Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Sept. 30, 1887.

The C. P. R. Manifesto.

Sir George Stephen has issued a manifesto against the construction of the Red River Valley Railway. It could not be expected that a plea from the President of the Canadian Pacific Railway company in favor of the maintenance of the monopoly enjoyed by his company should be other than a purely ex parte statement, but those who know the history of the company, and have followed the discussion of the contracts and the loans and agreements between the government and the company, will be surprised at some of the statements and arguments put forward by Sir George Stephen. In the first place, Sir George Stephen pleads that the Provincial Legislatures have not the authority under the British North America Act to charter railways intended to connect with other lines beyond the boundaries of their own provinces. Whatever may have been the intent of the act, common sense is against this interpretation of it. The British North America Act does give the Provinces the right to charter railways within the boundaries. The Red River Valley Railway begins and ends within the province of Manitoba, and is quite within its jurisdiction. Again, the Dominion Government possesses the power of disallowing legislation of the Provincial Legislatures. But that power, is one which was not intended to be used except in emergencies such as the defence of minorities or assaults by provinces on the constitutional rights of the Federal Government. It requires the strongest evidence of justice in its favor, as its exercise can hardly fail to breed secessionist sentiments. Sir George Stephen's argument is, of course, that the Dominion Government, having the power is bound in good faith by the contract to disallow all charters to the boundary of Manitoba. This is not the case, according to law, as Sir George Stephen will allow. As for good faith the Federal Government is bound in good faith to the people of Canada to allow Manitoba to construct railways to the frontier. When the contract was before Parliament the outcry against the monopoly clause was so universal that the contract was in danger of being rejected on its account alone. Then it was that Sir John Macdonald publicly declared that the monopoly clause only bound the government to refuse charters to railways in the territories and that Manitoba could charter competing lines, Sir John Mcdonald's words are well-known. "We cannot check Manitoba," he said. The conservative press all took the same ground thereafter, and the fact of Manitoba's freedom from the monopoly clause was accepted by all. Even the Canadian Pacific Railway syndicate, of which Sir George was a member, heard the declarations and understood the meaning of them. If they did not agree why did they keep silence; why did they not speak out? Will Sir George Shephen allow that he and the other members of the syndicate were sharers with Sir John Mcdonald in his manifest duplicity. He ignores this declaration of Sir John's altogether in his manifesto. Sir George alleges that "hardly a voice was raised in objection to the so-called monopoly clause." As we have said, and as Sir John Mcdonald's declaration showed, this contract was endangered by the outcry against the monopoly clause. The Corn Association of Montreal and, if we mistake not, also the Board of Trade, passed resolutions almost unimously against the monopoly clauses and certainly the voice of the whole press, even the conservative press, as shown by their eager adoption of Sir John Mcdonald's declaration, was against it. Sir George Stephen pleads that the Canadian Pacific Railway company "set about its work and completed it in less than half the time required by the contract," and that it has built many branches, and so forth, and all because it recognized the fact that railway construction in Manitoba was "to some extent restricted," and, therefore, we are to suppose the company is entitled to consideration. The company did set about the work and was on the point of failure, even according to Sir Geo. Stephen's own showing, in a former manifesto, the existence of which he seems to have forgotten. Sir George and his company implored the government to come to their aid financially, and promised to allow of the cancellation of the monopoly clause on the completion of the Lake Superior section of the line if the government would advance the money. Sir Charles Tupper made the statement in Parliament and Sir George Stephen, gave his virtual promise through the newspapers. The loan was made, the Lake Superior section was completed, but the declaration has been falsified and the promise forgotten. Can Sir George Stephen explain why he has not referred to this also in his manifesto? As to Manitoba's interests and the interest of the people of the Dominion, they understand in what direction they lie.—Montreal Witness.

GOLDWIN SMITH ON THE R.E.V.R.R.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Globe cable—The Contemporary Review contains an article by Prof. Goldwin Smith on the Manitoba railway question. He reviews the grounds of Manitoba's claim, arriving at the conclusion, not only that Manitoba, but the whole Northwest, must be set free from monopoly. As the nation's faith must be broken, the Canadian Pacific will have to be idemnified.

NEW LORD MAYOR OF LONDON.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Mr. Polodore de Keyser, alderman for Paddington, has been elected Lord Mayor of London. He is a Roman Catholic.

HALF-BREED WOMAN MURDERED.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30.—A half-breed and his son were brought to Edmonton yesterday by the mounted police, charged with the murder of the wife of one prisoner and the step mother of the other. The woman had gone insane and was inciting to cannabilism and murder; so according to the Indian custom her nearest relatives killed her.

