OUR LONDON LETTER.

THE LORDS ARE MOVING GENTLY AND THE COMMONS ARE QUIET.

The General Election is Expected Next September — A Busy Session is Contemplated — Home Rule Will Ostensibly be the First Consideration. More Evidence Against Erastus Wiman — He Will Plead Not Guilty. Further Munificent Donations for McGill University—Unable to Form a Quorum in Congress.

[Copyright, 1894, by the United Press.]

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The submission of the Lords on the Parish Council's Bill has been almost complete. It amply satisfies the moderate Liberals who do not desire to hector or embarrass Mr. Gladstone into declaring war against the Upper House. The Radicals who are opposed to the Peers, first, last and all, are still eager for the fray. On Monday, when the Parish Council's Bill will be returned in its newly amended form to the House of Commons, the Radicals will insist upon restoring the clause giving the Councils control of local charities. There is little probability, however, of a rupture between the Houses over this point alone. The Ministers do not expect and will not permit the precipitation of a crisis for which the Radicals are longing. The Cabinet prepared at its meeting yesterday the Queen's speech and agreed at the same time on the order in which the government measures will be introduced at the next session. This sequence of bills was determined on: Registration Reforms, Irish Evicted Tenants, Welsh Disestablishment and Local Option. The difficult financial questions which arise from the budget are the edficit and the simultaneous increase of naval expenditure, which will fill out the programme with Bills voluminous enough to protract the session far beyond the usual limits.

If the Government plans be realized, however, the dissolution will take place in September. Already the issues of the coming electoral campaign are in the political foreground. The retreat of the Peers last evening will undoubtedly moderate the popular movement to abolish them. Nevertheless, the whole Liberal party, while not showing the eagerness of the Radicals for immediate action, have now determined that the power of the Peers to control Parliamentary Legislation must cease. Out of deference to Mr. Gladstone, the Liberal party may continue to give Home Rule the first place on its programme, but the question of the Peers will be regarded as the most vital and urgent issue of the hour.

The Speaker this week broached a plan which has been suggested by several Cabinet Ministers and is approved by many Liberal commoners. The plan is the power of the House of Lords to veto bills, passed by the House of Commons to cease. The House of Lords may continue its revisory and suggestive functions, may even initiate legislation, but when a bill once amended shall be returned by them to the Commons, the decision of the Lower House shall be final. In the event that the Peers absolutely reject a bill sent up by the Commons, the Lower House may reaffirm the measure, by resolution, and thus over-ride the rejection of the Upper House. There are five Peers in Mr. Gladstone's cabinet, and none of them would support a measure to overthrow the Upper House. Three of them, however, while prepared to stand by their class, are known to be willing to reform the Peers. The ministers in question are the Earl of Roseberry, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Lord Herschell, Lord High Chancellor and the Earl of Kimberly, Secretary of State for India.

French Corn Bill Approved.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—The Custom committee of the Senate approves the Corn Bill and will report it to the Senate on Monday.

Stricken With Apoplexy.

ROME, Feb. 24.—Baron Giovianni Nicolera, Ex-Minister of the Interior and one of Italy's foremost statesmen, was stricken with apoplexy this evening.

A French Administrator Killed.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—A despatch from Senegal says that M. Vincent, the French Administrator at Dogana, has been killed by the son of a native chief.

Increased Penalties on Explosives.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—The cabinet has resolved to introduce in the Chamber of Deputies a bill increasing the prescribed penalties for infraction of the law governing the manufacture and transportation of explosives.

What Silver Dealers Say.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—London dealers in silver say that the fall in silver has been over done. Unless the impending duty in India be prohibitory, they think recovery will be sure as India will still be allowed to buy much of the metal. A prohibitory duty however, would surely cause a still deeper decline of prices.

An Anarchist of Letters.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Jean Graves, an anarchist of letters, was tried in the criminal court to day for having published a book entitled "Societe Mourante," which it was charged contained matter calculated to incite to revolution and to the overthrow of existing institutions. Elize E. Reclus, the famous geographer, testified warmly in favor of the prisoner. Octave Mirabeau declared that Graves had a superior mind and was regarded as a literary authority. Graves was sentenced to pass two years in prison and to pay a fine of 1,000 francs.

Parnell's Widow's Husband.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The receivers of the affairs of Captain O'Shea, formerly the husband of the widow of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, have issued a detailed statement of the assets and liabilities of the bankrupt Captain. According to the statement, Captain O'Shea owes £8,000 which he offers to settle at 7 shillings in the pound. This offer the receivers advised the creditors to accept.

The Hohenzollern Hailing Himself.

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—Emperor William went to Brandenberg city to-day to attend the annual banquet of the Diet of Brandenburg Province. Dr. Van Aschenbach proposed the toast to the Emperor as Margrave of Brandenburg. The Emperor expressed his thanks for the president's assurances of loyalty, and then unveiled a large crayon which he presented to the Diet. The crayon showed the scene at the first hoisting of the Hohenzollern standard in the Mark. The Emperor reviewed the history of Hohenzollern rule in Brandenburg. The Margraves, he said, had aimed ever at the welfare of all classes. He himself had a warm heart for all his subjects, especially for the peasants, who were the backbone of the Mark.

Cashier Ferles Fled.

VIENNA, Feb. 24.—An inspection of the coffers in the department of the public debt was undertaken this week without the usual advice note to the officials. Cashier Ferles fled as soon as the inspection began, and has not been found. He had embezzled 2,000 florins. One of the money bags in his care has been emptied of gold pieces and filled with copper. Ferles is believed to have squandered all the money that he stole upon the directress of a circus. He had been intimate with her for some time, and had supported her in expensive style. His own family lived more modestly, although expensively enough to make the impression that Ferles was rich.

