Daily British Columbian

Wednesday Evening, July 6, 1887.

The annexation of Upper Burmah has already had the effect of opening up the trade of the adjoining countries, an instance of which is shown in the importation of Chinese sheep from Western China in Mandalay, whence a large number of these animals have already been sent to Rangoon. Previously, mutton was a most expensive and scarce article in the Upper province, and this new source of supply will prove of great value both there and in Lower Burmah. Australian and New Zealand sheep farmers should, however, look to their laurels, and should not allow this promising new market for their produce to be monopolized by the Heathen Chinee.—Colonies and India.

The latest thing in detective work is an expedient resorted to for the purpose of obtaining a clue to the identity of the perpetrator of the mysterious Rahway, N.J., murder. When the body of the murdered girl was discovered a small basket of eggs was found lying near it. Some of these eggs were subsequently placed under a hen and a rooster was hatched. The fowl is now nearly two months old and is of the Langshan variety. Only one man in the neighborhood of Rathway owns chickens of this variety, and the eye of suspicion now rests upon him. The clue is a decidedly novel and slender one, but murderers have ere this been convicted on evidence which had at the outset no better foundation.—Toronto Mail.

The sanguine view of Count Von Moltke regarding Volapuk is responsible for quite a movement in favor of the new language in Germany and Austria. Whatever the final destiny of Professor Schleier's method of universal communication, taught in ten lessons, there is no doubt that a very large number of persons on the continent have already mastered it, and an increasing number are taking it up with that serious intent. It is claimed that during the past winter more than two thousand pupils received instructions in Vienna alone, and examinations have already been held in it in the public schools with favorable results. A paper published in Vienna, the Volapukagased, is said to have a large circulation among the initiate.—The Week.

"I have nowhere at any time witnessed a spectacle so splendid and impressive." This is the verdict of the New York Tribune's London correspondent upon the London pageant. There was not a blot or blur upon the complete success of the jubilee ceremony. The house decorations, especially in Piccadilly, were superb; the appearance of the reconstructed Abbey by no means warranted the charge of "desecration"; the assembly and the services there were dignified and in keeping with the occasion, and the procession as seen from an unexcelled point of view was in every sense memorable. Perhaps nothing in connection with the affair was more touching or suggestive than the affectionate greetings extended to the Queen by her children in the presence of the throng that filled the Abbey. They spoke eloquently of the domestic love which has ever been characteristic of the Queen and her family.—N. Y. Tribune.

"Cigarette smoking is doing more injury to the eyes than anything I know of," said an optician recently to a reporter for the Mail and Express. In the same journal somebody gives this advice about caring for the eyes: Keep a shade on your lamp or gas burner. Avoid all sudden changes between light and darkness. Never begin to read, write or sew for several minutes after coming from darkness to light. Never read by twilight, moonlight or on cloudy days. Never read or sew directly in front of the light, window or door. It is best to let the light fall from above obliquely over the left shoulder. Never sleep so that on first awaking the eyes shall open on the light of a window. Do not use the eyesight by light so scant that it requires an effort to discriminate. The moment you are instinctively prompted to rub your eyes that moment stop using them. If the eyelids are glued together on waking up do not forcibly open them, but apply saliva with the finger, it is the speediest dilutant in the world; then wash your eyes and face in warm water.

NEW BUDGET.

PARIS, July 5.—M. Bokirer, premier and minister of finance, has prepared a budget for presentation in the chamber of deputies. Their will be a saving of 15 million francs over last budget. It is reported the government will raise the import duties on spirits to 70 francs per hecb-solitere.

A MURDERER'S CRIME.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Private Bateman of troop A, 2nd cavalry, shot and killed the 1st Sargeant Soper of his troop at Presedio barracks this morning. Both men were in parade yesterday in this city, and Sergeant Soper had some trouble with Bateman, having ordered him out of a drinking saloon. Bateman failed to report for roll call this morning and the sergeant went to awake him. On leaving the building Bate followed and shot him in the face. The sergeant fell and Bateman fired a second shot, killing him. Capt. Doane, commanding the troops, describes the murderer as a man of unbridled passion. The murderer was placed in irons.

NO RELIEF YET.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., July 5.—No progress has been made to-day toward finding the entombed miners. Relief parties, however, are still at work.

UNCLE SAM'S ROTTEN NAVY.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—The wooden man-of-war, "Iroquois," third-rate, commanded by Richard P. Leavy, was condemned May 27, and a communication was sent to the navy department regarding the condition of the vessel. Commander Leavy states that the deck and beams have become so rotten that the pivot guns often cannot be used, and the forward pivot gun cannot be fired, and is unsafe to fire from port side. The "Iroquois" has been ordered to Mare Island to be inspected by the board of survey. It is the opinion of many officers that she is condemned. She carries 7 guns.

THE GOVERNMENT DEFEATED.

LONDON, July 5.—Mr. Matthews, the home secretary, was questioned in the house of commons this morning regarding the recent arrest in Regent street of virtuous girls as prostitutes. His reply was unsatisfactory and the Radicals moved an adjournment of the house. A firy debate then ensued. Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Randolph Churchill and several others denounced the brutality of the police and magistrates, as well as the cynicism of Matthews, who defended both. A division was taken at 5 p.m., resulting in the motion being carried by 153 to 148. The result dismayed the government, when the opposition cheered uproariously. The house adjourned at 7:10 p.m., amidst great excitement. There was a hurried meeting of the ministers, and it was rumored Matthews had resigned. However this may be, his reputation, which has long been dwindling, is now gone. It is unlikely the government will dare to retain him. W. H. Smith is furious and condemned the government for its defeat.

