Proceedings Of City Council

School Board Granted Use of Council Chamber During Reconstruction of School.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening, His Worship Mayor D. R. McDonald being in the chair, and Aldermen Brown, Bannerman, Parnham, Thomson and Pickard and City Clerk Mordy at the table.

Council Chamber as School Room.
The application of the School Board for use of the Council Chamber as a classroom during progress of the addition to the school brought forth a good deal of discussion pro and con, but the Council eventually decided, on motion of Alderman Brown and Thomson, to give the School Board use of the room. They will need it for about three months. In the meantime the City Clerk's office and meetings of the Council will be held in the adjoining room, now occupied by the city police.

Re Disposition of Guns.
A communication was received from the Post Office Department at Ottawa suggesting positions for the guns received from the War Trophies Commission. The department suggested that the big gun be placed right on the corner of the post office. The matter was left in the hands of the chairman of the Board of Works, Ald. Thomson, to look into.

Telephone Charges.
A communication was received from the Telephone Company notifying the City Council that the company was charging rental for the City Hall phone from January last, and for the Hospital phone from September 1. The granting of free phones was an arrangement entered into between the Telephone Company and the Council some years ago when the company erected poles in the city. The City Clerk was instructed to write the Telephone Company objecting to the payment of dues from last January as no notice had been given.

Visit to New Dam.
The Council having been invited by the Union Water Works Co. to visit the new dam recently, which visit had to be postponed, the Council decided to visit the dam on Thursday of this week, choosing Thursday afternoon as the time.

The chairman of the Board of Works reported that the drains and manholes were being cleaned out and put in shape for the winter. The connection at the P. O. will be a decided improvement and relieve the surface drainage lower down the avenue.

Next Meeting October 13.
Owing to the City Clerk and some of the Aldermen contemplating being out of town on the next regular meeting night, the Council decided to meet on Wednesday, October 13, instead.

OUR "CUB" REPORTER LOST HIS BEARINGS

Government Will Not Put an Inspector in Every Brewery To Check All Output.

The statement in the report of the Liberty League meeting in the last issue of the Islander that the government intended placing an inspector in every brewery and that present product of the breweries was greatly in excess of the 2½ per cent. allowed by law, was incorrectly reported. Our "cub" reporter evidently had become somewhat exhilarated—or maybe mentally "stimulated"—with the idea of soon being able to procure a drink of his favorite "medicine" when he badly needed it, that he allowed his imagination to run away and play tricks with him. However, he has no possible doubt that all liberty-loving men—and women—will cast in their vote for "Government Control and Sale in Sealed Packages" under strict and proper supervision, and so do away with that atrocious thing called the Prohibition Act—which does not, and what's more never will—prohibit, but plays into the hands of the "bootlegger" and his kindred.

BASEBALL CLUB DANCE ON THURSDAY NEXT

To wind up the season the Cumberland Junior Baseball Club is holding a big dance in the Ilo-Ilo Dance Hall on Thursday evening next. This should be one of the best dances of the season.

Tag Day Women's Hospital Auxiliary

The above organization propose to hold their Annual Tag Day on Saturday next. On that day the members of the Auxiliary will stand at the principal corners of Dunsmuir Avenue and ask for contributions, great or small. Collections will also be made at Bevan and Union Bay.

For those who do not realize the work of the Society, we beg to state that the Hospital Auxiliary provides most of the crockery and linen used at the local hospital, which are all procured in the town, and all funds realized are spent here. With the exception of the dues paid by the members of the society, which number over 50, it depends entirely on voluntary contributions for its support. The claims on its resources are very great, as the strong disinfectants used quickly destroy sheets, etc., the quality of which are none too good since the war.

It is hoped that a very generous response will be made by those who feel the cause to be deserving, and that those who do not feel called upon to contribute will at least remember that the collectors' task is not an enviable one and only done from a sense of charity, and accord them every civility. The results of the collections will be published in The Islander.

AMY B. CLINTON, Hon. Sec.

BENEFIT DANCE BY UNITED FOOTBALL CLUB

On Tuesday evening, October 12, the Cumberland United Football Club is giving a benefit dance in the Ilo-Ilo Dance Hall, the proceeds being in aid of an injured player of the team. Monte's five-piece orchestra has been engaged for the occasion.

MASONS PAY VISIT TO LADYSMITH LODGE

Some thirty members of Cumberland Lodge No. 26, A. F. & A. M., journeyed to Ladysmith on Saturday last and were royally entertained by members of St. John's Lodge, No. 21.

Junior Football League Formed

A meeting of the junior footballers of Cumberland was held recently for the purpose of forming a Junior Football Club. They invited a few older enthusiasts to advise them and to act as officers of the club. They are now organized and are known as the Cumberland Intermediate and Junior Football Club. The following were elected as officers—President, A. J. Taylor; vice-president, G. Shearer; secretary-treasurer, Nat Bevis; manager, Jas. English; committee, R. Smith, Ted Gumm, Sam Millar. The boys are all very enthusiastic and with a continuation of their determination there is no doubt but what they will make good. They have already acquired new suits and shoes. Their colors are black and amber.

When properly set going the executive intends to run two teams, all boys over 13 years of age to be selected for the intermediate team and to play against such teams as South Wellington, Nanaimo and Ladysmith intermediates for the Upper Island trophy. All boys under 13 years of age to be selected for the junior team, to play against all local junior teams, such as Bevan, Union Bay, High School and other such teams in the Comox district.

As there is now a Junior League formed, the first games are to be played on Saturday, October 9. Four teams are now entered, and the trophy is to be the Merrifield Cup. The first games will be High School v. Union Bay, Bevan Juniors v. Cumberland; the games to be played on the grounds of the first named clubs. The schedule is now being arranged for the remainder of the league games, which are to be home and home games.

The following are the appointed officers of the Cumberland and District Football Association—President, Collin Campbell, of the High School club; vice-president, John G. Quinn of Bevan club; 2nd vice-president, Andrew Kay of Union Bay club; secretary-treasurer, A. J. Taylor of Cumberland Juniors.

An exhibition game will be played on the new recreation grounds this afternoon, between the High School and Cumberland Juniors; the game starts at 4.15.

CONCERT AND DANCE AT PUNTLEDGE OCT. 6

It is announced that a concert and dance will be given in the No. 8 Mine School, Puntledge, on Wednesday evening next. Admission is, ladies 25 cents and gentlemen one dollar.

BIG MEETING SUNDAY NIGHT "WETS" VERSUS "DRYS"

Robert Cassidy, K.C., Well Known Speaker of Vancouver, and H. G. MacKinnon of This City, Will Present Case for Government Control, While Tom Richardson, ex-M.P. in the British Parliament, and W. R. Trotter, Will Speak for Prohibition.

A super-special attraction is what the "movie" ads. would describe the combined meeting and debate to be held in the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Sunday evening after church hours, when the "Wets" and "Drys" will meet on the same platform and present arguments for Government Control or the retaining of the present Prohibition Act.

Mr. Robert Cassidy, K.C., of Vancouver, whose ability as a public speaker is well known, together with Mr. H. G. MacKinnon of this city will present arguments in favor of Government Control. Mr. Tom Richardson, former member in the British House of Commons, and Mr. W. R. Trotter, a Socialist and Labor leader of Vancouver, will try and convince the Cumberland public why they should vote for the retention of the Prohibition Act.

In order that both sides may have a fair and impartial hearing, Mr. Charles Graham will be chairman of the meeting. Everyone who takes an interest in this burning question should make it a point of being present at this meeting. It should be time well spent. The Temperance plebiscite takes place two weeks from next Wednesday.

John J. Wier Is Returning Officer

Will Direct Operations in the 63 Polling Divisions of Comox Electoral District.

Mr. John J. Wier has been appointed Returning Officer for the Comox Electoral District under the Temperance Plebiscite Act, to conduct the polling to take place at the sixty-three widely scattered polling divisions on Wednesday October 20, when the electors of British Columbia, male and female, will decide whether they want the present so-called Prohibition Act to remain in force or desire the Government to institute what is termed "Government Control and Sale in Sealed Packages of Spirituous and Malt Liquors."

The Comox Electoral District is probably one of the worst in the whole province to supervise, as it covers a very large area, extending to Port Hardy on the Island and Kingcome Inlet and Powell River on the Mainland. The polling divisions include no less than 63 places.

The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesday, October 20.

CHAS. O'BRIEN NOW G. W. V. A. SECRETARY

At the meeting of the G. W. V. A. on Tuesday evening Mr. C. J. Bunbury handed in his resignation as secretary of that association, and Mr. Chas. O'Brien was unanimously chosen to fill the position for the balance of the term.

Extensive Addition To Public School

Urgent Additions Costing in the Neighborhood of $20,000 Now Under Way.

The Ryan Construction Company of Vancouver has secured the contract from the Department of Public Works for the urgently needed addition of four class rooms to the public school of this city. Work has now begun and will be hastened to completion.

The government estimate for the work is understood to be in the neighborhood of $20,000. While the work is under way the classes affected are being taken care of in other rooms. The City Council has granted the School Board use of the Council chamber for one class, and the Senior Third, under Miss O'Connell, is now located there. Divisions 7, 8, 9 and 10 will go on half time, commencing with Monday. Divisions 9 and 7 will attend school from 9 to 12 noon, and Divisions 8 and 10 will attend from 1 to 4. The following week they will reverse.

CITY COUNCIL VISITS WATER WORKS DAM

On Thursday afternoon the City Council paid an official visit to the new dam at the invitation of the Cumberland Union Water Works Co., Ltd. Mayor McDonald, Ald. Brown, Bannerman, Parnham, Thomson, City Clerk Mordy, accompanied by Mr. G. W. Clinton and Mr. Short of the Co., made the trip. Owing to pressure on our space at the last moment the report of this visit is unavoidably held over.

Activities Of The Presbyterians

On Wednesday evening in the basement of the Presbyterian Church a congregational meeting was held when the needs of the congregation were presented by Dr. Hicks, chairman of the Managing Board. An energetic campaign was planned and is now being carried out. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Birthday Social.

