not do because the Dominion are not ready for it.'

"From a Canadian point of view this statement is as amazing as it is pathetically amusing. As far back as 1896 the Dominion of Canada annunciated a policy of Imperial preference and, as we all know, British goods imported into Canada have had a substantial preference over importations from alien countries ever since.

"This has recently been further augmented and the last revision of the tariff gave preference to British goods imported into Canada to the extent of $400,000,000 a year.

"Canada hardly expects nor could she ask the Motherland to impose an import duty on wheat. It is not practicable from several angles, but she could expect a sheltered market whereby she could dispose of her crop, and surely we are deciprocating handsomely by purchases of British goods imported under a very substantial preference tariff. The British consumer is protected from a 'hold up' on price for the reason that the Empire produces over 240,000,000 bushels more than its total requirements.

Liquor Control

"Possibly on an occasion like this I am expected to say something about the liquor question in the Province of British Columbia.

"First of all ,the importance given to this question b ythe press and by the public surely is an indication of lack of proper proportion. Were we to visit France, mercurial and hysterical though we may deem the French people, would we not ridicule and comment upon a whole nation pining its future progress and destiny on the question of 'booze'?

"This situation has reached such a head that within a week one was amazed to read on the front page of a British Columbia daily paper the important announcement that the Chicago gang leader and bootlegger (Scar-Faced Al Capone) was not dead, but only suffering from a cold. The world, no doubt, is now anxiously waiting for news of 'Hard-Boiled George' and what he eats for breakfast.

"The present situation has, as you all know, arisen as one of the results of the war. Many people deemed that total prohibition would help the war. The results you know.

"Government control came into this province early in the game. From the normal man's point of view the distribution of liquor to those who want it should be conducted much on the lines of the postoffice where people can go and buy what they require. It is plain, therefore, we could eliminate a lot of trouble in this connection were people to look upon the whole situation in a cold-blooded businesslike way.

Observe the Law

"The present Liquor Act, as it stands on the statute books, is the law of the land. Be it wise or otherwise, it is the law; and all right-thinking people will do their best to co-operate and see that it is kept. The position of the board with the co-operation of the people is a simple one; without their help and good will it will be extraordinaryily difficult.

"In order to impress the situation upon people's minds we will have to get some horrible examples, and in the handling of these, as in most cases of the kind, justice cannot be tempered with mercy, or consideration," continued Mr. Thomson.

"When the history of the liquor administration is written, perhaps some the rulings and actions may savor more of the blacksmith's anvil than of the calm, judicial atmosphere of the Privy Council, but we have the work to do and we must get on with it.

"Now", as regards the city of Vancouver: some people may think because I happen to have resided a large portion of my life on Vancouver Island, that I take no interest in your great city and your great port with such future prospects. This, I can assure you, is not the case.

"It has been my good fortune to visit most parts of British Columbia from the 49th parallel to the Arctic Circle, and from Tete Jaune Cache in the Rocky Mountains, to Bella Coola on the Pacific. In addition to this, I fully appreciate what benefits Vancouver benefits the rest of British Columbia, and in your present expanding grain export trade, I think I might take credit to myself for no small share in this.

"On the first occasion when a delegation went to Ottawa to urge the building and establishing of an elevator on the Coast, I was sent down by the Board of Trade in Victoria to put forward our plea. Realizing the position and urgency to establish an elevator on the Pacific Coast of Canada, I joined forces with the delegation from Vancouver and urged for the establishment of the elevator here.

"Later on, when you know there were great difficulties from the railroad viewpoint of getting a Western movement of grain, the argument being advanced that shipments of grain would not stand transportation through the tropics via the Panama Canal owing to the moisture, I had an opportunity, as Food Controller of Canada ,to arrange for the shipment of two cargoes through the Panama with men upon them to keep a complete record of the temperature and moisture of the wheat under the varying tropical conditions, and these records of the cargoes completely exploded the theory and established the fact that the Panama Canal route was both feasible and practical. The result today is the development of Vancouver as a great grain port, and it is a matter of pride with me, personally, that I played my small part in this development.

