THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN.

VOLUME 29 NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1886. NUMBER 26

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

On Wednesday Hon. Mr. Robson moved that the house do resolve into a committee of the whole to consider certain proposed amendments to the licensing acts. His object, the mover said, was to increase the price of liquor licenses, for rural licenses from $30 to $60 for six months, and for town licenses from $100 to $200 for same period. Public sentiment, he thought, had been drifting for some time in the direction of high license, and that the increased price would not weigh unduly upon any person. The exact figures could of course be fixed in committee. Seconded by Mr. Dingwall. Mr. T. Davie said he was not in favor of high license, although were the question of prohibition or restriction of the sale of liquor before the house he might be inclined to take a more modified stand. He thought where the sale of liquor was recognized the increase of cost of license would place the traffic in the hands of those who were the more wealthy. To a certain extent the traffic might be considered a vice, and this action would make that vice a monopoly, and he could not see in the present state of affairs that this legislation was called for. In view of these opinions he should oppose the resolution. Mr. McLeese took the same view, and said the proposed measure would operate against wayside and other houses in the interior, against which he had heard no complaints. The increase of the opium license showed that with that increase the revenue from the source decreased. The drug was largely consumed in his district, but, in spite of rewards, detection of any evasion of the law was difficult. He thought in this case the extra cost of license would prevent many from longer carrying on the business and also encourage the illicit sale of liquor. Mr. Semlin said the rise in the cost of licenses would be as predicted, that many would have to close up their houses of accomodation entirely against the traveling public, and the illicit sale of liquor become too great for effectual suppression in the country districts. Messrs. Grant, Wilson and Helgesen spoke in a similar strain. Mr. McTavish thought the opposition to high license might be explained by the near approach of the elections. He was in favor of high license, and would support the motion. Mr. Cunningham was in favor of any legislation that would restrict the liquor traffic. The object of the resolution was a good one. Although large sums of money had been spent in this province, we had a great many poor men—the money had gone into the hands of the liquor dealers. A business in which the profits were so large ought to contribute largely to the public revenue. The house might not be willing to face the question now, but the time was coming when the voice of the people would make itself heard. The Hon. Mr. Davie said the municipalities had power to regulate this matter, and he thought it might safely be left in their hands. He was not in favor of increasing the license in inland districts. He would not be acting in accordance with the wish of the constituency he represented if he supported the resolution. Mr. Orr saw no reason to increase the license fees. Mr. Raybould said the discrimination made in the cost of rural as opposed to metropolitan licenses showed that the necessity for a distinction was recognized and the question might be whether the desired maximum cost of those licenses had been arrived at. It would not be a hardship to those keeping hotels, being able, with the increase of their trade, to pay the extra cost. As for the excuse that a monopoly would be created, the trade was already a monopoly, because not everyone was allowed a license even now. He should support the resolution. Hon. Mr. Smithe was sorry to have to raise a point of order against a colleague, but he was inclined to think the resolution was out of order, because it proposed to introduce an amendment to the licensing acts when no such acts had been passed this session; and also another objection was that this was a question affecting the revenue—imposing additional burdens upon certain classes in the community and he took it that such was beyond the province of a private member Speaking individually, apart from the point of order, his own opinion was that whatever might be the views of honorable members as to high license, he agreed with the honorable member for Saanich that this was not a very appropriate time to bring in this resolution, though not because of the reason which that honorable gentleman had given, but because it was probable that at the ensuing election the question would be made a prominent one, and that candidates would have to express themselves on this question, and those returned as members of the house would know exactly the views of their constituents on the subject, until which time it would be better to defer any action in this respect. He would like the speaker to decide on this point of order. Hon. Mr. Robson said that perhaps he should have mentioned at the beginning of his remarks that he was moving in the matter as a private member and in accordance with the concensus of public opinion in his district, and had not therefore deemed it necessary to consult his colleagues on the subject. The speaker ruled the resolution out of order. In the first place no resolution could be introduced which proposed to deal with a bill which had not been enacted that session, and in the next place no private member had a right to introduce a measure which in any way affected the revenue of the country.

On Thursday a long debate took place on the Sumas dyking amendment bill. Mr. Drake did not see how the dyking acts could be repealed without interfering with vested rights. If it were a matter between Mr. Sword and the settlers, it might be arranged in several ways, but Mr. Sword had borrowed money on the strength of the arrangement made by the government, and these arrangements must not be broken up. It was almost universally conceded that when charters are granted the integrity of these charters should not be set aside. The settlers had neglected their own duty in this matter, and now asked to be relieved of responsibility that they had brought on themselves. Hon. Mr. Davie did not see why the act of 1883 could not be repealed by mutual consent, but he would oppose that portion of the bill which proposed to repeal the act of 1878. Mr. Galbraith mentioned some circumstances connected with the dyking scheme, and said that if the act of 1883 were repealed the settlers would be a great deal worse off than they were now. Mr. Sword had invested his all in the venture, and as against that the settlers had expended some $2,000 or $3,000. He thought the only solution was this: The whole matter involved some $8,000 as a charge upon the land, and as the whole thing had been admittedly a failure, and as the land acquired by Mr. Sword was valueless, he should say the government should seriously consider whether they should not advance the sum, relieve the settlers and do justice to Mr. Sword by allowing him to complete the work and retrieve what he had lost. Mr. Orr said not for one single year since the passage of the dyking act had the overflow of the Fraser been checked over these lands. It was known that two or three days after the works had been reported upon as having been completed in accordance with plans and specifications, the whole of the works gave way. As long as the act was in force, or its provisions were continued, the settlers could not sell their land. On account of the certificate of the engineer, who was placed in charge after Navarre left, government granted to Sword 6,000 acres of the land which, with all the land, was valuable to a certain extent, and as the land around it had been improved it had become more valuable and could, he supposed, be sold in the market for $10 an acre. He thought the 6,000 acres granted by the government was quite sufficient to reimburse Mr. Derby for useless expenditure on an inefficient work, and he should vote for the second reading of this bill. Mr. Allen said if the house were satisfied that it had made a mistake in 1883, it should have the courage to remedy the mistake. He thought an injustice had been done to the settlers. Hon. Mr. Smithe went over the history of the Sumas dyking scheme, and said he believed there had been wrongs on both sides. There was, perhaps, no single person so much entitled to sympathy as Mr. Sword. If the scheme proposed by him had been carried out, he would have been a wealthy and successful man, and the whole of Matsqui prairie would have been greatly increased in value. He thought the Act should not be interfered with without serious consideration. It was not possible for persons not acquainted with the facts to know what effect a very slight amendment might have on the parties concerned. It was difficult to fix any particular date for the completion of a work like this, for there are chances which no person might forsee. Immediately after the acceptance of the work a higher water than was known before swept the dyke away just as it was being completed. It would not be fair if these gentlemen who had risked their means for the benefit of the settlers as well as themselves, should have no consideration under the circumstances. Notwithstanding the taking over of the dyke, it was never completed, and the promoters forfeited all right to the claims they put forward. They had come to the house for an extension of time. But the chief commissioner no longer possesses the power of granting the request, and he thought the act was a very fair attempt not to do wrong to the settlers, but to relieve them of responsibility and liabilities. The act of 1883 did so relieve them that they are not liable under it to pay

