Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Oct. 14, 1887.

An old fellow who had never before seen a railroad train, and who shortly after boarding a train, experienced the horrors of a collision, dragged himself from under a heavy box, and, calling the conductor, said: "Cap'n I've got a-nuff. I liked it pretty well as long as you was a-rannin, but this fool way o' stoppin' yore machine don't strike me as bein' altogether comfortable. Blamed ef you haint killed one man, an' yander is a feller all crippled up. I don't b'lieve in on sich progickin', an' ef you'll skuze me I'll walk."—Arkansaw Traveller.

There are 100,000 "Bluenoses" from the Maritime Provinces of Canada in this country, against 778,564 in the provinces themselves. As a matter of fact there are more Canadians from these provinces now living in this country than the added population of the principal towns of Halifax, St. John, Portland, Charlottetown and Fredericktown. Speaking of this, the St. John Telegraph says:—"These are startling facts. How is this drain of our population to be checked? We have tried building the Pacific railway and other schemes, but without checking this drain of our Maritime life blood. Is it not time we tried reciprocity?"—N. Y. Tribune.

The bottom appears to be dropping out of the real estate boom that California has been so industriously developing for some time past. It has been mainly a speculative movement, and those in it are dreading the day of settlement, according to a Los Angeles special in the New York Herald, because there will be $45,000,000 due before New Year's day, and there is not the money in sight to meet the calls that are coming. Of course as the crash feared is one that exists mainly on paper and means more a dissipation of hopes than a destruction of capital, the ultimate results are not likely to interfere with the prosperity of the State, but none the less they point a moral to those who imagine that a boom business on fictitious value is a desirable form of steady investment.—Buffalo Courier.

The London correspondent of Le Moniteur de la Photographie writes to that journal: In the middle of the winter which has just elapsed a student made a lens of ice, with which he lit the pipes of some of the skaters on the Serpentine by means of the solar rays—an experiment, he says, which was first performed in the polar regions by Mr. Scoresby, to the great astonishment of the sailors, for they could not understand why the ice did not freeze the beams of the sun. We may remark that Prof. Tyndall at times would set fire at the Royal Institution to a little heap of gunpowder with rays from the electric are concentrated upon powder by means of a lens of ice. His explanation was that although ice absorbs rays of certain wave lengths, and is generally melted thereby, other waves it does not absorb, and these latter produce the heating effect at the focus of the lens. It is wholly a question of the relative motions of the molecules of frozen water and the motions of the waves of light; when there is discord between the two the discordant waves pass through the ice without absorption. British Journal of Photography.

The recent overflow of the Nile, it is said, destroyed abont $3,000,000 worth of property. The Khedive is just now making a tour of the county to inspect the ravages of the flood and to satisfy himself as to the feasibility of the project for the restoration of Lake Moeris, proposed by Mr. Cope Whitehouse, and approved last year by the Egyptian Minister of Public Works. This lake, which is described by Herodotus as being 450 miles in circumference and 300 feet deep, was for centuries believed to be mythical. Some ears ago, however, Mr. Whitehouse discovered a great depression, south-west of Cairo, and 300 feet below the level of the Nile, which is now believed to have been the ancient bed of the lake. The present project is to restore the canal leading from the river, which is said to have been dug by Joseph, and thus utilize the lake for the purpose of receiving the Nile's surplus floods and storing them for use in the dry season. The danger from inundations would thus be removed and an immense reservoir for irrigating purposes created. It is estimated that the cost of the work would be only $5,000,000, and an offer has been made to the Egyptian Government to accomplished it by private enterprise.—Mail.

THE LONDON MOB.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The unemployed persons who frequent Trafalgar square formed in a body to day and marched to the Mansion house where they demanded an interview with the Lord Mayor, who declined to hold any conversation with the mob or its representatives. The crowd insisted upon an interview, but were again refused. They openly denounced the Lord Mayor and started back to Trafalgar square. They stopped at the Standard office, hooting and jeering. The police attempted to move the crowd, but were met with resistance. They then charged the mob and seized a black banner and a number of red flags. The mob then scattered, but shortly after rallied. The leaders of the crowd then shouted, "men, assert your rights!" The mob rushed upon the police, who soon reorganized, however, and again charged the mob, who became demoralized and fled in every direction.

Mr. Wm. Boyd Hill, Cobourg, writes: "Having used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for some years, I have much pleasure in testifying to its efficacy in relieving pains in the back and shoulders. I have also used it in cases of croup in children, and have found it to be all that you claim it to be."

