My dear Dr Sanderson

I grieve to find that I kept only a few particles of the globuline & of the so-called Haemoglobuline; but I shd think they could be tried on a small scale by the artificial gastric juice.— The case, however, interests me so much, (as well as that of the Mucin) that I daresay I could get some more globuline from Dr Moore, if the few particles sent do not suffice, & if you do not find the much larger parcel previously sent to you.— I

1d be very glad to know what I ought to call it Haemoglobin, — that is if you can tell from its appearance. —

Perhaps Dr Brunton knows also the digestion of Chlorophyll animals. — Will you ask him when you ask about gelatin & Chondrin; I have my impression is correct that Chondrin was not as pure as the gelatin prepared by Hoffman & Ranke. —

I hope & trust to find you
