Daily British Columbian

Thursday Evening, June 14, 1888.

From Washington.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, June 5, 1888.

Representative Wilkins from the committee on banking and currency, has reported to the house a substitute for a bill introduced by him to revise and codify the banking laws of the United States. The substitute contains the views expressed by the comptroller of the currency before the committee. The report states that the original act authorizing the establishment of the national banking system and a later law modifying the same were passed at a time when the government was in great need of money, with the object, not so much of supplying a circulating medium, as of furnishing to the government a market for its securities, issuing from time to time, other than the limited market afforded by the ordinary demands from the people. The conditions existing then, the committee says, have long since ceased; the government is no longer seeking a market for its securities, nor looking for a purchaser for its bonds. It is no longer a borrower, but is making haste to get out of debt. Therefore, owing to the success attending upon the national banking system, and the recognized benefits it now affords the whole country, the question of its continuance to a period co-equal at least with the existence of a government bond seems well settled by both congress and the people. Since the embodiment of all the laws into the revised statues in 1873 the committee says many of the laws and amendments passed since that time are of the utmost importance and are scattered over a period of fifteen years, and distributed throughout the same number of publications of laws of each session of congress, inconvenient for reference and inaccessible to the great number of people interested.

There is "the other side" to all things. People are mistaken who think the wife of the average member of congress leads a delightful existence here at Washington. There are several things that it becomes the duty of the wife of a statesman to do. Besides having an extensive correspondence of her own, chiefly with people who try to reach her husband through her sympathies, she often has to help her husband in his letter-writing, if he is not a rich man. Many member's wives read serious works on political economy, etc., which are sent to them from the congressional library, so as to help their husbands in their official duties. Many wives, too, while the public believe they are circling through society, are sending off documents for their husbands. They sit in the back parlor office, surrounded by hundreds of books, done up in yellow paper, printed in one corner: "Part of Congressional Record —free" and "M.C." in the other. They write their husbands' name over the "M.C." and address the packages to influential constituents at home.

But all this is merely a pleasant pastime to what the wives of some of the new members have to endure. They feel a thrill of joy on being called for the first time "Mrs. Representative," and they look at a letter for half an hour before opening it, and their pulse beats high when the address is "Hon. Mrs.— But there is a compensation for all these joys. There are many things to make the lot of a new member's wife not a happy one. No one outside of the family knows the history of a great speech delivered on the floor of the house. If the public knew, there would be a spontaneous outburst of sympathy for the patient and oppressed "Mrs. Representative." People make the mistake of thinking that this lady's time is taken up by calls, receptions, dinners, and the whole list of entertainments designed to shorten life. They do not stop to think how much is involved in an hour's speech on the tariff, the silver question, or civil service reform! The history of this speech begins at home. A domestic tragedy stands behind it! Much noble self-sacrifice and forbearing philosophy has attended its preparation. The congressman's wife has been the victim. Perhaps it is a humorous speech. Heavens! how much domestic suffering has been caused by each well "worked up" joke! The secret history of the manuscript is sad. It is wisely concealed from the public. The wife alone knows it. The pinched and pale expression of sad resignation on her face alone tells the story. No one else knows how those jokes, or those bursts of eloquence wear upon the ties of domestic happiness.—LENOX.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S LETTER.

LONDON, June 13.—Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's letter, denying the statements made by Mr. Gladstone to the Ayr electors, has awakened more interest than usually attaches to the lucubrations of the Birmingham Radical leader. He declares that he has always been ready to concede to Ireland in principle the same measure of local government as is enjoyed by England and Scotland, but that the settlement of the land question must of necessity precede it. As the solution of that most difficult problem has always been thrust forward as a condition of Mr. Chamberlain's support of any measure of self-government for Ireland, however, the gentleman's sincerity in the present instance is regarded as a matter of grave doubt. He refers to the suggestion contained in the articles recently published in the Birmingham Post, which proposals Mr. Gladstone's followers have generally dubbed "moonshine" and argues that the original home rule scheme, with which he was at the time of its issuance and until its alteration in full accord, is the only true Liberal platform. While Mr. Chamberlain's letter has set a good many people talking and a few thinking, it is not likely that any of them will arrive at a degree of conviction resulting in their conversion to his theory.

THE GOVERNMENT DEFEAT.

The Standard and St. James Gazette strongly condemn the government for the bungling management which permitted their defeat in the division on Mr. Jennings' motion last night. Mr. Jennings, who has hitherto been regarded merely as an able writer and an able party member in respect to offering timely advice and promoting organization, has suddenly achieved prominence as an orator by the excellent speech delivered in support of his motion. Mr. Jennings will be remembered as having served for several years as editor-in-chief of the New York Times.

TRYING TO TRAP STANLEY.

MONTREAL, June 13.—A morning paper says that there is an intrigue on foot among the Imperial federationists of Canada to induce Lord Stanley to accept the position of honorary president and warns the new governor to be careful not to overstep the principles of constitutional government. Imperial federation he is told, though now looked upon as a harmless lunacy, could be regarded in another light if its advocates were successful in inveigling the governor-general into a compromising attitude.

THIS AFTERNOON'S DESPATCHES.

THE EMPEROR.

BERLIN, June 14, 10 a.m.—The emperor is much worse and his strength is sinking. The worst is now feared.

11 a.m.—The emperor's lungs are inflamed. The end is approaching.

LIGHTNING FATALITIES.

