Opposition Leader At Courtenay

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, ex-Minister of Agriculture in the Dominion Government; Mr. W. J. Bowser, leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Provincial Legislature; Mr. D. McKenzie, M.L.A. for Similkameen; Mr. J. W. Jones, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, and Col. Fred Lister, M.L.A. for Kaslo, held the boards at the Gaiety Theatre on Saturday evening last. The meeting was held immediately at the close of the picture show and, even with that added attraction, there were a number of vacant seats. Mr. William Duncan, ex-Mayor of the city of Courtenay, acted as chairman, and others seated on the platform with the above-mentioned gentlemen were: Mr. D. R. MacDonald, Mayor of Cumberland, and Mr. George O'Brien, also of "The Coal City." The chairman wasted no time in getting down to business, and called first upon Mr. McKenzie to address the meeting. The member for Similkameen opened his remarks with an attack upon the member for Comox, whom he said never voted in the House any other way than with the Government, although elected as an independent. When there was a possibility of having to vote against the Government, the Rev. Mr. Menzies was generally absent. Mr. McKenzie launched into a severe arraignment of the present administration for their conduct in regard to roads and road-building, and strongly supported the idea of a trans-Provincial highway from the coast to the interior, which would give the people of the two sections of the province easy access to each other's territory, with a consequent development of business. Mr. Jones followed and took as his text the burdensome taxes that the people of British Columbia have to pay. His speech was critical in its entirety, and he wasted no words in trying to show that the present administration was the most extravagant that had ever been in power at Victoria. Col. Lister, a former member of the Land Settlement Board and erstwhile supervisor at the Creston soldier settlement, told his audience of his connection with the famous 102nd Battalion, and then launched out into the sea of criticism in his remarks anent the workings of the Land Settlement Board. From a listener's standpoint, the speech of Dr. S. F. Tolmie was perhaps the most entertaining, being a resume of some of the work that had been done by the Ottawa Government during his term of office as Minister of Agriculture, in the way of assistance to the farming industry. He told of the great efforts that had been made—and successfully—to stamp out disease among the cattle and live stock of the Dominion of Canada. He told of the work that had been done in connection with the endeavor to have the British embargo on Canadian cattle lifted. His was the only speech of the evening that was almost devoid of politics, and his words were listened to with a great deal of pleasure and profit. When resuming his seat, the genial Dr. was given great applause. The last speaker of the evening was Mr. Bowser, who, in beginning his address, made a categorical apology for having come to Courtenay at the instigation of the Merville settlers who had asked him to come to their district in order that they might talk over their plight with him, and find out whether he could render "first aid," as it were, in devising ways and means for making the lot of the Mervillites easier than it has been to date. He held that the best and only reasonable solution to the problem was to re-assess the land and give it to the settlers at a fair figure, at a price that they could reasonably be expected to pay, regardless of what the cost of clearing had been. He was prepared to go further than that if necessary, and give each settler at the Merville area a Crown grant, the same as to any other preemptor. He criticised the administration of the Liquor Control Act, and wonders why the Government was not making a greater profit, when compared with the revenue the Quebec Government had received on approximately the same turnover. Mr. Bowser has been heard to better advantage; a good deal of his old fighting spirit evidently being lacking on Saturday night. At the conclusion of his remarks, the chairman asked if anybody wished to ask questions, but as there seemed to be nobody of an inquisitive turn of mind, the meeting was closed by singing "God Save the King."

Death of Mrs. Trahair.

The death occurred at 4 a.m. on Thursday morning, November 9th, of Mrs. Trahair, the aged mother of Mrs. T. E. Banks, of Cumberland. The deceased lady was at the time of her death, visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. T. Searle, Union Bay.

The late Mrs. Trahair was in her eighty-seventh year, and until a few days previous to her death had been in the best of health.

On Saturday the remains will be shipped to Port Angelus, the home of the late Mrs. Trahair, for interment. Left to mourn this loss, are five daughters: Mrs. T. E. Banks, of Cumberland; Mrs. E. T. Searle, of Union Bay; Mrs. F. E. Dangerfield, of Victoria; Mrs. Morgan, of Bremerton, Wash., and Mrs. W. Richards, of Port Angelus.

C.A.O.S. Concert Tuesday Next

In this issue the Orchestral Society publish the programme of their first Popular Concert to be held on Tuesday next at the Ilo-Ilo Theatre. They also publish the balance sheet for the first quarter of their existence. Both announcements make interesting reading.

Although only organized in August last, the society has already proved to be a valuable asset to the community, and their unselfish efforts to provide the public with good music, both vocal and instrumental, are very much appreciated, as evidenced by the record attendances at their Sunday evening sacred concerts.