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Rejoinder.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—I presume I have the usual right of reply in a newspaper controversy. Not that, in this case, any is required; for I cannot see that any attempt has been made to contradict in any way the statement of facts put forward in my letter published in your last Monday's issue. All that has been done consists of a most uncalled for, and I cannot help but think a most ungentlemanly, personal attack upon myself, without the slightest provocation on my part. Excuse me if I cannot descend to personalities; even when allowable; but the "kindly estate agent" seems very angry with me because he was not successful in seizing a sum of money, the loss of which, according to his own showing, would not have fallen upon the debtor, but upon those who had lent the sum for a certain specific purpose. Then he utters a number of statements that are not the truth. Taking his letter seriatim, I content myself with the following categorical denials: I never considered the church bells should have any effect upon myself or others! I did not go to visit my "friend" on Sunday, and if I had gone empty-handed, it would have been no business of his! I never saw the "friend" until his father brought him to see me a few weeks before I left England in October, 1885, and I never spoke to his father before that day. I then promised him my companionship on the journey, and that he might stay at the farm until the spring of 1886, and no more. Otherwise I was not "instrumental in bringing him out in order that he might have steady employment" on my farm! I am in no way responsible whether he pays his debts or not. I never said in my letter that I had advanced him any money, and certainly never laid claim to possessing any charitable feelings. The "kindly estate agent" seems very anxious to prove me a very charitable person, or that I claim to be; and upon that supposition, presumes, I cannot help but think, very impertinently, to lecture me upon the channels in which I should direct my charity. Perhaps it will clear up matters if I confess that I am not at all charitable. In fact I am just now possessed with very uncharitable feelings, especially with those who presume to meddle with my private money matters. His suggestion that I would possibly change interest upon a temporary loan to a friend in distress, adds insult to injury. Surely if, as I am informed, this "kindly estate agent" moves in the best social circles in this city and Victoria, their code of honor must be very different to anything I have heard of elsewhere. It is true that I have a "farm" in Surrey, and that I am not absolutely penniless, as the agent has good reasons for knowing, for my title deeds are in his custody, and I have had occasion to employ him in witnessing certain signatures; but that surely does not make me liable for the debts of sick or destitute acquaintances of either sex; and estate agents should know their business better than to publish their clients affairs in this manner. Excuse all this about myself, Mr. Editor! It is very painful to me to be dragged before the public in this manner; as I can assure you I consider myself but a very unimportant atom of Westminster humanity. But if my fellow citizens wish to learn any more of my affairs than my agent has already divulged to them, I am willing to place them in the hands of any three unprejudiced citizens, and if it can be proved to their satisfaction that I am responsible for this debt of $94 or so, then I will pay it.

In conclusion, let me reiterate my plea to my readers for kindly feelings (I never asked anything more), for a friendless boy still in prison, whose only crimes were sickness and poverty, and whose only chance there of paying his debts is by paying the last debt that wipes off all earthly scores, the debt of death. Yours truly,

WALTER J. WALKER.

Fraser River Salmon.

It is not expected, as a rule, that people will believe fish stories, and we hope the people of Winnipeg will keep this fact in view when they read some of the statements of Senator Schultz. That gentleman, as many of our readers know, spent several weeks of this year in British Columbia; and in a letter to the Call he said some things which are so far from the truth that we cannot permit them to pass unchallenged. Speaking of our fish he said: "The salmon is no more to be compared with our Manitoba and Winnipeg whitefish than chalk is to cheese; in fact this comparison suits the case admirably. The salmon is dry and flavorless, whether you eat him fresh from the Fraser or after he has been embalmed in a tin can for a year." There are, doubtless, many persons all the way from Westminster to Winnipeg who could tell the senator that he lied about Fraser River salmon. There is no better fish to be had anywhere, and the fact that our fish merchants have been all summer shipping tons of salmon from this city as far east as Montreal, Boston, and New York, by express, and realizing a fair profit, is proof enough. The demand for British Columbia salmon is so large in the east (although the prices to consumers are necessarily very high) that shippers have scarcely ever been able to keep the market fully supplied. Will Senator Schultz be good enough to tell us how many of his Manitoba whitefish have ever seen Boston or New York! Again, after describing the various kinds of salmon found in these waters, the senator blandly tells us that "the humpbacks, whose flesh is too coarse for use, are canned when the other runs have been poor." This is the most unmitigated rot. Even a Siwash will scarcely touch the flesh of a humpback salmon, and it will be a genuine surprise to every British Columbian to learn that this cultus fish is being canned for civilized use. Dr. Schultz ought to have informed himself better on the subject of British Columbia salmon before he undertook to instruct the people of Winnipeg.