OMAHA, Neb., June 14.—At Lindsay last night the house of Jas. Gillespie was struck by lightning and a babe nine mos. old, was killed. At Newman's Grove a bolt struck Charles Lee, aged 21 years, and killed him instantly. The Union Pacific depot at Blue Springs was struck and destroyed with its contents. At Johnston, Archer Carpenter, while milking, was struck by a bolt and killed.

A LIFE FOR A LIFE.

WADSWORTH, Nevada, June 14.—Billy Dunne, the Piute Indian who killed Charley Winnemucca at the reservation on Monday, will be hanged to-morrow at noon on the spot where his victim was killed, the Washington authorities having approved the findings of the Indian court, which tried and sentenced Dunne.

A FOOL LOOSES HIS LIFE.

FULLERTON, Neb., June 14.—Hans Fidge and August Michaelson, young German ranchers, while boating yesterday, were drowned. Michaelson, to frighten Fidge, who could not swim, tipped the boat, which upset. Michaelson tried to save his companion, but the latter clung to him so that Michaelson was unable to swim and both were drowned.

A SMUGGLER BLOWS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 14.—Charles Labelle, the opium smuggler captured here on Saturday last, has made a full confession to Collector Kuhn. He said he had been employed by Ontario parties since January to follow up and forward consignments of goods to California, during which time he has forwarded six consignments from different places. He was about to forward the one from this city when captured by the United States officers. The gang first began shipping direct to California, but afterwards through Oregon and successively through Victoria, Winnipeg and Ontario, whence the opium captured here came. Labelle still claims he was ignorant of the fact he was forwarding smuggled goods, and says his capture in this city was the first knowledge he had of being engaged in a criminal business.

EXTENSIVE FLOODS.

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 14.—Rain is still falling and the flood situation is extremely serious. Yesterday morning the boom, several miles long, gave way, letting loose about 2,000,000 feet of logs. Last night several million feet more broke loose and came tearing down the stream to an island on which [illegible] people live, doing great damage. About fifty buildings were either swept away or badly damaged. The [illegible] have been abandoned. Communication between the mainland and the inundated island is maintained by boats, but is becoming dangerous. The loss to lumbermen at Cloquet will be enormous. The logs will have to be picked up when they reach the lake by tugs, and it will be impossible to save them all. The loss thus far is roughly estimated at $5000,000.

DYING.

BERLIN, June 14.—The emperor is seized with locklaw. Photographers have arrived to take a view of the death bed scene.

SHERIDAN STILL IMPROVING.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Sheridan passed a quiet, comfortable night. His pulse continues good and respiration is more regular. No unfavorable symptoms have appeared.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

CHICAGO, June 14.—Timothy Sullivan one of the officials who helped to quell the Haymarket riot of May fourth 1886, died yesterday. He received a bullet in the thy during the riot, which led to blood poisoning, causing his death.

TIMOTHY WON.

LONDON, June 14.—The race for the Ascot gold cup, to-day, was won by Timothy.

HURRYING TO THE DEATHBED.

POTSDAM, June 14.—The emperor is suffering with a strong fever and his breathing is much labored. Sir E. B. Mallet, British ambassador, and Dr. Friedburg, Prussian minister of justice, have arrived at Friederichskron, and other ministers and members of royalty are hurrying thither.

RENTS REDUCED.

DUBLIN, June 14.—The countess of Kingstown granted the tenants at Mitchellstown a reduction of 20 per cent. in rents to-day.

THE GRAHAME MURDER CASE.

SANTA CRUZ, June 14.—Eli Anthony, an old pioneer, testified in the Graham murder trial to-day that he saw Graham on the day of the tragedy. He was much excited and threatened to clean out the entire Bennett family as they had harassed and provoked him.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

HALIFAX, June 14.—Forest fires destroyed the gold mining village of East Rawdon, Hants County, yesterday. Twenty dwellings and stores, together with the mill machinery were destroyed. Halls Bay, Nfld., and Goulds Valley have been left a charred wilderness. Four people are reported burned to death and many casualties. Over 200 people are homeless and destitute.

PREPARING FOR THE SUCCESSION.

BERLIN, June 14—2 p. m.—The Emperor is growing worse, and inflammation of the lungs has set in.

3 p. m.—the Emperor is very low. Lookjaw has declared itself, and unless this is relieved the patient will die. Bismarck has given orders for the formalities of the succession of the Crown Prince William. The Crown Prince and Crown Princess and Prince Henry have arrived at the castle. The Empress Victoria has watched at the bedside of the Emperor since 4 o'clock this morning. All members of the Imperial family have been summoned to the bedside.

COONEY ISLAND RACES.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The suburban handicap at Cooney Island today was won by Elkwood, Terra Cotta second, Haggins Firenzie third. Fully thirty thousand people were present on the Sheepshead Bay track to see the handicap run. Nearly a million dollars was staked on the result.

Late Canadian News.

KINGSTON, June 10.—The governor-general will be invited to attend the opening of the provincial fair here on Sept. 12th. He will be asked to be the guest of the city for one day.

QUEBEC, June 11.—There seems little doubt but that a cabinet shuffle is on the cards for the early future, and it is probable that even before Mr. Mercier's new office is ready that the Hon. George Duhamel will resign and the Hon. J. McShane will take his place. The signs of the times seem to point to Mr. Mercier winning the fight with the nationalists and their strength in the cabinet declining.

MONTREAL, June 12.—The first visit of Lord and Lady Stanley to Montreal was not such a success as expected, owing to a stupid blunder about the time of their arrival and reception. The presentation of the addresses at the city hall had been fixed for 1 p.m., but the party arrived an hour earlier than was expected, and when the citizens went to see the ceremony it was all over.

