Daily British Columbian

Tuesday Evening, August 23, 1887.

Henry Labouchere, the distinguished editor of London Truth, evidently has a poor opinion of Prince Ferdinand, of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, who is anxious to call himself Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria. According to the somewhat forcible description of the London editor, Ferdinand is "a poor, insignificant, weak creature about as fit to govern a country as a sickly black beetle." This testimonial to the ability of their new ruler will probably be received with enthusiasm by the Bulgarians.—ex.

The existence has recently been discovered of a detestable microbe which feeds upon iron with as much gluttony as the phylloxera upon the vine. Some time ago the greatest consternation existed among the engineers employed on the railway at Hagen by the accidents occurring at the same place, proving that some terrible defect must exist either in the material or the construction of the rails. The German Government directed an inquiry to be made and a commission of surveillance to be formed for the purpose of maintaining constant watch at the spot where the accidents—one of them attended with loss of life—had occurred. It was not, however, until after six months had elapsed that the surface of the rails appeared to be corroded, as if by acid, to the extent of 100 yards. The rail was taken up and broken, and it was perceived that it was literally hollowed out by a thin grey worm, to which the qualification of "railoverous" was assigned, and by which name it is to be classed in natural history. The worm is said to be two centimeters in length and of the size of the prong of a silver fork in circumference. It is of a light grey color and on the head carries two little glands filled with a corrosive secretion, which is ejected every ten minutes upon the iron. The liquid renders the iron soft and spongy, and of the color of rust, and it is then greedily devoured by the insects. "There is no exaggeration," says the official report of the commission, "in the assertion that this creature, for its size, is one of the most voracious kind, for it has devored thirty-six kilogrammes of rail in a fortnight." — Cologne Gazette.

Further news of the arrest of the murderers of the crew of the schooner Seabird and Dring and Miller are at hand. It seems that at Gowland Harbour the constables and Indian guides went ashore and endeavored to find an Indian named Humpnet, who is wanted for assulting Constable Stewart. They did not find him, however, and went to McRae's camp, where after a severe struggle, in which Constable Miller was badly handled, they overpowered the Indians and took three of them aboard. Following is a statement made by Narculmalam subsequent to the finding of the cooking utensils, etc.: He said that almost a year ago last July he saw Klah-qun-kan and another Indian (name withheld) chopping up a small schooner in this slough, and he was afraid at the time and did not go near them or let them see him. He afterwards returned and told Klah-qun-kan what he had seen and that Indian offered him $50 if he would not say anything about what he saw. He said they had killed three white men—one of them a one-armed man. One of the men was shot and the other two were killed with an axe. At the time the white men were ashore in a state of intoxication, but the Indians were perfectly sober. The Indians stated that they had procured $100 in bank notes from the sloop, part of which they afterwards expended in whisky. The informant had also heard from other Indians that they had seen three human skulls on the bank near to where the other human bones were found. At Cameron's camp the constables arrested Klah-qun-kan, who is supposed to be implicated in the murder of the Seabird's crew. Yesterday morning the prisoners were brought up before the provincial court, and the case was continued until Thursday next. The clothing which was found, and which is said to have belonged to Henry Moore, was fully identified by his wife, who resides in this city. Nothing has yet been heard of the witness who jumped overboard at Salt Spring Island and made good his escape, although Officer J. Flewin is searching for him. — Colonist, Aug. 20.

When Manitoba has become bankrupt trying to build railways for which there is no traffic, her premier will come down to Ottawa asking for a bigger subsidy. And then Sir John will look wise, and remark, "My dear sir, I am very sorry for you; but you know we cannot cheque Manitoba."—Ex.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 22.—The city presented an extraordinary spectacle this morning owing to the flooded condition of the streets. The rain of last night was the heaviest of the season and inundated many streets rarely flooded. Shops are being pumped out.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Several liberal members of the house of commons have joined the Irish National League.

A BIG SUIT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—The city and county of San Francisco has commenced suit against Andrew J. Itsells, the German savings bank, and about 300 individual defendants, to recover property held by the defendants, but which is claimed by the municipal authorities as a public square. The suit is in the form of an ejectment, alleging that prior to December, 1883, and for many years prior thereto, the municipality was owner in fee simple of the property and that the defendants had unlawfully taken possession of it. The answer of the defendants was that there was no cause of action. The case is important, and if the city should win it will restore property valued at present at nearly $300,000 to the municipality, but at the same time it will deprive several hundred people of their homes which they bought in good faith and under ordinances of the board of supervisors. The case will be tried next Thursday.

