Land Regulations.

An advertisement appears in another column respecting Dominion lands in the railway belt. In that advertisement attention is called to certain provisions in the Dominion Lands Act, and for general information we publish herewith the clauses of the act relating to homestead rights:

27. Any person, male or female, who is the sole head of a family, or any male who has attained the age of eighteen years, shall, on making application in the form A in the schedule to this Act, be entitled to obtain homestead entry for any quantity of land not exceeding one quarter section, and being of the class of land open, under the provisions of this Act, to homestead entry.

2. Such person shall also, in connection with such homestead entry, be entitled to the privilege of obtaining at the same time, but not at a later date, a pre-emption entry for an adjoining unoccupied quarter section, of land of the said class.

3. The entry for a homestead and for its attached pre-emption, if any, shall entitle the recipient to take occupy and cultivate the land entered for, and hold possession of the same to the exclusion of any other person or persons whomsoever, and to bring and maintain actions for trespass committed on the said land; the title to the land shall remain in the Crown until the issue of the patent therefor, and the said land shall not be liable to be taken in execution before the issue of patent:

4. The privilege of homestead and pre-emption entry shall only apply to surveyed agricultural lands; no person shall be entitled to such entry for land valuable for its timber, or for hay land, or for land on which there is a stone or marble quarry, or coal or other mineral having commercial value, or whereon there is any water power which may serve to drive machinery, or for land which, by reason of its position, such as being the shore of an important harbor, bridge site or canal site, or being either an actual or prospective railway terminus or station, it will be in the public interest to withhold from such entry.

28. Whenever the survey of any township has been finally confirmed and such township opened for homestead entry, any person who has bona fide settled and made improvements before such confirmed survey on land in such township, shall have a prior right to obtain homestead entry for the land so settled on, provided such right be exercised within three months after the land is open for settlement; and provided that such land has not been reserved or the right to homestead entry is not excepted under the provisions of this Act. No homestead entry shall be granted to any other person in respect of such land until three months after notice in writing shall have been given by the Local Agent to such bona fide settler that such land is open for settlement.

29. To obtain homestead entry it shall be necessary for the person applying therefor to appear and make affidavit before the Local Agent according to form B, C, D, or E, in the schedule to this Act, as the circumstances of the case require: upon filing such affidavit with the Local Agent, and on payment to him of an office fee of ten dollars, such person shall receive a receipt from the Local Agent according to the form F in the schedule to this Act; and such receipt shall be a certificate of entry, and shall be authority to the person obtaining it to go into possession of the land described in it:

2. If a person obtaining homestead entry applies for and obtains at the same time a pre-emption entry, he shall pay to the Local Agent a further office fee of ten dollars, and shall receive therefor from him a receipt in like form, and having like effect to that prescribed for homestead entry:

3. Provided, that in case of intending emigrants or other persons proposing to settle together, the Minister of the Interior or the Land Board, on requisition signed by them, may authorize any person they name to obtain homestead and pre-emption entries for them, before their arrival in the territory in which the land they desire to occupy is situate:

4. The person so authorized shall, to obtain such entries, make application in the form G in the schedule to this Act, on behalf of each of those whom he represents, and shall make affidavit before the Local Agent according to form H, J, K, or L, in the schedule to this Act, as the circumstances require, and pay for each homestead and for each pre-emption entry the office fee of ten dollars hereinbefore prescribed for such entry:

5. Persons occupying land owned by them may obtain homestead entry for any contiguous land open to the same; but the whole extent of land, including that previously owned and occupied, must not exceed one quarter section:

6. A person applying for such entry for contiguous land must, when making the affidavit prescribed for homestead entry, also describe therein the tract he owns and lives upon; and his residence upon and cultivation of the whole shall thereafter be of the kind and for the term required by the provisions of this Act in the case of ordinary homestead entry, before he shall be entitled to patent for the part so entered for: Provided, that such residence and cultivation may be upon and of either the land originally occupied by him, or that for which homestead entry has been obtained, or both.

30. In case a dispute arises between persons claiming the right to homestead entry for the same land, the Local Agent, or any person thereto authorized by the Minister of the Interior, shall make investigation and obtain evidence respecting the facts, and his report thereon, together with the evidence taken, shall be referred to the Minister of the Interior for decision, or to the Dominion Lands Board, Commissioner of Dominion Lands, or such person as may be appointed by the Governor in Council to consider and decide in cases of such disputes:

2. Provided that, when two or more persons have settled upon and seek to obtain homestead entry for the same land, the one who settled first thereon shall be entitled to such entry if the land be of the class open to homestead entry, and if it be not in the opinion of the Minister of the Interior otherwise inexpedient, in the public interest, to entertain any application therefor:

3. Provided further that, where contending parties have made valuable improvements on the land in dispute, the Minister of the Interior, if the application to acquire the land by homestead enty is entertained by him, may order a division thereof in such manner as shall preserve to each of them as far as practicable, his improvements; and the Minister may, at his discretion, direct that what the land so allotted to each of them may be deficient of a quarter section shall be made up from unoccupied land adjoining, if there be any such of the class open to homestead entry.

31. Any person who has obtained homestead entry shall be allowed a period of six months from its date within which to perfect the entry by taking, in his own person, possession of the land and beginning continuous residence thereon and cultivation thereof; and if the entry be not perfected within that period, it shall be void, and the land shall be open to entry by another person, or to other disposition under this Act by the Minister of the Interior:

2. Provided, that any person who has obtained entry on or after the first of September in any year, and whose term for perfecting the same expires before the first day of June following, shall be allowed an extension of time to the latter date within which to perfect his entry:

3. Provided further, that in the case of immigrants from elsewhere than the North American Continent, the Governor in Gouncil may extend the time for the perfecting of entry to twelve months from the date thereof.

32. In case a certain number of homestead settlers, embracing not less than twenty families, with a view to greater convenience in the establishment of schools and churches, and to the attainment of social advantages of like character, ask to be allowed to settle together in a hamlet or village, the Minister of the Interior may, in his discretion, vary or dispense with the foregoing requirements as to residence, but not as to the cultivation of each separate quarter-section entered as a homestead.

33. At the expiration of three years from the date of his perfecting his homestead entry, the settler, or in case of his death, his legal representatives, upon proving to the satisfaction of the Local Agent, that he, or they, or some of them have resided upon and cultivated the land during the said term of three years, shall be entitled to a patent for the land, provided such proof is accepted by the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, or the Land Board: Provided also, that the patent therefor shall not issue to any person not then a subject of Her Majesty by birth or naturalization:

2. Provided, that in the case of a settler who may have obtained homestead entry for land occupied by him previous to survey thereof, in manner hereinbefore mentioned, residence upon and cultivation of the land for the three years next preceding the application for patent, shall, for the purpose of the issue of patent, be held equivalent to that prescribed in the foregoing sub-clause, if such residence and cultivation be otherwise in conformity with the provisions of this Act.

3. Any person proving that he has resided on the land for which he has homestead entry for twelve months from the date of his perfecting his entry therefor, and that he has brought under cultivation at least thirty acres thereof, may, before the expiration of the three years defined in sub-clause one of this clause, obtain a patent by paying the Government price at the time for the land.

4. Proof of such residence and cultivation shall be made by affidavit before the Local Agent by the claimant, and corroborated by the testimony on oath of two disinterested witnesses resident in the vicinity of the land affected by their evidence, and accepted as sufficient by the Commissioner of Dominion Lands or the Land Board.

5. And if, in connection with the homestead entry, the settler has heretofore obtained, or hereafter obtains, a pre-emption entry in accordance with the provisions of this Act, he shall, on becoming entitled to a patent for his homestead, be also entitled to a patent for the land included in such pre-emption entry, on payment of the price fixed in accordance with the provisions of this Act by the Governor in Council; but such pre-emption right, if not exercised and payment made within six months after the settler shall have become entitled to claim a patent under his homestead entry, shall be forfeited, and such pre-emption shall not thereafter be open to homestead entry without the consent of the Minister of the Interior.