FALSE REPORTS.

DUBLIN, July 5.—At the fortnightly meeting of the executive committee of the national league to-day, Dr. Henry, Parnell's physician, made a speech denouncing the circulation of baseless and brutal reports about Parnell's health.

C. P. R. MAIL TENDER.

CHICAGO, July 5.—A special from Montreal, Canada, says:—"The tender of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the English mail service on the Pacific is as follows: It has offered to contract tor ocean service at a speed of 15 instead of 11 knots, and to build its boats under the admiralty supervision so that they may be readily converted into army cruisers for the supply of £10,000 per annum. In addition to this it is also offering to carry the China and Japan mails for 3,500 miles across the continent of America free of charge; also to carry troops and government stores over the same distance of land and over ocean at cost price, thus making the route an imperial highway. The subsidy is calculated on the price per mile which the British government says the Peninsular and Oriental Co. have for carrying the India and China mails via Suez; and by this estimate the amount in subsidy for fortnightly service, each way between Vancouver and Hong Kong would be £10,500 per annum. The other tender, that of Morgan Co., asks for the Pacific service alone to be performed at a speed of 11 knots, there are of course in this latter tender none of advantages offered in addition by the Canadian Pacific Railway with regard to land carriage.

PRESS COMMENTS.

LONDON, July 6.—The Times says: "The government have to thank Mr. Matthews for their defeat. His replies displayed his singular incapacity to grasp the true nature of the affair." The Standard says: "The government have themselves to thank for their damaging defeat. Matthews of course was primarily responsible, but his colleagues, and especially Smith, must share the blame. It was the duty of the government to see that right prevailed, and for neglecting that duty they have been brought to sharp reckoning.

A CLOSER ALLIANCE.

LONDON, July 6.—The Vienna Tagblatt says that Germany, Austria, and Italy are negotiating for a still closer alliance than the one at present existing between these countries.

OLD MANUSCRIPTS DISCOVERED.

BERLIN, July 6.—Two unpublished letters of Luther and five from Melancthon to Swabian, the reformer of Lachmann, have been found in an old desk in the school at Heilbronne.

MORMON CONVERTS.

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 6.—The Mormon missionaries have been working for some time in Richmond county, Ga., and have made a number of proselytes among the ignorant county people. The missionaries worked the people up to such an excitement that the more educated classes have warned them to leave at once, but they defy all threats, and it is probable that more violent measures will be resorted to.

NOT YET THROUGH.

VIRGINIA CITY, July 6.—Another blast was fired a little past midnight which failed to reach the cross cut as the drift is extended. Another set of holes cannot be drilled and blasted before noon to-day.

SUICIDE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—J. C. Seymour, secretary of the new athletic club, disappeared a few days ago, and from a letter received by a friend it is believed he has committed suicide, owing to unsuccessful sporting ventures. He was well known in Australia and on this coast.

SMITH EXPLAINS.

LONDON, July 6.—In the house of commons to-day the Right Hon. W. A. Smith, government leader, referring to the action of the house last night in the Cass case, said the house acted under an erroneous impression that it was the duty of the government to institute a full and impartial inquiry to establish all the truth in connection with the arrest of Miss Cass on charges of being an improper character.

The real throne of Great Britain is the chair that stands on a slightly raised dais at the south end of the house of lords, in Westminster Palace. It is an exact copy of the coronation chair, save that it is larger and has an iron instead of a wooden framework. It is solidly gilded and set with innumerable topazes, garnets, amethysts and smoke crystals. The seat is an upholstered cushion of scarlet velvet. The arms and back are not upholstered; but the latter bears the crest of the house of Hanover. Before the throne is a small footstool, gilded and upholstered in scarlet to match the chair.

James Cullen, Pool's Island, N. F., writes: I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction to this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success have been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my "rheumatic neighbors" (one old lady in particular) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child.

The report of the English committee on M. Pasteur's hydrophobia cure proves to be even stronger in his favor than it was rumored. This committee is composed of eight of the ablest men in science and most competent specialists in this country. They consider the proof of M. Pasteur's theory conclusive and his treatment in spite of some failures entirely successful, and even recommend that it be made compulsory by the law in cases of rabies.

A Pittsburg merchant, as an advertisement offered a prize of $20 to the first person solving the following problem: "Take these figures, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 0, add them them together and make 100 without using any figure twice. There were a great many answers, but the only correct one received was sent in by a young lady, and was as follows: 59½ plus 40 38-76 equals 100.

Joseph Rusan, Percy, writes: "I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three or four years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me." Beware of similarly named articles; they are imitations of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

Wednesday Evening, July 6, 1887.

Political Readjustment.