Victoria Martin vs. British Museum.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The trial of the action brought by Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin against the trustees of the British Museum for holding in their possession books libeling her character, was resumed in the High Court of Justice to-day. Mrs. Martin took the witness stand and retold in her vindication, the story of her relations to the Beecher-Tilden scandal; how she was led to adopt the theories of marriage she had advocated and many other incidents of her life. Mr. John Biddulf Martin, the husband of the plaintiff, was then called. He said that, before making Mrs. Woodhull his wife, he was well acquainted with her writings, and had closely followed her career long before she came to England. He had never seen one word endorsing the views expressed in the articles attributed to her, but which she has explicitly repudiated; views which he believed to be distinctly contrary to hers. After further testimony, the case was adjourned.

The Anarchist World.

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—The anarchists Paulowolz and Petersdorf, charged with publicly inciting to violence, were to-day sentenced to prison for nine and three months respectively.

PARIS, Feb. 24.—Leo. Lauthier, the anarchist, who stabbed and seriously wounded M. Georgevitch, the special envoy of Servia to France, in November last, was sentenced to life imprisonment to-day.

VIENNA, Feb. 24.—The trial of the anarchists Franz Haspel, Stephen Havel, Mathias Stetka, Martin Stikul, Karl Kinkal, Johan Wopateckin, Karl Norawetz, Joseph Schnel, Michael Wellner, Mathias Fleischhaus, Joseph Komarck and Karl Kerzel and two others, charged with conspiracy against the life of Emperor Francis Joseph, and were all supposed to be closely connected with the anarchists of America, ended to-day. Eight of the prisoners were acquitted, Haspel and Havel, the leaders were sentenced to ten and eight years imprisonment respectively; two were condemned to four years each and the sentences of the remaining two, who are also believed to be members of the Omladina, and concerned in the murder of Rudolf Merva, were deferred, pending further inquiry. The morning newspapers correct last night's reports as regards the result of the anarchist trial. Six and not eight of the fourteen prisoners were acquitted. Haspel, Havel and six others were sentenced to terms varying between two and four years. The report that two sentences were deferred was false.

Death of a New York Bookman.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Norman L. Munroe, the publisher died at 6:15 o'clock to-night from the effects of an operation performed on him yesterday.

More Evidence Against Wiman.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—R. D. Douglas, a member of the firm of R. G. Dun & Co., said this afternoon that five other forgeries by Wiman had been discovered, and the experts were still at work on the books.

Unable to Form a Quorum.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 24.—After three hours to-day spent in an unavailing effort to get a quorum to vote or consider Mr. Bland's bill to coin the seignorage of the treasury silver bullion, the House adjoured until Monday. One hundred and fifty-nine was the largest number that could be rallied by Mr. Bland in support of his motion, and at 3 o'clock he gave up the battle for the day, saying it was evident the bondholders meant to filibuster. The House then adjourned.

Rastus Will Plead Not Guilty.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Charles H. Dere, who furnished bail for Erastus Wiman, is a wealthy manufacturer of Moline, Ill.; and an old friend of Mr. Wiman's son William, who is said to be dangerously ill, married a daughter of Mr. Dere. Mr. Wiman will be called up on Monday to plead to the indictment for forgery in the second degree. He has not permitted himself to say whether he will plead guilty or not, but his friends assert that it has been settled since his release that he will plead not guilty.

A MEETING OF SPORTS.

Champion Corbett Boxes With Mitchell in Aid of the New York Poor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—A large and appreciative assemblage witnessed the mammoth athletic carnival at Madison Square Garden to-night, given in aid of the poor of this city. The programme was large and the show first-class in every particular. The first event was in the shape of an exhibition of feats of strength by Prof. Attila, of Germany. The second event was a wrestling match of one round between Wm. Muldoon and Ernest Roeber. They wrestled ten minutes Græco-Roman style, without either man getting a fall. The next event was a bout of catch-as-catch-can wrestling between Hugh Leonard, N. Y. A. C., and Prof. McFadden, of St. Louis. This was declared a draw.

Jack and Billy Slavin, brothers of Frank Slavin, gave a fair exhibition of sparring. A broad sword combat between Duncan C. Ross and F. S. Costellano, was another feature of the exhibition. The Italian was no match for Ross, who simply out pointed him in every way. A most interesting bout was the contest between Eddie Loeper, of Brooklyn, and George Dixon, feather weight champion of the world. Dixon punished him badly in the first round. The second round was also of a spirited nature, but the points were in favor of Dixon. The third round was the liveliest of the three. Dixon went in to put Loeper out, but he found it no easy task. The both fought hard and punished each other right and left until they were very tired at the call of time. Jerry Barnett was to have met young Griffo, the featherweight champion of Australia, but failed to put in an appearance. Griffo announced that he would fight anyone in the house of his weight. The challenge was accepted by Walter Campbell, of Philadelphia, but before they had time to get them ready the band struck up and James J. Corbett stepped upon the stage. He was met with loud applause He was accompanied by Billy Delaney. Charley Mitchell, with Billy Thompson, his manager, also get a hearty welcome. John Kelly and Snappy Garrison were also introduced and applauded. The boxing, however, was far from being a repetition of the Jacksonville contest, and the best of good fellowship existed between the two men and they made matters very interesting for the spectators by sparring three light and scientific rounds. Hitting was not hard enough to show that they had ability to do hard hitting were it necessary.

Skating at Duluth.

DULUTH, Minn., Feb. 24.—Tom Scott, of Minneapolis, was defeated this evening by R, J. McLeod, of Duluth, in the final contest for the Governor's medal and the Merriam trophy. They will remain in Duluth. The match was an interesting and exciting one, and was one by the Duluth rink by a score of 16 to 11.

Resigned on Manitoba School Question.

TORONTO, Ont. Feb. 24.—An Ottawa special says the city is greatly excited over the alleged crisis in the Dominion Cabinet. The rumor is that Messrs. Angers and Ouimet, Minister of Agriculture and Public Works respectively, have resigned because of the difference in the Cabinet over Manitoba's school question.