12,000,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30.—The board of trade has just issued a statement in which it says: The wheat yield this year will be 12,000,000 bushels, an average of 28 bushels to the acre. It is estimated this will bring $7,000,000 into the province.

THERE ARE CHEAP PANACEAS for various human ailments continually cropping up. Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure has no affinity with any of these. Unlike them, the article is derived from the purest sources, is prepared with the utmost chemical skill, and is a genuine remedy and not a palliative for Biliousness, Constipation, Kidney troubles, impurity of the blood, and female complaints.

Beaten Again!

The Volunteer Wins the Second Race and Takes the Cup—Good Wind and, Apparently, a Fair Race.

Special Despatch.

HIGHLANDS, N.J., Sept. 30, 8:35 a.m.—The weather this morning is even worse than yesterday. Within the past two hours an unusually heavy fog has fallen, completely shutting the water from view. There is a little wind over head from the east. Very few think there can be a race. The Thistle is at the Hook, the Volunteer has not yet come down.

9:20.—Very foggy. The anemometer at Sandy Hook registers the wind 12 miles an hour from the east.

9:45.—The wind appears to be stronger, though it is yet very foggy. The sea is getting choppy. If the fog would only lift there would be plenty of wind for a race. Wind 20 miles an hour.

10:23.—The wind is slowly but surely driving the fog over into the wilds of Jersey. The yachts are now going out past the Hook and a start will surely be made. The wind is now 14 miles an hour.

10:42.—The preparatory gun was fired at 10:32, and the starting signal has just been fired at 10:42. The yachts are now manœuvering for a start. Wind 15 miles; east; fog lifting a little.

10:48.—The yachts crossed the line about 10:45. The haze prevented the exact time being taken from this point. It is thought that the Volunteer had a slight advantage as they went over. They are very close together and going very fast, close hauled with booms to port. They are carrying 3 headsails, sprit topsails and mainsail.

11.—The wind is hauling to the eastward and is freshening. It is blowing from 15 to 20 miles, and the race promises to be a quick one.

11:05.—As the yachts crossed the line the Thistle was seen to be to windward. They are heading east northeast, sailing on a course laid towards the far Rockaways. The Volunteer is out-pointing the Scotchman, they have become very indistinct objects on the misty horizon and will soon disappear from view unless the fog clears away. Their relative positions were unchanged when last seen, being only about 500 yards apart.

SANDY HOOK, 11:35.—The wind is blowing 24 miles an hour and is freshening. It is due east. At this rate the yachts ought to make the outward mark inside of three hours from the start.

LONG BEACH, 11:45.—Yachts are in sight, heading this way. The signals cannot be distinguished. They are all bunched.

SANDY HOOK, 12:20.—The wind has increased several miles within the last half hour. A steamboat which has just come in the Horse Shoe reports having passed the yachts 8 miles north northeast of the starting boat. The Volunteer was leading the Scotch cutter by an eighth of a mile. The sloop was to windward and both carrying working topsails, and the Volunteer stood up much better than the Thistle. There is only one wire working on the Sandy Hook coast and that is working badly. The rainstorm has put the wires down in the woods.

LONG BEACH, 12:45.—Both yachts standing south and the Volunteer is rapidly running away from the Thistle; she is now 1¼ miles ahead. There is a heavy sea.

SANDY HOOK, 1 p.m.—The yachts are in sight one mile south of Long Branch, where turning stake boat is stationed; the Volunteer is to the windward and leading by one mile; she will turn the stakeboat in about ten minutes. She has her mainsail, forestay sail, jib, and working jib topsail set. The Thistle has a like complement of sail set.

SANDY HOOK, 1:20.—The Volunteer has turned the stake buoy and is returning to the finishing line with spinnaker to port and mainsail to starboard; she broke a balloon jib topsail after rounding. The sea is going down a trifle, and the Volunteer appears to take to the swell with better grace than the Thistle. The latter is all awash. She buries her bows dreadfully, and it is plain to be seen she is carrying too much canvas. The flagship Electra is running on the starboard of the Volunteer; all the excursion boats are steering ahead giving her a great deal of their wash.

LONG BEACH, 1:40.—Volunteer two miles ahead.—Poor auld Scotland!

SANDY HOOK, 2.—The wind has fallen at this point to 16 miles an hour. The yachts are not yet in sight. The atmosphere is clear.

LONG BEACH, 2:30.—The Volunteer turned the stake-boat at 2:25. Thistle not yet turned. Volunteer 2½ miles ahead.

HIGHLAND, 3.—The Thistle is 15 minutes behind. Wind east 22 miles.

SANDY HOOK, 3.—The Thistle turned the stake-boat at 2:42; 17 miles behind the Volunteer. Wind 20 miles.

