A REVOLUTION FOILED.

Parisian Revolutionists Held in Check by the Militia.---Two Thousand Men Arrested.

A Million Strikers in Austria and Hungary Kept Quiet by Police and Soldiers.

The London Labor Parade a Miserable Failure.---An Immense Police Force Overawes the Mob.

All Tranquil.

PARIS, May 1, 9:30 a. m.—Up to this hour the capital is tranquil. The Boulevards and suburban sections, as well as the central portion of the city appear in their normal aspect, and business proceeds as usual, the only shops closed being those of dealers in fire arms and other warlike munitions. Among the first of the discontented to inaugurate the strike were the stokers and other employees of the gas companies, who went out early this morning. Sinatis, Feroal Bandit and Lachize, of the Chamber of Deputies, are still busily engaged in perfecting their final arrangements for the workingmen's demonstration.

All Quiet.

PARIS, May 1.—Telegrams from Marseilles, Bordeaux, Nancy, Robaia and Lillcart are to the effect that up to the present moment no disturbances of any kind have taken place.

A Market Holiday.

LONDON, May 1.—This being the semi-annual settling day of the Bank of England it is observed as a holiday on the stock market.

Order Prevails.

BERLIN (noon), May 1.—Order prevails throughout the city, and the streets are as quiet as though no strikes are occurring. The great Lowe factory opened this morning with but fifteen absentees, and only five of the employees of Frester & Rossman's sewing machine factory remained away from their posts. Large numbers of people are indulging in excursions to Greenwald and other places of interest in the vicinity of the city.

Good Order Everywhere.

MADRID, May 1.—Reports from the Provinces indicate good order everywhere.

A Grand Yacht.

PARIS, May 1.—A private letter received from Berlin to-day says the Emperor has directed the building of a yacht which will be the largest of its class in the world. It is said that when it is ready the Emperor will pay a visit to the United States.

The Red Flag.

BERLIN, May 1.—A workman who hoisted a red flag on a telegraph pole, was arrested by the police.

VALENCIA, May 1—Thes striker in this city are rapidly extending and all trades are hurrying to join in the eight hour movement. While no trouble has yet occurred it was deemed advisable to close the theatres.

The Procession a Failure.

LONDON, May 1.—As the labor procession was passing along the Thames embankment, a crowd of 500 roughs attempted to create a tumult. The twenty-five hundred policemen lining the embankment, however, promptly suppressed the attempt, and thoroughly cowed the rough element. The police authorities have announced that the carrying of torchlights will be rigidly suppressed. The indications now are that the demonstration at least as far as the parade is concerned, will prove a fiasco.

A Human Fiend.

VIENNA, May 1.—A married woman, named Sickringer, has been placed on trial at Ketchem, Hungary, on charge of murdering three of her children, all babies. The evidence shows that she deliberately placed them near a red hot stove and allowed them to roast to death.

Thirty Thousand Strong.

CHARLEROI, May 1.—Thirty thousand workingmen are marching through the streets of Charleroi on their way to attend the monster meeting. The vast but orderly throng keeps time as it marches to its own singing of the Marsellaise.

Called for Eight Hours.

LIEGE, May 1.—Three thousand miners to-day marched in procession to the town hall, where they formally presented a petition calling for an eight-hour day.

Two Thousand Arrests.

PARIS, May 1.—Several attempts made by the workingmen to hold meetings have been frustrated by the intervention of the troops. During the day 2,000 persons were arrested by the police. An attempt made by the striking gas workers to loot a gun shop caused a slight disturbance, but was promptly suppressed.

Two Mobs Dispersed.

LONDON, May 1.—The police are out in force to-day and up to one o'clock have dispersed one or two small mobs.

Passenger List.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—The str. City of Puebla sailed this morning for Victoria with the following passengers:—Mrs. M. H. Hackett and daughter, L. F. Knight, Mrs. G. W. Haynes, Emile Erb, Thos. O'Brien, Wm. Banks, W. C McSirlis, Wm. T. Lawrence and wife, and T. N. Simpson.