34. In case it is proved to the satisfaction of the Minister of the Interior that a settler has not resided upon and cultivated his homestead, except as herein provided for, at least six months in any one year, the right to the land shall be forfeited, and the entry therefor shall be cancelled; and the settler so forfeiting his entry shall not be eligible to obtain another entry except in special cases in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

2. Provided, that in cases of illness, vouched for by sufficient evidence, or cases of immigrants requiring to return to their native land to bring out their families to their homesteads, or in other special cases, the Minister of the Interior may, in his discretion, grant an extension of time, during which a settler may be absent from his homestead, without prejudice to his right therein; but the time so granted shall not count as residence.

35. A homestead, the entry of which has been cancelled may, at the discretion of the Minister, be held for sale of the land with the improvements, if any, — or of the improvements only, in connection with homestead entry thereof,—to another person.

36. Any assignment or transfer of homestead or pre-emption right or any part thereof, and any agreement to assign or transfer any homestead or pre-emption right or any part thereof after patent, which shall have been obtained, made or entered into before the issue of the patent, shall be null and void; and the person so assigning or transferring or making an agreement to assign or transfer, shall forfeit his homestead and pre-emption right, and shall not be permitted to make another homestead entry: Provided, that a person whose homestead or homestead and pre-emption may have been recommended for patent by the Local Agent and who has received from such Agent a certificate to that effect in the form M, in the Schedule to this Act, countersigned by the Commissioner of Dominion Lands, may legally dispose of and convey, assign or transfer his right and title therein.

More Muddle.

From one end of the Dominion of Canada to the other the whole liquor license business is completely muddled. After waiting long the federal government have manifested an intention to put the Dominion license act in force. They have appointed commissioners in the various provinces, and these commissioners have opened offices and surrounded themselves with the necessary authority. But while the doubts exist as to the constitutionality of the Dominion act there does not seem to be any hope that it will be accepted. In Ontario and Quebec at least the liquor dealers generally are taking out licenses from the provincial authorities, leaving the Dominion officers sitting solitary in their offices to draw salaries for nothing. At Toronto a city by-law was passed that no licenses should be granted to shops where groceries or other goods were sold. The licensed grocers forthwith applied to the Dominion commissioners and were promised Dominion licenses! The Ontario commissioners report that the number of applications before them this year is about the usual average. But the federal commissioners are also granting some licenses, and the result is that there are two distinct license systems in operation. The Ontario government have introduced a bill providing that persons taking out licenses from the Dominion commissioners must pay a double license fee! In this way it is believed these applications will be exceedingly limited. But the spectacle is not one upon which we can look with indifference or approval. This conflict of authority is undoubtedly the result of a reckless threat by a reckless politician for purely political ends. The Dominion act was promised and passed for the express purpose of embarrassing the Ontario government because that government happened to be politically opposed to the present government at Ottawa. It may be that the Dominion act is constitutional. Sir John Macdonald is certainly an able constitutional lawyer, and is not often caught. But surely in the present instance it would have been in the interest of the country to ascertain definitely the constitutional point before putting the act in force and throwing the whole license business into confusion.

Our Mines.

The tenth annual report of the minister of mines has just been issued. It contains a good deal of information respecting mining operations in this province, and brings to light some facts which deserve serious public attention. The value of gold taken out of our mines during the year is stated to be $794,252, the smallest quantity reported since 1858. But notwithstanding the smallness of the yield, there were 1965 people engaged in gold mining, an increase of 227 over the previous year. This increase in the number of miners, we are told, is entirely composed of Chinese. There is nothing more certain than that our gold mines, as well as many of our other industries, are rapidly passing into the hands of these people. Of the 1965 persons engaged in gold mining last year 1465 were Chinese, and only 500 white men! These figures are really startling. In certain sections the mines seem to have been completely turned over to the celestials. Lower Antler Creek, for example, has not a solitary white man, whereas it supports 98 Chinese who last year took out $42,300. On the Fraser river, from a point 6 miles below Quesnelle to a point 30 miles up, there are 4 white miners and 79 Chinese, and the value of gold taken out is $44,640. In the Lillooet district, from Foster's Bar to the mouth of the Chilcoatin, there are 14 whites and 312 Chinese, and they took out $68,000 worth of gold. These Chinese miners, it is well known, procure their supplies from Chinese merchants, and they leave very little in the country beyond the paltry mining license fee they are obliged to pay. The gold of the country goes to China, and there is nothing left here to show for it. During the season several prospecting parties went out in search of new mines, aided by the appropriation made by the government for that purpose. Nothing of much value was discovered, however, although some places gave indications which the prospectors think may develop rich. Mr. Schuyler, secretary of the Dominion Quartz Mining Co., paid a visit to the company's quartz ledge on Cariboo Mountain, and speaks hopefully of the mine. He says: "Speaking from an experience of about 13 years in the mines of Idaho, Montana, Nevada, and Utah, I feel confident of its ultimate richness, and of its being a true fissure vein, and that when properly developed it will produce more gold annually than was ever produced in Cariboo's palmiest days." We hope the secretary's sanguine expectations may be speedily realized. The report on coal mining shows that 213,299 tons have been taken out during the year. The number of men employed in the coal mines averaged 1031, of whom 405 were Chinese. The value of mining plant is $410,000. The coal industry is one of the largest and most hopeful in British Columbia. Our coal measures are practically inexhaustible, and the sphere of operations is being steadily extended.

Dangerous Ground.

The Whatcom Reveille returns to the Sumas tragedy in an editorial the spirit of which we cannot commend. It distinctly justifies the lynching of Loui Sam, and backs up those who took part in that unlawful and very questionable outrage. The Reveille does not for a moment permit itself to indulge a doubt that Bell was murdered by Sam. Perhaps it knows, but the evidence so far as it has been made public seems to us very far from being conclusive. Sam may have been guilty or he may not; and when a man suspected of guilt falls into the hands of an excited and reckless mob, the chances are that he will not receive an impartial trial. We do not doubt that the mob believed him guilty; but mobs are very often mistaken, and it is quite possible in this instance they may have hanged the wrong person. The story told by the Indians at Chilliwhack, published in the last issue of THE COLUMBIAN, may or may not be true. It is an improbable story, and we are inclined to doubt it. But the theory advanced by the Reveille (which we suppose is the theory of the lynchers) is by no means conclusive. If Sam shot Bell for the purpose of robbery, surely one would naturally expect to find about him some considerable plunder. So far as we have been able to learn the only suspicious articles found on him were a pocket knife and a pair of suspenders. These are said to have been similar to goods which Bell was known to have in his store; but there is no proof that they ever were in that store, or that Sam did not come into possession of them honestly. If he committed the deed for plunder, where is the plunder? It will not do to say that he hid it somewhere through fear of detection. If he had caution enough to do this, the probability is he would have been cunning enough not to carry about with him the two articles mentioned. But if Sam was guilty of the murder of Bell, that fact does not justify the act of the lynchers. By their act they made themselves murderers in the eyes both of American and Canadian law. There is nothing that should be more carefully guarded by law and public sentiment than life and property. The laws of all civilized nations regard murder as one of the highest offences, and they provide the greatest safeguards against the shedding of innocent blood. But the trial of Loui Sam was not surrounded by any of these safeguards which are considered necessary in a court of justice. Apparently he had no defence whatever, and if there was a prima facie case against him it might have been completely broken down by the production of evidence on the other side. The danger of hasty trials, where formalities are wanting, is that judgment sometimes overtakes the innocent. This is a fatal objection to the system of lynch law which the Reveille deliberately commends. In the instance under consideration the victim happened to be an Indian, and one whose reputation was generally bad. But lynchers do not discriminate, and the next person who falls into their cruel hands may happen to be a white man, and perhaps an American citizen. No man's life is safe under lynch law, for it is very easy to have the finger of suspicion pointed at the most innocent and harmless. For this reason we cannot commend the act of those who took the life of Loui Sam. They undertook to atone for one murder by committing another. They engaged in a practice full of danger and utterly repugnant to humanity. The spread-eagleism of the Reveille is entirely out of place and unworthy of a public journal which professes to have at heart the interest of the community. It is calculated to breed national animosity among the people who reside upon the north and south sides of the boundary, a feeling which, we are glad to know, has hitherto been almost unknown.