PACIFIC STEAMSHIP CO.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The Pacific Steamship Co's. executive commissioner decided to-day to resume the payment of dividends. The directors meet Wednesday and will declare a dividend of 1 per cent. It was decided inexpedient to reduce the capital stock from 20 to 10 million. The reconstruction of the company is under way and strong people will be added to the board of directors. The resignations of a number of directors are already practically in hand.

CHOLERA RAVAGES.

ROME, Aug. 22.—In Catania during the past 24 hours there have been 19 deaths from cholera; in, Palermo 17 new cases and 11 deaths. In Capan only a few new cases are reported.

GEORGE DENOUNCED BY SOCIALISTS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—There was a large meeting of Socialists at Cooper union this evening called to denounce the action of Henry George. Speeches were made and resolutions were adopted denouncing George, his platform and his followers. Every mention of his name was a signal for hisses and cheers. The red flag was carried into the hall and waved from the platform amid great applause.

THE FRENCH ARMY.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—It is understood that the 25th or 26th instant, will be the day appointed for the experiment of the mobilization of a French army corps.

THIS AFTERNOON'S DESPATCHES.

INFORMATION OF THE BEHRING SEIZURES

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 23.—The fisheries department have received information of the seizure of more Canadian sealing vessels in the north Pacific ocean by the U. S. cruisers. It is learned that the commanders of U. S. cruisers in the Alaska service have been ordered to seize all sealing vessels found in the Behring sea, unless they are the property of the Alaska Fur Co.

MURDERERS TO BE EXTRADITED.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—Application for the extradition of two half-breeds recently arrested in Montana, on suspicion of having been concerned in the murder of Hector McLeish, near Wolsley, N. W. T., has been made to Washington.

FROM A FRENCH POINT OF VIEW.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The Republique Francaise says: "An entente cordiale between England and France could be easily secured if England were willing to stop the absurd calumnies and rodomontades of the Australian." England, who has divided New Guinea with Germany, cannot afford the annexation of the New Hebrides to France, but she can demand that France shall not send their recidivists and convicts there. A mutual exercise of good will would banish the present irritation which ought never to exist.

DESTRUCTIVE CLOUD BURSTS.

SOCORRO, N.M., Aug. 23.—Reports from near Hillsboro are to the effect that that portion of the Black Range has been visited by destructive cloud bursts. One caught Thos. Edwards, his 8-year old son and another man whose not ascertained while they were crossing the Dry Arroyo in a wagon, drowning the entire party.

LABOR FIGHT.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 23.—A posse of church members went to the works of the Susquehanna Coal Co. at Nanticoke Sunday to prevent the payment of the company's laborers. The ministers here have frequently preached against such desecration of the Sabbath and sent a posse out to put a stop to it. The result pas a disastrous collision occurred with the 300 miners and a free fight ensued. The men furiously engaged in battle with sticks, stones and clubs for weapons. The riot lasted half an hour and many men we struck down. Dozens were carried away upon improvised stretchers with cracked and bleeding heads. To-day it is reported more than 60 of the rioters were seriously hurt, many fatally. An investigation will be made with possible arrests.

RENT BY EARTHQUAKES.

BENSON, Arizona, Aug. 23.—A party of men arrived yesterday from San Bernardino Ranch, 70 miles south of here, near the Sonora line. They say the country in that vicinity has been so broken up by the late earthquakes that travelling is about impossible and stackmen have the greatest difficulty in gathering their cattle. Earthquakes occur daily and the ground is so cut up with fissures that a person can't move except in day and on foot. Thousands of springs have been created. There is an abundance of water in places where it hitherto has been scarce.

Mr. W. McGuire, merchant, of Franklin, writes: "I was affected with pain in my shoulder for eight years—almost helpless at times—have tried many remedies, but with no relief, until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. After a few applications the pain left me entirely, and I have had no pain since. Do not take Electric or Electron Oils, but see that you get Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil."

THE INJUNCTION.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 21.—The first blow has been struck against the Red River Valley Railway. An injunction to restrain the contractors from crossing certain lots on the line owned by one Browning, an agent of the C. P. R., was applied for and granted yesterday. The best legal talent in the province was engaged by the C. P. R. and worked on the case all night. The application was ex-parte, and stands until next Wednesday, when a motion will be made to continue it. The complaint sets forth that land was graded to within a short distance of the lots, the intention of the contractors being to cross them forthwith, and that unless an injunction was issued at once a dump would be constructed and the value of the lots seriously impaired. Security for costs was promptly put up by the Canadian Pacific Railway's lawyers.