Unfortunately, however, even a public-spirited combination such as the orchestra has shown itself to be, is not immune from the adverse criticism of a few jaundiced individuals who, instead of pausing to reflect upon the great disadvantages under which the society labors, seem to take a peculiar pleasure in "knocking" their endeavors to please. It has been suggested that the members are "making a good thing out of it," that the playing of such and such a piece was "punk," that the hymns in which the audience join so heartily should be eliminated from the programmes, etc. None of these bilious-looking individuals, however, are noted for their association with any effort to increase the pleasure and happiness of the community, and their ill-natured remarks are treated with the contempt which all decent-minded citizens must feel for them. It must be remembered in the first place that the orchestra is an "amateur" orchestra in the true sense of the word, all being amateur musicians. They individually possess their own instruments, and pay a monthly subscription into the funds, and the whole of the proceeds of their concerts has been devoted to the expenses incurred in promoting the concerts and the remainder in the purchase of music for use in future programmes. With a membership of over 20, it must be remembered that as most of them are working at the mines on alternate shifts, only half the number can attend reheasals at one time, thus necessitating a considerable amount of extra work and trouble in the prepartion of programmes. Then there are one or two of the very superior persons who know all there is to be known about music, and condescend to play at a performance without having previously attended rehearsals (which they consider is not necessary in their case). Such persons are the despair of a conductor, and anathema to the other members. However, with all these and other handicaps, the society has placed before the public music, both vocal and instrumental, of a high order, which comes as a welcome relief from the "jazz" style with which we have been surfeited for the past few years.

The mayor and police commissioners are to be congratulated on the public spirit in permitting Chief Merry to organize and conduct the orchestra, and the thanks of the citizens are due to all the members, particularly to Mrs. F. Oliver, their accomplished pianist, who untiring energy has done so much towards achieving the great popularity the orchestra has attained, and to Miss Gladys Dando, for the business-like manner in which she carries out the duties of hon. secretary.

The programme for Tuesday is very attractive, and we hope a bumper house will reward the promoters.

Early application should be made for reserved seats, which may be obtained at Frost's Pharmacy.

Young Ladies Of Colliery Office Hold Annual Dance

Complimentary remarks were heard on all sides last Saturday morning in connection with the dance given by the young ladies of the office staff of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Limited, held in the Ilo-Ilo Hall on Friday, Nov. 3rd. LAMBRINOS GETS SEVEN-YEAR TERM

ANTIPAS IS CLEARED OF THE BANK FORGERY CHARGES. STORY OF CONVICTED MAN IMPLICATES ONE BUGAS, SAID TO BE LEADER INTERNATIONAL CROOKS

(From last Sunday's Colonist).

George Rigas, alias Lambrinos, Greek candy maker here for the last two years, was sentenced to serve conviction before Magistrate Jay yesterday of uttering forged drafts in five Victoria banks.

Jerry Antipas, of Cumberland, also a Greek candy maker, who drove Lambrinos from Cumberland to Victoria last Friday week, and was arrested and charged as an accomplice, was discharged from custody, following a motion by City Prosecutor Harrison for withdrawal of the charge.

Bugas or Bogus ?

In the background of this story was outlined the vague form of one Alexandro Bugas, alleged by Lambrinos to be the master spirit and expert forger of an international band of crooks. This man had come to Victoria, with a supply of forged drafts, according to Lambrinos. It was Bugas who had tempted Lambrinos with the hope of money with which to return to family and home in Greece; it was Bugas who had directed operations; it was Bugas who had received $2,000 of the $3,000 obtained by Lambrinos; and it was Bugas, finally, who had made a clean get-away, outside the Imperial Bank,on Yates Street, when he saw police officers coming to arrest Lambrinos. Mr. Higgins suggested that it was possible that a man held by the New York police would turn out to be Bugas; and that it was still possible that the man might be brought to trial.

Detective O'Leary said that Lambrinos, in his confession to the police, had always maintained that the forgeries were the work of Bugas; and the police were inclined to think that it was at any rate true that Lambrinos was not the actual forger, but was working under the direction of another man. Lambrinos had been known in Victoria, as a candy maker, for the past two years. He was believed to have lived in Victoria before the war, and claimed to have a record of war service in the C. E. F.

Swindled of $3,000.

City Prosecutor Harrison, who said that the operations were ingenious and long-prepared, and who asked the court to impose a severe sentence, gave details of the amounts obtained from the various banks up-Island and in the city.

Restitution was made by Lambrinos of $1,100, being the sum found in his possession when he was arrested outside the Imperial Bank. Detective O'Leary added that Lambrinos had confessed to him that he had packed his effects and was prepared to leave for Greece on the night of the day on which he was arrested.

The Share of Bugas.

The head of this organization, according to the story told to Mr. Higgins by his client, was Alexandro Bugas. Bugas, so the story went, came to Victoria some months ago. He held out to Lambrinos the bait of a visit back to his homeland and family in Greece. Lambrinos fell to the tempter, and was persuaded to open small accounts in most of the branch banks on the Island. The coup, as planned by Bugas, was to be carried out with dramatic swiftness; and Lambrinos, as the latter had learned to his cost, was to take most of the risks of the criminal venture.