On Thursday evening, in the same place, a birthday social was held by the members of the Junior Bible Class for the congregation. A most enjoyable time was spent, over sixty being present. Games and amusing stunts occupied the first part of the evening. The chair was taken by Mr. Jack Fouracre, president of the class, who welcomed those present in the name of the class. An excellent programme consisting of solos, recitations and cornet solos, was rendered, after which refreshments were served, and the evening brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne." The proceeds amounted to $36.25.

Thank Offering Meeting.

On Thursday evening next, October 7, a Thank Offering Meeting, under the auspices of the W. M. S., will be held in the basement of the church. It is expected that Mrs. J. L. Campbell of Vancouver, an excellent lady speaker, will be present and give an address on Missions.

CHILDREN'S FAIR AT DENMAN ISLAND

Considerable interest was shown in the Children's Fair on Monday last at Denman Island. The exhibits show keenness and reflected great credit on the boys and girls showing specimens of their abilities in gardening, stock-raising and domestic economy. Quite a crowd of older people were present and were more than ever impressed with the wisdom of encouraging the young people in this way.

The Fair was held under the auspices of the Women's Institute.

Y.M.C.A. Work In This District

Provincial and District Secretaries Visit Cumberland on Boys Work Tour.

Mr. Hutchinson, secretary for boys' work in British Columbia and Alberta, under auspices of the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. C. B. McKinnon, secretary of the Nanaimo District, visited Cumberland on Saturday last, remaining here a few days in connection with the boys' work in this district. Both Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. McKinnon delivered addresses at the services in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday.

In connection with the boys' work a meeting was held in the City Hall on Sunday afternoon, at which representatives of the different churches and those interested attended. Capt. J. C. Brown, who is president of the branch in this city, was chairman. The attendance was only moderate, no doubt on account of the very wet day. Addresses were delivered by both visitors on the work done in other parts by the Y. M. C. A., a general discussion ensuing.

All present were heartily in favor of taking some definite action for the welfare of the boys of the district, though how this was to be accomplished was not decided upon. Some of those present were not convinced that the city was getting good value for the four or five hundred dollars per year expected from the town, and not caring to tie themselves to the proposed plan without some further information and instruction, the meeting decided to adjourn until Tuesday next at 7 p.m. It is expected that both Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. McKinnon will be here for this meeting.

THOROUGHbred POMERANIANS COME TO CUMBERLAND

Mrs. Horwood of this city has purchased from Mr. Knott, of Victoria, two lovely solid chocolate Pomeranian puppies—male and female. Mr. Knott is reckoned as one of the leading Pomeranian breeders of Canada, and Mrs. Horwood is to be complimented on securing such good stock to start her kennel activities.

Monday, October 18, Thanksgiving Day, and Wednesday, Oct. 20, Plebiscite Polling Day, have been proclaimed public holidays.

Cumberland Win By Good Margin

Inter-City League Champions Go Down to Defeat Before B. C. Champions

Cumberland journeyed to Nanaimo on Sunday and engaged the Inter-City champions in an Upper Island League fixture. The B. C. champions made several changes in their team from the previous game, Strang partnering Campbell at back, Smith being moved to right half and Conti filling the centre half position, Horne being inside left and Boothman inside right.

Boothman won the toss and took advantage of the wind. Nanaimo were first to find their feet on the slippery pitch and kept Cumberland defense on edge for some time. Strong, kicking by the backs, let Cumberland away and first Conti, and then Horne, tested Routledge with long shots. A run by O'Brien and Robertson looked dangerous for Cumberland but Campbell cleared. Cumberland again took up the pressure, and Chester and Dickinson were a busy pair; from a centre by Harrison, James got possession, and beating the backs, he gave the goalkeeper no chance to save.

Cumberland continued to have the pull and Routledge was kept busy. Conti and Jackson were playing a strong game at half, never allowing the Inter-City champions' front line to settle down. Boothman put James in possession, and beating two men on the run he registered goal No. 2 with a shot of the unsavable nature. The slippery ground seemed to suit James; when in possession he was always dangerous and was hard to dislodge from the ball. This reverse seemed to nettie Nanaimo, and their forwards made strenuous efforts to reduce the leeway. A cross from Pilling striking the upright the ball rolled into the net, out of Clark's reach.

Cumberland again took the game in hand, James having hard luck with a shot that bounced off the goalkeepers' leg. Half-time was called with the B. C. champions leading by the odd goal, a lead they well deserved, their play being much superior and their front rank combining better together.

Cumberland were the aggressors on resuming, and in spite of the wind and rain they hovered around Routledge's charge. James put the finishing touch to a shot from Wylie and the game on ice for Cumberland. Content with their two-goal lead the champions played a defensive game, the inside men falling back and assisting the halves.

Nanaimo had most of the play towards the finish, but were seldom dangerous, Campbell and Strang taking care of anything that came their way, and Clark was seldom called upon to handle a shot. On the other hand Cumberland were often dangerous, Harrison beating Chester repeatedly.

NO DELINQUENT TAXES IN CUMBERLAND

The city of Cumberland is in the happy position of having no delinquent taxes. The only delinquent taxes outstanding were paid before the date of sale announced by the city clerk.

NANAIMO CITY TEAM HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow Cumberland United receive a return visit from the strong Nanaimo City team. The Nanaimo boys are coming up with the intention of wiping out last Sunday's defeat. The following players have been chosen to represent Cumberland: Goal, Clark; backs, Strang and Campbell; half-backs, Smith, Conti, Irvine; forwards, Bannerman, Nichols, James, Horne, Harrison; reserves, Bobby Brown, A. Wylie.

New Players for the Local Team.

Dave Wilson, manager of the Cumberland United Football Club, has been out scouting for new players, and is to be congratulated on signing up two such sterling players as "Stubby" Nichols and Jack Irvine, of Vancouver, both members of the famous I. L. A. football team. Nichols is a forward of the very best type, whilst Irvine plays in the half-back line.

GERMAN FOOTBALL TEAM'S OFFER TO GEORGE WILSON

George Wilson, brother of Dave Wilson of Cumberland, the well-known Kitchley resident and football player, has been offered a position as coach and trainer to a German football club at Stuttgart. The Heart of Midlothian, Everton, Belfast Distillery, Newcastle United, Raith Rovers and East Fife left wing internationalist is not new to Stuttgart, being there with Newcastle United before the war. No definite arrangements are known as yet.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

By Dr. Leonard Keene-Hirschberg, A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins).

You talk about oils and fats, sugars and starches, soups and meats, water and salts as good food. Some school children try to talk to you in more modern terms about proteins, carbohydrates, minerals and calories, but you sniff and tell them "not to talk back to try to correct their elders, but to speak only when spoken to." Then you promptly forget all about such "new fangled, hifalutin stuff and nonsense," and the college girl or boy, thus suppressed and soon graduated, drifts back into the language of the folks at home and soon ignores the mushroom, classroom knowledge. Calories have ceased to be anything in his young life.

Be all this as it may, there are certain elemental substances in foods, which your grandmothers knew not of, that must be recognized, understood and remembered for all time and every day. They are vital to human health and well being, hence their name—vitamines.

When your baby's head sweats and a little bald place occurs on the back of its head from rubbing the pillow, the old nurses and gossips, who have "buried dozens of babies and know more than any doctor," will tell you "it is nothing and is a sign of riches."

Known of Old.

But it is something and a sign only of possible riches for doctors, druggists and undertakers. That perspiry spot means rickets, and rickets is a nutritional disorder which appears when there is a lack of vitamines in the infant's food. If mother's milk is not complete in vitamines, it may have albumen, fat, sugar, water, fertilisers and a perfect caloric measurement, but the baby will suffer and may waste away even though "it is the picture of health" otherwise.

Similarly, a lot of prize babies may be fat, chubby and full of laughter, yet be anaemic, rickety or with scurvy because vitamines are absent from their food.

You can never be sure that you get enough vitamines in your daily fare to maintain your health against the first onslaught of pneumonia, typhoid, dysentery or some other malady or microbe which is blamed for your long suffering or death—a discredit which should be lodged against lack of vitamines in your victuals and drink.

Although the name vitamine, which trips now so lightly from almost every school child's lips, is new to many older persons, it has been known for several generations that the terrible disease—scurvy, which broke out on sailing vessels long out at sea—came from too much salt pork, canned beans and other foods none too fresh. Arctic explorers told how scurvy decimated the ranks of the Eskimos. Fresh orange juice and freshly leafy vegetables cured them.

About eight years or so ago the term vitamine was brought into use by Prof. Funk as applicable to some quality or substances in fresh foods which had the power to cure scurvy, pellagra, obesity of a certain type, beri-beri, rickets and neuritis of one kind.

Where It's Found.

Prof. McCallum of Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene by a series of brilliant experiments, proved that you can eat all the meat, fish, sugar, fat and mineral foods at the most expensive hotels or in your own home, cooked by the greatest chef, yet they would all be inadequate for normal health, growth and development and even lay you open to the first breath of disease if vitamines were not present. The reason Jews are usually in better average health than some other races is perhaps due to Moses' discovery that butter should be used and not lard, as cooking fat.

Vitamines are not dispensable as drugs, medicines, condiments or chemicals, but they are indispensable food combination which can be served in the form of compressed yeast tablets.

Play safe and be sure that you and your loved ones receive their fair share of vitamines, besides oranges, apples, butter, milk, cheese, cod oil and other fresh pabulum. A number of good physicians recommend those who are obese, anemic, emotionally deficient, emaciated, bloated, run-down or ill with signs of rickets, scurvy, pellagra, fever or beri-beri, to take tablets of yeast of the types very much in vitamines.

If this is done, with the power and improvement which go with sunlight and an outdoor life, numerous discomforts blamed upon almost everything but the right thing, will disappear as the mist of the valley before the sunrise.

Cumberland Win By Good Margin

and James was no end of worry to Dickenson.

Cumberland came within an ace of adding to their score, Horne just missing a header by inches in the goal mouth, and in his anxiety pulling the ball down with his hand.