WINNIPEG ON ITS MUSCLE.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company on Saturday applied for and obtained an injunction against Premier Norquay, Commissioner of Railways, Dr. Wilson, Minister of Public Works, and different contractors of the Red River Valley Road. At a meeting of the Cabinet, it has been decided to lay the rails and ties despite the injunction, and if any forcible resistance is offered the Government will be backed by 50,000 citizens, or all that are wanted. Hundreds drove out to-day to view the piece of work across the lots for which an injunction was issued.

THE ROAD WILL BE FINISHED.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 22.—The only thing of note occurring in connection with the Red River railroad matter to-day was the attempt of the sheriff to compel the graders to destroy the fences they had erected. The sheriff was afterwards ordered by the local government to serve the injunction papers on pain of dismissal. The road will be graded to the boundary this week. The government is determined to continue the work to completion.

PREPARING FOR FORCIBLE RESISTANCE.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23.—Nothing is being talked of in the city save the railway situation. The contractors who defied the injunction are the heroes of the hour and are receiving congratulations on all hands. Already the people are preparing to organize for a forcible resistance and are casting about for a leader. Among those spoken of are Capt. White, who led his company through the Saskatchewan rebellion J. S. Brock, a prominent opponent of disallowance, and Mr. Hamilton, the present attorney-general. Big preparation is being made for the legal fray which commences on Wednesday, when application will be made to continue the injunction.

IT WILL BE BUILT.

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—Premier Norquay, of Manitoba, arrived here yesterday and left for the States this morning. He stated emphatically that no matter where or by whom obstacles were placed in the way of constructing the railway, it will be built, no matter what the consequences may be.

Mr. Henry Harding, of Toronto, writes: My little daughter, 7 years of age, has been a terrible sufferer this winter from rheumatism, being for weeks confined to her bed, with limbs, drawn up, which could not be straightened, and suffering great pain in every joint of limbs, arms and shoulders. The best of physicians could not help her, and we were advised to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which we did, and the benefit was at once apparent; after using two bottles the pain left, her limbs assumed their natural shape, and in two weeks she was as well as ever. It has not returned.

Daily British Columbian

Tuesday Evening, August 23, 1887.

All eyes are now turned to the railway war in Manitoba, and every new development is eagerly read and warmly discussed. It would be useless to deny that public sympathy in this country, as well as in Manitoba, is almost unanimously in favor of the people of the prairie province as against the C. P. R. It is felt that the right to construct competing roads should be clearly within the hands of the people, and that any attempt to interfere with that right ought to be resented. The people of Manitoba must be the best judges of their own interests, and the disallowance of their railway charter meets with disapproval on all sides.

People sometimes think there is a want of courtesy visible in the remarks of our city fathers when assembled in their official capacity. As a matter of fact the utterances of these gentlemen are usually of a most unobjectionable character. At long intervals the even current of affairs may be ruffled by the breath of brewing storms, but these eccentricities merely give spice to that which might otherwise become monotonous. But for rough-and-tumble debate and lofty, reckless kicking, the Victoria city council must be awarded first place. Semi-occasionally civic affairs in the capital city come to a dead lock, and the council chambers are transformed into a veritable bear-garden. One of these occasions occurred at the last meeting. A little while ago Mayor Fell refused to put a resolution of which he did not approve. At the last meeting Coun. Higgins proposed a resolution in which a paragraph occurred virtually censuring the mayor. It was, in fact, equal to a motion of want of confidence. This also his worship declined to put, declaring it out of order, and ordering its mover and supporters to sit down. The scene that followed is remarkable even in the history of this very remarkable body. The mayor shouted and banged his desk in a vain attempt to stifle discussion, and between him and those who were opposed to him the exchange of compliments was such as would invigorate a London fish-wife. The doctrine that a presiding officer need not put a motion of which he disapproves is quite new. But Victoria is fond of novelty and is wonderfully singular in its knowledge of legal technicalities. The present dead-lock reminds one of the days of Carey, when it became a serious question among citizens whether the mayor ought to be hanged or the council put into the lunatic asylum.