THE FINE PERCHERON NORman stallion

PRINCE NAPOLEON,

Will stand at Chilliwhack for the ensuing season, commencing April 1st. Prince Napoleon is a dappled bay with black points and a white strip in face; stands on short legs, is 15¾ hands high, and weighs in condition 1550 lbs; he was bred by W C Myer of Oregon, his dam being Jeanette, got by imported White Prince; his sire is Gen. Fleury, No. 846, P N S B. He is free from vice, is perfectly healthy and sound, and a sure foal-getter, and is without doubt the best bred Norman horse in the country. He is rising six years old. Parties at a distance wishing to breed to the above horse will have pasturage provided free of charge. Mares sent by steamer will be met at the landing and delivered on board at the end of season free of extra charge. All possible care taken, but the owner will not be responsible for accident to mares. For further particulars and terms apply to

A. NORMAN, ESQ.—Dear Sir: Soon after I commenced to use your Electric Appliances, they opened my bowels, cured my cough and cold, relieved my head, and considerably relieved my catarrh in consequence. The discharges from my head and chest are now easy, and I feel altogether better. My digestion has improved, my stomach is less sour and windy, and I am less troubled with distressing & vivid dreams. I had previously tried almost all the advertised patent medicines without deriving any good. Yours truly,

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Dominion Lands in British Columbia.

WITH REFERENCE TO THE FORM of Reply intended to be made in due course to applicants for purchase of Dominion Lands within the Railway Belt on the Mainland of this Province, which was published in the British Columbia newspapers on the 27th November last and subsequently, the attention of applicants for such lands is called to the provisions of the Dominion Lands Act, 1883, as to Homestead Rights, and particularly to sub-section 4 of Section 27 and Section 29 of that Act, to which provisions, as stated in that reply, or to provisions similar thereto, all Homestead Rights in British Columbia will be subject.

The Sections of the Dominion Lands Act which govern Homestead Rights are published in the British Columbia Gazette of this day's date.

The privilege of pre-empting land adjoining land held by Homestead Right will, however, not be granted in British Columbia; and it must therefore be borne in mind that the pre-emption provisions of the Dominion Lands Act will not be made applicable to the Dominion lands in British Columbia.

Due notice will be given when the Dominion lands in the several Districts are respectively open to Homestead Entry, and of the appointment of local agents, before whom the affidavits, prescribed in Section 29 of the Dominion Lands Act, are to be made. JOSEPH W. TRUTCH,
Dominion Govt. Agent.

It began raining yesterday afternoon, and appearances indicate that it will continue for some time.

The str. Reliance went up to Harrison River on Saturday morning and returned Sunday afternoon.

A fast daily train will be put on the Northern Pacific road. It will run from St. Paul to Portland in 90 hours.

The str. Gipsy arrived from Tacoma on Monday evening, with 3 passengers, 61 tons general merchandise, and 8 horses.

It is expected that work on the new brick buildings on the site of the late fire will commence about next Wednesday.

After discharging freight and passengers here, the str. Princess Louise left for Port Hammond at 6 o'clock last night.

Oscar Wilde told his Dublin audience that the great American prairies are shockingly devoid of all artistic decoration.

Tenders are asked by the government for the erection of a building in this city to be used as a land registry office. See adv.

We have received from D. M. Ferry, of Windsor, Ont., a very finely illustrated seed annual for the current year, and a package of seeds.

The str. Rithet was due here last night with freight and passengers from Victoria, but had not arrived at the hour of going to press.

Mr. Geo. Deitz, one of the earliest pioneers of this province, died lately at Oakland, Cal. Mr. Deitz was known everywhere through British Columbia.

The str. Gipsy yesterday brought over from the sound 8 horses, 2 for Mr. J. A. Webster and 6 for Mr. H. Elliott. They are a very fine looking lot of animals.

We understand that the str. Geo. E. Star or the North Pacific will be put on the route between this city and Tacoma early next month, making three trips a week.

From a notice published elsewhere it will be seen that Mr. Chas. Warwick has been appointed government agent at this city, and the appointment is an excellent one.

The contract for improving Port Moody road, from the Clarke trail to the post office, has been awarded to Mr. Arch. Burns. Operations were commenced last Monday.

A cow horn measuring four feet eleven inches in length, and eighteen inches around the base, is on exhibition at Monticello, Fla., and is supposed to be the largest cow horn in the world.

The Council of the Royal Society has appointed a committee to collect the various accounts of the volcanic eruption at Krakatoa and attendant phenomena, for preservation and practical use.

The traveller in Russian Central Asia pays for a camel about $30, for a horse from $7 to $10, for a sheep from $1.50 to $2.50, for a four-year-old cow $5.75, and for a luscious watermelon two cents.

The Dominion Sawmill Co. have got their new boilers in position and the mill is now in full blast. They have ample power for the mill and the factory—and enough left to run a newspaper and municipal government beside.

Mr. Jas. Hennessy, of the Holbrook House, died on Monday night. Mr. Hennessy has been a resident of this city about 15 years. The city flags were put at half-mast yesterday, and the funeral will take place at 2:30 this afternoon.

Several houses for sale by C. D. RAND.

Some people got two or three brass instruments, two bits worth of crackers, some cheese, and had a regular blow out on the night of St. Patrick's day. They serenaded a number of prominent citizens and howled about until midnight.

Besides other interesting articles the Resources of British Columbia for this month contains the full text of Swan's lecture on Queen Charlotte Island, which occupies 10 pages. This number begins the second volume of this excellent publication.

On Easter Monday the first of a series of dramatic entertainments will be given by the Amateur Dramatic Club, when Robertson's original comedy of "Caste" will be presented. We believe it is the intention of the club to raise funds by means of these entertainments to seat the hall.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Frank Forest laid his vest down at the foot of Mary st. where he was repairing a culvert. In the vest pocket was a watch and gold chain. Some mean thief helped himself to these articles and got away unperceived. The watch and chain are valued at upwards of $100.

The Guardian man has discovered that the site selected for the new prison is in the wrong place, and indulges in the customary abuse of the government. Now it so happens that the site was selected with the advice and approval of a committee of the city council. The foolish reflections of "Dishonest James" are, therefore, completely wasted.

BUSINESS NOTICE.—Mr. S. H. Webb will leave for Portland and San Francisco about the 1st of April next, and will undertake to fulfil any commissions entrusted to him. mh19t4

NEW MAP.—We have to thank Mr. C. D. Rand, real estate broker, for a copy of a new map of a portion of the townsite of Port Moody. This map shows the whole of the Clarke, Murray, McInnes, and Suter claims, and is one of the best of Port Moody we have seen.

POLICE COURT.—On Monday a man named Smithe was found guilty of stealing a satchel and went up for six weeks. Schwilt, on remand for larceny, was discharged. Two Indian women were brought up yesterday morning for being drunk, and were fined $6 each.

AMERICAN PORK.—The pork producing industry of the United States has within the last few years grown to proportions well calculated to astonish any who have not kept an eye upon its progress. The net weight of hogs annually slaughtered in the United States is estimated at 5,250,000,000 pounds, with a value of $393,750,000.

PORT MOODY SABBATH SCHOOL.—Last Sunday the first Sabbath school was organized at Port Moody. The following officers were appointed: Superintendent, Mr. Meek; leader of the bible class, Mr. Mennie; teachers, Mrs. Hill and Mr. Norman Fraser. The school will meet in the temperance hall every Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

INFLUENCE OF THE WINTER CARNIVAL.—The Montreal papers mention as one of the happy results of the Carnival the interest in out-door sports that it has awakened among men of business. Many of these have suddenly discovered that they have never had any boyhood, and have donned tuques and hurrahed themselves hoarse tobogganing.

ARRESTED.—Prentiss Teller, the Pacific Express Co.'s agent in St. Louis, who decamped with nearly $100,000 a few days ago, was arrested at 10 o'clock Wednesday by Milwaukee detectives and $70,000 of the money recovered. He was loud in saying that he had no accomplice, but at the same time added that it remained for the company to prove that he had stolen the money.