Our very excellent cotemporary of the Toronto Mail is of opinion that the retirement of Mr. Blake from the Liberal leadership will involve much greater changes than appear on the surface. Not only will it demoralize the opposition, but it will give a great deal more rope to the Conservatives because the leader against whom they have had to be vigilant is now out of the way. It is the Mail's belief that Mr. Laurier will not be received by the Liberals of Ontario with any degree of cordiality, and that from both parties there are certain to be important secessions. To the question, What is to take the place of the Reform and Tory parties? our cotemporary answers: "The occasion always brings forth both the men and the machinery. It is quite probable that the old names will remain, that one of the parties of the future will adhere to the label of Liberal, and their opponents to that of Conservative. But there will be a general redivision upon new issues. First and foremost stands the trade question. Shall we seek to maintain the policy of isolation "in the supposed interest of the empire," as Professor Goldwin Smith puts it in his letter to the Standard, or shall we hasten to conform ourselves to the laws of nature, which, here as elsewhere, are not to be violated with impunity? A large number of persons believe that free trade with the United States would lead in the end to separation from Britain, and their opinion is entitled to respectful attention. It is no argument to sneer at them as Tories or accuse them of professing a loyalty they do not feel. This class, which embraces Reformers as well as Conservatives, will no doubt constitute the Conservative party of the future, while the Liberals will be those who hold that Canada should be true to herself and to her own interests, regardless of all other considerations." The division here indicated, the Mail thinks, is pretty sure to come, although it may not be brought about at once. The history of Canada has been one of continual progress towards complete political independence, and neither the imperial government nor any other force can prevent us now from guiding the ship of state according to our own sweet will. The disintegration and reconstruction of political parties in Canada may result in substantial benefit to the state. It cannot be denied that party government of the kind which prevails in this country is a government of tyranny. The people's representatives lose their independence completely in the trammels of party necessities, and they are frequently forced to vote against their convictions and the interests of their constituents because these necessities demand it. A breaking down of these usages would surely be in the public interest. There has been manifested throughout Canada of late a widespread interest in the question of commercial union with the United States, and with this question is intimately associated the ultimate destiny of the Dominion. In the opinion of some it is destined to amalgamate finally with the American republic, and the whole North Ameaican continent is to become a homogeneous nation. Undoubtedly it would be a powerful combination. With 75,000,000 of intelligent and enterprising people, possessing in abundance all the resources needful for the establishment and maintenance of a great power, it might stand secure from all the menaces of the rest of the world. But will Canada ever consent to throw off her allegiance to the mother country even for such advantages as are implied in amalgamation with the United States? We think not; at least not just yet. But if the proposition be extended so as to embrace an alliance, offensive and defensive, between Great Britain and America (including the whole of this continent), the proposal would meet with a most cordial reception throughout the Dominion. Such an alliance would be perfectly natural, because it would be a reunion of two peoples of the same blood, animated by the same ambitions, and influenced by the same social and political institutions. It would be an alliance of the greatest moral and material forces in the world, and it would form a combination against which no other could possibly prevail. In the way of such an alliance there are great difficulties which now seem insurmountable; but "nothing is impossible to him who knows how to wait," and time may make easy what now seems beyond reach. Great results often come from incidents in themselves almost insignificant. The retirement of Mr. Blake may be like the little pebble that determines the course of a great stream. If it becomes the occasion of loosening party ties and building up a party whose great and first aim is the public welfare, and if through this it leads to the great political revolution indicated above, we shall be more than gratified.

Election of School Trustee!

A MEETING FOR THE ELECTION OF a Trustee for St. George's Ward, New Westminster City School District, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. S. Clute, Esq., will be held on Thursday the 14th day of July, 1887, at the Council Chambers, Hyack Hall, commencing at 11 a. m.

In case a poll is demanded, voting will commence at 10 a. m. of the next day and close at 4 p. m.

EXTRACT FROM "PUBLIC SCHOOL ACT, 1885"

"23. Any person registered as a voter, as hereinafter provided, shall be eligible to vote at any school meeting held in such District, and in the ward in which he is registered, for the election of Trustees; provided, always, that it shall not be lawful for any person to vote for Trustees in more than one ward in any City School District."

By order of Board of Trustees,

djy4td T. J. TRAPP, Secretary.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

The West Shore

FREE.

For the balance of 1886, including the mammoth holiday number, to all who subscribe now for 1887.

With the January issue THE WEST SHORE will begin its twelfth year. Every number contains original illustrations of scenery, towns and industries in the Pacific Northwest, equaling in excellence the best productions of Eastern magazines. The contributed articles, general literature and stories are entertaining and carefully edited, making the magazine a chaste family visitor. The comments on events of interest to this region and the large amount of information concerning our various resources and the progress of development given in every number render it extremely valuable. No family can afford to do without it, and every one financially interested in the Pacific Northwest or desirous of learning its resources will find it invaluable.

If the subscription price ($2 per year) is sent in now you will be entered for 1887, and the remainder of 1886 will be sent as a premium.

"I take only one English weekly paper, The Spectator, and one Canadian, The Week, and as a rule I should be puzzled to say which I should miss most."—From a letter by Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown's School Days."

The Week:

A Canadian Journal of Politics, Society and Literature.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, AT $3.00 PER ANNUM.

Independent in politics, THE WEEK appeals by a comprehensive Table of Contents to the different tastes which exist within the circle of a cultured home.

An average of fifteen short, crisp Editorials is given in each number upon CANADIAN, AMERICAN, and ENGLISH POLITICS and LITERATURE.

Amongst the regular conributors is Professor Goldwin Smith; and a distinguished public man in London has kindly undertaken to supply regularly an English Letter. Paris and Washington Letters will appear at regular intervals.

In addition there are special contributions from some of the ablest writers in the Dominion and the United States.