A HOME COMPANY.
This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—
The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada.
It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.
Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.
Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.
Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.
Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.
Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

The British Columbian.

Wednesday Morning, March 31, 1886.

When the third reading of the bill to incorporate Vancouver came on, it was found that a change of sentiment had come over the members of the house, and the bill was carried by a vote of 13 to 7. It is just as well for the house that it did not undertake to carry out the proposals of some of its members, and throw the bill out on account of the name given to the new city. The people of the mainland have good memories, and do not forget things at once. Any such hostile manifestations on the part of the house might produce a feeling of hostility that could not easily be dispelled.

We did not suppose that anything would come of the resolution introduced into the legislature proposing to restrict the liquor traffic. The speeches of members on this resolution, therefore, do not disappoint us. A majority of the members of the present house seem to imagine that houses of public entertainment cannot be conducted without the adjunct of a saloon. Some of them actually protested against Sunday closing because it might prevent people from getting whiskey after attending church! When men of such ideas are entrusted with power to make our laws, we need not look for any reform that will promote the moral welfare of the province.

The Estimates.

In another column we publish a detailed statement of the principal items of the estimates for the financial year beginning on the first of July next. It will be seen that the total revenue anticipated is placed at $576,161, and the expenditure at $710,524. This is exclusive of the supplementary estimates, which will doubtless increase the expenditure to an appreciable extent. The sum set down for public works is smaller than last year by $77,010. But in last year's estimates there was a sum of $40,000 for Victoria gaol, $5,000 for a new school house at Victoria, $10,700 for the completion of New Westminster gaol, and $20,000 for Lillooet roads and bridges, in which the Marble Canon road was included. These large items in themselves made a sum equal almost to the difference between the appropriations for public works for the two years. This year there are no expensive gaol or school houses to be erected. The only costly building on the list is a new Court House for Victoria, for which the sum of $25,000 is set down. Indeed this is the only item in the list to which we feel disposed to take decided exception. At the risk of being charged by the Colonist with sectionalism, we venture to say that Victoria has a court house and a high school building a hundred per cent. better than those in this city, and if the government had $25,000 to spare for buildings, it it ought to have been placed where it was needed most. The New Westminster high school building is a disgrace to any city and any government. We have hitherto refrained from calling upon the government to replace it, because there were so many pressing demands elsewhere for money. But we are sure every person acquainted with Victoria court house and the high school building and court house in this city, will admit that the $25,000 mentioned has not been placed where it ought to be. Granite Creek comes into notice this year, and gets an appropriation of $3,000 for government buildings, as well as $2,000 for gold commissioner and stipendiary magistrate, $1,500 for recorder and collector, $1,200 for constable and collector, and $1,500 for mounted constable; in all, $9,200. For the New Westminster branch railway $37,000 appears. This is, of course, a set off against the land bonus given to the syndicate for the purpose of taking the road to Coal Harbor. In the general interest of the province it is quite as important that the road should come here as that it should go to English Bay, and the contribution is nothing more than an act of justice. The appropriation for roads and bridges in this district has been reduced from $25,000 to $20,000, which is quite as large a sum as could be looked for under the circumstances. While there is no district in the province where roads are more needed than in the district of New Westminster, we suppose the extraordinary revenue embraced in the dry dock refund must be exhausted, and the people will have to be content with such appropriations as can be secured out of the ordinary revenue.

A Large Difference.

Although particulars of the return showing all transactions between the provincial government and members of the house have been known for a week, it was not until the other day that the Victoria Times ventured to make any reference to them. And what a reference! When it became known that Mr. Cunningham had been furnishing supplies to the government, the Times seemed quite unable to contain itself with indignation. The transaction was, in its opinion, a monstrous outrage upon all decency, and both Mr. Cunningham and the government must suffer punishment. But with the other return it is very different. In this return Mr. Grant, one of the owners of the Times, is shown to have furnished to the government, through himself and the firms with which he is connected, goods and work for which $709.63 was received. The Times says there is "nothing startling" in the return, and even waxes merry over it. The smallness of the sums received by opposition members compared to the sum received by Mr. Cunningham's firm is taken as a strong mitigating circumstance, and the fact is referred to that none of these firms supplied axe handles at a dollar apiece! Neither did Mr. Cunningham, and the Times repeats what it knows to be incorrect. We believe the supplies furnished by Mr. Cunningham were obtained at fair prices, and in some instances the prices were certainly very small We have no reason to suppose that in any of the other cases overcharges have occurred. Mr. Grant is entitled to the benefit of the same charitable views of his case that have been put forward in the case of Mr. Cunningham. But we must protest against the manifest partiality exhibited by the Times in its effort to blacken a political opponent and whitewash a political friend. The amount of these transactions is not the vital point at all. The member who sold the government goods to the value of $1, contrary to the spirit of independence, is just as guilty and as much a transgressor as the man whose bill amounts to $1,000. It is the principle and not the amount. If Mr. Cunningham has done wrong, so has Mr. Grant; and both are equally deserving of public censure. It is claimed that the act does not cover such transactions as these at all. Perhaps it does not. Acts of parliament are strange documents, especially acts of the British Columbia legislature. But if the law in its present shape is imperfect, let it be amended without delay so as to prevent a repetition of the disclosures to which reference has been made this session. Mr. Cunningham asserts that his transactions with the government were carried on in good faith, in the belief that they did not infringe upon the statutes. We accept his statement without question, and it is quite possible the others could make a similar statement without reservation. But the question is, should the law not prevent the possibility of corrupt acts of this kind between the members and the government? There may have been nothing corrupt in these transactions heretofore, but while they are possible the door is open to corruption of the grossest kind. This door should be shut, and shut at once, and we hope there will be no delay in making the law perfect in this respect. Cæsar's wife must be beyond suspicion. In this matter the Times has shown itself singularly inconsistent and wanting in fairness and independence.