Official Peculators.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 24.—The Journal this evening says, that an investigation which it has been pursuing at Lansing for some days, shows that several state officers have been guilty of extensive peculations from the State treasury. The Journal alleges that Secretary of State Jochim, State Treasurer Hambitzer and Land Commissioner Berry have made charges for mileage, hotel bills and other expenses which the law does not give them the right to collect from the State.

Munificent Donations.

MONTREAL, Feb. 24.—McGill College has experienced the munificent liberality of gentlemen who have heretofore generously subscribed to her endowments. Donations to the amount of $150,000 have been made by Sir Donald Smith, Mr. W. C. MacDonald and Mr. John H. R. Molson, each contributing $50,000.

Royalty Is Opposed to Salisbury.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Chronicle is authority for the statement that Lord Salisbury's attitude in regard to the Employers' Liability and Local Governments bills has aroused a strong feeling of opposition to his course on the part of the Queen and the Prince of Wales. The reigning family, the Chronicle adds, has always had a keen sense of its own interests, and more than once has exerted its influence to prevent the Peers from engaging in a conflict which might have its end in totally readjusting the constitution.

Had it in His Stockings.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24.—Leroy Harris, who "held up" a room full of government officials, at Buffalo last Saturday, and escaped from custody only to be re-captured, and who is charged with cashing forged money orders, arrived here to-day, accompanied by two post office inspectors and Deputy United States Marshal Collo, of Buffalo. On being searched $1,310 was found in the band of his trousers and in his stockings. Harris had been searched three times since his arrest in Buffalo, but the money had escaped the notice of the officers.

All About a Check.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 24.—To-day Daniel Meyer the banker, received from Havana for collection a check on the Bank of California, which was made payable to Herman Schneider or order, and bore the alleged signature of Thomas Brown, cashier of the Bank of California. The check called for $1,500 and the original endorsement in Spanish indicates that it was paid to original recipient for value received. Two subsequent endorsements merely stated that the check had passed through certain hands for collection. The signature in no way resembles that of Brown, and the people who paid money on check were very easily duped. A similar forgery was recently perpetrated in Central America.

PROVINCIAL AND DOMINION NEWS

Portage la Prairie is to have a new court house to cost $25,000.

George F. Gurnette, editor of the Ingersoll Chronicle, died from diphtheria, aged 26.

F. H. Joslin won the Provincial wrestling championship at Winnipeg defeating J. W. Moffatt, Johnston and Rourke.

Captain Richardson, commanding the Allan line steamer Sardinian, is dead at Liverpool, Eng., from general debility.

The New Westminster Fish Company shipped 20,000 lbs. of halibut to New York yesterday, and will send forward another carload to-day.

Joseph Hartley, porter in the Seymour Hotel, Winnipeg, has received word that he has fallen heir to $35,000 by the settlement of an estate in England.

More than one-fourth of the total Provincial pre-emptions of last year were taken up in the Okanagan country, 264 out of 1,133 being received at Vernon.

The body of Samuel Cooper, of Brucefield, was found in a field with the top of the head blown off and a rifle beside it. It is supposed he accidentally shot himself.

The promoters of the South Eastern Railway are making great efforts to secure assistance from the Local Government for the building of this line this year to the Lake of the Woods.

A swindling album agent has been buncoing housewives out of their pocket money in Vancouver by offering a $5 album for 50 cents down, delivered the same day, but he never returned.

Alfred W. Wright has been appointed police magistrate of the city of Kaslo; Alex. Martin, fence viewer for the district of South Saanich; Geo. I. Wilson and A. E. Shelton to be members of the licensing board of Vancouver.

Thos. G. Matheson has been arrested at Toronto on several charges of fraud by means of forged cheques. He was arraigned at the police court and pleaded guilty to two charges, involving $460 each. Sentence was deferred.

At Sussex, N. B., Ker J. Grant, a Baptist minister, has been committed for trial on a charge of criminal libel, he having denounced from the pulpit the conduct of Justice Morrison in regard to the Scott act prosecution. Bail in $3,000 was accepted.

A smart trade was done in the New Westminster market on Friday in the various lines offered. The Lenten season did not seem to make much difference with the meat business, which was quite lively. Eggs continue low in price with a large supply.

Thomas F. Lawn, an operator on the Mergenthaler linotype machine in the Montreal Witness office, has just broken the Canadian record for type setting, having set 204,950 ems of corrected matter in 48 hours. The previous record was 220,500 ems, held by William O'Brien, of Toronto.

Hon. A. S. Hardy, commissioner of crown lands in the Ontario cabinet, has been relieved from the city solicitorship of Brantford by a vote of the aldermen. He held the position for over twenty-five years. Messrs. Browster, Muirhead & Heyd have been appointed to succeed him.

The inquest on the body of Alexander Mainville, 16 years of age, a farm hand, who died suddenly, was held at Montreal. The post-morten examination disclosed the fact that the throat was clogged with wheat, partially masticated. Wheat was also found in the pockets. The inquest was postponed.

In the course of a lengthy letter to the Vancouver News-Advertiser Mr. Charles L. Arnold says: Kaslo! The more I think of it, the more certain is my conclusion that Kaslo will be the largest town in West Kootenay, situated as it is at the eastern extremity of Kaslo Pass. It is the first town the Americans reach, and the majority of the deals that are not worked up in Spokane are arranged here. The chances are that it will soon get ahead of Spokane in these matters, and will also be the commercial metropolis of the country. In order to prove what a large factor the American element is, I may say that over three fourths of the guests at the Hotel Slocan register from the States. I may say that a majority of the Canadians who come here are from Winnipeg, with Toronto a good second, and that not a single name from Vancouver Island or the coast has appeared on the books for the last two months. If the Kaslo-Slocan railroad goes into operation this year Kaslo is all right.