Died Unflinchingly.

CONCORD, N. H., May 1.—James Palmer was hanged here this morning for the murder of Henry T. Whitehouse, at Portsmouth, on the 28th of May, 1888. He died unflinchingly.

A Madman's Deed.

SALT LAKE, May 1.—Alma Pratt, an inmate of the Territorial Insane Asylum, at Provo, obtained possession of a razor this morning, and going into the dining-room, where Sing Dee, a Chinaman, was washing dishes, threw him to the floor, thinking he was the devil, as he afterwards stated, and in an instant whipped out the razor, and with one sharp forcible swing, almost severed the Chinaman's head from his body; Pratt was seized and disarmed by the attendants. Pratt is a son of the late Farley P. Pratt, who for many years was one of the Apostles of the Mormon Church. Last week he tried to commit suicide by jumping down a well just outside the asylum building.

Chinese Immigration.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—On the arrival of the China from Hong Kong, which is expected shortly, it is possible that a test will be made in the United States court respecting the constitutionality of Secretary Windom's recent order. As permission to go to Mexico will be refused, an early test of the order may be expected. Collector Phelps is inclined to the belief that if the ruling is allowed to stand, it will not be long before direct communication will be made between China and Mexico. "How does the ruling affect Chinese passengers in transit to British Columbia?" "I cannot answer that question positively," said the Collector, "but I expect to have official notice about Chinese going to ports in British Columbia and am inclined to the belief that an aggrement will be affected as to persons in transit to that part of the coast as well as to Mexico. If there are many Chinese on the China bound for Victoria, and I receive no instructions from the Department, I shall not be able to prevent them being transferred. However, I feel certain that the information will reach here before the arrival of the China. My instructions from the Department regarding passengers to Mexico have only reached me by telegraph, but I shall refuse to transfer any Chinese persons to steamers going to Mexican ports unless otherwise ordered." If the case comes up, the Chinese will fight the order most bitterly.

Royal Academy Pictures.

LONDON, April 30.—The special press view at the Royal Academy was given to-day. In respect of the attendance and the excellence of display it was an average exhibition, though the notices in the evening papers are more than usually complimentary. The most prominent exhibits are by Sir J. E. Millais, Alma Tadema, Benj. W. Leader and Sir Frederick Leighton. The most conspicuous of the works of Sir J. E. Millais is a portrait of Mr. Gladstone, which is a strikingly bad likeness. The face has a bilious look, which is accentuated by giving to the ex-Premier's face an appearance of fleshiness which is not warranted. The expression, too, is an unhappy conception, and quite foreign to that which Mr. Gladstone is wont to wear. Mr. Tadema has only two portraits, both of which are good. Mr. Leader's landscapes are superb. Sir F. Leighton presents three classics, all of them excellent. The display is small as regards numbers.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
Victoria, 28th April, 1890.

Sir:—I am directed by His Honor the Lieut-Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 24th instant, protesting against "An Act to Amend the Constitution Act." and to state that he has referred the same to his executive council.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
H. STANTON,
Private Secretary.

Leech River Mining.

W. E. Stevenson, the chief stockholder of the Gordon Hydraulic Co., returned last evening from Leech river, where the works of the company are situated. Mr. Stevenson went in for the purpose of starting work for the season, and five men are now at work and two more will be sent in. A large sluice, three feet wide and two feet deep, has replaced the old ditch, and there is at present ample water for piping. There is a great deal of snow still in the mountains, but the hot weather of the last few days has caused it to melt rapidly, Leech river having risen seven feet in twenty-four hours. The company are determined to fully test the ground and feel assured that when a clean-up is made in the fall they will have a handsome return in gold. When work was begun in the face of the hill last year, two days piping gave a return of sixteen dollars. If the mine proves a paying venture, other ground will also likely be worked, fully five miles of good-looking ground being available. There has been considerable adverse opinion concerning probable results at Leech river. "Far off fields are greenest," and perhaps it is because Leech river is so near Victoria that so much pessimism prevails about its gold-producing character. It is to be hoped, however, that the pluck and enterprise of the Gordon Hydraulic Co. will be amply rewarded, for their success would prove of great benefit to this city.—Wednesday's Colonist.