An Old Time Favorite.—These is no other remedy that has stood the test of time so long as has Hagyard's Yellow Oil for rheumatism, neuralgia, lame back, pains in the chest, colds, croup, sore throat, deafness, and most painful affections.

Surface Indications

What a miner would very properly term "surface indications" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Eyes, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoyed in spring and early summer. The effete matter accumulated during the winter months, now makes its presence felt, through Nature's endeavors to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Scrofula. This condition causes derangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of enervation, languor, and weariness—often lightly spoken of as "only spring fever." These are evidences that Nature is not able, unaided, to throw off the corrupt atoms which weaken the vital forces. To regain health, Nature must be aided by a thorough blood-purifying medicine; and nothing else is so effective as which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the taint of Hereditary Scrofula.

The medical profession indorse Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and many attestations of the cures effected by it come from all parts of the world. It is, in the language of the Hon. Francis Jewett, ex-State Senator of Massachusetts and ex-Mayor of Lowell, "the only preparation that does real, lasting good."

The St. Paul ice carnival expenditures amounted to $48,000, and the recepts were $41,000 in money and about $100,000 in fun. The last-named sum does not appear on the balance sheet, however.

George Jones, of the New York Times, who has been in the newspaper business thirty-five years, says he has had from four to sixteen libel suits on hand at a time, and has never yet paid one cent damages.

It was 5:30 when the str. Princess Louise arrived from Victoria last Monday—only 10½ hours to make 75 miles? Surely the C. P. N. Co. doesn't expect this sort of service will be meekly accepted all summer!

The New Westminster gas company has purchased an acre of land from the Royal City Planing Mills Co. for $850, and the foreman has been instructed to have it cleared off at once ready for the construction of the works.

Holding one's peace will never save a nation. Esther could have destroyed her people by holding her tongue and staying quietly in her room. This nation needs for its salvation, people who will speak and vote and do their best for purity and temperance and every good cause. The people who say that politics are so bad that they will not meddle with them have not a particle of Esther's noble self-sacrifice.—N. Y. Independent.

The anniversary service at Grace Church last Sunday was interesting, and the attendance was much larger than usual. The "Little Workers" had the satisfaction of seeing the chancel carpeted, and the morning offertory was sufficient to pay the balance due on the carpet. A new communion table and chancel rail have also been put in recently. The Sunday school has increased fifty per cent. since the return of Rev. Mr. Allen, and the congregation is gradually increasing in numbers as well as the membership of the church.—Petaluma Argus, March 18th.

SURE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.—If the system is properly cleansed by some medicine that acts upon the bowels, kidneys and skin, such as Burdock Blood Bitters, and the sufferer will use Hagyard's Yellow Oil according to directions, there are few cases of rheumatism, however bad, but will yield promptly to the treatment.

BUSINESS CHANGES.—Mr. John Reid has purchased from Mr. W. R. Lewis his whole blacksmith and wagon-making business in this city and will carry it on for himself. For some years this large establishment has been under Mr. Reid's management, and his skill and experience are well known. We believe Mr. Lewis is going out of the stage business also.

THE EXTENSION.—We learn that the work of clearing the railway line between Vancouver and Port Moody is going on rapidly. Several property-owners have joined in a protest against the railway going through their lands, and this action is causing some embarrassment to the contractors, as work cannot be carried on to advantage. There are a great many men about Vancouver ready to work on the railway when they get a chance.

WHITE BRONZE.—Mr. Chas. J. Robson (who may be found at Mr. C. G. Major's store) has accepted the agency in this proviuce for the white bonze monuments and statuary. This metal does not tarnish or deteriorate by atmospheric action, and is far cheaper and more enduring than marble. Samples of the white bronze monuments may be seen in the cemetery at Sapperton. There is no question about its success. It is endorsed by the Scientific American and other high authorities.

OPPOSITION.—We understand that the str. Idaho left Seattle yesterday morning for this city, and will be due to-day. She has a considerable quantity of stuff for the big hotel at Vancouver, and will go to the inlet after discharging passengers and freight here. We do not know whether this is a special trip, or whether the Idaho intends to resume her regular trips now so as to run Capt. Tarte off the route. The people of this city and the mainland have not forgotten the shabby way in which the Idaho sold them when she had the whole field to herself.

THE LIEUT.-GOVERNORSHIP.—The reader is invited to believe as little or as much as he chooses of the following Ottawa dispatch: The term of office of Hon. C. F. Cornwall, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, will expire in June next, when he will retire. There is at present a very hotly contested race between Messrs. Nelson and Macdonald, both British Columbia senators, for the position. The post of lieutenant-governor of the Pacific province, since the completion of the railway from the East, has become an important one. Both gentlemen say they have Sir John's promise.—Colonist.

THE SALE.—There was not a very large attendance at the sale of city squares yesterday, and not much money seeking investment. Only a small number of lots came up to the figure at which it was deemed judicious to dispose of them. On Louisa Gardens 2 lots were bought by Mr. H. W. Bonson for $615, and one went to Mr. Bole at $305. On Agnes street, Rev. Robt. Lennie bought the lot adjoining his new residence for $505, and Mr. Phillips bought lot 38 for $505. At Alice Gardens lot 7 went to Mr. Thos. Mowat for $305, and Mr. P. S. Hamilton bought lot 36, Clinton Place, for $205. On St. George's Square, lots were sold to Messrs. John Wintemute, W. C. Mitchel, D. C. McBroom, and H. Elliott, for $305 each. Dr. Garrow bought 2 lots for $105 each, on St. Andrew's square, and Capt. Stewart and Messrs. W. B. Shiles and Jas. Dwyer each got one at the same figure. The sale realized $4,185.