Burnt Lands.

A writer in the Colonist makes some suggestions with respect to the burnt lands of British Columbia which are worthy of consideration. Every one knows that forest fires annually devastate immense regions in this province, destroying valuable timber and burning up the decayed vegetable matter on the surface of the soil to such an extent as to leave the land very poor and almost unfit for cultivation. The writer referred to suggests the application of a remedy which has already been productive of excellent results. It is this: "Scatter hay seed and white clover broadcast over the burnt land. It need not be spread so thickly or so carefully as if it were a cultivated field for seeding, but there should be care taken that it is not thrown on bare rocks or boggy places. The best time to do this work would be when the ground is covered by a light fall of snow, as then these places would show, and besides there would be no danger of going over the same ground twice." The writer estimates that there are at least 50,000 acres of burnt lands on Vancouver Island, and there is a larger area on the mainland. When the grass once takes root it will hold its own, and the fresh sod will prevent fires from traversing the ground again, and thus prove an important protection to adjoining timber lands. The pasturage afforded by these burnt lands which have become covered with fuel will sustain very large herds of cattle and sheep, and afford means of adding materially to the wealth of the country. The writer thinks some concerted action should be taken by the farmers, and possibly the government would assist to the extent of furnishing seed enough to cover the lands. In proof of the feasibility of the plan, it is asserted that lands similarly circumstanced at Alberni and Comox have been transformed from barren and useless wastes into fresh and valuable pasture. Before a scheme of this sort could be carried out it would be necessary to make an arrangement with persons owning the burnt lands. Some of them belong to private individuals and some are government lands; but in most cases they are practically worthless for agricultural purposes, and there should be no difficulty in affecting an arrangement which would secure joint action and greatly promote the public interest. For some years one of the most important problems before the public has been the question of discovering a plan by which our valuable timber could be protected from destructive fires. The seeding of the burnt districts would not be by any means a complete protection, but it would do a great deal in that way, because fires are very often started in places which have already been burnt. We hope that agricultural societies and the boards of trade will take this matter up and consider whether the suggestion is not of sufficient importance to justify a practical test.

A Creaking Hinge

Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Fream, Independence, Va. ††

GREAT YOUNG MEN.

Showing That Youth is No Bar to Distinction.

Charles James Fox was in Parliament at nineteen.

The great Cromwell left the University of Cambridge at eighteen.

John Bright never was at any school a day after he was fifteen years old.

Gladstone was in Parliament at twenty-two, and at twenty-four was Lord of the Treasury.

Lord Bacon graduated at Cambridge when sixteen, and was called to the bar at twenty-one.

Peel was in Parliament at twenty-one, and Palmerston was Lord of the Admiralty at twenty-three.

Henry Clay was in the Senate of the United States at twenty-nine, contrary to the Constitution.

John Hampton, after graduating at Oxford, was a student at law in the Inner Temple at nineteen.

Gustavus Adolphus ascended the throne at sixteen; before he was thirty-four he was one of the great rulers of Europe.

Judge Story was at Harvard at fifteen, in Congress at twenty-nine, and Judge of the Supreme Court of the United States at thirty-two.

Martin Luther had become largely distinguished at twenty-four, and at fifty-six had reached the topmost round of his world-wide fame.

Conde conducted a memorable campaign at seventeen, and at twenty-two he and Turenne also, were of the most illustrious men of their times.

Webster was in college at fifteen, gave earnest of his great future before he was twenty-five, and at thirty he was the peer of the ablest man in Congress.

William H. Seward commenced the practice of law at twenty-one, and at thirty-one was President of a State Convention, and at thirty-seven Governor of New York.

Washington was a distinguished Colonel in the army at twenty-two, early in public affairs, commander of the forces at forty-three, and President at fifty-seven.

Maurice of Saxony died at thirty-two, conceded to have been one of the profoundest statesmen and one of the ablest Generals which Christendom had seen.

Napoleon at twenty-five commanded the army of Italy. At thirty he was not only one of the most illustrious Generals of all time, but one of the great lawgivers of the world. At forty-six he saw Waterloo.

The great Leo X. was Pope at thirty-eight. Having finished his academic training, he took the office of Cardinal at eighteen—only twelve months younger than was Charles James Fox when he entered Parliament.

Only one civilian out of the Presidents of this country gained his first election after he was sixty, and that was James Buchanan. The chance for the Presidency after sixty is small and growing less.