It is, perhaps, not always safe to accept without question the cablegrams received by the American press. British opinion has before now been sadly misrepresented by the prejudices of those whose business it is to gather it for transmission across the Atlantic. But if any faith at all can be placed in information thus received, one must come to the conclusion that the attitude of the British people towards the Irish question is undergoing a rapid and positive change. The by-elections undoubtedly point to this, for they are becoming almost uniformly disastrous to the government and favorable to Mr. Gladstone. Moreover, the proclamation of the Irish league seems to have been the signal for serious disaffection among the Liberal-Unionists. Just before the last general election it seemed as if Mr. Gladstone had almost reached the point where he could enforce the policy which seemed to him best suited to the peculiar circumstances of Ireland. But the result was a disappointment, for the Gladstone party was left hopelessly in the minority, and the prospect of a permanent settlement of the Irish question seemed indefinitely postponed. The coalition of the Liberal-Unionists with the Tories resulted in a combination against Mr. Gladstone so powerful that every one began to despair of seeing the great reformer reach the end of his plans for the adjustment of Irish grievances. All this seems to be changing now. The solid support of the government is crumbling away, and public sentiment throughout the nation is making known its desire for a change of the national policy. The disaffection of Chamberlain is an incident the influence of which no one can accurately estimate. With him others are sure to go, and we may expect presently to find the government in a minority and the Liberal leader once more called upon to take the helm of the ship of state. If Gladstone and Chamberlain can agree upon a definite policy acceptable to the Parnellites, the march of reform will be quickened, and the grave will not close upon the Grand Old Man before he has achieved one of the greatest and most difficult triumphs of his life.

Mr. T. C. Wells, Chemist and Druggist, Port Colborne, Ont., writes: "Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure sells well, and gives the best of satisfaction for all diseases of the blood." CUBA.

Cuba is one of the most interesting countries of the world; its history has furnished many writers with a thrilling subject, yet very little is known, by the ordinary reader, of the island, beyond the bare facts that it is the largest in the West Indian group, that its size is about the same as our own country, and its staple products are sugar, coffee, and tobacco. Its prosperity depends entirely upon the last named industry, for the depreciation of sugar threatens to make its export by no means profitable.

Travellers speak in glowing terms of the beauty of the country, but the finest view is gained from the sea. The northern shore of Cuba is lined with hills, whose lower slopes are dotted with white houses, which extend, without any intervening beach or sand, to the water's edge. The Morro Castle, at the entrance of Havana Harbor, appears like a mass of dun-colored rock, tower and battlement so mingled that the eye can scarcely distinguish which is castle and which is crag. From its summit floats the Spanish flag, blood red and gold. In front, standing in the sea like a sentinel on guard, is the Morro lighthouse.

Havana is the principal town of Cuba, and possesses a fine harbor, which is always crowded with vessels of all countries, from the British ironclad to the small native skiffs with their lateen sails, on which is often seen a full-length representation of San Cristobal, the patron saint of Havana.

The view of the town from the harbor is most picturesque—the quay swarming with sunburnt natives in nightcaps of scarlet, yellow, and striped, from under which their dark eyes gleam; gaudy sashes tied round their loins, bare-legged and bare-armed, with shirts thrown open at the necks, all talking, gesticulating, and amicable; in the background the gray, crumbling bastions forming a strong contrast to the houses, which are painted, in Cuban fashion, all the colors of the rainbow.

Havana is a splendid and wealthy city, but by no means a model one. Its streets are dirty, tortuous, and narrow, though the narrowness is, in some ways, an advantage, as it tends to make the streets more shady. The accommodation of the town is poor. Augustus Sala declares that it is worse off for hotels than any other city in the civilized world. It has been said that in no other city is living so costly, and the tradesmen certainly charge most exorbitant prices. They have evidently borrowed their business habits from Oriental lands, for however small the purchase, they expect to be beaten down, always anticipating a tussel over the price. It is very unusual in Cuba to put the name of the proprietor of a shop over the entrance; a sign being used—not pictorial, as in England and America, but an inscription implying some ethical allusion, such as "La Rectitud," "La Integridad," "La Probidod," "La Conscien-cia;" a favorite sign was affixed to a shop for selling lucifer matches — "La Explosion."

Fruit is very plentiful, and of fine quality, in Cuba. Oranges are as abundant as acorns in a British forest. That they have some monetary value we may know from the fact that at nearly every street corner may be found an orange-vendor, but it is infinitesimal, and in exchange for the smallest coin of the country, hands, pockets, and hat too, will be filled with the golden fruit.