A Financial Record.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The Herald's special from New Haven says: Yale football team last fall broke the financial record of the University for receipts and profits. Manager Holton last night announced his preliminary report. The total receipts were $36,035.54 and the total expenditure $13,171,95; having a balance of $22,893 59. The sum of $4,000 was given to the Yale Field Corporation to pay off the debt on the field and the rest was turned over to Yale Financial Union, the itemized report will be published in a few days.

THE CHURCH WARDEN.

There are 10,480 churches in the Dominion of Canada.

Dr. Talmage received $600 for a two hours' lecture at the Atlanta Chautauqua.

In Colorado there was not a single Baptist church 40 years ago. Now there are 60 churches and 5,000 members.

Rev. M. M. Vancleve, a Baptist of Crawfordsville, Ind., has been preaching for more than 80 years. During that time he has married 760 couples.

The Southampton (Mass.) Congregational church celebrated its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary recently. It was founded in 1843 by Jonathan Edwards and Samuel Hopkins.

Dr. John Hall's church, Fifth avenue, New York city, has 2,438 communicant members. Its contributions last year amounted to $147,052, of which $96,749 went to benevolence.

There are 47 Chinese temples in the United States, valued at $62,000, claiming 100,000 worshipers. Forty of these temples are in California, four in New York, two in Idaho and one in Oregon.

Miss Etta Rabbitt of New Bedford, Mass., has had her name changed by the probate court to Ella Rabbitt.

Miss Belknap, daughter of the ex-secretary, is a handsome blond, tall and of fine figure, who dances, fishes and swims equally well.

Lizzie Borden polled nearly 100,000 votes in a World's fair coupon contest conducted by the Boston Journal, but refused to make the trip after winning it.

Mrs. Abigail Smith is 94 years old and lives at Patchogue, N. Y. She has a remarkable memory, reads without spectacles and considers herself quite young and frisky.

Miss Helen Gould recently said in answer to some inquiries about her large expenditure on charities, "To be wealthy and not know how to enjoy money is to be in a wretched state."

Mrs. George B. McClellan, who, after visiting her daughter, Mme. Duprez, wife of M. Paul Duprez of the French legation at Bern, is now in San Moritz, will sail for home in October.

Lady Carlisle is training an entire staff of women gardeners, who, she hopes, will keep the grounds of her Yorkshire home in as perfect a condition as their male predecessors have done.

Miss Sallie Pierson, a compositor, has been appointed state organizer of the Federation of Labor for Indiana. She has supported herself and mother by typesetting since she was 16 years of age.

Miss Kate Kane of Chicago gives notice that she is out for a judgeship. She is willing to accept a nomination from either of the political parties or from both of them, but if ignored will run independently.

Miss Florence Nightingale recently celebrated her seventy-third birthday. Although for many years confined to her house by constant ill health, she is ceaselessly at work for the welfare of her fellow creatures.

If Mrs. Whitelaw Reid on the occasion of great receptions should line the hall of her country house from entrance to staircase with flunkeys, as is the fashion in Europe, she would need at least 50 of them, for the hall is 79 feet long.

Miss Kirby Smith, daughter of the famous Confederate leader, was only a fourth class postmistress when she was given the office at Sewanee, Tenn., but she has managed it with such tact as to carry it into the presidential class, and she now gets $1,300 a year out of it.

Miss Kitty C. Wilkins, Idaho's horse queen, has a range containing 3,000 horses of high grade, bronchos being carefully excluded. Miss Wilkins, who is about 30 years old, does the buying and selling, while her father and brothers do the harder, practical work about the place.

THE U. S. SENATE AND THE COAL DUTIES.

The announcement that the U. S. Senate has decided so far to yield to the clamors of the protectionists in the United States as to have resolved to retain a duty of 40 or even perhaps 50 cents a ton on imported coal is not good news for the coal interests of British Columbia. It is in fact greatly to be regretted that the Senate has arrived at this decision. It will hinder the people of the United States on the Pacific Coast from enjoying the privelege of being able to purchase at the lowest price the superior coal mined in British Columbia, and it will also hinder the people of Eastern Canada from importing free the anthracite coal of Pennsylvania, so extensively use at this season in that part of the Dominion, and it may be added so necessary to the comfort of the inhabitants of our eastern cities and towns in winter. The Dominion Government will of course retain a similar duty on coal imported from the United States, to that imposed by the Americans on coal imported to the States from Canada. The proposed amendment by the United States Senate of the Wilson tariff, in the matter of coal, will therefore be productive of widespread evil on both sides of the continent, for there is no reason to doubt that if the Americans had placed coal on the free list the Dominion Government would have done the same when next month they come to amend the Canadian tariff. The incident also shows the wisdom of the Dominion Government in waiting to know what changes the Americans will make in their tariff before proceeding to reform the Canadian tariff. Sir John Thompson, the Dominion Premier, is pledged to meet the Americans step by step in the matter of tariff reform, but he will not, and we think he ought not to go an inch beyond that. It is sufficient if the Dominion Government goes as far in the matter of tariff reform as the Americans. The latter have no moral claim to expect privileges in the Canadian market which they refuse to Canadians in the American.

THE ATTACK MADE BY THE OPPOSITION ON DR. DAVIE.

Dr. Watt, during the debate on the budget on Friday, drew attention to a point which deserves notice. Speaking, he said, from personal knowledge, he thought that, since the appointment of Dr. Davie as Provincial Health Officer had been so much discussed in the House, he ought to point out that the appointment of that gentleman had been made at the instance of a meeting of medical men held on the 9th of July, 1892, and the fact of his being a near relative of the Premier had nothing to do with the matter, Dr. Davie being chosen solely on account of his ability and fitness for the office. In the speaker's opinion, the result had fully justified the choice made. The only thing Dr. Watt regretted was that Dr. Davie had resigned the office too soon. He considered that Dr. Davie, so far from being overpaid for his services, had been paid far too small a sum for the work he had accomplished. He further thought that it was a very mean thing for any member of the House to make an attack upon a man, who had rendered unquestionable service to the province, merely because he was a near relative to the Premier and because the parties attacking him and objecting to the remuneration he had received hoped thereby to make a point against the leader of the Government.