HORRIBLY MANGLED.

A Well Known and Popular Young Victorian Run Over and Killed by the Train This Morning.

This morning the 7:40 train for Vancouver was some minutes late in starting, and when she pulled out of the depot she was run at a more than usually high rate of speed to make up the time. As the train approached Mary street, Mr. Wm. L. Cusack, travelling representative of Messrs. S. J. Pitts & Co., of Victoria, came from the sidewalk at the foot of Mary street and stood waiting for the cars. He carried a small valise and light overcoat in his left hand and was smoking a cigar. Just before the train reached him he made a slight signal for the engine driver to slow down, but it evidently was not noticed; he then grasped the railing of the baggage car with his right hand, was swung round violently against the side of the car and fell to the ground, his feet being towards the wheels. The leg seemed to be under the wheels and almost in an instant he was dragged under the train where he was seized by a brake beam whirled and smashed around for a distance of fifty or sixty feet and then flung out a mangled and battered wreck on the track.

The injuries were of the most shocking description. The left leg was completely torn from the body, the pelvis process being completely exposed. The body from the waist downwards was torn and smashed beyond description. Strange to say, the head, hands and arms were uninjured with the exception of a small cut on the scalp. The train had such momentum that she ran right up to the ferry slip before she could be brought to a standstill. The engineer then backed down and the railway officials viewed the remains. The men were terribly shocked at the awful spectacle, and Conductor Trodden could not speak. The mangled remnants were then collected together and covered with newspapers and cloths, and the police immediately notified the coroner, Capt. Pittendrigh, who summoned a jury without delay. A large crowd gathered to view the body as it lay under the cloth, and nothing but the sincerest expressions of sorrow for the untimely end of the poor gentleman and horror at his dreadful fate were heard. The remains were taken charge of by Mr. Fales, and after being casketed were despatched to his home in Victoria by the 1 o'clock train.

The deceased was a native of Woodstock, Ont., but before attaining the age of 25 he left that city, and has not resided there since. He lived a short time in Toronto and then went to South Africa, making Cape Town his residence for nearly two years. At the urgent solicitation of his relatives he returned to Canada and engaged in commercial life, first with a Hamilton firm and later in Montreal. When the Manitoba boom set in in 1881 he became very enthusiastic over that country, and went heart and soul into organizing a grand colonization scheme. His party reached the Northwest in the spring of 1882, and settled at Virden, then the end of the track. Mr. Cussack opened a general store and for a time did a thriving business, but bad crops, early frosts and other misfortunes almost impoverished the farmers, who had been largely credited at Mr. Cussack's store, and the result was that he could not run the business profitably and was forced to sell out at a heavy loss. Having been offered a position with the firm of Messrs. S. J. Pitts & Co., Victoria, he left the Northwest six years ago and came to British Columbia. He has been in the employ of the above named firm continuously since his arrival, and proved himself a most valuable and popular salesman.

"Will," as he was familiarly known, travelled the settled portions of the Province many times, and was a great favorite everywhere, and his terrible death will be a severe shock to his wide circle of friends. Three years ago he married the daughter of Mr. S. L. Kelly, of Victoria, and two children were born to them. The shock to Mrs. Cusack will indeed be terrible, and she will have the warmest sympathy of all in the irrecoverable loss she and her children have sustained by the sad accident this morning.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Jury Consult Upon the Awful Death of William L. Cusack.

Captain Pittendrigh, coroner for Westminster City and District, impanelled a jury, viewed with them the body of W. L. Cusack which lay on the approach to Mathers and Milligan's old wharf, and then retired to the city hall to hear evidence.