THE WEEK

has now entered upon its third year with most encouraging prospects, and with many new features.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practically impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigor. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. TRUE LOVE PREVAILS.

They were going to have a grand festival in Barclay.

It was to be given in the little school behind the church; and the school was, accordingly, the scene of much bustling excitement on the morning of the eventful day.

There were a few busy matrons overseeing; but most of the work—the arrangement of the little tables, and the decoration of the room with evergreens and mottoes—was done with a will by the young people of the town.

The room was gay and noisy. Bright young faces smiled everywhere, pretty dresses flitted about, and the buzz of animated voices filled the air.

Over in a corner, Dolph Gorman and Josie Wheeler were laboring over a motto, which was to convey, in big gilt letters, and an exclamation point, the not highly original sentiment of "Welcome!"

"Well, I'm waiting for that C, you slow thing," said Josie, spreading out the W-E-L and regarding it admiringly, and pushing her hair out of her eyes with a sticky hand. "Isn't it going to look nice?"

"Well, it ought to," said Dolph, holding out his aching fingers with an injured air. "This is the worst job I ever undertook. By the way," he added, looking into Josie's face anxiously; "Mrs. Thompson is determined to have me at the candystand—talks though it was foreordained at creation that I should sacrifice myself on the altar of taffy and sweets—and says I can ask somebody to assist me in the noble work. Will you?"

Josie smiled, and blushed.

"Well," she said, trying not to show the utter willingness she felt, "I expected to help serve the strawberries and ice-cream, and I've got my cap and apron all ready. All the waitresses are going to wear them, you know."

"I was just going to ask you to wear a cap and apron," said Dolph unflinchingly. "They'll cast a glory, and lend an air of distinction to the burnt almonds. You won't refuse?"

"Oh, I suppose not!" said Josie with a lighthearted laugh. "See here, Dolph Gorman, if you don't hurry with that C——"

"O, Mr. Gorman!" cried an appealing voice.

And Dolph turned with good-humored haste.

A strikingly-pretty and charmingly-dressed young lady, mounted on the top of a high step-ladder, had turned in Dolph's direction, with her brows in a grieved pucker and her lips in a pout.

The end of the evergreen wreath which she had been artistically twining about a post dangled above her head.

Miss Lavine was not a Barclayite. Nobody could have mistaken her for such.

Her stylish, delicately-shaded, glove-fitting dress; her little, Frenchy, lace-trimmed bonnet; her dainty chatelaine watch—were such as no Barclay girl, however ambitious, had ever possessed.

Miss Lavine was on a short visit to old Mr. Gresham, her uncle, and she had hailed the festival joyfully, as a means of enlivening her not over-gay week, and had won the hearts of the Barclay young people promptly and completely.

She was the brightest, the airiest, the gayest girl they had ever seen. The young men admired her enthusiastically; the girls considered her something more than human.

"O, Mr. Gorman!" cried Miss Lavine.

Josie, with her laughing face clouding over, turned to look at her reflectively.

She was not a suspicious person, but it did seem to her that Miss Lavine had required Dolph's services an unreasonable number of times that morning.

Hitherto she had been one of her chief worshippers; but now she began to look at her in a new light. She began to dislike her extremely.

"Just look, Mr. Gorman!" cried Miss Lavine, holding up the end of the evergreen wreath appealingly. "Two yards of this provoking thing wanting. Mr. Gorman!"—she clasped her hands tragically—"save us!"

Everybody laughed; for everybody knew that this was a delicate demand that Dolph should take his horse and buggy, which had already been of great service in their preparations, and go down to the woods, a mile distant, for a fresh supply of evergreens.

"Only too happy, Miss Lavine," Dolph responded, dropping his shears and paste-board, and rising with accommodating promptness.

"See here, Josie," he added in an undertone, "I'll bring the buggy round here for you. It's lonesome, you know, going by yourself—eh?"

"All right," said Josie gayly.

"Don't you think," said Nellie Storey, little blonde of fifteen and a half, stealing up to Josie when Dolph had departed, "I'm horrid to say it, but don't you think that Miss Lavine is—well—a little bit affected?"

Josie glanced in Miss Lavine's direction. She was descending a step-ladder daintily, with Charley Ransom's eager assistance. Charley Ransom had been "going with" Nellie Storey of late.

"Yes, I do," said Josie, with the quick sympathy of a fellow-sufferer. "Dreadfully affected—so there!"

"And conceited?" said Nellie.

Miss Lavine was strolling towards a window with Charley Ransom at her side.

"Awfully conceited!" said Josie.

"And officious?" said Nellie.

They were leaning out of the window, necessarily close together.

"Horridly officious!" was the energetic response.

And Nellie looked comforted.

Fifteen minutes later, Dolph's buggy came rattling up to the door.

Josie could hardly have told how it happened; but just as she started hastily towards the corner where her hat was hanging, she heard a delighted exclamation from Miss Lavine—"O, Mr. Gorman!"—saw a slender, light-brown figure whisking through the door, and, following wonderingly, saw Miss Lavine, flushed and laughing, waving a graceful adieu from her place at Dolph's side, saw the buggy flying briskly down the road.

It was high noon when the buggy came back.

The preparations in the school were nearly complete.

The saucers and spoons, borrowed far and wide for the occasion, stood ready in a corner; the floor had been swept clean; Josie had finished her "Welcome," and was overseeing Charley Ransom, who was tacking it up, Nellie Storey having refused to have anything to say to him.