There can be no doubt whatever that Dr. Watt is right in his estimate of the whole affair. Dr. Davie at a serious crisis rendered a very important service to the province at large and to the city of Victoria in particular. Every man of intelligence in British Columbia acknowledges this and no right minded and candid man will say that he was over paid for his services. The leader of the Opposition and his organ, the Victoria Times, in saying so and trying to make political capital out of the affair have simply incurred the contempt of every intelligent man in the province. It is especially indicative of small-mindedness on Mr. Beaven's part to act as he has done in this matter. It shows him to be envious and spiteful as well as small-minded, for it is not to be forgotten that he was mayor of Victoria when the smallpox broke out in that city in the summer of 1892, and that he did nothing at all to check its progress. Dr. Davie was appointed with summary powers, only after Mayor Beaven had proved his incapacity, and in a very short time he succeeded in arresting the plague by devising and enforcing proper sanitary regulations. Mayor Beaven did nothing but raise objections about the expense it would be to do anything to improve the sanitary condition of the city which had chosen him for its chief magistrate, at the very time when the smallpox was threatening the lives of its inhabitants and seriously injuring its trade. He could simply be got to do nothing. Dr. Davie, on the contrary, by his vigorous methods soon stopped the plague at very small cost, and saved Victoria and the Province from the calamity with which both were seriously threatened. Now the man who did nothing turns round and for political purposes, in order to make a point against the Government, attacks the man who did so much to save, not the city of Victoria only, but the Province at large from the serious calamity with which both were threatened. Mr. Beaven may be assured that the people of British Columbia are not quite so stupid as he supposes, that that they estimate him at his proper value, and despise his conduct both then and now as it deserves. They will, he may be sure, be in no hurry whatever to make a man who could not discharge the duties of mayor of Victoria with even common efficiency, Premier of the Province. He does very well to fill the position of leader of the Opposition, whose chief duty it is to carp and find fault, but they will take good care never again to place him or any of his followers in a higher and more responsible position.

THE REPORT from Monte Video that all the vessels of the Brazilian Government fleet, except the dynamite cruiser Nichtheroy, have joined the insurgents ought to be decisive of the result of the war, if it is confirmed by later news. It is evident that President Peixoto is hard pressed as it is, notwithstanding the stories circulated by the Americans to the effect that the insurgents are practically on their last legs, and that Peixoto is sure soon to win. If lying would win the fight, the Americans would soon achieve victory for him. It is one of the most remarkable facts connected with the war, that the Americans, with all their boasted love of freedom, should favor as they do a tyrant like Peixoto, who has been trying to make himself absolute under republican forms, and who has literally crammed the jails of Rio de Janeiro with persons who are only suspected of being opposed to him. He has also caused many persons to be mercilessly shot to death by his soldiers because it was suspected, or it may be proved, that they sympathised with the insurgents. If a man with the rank and style of king or emperor would dare to do such deeds as Peixoto has been guilty of there is not a paper in the United States which would not denounce him in the most unsparing terms as a cruel tyrant and murderer. But because Peixoto is nominally the president of a republic, the Americans sympathise with him, wish him success, and are silent when the atrocities he has committed are reported. It is a curious illustration of the old proverb, that one man may with impunity steal a sheep, where another man dare not for his life look across the hedge. The attitude assumed by the Americans in the matter of the civil war in Brazil is not creditable to their intelligence, especially as it is not even known for certain that the insurgents are fighting for the restoration of the empire in Brazil. They may be simply fighting, as they claim, to put down a military despotism. In any case, no despotism could be worse than that set up by Peixoto, and the rule of an emperor like Dom Pedro would without doubt or question be far better.

THE PROVINCIAL CAPITAL.

Parliament Has a Protracted Sitting —Chairman Martin Makes a Novel Ruling.

VICTORIA, Feb. 24.—[Special]—After the longest sitting on record the Provincial Legislature adjourned at half past one this afternoon, having been in continuous session for only half an hour short of the twenty-four. The latter half of the sitting proved quite sensational, the Opposition party had made up their minds to talk against time, and so delay the passage of the testimonials that the government would be forced into proceeding with the Redistribution Bill, the most important of the session. Before the supply had been voted, and yesterday afternoon when the committee of supply was formed for the first time, obstructive tactics commenced. The Government took the matter good naturedly until after midnight, when the inspiration came to some of the more knowing members to apply the closure according to the late usages of the British House of Commons, which are the same pattern as followed here. The attempt to put this plan into force caused a scene of great disorder, and the chairman of the committee had three times to call in Speaker Higgins to discipline the refractory members.

At one stage the Hon. Robert Beaven, the leader of the Opposition, created a sensation by threatening Chairman Martin, who had to be awakened from a sound sleep in his chair, that if he persisted in ruling as he had done, he would advertise through the length and breadth of the province that the disorders were caused "by the introduction of something into this building which should not be allowed within its walls."

Beaven is a cold-water man at 8 o'clock p. m.; in the morning Beaven left in high dudgeon, denouncing the Government members as a lot of blackguards because they would not consent to an adjournment.

The Government insisted on sitting until all the estimates, including two batches of supplementaries had been passed and in the last few hours they were put through with lightning rapidity. A new ruling was made by Chairman Martin in the early morning hours. Col. Baker, Provincial Secretary, having astounded the House by gravely asking the ruling on whether it is in order for a member to wipe his nose on his fingers. Mr. Kitchen, member from Chilliwack, having the floor, had to sit down while the chairman seriously ruled that it was quite in order for Kitchen to wipe his nose on his fingers if he saw fit.

The city council has determined to reduce by 15 per cent all official salaries over $100 per month, and by 7½ per cent. all between $60 and $100. Trustee Marchant also proposes to have a similar cut made in the salaries of city school teachers.