3:55.—The Volunteer is now four miles from the finishing line; the Thistle is about two miles astern, and alongside the Mohichan. Both boats have their spinnakers to work. The wind is blowing 12 miles east northeast.

4:20.—Volunteer beat the Thistle about three miles.

Mr. G. W. Macully, Pavilion Mountain, B. C., writes: "Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is the best medicine I ever used for Rheumatism. Nearly every winter I am laid up with Rheumatism, and have tried nearly every kind of medicine without getting any benefit, until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It has worked wonders for me, and I want another supply for my friends, &c."

Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Sept. 30, 1887.

One of the most serious problems that confronts the United States government at the present time seems to be the disposal of the enormous surplus which has for years been accumulating in the treasury. This surplus has reached the sum of nearly $460,000,000, and the result of the withdrawal of such a vast amount of money from general circulation is being seriously felt in the commerce of the country. A few days ago a commercial panic was avoided in New York only by the most careful management, and the stringency of the money market had to be relieved by the government offering to purchase bonds which will not fall due yet for eight or nine years. The relief thus afforded was only partial, and it is generally believed that if some more extensive scheme that will enable the treasury to disgorge a large amount of its surplus is not speedily devised, the results may be extremely disastrous. The executive seems to have gone to the utmost limit of its power in order to meet the circumstances, but under the restrictions laid down by congress it can do very little. The simplest way to get rid of accumulating surpluses would be to reduce taxation; but this implies a readjustment of the tariff and a reduction in customs duties, and the influence of manufacturing monopolies in the country is so great that neither of the political parties has the courage to face the situation with such a remedy. It is a very remarkable spectacle, and may become instructive inasmuch as it shows the extent to which abuses may run when government is carried on with greater concern for the benefit of political parties than for the public interest. If the United States and Canada were to swap incomes for two or three years the surplus difficulty would quickly disappear, and both countries might profit by the arrangement. Our own certainly would.

On several occasions we have pointed out the great advantages possessed by Westminster as a central market, a manufacturing place, and a distributing point for the province. No other city possesses such advantages at the present time; and when we have secured direct railway connection with the American railway system by way of the sound, and when the improvements now going on at the mouth of the river shall have been completed so as to admit all classes of ocean-going vessels, our commercial position will be perfect. At the present time the great bulk of goods consumed in this province come to us over the C. P. R., and are laid down without breaking bulk at our very doors. We see no reason, therefore, why this city should not even now be the seat of a large wholesale business. The railway tariff is so arranged that goods imported from the east are laid down for the same rates at Westminster, Vancouver and Victoria. But goods shipped from these cities to the interior are not classed alike. The rate from Westminster to points in the interior is the same as the rate from Vancouver, but from Victoria the cost of transport by steamer from that city to the railway has to be added. Merchants from the interior desiring to purchase from personal inspection, too, will save two days time and an appreciable item of expense by doing their business on this side of the straits. For these reasons it is almost certain that the wholesale business of Victoria houses will very soon be almost entirely limited to Vancouver Island and the north west coast, and the retail trade of this district and the interior will be supplied by wholesale houses in one of the mainland cities. It is time now for our business men to be considering where the distributing point shall be. Not many years ago a wholesale grocery establishment was opened in this city, and in spite of the lack of capital and the lack of proper business methods, very satisfactory trade was secured. That establishment paid a fair profit while it existed, and the winding up of the concern was not through lack of business or unsatisfactory returns, but for causes altogether foreign. If any person with a thorough knowledge of the business, and commanding sufficient capital, were to establish a wholesale house in this city there need be no fear as to the result. As a rule the people of Westminster are not rich, but there are some whose capital is ample for the requirements of such an enterprise, and we earnestly hope that before the spring trade opens up we shall be able to supply retail merchants on the mainland at such figures as will bring to this city at least a fair share of the wholesale business of the mainland.

Mr. R. C. Winlow, Toronto, writes: "Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is a valuable medicine to all who are troubled with indigestion. I tried a bottle of it after suffering for some ten years, and the results are certainly beyond my expectations. It assists digestion wonderfully. I digest my food with no apparent effort, and am now entirely free from that sensation, which every dyspeptic well knows, of unpleasant fulness after each meal."

Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I inherited a scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a derangement of my whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before.—O. A. Willard, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.—Elizabeth Warnock, 54 Appleton street, Lowell, Mass.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 158 Sullivan st., New York. ††1

SIGHTS ON A SOUTH SEA ISLAND.

A Native Describes the Delicate Details of Cannibalism.