Miss Lavine sank on to a chair, and was immediately surrounded. Dolph threw his armful of evergreens on to the floor, and hurried to Josie's side.

"Well," he began breathlessly, with his hand on her arm, "I hope you didn't think——"

The arm was pulled sharply from his grasp; the owner of the arm averted her eyes.

"I hope you didn't think I asked her to go?" Dolph went on earnestly.

"The L is a little crooked, Charley," was Josie's sole response.

"Of course I hadn't any idea of taking her," said Dolph, beginning to look alarmed. "But when she came right out and got in, what could I do? I——"

"The M ought to go a little higher," said Josie calmly.

"Look here!" said Dolph desperately, "this is ridiculous, you know; it's unreasonable; it's——"

"I think, Charley," said Josie musingly, "that the E ought to be a little lower."

There was a pause.

"You're joking, aren't you?" said Dolph anxiously. "You aren't mad? You'll help me sell candy to-night, won't you?" he added dubiously.

"How do you dare to ask me?" cried Josie, blazing round at him suddenly. "No, I won't! Ask Miss Lavine!"

"All right," said Dolph quietly.

And the next moment, Josie, standing with heated face and flashing eyes, heard Miss Lavine's soft voice crying gayly:

"Help you at the candy-stand? Dear me, yes! How perfectly jolly, Mr. Gorman!"

At eight o'clock that evening the school was transformed.

The girls were at their prettiest, in their white ruffled caps, and lace-bordered aprons.

Josie Wheeler, among the rest, looked as sweet and fresh as a flower, as she flitted about among the tables, already filling rapidly with trays of crimson berries and pink, and brown, and yellow-tinted cream.

Dolph Gorman watched her wistfully from behind his candy-stand.

Miss Lavine was at his side, in a lovely costume of pale and dark blue. She was particularly bright and fascinating. Everybody was magically drawn to her corner; she had already sold an immense amount.

Josie, in spite of her apparent absorption, had watched it all with increasing misery.

She had seen the charming blue dress with a jealous pang; she had kept a mental record of the number of remarks Dolph had addressed to his pretty companion; she had noted her smiling responses bitterly.

"I don't know, really," said Nellie Storey, depositing Mr. Rickett's strawberries before him, and addressing Josie over his head, "I don't know what people see in that girl." (Charley Ransom had been hanging about the candy-stand.)

"Why, everybody's crazy over her. Just look at old Mr Lane buying chocolate-drops! And Squire Simpson bought a candy dog and whistle. I saw him! I don't know as I ought to say it, Josie, but don't you think that blue thing of hers is a little loud?"

"Perfectly horrid!" said Josie. "Perfectly—— Did you say vanilla, Dr. Pell? Perfectly disgusting!"

The object of their remarks was at that moment making her way towards the central post, with Dolph Gorman in close attendance.

The evergreen wreath, over which they had all labored faithfully, and which she had tacked up with her own hands that morning, had started to come down.

One huge end hung despondently; and—dreadful sight!—its little green needless and feathery bits of ground pine, and several loosened tacks, had dropped down on to the Rev. Mr. Blundel's silk hat, his table being just beneath.

Miss Lavine's bright face was full of comic distress.

"What shall we do, Mr. Gorman?" she whispered. "Look at Mr. Blundel's hat! Dear me!"

A score of admiring youths who had gathered round her offered their services eagerly, but Dolph swept them aside.

"Where's the step-ladder?" he demanded.

The step-ladder was found somewhere behind the screen; hammer and tacks were unearthed from some corner, and Dolph went to work.

And then somebody joggled the step-ladder, which was shaky; there were two or three frightened cries from those who saw it, and a crash.

Josie dropped Dr. Pell's strawberries into his lap, pressed a trembling hand against her thumping heart, and rushed across the room, followed by the doctor himself, in happy unconsciousness of the strawberry-stain on his shirt-front.

There in the midst of a dismayed gathering, lay Dolph, quite unconscious. One hand still clutched the hammer; the other was cruelly bent under him.

A confused period followed.

Everybody crowded round and uttered startled exclamations.

Several people, each unaware that anybody else had thought of it, rushed for water, and doused the quiet face with it.

Dr. Pell stamped about angrily, in ineffectual attempts to disperse the gathering for increase of air, and to stop the flood of water.

Poor Josie leaned against the post, white and motionless, as utterly wretched a little being, probably, as at that moment existed.

"There, I've fetched him!" cried Charley Ransom, triumphantly flinging the last drop of water from an ice-cream dipper.

Josie gave a little scream of joy; for Dolph had opened his eyes, painfully, and was trying to sit up; was trying, weakly, to wipe the water from his face, was actually on his feet!

Dr. Pell lifted the arm which had lain under him. Everybody shuddered; some of the girls grew faint, for it bent midway between the wrist and elbow.

"Broken," said the doctor briefly. "Get your hat, young man. My buggy's at the door. I'll give you a lift home."

Perhaps it was only that Josie was nearest at hand—perhaps it was for reasons of his own—that the young man seized her arm for support, and walked to the door leaning heavily upon it, the lookers-on immediately clearing a path for them.

"Well," he observed, with a smile and a twinge of pain mingling queerly in his white face, "I wasn't sure you'd speak to me!"

"Oh, Dolph!" said Josie tearfully.