Heavy Sentence Given.

Mr. Higgins asked the court to bear these circumstances in mind when passing sentence. There was no doubt at all that Lambrinos was neither the author of the scheme nor the forger of the drafts. It was clear, whatever might be still to be discovered, that Lambrinos had been throughout the tool of some bold master crook. Lambrinos had told the story, implicating Bugas, to the police, at the time of the arrest; and counsel submitted that it bore evident marks of its truth upon its face. He asked the Court to treat Lambrinos with less severity than if he were the undoubted organizer of this crime.

Magistrate Jay said that the criminal code took a very severe view of the crime to which the accused had confessed. Under the code, one who uttered a forgery was liable to the same punishment as for forgery itself; and that punishment might amount to life imprisonment. Banking institutions, and society generally, must be protected from the operations of such skilful forgers as were there in evidence. The accused would be sentenced, on each of the five charges, to serve seven years in the penitentiary, sentences to run concurrently.

Choir Commence Rehearsals.

The choir of the Methodist Church, which has been reorganized, with Mr. Merry as conductor, have decided to commence rehearsals of the cantata "The Messiah's Coming" (Murdoch), and in addition, to practice a number of the good old-fashioned Christmas carols, to be rendered at Christmas.

A full practice is called for Thursday next at 7.30 p.m., and a cordial invitation is extended to all who will come and assist, whether with previous choral experience or otherwise. Old choir members are especially welcomed. Male voices are urgently required, both in the choruses and solos, and music lovers of either sex, whether with choral experience or not, will find this a good opportunity to become acquainted with a real live choir, with opportunities of joining in choruses ,part singing or as soloists. It is intended to render the cantata with orchestral accompaniment, and this should help to make the practices attractive.

Death Claims Mr. A. Sullivan

Mr. Arthur Sullivan, stipendiary magistrate at Campbell River, died suddenly at the Island summer resort on Monday afternoon last, having been stricken suddenly by heart failure. He was ill not more than three hours, passing away in the Campbell River hospital shortly after having been removed there. The late Mr. Sullivan was one of a family of telegraph operators, and was born at Heart's Content, Newfoundland, where his father had settled when the first Atlantic cable was laid by the "Great Eastern." He has two brothers, also telegraph operators, one in New York with the Western Union, and the other in San Francisco with the same organization. The deceased gentleman was of a genial personality, and had made a friend of nearly every person in the Campbell River district, being popularly known by many as "Sully." He had been correspondent for the "Daily Colonist," Victoria, for a number of years, and his articles in that paper were widely read . He was a consistent advocate of the charms of his district from a tourist standpoint, and doubtless his many articles in the Press had a great influence in attracting visitors to the famous resort. He was always a keen observer, and his optimism regarding the industrial development of Campbell River as the site for a pulp and paper mill, was ever presented to the public. During his residence at "The River" he came in contact with many of the world's most noted people who visited the Island. About fifteen years ago he came to the Pacific coast, and took up newspaper work, being at one time associated with the late F. E. (Dad) Simpson in publishing a Monday morning weekly paper called "The Victorian." He had also been interested in the Ashcroft "Journal," where he achieved some distinction. The late Mr. Sullivan was fifty-two years of age, and a member of the Campbell River ex-Service Men's Club, under whose direction the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from Courtenay to the Sandwick cemetery.

Fire Bell To Usher In Period

In order that the two minutes' silence may be observed on Armistice Day (to-day), Saturday, simultaneously by every citizen of Cumberland and vicinity, the City authorities have arranged for the Fire bell to ring eleven times, slowly, when the two minute period is to officially commence.

The Council decided to make the arrangement upon receipt of the following letter from Victoria, addressed to the Mayor:

Victoria, 4th Nov., 1922.

The Mayor, City of Cumberland, B.C.

(From the Under Secretary of State)

Sir,—The Prime Minister has directed me to inform you that His Majesty and the Canadian Government desire that the two minutes' silence at eleven o'clock on Armistice Day shall be observed with due solemnity and full appreciation of the important event which it commemorates. It is desired that all municipalities of the Dominion should cooperate to make the observance a reality, and I am directed to request you to take such steps as may be necessary to bring the matter to the attention of the municipalities in your province in the most effective way.

Thomas Mulvey,
Under Secretary of State.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,

T. L. White,

POLICE COURT.

On Thursday, before the Stipendiary Magistrate Mr. John Baird, Jim Quon and George Mah Fong were charged by Chief Merry with driving their motor vehicles on Dunsmuir Avenue at 9 a.m. on the 8th inst., at a speed greater than was reasonable and proper, having regard to all the circumstances of the case.