Teetee Houhon, from the South Sea Island, says:

"I myself, before I was converted to Christianity and had mingled with Europeans, had eaten human flesh and relished it, too. Why, even now it requires all my resolution when the craving comes upon me to resist knocking down every plump maiden I see and proceeding to bake or boil her. When Fijians want to build a temple or boat, or at the launching of a canoe, chiefs have been known to kill several men for rollers, so that the canoe could be more readily launched, and the rollers were afterward cooked ank eaten. There was one chief who killed a man for the keel and one for every plank that was put in, and they were eaten as food for the carpenters. They used to have another custom—that of murdering men to wash the deck of the canoe with fresh blood, but the missionaries have induced the natives to cease this practice.

At a battle once at Moourha the supply of prisoners was greater than the warriors could consume, so they were piled up between two cocoanut trees, and it took two days to cook them. The ralekaruca, or trunk, was thrown away, as it would not keep. In 1851 fifty bodies were cooked at one time at Mamena. The head, hands and intestines were thrown away on that occasion, but in times of great scarcity there is no waste.

"When the bodies are being arranged for the oven they have a peculiar beating of the drum. One of the natives strikes the water with a pole in a manner that is understood to mean that they have a bakalo, or corpse, to eat. When they get near to shore they begin their war dance, and the women on shore respond. When the boat lands the body is dragged ashore by a vine attached to the left hand. Then it is dragged by two men, face downward, to the town, while the rest go in front brandishing their weapons, throwing their clubs aloft and singing their weird and shrill songs. The body is dragged to the chief, who directs the chief priest to offer it to the war god. Then the body is taken to the oven and carved. The carving instrument is a slit bamboo, and the several members are cut off joint by joint.

A long, deep gash is made down the abdomen and all around the neck to the bone, and the head is quickly twisted off. It is not often that bodies are baked whole, but when it is it is covered with a black powder, the body having been placed in a sitting posture. When it is boiled the flesh is taken from the bones.

"When I was a boy, Loti, a chief, killed his wife and ate her. She went with him to plant taro, and when the work was done he sent her to gather wood to make a fire and collect leaves to line the oven with, and to procure a bamboo to cut up what was to be eaten. The good wife willingly obeyed, and, when everything was ready, he seized, disemboweled her, cooked and ate her, calling in friends to assist. The woman was his equal, and he had no complaint to make against her.

"The heart, the thigh and the arm above the elbow are considered the greatest delicacies. The head is least thought of. The shin-bones make excellent sailneedles, and if the body is that of an enemy the chief says: 'Don't hit him in the head, for I want the skull for a drinking-cup.

"Human flesh is extremely difficult to digest, so that even the healthiest men suffer from confined bowels for several days after the feast. Generally vegetables are eaten with the bokola, or dead men, as they aid digestion. They use the leaves of the malawaci and the tudavo, with which they wrap up the flesh. Sometimes they eat the gum which has been hung up and preserved in turmeric. Then they have a fruit that resembles the tomatoes that I see in this country, called the borodina."

Mexican Girls.

The senoritas are charming to look upon, and filled with abounding health, for this high air seems most gracious to women, and their eyes are very full of passionate eloquence. One further learns that these Mexican girls of the best type are intellectually remarkable, especially apt at acquiring language, proficient musicians, skilled in embroidery, and the present popular surface accomplishments in art, and often keeping abreast of their brothers in that broad yet impracticable theorizing that is a national characteristic. In culture they will compare favorably with the choicest New England product, though their background may not have brought forth so despotic an article as conscience. Still, they are inflexible sticklers in all the forms of the church, and therin do not differ from their sisters in the same walks of life at the North the variance being solely that of the creed by which the feminine soul is surrounded.

Women of the South mature early, and when a learned old lawyer talks of the rare intellectual companionship which he enjoys with his daughter of fifteen years, the confirmed bachelor of the party is attentive and decorously silent, but quite too obviously skeptical. But this paternal judgement is afterward confirmed by a sensible and disinterested feminine advocate, who asserts some of the generalizations embodied above. When women grow enthusiastic over women, one is very safe in believing in the possession of unusual qualities—on the one side or the other.

The Grave of Franklin.

Besides the churchyard of Christ Church, Philadelphia, there is a cemetery of perhaps a couple of acres at the corner of Arch and Fifth streets. It is full of old monuments; no burials have been permitted there for a long time. At the northwest corner the high brick wall has been removed and an iron railing substituted to give an easy view to a grave of great interest to every American citizen. It is covered by a substantial slab, very plain, with this inscription:

(Benjamin and Deborah) Franklin, 1790.

This is in strict compliance with his will, which provides as follows: "I wish to be buried by the side of my wife, if it may be, and that a marble stone to be made by Chambers, six feet long, four feet wide, plain, with only a small molding around the upper edge, and this inscription"—and then follows what is above given. He rightly believed that there were better and more enduring monuments than stone.—New York Evening Post.