IMPORTANT FROM OTTAWA.—The Colonist of Friday says: Premier Smithe telegraphed from Ottawa yesterday that the Dominion government will provide a salary for a stipendiary magistrate at Metlakahtla, and that the eastern boundary question (which was brought to the notice of the Ottawa government by Mr. Smithe) is deemed of such moment that it will be referred to the Imperial government for adjustment; meanwhile a provisional boundary line will be established.

MEMORIE AND RIME.—A most delightful mingling of sketches of travel, stories, and poems by Joaquin Miller. In "Notes from an Old Journal" there are given delicious bits of experience in New York City, in the Franco-Prussian war, at a tea-party given by the English poet, Rossetti, etc. The stories and sketches are of Western life, told with the humor and pathos for which the author has long been noted. The "Rhymes for the Right" are in Mr. Miller's most fervent and vigorous vein. "In Memoriam" gives some recollections of men and events which occupy a prominent place in history. The volume does not contain a page, but is brimful of interest. California, Colorado, and especially Oregon, are drawn upon for a fund of interesting anecdote and reminiscence. The author writes of a life he knows thoroughly, and with the pen of genius. For sale by T. R. Pearson & Co.

MAPLE RIDGE LICENSE.—On Saturday Messrs. Harris and Mohun, J.Ps., met at Maple Ridge as a license court. The reeve of the municipality, Mr. Dawson, was not present, however, and the court could not be formed. An application was received from Mr. Stevenson for a license at Port Hammond, and from Mr. McKenny for a license at Maple Ridge. Of course no action was taken on these applications. It is stated that Mr. Dawson expected to lease the bar of the Port Hammond hotel, and because Mr. Stevenson would not make an arrangement with him he purposely remained away from the court so that no license could issue. Mr. Dawson was in this city on Friday and stated that unless he got the place Mr. Stevenson could not get the license! This fact gives an air of probability to the report that he purposely absented himself from the court when he failed to get control of the bar. We are of opinion that Port Hammond will be a great deal better off without any license, but the conduct of Mr. Dawson is none the less reprehensible It was not, apparently, the interest of the community which concerned him, but his own personal interest, and his action is unworthy the reeve of a municipality.

THE STEAM FERRY.—After years of agitation and waiting the steam ferry across the Fraser at this city is at last an accomplished fact. Capt Grant began making regular trips on Monday, and it is admitted everywhere that the ferry is a decided accommodation. The machinery works satisfactorily, but will require use before it becomes perfectly smooth. Quite a number of passengers were ferried over on Monday, and yesterday morning 3 horses and a wagon were taken across. We believe the summer arrangements are that the ferry shall run from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. The ferry is supposed to make a round trip at least once every two hours. We hope the undertaking will be completely satisfactory both to the public and Capt. Grant, who holds the charter. It may not be out of place to observe here that the steam ferry is one of the things to which the senior member for this district promised his support, and, consequently, the Guardian pronounced it a wild scheme which never could be carried out.

THE LAUNCH.—Shortly after 8 o'clock on Saturday morning the new tug for the Royal City Planing Mills was successfully launched in the presence of a number of spectators. As soon as the blocks were knocked out the vessel began to move slowly, the speed increasing until she slid gracefully into the water. Mrs. Jno. Hendry, wife of the manager of the R. C. P. M. Co., christened her, with the customary bottle of wine, the "Belle." After reaching the water it was found necessary to pull her a considerable distance through a narrow channel. This was done by means of the capstan, assisted by the tugs Lottie and Lily, and in less than an hour the Belle floated upon the bosom of the Fraser. She now lies at the R. C. P. M. wharf where she is receiving the balance of her machinery, and it is expected she will be ready for sea about the first of April. The Belle is 80 feet long, 15 feet beam, and about 7 feet hold. She will have a pair of engines 10x10, and an outside condenser. The vessel was built by Mr. Maloney, and presents a very graceful appearance.

LICENSE COURT.—There were two applications for new licenses before the license court last Saturday—one from Mr. Eickhoff, of Front st., and one from Mr. Ibbotson, of Columbia st. Mr. Ibbotson backed up his application with a petition signed by 104 citizens. This petition contained the names of a number of prominent gentleman, very much to the surprise of a majority of the court. It was determined, however, that no new licenses should be granted, and both applications were refused. We believe the action of the court will be sustained by public opinion. There are undoubtedly too many places in the city already where liquor is sold. There is no other province in the Dominion where so many licenses have been granted in proportion to the population. The tendency of legislation for many years past has been to reduce the number of licenses, and it is generally expected that at the next session of our legislature the license act will be amended in this direction. It would be a mistake to increase the number of licenses now in view of the fact that they are almost certain to be reduced by legislative action. It would be creating a vested interest which could not expect to be perpetuated. We suppose it may now be taken for granted that no more liquor licenses will be granted for this city, and those who contemplate going into that business may as well make a note of the fact.

From Nanaimo.

NANAIMO, March 17. — William Driver was found drowned on the beach of Newcastle Island yesterday morning by S. Brightman. Driver left this city last Wednesday evening about dark in his boat for his cabin on the island and was not seen until found yesterday morning. It is supposed he slipped off the rocks after getting out of the boat and was stunned by the fall. He has been brought over here and will be buried to-morrow. Last evening while some sailors were going from here to Departure Bay on the road an altercation arose between them and some Indians of the Euclataw camp, in which one sailor was severely beaten about the head and body, and one Indian was stabbed in the side. Both are in a very critical condition.—Colonist.

From Lytton.

LYTTON, March 17.—A disgusting and beastly affair is reported to have taken place at McCargo's wholesale whisky dive, at the fifty-mile post, near Lytton. It appears that two white men named Scotty Ingle and Michael Raynie were on a drunken spree at the above place on Thursday last. They commenced to quarrel in the evening, and a drunken row ensued, when, it is stated, Scotty Ingle took a broom-handle and used it on Raynie as the attendants of Edward II. are said to have used a hot iron on that monarch. The victim is reported to have suffered great agony until the evening of the following day, when he died. Last Sunday morning Officer Hussey was notified of the occurrence, and he immediately proceeded to the fifty-mile post and arrested Scotty Ingle, on the charge of having assaulted Michael Raynie with intent to do him some grievous bodily harm. Until a coroner's examination and skilled medical testimony has been obtained, no further particulars can be given.—Colonist.

City Council.

The city council met at 7:30 Monday evening, his worship Mayor Dickinson presiding. Present—Councillors Deane, Cunningham, Curtis and Johnston.

A communication was read from the provincial secretary, relative to the location of the new jail, stating that the reserve on Simcoe street (the one first agreed upon) was, in his opinion and also that of his colleagues, the most appropriate place.

On motion of Coun. Cunningham, seconded by Coun. Deane, the Council resolved to hand over its right or interest in the above reserve to the provincial government for the purpose of a location for the new jail.

A communication from property owners on Agnes street, releasing the council from responsibility in regard to damages arising from the building of sidewalks on that street, was received and filed.

Tenders for lamplighter and caretaker of council chamber were opened and read, as follows: James Gowdy, $25 per month; John Devoy, $45; J. M. Dremayea, $50; J. B. Beauneau, $50; Geo. Good, $50.

On motion of Coun. Curtis, seconded by Coun. Johnston, the tender of John Devoy, at $45 per month, was accepted.

Bills ordered paid — Guardian, $10; Wm. Rae, $10.

A lengthy argument then ensued regarding police court fines, and the convenience of having the police magistrate also a J. P. It was resolved that the council ask the provincial government to appoint the present police magistrate (Mr. Bole) a justice of the peace.

Council then took up the Salaries by-law, Clause 4, regarding the lamplighter, was amended by striking out the words "and engine house," and inserting $45 as the monthly salary. The by-law was read a third time and passed.

Coun. Curtis' Road Tax by-law was read the first time.

The Assessment Roll by-law was laid over one week.

On motion the council decided to meet at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday (to-day) to revise and complete the assessment roll.

On motion of Coun. Deane, the board of works were instructed to employ a surveyor to make plans and specifications for sidewalks on Agnes street.