Time was called with both teams showing the effects of a hard and trying game. Cumberland well deserved their win, Nanaimo being seldom dangerous after the first ten minutes. Clark in goal had very little to do, while Routledge was worked overtime, but was in no way to blame for his team's defeat. Campbell and Strang gave a great display at back, their lackling and covering up being worth watching. As a pair, they will be hard to equal in B. C. Jackson and Conti played a useful and interesting game at half, Teddy being up against the Inter-City champions' crack wing, O'Brien and Robertson, but never allowed them any rope, while Conti had Pilling's measure and attended to him like a father to his boy. James was probably the most brilliant player on the field, his exhibition at centre being away above the usual standard seen in this province. Three goals in one game against a defense like the inter-city champions, takes some getting.

Harrison and Horne, on the left, gave a fine display. Andy has lots of pep and had hard lines with two or three attempts at goal. Boothman stood the hard going and lasted better than some of the younger ones.

On the run of the play, Nanaimo were outplayed and outclassed in every department of the field, and Cumberland should have nothing to fear in the return game tomorrow.

FOOTBALL NOTES

At a meeting of the Upper Island League Association held in Nanaimo on September 25th, J. Wargo of Ladysmith was suspended from taking an active part in football for the remainder of the season, for striking the referee during the game between Ladysmith and Nanaimo City. The protest entered by Ladysmith in connection with the same game was disallowed.

Why did Strang shake the ball before placing it for a goal kick during the latter portion of the game? Was it wet?

It takes more than rain to keep Nanaimo fans at home when Cumberland are playing, and some of them do love Campbell! Why?

Seek the favor of those to whom you wish happiness, rather than of those from whom you hope to gain an advantage.—La Bruyere.

TEMPERANCE PLEBISCITE ACT PROCLAMATION OF RETURNING OFFICER

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
IN THE COMOX ELECTORAL DISTRICT

TO WIT:

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given to the Electors of the Electoral District aforesaid that I have received His Majesty's Writ to me directed, and bearing date the Twentieth day of September, 1920, and commanding me to cause the following question, namely:

WHICH DO YOU PREFER?

1. The present "Prohibition Act"?

2. An Act to provide for Government Control and Sale in Sealed Packages of Spirituous and Malt Liquors?

to be submitted according to law to the Electors qualified to vote for the election of a member of the Legislative Assembly for the Electoral District aforesaid; and, further, that in obedience to the said Writ a poll shall be opened at eight o'clock in the forenoon and shall be closed at seven o'clock in the afternoon on Wednesday, the Twentieth day of October, 1920, for taking and receiving the votes of the said Electors in each polling division of the Electoral District aforesaid at the respective polling divisions.

Of which all persons are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly.

GIVEN under my hand at Cumberland, B. C., this 25th day of September, 1920.

JOHN J. WIER,
Returning Officer.

THE FRENCH-CANADIAN HORSE ONE OF THE BEST

The French-Canadian horse, which is comparatively little known outside the province of Quebec, is claimed to be one of the most durable and otherwise useful horses to be found anywhere in Canada. In bulletin 95 of the Experimental Farms, the author, Mr. Gus Langellier, points out that this breed is descended from the old-time French-Canadian pony, sent from France to Canada by Louis XIV. These ponies were of the best that could be procured in their native land. They remained for three years the property of the king, and were then distributed among the farmers of Canada, in order to encourage the development of agriculture.

Some few years ago the pedigree records of the French-Canadian horse, maintained by the Quebec Government, were transferred to the National Live Stock Records. Other steps have been taken to maintain the breed as pure as possible. One of the latest methods, as pointed out in the bulletin, which can be obtained from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has been the establishment of a horse breeding farm at St. Joachim, situated some twenty-five miles east of Quebec City. This farm, which is operated under the Experimental Farms system, has some thirty well selected brood mares. These, together with fifteen of similar quality, kept on the Experimental Station at Cap Rouge, Quebec, form a collection from which it is hoped to produce a superior new foundation stock for the breed.

KNEW WHAT HE'D DO.

The teacher asked his pupils to write an essay, telling what they would do if they had $1,000,000.

Every pupil except little Willie Powers began writing immediately. William sat idle, twiddling his fingers and watching flies on the ceiling.

Teacher collected the papers and William handed in a blank sheet.

"How is this, William?" asked teacher. "Is this your essay? Every other pupil has written two sheets or more, while you have done nothing." "Well," replied William, "that's what I would do if I were a millionaire."

Of infinite blue.

I'd sing till all sobbing
And heart-ache should cease,
Buried deep in an ocean
Of fathomless peace.

I'd soothe every throbbing
And overwrought nerve
Of an age so dynamic
To act and to serve.

I'd lead earth so gently
To dreamland's fair shore
Till she caught a sweet vision
Of Eden once more.

Then perhaps earth would waken
With radiant smile,
Because of her brief respite
And an angel's sweet song.

For the earth's heart is human,
And we all are made strong
By a trip into dreamland
And an angel's sweet song.

New Freight Rates Will Mean Sharp Advance In Foodstuffs

Manufacturers and Wholesalers Do Not View With Approval the Advance of Forty Per Cent. in Freight Rates—"Will Bear Very Heavily on the Cost of Living," Says One Manufacturer.

Discussing the new freight increase with representative manufacturers, and with A. C. Pyke, secretary of the Canadian Wholesale Grocers' Association, vigorous protest was voiced against the advance. The opinion generally shared is that the increase is inopportune, at a time when people are looking for a decline in prices. The new freight rates, representing an advance of thirty-five and forty per cent., cannot help but mean higher prices for foodstuffs.

"The new freight increase will bear very heavily on the cost of living," remarked C. M. Wrenshall of the White Swan Spices & Cereals Co., Ltd., to the "Canadian Grocer" of Toronto. "It will affect the cost of the raw material, then of the manufactured article, again to the wholesale trade, and in turn to the retailer, and ultimately the burden of the increase must be borne by the consumer. There is no justification for the increase at the present time, when everyone is looking for the cost of living to come down rather than go higher. The individual consumer should not be called upon to bear the additional expenditure of higher wages for railway employees. It should be borne by the country as a whole."

Speaking for the wholesale grocers, A. C. Pyke, the secretary, remarked that the Wholesalers' Association had already registered a strong protest against the proposed increases. The association had asked that the increase be reckoned only on the needs of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and these, Mr. Pyke did not think, were very great. He did not think the advance would be as high as forty per cent. "It must of course mean higher prices for foodstuffs, and at all the different sources where the increase applies, food values will be very materially affected," Mr. Pyke added. Further protest will undoubtedly be made against the new rates by the wholesalers.

"The new freight rates will mean twenty-five cents per barrel more in the price of flour," stated Gordon

Doddington, of the Western Canada Flour Mills. "This advance will decrease the amount of the recent decline on all crop government standard flour to 35 cents per barrel, instead of sixty cents as announced recently. At a time when everyone is looking for prices to decline, the new freight rate increase seems very inopportune."

ORIGIN OF THE BLANKET

We would consider it a hardship not to have a soft woolly blanket under which to snuggle on a cold winter night. Yet there was a time when a blanket was unknown, and we owe its invention to poverty. Years ago a man in England lost all his wealth and became very poor. One cold winter night in 1340 he used a piece of rough, unfinished cloth for a bed covering to keep himself warm. Evidently neither his poverty nor the cold made him dull, for from this makeshift bed covering he invented the blanket. The name of this man was Thomas Blanket, and the new kind of bedding has been known under the name of blanket ever since.

LITTLE DROPS OF WATER

It has been said that people are as ignorant of the size of the sea as they are of matters dealing with astronomy. Few persons are aware, for instance, that the Pacific Ocean covers 68,000,000 miles; the Atlantic 30,000,000 miles and the Indian Ocean, Arctic and Antarctic 42,000,000 miles. To stow away the contents of the Pacific Ocean it would be necessary to fill a tank one mile long, one mile wide, and one mile deep, every day for 440 years. The Pacific holds in weight 984,000,000,000,000,000 tons. The Atlantic Ocean averages a depth of not quite three miles. A tank to contain its waters would have sides 430 miles long.

POLICE AND PROHIBITION

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, in replying to a correspondent who sought to argue that because the Mounted Police successfully coped with illicit trade in whiskey on the prairies in 1874, similar effective work could be done in British Columbia, says that the circumstances are entirely different. The Provincial Police (second to none) have signally failed simply because a bare majority of voters cannot make a law effective when the law offends the sense of those who respect the law of God. In the early days of the construction of the C. P. R. drastic laws had some force. The legislation referred to was temporary for peculiar and exceptional conditions. With all such experience a leading Canadian statesman, Edward Blake—leader of the Liberal Party—himself a total abstainer—hit the nail on the head in 1886 at Aymer when he said: "I think no repressive legislation can be profitable or permanent unless there exists a widely diffused and very strongly-felt and very earnest public opinion at its back," and again, "more than a majority of the people must be brought to the conviction that drink is a direct outrage and irredeemable curse which ought to be outlawed from among men" (quoted from the Mail newspaper) and adding, "therefore I cannot honestly vote for prohibition now."

Our present amorphous botch called the Prohibition Act is notoriously violated by an enormous number of men who as citizens were always regarded as "good men and true." It does seem to me that hysterical appeals by men of the gospel who advocate drastic prohibition laws in respect of this particular matter have lost faith in the power of the gospel and moral suasion.

There are now, I am glad to know, a large number of ministers of the gospel who are content to follow the teachings and example of our Saviour and who recognize as he did that gifts of God may be abused but should not therefore be prohibited. The abuse only is condemned.

A WORLD COURT

Acceptance, amendment or rejection of the plan for the permanent court of arbitration will be part of the business to come before the assembly of the League of Nations when it meets in November. The creation of this permanent court of international justice is provided for by the Covenant of the League of Nations.

If the plan that has been framed is accepted by the League, the court will be formed at once and will at once enter upon the functions.

In selecting the judges for this court, a panel will be submitted by the existing court of arbitration at The Hague. Small nations and large will be represented in the panel, but when the council and the assembly of the League of Nations pick the judges they will select only fifteen, so of course a number of nations will have no direct representations on the court. Nations having litigation before the court may have representatives on the bench, but a majority will decide all cases.

The greatest difficulty experienced in drawing up the plan for the permanent court was in reconciling the interests of the small nations with the large. Elaborate provisions have been made so as to reassure small nations that they may not fear the dominating influence of the large ones.