William Pitt entered the ministry at fourteen, was Chancellor of the Exchequer at twenty-two, Prime Minister at twenty-four, and so continued for twenty years, and when thirty-five was the most powerful uncrowned head in Europe.

From the earliest years of Queen Elizabeth to the latest of Queen Victoria, England has had scarcely an able statesman who did not leave the University by the time he was twenty, and many of them left at an earlier age.

The late Lord Beaconsfield left the cloister and entered the great world early—as did John Bright—and commenced his political career by writing a book at seventeen, in which he predicted that he would be Prime Minister.

Hamilton was in King's College at sixteen; when seventeen he made a notable address on public affairs to the citizens of New York; at twenty he was intrusted with a most important mission to General Gates, was in Congress at twenty-five, and Secretary of the Treasury at thirty-five.

John Quincy Adams, at the age of fourteen, was Secretary to Mr. Dana, then Minister at the Russian Court; at thirty he was himself Minister to Prussia; at thirty-five he was Minister to Russia; at forty-eight he was Minister to England; at fifty-six he was Secretary of State, and President at fifty-seven.

There have been twenty-two Presidents of the United States. Five of them were elected at fifty-seven, and six attained that great office before the age of fifty. Three military men past sixty have been elected; two died very soon, and the other was General Jackson, and he was but sixty-one when elected.

Jonathan Edwards acquired early renown was the greatest metaphysician in America, and as unsurpassed by any one in Europe. He commenced the reading of Latin when six years old. At ten he wrote a remarkable paper upon the immortality of the soul. At the age of thirteen he entered Yale College, where he graduated four years later.

General Grant was elected President at forty-six. But when a very young man, in the Mexican war, he so distinguished himself at the battle of Meline del Rey that General Scott named him for promotion on the field, and at the storming of Chapultepec his courage and ability caused him to be specially commended by General Worth, and for these young acts of skill and valor he was made Captain in the regular army. He was but thirty-nine when he gained his victory at Fort Donelson, and only forty-one when he took Vicksburg.

An Undulatory Theory of Odor.

That odor is, like light and sound, a phenomenon of undulation is the belief of M. P. Leclerc. He urges that it is more reasonable to suppose that the odors produced by rubbing certain substances—like sulphur and copper—are due to the waves set up than that the rubbing causes matter to be emitted which cannot be detected except as a smell. The garlic oder of heated arsenious acid is a smell accompanying chemical action the same as in many other cases we have light or heat in connection with it. With somewhat imperfect apparatus, M. Leclerc claims to have produced interference phenomena of light.

Bees and Storms.

A German, who has studiously watched the movements of honey-bees, says the American Bee Journal, asserts that they are excellent storm warners. He says that on the approach of thunderstorms, bees, otherwise gentle and harmless, become very irritable, and will at once attack any one, even their usual attendant, approaching their hives. A succession of instances are given in which the barometer and hygrometer foretold a storm, the bees remaining quit, and no storm occured; or the instruments gave no intimation of a storm, but the bees for hours before were irritable, and it came.

GEORGE W. CHILDS, the journalist and philanthropist, of Philadelphia, sent a check for $100 to Baltimore for the Children's Country Home.

HUMBUG IN WINES.

How Native Brands Are Made Foreign in the Dealers' Cellars.

"We make from 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 of gallons of American wine yearly, and we do not import over 5,000,000. Those figures tell whether the wine drunk by our people is foreign or American." So spoke a New York wine dealer. "By far the larger part of the American wine, however," he added, "is not sold as American, but as foreign wines. Only a few days ago I visited the cellar of one of the largest wine merchants in the city. It contained many thousands of gallons of American wine, the casks being marked 'St. Julien, Medoc,' etc., through the list of prominent foreign brands. Hotel men go there and order these wines bottled and labled as foreign wine, and I saw in that cellar many thousands of labels ready for use in this way. These parties take good care not to imitate a trade mark, but they give the wine the foreign name and sell it as foreign to their guests. It is a strictly confidential business as between the wine merchant and the hotelkeeper. The American wine is bottled right there in the cellar, marked with the foreign label, and then sent to the hotel, so that the hotel proprietor is not put in the power of his steward or caterer by the latter knowing the source from which his employer receives his wines. Of course this does not apply to all hotels.

"It is not difficult to see the advantage of this," went on the wine dealer. "It enables the hotel man to sell his wines at a profit of 100 to 200 per cent. and it enables the American wine producer to dispose of his product, that might otherwise be left on his hands.