INTERIOR NEWS.—A correspondent of the Sentinel says: "News from the quartz claim on Hixon Creek is very encouraging. I understand that the first crushing averaged $165 to the ton. The company intend shortly to increase their mill to 10 stamps. The news from Lac La Hache Valley is very encouraging. The winter has been very mild, the cattle having wintered well. Mr. Abel from 111-Mile Post returned by last train with a 'better half.' He is accompanied by 3 other families who intend starting in the dairy business. From present appearance a great number of settlers will locate in that locality, and the Chilcotin Valley this summer. The only thing that prevents settlement in Chilcotin is the Indians claim the best part of the country and the consequence is that settlers are kept away. It is about time the Dominion authorities settled this question. Freight in small quantities has commenced to arrive for the upper country. Mr. Foster's team left for Clinton yesterday.

THROUGH BY DAYLIGHT.—The C. A. P. N. Co.'s fast sailing steamer Prince Louis will leave the company's wharf at the foot of Snail street every Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday at 6 o'clock a.m. for Victoria, making the run of seventy-five miles in the unprecedented short time of 12 hours or through by daylight, at the rate of six and one quarter miles per hour, including stoppages. The steamers of this line have all been supplied with the new patent tea-kettle boilers, and have their furnaces fitted up for burning the slow combustion coal, so that it is impossible, through any carelessness of the engineer, that an explosion should occur; and further, the rate of speed is such that all danger to life and property, in the event of a collision, is avoided, and tourists have ample time to enjoy the scenery. Speed, safety, and security, being the paramount requisites in this age of progress, the company trust that no other line will be so suicidal as to run steamers, fitted up in the ordinary manner, in opposition to their boats. For further particulars see small bills. —Com.

CITY COUNCIL.—Council met on Monday night. Present—the Mayor and Couns. Douglas, Calbick, Bonson, Shiles, Elliott, Lord and Ross. The Mayor presented the following telegram from the Manager of the Bank of British Columbia, at Victoria, to the following effect: "Have signed necessary documents and delivered same to railway company's attorneys. Matter now completed." Couns. Ross and Lord submitted a scheme for improvements in St. Andrew's Ward, as follows: Ellice st., from Columbia to Agnes, $500; Agnes to Queen's Avenue, $150; St. Andrew's st., Queen's avenue to Pelham st., $350; Pelham to Melbourne, $150; Queen's avenue, Douglas to St. Andrew's st., $200; Royal avenue, Douglas to Ellice, $200; Royal avenue, Ellice to Edinburgh, $150; Halifax st., Queen's avenue to Pelham st., $50; Brown st., $75; Montreal st., St. Andrew's to Edinburgh, $75; Auckland st., $75; total, $1,975. The Salaries and Assessment By-laws were completed. The sum of $100 was granted to the Rifle Company. A resolution to the effect that Maple Ridge, Surrey, Delta, Richmond, Langley, and New Westminster were desirous of granting bonuses to the steam flouring mill was read and laid on the table. The bond submitted by the Gas Co. was read and approved. The application of Messrs. Harvey, Herring and Webb, for tanks, was granted. Council adjourned till next Monday night.

From Port Hammond

(Correspondence of the Columbian.)

PORT HAMMOND, Mar. 29.—Weather for the past few days has been more like summer than spring, and farmers are busily at work. Carleton & Harris have put in a large stock of goods in anticipation of a big trade this season. An accident occurred last week which might have resulted fatally but for the timely assistance of Mr. Nelson and a Kanaka in his employ. Two young ladies attending Maple Ridge school were crossing a beaver dam near the school on a log, and both fell into the water, which was quite deep. Their cries attracted the attention of Mr. Nelson and his man, who succeeded in extricating them from their uncomfortable and dangerous position.

NEW GOODS.—First instalment of new Spring goods just arrived at Jas. Ellard & Co.'s Call and examine.—Adv.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE.

anything until the completion of the work by the promoters. Some members argue that the term "that no interest shall accrue" meant that it should accrue but not be payable. He did not understand it, but believed it relieved them from any payment whatever until the work shall have been completed and the lands entirely and successfully reclaimed from the overflow of water. He was of the same opinion as in 1883, when he voted for that act and thought he was doing the settlers a benefit as well as the promoters, and strictly right. The settlers are entitled to consideration, and he could only regard this house as a private bills committee, and that those who speak are doing so intelligently as to the wishes of their constituents, and if they do say that this act of 1883 is a crushing wrong to them and is not in their interest and want to be relieved of it, then he might fairly submit to their opinion on this question and accept their assertions. If they wish to be relieved of the advantages which are conferred on them by this act, then he thought they are entitled to be so relieved.

Hon. Mr. Robson said he had not given a vote on this question in 1883, feeling perplexed as to the real inwardness of the question, but he distinctly recollected that the bill of 1883 was intended as a bill for the relief of the settlers. It had been introduced by his honorable colleague (Mr. Orr) and he had understood it to have been in the interests of the settlers. (Mr. Orr —If it had been carried as I introduced it it would have been in their interest.) Hon. Mr. Robson replied that whatever alterations might have been made they had always been understood to keep strictly in view the interests of the settlers. The settlers should also be assured that they were not liable for any interest until the work was successfully completed. Before the passage of the act of 1883, however, they were liable. He thought that inasmuch as the settlers themselves think this bill a great hardship he was in favor of the repeal of the act of 1883, but no more. He was of opinion, however, that the settlers were under a misapprehension regarding the effect of the act of 1883. The house would be creating a very dangerous precedent by passing an act repealing the original dyking act. The exact consequences could not, perhaps, be enumerated, but the possibilities of those consequences could easily be foreseen. It would be a breach of faith with the parties to that act, but the repeal of the act of 1883 could be effected without such breach. This latter act repealed, the remedies for the settlers would be either appeal to the court or application for such legislation as the house could concede in fairness to both parties. This was all it could do; but he wished it could do more, for he knew these settlers were his own constituents, and were men who had struggled hard to make homes for themselves. While regretting, therefore, the hardships they felt, he did not believe an evil should be remedied by the perpetration of a greater. He could see no other path of duty open to him but in voting for the second reading with the understanding that the blundering and unwarranted legislation of 1883 might be corrected.

Thursday was consumed chiefly by a discussion on the Vancouver waterworks bill and the Vancouver incorporation bill. Mr. Orr presented a petition from 500 people at Granville asking that the place be named Vancouver. The house decided to let the name stand.