The jurisdiction of this world court is limited to four classes of disputes, but its use is made compulsory within these limits. This because if its jurisdiction were based on voluntary agreement to litigate before it, lawless governments would of course decline to submit their cases to its decision. It is provided that a government refuse to appear before the court, when summoned, the case will be heard and the decision given full publicity, so that impartial nations may know where the right of the dispute lies.

The following classes of cases are to be dealt with: (1) Interpretation of treaties; (2) applications of international law or of custom and usage having the force of law; (3) questions of fact alleged to involve violations of international law; (4) questions of reparation or redress where international law has clearly been violated.

The court, it must be remembered, is a part of the machinery of the League of Nations. Since every nation, with the exception of the United States and two or three like Mexico and Turkey, will be part of the League, holding out against it will be a position which the civilized world never expected to see the United States occupy.

According to the "Fleet Review," a man presented himself for enlistment who said that his mother was an American who had married a Frenchman in Italy. He said further that he was born on a ship flying the Spanish colors while she was lying in the English Channel, that his parents having died in Sweden when he was five, he was adopted by a German who brought him up in the United States. The man who adopted him was not a naturalized citizen.

"Would you class him as a man without a country?" someone asked the recruiting officer. "Thunder, no!" was the reply; "I'd class him as a League of Nations."

DRESSES THE PART

Hon. Mackenzie King, who took his dress suit to the labor conference at Washington and his dancing pumps to New York, will probably take his bathing suit to B. C. The rainy season and Hon. Mackenzie will probably hit the coast about the same time, and the rising young Liberal leader knows well how to dress for the occasion.—Toronto Telegram.

POLITICAL MERRY-GO-ROUND

A correspondent from the codfish zone writes: "If Canada wants an Irish problem all she has to do is to get Newfoundland into Confederation. The political dog days down here last the year round." This was meant by way of commentary on the latest political embroglio in the most ancient colony, which involves His Excellency the Governor, Sir Charles Alexander Harris, K.C., M.G., and his chief adviser, Hon. Richard Squires. The Prime Minister is, comparatively speaking, a new comer in office, having defeated the Lloyd-Cashin regime at the polls some months ago.

It appears that there were demands in Hon. Mr. Squires' political fold that the conduct of the members of the preceding Government should be investigated. When the Governor was approached on the matter, he remarked, no doubt in bitterness of soul, that from his knowledge of political conditions in Newfoundland during the past two or three years he would consider it disastrous to the interests of that country if such an inquiry into the conduct of some of his late advisers were held.

This remark was necessarily confidential, but the Prime Minister did not seem to appreciate that governmental principle and later, when speaking on a public platform, cited the Governor's words in support of a diatribe of his own against his political opponents. Following the amenities of Newfoundland politics his veracity was questioned and he followed up his speech with an affidavit giving the Governor's words in greater detail. His Excellency is therefore placed in a pretty predicament, although he has so far chosen to ignore the matter. Since he only mentioned "some of his late advisers" the demand is made that he give names and separate the sheep from the goats. Then the question is raised: why, if he was convinced of the sinister nature of some of these late advisers, did he not invoke the Crown prerogative to dismiss them from office? Newfoundlanders are sticklers for constitutional points, and they carry the argument even further. For instance, a Cabinet (it is argued), is one and indivisible, and one Cabinet Minister is responsible for the acts of all so long as he remains a member of the ministry; ergo, all members of the Lloyd-Cashin Government are guilty of conduct that would be disastrous to Newfoundland's reputation abroad if ventilated. And so the argument goes on ad infinitum.

It would appear that His Excellency, who was obviously actuated by a desire to end the carnival of political recrimination which has been in progress for some years, by suggesting that the Prime Minister let bygones be bygones, has unintentionally got himself inextricably mixed up in a partisan affray, and will be a storm centre until the next political mare's nest is discovered.—Saturday Night.

WAITING

By CARLTON FITCHETT.

A goodly portion of our lives is spent in futile waiting—not counting waiting on our wives, that goes without my stating. And thus we nobly serve, so says Jack Milton, big league poet; they had no street cars in his days nor local trains, you know it.

We wait from cradle to the grave, it seems to be our hoodoo; I have to wait to get a shave, and it's a cinch that you do. We have to wait for boat or train in fair or stormy weather and with a plat of high disdain our nanny slips its tether.

We have to wait to cross the street, to hasten would be folly, and we've grown bunions on our feet from waiting for the trolley. We wait for prices to decline, to catch the elevator; we wait when we go forth to dine; we wait upon the waiter.

We wait to get a raise in pay, for weather fair and sunny, and hopefully await some day to pay us back some money. We wait to hear the final score, we may as well be candid; we stand in line to get ashore before the boat has landed.

The other day I went to see a lawyer, suave and shifty. A card read, "I'll be back at three," 'twas then about three-fifty. I waited many minutes drear, my wrath kept mounting higher, till on his card I wrote, "I fear that you're a hopeless liar."

In Texas watermelons are so cheap that they use them for containers. They extract the core, insert a quart of whiskey and sell it for $20.

A police commissioner willed several hundred thousand dollars to his landlady. What makes this unusual is that so few landladies wait till the tenant dies.

A speaker at a municipal debate on child labor is reported to have said the other day: "I want to see an equal chance for those children born with a silver spoon and hose with a pick and shovel in their mouths."

Word comes from Boston that a commission will reset Plymouth Rock, but at this distance it isn't clear whether they are talking about a hen of that well-known breed or the famous boulder of Puritan fame.

One of the speakers at a teachers' institute in Tacoma urged all women teachers to become suffragettes and assert their independence. Confound the fellow! Doesn't he ever expect to be married himself?

Theodore Roosevelt was at times spectacular in his emphasis of religious fundamentals. A story of his conversation with the newspaper correspondent who insisted that he could worship as reverently under a tree with a cigar and a book or in the fields or on the hills with his dog, is typical. "Doubtless you can, my friend, but no one would ever suspect you of it," he snapped.

The Gold Cup, which rewards the winner of the chief event at the Ascot meeting, is perhaps the most coveted prize of the turf. It has had a varied history. In 1807 the first race for the Gold Cup was witnessed by George III's queen and "the three princesses in white Spanish mantles, and the Prince of Wales glorious in bottle-green." Thirty-seven years later the Czar Nicholas I. was so delighted with the race for the cup that he begged to be allowed to substitute a piece of plate, which, appropriately enough, was won in the following year by Lord Albemarle's Emperor, so named in honor of the Czar. This "Emperor's Plate" was a very handsome trophy, being a reduced copy of the famous statue of Peter the Great at Petrograd, ornamented with figures of Russian soldiers and with views of Windsor Castle, the Kremlin and the Winter Palace. When the Crimean War broke out the Gold Cup regained the place of honor.

The boy emperor, Pu-yi, who came to the Chinese throne at the age of 2 years in 1908, has been a prisoner in the Imperial Palace at Peking ever since the revolution of 1911. Pu-yi, now 14, is vigorous, intelligent and industrious, making great progress in the studies that he pursues under an English tutor. His relations with officials of the republic are altogether cordial. Indeed, he is to marry the daughter of President Hau-shih Chang. One learns, incidentally, that Pu has never seen her, for she has been attending school in the United States.

Instead of saying, "As light as a cork," the phrase will be "As light as balsa," for the newly discovered balsa wood is only half the weight of cork. Cork weighs 13.7 pounds per cubic foot, but balsa tips the scale at 7.3 pounds. The heaviest wood is quebracho, at 71 pounds, or half again as heavy as water, and spruce, an average wood, 27 pounds a cubic foot. Spruce is so strong a wood, with a fair degree of lightness, that it is considered indispensable for airplane construction. Balsa wood has half the strength of spruce; but when it is paneled with fibre board on both sides, it is fully as strong as spruce.

Chevrolet

Enjoyment ceases to be complete when you feel it is extravagant.

The certainty that a car conserves your money—that its every feature renders you the utmost service, is the most gratifying feeling about it.

That is why more people buy Chevrolets in preference to heavier types that are a burden on the pocket-book.

The experience of veteran motorists has proven that the Chevrolet affords you all the feelings essential to complete enjoyment.

Pride in its appearance and absolute confidence in its dependability alone guarantee your peace of mind.

Yet in addition the Chevrolet offers every riding and driving comfort and equipment convenience.

These things are to be enjoyed equally in a Chevrolet as in other cars. But in the Chevrolet alone can you enjoy them at such low cost.

That is the peculiar attraction of the Chevrolet—all essential features other cars afford, but at lower cost.

Do not entertain any doubts on this score. Give us an opportunity to show you how and why this is true.

Luxury Tax Removed from Electric Heating Appliances

You will be interested to know that the efforts of manufacturers of Electric Heating Appliances and of others interested, have been successful in securing the removal of the 10 per cent. Luxury Tax on nickle-plated Electric Heating Appliances.

We quote herewith a recent letter from R. W. Breadner, Commissioner of Taxation, to a manufacturer of appliances:

"In reply to your letter of the 15th inst., I may state that the luxury tax applies to articles plated with gold or silver adapted for household or office use. Nickle-plated electric heating appliances are exempt."

Some of the more important arguments used were:

1st—In almost all communities of the Dominion of Canada it is actually more economical to iron, toast, cook, etc., with electric appliances than by any other method.

The proposed legislation, therefore, would be taxing an economy rather than a luxury.

2nd—Appliances made from steel and iron require a covering of something to protect them from the action of rust.

Nickle is the best and most economical for this purpose.

CHINA DESCRIBED AS NEW LAND OF PROMISE

American Resident Claims for Natives Greater Virtues Than Other Races of World.

If China receives a helping hand in these, her days of unfoldment, and if America and the nations of Europe stand by her, she will grow to be one of the greatest powers in the world, according to W. F. Cox, manager of an importing firm in Hongkong and Canton.

"China certainly is in a way to be one of the greatest powers—a power for good—in the world if she is helped by other nations in power," said Mr. Cox. "There are 400,000,000 people in China, the largest population of any single country in the world. They are just awakening to self-realization and we owe them a duty. If it is performed we shall see the development of a country of enormous resources, peopled by men and women with the highest sense of honor and duty. If we neglect our opportunities, China will undoubtedly be subdued and overrun by more warlike people and her great resources, which are so necessary to the world, will be quite lost. Her great philosophers and scientists are also needed in the advancement of the powerful nations.