"But one of the most interesting deceptions," added the wine dealer, "is that perpetrated by some of the creme de la creme upon their confiding friends. Some rich individual who has a coat of arms, and coats of arms can always be got in London at the right figure, will order a quantity of American wine bottled, and have a label with his coat of arms stamped on the bottle. Then he confides to his friends, as they loll over the dinner table, that the wine was expressly imported for his private use. It's an innocent sort of a fraud, and the wine probably tastes a good deal better for it.

"But selling American wines for foreign is nothing to the trick of making spurious wine out of cider or fruit acid with enough American wine for a body. This is not only a deception, it is morally, and ought to be legally, a crime. Yet many thousands of gallons of such stuff are disposed of yearly in New York.

ABOUT WOMEN.

—Mrs. Julia C. R. Dorr will spend the summer in England and Scotland.

—Miss Louise Imogen Guiney is about to bring out a new volume of poems.

—Miss Dorothea Roberts's "Two Royal Lives" describes the life of the Imperial Prince and Princess of Germany.

—About three thousand five hundred women are employed in the permanent Post Office establishment in Great Britain, in all capacities.

—"John Strange Winter," the popular novelist, is Mrs. Arthur Stannard, and she is giving readings from her own works, a la Dickens.

—Miss Clara M. Fowler will present to the city of Concord, N. H., a building for a free public library, in memory of her parents, the late Judge and Mrs. Asa Fowler.

—Miss Luella Varney, of Cleveland, is a rising sculptor. She has recently finished a bust of Bishop Gilmore, of that city, which exhibits much force and is a striking likeness.

—Vassar College has just conferred the honorary degree of LL.D. on Mrs. Christine Ladd Franklin, of Baltimore, who had previously been appointed fellow of the Johns Hopkins University.

—Mrs. A. K. T. C. Carey has invented a very simple cover for tumblers or jars. It is made of a tough paper, neatly printed, with space left for marking the variety or date of making, and fastens securely at once.

—Miss Grace Howard has gone to the Crow Creek Agency in Dakota, where she will fulfil a two years' mission as instructor of the Indians. A school house will be erected there and a school established.

—Miss Alice Freeman, President of Wellesley College, has received five hundred and eighty applications from young women wishing to enter Wellesley next year. There are only one hundred places possible at present.

—Miss Agnata Ramsay, of Girton College, has been awarded the first rank in classics at Cambridge, England. She has surpassed all the male students in classics, being the only one of either sex to pass in the first division.

—Lillian Whiting says: "The time has almost gone by for the discussion of whether women want or do not want the ballot. They will have it whether they desire it or not. And the true wisdom is to study to find how to use the extension of power, that is sure to come in the near future."

—An attempt to indict Mrs. Barber in the Federal Courts, for illegal voting at the last general election in New York State, having failed, an effort has just been made to indict her in the State Courts. This, also, has failed, and the Court has adjourned, leaving Mrs. Barber mistress of the situation.

—Ruth E. Wilson, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has patented an "illuminated flower piece." The invention consists in providing the piece with a reflector in keeping with the design, with jets of light introduced before the reflector, in such a way that air-chambers intervene between the flame and the flowers.

—Mrs. Mary Virginia Terhune (Marion Harland), has gone with her family to Sunnybank, on Lake Ramapo, northern New Jersey. Such leisure as she can get she will devote to a novel which she has been trying for six years to find time to write. Dr. Terhune will pass some weeks in the Adirondacks; and both he and his wife will accept the hospitality of a friend who has a country-seat on Lake Winnepiscogee, for a week.

—Killing a wife is not very severely punished in Massachusetts. In the Superior Court at New Bedford, recently, Thomas Fitzgibbons, of Fall River, for killing his wife, was convicted of manslaughter, and sentenced to the House of Correction for two years. But when a wife, rendered desperate by years of cruelty, killed her husband in New York State last year, she was hung, and her daughter, only for keeping her mother's secret, is more severely punished than his wife-killer.

ACCORDING to records kept for many years London fogs are becoming less frequent every year.

SHAKSPEARE'S life and works have called forth comment to the extent of 10,000 varied volumes.

Constipation

Is a universal and most troublesome disorder. It causes Headache, Mental Depression, impairs the Sight and Hearing, destroys the Appetite, and, when long continued, causes Enlargement of the Liver, Inflammation of the Bowels, and Piles. Constipation is speedily cured by Ayer's Pills.