They are never charged for in the hotel bill, and a dozen will be brought to the traveller if he but complain of thirst. A Cuban going to a bull-fight, generally takes a store in a handkerchief, from which he may refresh himself and have a stock of missiles ready to throw at a cowardly bull or an unfortunate toreadore. In the Spanish dictionary there is positively a verb, "to pelt with oranges."

One of the peculiarities of Cuba is the volante, an equipage only to be found in this island, and possessing the easiest and most delightfully exhilarating motion. It is a kind of high gig with a very small body, hung on immense springs, surmounted by a large hood. Stretched from the hood to the apron is an awning of some dark material to protect the eyes of the occupant from the glaring sun. The wheels are immense, and the shafts so exceedingly long that there is a great distance between the vehicle and the horse. To keep a volante is a sign of respectability, and the luxury which, next to a cigar and a bull-fight, is dearest to the Cuban heart.

The consumption of tobacco in Cuba is almost incredible. Every man, woman, and child is addicted to smoking, and cigars play quite an important part in Cuban hospitality. Mr. Ballou says: "At the tables d'hote of an hotel it is not unusual to see a Cuban take a few whiffs of a cigarette between the several courses, and lights are burning close at hand to enable him to do so. If a party of gentlemen are invited to dine together, the host so orders it that a packet of the finest cigarettes is frequently passed to his guests, with a lighted taper, in the course of the meal, and at its close some favorite brand of the more substantial cigar is furnished to all. Tobacco is consumed on every occasion, in the council-chamber, the court, at funerals, in the domestic circles, at feasts, and on the out-door drives. The slave and his master, the maid and her mistress, boy and man—all, all smoke."

The greatest cigar factory of Cuba is that known as the Cabana, but it is very difficult to get a genuine "Cabana" cigar in Cuba, for they are so largely exported. England takes a larger percentage than any other country, California comes next. The cigarettes of La Honrades are famous, and certainly the proprietors seem conscious of their merits, for on the little chromo-lithographed wrapper which surrounds each bundle of cigarettes you may read the motto: "Mis hechos me justificaran"—"My works shall justify me."

Upon the sugar and tobacco plantations and in the cigar factories many Chinese are employed. There are over two hundred thousand of these coolies in Cuba, who take the place of the slaves, and like many other substitutes, are more difficult to manage and more troublesome than the original article. The coolies in Cuba do not maintain their national peculiarities in so marked a degree as they do in California and in the United States; they frequently let their hair grow, adopt the West Indian habiliments, allow themselves to be baptized, and assume Christian names.

Slavery is almost abolished in the island. By a recent edict, which each year frees one slave out of every four, the year 1888 will see the last of slavery in Cuba. There are now 300,000 free negroes in the island, and on the 27th of July, 1886, the Spanish Parliament authorized the Government to free as soon as possible 26,000 Cuban slaves who still remained under the protection of their masters. The President of the Chamber of Deputies, in congratulating Parliament, declared amidst loud applause, that this resolution was the crowning of the glorious work of the abolition of slavery.

Mr. Ballou, in his recently published history of Cuba—"Due South," states his conviction that "the hope of Cuba is in its union with the United States;" and Mr. Sala has long ago uttered the same idea. The Spaniards have done little for the country; slavery, corruption, with the introduction of their national and brutal games, bull-fighting and cock-fighting, are the chief features of their domination. We may still truthfully apply to the class of Spaniards settled in Cuba the opinion expressed by Cervantes: "The island is the refuge of the profligates of Spain, a sanctuary of homicides, the skulking-place for gamblers and sharpers—a place of delusion to many, of amelioration to few." Castelar has called Cuba "the Campo Santo of the Spanish army," for it is reckoned that eighty per cent. of all the soldiers sent there have perished on the island.

Niagara's Tremendous Depth.