A couple of young Montrealers sent a letter to the postmaster at Calcutta on 17th March, asking him to send it back to Montreal by way of Hong Hong. The letter was received in Calcutta on 17th April and despatched to Hong Kong on 21st April; arrived in Hong Kong on 9th May, Vancouver, B.C., on June 6th, and Montreal yesterday, thus being 87 days going round the world.

OTTAWA, June 11.—A melancholy accident happened here on Saturday night. Jessie Keefer was along with two boys, named Tom and Harry Faulding, nephews of T. C. Keefer, the well known engineer of Nepean Point, bathing, when the swells of the str. Empress, drew them out into deep water and they were all drowned. Miss Keefer lost her life in endeavoring to save the lives of her two nephews. The bodies were recovered at a late hour last night.

ST. PAUL, June 11.—The rumors of grasshoppers in Otter Tail county have been confirmed by investigation just completed by Prof. Luser of the state experimental farm. There are thousands of millions of the pests hatching out in the neighborhood of Perhorn and not only that but already there are many of them big enough to jump and jump vigorously. Prof. Luser says there are a number of large townships which are now literally alive with the grasshoppers, which are just now hatching out. They are the genuine Rocky Mountain variety, the kind that did such great damage a number of years ago. Prompt measures for extermination are being taken.

Reciprocity in Examples.

The Vancouver News of the 13th inst., in calling the attention of Vancouverites to the advantages accruing to property owners, and to the city generally, from the numerous auction sales of real estate held at intervals in this city, proceeds to show that by this means, and by her building society, Westminster has already done much to stimulate and encourage the building up of the city, and adds that the people of Vancouver and of the other cities in the province can with advantage to themselves follow the example set them in these respects by their neighbors on the Fraser. While we can agree with our cotemporary in this matter, we must remind our Westminster readers that, in fairness to themselves, if they are going to furnish good examples to Vancouver, gratis, they should, in turn, borrow some of the same commodity from that city, and the goods in question are forthcoming. At the last meeting of the Vancouver city council the following progressive and long-headed measures were inaugurated: Ald. Alexander gave notice that he would introduce a by-law granting a bonus of $50,000 to any parties establishing a blast furnace and rolling mills in the city. Ald. Clark moved, seconded by Ald. Couth, that $300 be appropriated for the expenses of making a display of the products of that part of the country tributary to Vancouver at the Toronto exhibition. Carried. Ald. Oppenheimer gave notice of two by-laws, one to grant exemption from taxation for 20 years for a paper mill and the other to appoint park commissioners. What is Westminster going to do about encouraging new industries? Any manufacture that can be carried on success fully at Vancouver would flourish equally as well, if not better, here. What about our park? How are our waterworks progressing? What about sewerage? Does anybody know anything about the immediate outlook for our Southern Railway? Are the citizens generally taking sufficient interest in these things? If not, how do they know that their interests will be protected? Westminster cannot afford to go to sleep on any question affecting her interests at such a juncture as the present when competition is keen between the various thriving cities in the province, and when British Columbia is attracting both population and capital from all quarters. Rather than allow ourselves to drift behind in the race, we should be prepared to borrow large sums for the development of reproductive schemes and enterprises, and the carrying on of necessary public works. The finances of the city are on a sound basis, our credit is good, and there should be no trouble to secure any amount of money on good terms.

The Times on Mr. Dewdney.

The Victoria Times of Tuesday, in an article on Hon. Edgar Dewdney, says: "The New Westminster COLUMBIAN comes out strongly in favor of Hon. Edgar Dewdney as minister of the interior." The Times then proceeds to paraphrase rather freely what he is pleased to call our arguments in favor of Mr. Dewdney, and true to his grit instinct (we do not mean any offence to the grits, whom we are prepared to give, as to any party or person, all the credit due), manages by a little clever verbal jugglery to work up some political capital for Mr. Mackenzie and his party. We have no objection to this, for if it pleases the Times it doesn't hurt "we." The COLUMBIAN, however, never said that it was strongly in favor of Mr. Dewdney as minister of the interior We considered that his appointment as such might at the time of writing be taken to be an accomplished fact, and had no expectation of affecting that appointment one way or another. We also stated some historical facts concerning Mr. Dewdney, which we know to be facts, and which the Times, of course, does not attempt to confute. We were speaking to British Columbians, and we, further, outlined the charges made against Mr. Dewdney in the Northwest, and left the matter without prejudice in the hands of a free and intelligent public, who have perhaps as good capacity and right for judging Mr. Dewdney on hearsay as either the editor of the Times or ourselves. We have no interest or desire to champion Mr. Dewdney, but surely even the Times would be better satisfied if, instead of quoting charges against Sir John's new minister, it could cite the deliberate and impartial judgment of some competent commission of inquiry into those charges. Taking for granted, as we said before, that Mr. Dewdney's appointment might be considered an accomplished fact, we felt perfectly justified in making the suggestion—leaving it to be acted on or not as in their discretion might seem best to the several constituencies of this province—that the example set by Victoria some years ago might be followed with advantage, and British Columbia, by that means, gain a representative in the cabinet. The people of the various Dominion electorates in this province can be trusted to settle this matter for themselves, with little more than suggestions from the press. A great many of them know far more about Mr. Dewdney personally than does the editor of the Times. If the Times, which can hardly escape the imputation of party bias, cannot bring evidence of a more valid nature to bear upon the case (be the real, unauthenticated, facts what they may), then our cotemporary will have succeeded in throwing very little light upon the subject, and his effort will have been almost in vain.

Germany's Future Emperor.