Both pleaded guilty, and both admitted having been previously convicted of similar offences. Chief Merry stated that many complaints had been received as to the careless manner in which motor vehicles were driven through the streets of the city. The main street had recently been repaired and a considerable quantity of loose pebbles were on the surface, and when cars are driven at any considerable speed these pebbles are squeezed from beneath the tires and create a source of danger to pedestrians and the risk of broken shop windows. In this case the defendants appeared to be racing, and there was an added danger to school children.

The magistrate reminded the defendants that they were both before him quite recently, and as a small fine appeared to be of no effect, he fined them each $15 and costs or 30 days imprisonment in default.

Constable Dunbar charged three Chinese with being inmates of an opium joint. Upon appearing before Magistrate Baird on Thursday, they were each fined $10 and relieved of their opium outfit.

Edna Kennedy, charged with vagrancy, failed to appear when called, and lost $25 that she put up as bail.

Mr. P. Dunne, merchant tailor, of Courtenay, leaves for Vancouver today, and will return to Powell River on Monday, where he will open up in the tailoring business.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 11th, 1922

WE ARE THANKFUL.

Thanksgiving Day is past, and Christmas holidays lie just over the hill.

There will be the usual shrinkage of bank balances and tightening of purse strings as the season draws nearer.

Always we have wondered why people get hard up as Christmas draws near. And we wonder if it affects other business like it does the printing business. Folks just naturally stop paying the newspaperman until after New Year's.

But what's the use of worrying? We are thankful there are no hospital or undertaker's bills to pay. We are thankful we have a job that keeps us busy. We are thankful we are not rich and worried about numerous investments. And we are thankful we live in a town this size and don't have to endure a continual strain to make both ends meet in a wild endeavor to keep up with fast friends in a cold and cruel city.

SPREADERS OF GLOOM.

Prophets of gloom and woe are finding ample evidence of the wrath to come which is to overwhelm the present civilization. One of these sad pessimists tells us, though every age in a sense, faces a crisis of its own, we to-day are facing not a crisis of our own generation, but of the whole civilization.

We are willing to admit that the struggling of human society at present is not pleasant to contemplate, even that it presents many ominous aspects which seem to threaten the stability of the social order so painfully erected by Christian civilization through nearly twenty centuries. But what then? Shall phases of unrest, want and despair—the results of violated law, though often the victims are innocent of all responsibility for the wrongs which compel their suffering—destroy in us the hope of the ultimate victory of truth, justice and righteousness? Not at all.

The nations are paying the penalties, very largely, that they invited. But they will survive the present crisis. They will go forward. Their experience will be painful. Something of their burden will be transmitted as a legacy to succeeding generations, but they will be all the more firmly established in that faith which makes for peace and progressive development because of the ordeals through which they have passed and now are passing.

It is strange that the war and its reactions worked no greater havoc than they have. Looking out upon struggling human society, noting the wounds and scars left by the recent tremendous conflict, it truly is amazing how much has been done in the work of social reconstruction in every country that suffered from the ravages of the war. Achievement in this direction will be continuous. There is no reason why the nations, or any one of them, should despair. There is every reason why they should be hopeful of the future. Civilization is secure. Humanity's faith in itself is sound. Peace, prosperity and good will for all those who have courage and faith.

PREPAREDNESS.

Many folks are fond of recalling the days when they were poor, their early struggles, and drawing from those experiences what they are pleased to regard as valuable lessons.

We all recall those lines of Riley's, "back where we were so happy and so poor." Many of those who have had such experience will recall that their changed conditions for the better began the day they learned the value of the habit of thrift. A great financier, himself, once a poor farm boy, says that the new relations between Canada and the rest of the world should teach Canadians this vital lesson of thrift. It is his idea and vision that we are to become a wellspring for all the nations.

We must be thrifty as individuals. We should learn over again the lessons of the last four years. We must realize that we are a unit among many other national units; that we must have regard for proper and adequate national protection, for material national progress.

Thrift is our one best means of continuous national preparedness. In the days of plenty, let us lay up treasure as against the lean year.

Take a lesson from the squirrel.

ONE WAY TO GET AN EDUCATION

Some time ago, writes a subscriber to The Youth's Companion, I was travelling in Europe with a young lady who lived in a small town way Down East in Maine, and who was more generally informed in the history, literature, art and music of the countries we visited than those who had lived in and had the advantages of a large city. "Where were you educated?" I asked. "I was brought up in my home town and on The Youth's Companion," was her reply. And this same liberal education is in The Companion for anyone who will seek it. McCLARY'S Electric Ranges

Women's burdens for centuries past were heavy because the human race did not know how to lighten them. An enlightened age has gradually brought now labor-saving devices to assist her—the greatest of which is the Electic Range.

has exclusive features that further reduce women's burdens, saving time, labor and anxiety.