THOUGH the soil of Virginia grows the best tobacco leaf in the world, it does not grow equal qualities. The production even of adjoining counties is often quite different, the one producing leaf which at once deteriorates if grown in the other. The leaf of the "Myrtle Navy" is the production of the choice sections of the State, which, through some combinations of local influence, produce a better quality than any others. This is shown by its always commanding a higher price than any other smoking leaf.

Loss of the Oregon.

CHICAGO, March 18.—Judge Drummond and J. V. Farwell, who were passengers on the "Oregon," have arrived. Mr. Drummond, who began his career as a common sailor, said: "It is manifest the steamer was more or less at fault. The accident was the result of carelessness. At least fifteen passengers, who were on deck at the time, told me they could distinctly see the vessel as she approached, and what is more, they could see Long Island, seven miles distant. The weather was clear, and the wind only blowing a fair sailing breeze. In my opinion, the vessel was headed athwart on her course. According to the rules of the road at sea, she had the right of way and it was the business of the steamer to either fall off and let her pass to leeward of us, or else check up and let her cross our bows. Instead of this the "Oregon" forged ahead at a full rate of speed, and the schooner struck on the side stem on. Mr. Farwell said the signals were inadequate. The cannon could probably be heard twenty rods distant. The sky rockets did not ascend higher than the masts. Both gentlemen speak in the highest terms of the prompt and courageous bravery of the captain

"Vancouver."

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—I have not had time to read the debate "Vancouver vs. Granville," and do not, therefore, know whether the reason which (it is understood) led the C.P.R. Co. to choose the name was emphasized or not. The name "Vancouver" being mentioned, the thoughts of any fairly well-informed person will turn at once to this quarter of the world. The name, in fact, belongs to us. In the selection of a name, what point can for a moment compare in importance with this? That is the consideration which, I believe, governed the Syndicate in choosing the name; and that consideration will settle the matter in the mind of anyone who has thought enough about the matter to give value to his opinion. Maple Ridge License Court.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Your correspondent and his critic had their say in the columns of your valuable paper. Would you please allow me the same privilege as the public are desirous that I should make explanations? I do not like discussions of this kind and would have nothing to do with it had the critic, styled "One of the Magistrates," given a fair and impartial account of the proceedings of the licensing court. "One of the Magistrates" gives an array of "reasons" which, he says, "helped us in our decision." Allow me to quote and comment upon the "reasons" assigned. "The petition did not contain the names of a large number of our influential residents." The number of our residents, all told, is not what reasonable people call large. Take 80 away, and the number left will be small. Who the "influential residents" are, perhaps "One of the Magistrates" will inform the public. They are certainly not known to me; if they were I would give them an opportunity to sign the petition. It is true that I did not ask the Methodist preacher, the J. Ps., nor the four or five who belonged to the temperance band, to sign the petition. They need not take offence for not being asked, as I considered they are pledged not to sign petitions of this nature. Neither should the magistrates feel surprised not to find their names there. "It (the petition) contained the names of many persons who had no right to interfere in the matter, such as minors and railroad and lumber men, who are not actual residents." The petition contained the name of one minor and the names of six railroad and lumber men who did not reside here over twelve months. These are the "many persons." Be it so. "One of the Magistrates" is entitled to his opinion: he need not be surprised if reasonable people do not believe him. "The undue influence brought to bear upon those whose signatures were solicited" (for the petition). Allow me to say that this is a deliberate perversion of the facts and an insult to the people who signed the petition. They have intelligent opinions of their own, and would not and could not be influenced by me, were I to use the methods imputed to me. "The bearer of the petition was fortunate to have his arm sprained for the occasion and went around with it in a sling. He was unable to work, the bread was taken out of his children's mouths, and many through sympathy were led to sign." The vindictiveness of the above caps the climax. What does "One of the Magistrates" think when he openly states what he knows to be false. I had the misfortune of receiving a broken arm last January from the effects of a fall. It was some time after the accident before I thought of going round with a petition, which I had no intention whatever of getting up until I was persuaded to do so by many of my friends. I made no use of arguments imputed to me by "One of the Magistrates," as the people who signed the petition will at any time certify. They are not simpletons as your readers would infer from the manner the critic speaks of their firmness. "Many of these were acting against their convictions, and afterwards told us that they hoped no license would be granted." Would "One of the Magistrates" come out with the names of those who acted against their convictions, or with one name? I challenge him to do it! Why should "One of the Magistrates" directly charge the people with duplicity? They signed the petition above board and will do so again if asked. "We had in our possession a petition, taken round some time ago, asking that no license be granted, and signed by a large number of those whose names appear on this petition." The petition referred to was signed in February, 1885, and was intended to prohibit the granting of a license to Alex. Stevenson, of Port Hammond. It contained the names of about 48, and was signed by minors and by the members of the W. C. T. U. This petition was not addressed to the present court. By what authority the magistrates made use of it is better known to themselves than to the public. Two of the parties whose names appeared on it objected to make use of their names on this occasion, but were ordered by the court to depart from the court-room. "We did not grant a license because of the disreputable house which was kept when they were in possession of a license." The above is a malicious libel, which requires legal advice and I will refrain here from making a comment. Now, Mr. Editor, allow me to make a few remarks which "One of the Magistrates" knows to be true. There were two applications before the court. There was a petition signed by 80 in support of one of them. The applications and petition were read by the acting clerk. Justice Howison produced a petition which was made use of at a licensing court held on the 15th March, 1885. Parties whose names appeared on this petition, who were present at the court now held, were not allowed to express their views. Justice Ferguson remarked that Joseph Steven and J. M. Webster told him that although they signed Levi's petition they did not wish a license to be granted. Justice Laity said some one told him that he spoke to a man who signed Levi's petition to get rid of him. Justice Howison, who presided, asked what action he was going to take. This Justice replied, stating that he was against granting a license. Justice Laity was asked a similar question. This Justice would prefer not to express his views but to adjourn the court to give Justice Harris an opportunity of attending. After a little discussion it was decided not to adjourn. Justice Laity then stated that under the circumstances he would vote with Justice Ferguson. This closed the business of the court. I made it a point to interview Mr. Stevens and Mr. Webster, and both parties flatly denied the statements attributed to them by Justice Ferguson. The "reasons" given by "One of the Magistrates," Mr. Editor, you will see are simply creations of his imagination. They were not made use of at the court. They are, therefore, concocted to deceive the public who are not conversant with the facts. Why he has concocted such a tissue of untenable falsehoods is best known to himself. In the name of common sense let us have the truth, Mr. Magistrate, and do not make yourself a laughing-stock to the community whose opinions you profess so faithfully to represent. THOMAS LEVI.