Now that, according to the latest despatches, the beloved "Fritz" of the Fatherland seems about to be called to his reward, a great deal of interest will naturally centre in his successor, the present Crown Prince William. Many comments on the future Emperor of Germany, more or less unfavorable, have gone the rounds of the press, and we are glad to give place to the following rather favorable expressions taken from the Montreal Witness of a recent date, and dated Berlin, May 29: "An incident occurred during the Prince of Wales' stay in Berlin that causes general comment, and to which important political significance is attached. From shortly after sunrise until ten o'clock on the morning of the day preceding the royal wedding the Crown Prince had been manœuvering his brigade in the Tempelhof fields. For the first time the Crown Prince took supreme command of the manœuvres and acquitted himself admirably. He succeeded in repulsing the attack of an imaginary enemy marching against Berlin. The various regiments, squadrons and batteries of the imaginary enemy were represented by red and white cloth banners. The enemy's attack was drawn up by Field Marshal Count Von Moltke himself, and was made as difficult as possible. After four hours of incessant marching, countermarching, advancing, retreating and manœuvering over every square yard of rising ground or cover, the Crown Prince succeeded in outmanœuvering his enemy, commanded by one of the ablest officers of the Prussian army, and by a brilliant charge at exactly the right moment captured the enemy's positions. Afterward, following the example of the late Emperor, the Crown Prince rode to the historic oak tree, known as the 'Kaiser Eich,' in the middle of the Temple-hof parade, and there surrounded by a hundred officers, pointed out in brief, technical language, the errors committed and the correct moves made during the manœuvres of the day. The Crown Prince subsequently was most highly complimented by Count von Moltke for the 'quickness of perception, accuracy and sound military instinct that he gave proof of by the admirable manner in which he handled the seven thousand men under his command.' The Crown Prince felt naturally very much elated, and this was referred to by the Prince of Wales during a visit that the Prince of Wales made to the Crown Prince at the Alteschloss on Wednesday afternoon, and it was then that the Crown Prince said: 'Keine rose ohne dornen (there is no rose without a thorn). I am a soldier. I have taken two men for my models—Frederick the Great and the Emperor William. I would not be a Hohenzollern prince if I did not feel convinced that the national existence of Germany depends on the army. My military studies give me a greater pleasure than anything else, but let me tell you frankly that nothing causes me greater pain and heart burning than the wild, warlike intentions that are attributed to me. I am in every way as peaceful as the Emperor William was, and for the people to imagine that I ever dream of plunging into military adventure, or that I even tacitly approve of anything that could lead to a disturbance of the peace of Europe, is absolutely absurd.' The Crown Prince afterward spoke in the most affectionate terms of his father, the present Emperor, whom he sees regularly ly twice a day."

A Sluggish Liver

Causes the Stomach and Bowels to become disordered, and the whole system to suffer from debility. In all such cases Ayer's Pills give prompt relief.

After much suffering from Liver and Stomach troubles, I have finally been cured by taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. I always find them prompt and thorough in their action, and their occasional use keeps me in a perfectly healthy condition.—Ralph Weeman, Annapolis, Md.

Twenty-five years ago I suffered from a torpid liver, which was restored to healthy action by taking Ayer's Pills. Since that time I have never been without them. They regulate the bowels, assist digestion, and increase the appetite, more surely than any other medicine.—Paul Churchill, Haverhill, Mass.

INVIGORATED.

I know of no remedy equal to Ayer's Pills for Stomach and Liver disorders. I suffered from a Torpid Liver, and Dyspepsia, for eighteen months. My skin was yellow, and my tongue coated. I had no appetite, suffered from Headache, was pale and emaciated. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, taken in moderate doses, restored me to perfect health.—Waldo Miles, Oberlin, Ohio.

Ayer's Pills are a superior family medicine. They strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, create an appetite, and remove the horrible depression and despondency resulting from Liver Complaint. I have used these Pills in my family, for years, and they never fail to give entire satisfaction.—Otto Montgomery, Oshkosh, Wis. ††

Your Government should issue public notice cautioning persons going on Sealing expeditions to refrain from assertion of their rights by force, and from taking on board arms and ammunition in excess of their usual requirements. The whole matter is engaging the attention of Her Majesty's Government and forms the subject of diplomatic negotiations now in progress. Any intemperate action in the meanwhile would be most detrimental to British Columbian interests and might lead to serious complications and be followed by grave consequences to those concerned.

[illegible] HERE'S A BENDER.

A Serpentine Female Tells How She Acquired and Retains Her Suppleness.

The other day I called on a bender, says a writer in the Pall Mall Gazette, a lady, not a gentleman, who is well known as a most serpentine contortionist. I wished to ask Mlle. Vonare a few questions about her art, with a view of throwing some light on the training of little boys and girls for the profession.

The lady was sitting before the fire with her sister, who has abandoned bending herself and exhibits a troupe of highly educated poodles. A huge wicker basket contained her dress and other stage habits. From its depths she produced a bundle of photographs of herself tied and knotted into all manner of curious folds.

That is the business of a bender. The body is thrown into a score of unnatural postures, which appear to the audience to be achieved by dislocating every joint in the human frame, and to be effected at great risk to limb and life. Artists are generally enthusiastic about their callings, and I must say that Miss Vonare declared that she would rather be a bender than a queen, or something to that effect. She began at 4; at 5½ she was before the public, and remains a bender still.

"My father saw a contortionist one night on the stage, and asked himself why he should not teach me, aged 4. I was put into training at once, and enjoyed the fun as a child will enjoy anything new. Was I beaten? Was I starved? No. I seemed to take to it like a little duck takes to water. You see, we were a family of athletes, and, besides, I was a daughter and not an apprentice. If the father is the trainer he may not spare the rod, but he is cruel only to be kind. My experience is that less rod and more kindness is the best plan. Father used to bribe us into doing the different tricks.