"From my point of view China even now is a better place to live in than any Occidental country, and a Chinaman is a much better friend than an American, which is saying a good deal. There is no one who has ever really known a Chinaman of high rank and gained his friendship but will attest that in loyalty, unselfishness and devotion to the ideals of friendship he is surpassed by no man on earth. I have lived among the Chinese for a great many years, and have learned to know them well and to regard many of them as brothers. I would rather trust my honor and my happiness to the hands of some of the friends I have gained in China than I would do to any one I know in this country. That is a strong statement, but it is absolutely true.

"The Chinese have many traditions, and I want to take my stand against them one and all. Because the customs of the Orient and those of the Occident very widely, we condemn what we do not understand. Chinese customs are different, it is true, but they are lovely and logical.

"For instance, in China, when two of your acquaintances set the day for their marriage, they do not at once invite you to the wedding, and thus unload upon you the necessity of giving a present, which only too frequently is extracted from you unwillingly. The fact is simply given out as news to the world in general. If you have an affection for young people and desire to add to their happiness, of your own volition, you send a gift, and then—and not until then—you are invited to the marriage ceremony. It is a delicate and courteous distinction. This is only one of the many ways in which their conventions differ from ours, with the advantage in fine feeling all on their side."

KILL THE LADY KILLERS

An exhibit of "lady killers," the kind found in too many homes, is being put on in different parts of the State of Washington by the Washington State College extension department and the United States Department of Agriculture. The exhibition wherever the exhibit has been held has been in the hundreds, both men and women finding much of interest.

Among the "lady killers" are found the washboard, the sad iron, the scrub brush, the water pail, the short-handled dustpan, the axe, and a number of implements with which many women are obliged to do their work.

To offset the "lady killers" was another exhibit of ways and means of lightening work in the home. In this were included "kitchen jitneys"—a type of tea wagon—iceless refrigerators, washing machines, plans for simple water systems, fireless cookers, fruit and vegetable dryers, oil stoves, portable gas makers, and hydraulic rams. Several manufacturers showed light and power plants suitable for farm homes at the same exhibit. Small conveniences costing anywhere from 5c to 25c were also displayed. Getting more conveniences for doing work in the home is the aim of every home demonstration agent. Last year, through their advice and by their aid, thousands of labor-saving devices and conveniences were installed in country homes, thereby lessening the housewife's work and increasing efficiency, comfort and enjoyment of life.

DEADLY SPEED CRAZE

Some really startling figures have been presented to the National Safety Council of the United States, which is holding its annual session at Atlantic City. They deal with the rapidly-increasing toll of human life, which, according to General Secretary S. J. Williams, is the price of the modern speed craze. The "motor menace," as he calls it, has become a problem demanding grave study by national and State law-makers, and by all organizations having to do with public welfare.

Official statistics for the current year, according to the report of the Executive of the Safety Council, show that "three times as many people are killed by automobiles as are killed in all the factories, mines, railroads and other industries in America." During the last four months one person was killed by an automobile in the United States every thirty-five minutes. In that time the deaths from this cause were over twenty-five per cent. greater than during the similar period of the previous year.

The report adds, for the purpose of comparison, a British official statement dealing with the commercial development of the aeroplane. It shows that over 75,000 persons were carried upon aerial journeys in Great Britain last year with but one fatality.

According to the estimates prepared for the Council the terrible death toll from automobiles is due almost entirely to reckless driving and the craze for speed. Ninety-seven per cent. of the fatalities are described to these two causes. But because the killings have increased in an even greater proportion than have the number of automobiles in use the council believes the situation should be given the immediate consideration by the automobile makers of the country "unless they expect soon to be confronted by a great volume of hostile public opinion."

It must be clear that such a staggering death rate cannot continue without causing unusual action. Safety legislation can be tightened and strengthened, but legislation cannot do everything. The great need is for the development of a strong and effective sentiment among owners of automobiles themselves against the reckless driver and the speed fiend.—Toronto Globe.

Conviviality Under Prohibition

By Prof. Stephen Leacock, of McGill University, in London Sunday Pictorial.

Prohibition in America has its tragic and its comic side. On the tragic side are to be reckoned the increasing power of fanaticism and bigotry, the wholesale poisoning by deadly substitutes for decent drink, the annihilation of simple comfort, the creation of a new army of criminals, the infusion into society of a horde of detestable spies and informers, and the extinction of the very principles of personal liberty.

But the Prohibition regime is not without its lighter, and even its ludicrous, aspects. Not the least of them is the desperate effort made in the first-class American hotels to maintain the semblance of convivial drinking.

An elaborate dinner lists presents fifty kinds of drinks—apple champagne, raspberry hock, dandelion cocktails, and such abominations. Nothing is more ludicrous than to see a fashionably dressed supper-party in New York, with a deferential waiter beside them, gravely debating as between California grape juice and thimbleberry port.

When the grape juice is finally selected it is carried in by two waiters, lying on its side in a little wicker basket, held up to the light for verification, uncorked with profound care, and presented first to the host, so that he may be duly satisfied of the vintage and the bouquet.

Mess of this sort is actually sold at two dollars a pint. It is bought by people who continue with pathetic insistence to hope that if they drink enough of it it may at last go to their heads.

Another giddy concoction is the awful stuff called Temperance Beer. It is bottled and labelled and corked and wired as if—poor thing!—it might really burst itself out of its prison through the mad strength of it. Alas! when it is let loose it gurgles feebly into the glass and lies there dead!

If a skilled chemist were to analyze this maddening beverage he would find it to contain one-half of one per cent. of spirits. It is estimated that if a person were to drink four buckets of this he would feel—among other sensations—a certain exhilaration. Yet such is the fond regret of suffering humanity that millions of gallons of this unspeakable slush are being sold in the United States and in "dry" Canada every day.

It is carried on the cars, served on the steamers, sold at the seaside, supplied in the mountains and advertised in huge lettering over about six million square miles of territory.

Before the coming of Prohibition not a single pint of it could have been sold among a hundred million people. Even now it is not thought good form to drink more than twenty glasses off it in an evening.

Prohibition Banquets.

Equally ludicrous to the verge of pathos are the Prohibition "banquets," which replace in the United States and in "dry" Canada the celebrations that are no more.

Let the reader imagine himself at a banquet in the gay Province of Ontario. It is well to take our example from the Province of Ontario inasmuch as many people in England quite wrongly associate Prohibition exclusively with the United States.

If there is any State in the United States where the temper of the governing minority is more fanatical, where hypocrisy is rife, where liberty is more suppressed, where the name of religion is more freely invoked to cover the sins of the tyrant and the informer, than is the case in Ontario, that State is in a bad way indeed.

Let us take, then, Ontario for the scene of our illustration of what a "temperance" banquet is like.

The toastmaster rises with a glass of lemonade in his hand—merry fellow!—and proposes the health of the King! There is a tremendous popping of ginger-beer corks, a running to and fro of waiters with foaming bottles of pop and sarsaparilla. Then all rise and with due solemnity vociferate "The King!" and splash the foaming pop down their eager throats.

The chairman then reminds the guests that they have with them Mr. Stodge, a member of the Prohibition Cabinet of Ontario. He will ask Mr. Stodge to address them. Mr. Stodge rises. He has beside him a great bundle of notes and blue books. He speaks for an hour.

The question of dandelion wine, he says, is receiving their most earnest consideration. It is proposed to introduce in the forthcoming session an amendment to the Dandelion Wine Prohibition Act of last year, which will be based upon the recent Spruce Beer Annihilation Act. (Applause.)

At the end of this speech the chairman rises and says, "Now, gentlemen, if you please, refill your glasses; we will listen to the Rev. A. Whine, who will propose the toast of 'Home and Mother.'"

The Rev. Whine, being known to all

as the man who has the chief credit for having stopped the children of Ontario from sleighriding on Sundays, is greeted with terrific applause.

He is glad to say that the Courts of the Province have fully sustained the action of the police in stopping the practice of tobogganing for boys and girls on Sunday afternoon. He looks forward confidently to the time when every child, under penalty of the law, will be forced to spend Sunday afternoon in a Sunday School: either there or the jail—he does not care which.

Pointing Moral for England.

He deplors the fact that in the lost Province of Quebec children are actually allowed to play games in the public parks on the Sabbath.

This speaker is followed by a light talk from a leading statesman, three-quarters of an hour, on railroad statistics, and by an hour's chat on the nationalization of the hog-packing industry. At the end of which the chairman invites all present to rise and sing "God Save the King!"

And if any reader of the Sunday Pictorial should doubt the accuracy of the above account, let him read in the public press of the Dominion of Canada the account of the suppression, under the law of Ontario, of the children's tobogganing on Sunday in the parks and playgrounds of the City of Ottawa.

But the comedies of Prohibition in America should serve only to point all the more strongly the moral for the people of England.

The morning papers of the day on which I write announce that "three great Canadians" have left to assist Scotland "in her Prohibition campaign." Great indeed they must be, though I have never heard their names before, since they are labelled "field secretaries" of the thing called the Dominion Alliance.

If the people of Britain feel a sort of moral wave sweeping over them about this time, it will mean that the "field secretaries" have lit.

Let me say on behalf of all the decent people in Canada that if these "field secretaries" make a hit in Britain we shall be only too glad to have them stay there forever.

PORTSMOUTH HAS REAL GHOST SCARE

PORTSMOUTH.—A ghost scare has just thrilled the dockyards of Portsmouth, where hundreds of men and women passed the whole of a night recently watching "a woman dressed in white, with gently swaying body, standing beside an open window of a house that had long been deserted."

The ghost was first seen by children playing in the street in the evening. They ran from the place screaming and soon a large crowd of men and women gathered and saw the spectre. Bricks were thrown at the apparition but still the swaying body remained beside the window, continuing always its mournful see-saw. Its invulnerability convinced the crowd that they were really looking at something supernatural, but examination of the room the next morning revealed that the ghost was only a strip of hanging wallpaper, upon which the rays of a street lamp fell.