AN OBSTINATE CASE.—"In the spring of '83 I was nearly dead, as everybody around my neighborhood knows. My trouble was caused by obstinate constipation. One bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters cured me entirely." This statement is made by Walter Stinson, of Gorrie, Ont.

Lines on the Death of Mrs. A. Moresby.

(BY A DEAR FRIEND.)

Ah! kind and loving one, thou'rt gone!
Th' abyss of heaven hath swallowed up thy spirit.
Beyond the present scenes thou'rt passed to inherit
What we would fain, but cannot look upon.

Thy face that told so much to me;
Unveiling thought and feeling, high and pure:
Its absence, Father, help me to endure
Until its light and life again I see.

How oft at eventime thy hands
Have swept the keys until the grateful ear
Was filled with concourse of sweet sounds, and near
Were brought celestial chords at their commands.

And afterward when music's o'er,
Beside the window there in cap and lace,
'Twas sweet to see the smile upon thy face
And listen to the voice I hear no more.

If life were bound by mortal day,
And one brief moment such forevermore
The ties that bind kind hearts, what we adore
Of God in human kind must fade away.

The tender cords themselves would break,
Or life's rich bloom would wither and decay
When once we love we cannot love for aye;
What then remains would be its own namesake.

But 'tis not so: by tender might
The young and old alike were drawn to thee;
And must that sweet attraction cease to be
When from the earth thy bird has winged her flight?

Farewell, kind spirit, may it be
The Lover of mankind has called thee home,
That where He is, the love thou gav'st to some
May be requited perfectly to thee.

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

OTTAWA, March 20.—The Minister of the Interior visits Winnipeg in July, thence goes to McLeod country and Calgary, crossing to British Columbia and returning to Edmonton, Battleford and Prince Albert. He will be absent about two months. The Northwest will likely be given four representatives—two from Assiniboia and one each from Alberta and Saskatchewan. It is improbable that increased legislation will be allowed Manitoba.

SEATTLE, March 23.—Industries hereabout are in an excited, disorganized and unsatisfactory condition. Five of the seven coal mines have been shut up for three weeks past by strikes, and another, it is expected, will close tomorrow if the owners do not yield to the miners. The seamen are striking for an advance of $5 per month, demanding $35 in the coast-wise trade, and longshoremen are calling for $4 and $5 a day. Trouble is threatened by the latter at Tacoma, and the mayor has issued a proclamation warning the rioters to desist.

LIEGE, March 26.—The reign of terror continues here. The mob broke into a manufactory of firearms last night and carried away its available contents. Troops have been sent from everywhere, and this part of the kingdom is rapidly assuming the appearance of being under military occupation. Even beggars throughout the country are found in possession of arms. Arrests for disorderly conduct are constantly being made.

LONDON, Ont., March 26.—At a meeting of Grand Trunk engineers and firemen last night a delegation was appointed to wait on Mr. Hickson and request that wages be restored to the old rates in accordance with the promise made at the time of the reduction. It is rumored that a refusal will probably result in a general strike and absolute suspension of business over the whole Grand Trunk system.

OTTAWA, March 26.—Sir John A. Macdonald, who is ill with sciatica, has had a serious turn, and is now much worse.

BRUSSELS, March 27.—Midnight.—The city is in a state of wildest excitement growing out of the news of uprisings and riots in many parts of Belgium. Crowds of roughs are parading the streets breaking windows and assaulting citizens. The police are making most heroic exertions to disperse the mob which is composed of the worst elements of the population.

BERLIN, March 27.—The Reichstag this afternoon by a vote of 131 to 3 rejected Prince Bismarck's spirit monopoly bill. Members of the right abstained from voting.

BRUSSELS, March 27.—Property of immense value has been destroyed by the strikers around Charleroi. Country estates have been pillaged and burned. At Jumet, three miles from Charleroi, the Satin, Dedorlead, Devilles, Jouet, and Londron gloss works have been looted and destroyed, involving hundreds of thousands of dollars loss, throwing hundreds of persons out of employment. At Roux, two miles from Charleroi, in a conflict between troops and rioters five of the latter were shot dead. The strikers are armed with bludgeons and axes, where they cannot obtain firearms, and stubbornly resist the troops.

VERNA, March 28.—A horrible story has reached here of brigandage legalized by the Vali, governing the Albanian district, having its centre in Scutari. The report says that an understanding has been entered into with a brigand chief that a percentage of all plunder is paid to the Governor, who in his turn guarantees the brigands absolute immunity from molestations from the soldiers. On the other hand all the women and girls captured by the brigands are handed over to the Governor at a stipulated per capita price. The youngest and most attractive are sent to Constantinople, where they are sold to merchants who supply Turkish and Persian harems. The rest of the women are held for a ransom, which not being paid, they are handed over to the soldiers as perquisites. The women destined for the Turkish markets are chained in couples and marched to Hobotti, on the Coyana, whence they are shipped in small Greek vessels to Constantinople, sometimes taking several days to reach their destination, and suffering terribly during the voyage. Some probability is given to this horrible report by the fact that there has been an unusually large supply of Albanian women for sale in the Turkish capital recently.

WILL TAKE OATH TO THE FACT.—Edward Cousins, of Ranson, declares he was once nearly dead from the effects of a terrible cold and cough. He tried many remedies but Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam was what cured him. He speaks in highest praise of it in other cases, and adds that he is willing to take oath to his statements.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES.

LONDON, Mar. 28.—It is reported that there will be six secessions from Mr. Gladstone's party outside of the cabinet. The report that Lord Spencer would resign unless the land bill satisfied him is not true: he has full confidence in Mr. Gladstone and assisted the latter in drafting his bill.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29.—In the house to-day Belmont of New York offered a joint resolution appropriating $147,748 to pay the Chinese government for losses sustained by their subjects by mob violence at Rock Springs. The money is intended for distribution among sufferers.