"To be successful means years of hard work, practice and performance. I am nineteen now, and my performance keeps me in capital training.

"In the business of contortion the first lesson is the backward bend, first with the arms, then without. You stand on a long mattress, so that there is no danger, and at first your teacher controls your movements with a belt.

"It is much the same with other forms of acrobatic work, and the cruelty often takes the form of taking away the mattress, which creates a sort of panic in the pupil's mind.

"If he has really tried his best and failed, he is so terrified that he is almost certain to fall unless he has a great deal of pluck. If he has only been sulking it may bring him to his bearings. Of course children are often stubborn, and try the patience of the teacher to its utmost limit.

"The art of contortion," continued Miss Vonare, "is learned by degrees. First the backward bend, then the 'dislocation,' then the 'splits,' and so on. What we call 'loseness' distinguishes the best bending, to the audience tending seems most difficult. But I experience no discomfort or inconvenience. I was a puny child. You see me now."

The lady bender was certainly most healthy and cheerful, stout in body and ruddy in complexion, and she strongly maintains that all women would be greatly benefited if they took to bending.

"It is quite a mistake to think that we put our limbs out of joint or that we suf-

[illegible] from the curious nature of our performance. Of course, after one or more difficult positions one may suffer a little pain, but it goes in no time. In some attitudes I can only remain for twenty seconds, as the breathing becomes difficult. But these are trifling inconveniences.

"I practice a few minutes every day to keep myself loose here in my room, and that is about all I need do."

FAMILY RESEMBLANCES.

Pop Reading for Thoughtful People—Breeding Will Tell.

There are family characters and family intelligences, as there are family faces and family figures. Each individual member of the brood has its own variety of this typical character, but in all its traits is more or less persistent, though one particular trait, even the most marked, may be wanting or actually reversed by its exact opposite.

Bill, viewing the family idiosyncrasies as a whole, each member is pretty sure to possess a very considerable number of peculiarities more or less in common with the remainder.

For true, Jane may be passionate, while Emily is sulky; Dick may be a spendthrift, while Thomas is a miser. But Jane and Dick are both humorous, Emily and Thomas are both musical. Thomas and Dick both sensitive, Emily and Jane both sentimental, and all four of them alike vindictive, alike intelligent, alike clerical, and alike fond of pets and animals.

Look at the persistent Tennysonian tone of Charles and Alfred Tennyson; look at the parodying power of the two Smiths in "Rejected Addresses;" look at the Carrs, the Rossettis, the Herschels, and say whether even minute touches of taste and temperament do not come out alike in brothers and sisters.

Almost everybody who meets brothers and sisters or cousins of his own, after a long separation (when he has not dulled the apprehension of the facts), must have noticed, with mingled amusement and dissatisfaction, in ten thousand little ways and sayings, how very closely he and they resemble one another.

Sometimes the very catchwords and phrases they use, their pet aversions and their pet sympathies, turn out at every point of life to be absurdly identical.

One may even be made aware of one's own unsuspected and unobtrusive failings by observing them, as in a mirror, in the minds of one's relatives, like King George's Addy in Mr. Gilbert's story, who meets himself in an enchanted land, and considers his double the most disagreeable fellow he ever came across.—Popular Science Monthly.

Successful Women's Enterprise.

The fact that women who can do one thing well find self-support possible is well illustrated by the success of a small company at Grand Rapids, Mich. This establishment is owned and controlled entirely by women.

It started operations a few years ago with a capital of less than $2,000. To-day it imports its chamois skins direct from Italy, and the silk used in making them into sandals for children's wear is purchased directly from the manufacturers. The institution gives employment to hundreds of needy women at remunerative prices, and refuses to allow machines to be used. The last report shows a net profit on capital invested of over three hundred per cent.

Premature.

Quigley took cold and died. Three months later the widow received a proposal of marriage.

"Gracious me!" she exclaimed in horror. "Get married! Why, my husband is scarcely cold yet!"

"Excuse me, madam," said the suitor, politely; "I did not know that. I understood that it was cold that killed him."—Boston Courier.

A WITTY LAWYER.

Two Good Stories of a South Carolina Counsel.

I have heard, says the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, two good stories of Pettigrew, of South Carolina, the great lawyer and Unionist.

He was practicing at one time before a judge who was a Presbyterian of the straightest sect and a very hard-working officer. It came to be Maundy Thursday, and Pettigrew and the Episcopalians and Roman Catholics thought they would like an adjournment of court over Good Friday. Pettigrew was selected to make the motion.

"Your Honor," he said, "I desire to move that the court adjourn over to-morrow."

"Why should the court adjourn over to-morrow when the docket is so crowded?" asked the Judge.

"Because," said Pettigrew, "to-morrow is Good Friday and some of us would like to go to church."

"No," said the Judge, decidedly, after a moment's thought, "the court will sit to-morrow as usual."

"Very well, your Honor," replied Pettigrew, adding as he turned away; "I know there is a precedent, for Pontius Pilate held court on the first Good Friday."

The same judge was a great stickler for etiquette, and when one hot July day Pettigrew came into the court room in a black coat and yellow nankeen trousers, the Judge took him sternly to task, asking him whether he did not know that the rules of the court required its counsellors to appear in "black coat and trousers."

"Well, your Honor," said Pettigrew, innocently, "I submit that I am within the rule, for I have on a black coat and trousers."