J. Murdock, John Cooper and A. Hill left this morning for the heardquarters of Peace river, where they expect to locate rich placer claims. They go equipped and supplied for two years.

PRENDERGAST SENTENCED.

Mayor Harrison's Murderer is Doomed at Last.—A Fellow Murderer Objects to be Hanged With Him.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 24.—Prendergast, who was to-day sentenced for the murder of Mayor Harrison, grew surlier as the day advanced after receiving his sentence. When a reporter called at the jail to-night and asked the assassin if he had anything to say regarding his sentence, he cried out: "No, not to reporters. I don't want to see reporters nor to talk to them. The press has no interest in me further than to get news out of me. The newspapers of Chicago are against me. No man is safe from vilification, abuse and personal attack from the newspapers. I have nothing to say to the press. It has plenty to say about me."

Thomas Higgins, sentenced to be hanged March 23 with Prendergast, was disgusted when he learned the news. "I have a notion to commit suicide," said the murderer and burglar. "When it comes my turn to shuffle off I want Irish hemp and a green shroud, but I draw the line on being compelled to pass out with Prendergast. Somehow I can't appreciate that fellow's greatness. Perhaps I am obtuse, anyway if I am allowed any voice in the matter I shall not line up on the scaffold with the man who killed Carter Harrison."

School of Penmanship.

The young man with a bad handwriting who seeks employment among business men finds there is no demand for his awkwardness at any price. Everyone who uses a pen should write legibly and attractively. There is no excuse in these days for a young person to write in a slovenly manner. This should be left to those of a past generation, who were educated before the days of business training schools. Here all of ordinary intelligence and application can acquire a good business handwriting, the value of which is not easy to compute.

The Nanaimo Business College has a special department of penmanship, at the head of which is Mr. J. R. Denneny, who is acknowledged to be not only one of the finest penman in the world, but one of the best teachers and developers of good penmanship in others.

LOCAL NEWS.

Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

Last night the Wellington Choral Society gave a most interesting entertainment at the Y. M. C. A Hall there being a large audience present. The songs given by Mrs. M. Harris and Miss Matthews, were particularly good and well deserved the encores that they received. The vocal solos by Mr. John Black and Mr. J. J. Thomas also received recalls. The quartette given by Messrs. J. J. Thomas, J. R. Barber, J. C. Hughes, and T. Noel, was most heartily received, and with different selections by the Wellington Male Voices, were recalled with great vigor. The instrumental selections were in each case well rendered and as evidence of the appreciation met with, were recalled. The large crowd that attended the concert was in all cases surprised at the excellence of the programme brought before them last night. Whilst the careful training of the voices present was exhibited in every instance during the evening. The many friends of the Wellington Choral Society, consider that they are to be most heartily congratulated on their splendid performance.

Election Items.

It is proposed that the next Provincial Government shall be a thoroughly representative one, where not only labor shall be represented but every particular branch of business.

In view of the fore going, it has been suggested that Mr. Thompson of the I. X. L. stable shall stand for the livery interests at the next election

Mr. Hugh Dempsey of the Windsor House will *im*probably make a platform in the Hostelries interest.

There is a general consensus of opinion that Mr. Brown of the Box Clothing Store will outfittingly represent gents' furnishings, and will not only improve the address of the house but also its dress.

Barney, of the Cigar Box, and "Peanut Charley," of the al fresco lunch buffet, have also been mentained as probable candidates for their particular callings, but, their views on the matter have not yet been ascertained.

To accomodate all these suggested aspirants, there will be several ridings, and riders, added to the city and district.

CHURCHES TO-DAY.

KASLO!!

KOOTENAY LAKE, B.C.

IS COMING TO THE FRONT WITH A BOUND

It is the center of the Silver-Lead Mining Industry of the famous Slocan Region, which is now sending $75,000 worth of Ore to Kaslo per week for shipment to the American smelters.

Mining men from all parts of the world say that it is the richest silver district known. The progress of development work in the mines verifies this statement.

Thousands of men will be employed in these mines. The natural base of supplies is Kaslo, which is admirably adapted for the purpose, being a beautiful townsite, situated on a bay possessing excellent shipping advantages.

The right of way for the Kaslo-Slocan Railway has been cleared, and the bridge foundations have been put in place, so that the work of grading and track-laying may proceed at the earliest possible moment after the snow disappears.

The growth of Kaslo last year was very considerable. It is now an incorporated town, having a population of 2,000 people. That this population will be doubled before the end of the present year is unquestioned.

Kaslo offers to investors a most promising field. The opening up of the mines tributary to it must build up Kaslo. The development of these mines is now in progress. Many others will be worked as soon as easily accessible. An investment in a Kaslo lot will pay you handsomely.

The space below is reserved for the latest news from the Kaslo-Slocan District.

LATEST, FEBRUARY 22nd, 1894:

KASLO-SLOCAN.

(From the Kaslo-Slocan Examiner.)

Seventy-five teams are at present bringing down and hauling out ore

The assessment roll is now complete. The valuation of Kaslo property is placed at the low figure of $350,000, which at the assessed rate of 15 mills on the dollar gives the city $5,250

S. S. Bailey, manager of the Payne group of mines, is taking out some fine ore from the Mountain Chief claim. (This is not George Hughes' Mountain Chief.) Some assays show 250 ounces in silver, while picked specimens have gone as high as 1,000 ounces in silver.

Despite the drop in silver, everything goes on as usual in the Slocan, and all speak hopefully of the future. Cameron and McDonald have contracted to rawhide and bring down 500 tons of ore from the Grady group on Four Mile Creek to the shore of Slocan Lake at Silvertown. They are now putting up the necessary buildings for their outfit and making a trail. A good rawhide trail has been made to the Payne mine, and 100 tons of ore is being brought down to the Three Forks. This mine was the first located in the camp and the ore is very rich, the owners are Scott, McDonald and S. S. Bailey.