William Hosea Ballou says in the New York Times: "The mysterious and awful depth of Niagara's canon is a fruitful subject of comment. Some portions of it are reasonably supposed to be bottomless. When the railway-bridge was constructed here, some ambitious persons attempted to sound the canon directly beneath it. They filled a large tin pail with stones and lowered it with a rope. The current merely played with it. Then they took a strong cord, attached a bar of railway iron to it, which actually floated, owing to the fierce counter currents. A few years ago the United States Lakes' Survey came here, and as recorder of the survey, I know of the remarkable data obtained. We saw at once that the currents would buoy up a large sinker, and proposed to test the smallest possible weight. We took a lead weight in the form of a plumb-bob, weighing thirteen pounds, and attached it to a small but strong cord. Then we secured the services of one of the ferry boatmen and started out into the stream. The boatman was ordered to row as nearly under the falls as possible, and the result will never be forgotten by a member of the party in that skiff. As we approached, the roar became more and more terrible, until we were not only unable to hear, but the lips positively refused to open and utter a sound. For several days afterward some of the party were so deaf as to be unable to distinguish one word from another. The lead was cast first near the American falls, where bottom was found at 83 feet. Near the main falls we found 100 feet of water. Here the oarsman's strength failed, and the little craft began to dart down stream, At every cast of the lead the water grew deeper, until in front of the inclined railway the old guide and most of the party became terror-stricken, and refused to go further down stream. Here the lead told off 192 feet. We were then able to compute the depths lower down by simply ascertaining the width of the stream. Directly under the lower bridge the water narrows considerably, and deepens to 210 feet. Lower down, at the Whirlpool rapids, the gorge becomes very narrow, and the currents terribly fierce. Here the computed depth was 350 feet. One place in the gorge is still narrower, and would exceed a depth of 400 feet. When the depth of water is taken into consideration, the height of the canon walls above the surface must not be forgotten. These walls range from 260 to 360 feet in height, often perpendicular, so that the depths of the canon range from 350 to 700 feet.

Extreme Etiquette.

In Sweden, if you address the poorest person in the street, you must lift your hat. A gentleman passing a lady on the stairs of a hotel must do the same. To enter a store or bank with one's hat on is a terrible breach of good manners. When a train leaves a platform, or a steamboat, or a pier, all the lookers-on lift their hats to the departing passengers and bow to them, a compliment returned by the travellers. In aristocratic circles in Persia, a visitor sends notice an hour or two before calling. If the visit is one of importance, notice is sent the previous day. As the visitor approaches the house the servants, on foot or mounted, come forth to meet him, and one returns with speed to announce his coming. According to his relative rank, the host meets him at the foot of the staircase, at the door or at the upper part of the room.

The question of seats is also one requiring the utmost circumspection in observing the various shades of rank. If the visitor's rank is superior to that of the host, the former is invited to occupy a sofa alone, at the upper corner, while the host sits on a chair or on the floor at the right. The left is more honorable than the right in Persia.

For a lady to lay her hand upon a lady friend's arm, is considered a very great and objectionable familiarity by an Italian. "Never touch the person, it is sacred," is an Italian proverb.

They have some very foolish customs in Holland, such as that, for instance, which compels a lady, whether alone or accompanied by other ladies, to avoid passing a club-house or other places of rendezvous for gentlemen. If a lady must needs enter a confectionary store, library, or other place where men naturally go, and finds a gentleman or two there, she feels compelled to retire as precipitately as if she had seen a case of smallpox. The men know this, but unless they have finished their business they will not retire. The lady retreats in the most undignified manner, and the human bear finishes his book or his chocolate, even though the lady is at the door waiting for him to leave.

Starving the Teeth.

Teeth are just as easily starved as the stomach, said a lecturer the other night. The fact is that you and your fathers have from generation to generation been industriously starving your teeth. In one way it is a blessing to have been born of poor parents. What food the poor give their children is of a variety that goes to make strong bones and teeth. It is the outside of the grains of all cereal food that contains the carbonate and phosphate of lime, and traces of other earthly salts, which nourish the bony tissues and build the frame up. If we do not furnish to the teeth of the young that pabulum they require, they cannot possibly be built up. It is the outside of corn, oats, wheat, barley and the like or the bran, so called, that we sift away and feed to the swine, that the teeth actually require for their proper nourishment. The wisdom of man has proven, his folly, shown in every succeeding generation of teeth, which become more and more fragile and weak.

Profits of General Grant's Book.

The $494,600 which Mrs. Grant has received from the sale of her husband's work represents seventy per cent. of the gross profits on the publication which have thus amounted to about $706,600. The gross receipts from the sale of the work have amounted to not far from $1,000,000. There have been sold 312,000 sets, at an average of probably $3 a set, which foots up $2,808,000 as a fair estimate of what the public has paid for this work. The skins of 7,000 goats and 20,000 sheep have been used for the covers of these volumns. The Book Buyer.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practicably impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, calculi, of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. It has been fully decided now to have the corner stones of the Masonic and Oddfellows block laid next Saturday. These two stones will be laid by the grand masters of the grand lodge, assisted by grand officers. It is expected that a large number of Masons and Oddfellows from various parts of the province will be present to take part in the ceremonies, which will be the most imposing of the kind ever witnessed in this city

Copies of this pamphlet may be had on application to the secretary, Mr. G. W. Chadsey, Sumas.