"But they're not black trousers," insisted the Judge; "black coat and trousers means that both shall be black."

"Then," said Pettigrew, "I call your Honor's attention to the fact that the Sheriff of this court is in contempt of the rules, for they require him to attend upon its sessions in a cocked hat and sword, and while his hat seems to be cocked his sword certainly is not."

The Judge said no more about the trousers.

Not an Enthusiast, Exactly.

Young Oliver is a dry youth of eight or nine, whose face is as blank as a wall when he tells a story or delivers an opinion, but who is an exceedingly precocious chap for all that.

The other day he went to visit a rich relative out in one of the suburbs, and was taken to see the ponies, and the carriages, and the elegant grounds, and finally given a private view of some cherished white rabbits which had been imported from somewhere, and which he was expected to admire very much.

He viewed everything, however, with his customary impassiveness.

On his return home, Oliver was questioned regarding his visit, and asked, among other things:

"Did you see those wonderful rabbits?"

"Um-um."

"Well, what did they look like?"

"One of 'em didn't look like nothing, and the other looked just like him!"

A Georgia Patriarch.

The other day Capt. Worthy and Judge Williams rode out to the farm of the former. While sitting in the buggy in front of the cabin of William Brown, a colored tenant, the following conversation took place:

"There seems to be a good many children about here, William. Are they all yours?"

"Yes, sah. All mine; but dese ain't all."

"How many have you in all?"

"Ain't got but forty, sah. I had forty-seben, but I had bad luck somehow wid the children o' my last wife, and didn't raise but seben of 'em. De oder seben died."

"How many wives have you had?"

"Ain't had but six, sah."

"Only six?"

"Yes, sah, dat's all."—Thomaston Times.

Worse and Worse.

One of the hardest things in the world is to condole with anybody in a misfortune or a bereavement. If it were not that the matter is generally serious, a great many funny stories could be printed about the condolences people offer to the bereaved.

But up at Sacramento some time ago, a hard-working Irishman fell out of a fourth-story window and broke his neck. His wife was, of course, in great distress. After the funeral a neighbor called to offer her sympathy and condolence

"It was a very sad thing, indeed."

"Indeed it was. To die like that—to fall out of a fourth-story window!"

"An' was it as bad as that?" asked the visitor. "Sure, an' I heard it was only a third-story window."—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Medicine That Cured Her.

"I had a young lady patient some time ago in the south end of the town who conceived the idea that she was very sick, and that there was nothing on earth would ever get her out of bed again," said one of our local physicians yesterday.

"I didn't think anything ailed her worse than this idea that possessed her, and it was in fact pulling her down fast. She was a beautiful girl with a full head of blonde hair, and I noticed that she always had it neatly braided and smoothed down like silk, and seemed to hold the braids in her hands with great affection.

"One day I diagnosed her case thoroughly and told her I had come to the conclusion to have her hair cut short.

"She was out of bed and around the next day."—Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise.

Its One Good Feature.

They tell of a certain Massachusetts Governor who, as he wandered out of church one Sunday after a young man had preached, ventured the general remark:

"That was a good sermon."

His judgment was disputed.

"Well," said he, "the illustrations were good."

This was disputed.

Determined, however, to put in the saccharine element, he said:

"Well, anyhow he had a good text."—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

A Child's Poetic Thought.

Our wide-awake little boy, aged five years, wanted to know, during a thunderstorm, whether God was not angry "with the naughty people," and on being told yes, but that was not the reason of the storm, he exclaimed:

"Ah, I know! I guess it is the angels' horses running races on the dark clouds."

Little Girl—"Mrs. Brown, ma wants to know if she could borrow a dozen eggs. She wants to put 'em under a hen."

Neighbor—"So you've got a hen setting, have you? I didn't know you kept hens."

Little Girl—"No'm, we don't, but Mrs. Smith's goin' to lend us a hen that wants her set, an' ma thought if you'd lend us some eggs we've got the nest ourselfs."

Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I inherited a scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a derangement of my whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before.—O. A. Willard, 21½ Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.—Elizabeth Warnock, 54 Appleton street, Lowell, Mass.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 158 Sullivan st., New York. ††

The bill giving the right of way for a railroad through the Coeur d'Alene, W.T., Indian reservation has passed congress.—Whatcom Reveille.

It is rumored in Whatcom, W. T., that the B. B & B C. will build ten miles of railway this summer, and employ about three hundred men in the work.

Small real estate transactions have been numerous in Whatcom during the past week. A hundred lots on Bellingham Bay have been bargained for by Seattle parties.

The Whatcom Reveille says that Colville has the only smelting works in full operation in Washington Territory, and the company owning the same are doing an exceedingly fine business.

Do not take quinine for malarial disorders. Ayer's Ague Cure contains none, or any other injurious ingredient. This preparation, if taken strictly in accordance with directions, is warranted to cure all malarial diseases.

The life-giving properties of Ayer's Sarsaparilla have established its well-earned reputation, and is the most effectual and popular blood purifier of the day. For all diseases of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, this remedy has no equal. Price $1.

In the Toronto (Ont.) Empire of June 7, we notice, among a list of those who have passed their third year in the Toronto University, the names of T.R.E. and W.W.B. McInnes, sons of Senator McInnes, of this city. These young men have doue credit to the high school in this city, from which they passed into the Toronto university.

Jos. Beaudin, M.D., Hull P.Q., writes: Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil commands a large and increasing sale which it richly merits. I have always found it exceedingly helpful; I use it in all cases of rheumatism, as well as fractures and dislocations. I made use of it myself to calm the pains of a broken leg with dislocation of the foot, and in two days I was entirely relieved of the pain.