On motion of Coun. Johnston, seconded by Coun. Cunningham, the Mayor appointed Couns. Cunningham, Johnston and Hendry as a committee to confer with Capt. Grant in regard to the repairs and alterations needed on the ferry wharf.

On motion of Coun. Curtis, the sum of $20 was ordered placed in the hands of the board of works for the purpose of opening up Halifax street.

Moved by Coun. Cunningham, seconded by Coun. Curtis, that the clerk ask for tenders for doing the city's newspaper advertising for the current year, at a stated sum per line of nonpareil type.

The attention of the board of works was called to the bridge near Jas. Robinson's place, to the need of a drain near Mr. Ross' residence, and to the condition of the bridge near Mr. Andrews' place.

The attention of the Mayor was called to a certain unseemly pile of lumber on Agnes street.

Notice of motion by Coun. Curtis—To ask at next meeting for $20 for the purpose of opening up street near Mr. Haynes' property.

Council then adjourned.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

PARIS, March 10. — An advanced Irish Nationalist has declared that the Nationalists are annoyed but in no way discouraged by the failure of the dynamite attempts. He predicted a long series of explosions in England in the immediate future. Mechanism has been invented which renders an explosion certain and obviates the use of clock-work. Great vexation is expressed that the Irish-American waylaid by four men early Saturday morning did not prove to be the informer McDermott. At a recent meeting of the Invincibles here lots were drawn for men to accomplish the murder of McDermott. This resulted in the selection of the four men. It was decided to seek McDermott in the other capitals of Europe, if not found in Paris. Tynan, supposed to be the notorious "Number One," has been written to and is expected in Paris early in the summer, when he will assume entire direction of the operations.

LONDON, March 12.—Inspector Moser has returned from Paris. He failed to find evidence that the Fenians in Paris make dynamite or were implicated in the London explosions. He believes that nine men on board the steamer Danube brought the dynamite to London. These men the police are now tracing.

STARKVILLE, Miss., March 12.—A cyclone in this county yesterday destroyed every building on the principal street of this place, and many plantations suffered seriously. Mrs. Grier and daughter and Ossian Gillespie were killed. The loss in the county is $100,000.

DENVER, March 12.—The bodies of 10 of the victims of the snowslide at Woodstock Monday night are recovered. They are George Alexander, M. Shea, Jos. Casey, M. Caswell, A. Christopher, M. Kale, and Marsella and Maggie Doyle, the latter the children of Widow Doyle, who, with Miss Dillon and Hugh Alexander, were rescued and may recover. The bodies of the operator, J. G. Brown of Chatauqua, N. Y., Joseph Rivers, and John Mulholland have not been recovered.

MANDAN (Dak.), March 12.—Major McLaughlin and Sitting Bull arrived here this evening en route to Minneapolis. The Indian was never further east than Bismarck. The object of the present trip is to show him how the white people live in the big cities.

PARIS, March 13.—The French occupied Bacninh yesterday. The Chinese fled in the direction of Thaing Huen. The French had 70 wounded. General Magriers' column entered Bacninh at six o'clock Wednesday evening. The Chinese became demoralized in the "turning" movements of the combined French columns, abandoned their position and fled by the Thaing Huen road. The Chinese loss is heavy. A Krupp battery and much ammunition was found in the citadel.

LONDON, March 13. — Dispatches from Suakim says the enemy was enabled to penetrate the second square and were captured by movements of guns and the Black Watch regiment, which advanced impetuously and broke the ranks. A number of rebels still hover around the camp and fire when the cattle are being watered. The native guides bolted when the square was broken. Further fighting is improbable. The battle raged two and a half hours. The rebel loss is estimated at 4000 killed and 6000 wounded. The rebels penetrated the second square upon hands and knees beneath the muzzles of the Gattling guns. They then commenced slashing with their weapons, doing terrible execution. The British were no match for the rebels at close quarters. The British returned to Suakim to-day.

LONDON, March 14.—Further details describing the battle yesterday between Graham's forces and the rebels continue to arrive. During the confusion which ensued when the Arabs made their wild rush on the British lines and caused their retreat of, the newspaper reporters and other non-combatants took part in the fray with their revolvers freely and with deadly effect against the enemy. After the battle Osman's camp and three villages were burned. Among the trophies are Osman's standards. Tewfik Bey was also recaptured. The British loss is considerably heavier than at first reported. The number killed reached 100, wounded 150. Gen. Graham's forces are returning to Suakim. Osman Digma fled to the hills. Arabs are retreating before the English slowly and sullenly. They were defeated but not put to rout. They walked away as if sauntering through a bazaar, with arms folded or swinging at their sides. Many were shot down but this did not hasten their companions' speed.

FARGO, Dakota, March 14.—It is reported there is unusual activity among the Fenians. It was learned that a committee had gone to Manitoba and that they report favorably. Lively times will be seen in a few weeks. The Fenians have 1,500 breech-loading rifles within a short distance of the border. It is reported that as soon as the plan is completed and time of action arrived that all communication with Manitoba will be stopped. Reports to hand show that the Dominion Government has but 2,500 troops in the whole of Manitoba, many of whom are at present engaged in suppressing an Indian uprising at Qu'Appelle.

TORONTO, Ont., March 15.—Early this morning while a freight train was backing on the siding near High Park, the scene of the terrible accident on the 2nd of January, another freight train ran into it. The engineer and fireman of the train ran into are probably fatally injured. The damage to rolling stock is estimated at $25,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—On the arrival of the steamer Geo. W. Elder from Victoria the custom house officers discovered and seized 18 fine tool boxes containing opium. An attempt was being made to smuggle them into this city. It is believed by officers making the seizure that some of the officers are implicated in the transaction and strong efforts will be made to discover the guilty party.

LONDON, March 15.—In the commons to-day Lord Hartington, War Secretary, announced telegraphic communication with Khartoum was broken and that a steamer passing down the Nile from Khartoum to Sherdy had been subjected to a continuous fusilade for three days, it is believed by tribes in that region in revolt. A battalion of British soldiers had been dispatched to Assouan.

SUAKIN, March 17.—The troops manifest great discontent at the prospect of being ordered to advance on Berber.

LONDON, March 17.—Rumors are current in the lobbies of the house of commons that the resignation of Gladstone and other members of the government has been under consideration at their cabinet councils. A majority of the cabinet favor a prolonged occupation of Egypt, to which Gladstone is opposed.

LONDON, March 17, (evening.)—The air is full of rumors of dissension in the cabinet, the resignation of Gladstone, and the dissolution of parliament. It is said that Gladstone is suffering from catarrhal fever and is too hoarse to speak. There are undoubtedly differences in the ministry as regards the length to which Great Britain shall go in the Soudan war, but they will not cause a split in the ministry. Liberals are confident that whatever happens Gladstone will insist on the final decision by parliament on the country franchise question.

DUBLIN, March 17.—Placards have been posted about Skibbereen, County Cork, announcing an outbreak of civil war in March. The police are removing them.

SUAKIN, March 17.—The Gordon Highlanders and mounted infantry, with tents and baggage, will proceed to Handouka to-morrow. The man-of-war Sphynx has gone to Massowah to report on the defence of that town.

SUAKIN, March 17.—Spies report Osman Digma trying to collect fresh forces. The officers of the Black Watch received a despatch from Wolseley saying, "Black Watch, well done!"

LONDON, March 18.—The police of Newcastle-on-Tyne have received information of a plot to explode the principal buildings of the city including the central railway station and the postoffice.

WHAT SHALL WE DRINK AT THE LORD'S TABLE?

Extracts from the Union Signal and Montreal Witness.

"Is it right to sanction the use of fermented wine at the Lord's table?