Only Courage Required

"On visiting some towns during these so-called hard times, one ruminates and wonders what a risk certain places are taking in being nicknamed the 'Wailing Wall.' We, on the Pacific Coast of Canada have our future in our own hands. You men in the great port of Vancouver have the destinies of the city in your own hands.

"We are all proud of the fact that the first Narrows has been christened 'The Lions' Gate', and whenever you may feel 'blue' and despondent all you have to do is to look up and see the rugged lions of natural rock standing guard over the destinies of your city.

"A little of the lion's courage and the lion's grit would stand us all in good stead at the present time and it should not be forgotten that although the 'Poodle Pup' is much the same shape as a lion, his actions are very different.

Defines Capital

"In conclusion, I would like to read Stephen Leacock's definition of capital. One often hears the expression in British Columbia: 'We lack capital.' The question is what is capital? Professor Leacock says:

"'For most people capital and investment are vague terms, entirely confused with money and documents, bank cheques and other things, with which they have in themselves nothing to do. But by capital we mean in political economy—not in the money market—all the whole apparatus of things already made which are useful in making other things. Machines are capital—factories, railway equipment, telegraphs, business premises. In fact, we have only to open our eyes and look about us, and what we mostly see is capital. In a modern industrial city there is more capital in sight than scenery.'

"To this definition 'man power' might well be added, as the character and quality of human livestock go a long way to make a country prosperous.

"Unfortunately, we are passing beyond the sphere and influence of those great men, the pioneers, who first opened and really made British Columbia what it is. We should keep their memories green and emulate their determination and courage, carrying on the work in our own small way under much easier and pleasanter experiences than they encountered; doing our bit to indicate our pride and faith in British Columbia, in Canada and the British Empire, of which we form a part, and handing on to the rising generation some of the wonderful faith and spirit of the Western pioneers.

"Gentlemen, we all have problems to face; work to do; difficulties to surmount; let us get on with it, as it is our duty," concluded Mr. Thomson.

Famous Husky Wins Prizes

Arthur Beauvais, well-known Indian guide at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City, owes much of his popularity among visitors to the hostelry to the team of huskies that mush them out on snowsled trips in the winter. Chief among his team is its leader, "Jeff," and at the last minute it occurred to Arthur to enter Jeff at the Montreal Kennel Association Show held recently. He took no particular trouble in beautifying him for the occasion and accordingly was gratified to learn that he had taken three first prizes and one special prize. In fact, he would have taken another special prize as the best dog shown, if Beauvais had not taken him away to catch a train. Illustration shows close-up of Jeff with some of his prize ribbons.

The telephone would have saved her the trip

"Goodness me!" said Mrs. Brown, "I've just been to town to get my table provisions, and I've forgotten the meat for dinner. I wish I'd taken the Smith's advice and had a telephone installed; I could just call up and have the meat sent. But I didn't—so I guess there's nothing for it but to make the trip over again."

And here's the Reason! Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is just the best of fresh cow's milk with part of the water removed—then sealed and sterilized in air-tight containers. Add water again and you have absolutely pure, safe milk—but more readily digestible than ordinary milk because the large fat globules of the milk have been broken up into small ones of the same size as in Mother's milk. Also, the curds which form in the stomach when Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is used are soft and flaky and therefore easily digestible.

Use Nestlé's Evaporated Milk for Your Baby. Use it in coffee—in cocoa—in tea. Use it in all cooking and as a beverage by diluting with one to two parts water.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William Cooper Colling, who passed away September 14th, 1929.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The World's weary troubles and trials are passed;
In silence he suffered; in patience he bore;
'Till God called him home,
To suffer no more.
Ever remembered by his loving wife and family.

Breakfast & Tea Muffins

By Betty Barclay

Muffins taste good this time of year. The cooler the weather, the better they taste. Here are two recipes, quite similar, but the tea muffins are smaller and sweeter than those served at the morning meal:

Breakfast Muffins

2 cups special cake flour, sifted
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten
¾ cup milk
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening melted

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Combine egg and milk and add to flour, beating until smooth. Add shortening. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Makes 10 muffins.

Queen Tea Muffins

1⅞ cups special flour sifted
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
4 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
¾ cup milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg, then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Makes 18 small muffins.