The Blaine Journal says: "It makes a fellow jump when he rushes up to a clump of salmon bushes full of ripe berries to hear a bear go scratching and snorting out of it on the other side." A fellow might be excused for making quite a number of jumps on the home stretch under such circumstances, and we strongly suspect that that's just what the Journal fellow did.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Sanguine.

A British Columbia gentleman who has lately been consulting with some of the leading railway men of Westminster, informs us that one of the most prominent expressed to him the belief that by the first of July men will be scattered all along the line between Blaine and Westminster clearing the right of way and preparing for tracklaying.—Blaine Journal.

A Good Market.

Mr. J G. Fitzgerald has just returned from a trip to British Columbia where he was successful in disposing of the entire lot of Aberdeen Angus and Hereford thoroughbreds which he took over, at most satisfactory prices. Within twenty-four hours after their arrival purchasers were found for the lot which comprised some forty animals. This certainly was pretty quick work.—Calgary Tribune.

The Westminster Addition.

The auction sale of the lots in the Westminster addition, by Mr. T. J. Trapp at the Colonial on Saturday evening, is attracting much attention, and gives promise of being one of the most successful sales held in the city. The plan of the addition, issued by the owners of the property, has been carefully inspected by every dabbler in real estate in town, and by many also who are beginning to realize that there is lots of money to be made in legitimate investments in city and suburban property. A great deal of property has changed hands lately, but there appears to be no abatement in the desire to buy; on the contrary the fever seems to be increasing and there is no telling to what extent it will rise before top values are reached.

The Water.

Advices from Chilliwhack to-day state that the water remained stationary last night though the river has fallen 30 inches since high water was reached. At Sumas the water has fallen even more than at Chilliwhack, while at Langley the fall has not been nearly as great as at points farther up the river. The report yesterday from Quesnelle to Mr. James Wilson, supt. C. P. R. telegraphs, says: "The water is three feet below highest water of this year, and is at a standstill now." To-day's report is not so encouraging, it says: "The river has risen seven or eight inches since yesterday." From a gentleman who arrived to-day from Portland we learn that the water in the Willamette river is rising rapidly and has already flooded the cellars of warehouse and stores in the streets adjacent to the river.

Shipbuilders Wanted.

One of the industries for which Westminster is admirably situated is shipbuilding, and there is an opening now for shipbuilders under most favorable circumstances. All the timber, knees and spars, besides finishing wood, can be manufactured within a stone throw of the shipyard, and no finer timber can be procured for the purpose than that cut by our mills. The Ross McLaren mills, Royal City mills and Brunette mills will all be exporting largely within a year, and a vessel built in Westminster need never go seeking a cargo. The Royal City mills would purchase the first ship and probably several others, and Ross & McLaren would also be likely to take several. Vessels leaving this port with lumber would not find much difficulty in getting a cargo to Liverpool or London, and there a freight for the British Columbia canneries or a load of merchandise could be easily obtained for the homeward voyage. Immediately after discharging the vessel would be reloaded with lumber and the former trip repeated. The ships could also carry away the salmon packed on the Fraser, which, in good years, would mean five or more vessels. The city would be willing to bonus a first-class shipbuilding firm and other strong inducements would also be offered To shipbuilders of enterprise and experience Westminster offers exceptional advantages, and the industry would prove a paying venture to those who enter the field first.

A Satisfactory Trip.

The gentlemen who went down to the sandheads yesterday morning with Capt. Lewis, on the str. Sir James Douglas, returned last evening on the Samson having made the necessary arrangements for an official survey of the channel. On arriving at English's the snagboat Samson was in waiting and the party went aboard her and steamed out to the sandheads by the north side of the channel, close to the buoys, and returning ran diagonally across the channel taking soundings every 20 yards. The soundings resulted in finding 13½ feet of water in the shallowest part at low tide. Capt. Robinson, one of the party on board and who navigated these waters for years, says, after making all possible allowances for tides, currents and deductions necessary when sounding in a current, that there is fully 22 feet of water on the bar, between black buoys 7 and 8, at high tide. Capt Robinson allows 2 feet 6 in. for difference in the tide between the light house and the bar, and 1 ft. 6 in. for inaccuracies in sounding. These allowances give 22 feet of water, but other gentlemen think the deductions too great and that when the official survey is made at least 23 ft. 6 in. of water will be found at the shallowest part. These soundings, though preliminary, are most satisfactory, corroborating as they do the soundings made by Capts. McAllister and Johnson and completely exposing the inaccuracy of Capt. Lewis' report on the channel. The official survey will be made in two or three weeks time as it is expected the water in the river will have fallen sufficiently by then to allow the work to be accurately performed.

MONTREAL, June 10.—The Shamrocks played an exhibition game with the Caughnawaga Indians on Saturday and notwithstanding the dusky denizens of Caughnawaga were promised $20 for each game they scored, the Shamrocks won 3 straight.

A Wonderful Atlantic Trip.

The wonderful performance of the Cunard s.s. Etruria in crossing the Atlantic in six days, one hour and fifty-five minutes is not only in itself a wonderful feat in ocean steam navigation, but also an important step forward in shortening the trans-Atlantic trip, which has been making steady progress during the past 30 years. No steamship has ever before covered 503 miles in 24 hours, much less has any steamer ever before maintained an average for six consecutive days of 470 miles every 24 hours. It is comparatively but a few years since the completion of the voyage between Liverpool and New York in seven days was heralded as a triumph of ocean navigation and naval architecture, and a daily record of 400 miles was then considered equally as wonderful. One day has since then been eliminated from the running time of the trip and an average of 70 miles added to the record of a single day. This result has been accomplished by the perfection of construction, not only in the lines of these ocean monsters but in their propelling power; and the experience of this last performance only demonstrates that, as yet, we have not reached the limit of developing the expansive power of steam. In the light of the Etruria's trip, five days between the two great Atlantic ports of Liverpool and New York is by no means either an impossibility or an improbability, and there is every reason to expect that such a feat will be accomplished during the next decade in the world's history.