There is the Protected Element—the Element is the burner, where the heat comes from. Like other Electric Appliances, the heat is radiated from wire coils, but the Protected Element snugly encloses these coils in porcelain to save them from carelessness or accidental upsets. Therefore, McCLARY'S Protected Element lasts longer, as acids, moisture and grease cannot harm it. It heats quickly and holds the heat long after the power is turned off.

The wonderful seamless, round-cornered Oven—not a nick or crevice in its smooth, even, impenetrable, glassy enamelled interior. lAs sanitary as any enameled interior. As sanitary as any enameled utensil, rust resisting, cleanly. Racks and rack holders removable. Elements swing on hinges, so that entire surface of oven is clear for cleaning.

The Oven has a 1¾ in. insulation around the side and a 1½ in. magnesia block insulation in the door—this holds the heat in oven. Roasts and baked foods retain their full flavor. The result is better baked foods with minimum shrinkage.

Warming Oven with small element inside.

Signal lights to show whether current for Oven is on or off.

Switches for elements plainly marked.

Extra plug for other Electric Appliances.

Mercury or Compensating Thermometer.

Fuses easily accessible.

FOUR TYPES OF McCLARY'S RANGES
E. S.—E. S. C.—D.—and E.—supplied in the immaculately clean battleship grey enameled finish, also black japan—see all these features—have them demonstrated to you at Cumberland Electric Lighting Co., Ltd.

WHEREAS certain mischievously inclined persons have tampered with the valves of the mains of this Company, thereby allowing a considerable amount of water to run to waste, we therefore wish to point out that it is a serious offence to tamper with such valves, and should the offending parties be apprehended, they will be prosecuted to the very fullest extent of the law.

Cumberland Gain Two More Points

These teams played an Upper Island League fixture on the Central Sports ground on Saturday last which resulted in an easy victory for the locals by 2 goals to nil. If any further argument is required in favor of Sunday football, it was furnished on Saturday last, as only a mere handful of spectators were present to witness the match. There were about 200 spectators present, as compared to nearly 3,000 the previous Sunday. If there is any great demand for Saturday football in Nanaimo, it was not in evidence. We did not even see the greatest opponents of Sunday football present to show the sincerity of their intentions to foster the game when played on other than the Lord's Day

Cumberland were the aggressors for the major portion of the game. Plump scored when he intercepted a nice cross from the left, and steadying nicely he gave Townsend no chance Fowler scored a second goal shortly afterwards when Townsend misjudged the bounce of the ball and permitted it to roll between his legs.

Merchants were awarded a doubtful penalty for Stewart handling within the area. Clark sent in a good shot but Wilson made a beautiful stop and cleared. There was no further scoring.

During the second half, Cumberland played fine football in the open, but their finishing in front of goal was weak. They easily held the upper hand throughout. Wilson was only seriously tested once in this half, when he made a fine save of a stinging shot from the left. During this period, Plump and Boyd of the Merchants, were banished from the game for an attempt to stage a boxing exhibition as an added attraction.

Of the Cumberland players, Wilson in goal handled the few shots that came his way in fine style. His saving of the penalty shot, and another in the second half, being very fine. Collier put up a good game at back. His placing to his half-backs being one of the features of his game. Stewart was slightly off color, his kicking not being quite as sure as usual. Of the half-backs, Conti played a sterling game; he was probably the outstanding player on the field. Brewster played his usual good game, and Monahan also did well. In the front rank all played well in the field. Fowler seemed much too anxious to shine and over anxiety spoiled a number of good shots for him.

On the Merchants: Graham, at half, was their outstanding man, but he spoiled an excellent display by too frequent fouling. The others played a fair game, but were outclassed by their more experienced opponents.

Junior Game Was A Real Treat

The Nanaimo Foresters' junior team invaded the Cumberland district last Sunday and played two games, the first with Union Bay in the forenoon, when they defeated the "Clam boys" by 8 goals to 2 goals, but lost to the Cumberland Juniors by 2 goals to nil in the best junior game that has ever been witnessed in Cumberland district, Although the Nanaimo boys were defeated, they played a nice, snappy game, with lots of pep and fine combination. They gave a splendid display. Time and again the spectators applauded them for their snappy work with the ball. Cumberland boys put up a great exhibition, their forwards being at all times dangerous when within shooting distance. Sommerville and Hunden were the pick of a good forward rank. Bond scored the first goal from a pass from Sommerville. Sommerville scored the second by a penalty kick with an unsavable shot. This forward rank, when they get going, will take some defeating. Both Farmer and Mitchell played their usual robust game on the half-back line. With the assistance of Marshall and Miller on the back division, they made a good pair, and both played a fine game. Boffy again distinguished himself in goal, with his usual skill and knowledge; he brought off at least four miraculous saves; he saved two penalty kicks and cleared his lines in perfect fashion. This boy will take some beating in the near future. (Look out Wilson). The spectators were well satisfied with the splendid display of both teams, and it is to be hoped that the football fans of Cumberland will be treated to more of those games this season.