—A torpedo boat, the hull of which is constructed of phosphor bronze, has been received at Chatham Dockyard for trial and report. The principal advantage claimed for the material is immunity from fouling and oxidation.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

Airing the House.

As all good housekeepers know that the airing of the house is of very great importance to the health and comfort of its inmates, the attending to this task should be one of the first duties of such people.

Do not ventilate the rooms by opening all the windows, top and bottom alike, at once, as I have known some women to do, for by so doing you not only ventilate the house, but also your crude ideas of ventilation. The lower part of a window should never be raised for the purpose of ventilation, unless in very warm weather, or when wishing to air the bed covering. The poisonous air exhaled by the inmates of the house arises, and, consequently, should pass out through the opening made by lowering the top sash, at the same time allowing the pure, clear air from the outside to rush into the room. There are some houses, to be sure, in which the windows do not let down from the top, leaving the ventilation of the rooms to the lifting of the lower sash. Well, the sooner such windows are made to open both ways, the better it will be for the airing of the house to which they are attached, and to the health of the people who live in it.

Many persons occupying a chamber at night sleep with the window down some inches at the top, giving as a reason that they cannot sleep otherwise. This may be all very true, because they have been accustomed to do this from childhood, and having naturally strong constitutions it does them no material harm. But this way of sleeping is not advisable for any one in a climate such as ours, where on retiring we leave the weather soft and mild, and during the night wake up shivering to add more covering, the consequence of a chilly, damp, north-easterly wind that has sprung up while we were asleep. Far better for us to ventilate the room well during the day, and deposit in the quantity of fresh air thus obtained, with the addition of what comes in at the windows, which are never air tight, than to endanger the health of our families and ourselves by the inhalation of damp night air.

Before going from the chamber in the morning, lift from the bed all the covering and arrange it on chairs in such a way that the air will have free access to every part, open the windows, then leave the room, closing the door after you. Don't worry about letting the bed stand unmade, but be sure it is well aired before attempting to make it, no matter if it does wait until afternoon; then turn the bed, if not too heavy, in which case shake it well, and proceed to cover as usual.

The other rooms may be ventilated by letting down the top sash of the windows, and after closing the doors letting them remain so until fully aired, unless in raw damp weather, at which time the air that comes from opening doors is, generally, all that is needed.

Never open the window of a room, either top or bottom, in which there is a sick person, without first asking the advice of a physician, as in some cases, notably acute lung diseases, the least draught very often proves fatal.

Wearing Wraps in Church.

A custom among the ladies against which the doctors protest: The heavy silk plush, fur trimmed wrap is the fashionable rage among the women this season. The silk plush coat of this year is trimmed with otter or beaver fur, from three to six inches deep. Even a sealskin coat without trimming is not an fait, although it has not altogether lost caste. Philadelphia doctors have, however declared against the heavy wrap, and especially against the fur collar. One of the most eminent specialists upon diseases of the throat and lungs says that the improper use of heavy cloaking in this climate has been the cause of more diseases of the throat and lungs than anything he knows of. "But," said he, hopelessly, "they will wear them if they all die, and I am only given credit for having a spite against the furriers. Women go into heated rooms with these heavy wraps on, and with a heavy fur collar about their necks. They keep on the cloaks until they are in a profuse perspiration; then they throw back the collars, and half unbutton the garments. Perhaps in a few minutes they go out in the cold air again, and do not close up the coats until warned by the chilly blasts that buttons are needed. But this is not all. Such garments are too warm for this section, and are not safe out-door wraps even, except in the coldest weather."

Umbrella Stand.

Novelty is not claimed for this umbrella stand, and there are many who scoff at what they call the worn-out fashion of scrap-picture decorations, but the lady who wrote this descript on has used her stand seven years, and it is still in perfect order and very pretty to look at. For the sake of its durability, some one may like to know exactly how to make the article.

Go to a plumbing or pottery shop and buy a common red tile, such as is used for drain, about six inches across and three feet long. Paint it black, two or three coats if necessary; then get a large supply of Japanese scrap pictures. Cover the tile pretty thickly with these, and give coats of varnish until the flowers and figures have the raised appearance sometimes seen on china. Then get a large earthern pie-plate; paint it black and cover all but the middle of the dish with scrap pictures in the same manner, and varnish. When all is perfectly dry, set the tile in the dish. Then get a small bottle of liquid gilding, and with a small camel's hair brush gild the edge of the dish and top edge of the tile.

Oil Your Boots and Shoes.