As for Miss Lavine," said Dolph simply "she's a jolly girl; but, for me, I greatly prefer—ah!—somebody else," said Dolph, looking steadily into his companion's face, which had grown rather red.

When Josie turned back presently—the doctor's buggy having rattled away—the look of distress in her eyes had given way to one of perfect contentment.

"I don't know, after all," Nellie Storey remarked later in the evening, "as Miss Lavine is so—bad."

Charley Ransom had engaged Nellie's company home.

"She's just as nice as she can be, and live!" said Josie warmly.

Dosing the Doctor.

In the town of Blank, Ind., is a dudish little dapper fellow, who styles himself M.D., and has a "sheepskin," or diploma, of his own make and issuing, gotten up by self-graduation, and oath to five years' practice—according to Indiana law.

Not long ago a wag met the young doctor, who is all talk, or chatter, and cheek equal to a brass monkey, and taking up the youngster's medicine case, put it under his arm and strutted, turkey-gobbler fashion, as the young "M.D." was wont to do.

"Give me that medicine case, sir," haughtily demanded the doctor; "there is dangerous medicine in it."

"That's what I've heard from the neighborhood where you get your practice," was the wag's reply.

TESTIMONIAL!

Vancouver, 23rd June, 1886.

MR. G. ROBERTSON,
Vancouver:

Representing Goldie & McCulloch, Galt, Ont.

SIR.—We the undersigned having witnessed the terrible fire which wiped out of existence the young city of Vancouver, on the 13th inst., have, after the fire, examined the safes sold by you, some of which were put to the most severe test, having been surrounded by large quantities of lard and bacon, and we are pleased to testify to the remarkable manner in which every Safe sold by you preserved its contents, not only books and papers, but also thousands of dollars in paper money were taken out in perfect condition. We can, therefore, with the greatest confidence, recommend them as thoroughly fire proof:

1873. # GRIP! 1887.

CANADA'S COMIC JOURNAL

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS FOR 1887.

THE AIM OF "GRIP" is to set forth, in an impartial and independent manner, the passing events of Canadian political and social life. Its Cartoons speak more definitely and more pleasingly than who'e columns of editorial. In this pungent, easily appreciable, and artistic style of presenting a subject, the whole situation is revealed at a glance. The success of Grip shows how well this fact is appreciated—its Cartoons on the passing political events of the country being even more eagerly sought after than the chaste and humorous letter-press of the paper,—though the latter is equal to that of any similar publication on the continent.

The publishers of Grip are making extensive improvements for 1886. The old cover is to be discarded, and the journal will hereafter comprise 12 pages, and be printed on heavy toned and calendered paper,—every number being artistically executed as to compare favorably with the best papers on the continent. The advts. will be compressed and more systematically arranged; while similar improvements will be made as to the letter-press. A new and handsome design will adorn the title page; while the Cartoons will certainly not suffer from extensive improvements in the artistic department.

The price of Grip will hereafter be $2 a year, which is lower than that of any paper of its kind in America,—most of them selling for $5. Single numbers of Grip will be 10 cents.

Twice a year, at Midsummer and Christmas, a beautiful special number will be issued, the number of pages being increased, and pleasing features introduced, particulars of which will be given in preceding issues. These numbers will be presented to subscribers without extra charge.

GRIP'S PLATFORM:

Humor without Vulgarity;
Patriotism without Partizanship;
Truth without Temper.

Only $2 a Year, Postage Free.

Address the Grip Printing and Publishing Company, 26 and 28 Front Street, West, Toronto; or leave your order with your bookseller or other local agent. fe14

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN Printing Company

(LIMITED.)

ON THE 10TH OF JANUARY, 1887, the COLUMBIAN Newspaper and Printing Concern was purchased by a joint stock company composed of citizens of New Westminster, to be known as the "British Columbian Printing Co., Limited." The concern has been for nearly a year owned and controlled by the British Columbia Stationery and Printing Company, of New Westminster, Victoria and Vancouver. The object of the new company is to continue the publication of the BRITISH COLUMBIAN newspaper and carry on a general printing and publishing concern, controlled entirely by those whose individual interest it will be to promote the development, especially of the Mainland. There will be no slackening of the energy hitherto displayed in the management of the establishment, and its patrons may rely upon receiving full value for their money. The COLUMBIAN will continue to be entirely independent in both Dominion and provincial politics, and will devote itself to the advancement of such schemes as may be considered in the public interest. The concern is now entirely separate from any other business, the book and stationery establishment in this city having been taken over by Mr. T. R. Pearson, who will continue to carry it on in his own name and for his own benefit. It is desirable that a daily newspaper should be maintained in this city, and the new company asks for public patronage on the ground that it is engaged in an enterprise calculated to promote the public welfare. It asks that the COLUMBIAN be judged on its own merits and supported only so long as its policy is enconsistt with its professions. In consequence of this business change all accounts due the concern must be settled without delay so that the books of the former company may be adjusted and closed. A HOME COMPANY.

This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada,

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

Liberal Conditions as to Residence and Travel.

A Slight Difference.

You go upon the Board of Trade,
Where margin merchants meet
And take some little options
On January wheat.
You watch the little ticker,
Till the hands swing round the ring.
Then you find your little boodle
Has gone a-glimmering.
That's business.

You go into the faro bank
And buy a stack of chips,
And watch the cards come from the box
Which the dealer deftly flips.
When your head is dull and aching,
At the breaking of the day,
You see that fickle fortune
Has gone the other way.
That's gambling.