All of the Foresters distinguished themselves, and the good sportsmanship feeling they inserted into the game was a credit. They have a good team, and the Juniors of Cumberland will have to travel all the way to defeat them when they meet at Nanaimo.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

Divisions III and IV headed the attendance competition for the week ending Nov. 3, with perfect attendance.

The boys defeated the High School football team 2-0 on Saturday in a practice match.

The Girls' Basketball Team made its debut on Saturday evening in a tussle with the High School girls.

Though the final results were against them 8-5, they put up a good game in the first half, the score being 4-1 in their favor.

More practice and more staying power will make them hard to defeat.

A border for shrubs is being made round the old school building. This should add greatly to the appearance of the place. Give the pupils something to be proud of and they will usually be found on the right side, willing to keep the peace as it should be kept.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK——

THAT the way to get business is to GO AFTER IT.

THAT an easy, sure and cheap way to go after it, is by the right kind of advertising.

THAT some business men are alert enough to take advantage of this opportunity, some go further and act upon it, while others simply "sit steady in the boat," do nothing and lose more than they ever know.

THAT a booster believes in his city. A crabbed grouch believes only in himself.

THAT you should stand by your city and see that she gets due credit for her progressiveness.

THAT the reason is simple why you should advertise. The greatest number of people read your paper, therefore it offers the greatest opportunity of reaching the buyers.

THAT the men who kill a city are always sorry when it is dead.

The Significance of the Flanders Poppy.

IN FLANDERS' FIELDS.

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe;
To you, from failing hands we throw
The torch. Be yours to lift it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' fields.

France, 1917. —Lt.-Col. John McCrae.

"THE MESSAGE."

On this Sacred Anniversary Day we who once were Comrades of Canada's Overseas Army—now the Silent Army of Occupation on Fame's Eternal Camping Ground—pay our loving tribute to those who gave their all that we might live. Memory's visible token in the blood-red poppy that blooms between the crosses row on row, over there. By this token we renew our pledge to keep faith with the warriors who answered the Last Roll Call. In no other way can we fittingly honor the dead than in caring for the living—the widow, the orphan, the needy. This is the message of the Flanders poppy.

We ask the kindly sympathy and co-operation of all ex-service men and friends to help in making Poppy Day, Nov. 11th, a success. Buy a poppy. Wear one in honour of those who formed the "Unbroken Line."

Poppies can be purchased from the following: Miss E. Bird, Secretary of G. W. V. A. Auxiliary; Mr. Tremlett, Secretary of Athletic Club, or Mr. A. J. Fouracre, Secretary of G. W. V. A., 202 Derwent Ave.

THE UNBROKEN LINE.

We who have trod the borderlands of death,
Where courage high walks hand in hand with fear,
Shall we not hearken what the Spirit saith,
All ye were brothers there, be brothers here?

We who have struggled through the baffling night,
Where men were men and man divine;
While round us brave hearts perished for the right,
By chalked shell-holes stained with life's rich wine.

Let us not lose the exalted love which came
From comradeship with danger and the joy
Of strong souls kindled into living flame
By one supreme desire, one high employ.

Let us draw closer in these narrower years,
Before us still the eternal visions spread;
We who outmastered death and all its fears,
Are one great army still, living and dead.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Louis Francesine, who was called suddenly to the Great Beyond on Nov. 6th, 1921:

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
How we miss him day by day;
Memory always keeps him near us
Though he died one year ago.

May the heavenly winds blow softly,
O'er the sweet and hallowed spot
Where our Louis lies sleeping,
Who will never be forgot.

(Inserted by one who will always miss him.)

In loving memory of my dear husband who was suddenly taken from me on Nov. 6th, 1921:

So sudden the call, the parting severe,
We knew not, nor dreamt not, that Death hovered near.
The purpose, Lord, I cannot see
But all is well that's done by Thee.

No one knows how much we miss him,
God alone knows the bitters pain
We have suffered since he left us;
Life has never been the same.

Oft our thoughts do sadly wander
To that sacred, silent grave,
Where they laid my darling husband
Just a year ago to-day.

How To Play Basketball

(By Observer).

VI.—Centre and Guards.

IMPORTANT POSITION.

One of the most important positions on the basketball team is that of centre and a few words regarding it may not be amiss.

The centre is the pivot man, as a rule, of all team plays, both defensive and offensive. For that reason he must be accomplished in all the arts which we have discussed in regard to the forward and at the same time possess the main qualifications of a good guard. He is usually a tall man so that he can secure the ball at the tip-off, although some very good jumpers are found among players of shorter stature. In selecting a centre, ability to get the jump, along the following qualifications, must be considered.

He must be a live wire, for he has to cover all parts of the floor. He is an offensive player when his team has the ball and a defensive one when his opponents have it. He must constantly back-check and must be able to stand the most strenuous pace. He must be quick on his feet and must use his wits at all times.