LONDON, Mar. 29.—There was a session of the cabinet this afternoon. Gladstone and Lord Hartington, secretary for war in the last Liberal cabinet, interchanged communications to-day regarding the latter's attitude towards the premier's proposed Irish policy. Hartington, though a Whig, is a sincere admirer of Gladstone, and has always refused either to follow or lead any opposition to him. Chamberlain's personal followers are urging him to make use of the natural Liberal federation to discover the majority of feeling of the Liberal party throughout Great Britain towards Gladstone's Irish policy. At Birmingham rumors are circulated that if the present political crisis results in a new election Lord Randolph Churchill and Chamberlain will take the stump on the same platform. It is also stated that in the same event the Liberals in John Bright's district will request that venerable statesman to retire in favor of a younger man.

LONDON, Mar. 29.—Parnell authorizes a flat denial of the Daily Telegraph's statement that he has been informed of the progress of Irish matters in the cabinet and that he opposed giving precedence to the Land purchase bill or to any measure that would delay discussion of question of home rule. He says that his attitude on the question of land purchase is unaltered, and that he is absolutely ignorant of Gladstone's plan.

Syrup of Figs,

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's Own True Laxative. This pleasant liquid fruit remedy may be had of Messrs. D. S. Curtis & Co., New Westminster. Sample bottles free and large bottles at 75 cents or $1.25. It is the most pleasant, prompt and effective remedy known, to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion and kindred ills.

In the Chinese language there are sixty characters and meanings to the syllable Ling, seventy to Sing, and seventy-five to Ing. The Chinese child has a pretty or endearing nickname, given it soon after its birth. Then the boy has a school name when he goes to school, a marital name when he takes a wife, a business name when he goes into business, an official name if he takes an office, and a death name to be put on his tombstone, and to go down into history. The Chinese prefix "Ah" so common in this country, is an endearing diminutive, equivalent to Sam-my, John-ny, Tom-my in the English language.

A COMPLETE BREAKDOWN.—"For ten years," says Jennie M. Harrett, of Wallaceburg, Ont., "I did not see a well day—was all broken down with dyspepsia, liver complaint, catarrh and debility. Three doctors abandoned hope for me, when Burdock Blood Bitters came to my rescue. It is the best medicine I have ever taken. I say this for the benefit of all suffering as I did."

At Taganrog, a little Russian port, nearly a thousand fishermen, who were busied at Yale to Granite Creek.

YALE, March 24.—The exploring party, in charge of Riley and Northup, sent out by the citizens of Yale to get the most feasible and shortest route to Granite Creek mines, returned yesterday, having been very successful in getting to the mines and returning by the same trail. They report a trail can be made at very little expense by the way of Yale and Spuzzum utilizing the Cariboo wagon road to Suspension bridge and by building a trail from Spuzzum across the country to Otter Flat on the Tulameen river, a distance of 25 miles, where it intersected the Nicola trail, 7 miles from Granite Creek. The country traversed from Spuzzum to Otter Flat is very favorable for travelling, with good feed for stock along the route, and can be kept open without any difficulty all the year. Now that the citizens of Yale have gone to considerable expense, and proved the feasibility of the shortest route to the mines, it behooves the government to see that a trail is constructed without delay. The trail is 34 miles shorter than any other.

Farewell Greetings.

REV. A. DUNN TAKES LEAVE OF HIS FLOCK.

For some time it has been known that the Rev. Alex. Dunn, the respected pastor of the Presbyterian Church, in connection with the Church of Scotland, Langley, intended to resign his charge and return to the east. The rev. gentleman having put his resolve into execution, and his many friends learning that he was about to leave the province in a few days, gathered at the house on the evening of Monday, 15th instant, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Dunn with a number of handsome gifts, amongst the number a handsome gold-headed walking cane to the pastor and a beautiful album to Mrs. Dunn, accompanied by the following address:

THE REV. MR. AND MRS. DUNN: It is with feelings of sincere regret that we realize the loss we are about to sustain in losing you from amongst us, and that soon our relations as pastor and flock will be severed. But, however strong that regret may be it must ever be mingled with the deepest gratitude for the untiring patience and Christian zeal with which you have borne up under the sorest difficulties, braving without a murmur the storms and hardships of pioneer mission work during the past ten years; and though our outward relations may be changed, yet we earnestly hope that you will continue to be in thought and feeling, in the future, as in the past, our pastor still; that we may still be, in the future as in the past, objects of your kind solicitude and prayerful supplications. As a faint expression of the regard in which we shall ever hold you, will you accept these small mementoes of our affection and esteem, and when you look on them please think of the leal and true hearts in Langley. Trusting that wherever the Master in His providence may call you His smile will ever brighten your path and His arm uphold and strengthen you, and that deep as our loss is it may be your gain, we bid you a sad and sorrowing good-bye.

Mr. Dunn, in briefly returning thanks to the friends for their kind wishes and valued gifts, said: "Always a man of few words, I feel that on an occasion like this, and in circumstances like these, all words and thoughts have forsaken me. But although my feelings will not allow me to utter many words I know that you will not on that account think that your great kindness is not appreciated. We never can forget you, or cease to take an interest in your welfare in every respect. While I have at times felt obliged to oppose certain schemes, and to condemn certain actions, which I considered hurtful to the best interests of the community, I have always done so from a strong sense of duty, and not from the mere love of opposition. The desire for peace in me is very strong, but the desire to see justice and sobriety prevail is stronger still. I am glad to think that in every district where I have ministered, there are men in whose loyalty to the Church of Christ, and sterling honesty, I have the most entire confidence. Into your hands I now commit the affairs of the Church, and I have no doubt that by the grace of God you will prove worthy of the confidence I repose in you. In my own name, and in that of my wife, I again thank you for your very great kindness, and for your well being will ever pray."

On the evening of the 16th representatives from Mud Bay, Langley Prairie, Fort Langley, and Maple Ridge, again met at the manse of Langley and presented Mr. Dunn with a well-filled purse and the following address:

REV. AND DEAR SIR:—Now that the time is drawing near when you are to sever your connection with us as our pastor, after a sojourn amongst us of 10½ years, planting the church of our fathers in this far-off land, we beg to assure you that it is with feelings of sorrow and regret that we contemplate the prospect of parting with you. As a friend you have rejoiced with us when our hearts were glad, and mingled your tears with ours as you performed the last sad rites at the graves of those dear to us. You have taught our children in the Sabbath school, pointed them and us heavenward, and have yourself always led the way. To you, and you alone, we are indebted for the churches that we worship in, never flagging nor wearying in any department of that cause so manifestly dear to you. In parting with you and Mrs. Dunn, who has so nobly helped you in your arduous work, although we may never see your face, or hear your voice, our prayer for you both is that Heaven's richest blessings may be yours; and although it grieves us to part from you, yet we can look forward to the time when we shall be re-united in our Father's house, where partings are unknown and where sorrow never enters. And now, Reverend Sir, accept this purse as a token of the esteem in which you are held by us. The hardest task of all is for us to bid you farewell. THOMAS BLACK, HECTOR FERGUSON, HENRY WARK, JOHN BOYS, JOHN STEVENSON, JOHN ARMSTRONG.