Brought up as we all have been, to feel that we enter the Holy of Holies when we receive the 'Sacrament,' is it to be wondered at that to many it seems like a sacrilege to suggest any change in the emblems of Christ's body and blood. ......By a careful study of the New Testament, we find that the word 'wine' is not used in connection with the Lord's Supper. Nine times it is simply called 'the cup,' and our Saviour's own descriptive term is 'the fruit of the vine'—Matt. 26:29; Mark 14:25; Luke 22:18. By 'the fruit of the vine' is it conclusive that Christ meant wine, with the modern definition of the term? As an answer to this question, we learn that the Lord's Supper was instituted at the Passover Feast, from which every species of leaven and ferment was excluded on pain of death to the partaker. Read carefully, Exodus 12:15-20; Lev. 2:11; 10:12; Amos 4:5; also Exodus 34:25, which says: 'Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice with leaven,' etc.

Whenever the Passover is celebrated by the Jews of to-day, it is celebrated with unleavened bread, and unfermented wine. This fact is sustained by the highest Jewish authority. Testimony on this point is contained in the Temperance Commentary.

Since it would have been so easy to procure the pure juice of the grape ('the fruit of the vine'), and since the Jewish laws forbade the use of anything fermented, since Christ distinctly stated that he came not to destroy but to fulfil, does it not seem unnatural to conclude that in defiance of Jewish authority and custom Christ should have used at his last supper the fermented wine?

The personal experience of many a temperance worker will testify that reformed men who have come to the communion table for the much needed strength to battle with the old appetite for alcohol, have had the appetite revived beyond control by the taste of the wine offered them as an emblem of Christ's redeeming blood; offered in remembrance of Him who went about doing good; in remembrance of Him whose own model for our prayer was, 'Lead us not into temptation.' In remembrance of Him who said: 'But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.'

Is it not more of a sacrilege for Christians in the name of and for the sake of Christ to tempt men and women to their deadly peril than for each one to intelligently ask herself if fermented wine can be thus used, in the spirit of the Master? Since 'fruit of the vine' may be had unbrandied and unfermented, does not christian charity demand its use in our churches?

As temperance women we are striving to so educate our children that they shall have an abhorence of alcoholic beverages. If we make no protest against its use at the communion table, do we not give to it a sanctity which will break down all of our former arguments against it, as an evil thing? Is it right for us thus to familiarize our children with the taste and smell of wine, and thus give to it a title to reverence and respect?..........

One church has used the following recipe for twenty-five years for preparing communion wine: 'Express the juice of the grapes as you do for jelly; heat immediately to the boiling point, bottle and seal exactly as you do fruit. Adapt the size of bottles to the number of communicants, as the wine will ferment if left over from one communion to another.' It is suggested that the pastor of each church appoint some lady in his society, who shall have special charge of the communion wine, preparing it herself if necessary.

Dear friends, if you will conscientiously follow the directions here given, we shall find that our churches will be purified, and that no holy sanction will be given by them for the use of fermented wine. MRS. G. S. HUNT,
National Supt. Dept. Unfermented Wine.

The following has been published by the request of the Montreal W. C. T. U.:

"It is a well known fact that when fermented wine is used for sacramental purposes, the reformed drunkard cannot put the sacred cup to his lips without incurring the danger of a relapse into former habit. 'One of the members of our church told me that before we gave up using intoxicating wine, it was with the greatest difficulty that he was able to resist taking more after the taste was excited,' writes a deacon in a western church, and this man's experience is that of many. For this reason, if for no other, churches should be careful to use unfermented wine, and they would no doubt be glad to do so, if they knew how to obtain that article. Miss Willard in her book entitled 'Woman and Temperance' tells how the problem was solved in a church in an American city. The lady who served it says, 'Some time ago, our church decided not to use fermented wine, but somehow a sort of logwood decoction got into the chalices, which was entirely out of place and harmful to our cause. Some of the deacons said: 'We cannot have such a mixture as this—it will not answer,' and they were right. The matter troubled me. At last I said to my husband, 'I can't go out much to the temperance meetings or take an active part in the Woman's Union, but I can prepare wine enough for our church of eight hundred members for all the communions of this year, and I'll do so.' It was no easy undertaking. It kept me in my kitchen wide awake and on the alert for several days, but I've got the wine all bottled up, and the people are well pleased with it.' 'Let some lady in each church,' says Miss Willard, 'go and do likewise, and she will have helped our many-sided cause in a noble efficient way.' This lady's receipe is as follows:

Take twenty pounds Concord grapes and add two quarts of water. After crushing the grapes put them into a porcelain kettle. When at a boiling heat the juices separate from the pulp and skins. Then strain through a tin sieve or colander, using a little more water. Add six pounds of granulated sugar. After the sugar is all dissolved, strain through a thick cloth. Then heat and pour immediately into stone bottles and seal tightly while hot. The above will make three gallons and, if properly put up, will keep any length of time, but all air must be kept from it till wanted for use. It is better to use bottles that will hold the quantity needed for each communion.

A Montreal lady has, for a number of years, prepared all the wine used in the church to which she belongs from a very similar recipe, at the small cost of twenty-five cents a bottle. Her plan is as follows:

Take twenty-five pounds of grapes and a pound of sugar mixed with a quart of water, bring to the boil and when cool squeeze through a jelly bag. Mix the juice with four pounds of sugar, boil fifteen minutes, skim and bottle while hot in bottles taken out of boiling water. Seal with beeswax and rosin. This makes a very excellent article.

Another well recommended receipe is as follows:

Take one gallon of grapes, wash them well, add half a gallon of water and let it stand in an earthen jar for three days. Then run off the liquid which is at the bottom, being careful to disturb as little as possible the skins and seeds that have risen to the surface. Add a pound of sugar to each quart of grape juice, bring to the boil, and while at that temperature can in self-sealing jars or sealed bottles.

These directions are published in the hope that temperance ladies throughout the country will take the matter up and see that the churches are provided with a pure wine for the communion table. In regions where grapes are not to be had, arrangements might be made with a Woman's Christian Temperance Union in some other place to provide the necessary quantity at a reasonable price."

Delta Council.

Council held a special meeting on the 11th inst.; present, Dr. Kent, in the chair, and Couns. Kirkland, Page, McKee, and Arthur. A communication from the provincial secretary was received and filed. A communication from Wadhams, Guichon and others was laid over. Revenue bylaw passed first reading. Bylaw for return of assessment roll passed first reading. Court of revision bylaw passed first reading. Coun. Page's resignation was read and accepted and the following resolution passed:—That this council deeply regret the departure of Coun. and Mrs. Page from this municipality; his valuable services as councillor at this board have ever been esteemed and appreciated, while we feel that in our social circles their absence will create a void which cannot easily be filled and it is the earnest hope of this body that in their future home they may experience from an all-wise providence continued health and material prosperity. The election to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Coun. Page will be held on Tuesday next at Ladner's Landing. Wm. McKee was appointed returning officer.

Chilliwhack Council.

Council met on the 11th inst.; present, D. McGillivray (reeve), and Couns. Wells, Ryder, Branchflower, Wheeler and Thompson. Communications from settlers, asking Council to have a road gazetted near the big prairie; from S. Cawley, sec. agricultural society, asking Council to grant a sum of money to lessen the debt of the society, which amounts to $176.53; from C. S. Ryder, tender to build Elk creek bridge for the sum of $260; from Jno. Barber, tender to build Elk creek bridge for $280. On motion, C. S. Ryder was awarded the contract. Wm. Bell was awarded the contract for brushing and clearing 83 chains for road on Fairfield Island, at $5 cents per chain. Communication received from Messrs. Drake, Jackson and Helmcken, with bill for the sum of $150, their costs in the case of Vedder v. Chadsey, also stating that owing to the course adopted by the plaintiff he gets no damages and no costs. Petition from residents of Sumas, asking that a road be laid out and gazetted from trunk road, between Wm. and Geo. Chadsey's farms, across Chas. and John Wilson's farms, to Sumas Landing. On motion, the Board of Works were authorized to lay out the road referred to as soon as convenient On motion, Wm. Chadsey was instructed to make a brush bridge across a slough near Vedder's bridge, cost not to exceed $6. Coun. Ryder asked leave to introduce a statute labor bylaw. Leave granted and bylaw passed through its several stages. The Board of Works reported that they had examined the work performed by Geo. Banford and that he was entitled to the sum of $25 as payment for the work including 1,000 feet of plank which the Board of Works authorized him to purchase for bridge purposes. On motion, the Council awarded a sufficient sum to pay for planking Gillander's bridge across Hope slough. On motion, the Clerk was instructed to procure legal advice as to whether Council can sue and recover taxes from A. S. and V. Vedder on their assessment of 1882. On motion, the sum of $75 was awarded to be expended by Pathmaster Stady on line of road between sections 25 and 26, township 26. On motion, Geo. Banford received govt. voucher for the sum of $25. Bills were paid as follows: J. C. Henderson, $15; Wm. Branchflower, $2; W. B. Hall, $2. Council adjourned till first Tuesday in April at 10 o'clock.