The efficacy of oiling depends much upon the way in which it is done. In the evening brush the shoe clean, and then wash it with lukewarm water, rather to moisten than to clean it. Set it where it will dry slowly. It should not be perfectly dry the next morning, when the oil is applied, but feel damp, not wet, however. The best mixture for oiling shoes is made of one-half of neat's-foot oil—be sure you get the genuine article—one-third beef tallow, and one-sixth castor oil. Mix thoroughly over a gentle heat. Depend upon the rubbing rather than the heat to get the oil in—to express it differently, two parts of rubbing to one of heat. If the shoes are pegged, as farmers' shoes usually are, and always should be, get the oil in well between the uppers and the sole; it will prevent the sole pulling loose, or the leather breaking away from the pegs. Shoes worn at farm work should be oiled at least once a week. It requires only a few minutes to do the work, and it is decidedly profitable labor.

A Sluggish Liver

Causes the Stomach and Bowels to become disordered, and the whole system to suffer from debility. In all such cases Ayer's Pills give prompt relief.

After much suffering from Liver and Stomach troubles, I have finally been cured by taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. I always find them prompt and thorough in their action, and their occasional use keeps me in a perfectly healthy condition.—Ralph Weeman, Annapolis, Md.

Twenty-five years ago I suffered from a torpid liver, which was restored to healthy action by taking Ayer's Pills. Since that time I have never been without them. They regulate the bowels, assist digestion, and increase the appetite, more surely than any other medicine.—Paul Churchill, Haverhill, Mass.

INVIGORATED.

I know of no remedy equal to Ayer's Pills for Stomach and Liver disorders. I suffered from a Torpid Liver, and Dyspepsia, for eighteen months. My skin was yellow, and my tongue coated. I had no appetite, suffered from Headache, was pale and emaciated. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, taken moderate doses, restored me to perfect health.—Waldo Miles, Oberlin, Ohio.

Ayer's Pills are a superior family medicine. They strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, create an appetite, and remove the horrible depression and despondency resulting from Liver Complaint. I have used these Pills in my family, for years, and they never fail to give entire satisfaction.—Otto Montgomery, Oshkosh, Wis. ††

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE

STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practicably impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. The salmon catch last night averaged 30 to the boat. The rain is expected to increase the catch considerably.

The steamer Gladys left at 4 o'clock this morning for Chilliwhack, with a few passengers and a light freight.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

Attention is called to Mr. Trapp's advertisement in another column, of horses, cows, &c., for sale by auction in this city to-morrow afternoon.

We are informed that the dogs killed by the police at the doggery have been burried in the agricultural grounds, right in the heart of the city.

The best preserving Pears now ready and for sale. Also, a large variety of first-class apples. Cheap for cash. Apply to WM. CLARKSON, at the orchard. dse30w1

The str. Rainbow arrived from Victoria at 3:20 this afternoon with a few passengers and about 20 tons of freight. She left for Victoria again this afternoon.

The str. Gladys arrived from Chilliwhack last night with about 30 passengers and a lot of produce. She brought about 1,500,000 eggs from Harrison Lake for the hatchery.

When symptoms of malaria appear, in any form, take Ayer's Ague Cure. It will prevent a development of the germs of disease, and eradicate them from the system. A cure is warranted in every instance.

We are glad to see that tenders are being asked by the government for the erection of a new bridge over the Vedder Creek, to replace the one carried away. This will be gratifying news to the people of Upper Sumas especially.

The steamer Adelaide arrived from Chilliwhack about 11 o'clock this morning. After landing her Westminster passengers, some 15 or 20, she immediately proceeded to Ladners, for which place she had a large number of passengers.

Messrs. Ellard & Co. have just received direct from the English manufacturers, in the newest and most fashionable styles, a large consignment of dolmans, mantles, jackets and ulsters, for ladies and children, for fall and winter wear. dse21tc

From noon yesterday until noon today we have been having a very earnest rain, which has effectually settled the dust and bush fires for the rest of this season. The sun was shinning this afternoon, and the weather seems to be settled again.

When the system is debilitated by disease, it should be strengthened and renewed with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine invariably proves itself worthy of all that can be said in its favor. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines. Price $1. Six bottles, $5.

Couldn't something be done to establish uniform time in the city? The railway runs by Standard time, which is about 13 minutes ahead of true time; but most of the church bells are 10 minutes ahead of railway time, which makes them, 23 minutes ahead of actual time!

The cheapest medicine in use is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, because so very little of it is required to effect a cure. For croup, diptheria, and diseases of the lungs and throat, whether used for bathing the chest or throat, for taking internally or inhaling, it is a matchless compound.