For a number of months I was troubled with Costiveness, in consequence of which I suffered from Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, and a disordered liver. My eyes also troubled me. I was compelled to wear a shade over them, and, at times, was unable to bear exposure to the light. I was entirely three boxes of Ayer's Pills. I have no hesitation in pronouncing this medicine to be the best cathartic ever made.—James Eccles, Poland, Ohio.

I suffered from Constipation, and, consequently, from Headache, Indigestion, and Piles, for years. Ayer's Pills, which I took at the suggestion of a friend, have given me effectual relief. I commenced taking this remedy two months ago, and am now free from Constipation, the removal of which has caused my other troubles to disappear, and greatly improved my general health.—W. Keeler, Amherst, Mass.

I suffered from Constipation, which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills cured me, completely.—D. Burke, Saco, Me. ††

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practicably impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. Two carloads of lumber went east this morning, and one car of general merchandise arrived last night.

The steamer Gladys left for up-river ports this evening with a fair cargo of freight and a number of passengers.

The steamer Adelaide arrived from Canoe Pass this morning with about 25 tons of hay and grain consigned to merchants in this city.

The chaingang has been at work for a few days gathering up the stones lying on some of our principal streets, and the improvement is quite marked.

Wild ducks are beginning to fall fast before the unerring aim of the Siwash sportsman, and in consequence the market is fairly well supplied at present.

Gravel is being laid on Columbia street from Begbie street as far west as the esplanade, and that part of the street begins to present a fine appearance.

The railway company have erected a fence on their property at the foot of Front st. It is a wonder some serious accident has not happened before this at that spot.

Lieut. Lang, R. E., and Capt. Bole returned yesterday from a shooting expedition to the North Arm of the inlet. Mr. Lang had the luck to shoot a large seal.

It will be seen from the Oregon & California Railway's advertisement in another column that the "gap" over which stages run has now been reduced to 13 miles!

If the weather is fine to-morrow the cricket match, married vs. single, will come off. As the teams have not been chosen yet we are unable to give the names of those who will play.

Every steamer from Langley is bringing down fresh supplies of venison. The str. Gladys yesterday brought down three very fine bucks, one of which weighed nearly 200 lbs.

Many forget that the hair and scalp need cleansing. Extensive use of Ayer's Hair Vigor has proven that it is the best cleansing agent for the hair—that it prevents dandruff and stimulates the hair to renewed growth.

It is definitely announced at last that the new steamer Premier will run between Vancouver and Puget Sound ports, and not to Victoria, as has been stated. She leaves for the salt water terminus on Monday.

Messrs. Ellard & Co. have just received direct from the English manufacturers, in the newest and most fashionable styles, a large consignment of dolmans, mantles, jackets and ulsters, for ladies and children, for fall and winter wear. dse21tc

We beg to remind our readers of the auction sale of city squares and reserves which takes place at the Colonial Hotel to-morrow night. At the rate at which property has been advancing, investments in real estate ought to be both safe and profitable.

"For years I have suffered from loss of appetite and indigestion, but failed to find relief until I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine entirely cured me. My appetite and digestion are now perfect."—Fred. G. Bower, 496 Seventh st., South Boston, Mass.

The salmon run at the mouth of the river was very good last night. Ewen's cannery had 20 boats out, which between them caught nearly 2,500 fish, which number, at any time, would be considered a good catch. As several of the canneries have finished operations for the season, and their boats withdrawn, the few that are left will reap a good harvest until the run is over.

Grouse are not very plentiful, but W. H. Vianen can go out without a gun and not come home empty-handed. Yesterday while in the vicinity of Sapperton he came across three plump grouse and picking up a stone threw it at the largest and was lucky enough to kill it. This is not a very sportsmanlike manner of bagging game, but it seems to be more effective in many cases than a double-barrelled shot-gun.

Corns cause intolerable pain. Holloway's Corn Cure removes the trouble. Try it and see what an amount of pain is saved.

ANTHRACITE COAL.—Messrs. Woods, Turner & Gamble have been given the sole agency in this city for the Banff anthracite coal. As this coal can be burned in the self-feeding stove it is expected that it will be largely used throughout the province in future. Already the demand for it is considerable and increasing. A large shipment is now on the road consigned to the above firm, and is expected to arrive in a few days.

DYNAMITING TROUT.—From several sources it has come to our knowledge that parties up the river are killing trout with dynamite. Our information states that great quantities are killed in this way and are sent to this city and Vancouver to be disposed of. The proper authorities should take this matter up and make a thorough investigation and that without an hour's unnecessary delay, otherwise all those fine streams that are now alive with trout will be depopulated. The guilty parties when arrested should be given the full limit of the law.