The Noble Five mine is now sending down a carload of specially picked ore, which the owners claim will exceed anything that has yet been shipped from the camp. The Noble Five is still owned and worked by the original locators, Jack McGuigan is the business manager, and the brothers Hennesy are in charge at the mine. They have certainly got one of the biggest bonanzas in the camp, and unless they got a very big offer indeed, it is probable that they will hold on to it.

It is reported that the Finch outfit has struck four feet of rich ore at the Virginius in White Water Basin. They have run in an 89-foot tunnel in two months. Owners of other claims in the White Water are jubilant over it. The C. P. R. surveyors are now surveying the townsite of Three Forks. The snow is making their work very laborious.

KASLO! KASLO!

DELIGHTS OF DINING.

HOW EASILY THE SPELL OF SOLEMN ENJOYMENT MAY BE BROKEN.

Dishes That From Their Peculiarly Subtle and Lonely Character Demand Attention, Reverence and Silence—An Epicure's Serious Affliction.

For my thorough appreciation of a large and good dinner I am, I believe, indebted to my father. He was a great diner, and it is well known that the finest qualities of the English race are hereditary. My father suffered from gout, and the doctors, who are a mass of prejudices, tell me that I also have got it. However, I am thankful to say that I know my own constitution. What is really the matter with me is a sort of cold accompanied by inflammation in one toe. It arises, I should say, from overwork. Old port is good for it.

A fine appreciation of dinner should be accompanied by a large income. When my father died of apoplexy (brought on by a quarrel with his cook, who was a fair instance of talent as distinct from genius), I succeeded to his position in the firm, and to an income which even in the city is considered to be fairly large. I love largeness. I love large incomes, large houses, large appetites, large waistcoats, large dinners. I can never be too thankful that I can well afford large dinners. It was always my ambition to be, like my father, a great diner, and it would be but false humility to say that I shall die without having earned the reputation.

I distinguish between the diner and the diner out. I do not want to be uncharitable, but I have no high opinion of the diner out. He does not, as a rule, take the dinner itself quite seriously. He is liable to show an interest in the women whom he takes in or in the conversation. Now, life is too short for that division of interests; we only have time to do one thing well. Let dinner be that one thing. I say, dine—merely dine. That is enough. Do that well, and you have the best delight that this world can give you. As for conversation, I despise it.

Now, there was the case of Charles Nutcomb. He was with us at one time and might for family reasons have come into a small partnership. It would not have been much—some £3,000 a year—but ample for a young and unmarried man who is willing to exercise ordinary care. Charles was a diner out, and for family reasons I once asked him to dine with me, although in a general way I will not have young men at my table. At the very moment when we were eating a vol-au-vent that from its peculiarly subtle and lovely character demanded the eater's attention, reverence and silence—at that very moment. Charles Nutcomb was tactless enough to tell a story. It caused noisy laughter. It, if I may use the phrase, completely broke the spell. It was like whistling in church. However, it was not in consequence of this indiscretion alone that I finally decided to get rid of Nutcomb. He refused port. A man who refuses port—my port—is a fool and consequently unfit to be a partner in Gorgbury & Pigge. A fortnight afterward I managed to make some excuse for getting him out of office. I feel positively certain that he would have embezzled money if he had remained. His after career only confirmed my low opinion of him. He went completely to the dogs—became an author, in fact.

But I am not unduly devoted to wine. Indeed I sometimes wonder whether I am more fond of that or of the solid part of the dinner. Both are good. Both bring out all that is best in a man. The feeling of gratitude, for instance, is commendable. It is impossible to think much about the commonest viands—asparagus, the simple oyster, or even a cut from a perfect saddle of mutton—without feeling grateful. Then, too, dinner promotes the kindly spirit. When I lie back in my chair after dinner, breathing stertorously, my temper becomes kindly to the verge of fatuousness.

When in the morning a clerk arrives an hour late and makes some paltry excuse—that his wife is dead, or some nonsense of that sort—I of course dismiss him at once. But if I were to defer my decision until the evening I should very likely confine myself to fining him a week's salary. If it were his first offense, and my dinner had been particularly good, I might even let him off with a reprimand. That is the reason why I do no business under any pretext after dinner. It is all very well to feel kindliness, but one has to be careful that the feeling shall not influence one's actions.

How inseparable from our dearest delights are our deepest sorrows! I have but one serious affliction, the great soup—the soup of the city—has not a real attraction for me. It is richly expensive; it is hallowed by a thousand historical associations; it has brought ecstasy to the hearts of men with larger incomes than I shall ever possess, but to me it is almost a closed book. Sometimes when I am eating it at a city banquet I feel as if I could see afar off its perfect meaning and catch dim glimpses of its superb generosity. But that is all. I cannot love it as I know that it ought to be loved.

Heretofore I have kept my affliction a secret, but last night, when Thomas Pigge and I were dining with the Fendermakers (one of the 12 principal companies), I noticed that he was watching me. He saw that I did not really understand that soup. However, I am not afraid that Thomas Pigge will ever dare to reproach me for this. He also has his weak point, and, as he is aware, I know it. He is quite unorthodox on the subject of sauce hollandaise. He has a theory as to the correct preparation of it which can only be characterised as dangerous and revolutionary.

But I must pause. I hear the gong, waking gently and sleeping as gently again. Blessed sound! Blessed, blessed dinner! I write no more! I go!—Henry Pain in London Illustrated News.

DANGER IN WRITING.

EXPERTS SAY THAT SLANTING SCRIPT CAUSES DISEASE.

A Movement In Favor of Vertical Script Backed by the Highest Medical Authorities—Results of Extensive Experiments With School Children.

The method of writing taught in modern schools and practiced by 99 people out of every 100 has been declared dangerous and unhealthful by experts. By the time the next generation matures it will probably have been wiped out. The script then will be vertical instead of slanting, and writers will sit square and upright before their work instead of sideways and stooped, as at present.