The first witness was Mr. Michael Hayes, merchant of Front street; his evidence is as follows:—This morning about 8 o'clock as I was coming out from breakfast I saw the train for Vancouver coming along; it was going at a more than usually fast rate. I noticed Mr. Cusack, the deceased, standing about three or four feet from the track, at the west side of Mary street. He had a small valise in one hand and a cigar in his mouth. I beckoned to him to signal the engine-driver to slack up, as the train was going more quickly than usual. Mr. Cusack did so, but the train did not slacken speed. Just before deceased attempted to board the train a young man jumped off the very step deceased tried to get upon. Deceased seized hold of the hand-rail and was swung backwards against the car, then he fell to the ground. He must have caught the wrong rail. He fell two or three feet away from the wheels, but immediately, as it seemed to me, made an effort to get up, and whether it was his clothes that were caught in the wheels, or whether he stumbled against them, I could not say. At any rate he rose partly up, and, like a flash of lightning, fell backward under the wheels. I am under the impression that it was his coat that caught in the wheels. Then he was right under the car and was rolled over and over for a distance of about 50 or 60 feet before he finally got clear of the train. I think the brake-beam did the rolling as it is so low down that a human body cannot go under it. I ran up to where he was lying in the middle of the track and found him horribly mutilated. He did not make a move and I think death must have been instantaneous. The train ran a distance of two hundred yards before coming to a standstill; she then backed down to the fatal spot. Regarding the speed of the train I cannot tell what rate she was travelling at, certainly faster than any man could walk. She was going considerably faster than ordinary. I would not like to try to jump on a train going at the rate she was travelling.

Mr. James Wise next sworn, said that about 8 o'clock this morning the Vancouver train was running along Front street. I was standing at my store door watching her coming up; the train was composed of a locomotive and tender, three or four freight cars, a caboose and two passenger cars. As the locomotive came opposite to me I saw engine-driver Kennedy leaning out of the cab on the river side, his hand on the lever, he was on the look-out ahead; the stoker was in exactly the same position on the other side, the street side, and he was ringing the bell. The doors of the baggage cars were open and several railway officials were standing looking out. Just as this car was passing me I saw Mr Cusack step forward at Mary street to board the train. He was walking fast. As soon as I saw his intention I involuntarily said to myself, "They're going too fast for you, Cusack." The next thing I saw was deceased clutching the hand rail of the car, then he swung away as if he had been knocked off, and fell to the ground on his left side with his feet towards the track. It seemed to me that the wheels passed over one of his legs and as I ran to him, I said, "There's one leg gone at all events." I kept my eyes on him the whole time I was running and almost in an instant he was caught up and whirled under the train where I saw him one moment in a crouching position, on his hands and knees, his hands on the ground. I was partly behind the train at the time and I could see him being smashed and turned round and round and the brake-beam grinding him to pieces. The wheels passed over the lower part of his body several times. When I reached the body I raised his head a little and closely scrutinized the face and eyes, but life was quite extinct. One leg, the right, was lying out across the rail and was not injured. The lower part of the trunk was horribly mangled and almost severed from the upper portion. The train was going very fast. I am a pretty fair runner for a man of my age, but in my run to the train I gained nothing on it. The train backed down to the scene of the accident and Conductor Trodden and other officials got off and viewed the corpse. They were deeply affected by the harrowing spectacle, especially Mr. Trodden, who could not find words to reply to my questions.

A friend of the deceased came into the room at the close of Mr. Wise's evidence and wished to know if it was a usual practice to slack speed for passengers at Mary street. He was informed that the train would stop if signalled.

T. C. Atkinson, P. M., said that this melancholy affair only showed the urgency of compelling the railway company to run at a low rate of speed inside the corporate limits, and he hoped the jury would strongly urge this.

The verdict of the jury is as follows: That the deceased, William L. Cusack, of Victoria, came to his death by being run over by a railway train, while attempting to get upon the same while it was in motion. The jury strongly recommend the railway company to prohibit passengers from getting on or off trains which are in motion, and that trains be not allowed to travel within the city limits at a greater rate of speed than four miles per hour; and that notices to that effect be posted in prominent places in the station.

CORRESPONDENCE.