The Puck Opera Company.

A large house greeted the Opera Co. in the new theatre hall last night, and the general impression was that never has the public of Calgary had a better evening's enjoyment for their money. The new hall looked very nice, and was quite comfortable. All the members of the company sustained their parts well, while Mr. Calburt in Phineas Lafty fairly brought down the house with his comic songs and grotesque faces, and in the character of the old man the audience thought he must have put his teeth in his pocket. The whole performance was good, and the crowd thoroughly enjoyed it, every thing being of such a nature that the most tastidious could find nothing to object to.—Calgary Tribune.

Stabbing Affray.

Last evening about 7:30 o'clock a fisherman named Smith went into the Gem saloon and commenced using some very strong language which resulted in his being ordered to leave. He went out of the saloon to the sidewalk and commenced the same filthy language, threatening to 'cut the bloody liver' out of Stewart & Cash and W. H. Vianen. Mr. Stewart went out and told him he had better go home, but this he apparently had no wish to do. As his language grew more foul Mr. Stewart took Smith by the shoulder and turning him round told him that was the way home and he had better go. Smith, who had a knife in his hand, struck Mr. Stewart two blows in the back but only one of which reached the flesh, the other simply ripping the clothing. Stewart then let go his hold and Smith started up the street where he was arrested a few minutes later by Constable Pearce. An examination of Stewart's wound proved it not to be serious, but Dr. McLean states that the thrust would have been fatal but for the thickness and quality of the clothing. As will be seen by our police report Smith has been sent up for trial at the next assizes.

Possible Indian War!

The following appears in the Victoria Times of yesterday: "The sequel of the Seabird massacre may possibly be enacted in a day or two near the Seymour Narrows, when the Salmon River and Fort Simpson Indians meet on their return to the north. Information of a startling character was gleaned to-day from one of the latter tribe, and the movements of the hostile factions gave an appearance of credibility to what might otherwise appear an unfounded rumor. It appears that a woman of the Salmon River tribe, to which Quakloskum and the Sicamous prisoners charged with the murder of the Seabird crew belong, is the wife of a Fort Simpson Indian who was a witness against the murderers. The Salmon River Indians believe this witness procured his information from his wife, and they have sworn vengeance against him and all his tribe. A war of extermination has actually been threatened, and it is believed twenty-five or thirty of the Salmon River tribe who left this city on their return from the hop fields are now in ambush at Seymour Narrows awaiting the appearance of the Fort Simpson Indians. The latter are about equally as numerous and were apprised of what they might expect, and have prepared themselves with guns and ammunition to repel any attack. They have also enlisted several Hydahs and sent their women and children by steamer to Fort Simpson. They left to-day for the north, determined to fight if attacked, and and confident they can cope with the treacherous and vindictive Salmon River Indians. One or two Indians who were spoken to were very reticent about the matter, but the information as given is believed to be reliable. The police are aware that the lives of the witnesses in the Seabird case will not be worth a brass farthing if they return to the north again, and in vindicating the law and punishing the guilty, it is almost absolutely certain that the risk is incurred of other and more horrible murders still."

N. McRae, Wyebridge, writes: "I have sold large quantities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; it is used for colds, sore throat, croup &c., and in fact for any affection of the throat it works like magic. It is a sure cure for burns, wounds and bruises."

Attempted Robbery.

About 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Thos. Spence, of the Club, was awakened by a noise in his room, and on turning his eyes towards the spot from whence the sound came, saw the figure of a hand on the floor near a wardrobe where money and valuables were kept. Owing to his position in the bed he could not distinguish the body, but on making an exclamation a man jumped up and rushed out of the room, banging the door after him. Mr. Spence immediately jumped out of bed and getting a light searched the different rooms but could find no trace of anyone. He then opened the front door, a short distance from which was Constable Pearce and the nightwatchman, neither of whom had seen or heard any one on the street for some time previous. The house was then searched thoroughly and nothing unusual found until proceeding to the cellar it was discovered that the doors leading to the room occupied by Joe, the Chinaman, were open, which was a most unusual thing as he was ordered to keep them closed at night. Before going to bed Mr. Spence had been down in the cellar and the doors were then closed. As Joe could not give a satisfactory account of why the doors were open Mr. Spence gave him into the charge of the police. Mrs. Spence, who was the first to see the form on the floor, thinks she recognized the jacket, in the dim light, as that of the Chinaman Joe. The invasion of the room was evidently with intent to rob, and Joe is supposed to have known that money was kept in the room.