Mr. Dunn replied in the following terms:

MY FRIENDS.—I feel very much moved by the touching words you have addressed to me, as also by this substantial expression of your good will and kindly feeling. I can assure you that the prospect of parting cannot be more painful to you than it is to us, in many respects. Still the field is widening and extending on all sides, and I feel, and have felt for some time, that I cannot do justice to it. These long walks and long fatiguing journeys must be undertaken by a younger and stronger man. Though six or seven years ago I felt as if my preaching days were nearly ended, I am very thankful that after "roughing it" for ten and a half years, I leave you so strong as I am. On coming amongst you at first my chief desire was your salvation, and now on leaving you, my whole being seems to gather itself up into this one wish, namely, that you may be saved; saved from sin and sorrow here, and from eternal banishment from God afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn are now on their way to Scotland.

Joe, The Wreck.

"Guilty, or not guilty?"

"Guilty, your Honor. It's the old plea, Judge—the plea 'Joe the Wreck' has been making for years. It has been entered against me in all the courts below, and I'm afraid I'll find it against me in the Courts above. Will they be hard on me up there, Judge? Will they call me 'Joe the Wreck,' and because I have to put in the old plea, will they drag me around like a heartless thing? You know I can't alter the plea, Judge. Will there be any mercy when I answer 'guilty' in the Court above?"

"Yes, up there mercy will be shown even to 'Joe the Wreck'; but they will punish the guilty 'up there.' You are a hard case, Joe. Always on a drunk—"

"Always? Oh, no, Judge, not always. Once I was an innocent babe on my mother's breast. Once I was a happy boy, playing about her knee. There wasn't a bad thought in my heart Judge, nor a blotch nor a scar on my face that she kissed. Once I was loved— Ah Judge, 'Joe the Wreck' was once good enough for a pure woman to love. Bessie loved me —oh—the past"—

"Joe, the Court pities you, but—"

"Don't, Judge; don't send me off yet. I want to let it out of my withered heart. Once I had a home, Judge —'Joe the Wreck' had a home—mine and Bessie's. Did you know her, Judge, her they called 'Bessie, the Parson's lass?"

"Are you the Joe that married Bessie—"

"Ah, you did know her, then. The first evening I went home and found our cottage bright and warm, Bessie smiling and blushing by the little table where waited the tea her willing hands prepared, I was the proudest man in the world, Judge. Something swelled in my heart and burned in my throat, and I couldn't speak. A feeling more like heaven than I'll ever know again. A feeling that died long ago—died even out of my dreams—died when she died of a broken heart—"

"Joe, the Court—"

"Wait, Judge, wait for her sake. You told them 'Joe the Wreck' won Bessie. Let me tell them he wasn't a wreck, then. He won her because he pledged her and God, and that he would love and cherish her. He kept that vow till drink made him forget—forget God, love, home, wife, the babe on her bosom—Oh, if I could only forget now—forget all the days that are dead—the hopes I have wrecked—the graves where I've buried—everything—"

"This is a strange scene in Court, Joe. Will you try to break off?"

"Never, Judge, I can't. The past pushes me on and down. I fear the dead back there more than the death before. The ghosts all rise up when I turn. They follow me in the bright of day, and come to haunt me in the remorseful dreams of night. I see the old house where I played; the mother who taught me a prayer at her knee; the father who doted on his only boy—and I see—Bessie—Oh, God!—her radiant face under the bridal veil—her face full of the heaven of motherhood as she laid her first-born on my breast —her face white and tear-wet as she pleaded with me—holy with wifely love as she prayed for me—the babe—I feel its soft hands on my cheeks—Oh Judge—"

"Joe, I forget that I am a judge, and pity you with the heart of an erring man. But you—"

"Wait, Judge, only a word more and 'Joe the Wreck' will go. Ah, if the world only knew. If it could see his poor soul hiding from the past and the devils that pursue him. They point at their work and mine with shadowy fingers, and laugh at the ruin we have wrought. Yes, I'm guilty, your Honor. I have branded my soul with the curse of drink. Ay, men will look on Bessie's grave and say I'm a murderer—Oh, the days—the years that are gone—the graves I have filled with their dead—"

"Joe—"

"I'm mad with this talk—Ha, ha, ha, why should I think of the good! I am going to the bad. Not Bessie and Joe, but ruin and Joe are wed. See the boys how they stare at the wreck! Ah, 'tis Bessie a talking today—let me put on the old wreck again. Now your sentence, Judge, send me away."—Chicago Current.

The figure of a dog in the window of a burning building attracted the attention of a sympathetic crowd. "Won't somebody save that noble dog?" asked a young lady. A fireman, touched by that call for bravery, ascended a ladder at the risk of his life to the window, smashed in the panes of glass, and suddenly paused. Leaving the dog to its fate, he quickly returned to the ground. To the questions of the crowd he gave the laconic answer, "Terra-cotta," and the imitation animal disappeared through the burning building.

Mr. Baker's bill, to regulate the legal rate of interest to be charged in British Columbia fixes the rate, unless otherwise specified, to be eight per cent., has been agreed in writing, and recovered by judgment, the rate shall not exceed twelve per cent. The B.C. Ordinance, number seventy-one of 1871, is to be repealed, but the application of the proposed act shall not extend to contracts already entered into.

The Oregonian's Whatcom correspondent says: An exodus is at present going on from this side of working men—destination, British Columbia. This time it is not the Chinese. And the expelling cause now is necessity. An investigation will show that there is not a mill, mine, factory, store, shop, or establishment of any kind on Bellingham bay giving steady employment to a single man.

There are in Philadelphia eight female physicians who have an annual practice of about $20,000 each. There are twelve whose incomes average above $10,000 each, and there are twenty who earn over $5,000 each a year.