PAUL BOYNTON SETTLES DOWN.—Capt. Paul Boynton has married Maggie Connolly of Chicago, and will settle down in New York and devote himself to submarine engineering, etc. He has swam over 25,000 miles in his famous rubber suits, and there is practically no more aquatic world to be conquered in that way.

BARNUM'S ELEPHANT A HUMBUG.—Barnum's white elephant is denounced as a humbug by two correspondents of the Pall Mall Gazette. Prof. Ray Lankester declares that the alleged Burmese priests brought to England to conduct a worship of the beast are no priests; that Barnum paid less than £500 for the animal, rather than the £40,000 advertised as its cost; and furthermore that white, that is, flesh colored, elephants are like white (flesh colored) pigs, only a chance variety of the black sort. He distinctly denies that the white elephant is ever worshiped.

INSECT LIFE IN A SNOWFLAKE.—Some of the imaginative and wonderfully learned German scholars tell us that every snowflake is inhabited by happy little beings who are born, hold their revels and live their long lives of happiness and delight, die and are buried, during the descent of the snowflakes from the world of clouds to the solid land. I do not know whether to believe the scholars or not. They are of that same school which tells you that every square foot of air possesses some 12,000,000 or 15,000,000 of more or less perfect little beings, and that at every ordinary breath we destroy a million more or less of these happy lives. The sigh of a healthy lover is supposed to swallow up about 15,000,000. They insist that the dust which will, as all know, accumulate in the most secure and secret places, is merely the remains of millions and billions of these little beings who have died of old age. All this, of course, is mere speculation. But I do know that the snow is, in some parts of the world, thickly inhabited. I have seen snow in Idaho black with little insects. They call them snow-fleas. They are lively as possible, and will darken your footprints, walk as fast as you may. They are found only on the high mountains, and only in very fresh and very deep snow. They, of course, do not annoy you in any way. They are infinitely smaller than the ordinary flea, but exactly the same in locomotion.—Joaquin Miller.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. (ap4eotly)

This Engraving represents the Lungs in a healthy state.

THE WAY IT WILL AFFECT YOU.

It excites expectoration and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucous; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. SUCH IS THE IMMEDIATE AND SATISFACTORY EFFECT that it is warranted to break up the most distressing cough in a few hours' time, if not of too long standing. It is warranted TO GIVE ENTIRE SATISFACTION, EVEN IN THE most confirmed cases of Consumption! It is warranted not to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is warranted to be perfectly harmless to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no real necessity for so many deaths by Consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time. Physicians having consumptive patients, and who, having failed to cure them with their own medicines, we would recommend to give ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM a trial. Sold by all Druggists. je30-1m.

Our Story.

NELLIE'S MEMORIES.

"The proprieties, I detest them—go —they are too absurd," said Eleanor, speaking in a quick, bright voice, in which was the musical ring of the foreigner; "who regards the inconvenient decorum of these cold English people, with their wind that whistles so chilly in the fairest summer's day, and their sarcasms so polished, and so nipping? Here there is nothing warm, strong, brilliant, as in our sunny south."

"Are you pining already to return to Italy?" asked Dudley, with grave kindness. "Your sister wearies of your wandering passage life, and is rejoicing in her quiet home. True, our skies are not so blue, but we have sunny nooks of landscape beauty to attract an artist's eye."

Eleanor dropped her flowers, and looked up into his face with eager interest.

"You are right there; you have spoken the truth. Every morning have I waded through the dew, up and down the meadows, and through the leafy lanes, to find a subject for my pencil, and have had to choose among a hundred; but to-day I have fixed my mind, and have found one, quaint, homely, English, what you call—ravisante—seen through a break in the hedge, at the bottom of the home fields."

"And what was that, Lenore? describe it to us, if you will; though, if I may hazard a guess, it is only that old brown cottage standing by the roadside."

"Old — brown — yes, you have it there; but then, what surroundings! A background of wood, still, green, velvety; a patch of sunny road; a Roman horse-trough, such as those of Etruria might have used; an oak tree, casting dusky shadows; a cool, deep pond, with a broken fence, and a willow trailing at its edge—what would you more?" And Eleanor, subsiding into silence, pulled the crimson petals of a brilliant exotic to pieces.

"Your whole soul seems in your art," observed Dudley, while Miss Vivian and I exchanged smiles.

"My soul?" said Eleanor, with a strange bright smile that seemed to light up her face with a sunbeam, and then flicker and die rapidly out. "You an Englishman, and talk of my soul! Do the men here think they have any? do they think of more than their money-getting, and their great hungry selves? But you are different, you do not seem to be a stranger to the sympathies—say, do you care for these things?"

"Very much," he answered, heartily; "so much so, that one day when you know me better, and consider me entitled to such honor, you must permit me to see your studio."

"Permit you! you shall see it at once—come;" and springing from the ground, which was strewn in a moment with her flowers, she beckoned to him as frankly as if she had known him for a life-time.

"One moment, Eleanor," remonstrated her sister; "you must invite my friend, Miss Mortimer, too!"

"Consider it done," she returned, tapping a little scarlet slipper impatiently upon the floor; "why so ceremonious, Marion? and for you"—looking at Dudley, "you shall tell me what picture you like, and the one you choose shall be your own—your very own—to remind you of your first visit to the Priory."

"Indeed," replied Dudley, turning red, "I cannot permit you to suffer by such impulsive generosity; at any future time I shall be proud indeed to accept the slightest sketch from your hands, but——"

"But is a word I approve of in no language; and unless you accept my favors, you shall not cross the threshold of my studio—hold, I am serious, there——" and Eleanor wrinkled her low white brow till her hair rippled over her eyes. "I paint only for caprice, and I love to part with my pictures to my friends."

"Then let it be so, out of gratitude for the implied compliment of being ranked among the number of your friends," returned Dudley, half-fascinated and half-repelled by the new aspect of warm southern nature presented to his view; "and if my choice light on the best and favorite, the fault must lie with yourself."

"I!—I have no favorites; but come, you are wasting time and my patience!" and so saying, she turned, and leading the way across the hall, flitted up the broad oaken staircase before us.

I say "flitted" for no word in our language could describe Eleanor's movements—so sudden, erratic, abrupt, and yet so graceful. One could not say of her as of others that she walked, glided, sailed, or even swam; but in a way, she combined all. She moved with the springy step of a fawn, and the erect head of a queen; impulse and dignity blended together in her gait.

At the landing-place she paused, and beckoning again with her hand, ushered us into a noble-looking room—a room that reflected its owner in every corner of it.

The walls, as well as the coverings of the various lounges, ottomans, and sofas, were of a delicate sea-green, that faint, fair color that reminds one of cool summer seas, or the tender tints of the spring; but the hangings that shaded the windows were of rose-colored silk, and the floor was covered with velvet-pile, into which one sank as into the moss at the foot of some gnarled oak.

A balcony had been thrown out, which was furnished in the Italian style, with tubs of aloes, and stone vases full of flowering shrubs; part of it was protected by an awning, and spread with a curiously-patterned Indian matting. Here there were seats placed, with guitar and book, and mantilla thrown carelessly down, as if the morning had been spent there; and everywhere, piled on tables, stands, easel, and even chairs, were Eleanor's pictures—some mere sketches, some half-finished, as if she had wearied of them, and flung them aside—very few of them really completed and ready for the wall.