We were shown the other day some apples that had been kept all winter in the cellar of Mr. Wm. Johnson, Agnes st. They were as firm and sound as the day they were taken from the tree. Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION.—There were over 100 ladies and gentlemen present at the Y.M.C.A. reception last night, and the affair was entirely successful. Ice-cream and cake were served to all present. Miss French sang a solo, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lyal, Miss Hill, and Mr. H. M. Cunningham sang two quartettes, and a male quartette was sung by Messrs. Lyal, Ogle, Cunningham and Coffin. The rooms are very comfortable, and there is a good supply of solid and current literature in the reading room.

THE FISHERY QUESTION.—The position of the government on the fishery question, as explained by Sir John Macdonald in the house of commons last week, is one which will command the confidence of the country. He stated that the government held that by a treaty of 1818, and the law of nations, American fishermen are excluded from the inshore waters of Canada and from the privileges of ordinary traders. Their policy was to enforce the treaty firmly but without giving cause for irritation, and if possible to come to a settlement of the entire question with the American government. The most important portion of the statement was to the effect that the British government was in perfect accord with the Canadian on this question, and that the American executive had manifested so friendly a disposition toward Canada as to encourage the hope not only of a settlement of the fishery trouble, but of negotiations ending in "enlarged commercial relations." Does this mean commercial union?—Montreal Witness.

HARD ON THE MAP.—We have had occasion before to refer to the spirit of enterprise which from time to time characterizes our island contemporary, the Victoria Times. Whilst commending it, and desirous of showing our appreciation of its efforts, yet, if we may venture to say so without being considered hyper-critical, we must confess to a little nervousness on account of startling manner and unexpected ways in which these occasional outbursts occur. It its issue of yesterday our cotemporary goes beyond any of its previous efforts, and comes out as an illustrated paper. It presents its readers with what purports to be a bird's-eye view of Port Angeles, W.T., the seat of the new Co-operative Colony. This is on one side of the straits of Juan de Fuca, whilst on the other appears a view of Victoria. We do not know exactly where the artist selected his standpoint, but no doubt the picture is accurate, although Victoria harbor is apparently a mile long. Numerous vessels are passing, and arrows, showing various distances and courses, are shooting about in every direction. Altogether the scene is a very animated one, and the Times artist is to be congratulated on his effort. But whilst gazing in admiration on the picture, and wondering whether the News-Advertiser draughtsman could rise to such a height, it gradually came over us that there was strangely familiar look about the whole scene. All at once it flashed upon us where we had seen it. In an old illustrated copy of "Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress," published about the year 1737 (it may be 1739, we cannot be quite sure, as we write from memory) appears a quaint picture of Christian just crossing the Jordan, and about to enter the Golden City. The Times' artist has shown wonderful skill in the alterations necessary to adapt the picture to the present requirements. In the place of the "Heavenly Jerusalem" appears "Victoria," whilst what Bunyan describes in the words "and I saw that even close to the city was the entrance to Hell," the Victoria designer has marked on his picture, "To Vancouver, 70 miles."—Vancouver News.

County Court.

County court opened this morning, Mr. Justice McCreight presiding. Judgment was given in the following cases in which judgment had been reserved to consider arguments of counsel.

GUICHON V. RICHARDS.—An action for the price of goods in which the plaintiff had undertaken to prove that his cause of action arose within this district, defendant having objected to the jurisdiction of the court. The judge held that plaintiff had failed to comply with his undertaking, and ordered a non-suit to be entered against him with costs. Mr. Bole, Q. C., for plaintiff. Mr. McColl for defendant.

CUNNINGHAM V. BRIGHOUSE. —An action against Samuel Brighouse and wife for the price of goods sold. Judgment for plaintiff against Mrs. Brighouse only and judgment for Brighouse with costs against plaintiff. Application was made that Mrs. Brighouse should be ordered to pay costs payable by plaintiff to Brighouse, but the judge held it was not a case for making such order even if he had power to do so. Bole for plf. McColl for Brighouse.

BUTCHART V. NOON.—Action and counter-claim on accounts between the parties. The judge considered that these accounts, which were of long standing, were in effect settled between the parties and disallowed both claims with costs; plaintiff getting costs occasioned by counter-claim and paying other costs. McColl for plf. Bole for deft.

MALEE ET AL VS. GOLD.—This was an action against Mrs. Gold for breach of a bond by which she had agreed, in consideration of the release from gaol of one Hughes, who had been arrested on a ca. re., to surrender him up within 5 days after judgment or pay the amount of the judgment. Judgment for defendant. Bole for plaintiff. McColl for defendant.

TURGOOSE VS. JASPERSON.—Action of account. Verdict for plaintiff. McColl for plaintiff. Atkinson for defendant.

There was only one defended case at the sittings held to-day, which is not yet concluded.

THERE IS A WIDE DIFFERENCE between medicines which affect merely the symptoms of disease and those which affect its cause. The first are useful as palliaties, the second, if of genuine efficacy, produce a radical cure. To the latter class belongs Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. Thoroughness of operation is its special attribute in all cases of Biliousness, Costiveness, Indigestion, Kidney Complaints, and Female Weakness.

The Loan By-Law!