The idea of this prospective reform originated in Germany and overspreads England while reaching this country. The following resolution was adopted not long ago by the international congress of school hygiene in London by a vote of 229 against 1:

Whereas, The hygienic advantages of vertical writing have been clearly shown and established both by medical investigation and practical experience, and

Whereas, Its introduction obviates those pernicious positions of the body which entail rachitic diseases and myopia,

Resolved, That we recommend the introduction of vertical writing in the schools of the people.

The effect of so serious an action in a country esteeming proper physical conditions as England esteems them is readily to be imagined.

The corresponding movement in the United States is led by Dr. Burnham of Clark university. His investigations have brought the conviction that the ordinary position in writing is among the foremost conditions of school life and methods of training which must be changed in the interest of health. The vertical script, therefore, is strongly recommended. From 80 to 90 per cent of lateral curvature of the spine is found to be caused in school life, the curvature in a large per cent of these cases being toward the right side, as a result of a defective position in writing, and the eyes at the same time are seriously injured by this slanted writing.

The practical advance of the newly approved system in this country is illustrated in the Worcester normal school and the Workingmen's school at Fifty-fourth street in this city, directed by Professor Adler, where the vertical writing is used in the lower grades and now carried on to the fourth and fifth grades.

The observations of foreign physicians showing that the prevalence of myopia and spinal curvature is regularly increased in the advance through the school grades are supplemented in this country by work on novel lines. An energetic course followed by Dr. Shaw of the University of the City of New York has given additional proof that the cause of the difficulty is to be attributed to the desks which are generally in use, and more especially to the bad position in writing, the opinion being held with apparent unanimity by investigators in this country as well as abroad that all but two positions to be taken in the school practice of writing are improper. One judged to be correct is the oblique central position and the other the straight central position, between which in reference to final choice the controversy in Germany is said to be fierce.

The advocates of reform observe that the child writes vertically when he first goes to school, and that the teacher has to work for the slant. The vertical writing and the central position at the desk are alike naturally indicated. At this stage the controversy has led to the conclusion that the height of the desk and that of the seat must be equally adapted to the growth of the pupil. In some of the progressive schools, as Felix Adler's and at South Orange, N. J., adjustable seats are being used.

The point in Dr. Shaw's recent experiments, made with the aid of several assistants on more than 1,300 pupils in the New York and suburban schools, has been to see whether, with the paper directly in front of the pupil and with the eyes closed, there could be any tendency toward vertical writing. The pupils were first requested to take the customary position in writing, and to write in the ordinary manner the sentence, "John is flying his paper kite." This form of exercise was selected on account of the number of long letters which it contains, and as being one also that is easy for the child to remember. After having thus written the sentence, the pupil was directed to take the straight central position, dip his pen in the ink and with his eyes closed to write the same again.

The closing of the eyes was to eliminate from the child's mind the consciousness of the slant. The angle of slant in all the long letters in the test papers was carefully measured, the angle of slant in the usual writing in each case being also found with the same precision. The measurements and the calculations ran up to 8,600 items, and among other issues of the work was the invention by a lady of a machine for making the measurements.—New York Press.

THE ART OF SHOPPING

The art of shopping is not necessarily to make at all times a good bargain, but to secure a fair equivalent of the money spent, and to be able to do this with the least expenditure of time and tr uble

A GOOD BARGAIN

Is distinguished from a cheap bargain, but in these days of bargains and bargain-days, when from one end of Canada to the other—yea, and the United States, too—the newspapers are crying bargains—and we read about bargains in this thing, and bargains in that thing, when bargains are by many more to be sought after than wisdom, and when every dealer in the country from the "peanut vendor" to the "merchant prince" calls everything a bargain—in these days it is not so easy to distinguish a good bargain from the cheap one.

THE RESULT OF SHOPPING

Should be a feeling of satisfaction with the goods purchased. A sense of having accomplished what you set out to do, and that in a reasonable and sensible manner. Not a tired-to-death feeling, and an uncertainty as to whether that forty nine cent article was worth fifty cents after all.

WE SAY THAT THE WOMAN

Who desires to make an art of shopping will fasten her faith to the store that proposes to give her always the cash value for her money. It is for the trade of all who desire good bargains, as we distinguish them, that we work.

The Newcastle Townsite residents and others in the locality, are greatly exercised in their minds at the action of the scavenger, who has been dumping the contents of his cart into the Millstone stream from the bridge. It will be remembered that there was considerable expression of feeling on this matter some little time ago, and as the stream gets thoroughly polluted by the dumping of the cart it has been wondered why no action in this matter has been taken and some other place provided, or at any rate the present prohibited from such usage.

LADIES ATTENTION!

AUCTION OF DRY GOODS!!

AUCTIONEERS.

I shall start on Saturday, Feb. 10th, to clear out by Auction the entire stock of Dry Goods, Millinery, Mantles and Men's Furnishings, latelty bought from Mr. A. A. Richardson at a ridiculously low price previous to making an entire change in my business. I have secured the services of Mr. Dufour, an Auctioneer of over 20 years' experience in England and Canada, to conduct the auction branch of my business.

The Public of Nanaimo know that this stock is composed of really useful and serviceable goods, and this will offer them an opportunity of purchasing at their own prices. I ask one and all to be at the WESTEND on Saturday, Monday and following days, when the whole stock will be offered without reserve. Sale from 2 to 5 each day.

MEN'S ATTENTION! Auction of Stock of Mr. James Caldwell.

We have received instructions from Mr. James Caldwell to Auction the whole of his well assorted stock of Men's Furnishings and Hats.

As Mr. Caldwell is going out of this line, and intends in the future to devote his entire attention to the Tailoring branch of his business, the whole of this stock will be offered without reserve.

Sale on Saturday, Monday and following nights from 7 to 10.