THE ROYAL CITY.—Rev. Hugh Johnston, B. D., who made a hurried visit to this city some months ago, speaks of it in the following language in a letter to the Toronto Mail: "The royal city looked beautiful, throned on its wooded heights, sloping gracefully down to the shores of the golden-sanded river which flows majestically at her feet. The signs of progress here since last we visited this country were quite as marked as those we witnessed in Victoria, and any who have fancied that Westminster was hopelessly side-tracked must reverse their judgment, for there is every prospect of the royal city maintaining to the end the proud position which she has occupied as the largest city on the mainland of British Columbia. We called upon several citizens all of whom maintain that the prosperity of their city was never more marked than it is to-day. If Vancouver is the salt water terminus of the C.P.R., Westminster must always remain the fresh water terminus."

REMEMBER!—Don't forget to remember the entertainment of the R. B. George Convention and Concert Co. in the Drill Shed to-morrow evening. The members of the convention will take part in this concert, and the doll brigade (composed of 30 little girls with 30 baby dolls) will give an exhibition of their expertness in baby spanking. The entertainment promises to be more than usually interesting.

Mind Your Dogs!

Now is the time to keep a lookout for your pet cur. The policemen are out on the warpath, armed with small lassooes, and should any dog be found without the brass tag upon him, in he goes to the pound. It seems that some people are of the opinion that if they have taken out a license for their dog they are not obliged to keep the tag on the animal. The police have instructions to catch all dogs found without a tag.

It appears the amount at stake is about $10,000. An injunction was granted accordingly, a copy of which will be seen in our advertising columns.

The Princes came to America from Asia on one of the steamers of the Pacific Mail. The party is all Siamese and composed as follows: Prince Devahoupe, Prince Kilza, Prince Rabi, Prince Prairto, Prince Chera, Siam; the Marquis de Montre, Thira Darim Raksa, Captain Thian, Nai Chau, Kim Viclute, Chau Bherin, Nia Chet, Mr. Williams and Mr. Loftus. He will remain until Saturday, when he returns again to the Springs. During the afternoon he was entertained by Mr. Chisholm, M. P. and driven around the city.

The Colonial Hotel.

In another column will be found the advertisement of Mr. Luke Pither of the Colonial Hotel. On April 1st last, our readers will remember, the management of the Colonial passed into the hands of Mr. Pither. Since then the present manager has had workmen constantly employed in refitting and renovating the hotel. All the rooms in the house have been kalsomined and re-carpeted. The halls and corridors have been repainted in a handsome fashion and varnished. The store formerly occupied by Mr. C. M. McNaughten as a jewelry store has been converted into a commodious office and reading room for the accommodation of guests. The billiard room has been handsomely refurnished and frescoed.

The Colonial is the largest hotel on the mainland of British Columbia. The hotel proper has a frontage of 60 ft. on Columbia st. and is 132 ft. deep. It contains 62 rooms, each commodious and well lighted. It also contains sample rooms, hot and cold baths, &c., which are free to patrons of the house. The table is supplied with all the luxuries of the season. The house is lighted with gas and is the headquarters for commercial men and tourists in the city. The present manager, Mr. Pither, formerly manager of the Occidental Hotel in Victoria, is a first class hotel man and understands how to cater to the wants of his guests. Mr. Pither has spared no expense to bring the Colonial up its present standing and merits the large patronage he receives.

City Council.

Meeting of the City Sages—The Dog Tax Discussed at Length—Various Other Matters Touched Upon.

The council met Monday night in the council chamber. Present, his worship Mayor Dickinson and Couns. Elliott, Curtis, Shiles, Bonson and Reid.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The mayor desired to call the attention of the council to the fact that already they had spent or contracted to spend about $4,000 in street improvements, and he pointed out that there was a scarcity of funds and already the general fund was exhausted.

The following tenders for street work were then read:

For work on Montreal and Fortescue sts., Eli Lauder, $700; E. D. Keith, $800; Middleton & Co., $850; J. Patterson, $390.

For work on Queens ave. and Park Lane: Middleton & Co., $950; John Patterson, $460; D. L. Smith, $800.