Shoulder control must be acquired by the centre so that it is possible to reach the full heigth with one arm without moving the other. Swinging Indian clubs and dumbells will help to develop the shoulder muscles and to make them supple and strong.

The abdominal muscles should also be well developed in the centre, because he must remain in his half of the circle when jumping for the ball and not commit a foul by touching the other man. The leg muscles, of course, must be in excellent condition and must respond immediately to the necessity for the jump. Stooping with hands on the hips and raising the bened knee high are good developing exercises for the leg muscles.

Perhaps the most important feature of the centre's game is good passing. He should be able to shoot well, to guard well, and above all to pass well. He will be required to feed the forwards and his passes to them must be made with great accuracy. Being the pivot man, he is likely to receive more passes than any other man, and he must therefor handle the ball with neatness and despatch, losing no time in getting it out to the forwards.

Back-checking Essential.

Just a word about back-checking. You have often seen a game lost because one or other member of the team did not back-check. The failure of the forwards to do so has been mentioned, but it is an even greater error for the centre to fail in this, for his opponent will probably make the third and free man of the opponent's offence. Should a guard be drawn out to check him, a forward is left unguarded.

The position of guard calls for specialization in one or two qualities which the forwards need not possess to the same degree. A sense of perception and cunning in solving the offensive play of the opponents and the ability to move quickly enough to break up these formations are necessities.

The guard first of all must be very keen in sensing the direction in which the play is going to move. In advancing to check his man, he must remember that it is possible that the ball will be passed in any of three directions and that it is necessary for him to start for and intercept even before it is thrown. It is that quality of being able to sense the trend of play and to time one's interference successfully that make a first-class guard.

Passing out to the forwards and backing-up offensive play of the team are two important features of the guard's game. A running and a stationary guard are usually posted for the latter purpose, the faster and better shot of the two being placed as the running guard. It is his duty to go up the floor with the offensive and to assist by going in for passes when the other men are covered. He must be fast in order to get back when the opponents secure the ball.

FAREWELL TEA.

Three Active Members of Grace Methodist Church Leave City Shortly.

(Crowded out last week).

A very delightful farewell tea was given in the Parsonage of Grace Methodist Church on Wednesday afternoon by the Ladies' Aid, in honor of three very faithful members of the church. The departing ladies are: Mrs. Young, Mrs. Waddington and Mrs. Nash. The two former ladies will leave shortly for Cassidy, where they intend taking up their residence. Mrs. Nash is leaving for the East in the near future.

As church workers, these ladies are held in high esteem and will be greatly missed.

This Answer Made Her Mad.

"I am afraid, doctor," said Mrs. Christopher, "that my husband has some terrible mental affliction. Sometimes I talk to him for hours, and then discover that he hasn't heard a word."

"That isn't an affliction, madam," was the weary reply. "That's a gift."

Death Claims A Respected Citizen

The death occurred on Wednesday afternoon, November 1st, at 3.30, of John Foster, at the family residence in Minto Valley. The deceased was in his sixty-fifth year, and was a native of Hartley, Northumberland, England. The late Mr. Foster had resided in this district for the last 13 years, and was greatly respected by all who knew him. Death followed a short illness consisting of a few days only. Last week the late Mr. Foster was quite well and seemed to be enjoying the best of health, but early in this week he complained of not feeling well and retired to his bed, from which he never arose. Left to mourn his loss is a widow, two daughters, Mrs. McAllister, of Cumberland, and Miss Jane Foster, Minto, and three sons, Messrs. H. Foster, B. Foster and J. Foster, all of Minto. The funeral will take place from the family residence on Saturday afternoon at 2.30.

It's all very well to be pleasant
When life goes by like a song.
But the man that's worth while
Is the man who can smile
When everything goes dead wrong.

LAVISH SCENES IN "MANSLAUGHTER"

Cecil B. De Mille's Production is Coming to Ilo-Ilo Theatre Friday & Saturday.

"The most lavish scene since 'Joan the Woman!'"

That's what is said of the Roman bacchaanal recently staged by Cecil B. DeMille for his latest Paramount production of "Manslaughter."

Several years ago the same producer gave to the screen his classic tale of "The Maid of Orleans." At that time thousands of "extras," clad in the picturesque costumes of the period, were to be seen daily around the studio and on the massive sets created for that picture.

Since that date there have been many huge scenes filmed at the West Coast home of Paramount Pictures. Hundreds and even thousands of people have worked simultaneously before the cameras. But it remained for Cecil B. DeMille to again set a new mark for sheer, spectacular splendor. And he did it with the Roman scenes in "Manslaughter."

The episode, which is used to point a powerful moral, shows Rome just before the fall—pagan Rome with all of its licentiousness and debauched beauty. At the heighth of the revel—while the guests, the dancers and the guards slumber in drunken stupor—the barbarian hordes storm the gates and pillage, burn and destroy everything in their path.