THE CHINA STEAMER.—The steamship Port Victor arrived at Vancouver from Shanghai and Yokohama at 10 o'clock last night with 26 cabin passengers, 15 chinamen, 700 bales of silk, 1600 tons of tea, and other miscellaneous goods. Of the tea, 350 tons were for San Francisco, and 1250 for the east. The steamship called at Esquimalt, but the News says all see had for Victoria was one mail bag and 3 passengers, and nearly a day was lost in order to land them!

MAJOR HARDIE'S PROGRAMME.—Major Hardie will arrive in the city to-morrow, and will meet the board of management of the Y. M. C. A. at 5 o'clock and address a meeting of the members at 8 in the association rooms. On Sunday afternoon at 4 there will be a meeting for young men only at the Drill Shed, and a mass meeting at 8. Major Hardie is said to be one of the most widely known of association workers, a member of the International committee, and was president of the international convention in 1875, and again in 1885. He has retired from active business life and is devoting his time to visiting and helping the associations.

DESTRUCTIVE EARTHQUAKES.—Dr. Kent, of Ladners, sends us the following interesting item: "Having carefully examined all the recorded earthquakes from 742 to August 28th, 1886, I find the amazing loss of human life to be 1,264,889 persons. In addition to these there were many instances in which the loss of life surpassed all calculations, and no approximate estimate could be obtained. Nine hundred and eight towns and villages were destroyed, besides many others not recorded in definite numbers. 23,189 houses were destroyed, not including vast numbers of which no record has been kept. How uncertain is human life! How kind the warning: 'What I say unto one, I say unto all, watch!'"

RAN AGROUND.—Early this morning the SS. Mexico, while attempting to make her way out of the harbor in the midst of a thick fog, ran aground, on the north shore of the Inlet, just across from Brockton Point. It appears that pilot Uttershanks in rounding Burnaby reef allowed too much, and was carried by the tide on the opposite shore. As the steamer had little or no way upon her she sustained no damage, the shore being sandy and shelving. Captain Huntington ordered a quantity of the cargo to be shifted astern so as to bring her bows up as much as possible. As the tide rose again yesterday afternoon at at four o'clock, the engines were put full speed astern, and she slowly backed out, none the worse for the mishap, and sailed away for Port Townsend.—Vancouver News.

Beaten Again!

The second race which took place to-day between the Thistle and Volunteer *has definitely settled the chal*lenge cup for this year. There seems to have been plenty wind and nothing to prevent a fair and honest race, and the result will be accepted, we think, as proof of the superior merits of the American yacht. The Volunteer having won two out of the three contests, we presume the third will be abandoned. It will now be in order for the yachtsmen of Great Britain to delve deeply into nautical science with a view to the next event.

Personal.

Rev. F. G. and Mrs. Harrington, missionaries on route for Tokio, Japan, are in the city, and guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Agnes st.

Mayor Dickinson returned from Chilliwhack on the str. Gladys last night. He reports the exhibition in many respects disappointing, and a great lack of system in the management.

Wm. Clarkson, Mrs. Clarkson, and Mrs. Joseph Wintemute took a trip over to Vancouver yesterday on the train. This is their first visit to the new city since the conflagration of last year, and they were both astonished and delighted with the trip.

Communications.

America and the Dynamiters.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Are you not aware to state that a great many prominent Americans encouraged the dynamiters, and to arraign the whole American people, as you did Wednesday evening, for aiding and abetting these agitators, are two quite different matters? It would indeed be peculiar if among sixty odd millions of people there could not be found disciples of almost any cause or ism, but it is very unjust to arraign the American people for the sentiments and acts of an infinitesmal proportion of their countrymen. However, I maintain that your last statement, that a great many prominent Americans have encouraged the dynamiters is equally as untrue as your first, and challenge you to name two of this class and state your proof. There are doubtless a great many prominent Americans who have contributed to the Irish parliamentary fund, but there are none of national prominence who can be said to have given any encouragement to those who advocate the use of dynamite.

AMERICUS.

[We cannot mention at the present moment the names of any prominent Americans who publicly expressed sympathy for the Fenians and dynamiters, but that they did so is too well known to admit of question. During the time of the Fenian raids especially many prominent Americans and prominent American journals gave them open encouragement and aid. The writer of this happened to be residing on the very borders of the United States at the time, and has very good reason to remember the incidents of these exciting days. Not only were the Fenians permitted to drill and arm themselves openly for the avowed purpose of raiding Canada, but they were cheered on by thousands of Americans, including many occupying official positions.—ED.]