Coun. Curtis proposed that the tenders be laid on the table until next meeting.

Coun. Elliott, in amendment, moved that, as the specifications for Montreal st. were rather inexplicit, they be amended, while all tenders for work on Queens ave. and Park lane be laid over for six months. Carried.

A communication was then read from T. C. Atkinson, referring to the suspending of stationary signs over the street. Mr. Atkinson informed the council that if the sign in question could be shewn to be a nuisance the owner of the sign could be indicted. Further the council had power to pass a by-law regulating matters of this kind.

The city solicitor's report on paid and unpaid taxes was then read. According to it about $1000 in uncollected taxes yet remained to be paid to the city.

G. W. Gilley asked for leave to place building material on Columbia street, which was granted.

John Sprott asked for permission to use the agricultural grounds for the use of the Caledonian games, which was granted.

A communication was read from E. S Scoullar directing the attention of the council to a band of horses that nightly congregated opposite his residence and destroyed the sidewalks. He asked that some steps be taken to put an end to the nuisance.

BILLS AND ACCOUNTS.

The following bills and accounts were read:

B. Douglass and W. McColl, $150, referred to board of works; M. Davie, $15.75, ordered paid; F. Devlin, $7.50, referred to police committee; R. C. P. mills, $21.67, referred to board of works; W. Whitmare, $39.37, ordered pain; Guardian, $56.04, referred to finance committee; Peebles & Hockley, $7.35, ordered paid.

REPORTS.

The board of works asked for further time to bring in a report on the cost of widening lower Columbia street.

Geo. Turner presented a report on sidewalk grade on Royal ave. in front of T. L. Briggs' lots.

The clerk presented a petition from Mr. DesBracy, who bought three lots at a city auction, but now found he was unable to pay for them. He prayed that he might be allowed to drop one of the lots and any payments he might have made upon it be applied to other two. The council granted the wish of Mr. DesBracy.

The council went into committee on the loan repeal by-law; afterwards the by-law was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Scoullar's complaint about the horse nuisance was then referred to. Coun. Curtis thought a by-law should be enacted preventing all cows and horses from running at large.

Coun. Reid thought something should be done to allay this annoyance. Repeatedly he had been annoyed by roving herds of horses at night.

Frank Devlin, chief of police, then asked for information concerning the capture of dogs under the dog tax by-law. A policeman had lassooed a dog belonging to Peter Grant and impounded the animal. The owner of the dog had paid for a license but had neglected to fasten the tag on the dog.

The mayor then said that according to the by-law every dog was obliged to wear the tag.

Coun. Bonson asked if any provisions was made in case the dog lost the tag or had the same stolen from off his collar.

Finally, after much discussion, the council instructed the police to run in all dogs found on the streets without a tag. Mr. Grant's dog would be would be liberated this time and be warned to put the tag on the dog in future.

Council then adiourned.

Lytton Square.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—The little bird that lets out the secrets has just arrived and says that there are certain councillors in this city who are anxious to sell Lytton Square and invest the money in the purchase of what is known as Ewen's old cannery building, and convert it into a public market. Such a scheme would no doubt be very acceptable to the owners of that old building and also to those who own lots adjacent, but it would not be very acceptable to those who are directly interested in the general welfare and convenience of the city. Lytton Square, as I said on a former occasion, should not be sold on a pretence whatever, but should be kept as a public convenience between the river frontage and the upper part of the city, and also as a public market-place. The lower part of the city will require a market down near the mills, and it will be the duty of the city fathers to see to it that public interests are not bargained for private avarice. I think it is generally the feeling that the present council should not undertake anything during their limited existence except trying to square up matters so that the ensuing council may know how or where to begin.

Poetry.

Our Neighbor's Twins.

Four little pattering feet,
Trotting here and there.
Four little restless hands,
Waving in the air.
Dancing eyes of dark blue,
Rosy pouting lips,
Like the dewey roses
The busy bee sips.

Two litle knowing heads
Brimming o'er with fun,
Two little tender hearts
Loving every one,
Darling little maidens,
With your dimpled chins,
I should love to kiss you,
But, you're not my twins.

THE ROCK ON WHICH MANY a constitution goes to pieces is Dyspepsia. The loss of vigor which this disease involves, the maladies which accompany it, or which are aggravated by it, the mental despondency which it entails, are terribly exhaustive of vital stamina. Its true specific is Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, which likewise overcomes billious maladies, female ailments, and those coupled with impurity of the blood.