Leatrice Joy in the role of the patrician hostess of this bacchanal and Thomas Meighan as the leader of the barbarians, have the principal roles in this, as with Lois Wilson, they have in the major portion of the actual story of "Manslaughter."

Credit for the stately settings goes to Paul Iribe, art director for Cecil B. DeMille productions, who also contributed to the designing of the hundreds of colorful costumes. An elaborate ballet, trained by Theodore Kosloff especially for this occasion, figured prominently in the action of his portion of the picture.

Several famous paintings including the "Thumbs Down" painting depicting the end of a gladiatorial combat, were literally reproduced by the producer and scenariat.

"Manslaughter," which is Cecil B. DeMille's most masterful and lavish creation, is coming to the Ilo-Ilo Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

Story of South Seas is "The Bonded Woman."

Want to go to the South Sea Isles?

Nearly everybody does, since reading the books of Frederic O'Brien, W. S. Maughan and others. Patrons of the Ilo-Ilo Theatre will find themselves carried away to this romantic region when they see Betty Compson in "The Bonded Woman," her latest Paramount picture which opens there on Monday and Tuesday next for a run of two days.

In this offering, the South Pacific archipelago is shown at its best, with enough of its worst to make the drama. Miss Compson, as Angela, goes to a dive in Honolulu to rescue the man she loves. This is a colorful scene, with dancing girls, sailors and natives, and pictures Hawaii as most people fancy it. But Fate, and the girl's wish, then remove the pair to a barren deserted island, where the denouement takes places.

Don't miss it Monday and Tuesday.

Merville Settlers Hear Members Of Legislature

On Sunday last the party of Opposition members of the Provincial Legislature who had addressed a public meeting in Courtenay, went on to Merville, where they met the people of the Soldier settlement and discussed the Merville problems from a great many angles. Previous to the meeting, the settlers at the Soldier settlement met the committee from the Courenay-Comox Board of Trade and Comox Agricultural Association and talked matters over, taking under advisement the following resolution, which was at the later meeting presented to Mr. Bowser and endorsed by him:

THE RESOLUTION.

Whereas the Government through the Land Settlement Board's agents, Messrs. Walker and Kirchner, made the following promises to induce settlers to take up land in the Merville Settlement:

1st.—That the land would be sold to the settler at cost;

2nd.—That the Land Settlement Board would clear ten acres for each settler;

3rd.—That the Land Settlement Board would build a house and small barn for each settler.

4th.—That the whole would be appraised at a fair valuation and sold to them on easy payments.

And whereas the Government, finding that it was costing too much to clear the land, stopped this work and started a system of providing small loans to the settlers as they cleared the land, known as the Progress Loan System, which has proved a failure and which we understand the Government are about to discontinue.

And whereas if some permanent policy is not laid down soon, the settlers will have to abandon their places, losing the fruits of three years' work.

Therefore, be it resolved that this committee from the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade and the Comox Agricultural Association, recommend the following:

1st.—That a deed be given for each block of land and that a mortgage be taken by the Government, payments to be made over a term of thirty years together with interest at 6 per cent, such interest and principal to be amortized in twenty-five equal payments, first of such payments to be due and payable in five years from the delivery of farm to settler.

2nd.—That all places be valued by three competent farmers of Comox Valley. One to be chosen by the Merville Community Association ,one by the Government, and the third by the other two; such valuation to be final. If the two bodies above mentioned fail to agree on a third party, the appointment to be made by the Courtenay-Comox Board of Trade.

3rd.—That all those who have taken up improved farms be granted a loan up to one thousand dollars for buildings, and one thousand dollars for clearing land, as soon as they can prove to such valuators that they had made improvements to that value.

4th.—That each settler be entitled to a loan of $500 for stock, such amount to be paid over a period of twenty years with interest. The Government to hold chattel mortgage on all stock to amount of loan, and land also to be held as security of loan on stock.

5th.—No loan to be granted on clauses 3 and 4 unless approved by the board of valuators.

It is the opinion of those who have made a study of the Merville problem that the above recommendations are the best that can be made, and as the resolution was favorably received by the Merville Community Association, there seems to be little or nothing standing in the way of a permanent settlement that will redound to the credit of those instrumental in framing its terms, and one that will enable the men who went on the land at the solicitation of their own leaders, to make a comfortable living.

Birthday Party.

A birthday party of much interest took place on Monday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Christie. The occasion was to celebrate the second birthday of their little son, George. The tea table was elaborately decorated with streamers and flowers, and in the centre of which stood the all-important birthday cake with two small candles burning brightly from its tower. The early part of the afternoon was spent in playing various games; the "Donkey contest" proving to be the most popular. In this latter game, Master James McCullough was awarded the prize, which consisted of a box of chocolates.