That they were painted by the hand of an artist was undoubted, though it was a crude and girlish one, as her sister had said. They were all fresh, fervid in color, bold and masterly in style, and bearing the stamp of genius; but none the less did they all have the same fault—want of finish, the marks of a restless, capricious fancy, soon wearying of its subject, and turning to another; and yet, even in their incompleteness, charming more than another's perfected production; even as originality and genius always will attract more than laborious perseverance without it.

They were so varied, too. Here a Roman drinking fountain, with a water-carrier asleep; an archway, with Florentine girls selling grapes; a stone cross, broken and moss-grown, with a brown baby at the foot, with bare dimpled limbs, watched over by a sheep-dog; a bird's nest full of speckled eggs.

Then a sea-view—white cliffs, tiny wavelets lapping on the yellow sands, dark ridges of sea-weed, a distant sparkle of foam, a silver sail gleaming in the sunlight. Now, the same sea repeated under the horror of a tempest — white-flecked breakers, sullen as death; an inky sky lowering its crest; a broken mast, with a dead hand clinging to it.

Then a forest dell; patches of yellow moss trailing shadows, rank luxuriance of foliage, full-leaved parasites, a blue sky, the stillness of approaching evening; and over each we lingered till we were weary of reiterating the same praise. But at last came a silence, a pause, and then Dudley said—

"Here is one, Miss Vivian, that I admire more than all."

It was small, simple in subject, but with more lavish work expended on it than on any of the others; it was as if the artist had loved it herself, and had not cared to hurry it. An English pastoral.

"A few poor sheep," as Eleanor laughingly said, "and nothing more."

And she was right. Stray sheep that wandered into a field through a break in the hedge, by which lay a sleeping shepherd, with the rest of the flock looking wistfully after their companions, but not daring, like them, to pass their "Cerberus," who, curled up on his master's coat, was fast asleep too.

The beauty, however, lay not in subject, but in the coloring; the full, deep tints of evening; the sun flushing the clover; the bank of rosy clouds to westward; the church spire peeping through the trees; the harmony of the whole; and we both agreed with Dudley in thinking it the most beautiful of all

"Well, it is yours," said Eleanor carelessly. "Guido shall bring it you this evening, and I will come over to-morrow and show you in what light to hang it, and see your great ugly Sunnyside at the same time."

"Lenore!" said her sister, gravely, while Dudley, checked in his intended thanks, stood and stared as if he had not heard aright.

"Why! what have I done! What are you looking at?" returned Eleanor, with a little wilful laugh. "I thought you were a nation of truth-tellers! Is not your house ugly; and why must I give the polite lie?"

"If you cannot praise, at least be silent; courtesy forbids blame," replied Marion; "and what fault can you possibly find in Mr. Mortimer's home? It looks to me the very ideal of domestic comfort."

"Because you have no perception of the beautiful; you have great, silly, English ideas. Look here," pointing to where, across the low meadow, stood Sunnyside, gleaming white through the garden-trees, "who, that has eyes, can call that huge barn pretty, with its unsightly stacks of chimneys and great staring windows? Why do not you, who have sense," turning to Dudley, "cover and hide it with ivy, with luxuriant creepers — Virginian, that turns red in autumn, and wistaria, with clusters of flowering grapes? Where is your taste and discernment? Do you love barns?"

"I love Sunnyside," replied Dudley, stoutly, "and I hate ivy, and tore it all down last spring because it was ruining the wall, and filled our bedrooms with earwigs and such-like noxious insects; but I agree with you, Miss Vivian, that the Priory is more to my taste—indeed it is my notion of an earthly Paradise; and if I see much more of it I shall be fearful of breaking the tenth commandment."

"Then come every day, if you like; we have no friends here, Marion and I, and you please me, and your sister too—only she is so quiet, keeps in a corner, and nibbles her thoughts like a little white mouse; and I cannot come to you; I do not love barns."

"Oh, Eleanor, how can you be so rude! Mr. Mortimer, pray excuse her; you see what a child she is—so careless of her words."

"I see," returned Dudley, with a grave kind smile at Marion's perturbed face, "but your sister's outspoken frankness needs no apology. Both Nellie and I understood it in a moment—still, Miss Eleanor, we have English notions of pride, and never visit those who will not return it; and so, if you disdain the barn, this will be the last, as well as the first, visit to the Priory."

"Nonsense," replied Eleanor, impatiently, and coloring high. "We are going to be friends, I tell you; and now come and see our garden—it is prettier than yours, though I have never seen it; Marion and I planned it at Vienna, and Dominique carried it out. And before we could answer she was springing down the staircase again, and was out on the lawn in a minute, while we followed her more leisurely.

Dudley lingered behind with Marion, while I walked on ostensibly with Eleanor, though she was never still for a second, or uttered two consecutive words;—now she was skimming over the grass in search of gay-colored moths; now flitting from flower to flower, like a humming-bird; now entangled in a rose-thicket, in search of a thorn-garnished bud, that scratched her white hand in the gathering; now calling to Dudley and interrupting his quiet talk with her sister, to look at some view, or some picturesque embankment of clouds, and doing everything in a perfectly perplexing and wholly fascinating way.

Presently we heard the cooing of doves, and came in sight of their lattice-work prison, and in a moment Eleanor was in the midst of them, fondling them in her bosom, stroking their sleek bird-heads, as they perched on her shoulder, cooing in her ear, and fluttering delightedly around her, till she at last came out with one resting one her bare white arm.

"You seem fond of them?" I said, smiling, as she nestled the pretty creature against her cheek.

"Very. I have many pets—wait, you shall see," and taking up a little whistle that was suspended to her girdle, she sounded it three times, loudly.

Presently came a joyous barking, and a beautiful Italian boy, dressed in a rich but strange costume, came running up the lawn, with two white Persian kittens under his arm, and followed by three small Italian greyhounds, and a King Charles spaniel, that swept the grass with its long ears.

NOTICE

TO ARCHITECTS.

THE HON. THE CHIEF COMMISSIONer of Lands and Works hereby invites Architects to submit, on or before the 10th May next (competitive) Plans and Specifications, and Estimates of Cost, based upon the subjoined data, for the construction of a Gaol to be erected in the City of New Westminster, British Columbia:

SITE—The site is isolated and slopes to the south, with a fall of about one foot in eight feet.

FRONT—The front elevation will face the south.

MATERIALS—The materials used in construction will include stone for foundation, brick for walls, wood, iron, etc., etc.

CAPACITY—The building must be of sufficient size to contain one hundred prisoners; cells must be suitable for either one, or more than two prisoners; there must be at least four dark or punishment cells.

Also, quarters for one warden, officers' rooms, kitchens, laundry, store-rooms, offices and other essentials.

REQUISITES — The general arrangement and disposition of the component parts of the building must be with a view to security and convenience, modern improvements in ventilation and mode of heating; water must be laid on and means of extinguishing fire provided; gas will not be used.

COST—The cost of the building complete inclusive of all charges, must not exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000).

Plans and Specifications must be signed with a nom de plume and accompanied by a sealed letter containing the true name and address of the Architect.

The Architect of the design which may be adopted (if any) will be paid the usual commission if the work is carried out under his supervision, or he will be paid five hundred dollars ($500) without superintendence, as may be agreed upon or decided by the Government.

The Architect whose design is deemed next in order of merit will be paid the sum of $100. Rejected designs will be returned. W. S. GORE, Sur.-Genl.

DR. SPINNEY & CO.'S DISPENSARY,

NO. 11 KEARNEY STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

DR. SPINNEY, well known as the founder of the Montreal, (C. E.) Medical Institute, and late Proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, would most respectfully inform his patients and the afflicted generally, that he still continues to treat chronic and nervous diseases with unparalleled success.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.

Remember that procrastination is the thief of time so

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the Doctor examine your case. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case. If he can cure you he will tell you so; if not, he will tell you that, for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure.

Parties at a distance wishing treatment, by sending $25 and a minute description of their troubles will receive in return a full course of treatment securely packed so as not to excite curiosity.

DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit Five Hundred Dollars for every case of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

P. S.—For diseases of short standing, a full course of medicine, sufficient for a cure, with all instructions, will be sent to any address on receipt of $10.