PORT SIMPSON, Sept. 19.—The whiskey trade continues to flourish here. One craft must have taken a good load for a small boat. It was said she was built to go to the Youcon, but they say she has made three or four trips with whiskey. This was about her bill last trip: 296 gals. rye whiskey, and eight 10-gal. kegs. There is a report that the day after Joe left here a small launch was seen among the islands in search of him, and it is said they are close on his tracks. Alaska has a custom house at Tongas, but that does not matter. Of course, while this is going on here it is not very likely that the ginger whiskey is going to be stopped at Naas; nor the rum that has been so freely used among the Indians at the little town of Essington; nor such shameful cases as that which occurred the other night when two white fiends, who were drunk with H. B. Co. rum, went through this Christian village disturbing the peace of the homes of the poor people in order to satisfy their lust, and then boasted of it the next day. Well, but people will say, "Is there no one up there to keep the peace? Yes; we have a judge and a constable, but they seem to take very little notice of these things and some of the J. Ps. are said to be interested in the sale! It is reported here that the government has removed Judge Graham from the upper Skeena, the only judge who has really been of much benefit to the country. From his long acquaintance with both the Indians and the miners his presence has no doubt saved the government many a thousand dollars; and it is too bad if he should be taken away just now. For some time the Indians have been talking about what they will do because the old man who killed poor Youmans died in gaol. They have already threatened to kill Youmans' daughter, and some other parties may come in for a share of their revenge. The Indians have the utmost confidence in Graham, and the removal of such an officer from such an out-of-the-way place as that may be "penny wise and pound foolish." It is thought that if the country is so poor that it cannot afford to pay for so many men, one might be taken away from Simpson, for there is one here who never seems to be doing anything from one years end to the other. The exodus still goes on from Metlakahtla to Port Chester, in Alaska. The str. Glad Tidings has been engaged for some time towing. She takes from 50 to 60 canoes at a trip, and the departure of the fleet is a sight worth seeing. The people go quietly on tearing down their homes in the *once famed Christian village of Metla*hahtla, which begins to present a sorry sight. They are going to make a clean sweep of it. It is said nearly all the people will leave, even some of the bishop's flock, and some from the Methodist mission here. Rev. Mr. McCullough is putting up a sawmill on the upper Naas. Mr. J. A. McLellan was up here on the last boat, and it is said he bought the Naas Harbor cannery and intends to can salmon next year. It looks as if the regular fall rain had set in, and it is now pouring down. The miners at Lorne Creek have had a poor season, it has been so short. Last week the str. Nell was here on her way to Massett, and one poor fellow got so much grog that he fell overboard. On Saturday the old crowd with the big canoe came in and went out the same night with a large load of whiskey. The steamer brought a big supply last night, so the Alaska smugglers may come on and get supplied at the cheapest rate and with quick despatch. But the worst of all this is it is spreading among the Indians, and they are beginning to ask what it all means: is it so that the government license a big company to sell grog, and then they have to pay a judge a big salary, and a constable to keep it in check—and yet they don't do it!

The Provincial Exhibition.

Further Particular from our Own Commissioner.

The first day (Wednesday) was taken up by the judges, and it was late Thursday morning before the public were admitted. The attendance from Victoria and Vancouver Island was small, and there were very few exhibits from the North Arm. The display of fruit was not so large or good as last year; still it was very fine. The dairy exhibits were the largest and finest ever seen in the province. There were so many exhibits of butter, and the quality was so excellent, that the judges found very great difficulty in awarding prizes. Mrs. Forsythe carried off the honors, winning first prizes in salted and unsalted butter. Mr. Thos. McNeely, of Ladners, made a splendid exhibit of vegetables. His beets, cauliflower, sugar beets, and carrots were almost twice as large as those of any other exhibitor. In the ladies department the display was very fine, and some of them very costly. It is generally admitted that the exhibits in this department show very great important. The display of cattle, horses and sheep is not so good as usual, although there are some very fine animals. The grain exhibits are not numberous, but the quality is good. The annual meeting of members of the association was held on Thursday night. There were about 60 persons present, which is said to be larger than at any previous meeting. It was decided to hold the next exhibition at Victoria, and the following officers were elected: President, D. W. Higgins; First Vice-President, W. J. Harris; Second Vice-President, D. A. McTavish; Secretary, T. Russel; Treasurer, W. Dalby. The number of Directors was increased to twenty; N. Shakespeare, E. G. Prior, John Boyd, S. J. Sandover, J. Tolmie, E. Hodgson, J. C. McLagan, D. Ker, J. C. Renouf, D. Spencer, for the Island; W. H. Ladner, George Black, Thos. Cunningham, H. Webb, A. C. Wells, John Gilmore, G. R. Ashwell, J. W. Sexsmith, and Geo. W. Chadsey for the mainland.