Police Court.

Before T. C. Atkinson P. M.

John Henry Smith, charged with stabbing John Stewart with intent to do grevious bodily harm.

The prisoner pleaded that he was drunk when the deed was done, and did not remember anything about it.

John Stewart, sworn, said: I am the informant in the case. Last night between 7.30 and 8 o'clock, the prisoner was outside my place on Front street and was using very loud and obscene language. I requested him to go home, but he refused to do so. He was using thteats to the effect that he would cut the guts out of some one. I then took hold of him and turned him towards the way he should go home, while I had hold of him I felt a cut in my left side. I did not see him strike at me. The clothes produced are the clothes I wore at the time. Captain Peele looked at the wound. Several people were standing close to us at the time the stabbing took place, but I do not know thier names; after I was stabbed, Smith walked off; no one else could have done the stabbing. I have know the prisoner about 15 years; he is a fisherman; I do not know anything particularly bad about him.

Robert Partridge, sworn, said: Last night about 7.30. I was coming down the alley way between Columbia and Front sts. adjoining Stewart & Cash's place. While coming down I heard some very foul language, I recognized the voice to be that of the prisoner. I went down the street as far as Mrs. McNeils. I recognized the prisoner, he was then in front of Stewart & Cash's. He said he would cut the liver out of the——— anyway. He used other extremely filthy language towards Dutch Bill and others, saying he would cut the liver out of them. I then saw Stewart trying to get him to go home. Not wishing to meet the man I went over to the railway track. I there met Counstable Pierce and informed him, and Smith was arrested and searched. It was less than ten minutes, later I heard Mr. Stewart had been stabbed. I saw the cut in his side. The coat produced is the coat Stewart wore at the time. The cut in the undershirt is about the same size as the cut on his body. The knife produced is the knife found on the prisoner when he was searched.

Dr. Donald McLean, sworn, said: I was called to examine Mr. Stewart and found a wound about three quarters of an inch in length between the 11th and 12th ribs about 3 inches to the left of the spine. On applying the coat the wound corresponds with the smaller cut. The other articles of clothing are cut in the same place, the one blow evidently doing the whole thing. The wound is in a vital part of the body and was it not for the good quality of the coat, the blow would have killed him. The knife produced would cause the wound.

Constable Pierce, sworn testified to arresting the prisoner.

His Honor remanded the prisoner for trial at the next assizes.

Ah Joe, a chinaman, charged with being in his masters bedroom at 2 o'clock in the morning with intent to commit a felony.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. Spence, sworn, said: Early this morning I was aroused from my sleep by a noise, and looking up I saw a man in the room in a stooping posture and appeared to be groping for something. He immediately ran off still in a stooping position. Mrs. Spence immediately got up and followed him. I could see the dress plainly; the jacket worn by the prisoner is similiar to the one on the person who was in the room. I could see he was a chinaman; his queue was twisted round his head. The room was partially lighted. I told my husband it was Joe; has been working for us about 6 weeks, he slept in the cellar. I missed nothing from the room afterwards; receipts of the day were always put in a small cash box which was kept in the room; I think the prisoner knew we kept money in the room.

Thomas Spence, sworn, said: I know the prisoner he is in my employ. About 2 o'clock this morning I was awakened from my sleep and saw the figure of a hand moving on the floor towards the wardrobe. I called out "Who is there?" and the first thing I knew a figure rushed out of the room and banged the door after him. I jumped up and got a light. On examining the front doors I found them both locked. I looked outside, and Constable Pierce was there. I asked him if he had seen anyone running away; he said he had not. I asked him in to examine the premises with me. We searched all over the house and then went down to the cellar, when, to my surprise, I saw the door, which divides the cellar from the part occupied by Joe, open. As he always bolts this door before going to bed, I said, Joe is the man. The officers then roused him from bed and asked him to explain how the door was open; he said he fastened it before going to bed, and when we told him no one could open it but himself he did not know what to say. I then gave him in charge, as it was impossible for anyone to open the door but himself. All the doors leading from where the prisoner slept to my bedroom were open. I did not examine the windows; they are 8 feet from the ground. Joe was undressed when I went into the room.

His Honor, after hearing the evidence of Constable Pierce, committed Ah Joe for trial.

Judge—"You were up here once before for being drunk and disorderly," Sam Johnsing—"Yes, sah, onct befoah." "How much did you get that time?" "How much did I git? Why, boss, I didn't git nuffing. I had to shell out $10 and costseses,"—Texas Siftings.