FIRE DANGERS OF ELECTRIC IRONS

Legislation Should Require Safety Attachments on Electrically Heated Appliances.

An electric iron left turned on . . . Two stores and a cottage completely destroyed.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Electrical appliances in the home are of great convenience, but they are, at the same time, a fire danger. Familiarity with their use breeds carelessness, which has resulted in heavy fire losses. From reports received by fire marshals, these are rapidly increasing.

From tests it has been found that fire will break out in from 15 to 90 minutes when the electric iron is left in circuit on a table or ironing board, the time intervening depending upon the surface material.

Many devices have been invented to make electric irons fire-safe. Unfortunately, however, price has been a ruling factor in the sale of this convenience, with the result that cheapness necessarily eliminates the safety attachments. In the absence of public regulation requiring their use, there is little hope of their general adoption. Until the enforcement of legislation requiring fire-safe attachments on all electrically-heated appliances, freedom from fires due to this cause must, therefore, depend upon educating the public to a recognition of the danger.

Eve had her faults, but she never went through Adam's pockets while he was asleep.

"EVERYWOMAN" HAS LAVISH SETTINGS

Beautiful Women Disport at Monster Banquet Board—One of Screen's Best.

The news, that Walter Browne's morality play, "Everywoman," had been made into a motion picture was no surprise to those acquainted with this dramatic masterpiece. Its striking story and manifold opportunities for spectacular scenic effects makes it admirable screen material. The basis for a magnificent cinema spectacle was there. It remained for the directing skill of George H. Melford, the acting ability of an unusually excellent cast, and fine artistry in arranging the elaborate scenic effects to transform "Everywoman" into the beautiful photoplay that is being shown at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre this afternoon and evening.

Here is a dramatic production that is manifestly even better suited to the screen than it is to the stage. It requires an expansiveness that the cramped quarters of the largest stage will not admit. Quite probably the screen version of "Everywoman" has realized more perfectly the author's conception of his story than have all the productions of the play since its famous premier in New York in 1911. East and "Under Cover."

As is quite well known, "Everywoman" is in the main allegorical in character. The story opens much as a drama of ordinary life. A beautiful girl at a bazaar is wooed by a millionaire, an actor, and a poor physician. She is also beset by the offer of a stage manager to embrace a dramatic career. Thereupon the story becomes a transcript of the journey of life. The heroine becomes Everywoman, the millionaire is Wealth, the actor Passion, and the other characters bear similar names. Everywoman is urged to go upon the Stage of Life by Flattery to seek King Love. Her long journey leads her through many pitfalls, past the temptations of Wealth and Passion, until finally she reaches the humble hut of Love.

Scenes of lavish splendor form the setting for the story. The revels in the magnificent palace of Wealth, where scores of beautiful women disport of which encircle a swimming pool and the other a dance hall, and the episodes in the great gaming hall are among the most elaborate ever screened. The bazaar at the opening of the story is virtually a great fashion show. Women arrayed like birds move through the picture like extraordinarily clad mannequins exhibiting the latest creations of fashion.

In the midst of this pleasing pageantry, however, the character of the story has not been lost sight of for a moment. It is convincingly and logically developed as the simplest drama. The players do not merely walk through their parts, as is sometimes the case in spectacular films of this sort. The settings are extravagant, but the story is the thing, and everything has been fittingly subordinated to this great moving drama of life itself.

"WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE"

Will Rogers Will Make You Laugh Till It Hurts In This Goldwyn Picture.

"Water, Water Everywhere—" is not only dry humor but the title of Will Rogers' latest Goldwyn picture which will be shown at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Monday evening. It is a wholesome story of a self-sacrificing, big-hearted, lovable cowboy who foregoes his love for a girl in order that she may marry the man she loves.

This photoplay is the picturization of William R. Lighton's "Billy Fortune" series—Will Rogers portraying the part of Billy Fortune. The scene is laid in a small western town. Billy comes to town to have his teeth fixed—and finds relief at the bar. Billy is devoted to Hope Beecher (Irene Rich), the daughter of one of the sterling pioneers. Hope considers Billy more as a pal, and is greatly interested in Ben Morgan (Wade Boteler), the town doctor who had let demon rum get the best of him.

Hope's sister, Martha, comes home from college and at the same time Lyman Jennings Jordan, a hypocritical prohibition worker, arrives in town, having been summoned by the Women's Club, headed by Fay Bittinger.

The women of the place have decided that John Barleycorn and his co-workers shall be banished from their midst forever. They launch a vigorous campaign denouncing alcohol. Billy and the other boys decide that they must take some drastic action immediately, so they cut cards to determine who shall marry the leader of the prohibition forces. Billy draws the high card and calls on Mrs. Bittinger. She shows him the family album containing pictures of her four former husbands, and as she becomes too affectionate, Billy beats a hasty retreat. Then the boys turn the saloon into a soda parlor, using a number of pretty city girls as waitresses. This riles the white-ribbon women because their husbands, who were never allowed to frequent the place while it was a saloon, now flock there in droves. There Ben saves the lives of many workers by his medical attention and redeems himself in the eyes of Hope.

Jordan, the "prohibitionist," has turned Martha's head—they are riding in the country nearby when Martha finds a bottle of liquor in his coat. Jordan loses his temper and in the struggle Martha falls into the swift mountain stream which carries her away. Jordan shows his character by sinking off, but Billy, who has been watching them, rescues Martha and takes her home.

This is a gripping story throughout, with a big, human theme, and an appealing love story.

"THREE MEN AND A GIRL" A CHARMING PICTURE

Three Professed Woman Haters Brought to Reason by a Lovely Girl.

Pursued by a married woman, Christopher Kent, a lawyer, becomes a woman hater. Jilted by a woman he loved devotedly, Julius Vanneman, a violinist, vows to eschew the society of women henceforth. Dr. Henry Forsyth, who is constitutionally a hater of women, has undertaken to guide his friends along paths not frequented by women, and the three men spend most of their time moping at their club.

But it happens that the telephone at the club is frequently employed by certain women for the purpose of getting into communication with these bears, and after they had been disturbed several times by telephone calls, they decide to seek solitude in the country. They rent a country home belonging to Sylvia Weston's father and meditate in seclusion upon the vagaries and shocking inconsistencies of womankind.

Meanwhile, Sylvia Wilson is being arrayed for her wedding to a man she cannot countenance. At the palatial country home where the nuptials are to be celebrated, many guests have gathered. Sylvia creates a diversion when the ceremony begins by fleeing incontinently and hiding in the woods, whence she makes her way to her father's home where the three men are domiciled. Her wedding finery is in a sorry state when she gets there, and being quite hungry she eats the food placed on the table for the consumption of the three women haters. She dines sumptuously and wrapping her wedding gown about her, she lies down on a couch and falls asleep.

When the three men return to their dwelling, they are amazed to find the sleeping Sylvia. Shocking discovery for these scornors of femininity! When she awakes, her beauty disturbs all of them, and they are plainly in a quandary. They cannot throw her out and they are reluctantly compelled to permit her to spend the night in the house. In the morning, Sylvia's nurse appears, and the two women establish themselves in a smaller building adjoining the summer camp of the three bears.

To prove that they are true to their ideals, the three men establish a dead line between their habitations, it being understood none is to encroach upon the domain of the other. But one by one, the men yield to the charm of Sylvia and they seek rather than avoid her company. Christopher falls in love with Christopher, whom she dubs her "little bear," while the two others are called respectively the "big and middle-sized bears." Each seeks her at the dead line and as the days pass the bears become madly jealous of each other.

Sylvia's bucolic romance becomes delightful and she is happy until the arrival of the wicked married woman whose pursuit has driven Christopher into the country. Then Sylvia has a few unhappy hours, embittered by jealousy and tears. But Christopher finds himself at last and the love romance of Sylvia and himself culminates happily for both.

Dainty Marguerite Clark takes the role of Sylvia Wilson. This delightful screen story will be shown at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Tuesday evening.

A man's character should not be judged by whether he has cuffs on his trousers or not.

"A B C OF LOVE" IS CHARMING ROMANCE

Mae Murray Bathes in Wash Tub

Mae Murray takes a bath in a stationary wash tub and otherwise cavorts in "The A B C" of love, which comes to the Ilo-Ilo on Wednesday. This is her newest picture, and, incidentally, one particularly suited to the talents and personality of the charming maid of many moods.

"The A B C of Love" being a romantic comedy-drama, the story does not end at desertion—no, indeed! When hubby learns his inamorata is only playing him for a part in his next play he hot-foots it P. D. Q. to the wife who has just learned her A B C. The settings, both interior and exterior are highly artistic and beautifully lighted. Miss Murray wears a number of gowns designed to please the feminine—and masculine—eyes, and Dorothy Green, in the role of the actress with siren charms, displays some bizarre costumes.

Mae Murray portrays a ragged little country girl whose sole possession is an old mare nearing its last days. A wisp of a creature left to the charity of a none too charitable world, she is finally left in the care of Harry Bryant, a young playwright.

The child's ignorance is appalling—she can't even read or write, but her innocence is as refreshing as apple blossoms, and, one day Harry, without looking forward to that not far distant day when he will have to take her to the city and compare her crudeness and ignorance with his social world, thinks only of his love for her innocence of life, and marries her.

All's well until he is back in town and Diana Nelson, an actress worldly wise and conscienceless, exerts her wiles anew. Harry does not know that Diana, loving only herself, is playing him for a part in his next play, but this he learns before it is too late, and a reconciliation takes place.

WILLIAM FARNUM IN "WOLVES OF THE NIGHT"

Big Star Attraction Booked for Next Saturday Night—A Play of Romance, Crime, High Finance and Vengeance.

When a man has been insane five years, then recovers to find fortune stolen, and wife remarried, he's in hard luck. But this man has red blood, courage and two hard fists. See how he deals with foes.

William Farnum, the famous star of William Fox photoplays, will be seen at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Saturday next, October 9, in his latest de luxe production, "Wolves of the Night," said to be the most powerfully dramatic picture in which this great screen star has been seen.