PROTEST FROM THE CITIZENS

To the Mayor and Council, City of New Westminster:

GENTLEMEN.—We, the undersigned, beg most respectfully to protest against the Loan Bylaw, 1887, being finally adopted. We object to it on many grounds, but it may be sufficient to say, among other things, that we strongly object to the Bylaw being acted upon when so many large property owners were, by what we consider an erroneous view of the law, excluded from voting. We are very adverse to any litigation, and shall only resort to that when compelled to do so. Therefore it is that we now request that the Bylaw may not be further proceeded with.

We are, Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servants,

Loan Bylaw, 1887

To Raise a Loan of $75,000.

WHEREAS IT IS EXPEDIENT AND desirable to raise by loan the sum of $75,000, payable on the 15th day of July, A. D., 1937, with interest in the meantime payable half-yearly, at the rate of six per centum per annum, to be applied to the following purposes, that is to say:

A. For the opening up and improvement of Public Streets in the City of New Westminster, the sum of $26,750.

B. For the erection and furnishing of a City Hall, Court Room, Lock-up, Police Quarters, City Clerk's Office and Market, the sum of $15,000.

C. For improving the Crescent and Park, the sum of $5,000.

D. For purchasing at a sum not exceeding their par value all Debentures issued on the security of the City of New Westminster, the sum of $28,250, which Debentures are set out in the schedule to this section.

1. New Westminster Loan Bylaw, 1883, payable in ten years—balance unpaid	$ 3,500
2. New Westminster Loan Bylaw, 1885, payable in ten years—balance unpaid	4,000
3. Railway Bonus Bylaw, 1885, payable in twenty years—balance,	20,000
4. Woolen Mill Bonus Bylaw, 1886, balance	750
Total	$28,250

And whereas the sum of $3,000 will have to be raised annually as a special rate for paying the interest and creating a sinking fund for paying the said loan at the days and times when the same shall become due by this Bylaw.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being the Roll for the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, is the sum of $760,210, irrespective of any future increase of the rateable property of the Municipality, and of any income in the nature of tolls, interest or dividends from the work, or from any stock, shares or interest in the work upon which the money to be raised as herein provided, or any part thereof is intended to be vested, and also irrespective of any income from the temporary investment of the sinking fund or any part thereof.

And whereas to raise the said yearly sum of $6,000 the annual special rate upon the said rateable property will require to be eight-tenths of one per cent. on the dollar.

Therefore, the Mayor and Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster in council assembled enact as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said City to raise by way of a loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of Debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole $75,000, and cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Clerk of the said Corporation for the purposes and with the objects hereinbefore recited.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made, each for such sum of money not less than $100 as may be required, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster, signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Clerk of the said City.

3. The said Debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the day hereinafter mentioned for this Bylaw to take effect, at the office of the City Clerk of the City of New Westminster.

4. The said Debentures shall have coupons attached for the payment of interest at the rate of six per centum per annum on the amount of said Debentures payable half-yearly during the currency of said Debentures which coupons shall be payable at the office of said City Clerk.

5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the principal of said Debentures and interest to become due thereon an equal special rate of eight-tenths of a cent on the dollar shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each and every year upon all the rateable property in the said City during the continuance of said Debentures.

6. It shall be lawful for the said Corporation from time to time to repurchase any of the said Debentures at such price or prices as shall be mutually agreed upon, and all Debentures so repurchased shall be forthwith cancelled, and no reissue of Debentures or any Debenture, shall be made in consequence of said repurchase.

7. In case any or all of the said Debentures mentioned in Section D in the recital of this Bylaw cannot be repurchased according to the provisions of this Bylaw, then and in such case the unused portion of said sum of $28,250, mentioned in said Section D of the said recital shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund of the respective Debentures which cannot be redeemed, and the special rate mentioned in the Bylaw creating such Debentures shall not be levied as in said Bylaw mentioned, but instead thereof the amount required to be raised annually by such special rates for interest on such unredeemed Debentures, shall be paid out of the sinking fund created under said Bylaw, and this Bylaw and the principal sum of said unredeemed Debentures, shall if such Debentures cannot be sooner purchased, be paid out of the sinking fund as and when such Debentures shall become due respectively.

8. This Bylaw shall before the final passing thereof receive the assent of the Electors of the Corporation in manner provided by the Municipality Act, 1881.

9. This Bylaw shall take effect and come into force on the 15th day of July, A. D. 1887.

10. This Bylaw may be cited as the "Loan Bylaw, 1887."

Bylaw read the first time on the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1887.

Bylaw read the second time on the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1887.

Bylaw read a third time and passed by the Municipal Council on the 27th day of June A. D. 1887.

Reconsidered and finally passed on the 4th day of July A. D. 1887.

FREE

For the balance of 1886, including the mammoth holiday number, to all who subscribe now for 1887.

With the January issue THE WEST SHORE will begin its twelfth year. Every number contains original illustrations of scenery, towns and industries in the Pacific Northwest, equaling in excellence the best productions of Eastern magazines. The contributed articles, general literature and stories are entertaining and carefully edited, making the magazine a chaste family visitor. The comments on events of interest to this section and the large amount of information concerning our various resources and the progress of development given in every number render it extremely valuable. No family can afford to do without it, and every one financially interested in the Pacific Northwest, or desirous of learning its resources will find it invaluable.

If the subscription price ($2 per year) is sent in now you will be entered for 1887, and the remainder of 1886 will be sent as a premium.