Won by One.

Contrary to the general expectation the return match between the Vancouver and Westminster baseball clubs resulted in favor of Westminster. Our nine have practiced very irregularly since the 24th of May, and it seemed from the way things were shaping that defeat was certain, especially as it was known the Vancouverites were practicing steadily and had attained much better form than they displayed at the last match. Another telling circumstance against Westminster was the unavoidable absence of several of the best players of the nine. The match was delayed by the rain but at 4 o'clock play commenced, Westminster going to bat first. In this innings the visitors scored two runs. Vancouver failed to score, Spencer's pitching being a little too difficult to get the run of. In the second innings Vancouver settled down to work and soon got three men out, but not before Cunningham had added another run to the score. Vancouver here pulled up and secured three runs, made by Allen, Metz and Larwill. The third innings Westminster scored one and Vancouver failed to count, and in the fourth Westminster by brilliant play scored four against their opponent's one. The fifth innings was the best played of the match, both clubs failing to score a run. Wilson for Westminster made a brilliant catch which resulted in putting out McLennan, Norval and Laing. It was the prettiest bit of play seen on the field. In the sixth innings Vancouver went to pieces and did not pull up again till their opponents had added six runs to the score. Owing to a broken finger Baker, who had been catching for Westminster, was forced to retire, and was replaced by Greig, who made a splendid substitute. Vancouver scored two in this innings. In the seventh innings Westminster added one and Vancouver two runs to the score, and in the eighth Westminster two against the home club's five. The ninth innings Westminster played loosely and failed to score, while, for Vancouver, Beck, Norval and Brophy each made a run. The general play showed Westminster to be much the best club of the two, though playing several men of the second nine. Both clubs showed want of practice and lots of it.

The High School Question.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN. — Would you kindly allow me space in your journal for a few words of comment on the action of some members of our school board in —what they are pleased to call—dismissing H. M. Stramberg from our services as principal of the New Westminster high school. The sudden announcement that appeared in last Saturday's issue of THE COLUMBIAN of Mr. Stramberg's dismissal from the school, and that even without any specific charge being brought against him, was certainly a "startler" to our citizens. Mr. Stramberg has occupied the position of principal of the high school in this city for a number of years, and it is a well known fact that he has occupied it in a most able manner. He has raised our high school to the highest standard in the Dominion, and of its efficiency we have many proofs—instance the report in Tuesday's COLUMBIAN. But, must the community be deprived of so valuable a servant for the sake of gratifying the whims of two or three unruly pupils? I most emphatically say no. If the matter were put to a proper test I feel confident that Mr. Stramberg would be sustained in his position as teacher by a vote of nine-tenths of the residents of Westminster city. Therefore, in the face of all these proofs and regardless of the wishes of parents and guardians of children, this action by a trio of the board is, to put it mildly, an outrage on the community. Perhaps, like the lord high executioner of Japan, in the play of "Mikado," this officious trio consider it necessary for them to do some execution in order to retain their tenor of office. WILLIAM ROSS,
School Trustee.

A Citizen's Opinion.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—At a meeting of three trustees of the public school, held in the council chambers, a report for last term was heard, accepted, and passed. Notice was also given that Mr. Stramberg, principal of the high school, was asked to resign, but refused, until the case was brought before the public, and he tried for the same, and, if found remiss, they might then discharge him. All the gentlemen present heard this portion of the report with regret, and expressed themselves strongly on the action of the trustees with regard to their asking Mr. Stramberg to resign without showing a cause why. The answer from the trustees was, We have no fault to find with Mr. Stramberg as a teacher, but there are some ladies who say they will not send their children to school if Mr. Stramberg is retained. A question was asked, "Is there any complaint in writing?" Answer, "No; but complaint was general." There, Mr. Editor, is the whole in a nutshell. And I think it would be a grievous wrong to Mr. Stramberg and an injury to our high school interests to dismiss a teacher who has done so well in the seven and a half years he has held the situation. His character as a gentleman is unimpeachable, and, as a teacher, his record is before us. With regard to the trustees, some exhibited too much prejudice and selfishness to be able to do justice in the matter. I would also say the expenses of public and high school come out of the public treasury, and the public have a certain right to a voice in this case. Bring forward the complaints from the injured parties, and if Mr. Stramberg is in the wrong, and cannot redress it, let him go: otherwise, better lose a number of trustees, than one good teacher, as trustees' places can always be filled, but really good teachers cannot always be found. 'Tis Joy, or Pain, or Grief.

What is it makes the tear drops fall like
April showers of rain?
Or, like the thundercloud that breaks upon the thirsty plain?
These very tears that give relief
All spring from joy, or pain, or grief.

What is it makes the maiden heave the deep and long-drawn sigh?
Why does the blush o'erspread her cheek,
and why the downcast eye?
What makes those looks, those feelings brief?
'Tis simply joy, or pain, or grief.

What makes the man with snow-locks speak kindly to one and all?
What makes the child run fast or slow at sound of mother's call?
The answer still is plain and brief:
'Tis simply joy, or pain or grief.