The story is of a mining engineer who, having sought in vain for copper ore in his land in the Northwest, has converted it into a sheep ranch. Adjoining is a mining plant in full operation, owned by three men who covet his property.

The hero, Bruce Andrews, portrayed by Mr. Farnum, is sent to Chile to investigate some mines. While there he is imprisoned in a mine through an explosion, and news is conveyed to his wife that he has been killed. He escapes after days, but is crazed by his sufferings.

No more breathless and exciting moments have been experienced in motion picture plays than the imprisonment of the hero, his subsequent escape and his terrific fight with three conspirators who have wrested his fortune from him during his absence in a foreign country.

He returns home several years later to find his wife married to the man responsible for his mishap.

"Wolves of the Night" is a real Farnum picture, which means a picture rich in romance and stirring action. The scenic effects are very striking and the photography beautiful. This picture will be shown at the matinee next Saturday and at both shows in the evening.

BOOTLEGGERS' UNION.

The new button of the Bootleggers' Union is rather a nifty affair. It is built on the "Hands Across the Sea" principle—an overturned bottle of Scotch and above it the two hands, one passing a nine-dollar bill to the other. The wearing of these buttons saves a lot of time as the bootleggers have been known to try to sell to one another in error.—Adam Yoker.

Conviviality Under Prohibition

By Prof. Stephen Leacock, of McGill University, in London Sunday Pictorial.

Prohibition in America has its tragic and its comic side. On the tragic side are to be reckoned the increasing power of fanaticism and bigotry, the wholesale poisoning by deadly substitutes for decent drink, the annihilation of simple comfort, the creation of a new army of criminals, the infusion into society of a horde of detestable spies and informers, and the extinction of the very principles of personal liberty.

But the Prohibition regime is not without its lighter, and even its ludicrous, aspects. Not the least of them is the desperate effort made in the first-class American hotels to maintain the semblance of convivial drinking.

When the grape juice is finally selected it is carried in by two waiters, lying on its side in a little wicker basket, held up to the light for verification, uncorked with profound care, and presented first to the host, so that he may be duly satisfied of the vintage and the bouquet.

Mess of this sort is actually sold at two dollars a pint. It is bought by people who continue with pathetic insistence to hope that if they drink enough of it it may at last go to their heads.

Another giddy concoction is the awful stuff called Temperance Beer. It is bottled and labelled and corked and wired as if—poor thing!—it might really burst itself out of its prison through the mad strength of it. Alas! when it is let loose it gurgles feebly into the glass and lies there dead!

If a skilled chemist were to analyze this maddening beverage he would find it to contain one-half of one per cent. of spirits. It is estimated that if a person were to drink four buckets of this he would feel—among other sensations—a certain exhilaration. Yet such is the fond regret of suffering humanity that millions of gallons of this unspeakable slush are being sold in the United States and in "dry" Canada every day.

It is carried on the cars, served on the steamers, sold at the seaside, supplied in the mountains and advertised in huge lettering over about six million square miles of territory.

Before the coming of Prohibition not a single pint of it could have been sold among a hundred million people. Even now it is not thought good form to drink more than twenty glasses off it in an evening.

Prohibition Banquets.

Equally ludicrous to the verge of pathos are the Prohibition "banquets," which replace in the United States and in "dry" Canada the celebrations that are no more.

Let the reader imagine himself at a banquet in the gay Province of Ontario. It is well to take our example from the Province of Ontario inasmuch as many people in England quite wrongly associate Prohibition exclusively with the United States.

If there is any State in the United States where the temper of the governing minority is more fanatical, where hypocrisy is rife, where liberty is more suppressed, where the name of religion is more freely invoked to cover the sins of the tyrant and the informer, than is the case in Ontario, that State is in a bad way indeed.

Let us take, then, Ontario for the scene of our illustration of what a "temperance" banquet is like.

The toastmaster rises with a glass of lemonade in his hand—merry fellow!—and proposes the health of the King! There is a tremendous popping of ginger-beer corks, a running to and fro of waiters with foaming bottles of pop and sarsaparilla. Then all rise and with due solemnity vociferate "The King!" and splash the foaming pop down their eager throats.

The chairman then reminds the guests that they have with them Mr. Stodge, a member of the Prohibition Cabinet of Ontario. He will ask Mr. Stodge to address them. Mr. Stodge rises. He has beside him a great bundle of notes and blue books. He speaks for an hour.

The question of dandelion wine, he says, is receiving their most earnest consideration. It is proposed to introduce in the forthcoming session an amendment to the Dandelion Wine Prohibition Act of last year, which will be based upon the recent Spruce Beer Annihilation Act. (Applause.)

At the end of this speech the chairman rises and says, "Now, gentlemen, if you please, refill your glasses; we will listen to the Rev. A. Whine, who will propose the toast of 'Home and Mother!'"

The Rev. Whine, being known to all

as the man who has the chief credit for having stopped the children of Ontario from sleighriding on Sundays, is greeted with terrific applause.

He is glad to say that the Courts of the Province have fully sustained the action of the police in stopping the practice of tobogganing for boys and girls on Sunday afternoon. He looks forward confidently to the time when every child, under penalty of the law, will be forced to spend Sunday afternoon in a Sunday School: either there or the jail—he does not care which.

Pointing Moral for England.

He deplors the fact that in the lost Province of Quebec children are actually allowed to play games in the public parks on the Sabbath.

This speaker is followed by a light talk from a leading statesman, three-quarters of an hour, on railroad statistics, and by an hour's chat on the nationalization of the hog-packing industry. At the end of which the chairman invites all present to rise and sing "God Save the King!"

And if any reader of the Sunday Pictorial should doubt the accuracy of the above account, let him read in the public press of the Dominion of Canada the account of the suppression, under the law of Ontario, of the children's tobogganing on Sunday in the parks and playgrounds of the City of Ottawa.

But the comedies of Prohibition in America should serve only to point all the more strongly the moral for the people of England.

The morning papers of the day on which I write announce that "three great Canadians" have left to assist Scotland "in her Prohibition campaign." Great indeed they must be, though I have never heard their names before, since they are labelled "field secretaries" of the thing called the Dominion Alliance.

If the people of Britain feel a sort of moral wave sweeping over them about this time, it will mean that the "field secretaries" have lit.

Let me say on behalf of all the decent people in Canada that if these "field secretaries" make a hit in Britain we shall be only too glad to have them stay there forever.

PORTSMOUTH HAS REAL GHOST SCARE

PORTSMOUTH.—A ghost scare has just thrilled the dockyards of Portsmouth, where hundreds of men and women passed the whole of a night recently watching "a woman dressed in white, with gently swaying body, standing beside an open window of a house that had long been deserted."

The ghost was first seen by children playing in the street in the evening. They ran from the place screaming and soon a large crowd of men and women gathered and saw the spectre. Bricks were thrown at the apparition but still the swaying body remained beside the window, continuing always its mournful see-saw. Its invulnerability convinced the crowd that they were really looking at something supernatural, but examination of the room the next morning revealed that the ghost was only a strip of hanging wallpaper, upon which the rays of a street lamp fell.

FIRE DANGERS OF ELECTRIC IRONS

Legislation Should Require Safety Attachments on Electrically Heated Appliances.

An electric iron left turned on . . . Two stores and a cottage completely destroyed.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Electrical appliances in the home are of great convenience, but they are, at the same time, a fire danger. Familiarity with their use breeds carelessness, which has resulted in heavy fire losses. From reports received by fire marshals, these are rapidly increasing.

From tests it has been found that fire will break out in from 15 to 90 minutes when the electric iron is left in circuit on a table or ironing board, the time intervening depending upon the surface material.

Many devices have been invented to make electric irons fire-safe. Unfortunately, however, price has been a ruling factor in the sale of this convenience, with the result that cheapness necessarily eliminates the safety attachments. In the absence of public regulation requiring their use, there is little hope of their general adoption. Until the enforcement of legislation requiring fire-safe attachments on all electrically-heated appliances, freedom from fires due to this cause must, therefore, depend upon educating the public to a recognition of the danger.

Eve had her faults, but she never went through Adam's pockets while he was asleep.

"EVERYWOMAN" HAS LAVISH SETTINGS

Beautiful Women Disport at Monster Banquet Board—One of Screen's Best.

The news, that Walter Browne's morality play, "Everywoman," had been made into a motion picture was no surprise to those acquainted with this dramatic masterpiece. Its striking story and manifold opportunities for spectacular scenic effects makes it admirable screen material. The basis for a magnificent cinema spectacle was there. It remained for the directing skill of George H. Melford, the acting ability of an unusually excellent cast, and fine artistry in arranging the elaborate scenic effects to transform "Everywoman" into the beautiful photoplay that is being shown at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre this afternoon and evening.

Here is a dramatic production that is manifestly even better suited to the screen than it is to the stage. It requires an expansiveness that the cramped quarters of the largest stage will not admit. Quite probably the screen version of "Everywoman" has realized more perfectly the author's conception of his story than have all the productions of the play since its famous premier in New York in 1911. East and "Under Cover."

As is quite well known, "Everywoman" is in the main allegorical in character. The story opens much as a drama of ordinary life. A beautiful girl at a bazaar is wooed by a millionaire, an actor, and a poor physician. She is also besieged by the offer of a stage manager to embrace a dramatic career. Thereupon the story becomes a transcript of the journey of Life. The heroine becomes Everywoman, the millionaire is Wealth, the actor Passion, and the other characters bear similar names. Everywoman is urged to go upon the Stage of Life by Flattery to seek King Love. Her long journey leads her through many pitfalls, past the temptations of Wealth and Passion, until finally she reaches the humble hut of Love.

Scenes of lavish splendor form the setting for the story. The revels in the magnificent palace of Wealth, where scores of beautiful women disport of which encircles a swimming pool and the other a dance hall, and the episodes in the great gaming hall are among the most elaborate ever screened. The bazaar at the opening of the story is virtually a great fashion show. Women arrayed like birds move through the picture like extraordinarily clad mannequins exhibiting the latest creations of fashion.

In the midst of this pleasing pageantry, however, the character of the story has not been lost sight of for a moment. It is convincingly and logically developed as the simplest drama. The players do not merely walk through their parts, as is sometimes the case in spectacular films of this sort. The settings are extravagant, but the story is the thing, and everything has been fittingly subordinated to this great moving drama of life itself.

"WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE"

Will Rogers Will Make You Laugh Till It Hurts In This Goldwyn Picture.

"Water, Water Everywhere—" is not only dry humor but the title of Will Rogers' latest Goldwyn picture which will be shown at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Monday evening. It is a wholesome story of a self-sacrificing, big-hearted, lovable cowboy who foregoes his love for a girl in order that she may marry the man she loves.

This photoplay is the picturization of William R. Lighton's "Billy Fortune" series—Will Rogers portraying the part of Billy Fortune. The scene is laid in a small western town. Billy comes to town to have his teeth fixed—and finds relief at the bar. Billy is devoted to Hope Beecher (Irene Rich), the daughter of one of the sterling pioneers. Hope considers Billy more as a pal, and is greatly interested in Ben Morgan (Wade Boteler), the town doctor who had let demon rum get the best of him.

Hope's sister, Martha, comes home from college and at the same time Lyman Jennings Jordan, a hypocritical prohibition worker, arrives in town, having been summoned by the Women's Club, headed by Fay Bittinger.

The women of the place have decided that John Barleycorn and his co-workers shall be banished from their midst forever. They launch a vigorous campaign denouncing alcohol. Billy and the other boys decide that they must take some drastic action immediately, so they cut cards to determine who shall marry the leader of the prohibition forces. Billy draws the high card and calls on Mrs. Bittinger. She shows him the family album containing pictures of her four former husbands, and as she becomes too affectionate, Billy beats a hasty retreat. Then the boys turn the saloon into a soda parlor, using a number of pretty city girls as waitresses. This riles the white-ribbon women because their husbands, who were never allowed to frequent the place while it was a saloon, now flock there in droves. There Ben saves the lives of many workers by his medical attention and redeems himself in the eyes of Hope.

Jordan, the "prohibitionist," has turned Martha's head—they are riding in the country nearby when Martha finds a bottle of liquor in his coat. Jordan loses his temper and in the struggle Martha falls into the swift mountain stream which carries her away. Jordan shows his character by slinking off, but Billy, who has been watching them, rescues Martha and takes her home.

This is a gripping story throughout, with a big, human theme, and an appealing love story.

"THREE MEN AND A GIRL" A CHARMING PICTURE

Three Professed Woman Haters Brought to Reason by a Lovely Girl.

Pursued by a married woman, Christopher Kent, a lawyer, becomes a woman hater. Jilted by a woman he loved devotedly, Julius Yanneman, a violinist, vows to eschew the society of women henceforth. Dr. Henry Forsyth, who is constitutionally a hater of women, has undertaken to guide his friends along paths not frequented by women, and the three men spend most of their time moping at their club.

But it happens that the telephone at the club is frequently employed by certain women for the purpose of getting into communication with these bears, and after they had been disturbed several times by telephone calls, they decide to seek solitude in the country. They rent a country home belonging to Sylvia Weston's father and meditate in seclusion upon the vagaries and shocking inconsistencies of womankind.

Meanwhile, Sylvia Wilson is being arrayed for her wedding to a man she cannot countenance. At the palatial country home where the nuptials are to be celebrated, many guests have gathered. Sylvia creates a diversion when the ceremony begins by fleeing incontinently and hiding in the woods, whence she makes her way to her father's home where the three men are domiciled. Her wedding finery is in a sorry state when she gets there, and being quite hungry she eats the food placed on the table for the consumption of the three women haters. She dines sumptuously and wrapping her wedding gown about her, she lies down on a couch and falls asleep.

When the three men return to their dwelling, they are amazed to find the sleeping Sylvia. Shocking discovery for these scornors of femininity! When she awakes, her beauty disturbs all of them, and they are plainly in a quandary. They cannot throw her out and they are reluctantly compelled to permit her to spend the night in the house. In the morning, Sylvia's nurse appears, and the two women establish themselves in a smaller building adjoining the summer camp of the three bears.

To prove that they are true to their ideals, the three men establish a dead line between their habitations, it being understood none is to encroach upon the domain of the other. But one by one, the men yield to the charm of Sylvia and they seek rather than avoid her company. Christopher falls in love with Christopher, whom she dubs her "little bear," while the two others are called respectively the "big and middle-sized bears." Each seeks her at the dead line and as the days pass the bears become madly jealous of each other.

Sylvia's bucolic romance becomes delightful and she is happy until the arrival of the wicked married woman whose pursuit has driven Christopher into the country. Then Sylvia has a few unhappy hours, embittered by jealousy and tears. But Christopher finds himself at last and the love romance of Sylvia and himself culminates happily for both.

Dainty Marguerite Clark takes the role of Sylvia Wilson. This delightful screen story will be shown at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Tuesday evening.

A man's character should not be judged by whether he has cuffs on his trousers or not.

"A B C OF LOVE" IS CHARMING ROMANCE

Mae Murray Bathes in Wash Tub

Mae Murray takes a bath in a stationary wash tub and otherwise cavorts in "The A B C" of love," which comes to the Ilo-Ilo on Wednesday. This is her newest picture, and, incidentally, one particularly suited to the talents and personality of the charming maid of many moods.

"The A B C of Love" being a romantic comedy-drama, the story does not end at desertion—no, indeed! When hubby learns his inamorata is only playing him for a part in his next play he hot-foots it P. D. Q. to the wife who has just learned her A B C. The settings, both interior and exterior are highly artistic and beautifully lighted. Miss Murray wears a number of gowns designed to please the feminine—and masculine—eyes, and Dorothy Green, in the role of the actress with siren charms, displays some bizarre costumes.

Mae Murray portrays a ragged little country girl whose sole possession is an old mare nearing its last days. A wisp of a creature left to the charity of a none too charitable world, she is finally left in the care of Harry Bryant, a young playwright.

The child's ignorance is appalling—she can't even read or write, but her innocence is as refreshing as apple blossoms, and, one day Harry, without looking forward to that not far distant day when he will have to take her to the city and compare her crudeness and ignorance with his social world, thinks only of his love for her innocence of life, and marries her.

All's well until he is back in town and Diana Nelson, an actress worldly wise and conscienceless, exerts her wiles anew. Harry does not know that Diana, loving only herself, is playing him for a part in his next play, but this he learns before it is too late, and a reconciliation takes place.

WILLIAM FARNUM IN "WOLVES OF THE NIGHT"

Big Star Attraction Booked for Next Saturday Night—A Play of Romance, Crime, High Finance and Vengeance.

When a man has been insane five years, then recovers to find fortune stolen, and wife remarried, he's in hard luck. But this man has red blood, courage and two hard fists. See how he deals with foes.

William Farnum, the famous star of William Fox photoplays, will be seen at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Saturday next, October 9, in his latest de luxe production, "Wolves of the Night," said to be the most powerfully dramatic picture in which this great screen star has been seen.

The story is of a mining engineer who, having sought in vain for copper ore in his land in the Northwest, has converted it into a sheep ranch. Adjoining is a mining plant in full operation, owned by three men who covet his property.

The hero, Bruce Andrews, portrayed by Mr. Farnum, is sent to Chile to investigate some mines. While there he is imprisoned in a mine through an explosion, and news is conveyed to his wife that he has been killed. He escapes after days, but is crazed by his sufferings.

No more breathless and exciting moments have been experienced in motion picture plays than the imprisonment of the hero, his subsequent escape and his terrific fight with three conspirators who have wrested his fortune from him during his absence in a foreign country.

He returns home several years later to find his wife married to the man responsible for his mishap.

"Wolves of the Night" is a real Farnum picture, which means a picture rich in romance and stirring action. The scenic effects are very striking and the photography beautiful. This picture will be shown at the matinee next Saturday and at both shows in the evening.

BOOTLEGGERS' UNION.

The new button of the Bootleggers' Union is rather a nifty affair. It is built on the "Hands Across the Sea" principle—an overturned bottle of Scotch and above it the two hands, one passing a nine-dollar bill to the other. The wearing of these buttons saves a lot of time as the bootleggers have been known to try to sell to one another in error.—Adam Yoker.

WILL ROGERS TALKS ON PROHIBITION

Will Rogers, the wit of the Follies and the Midnight Frolics, takes some good natured jabs at both the tippler and the teetotaler in his picture, "Water, Water Everywhere," which shows at the Ilo-Ilo on Monday. This is a picture that will give laughs to both "drys" and "wets." Among some of Mr. Rogers' saying are:

"When you don't care particular for what you are drinking you like to look at something good over the top of your glass."

"Who wants to drink thirty-seven bottles to be a hundred per cent. drunk?"

"When Noah took two of every kind of animal into the Ark, you never read of him takin' a Prohibitionist and his mate, did you?"

"No man has ever quit after he was married."

"There may be as good fish in the sea as ever was caught, but we've made a d—dry country to fish in."

"The man who says he can take it or leave it, sure knows how to take it."

"There remains one thing more dangerous to man than whiskey—women."

Launch Campaign Against Smoking

It has arrived!

There have been occasional rumors and alarms in the past, but now a definite programme has been outlined, forces are being marshalled and a campaign is to be waged on "jimmy pipes," tobacco jars, various members of the el cabbage family, and the weaker cousin, the cigarette. All of which was decided upon at a meeting "for women only" held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Jessie B. Conway presided.

The meeting was largely attended, no children being allowed, nor was mere man admitted to the church. Dr. Conway addressed the gathering, which first discussed matters which are not usually dealt with in open meeting, but following this, the advertised subject, of the gathering, the iniquities of the pipe, the cigar and cigarette were proclaimed.

"A vote was taken," declared one woman who was present, "and it was decided to wage a campaign against the use of tobacco. It was stated that women are using cigarettes almost as freely as men were, at the present time. I voted for the campaign, because I think that tobacco should be kept away from our young boys," stated the woman. "It is not so bad perhaps for the ones that have been smokers for years, but if they will not stop smoking they should be compelled to do so as an example to the young people."

"It is the intention of preparing a bill—something like the Prohibition Bill—which will be submitted to the government after a time. The government will be asked in the meantime to discourage smoking."