BRIDGE VERSUS FERRY.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Sir: As the above question is now before the public, perhaps the following remarks may be in place: Is this place sufficiently large to justify such a large outlay for a traffic bridge, say $150,000, but how much more is not known. I think most people will agree that the first estimate is not invariably the last one. It may be said that the contractor binds himself to complete—but without doubt he would require advances. If half the sum was advanced, would the city be prepared to lose that if it could not be completed, or would they, like many others, have to give more than the first estimate to save the advances? When complete, would the traffic pay the interest and depreciation on such a work, it being all wood? If free, as some suggest, why should the city be taxed for the benefit of a few residents on the other side of the river? If people residing either up or down the Fraser have to pay rail or shipping charges, it would be manifestly unjust to them to be forced to compete with people living in the vicinity of the bridge, supposing it is made a free highway.

If New York, with all its population, and Brooklyn and Jersey City opposite, could go on for so many years with only steamers, does it not seem rather too progressive for this city to spend so much on a bridge? Yours truly,

READER.

MR. CODVILLE'S VERDICT.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN—Sir: — Having noticed the card of Mr. Wm. H. Ladner, in this morning's News-Advertiser offering himself as a sacrifice-offering on the "altar," and as there is every prospect of others coming forward in the next few days to hurl themselves upon the "altar," some for their country's good and others again for the good of themselves, causes me to pause and consider before pledging to any of those aspirants for sacrificial glory, and ask the question—"What is your altar, anyway? Is it to help the chosen favored few to scramble for and gobble up the acres that the Almighty meant for the many? If so, you are left. Is it to encourage and protect a herd of lepered Chinese idolaters to fasten their unhallowed fangs upon the birthright of ourselves and of our children, to take the bread from our own flesh and blood, and to drive our women to the wall, so that this moral, political, social, and (if not soon checked) national curse can be left handy to the beck and call of their admiring patrons? If so, you are left. Does it mean that the toilers, the producers and those that labor for an honest living must be ground down under a nine or ten hour system, and all chances for improvement in their educational, physical and social prospects be blasted, so as to give some a chance to grow rich at the honest and honored toiler's expense? If so, then you are left. Again, does it mean to have short-sighted, and weak-kneed politicians concoct and have passed "lien laws" weaker still, and so loosely put together as to enable those so disposed to cheat the workingman out of the sweat of his brow? If so, you are most assuredly and deservingly left again. For these are some of the strong and sound planks in the platform that is to carry the successful aspirant through to the haven of his ambition, and those not fully prepared to sacredly pledge themselves to those principles, and to many others of the same calibre, must make up their minds to be left at home, for the workingmen of this enlightened constituency have fully made up their minds not to accept any half-way measures. Our motto is:

Give me an open, manly, foe,
That I may meet him, perhaps avert the blow,
But of all the curses an angry Heaven can send,
Save, O save me from a lukewarm friend.

Until you hear from me again, I remain, Yours truly and sincerely,

JAMES CODVILLE.

VANCOUVER, April 29, 1890.

SUPREME COURT.

(Before the Hon. Mr. Justice McCreight.)

Anderson vs. Mannion.—The plaintiff in this action, the trial of which commenced yesterday afternoon, sought to have certain deeds, executed by him, by which he surrendered a lease of a brickyard on Bowen Island and conveyed absolutely to the defendant all the stock and brickmaking outfit therein, set aside on the ground of fraud. The plaintiff alleged that he was illiterate and that the defendant informed him when he asked the plaintiff to execute the deeds that they were simply security for moneys owing the defendant. The plaintiff was then thrown out of possession and since the first of March, 1889, has lost the profits which he could have made out of the business. Damages were asked. Mr. L. G. McPhillips, of Vancouver, and Mr. L. P. Eckstein, for the plaintiff; Mr. E. A. Jenns for the defendant.

BRIDGE OR FERRY.

DURING the last few weeks we have printed communications on this subject from nearly every possible standpoint of the question. To-day, a correspondent, "Reader," who is not incompetent to speak on the subject, puts forward some very pertinent suggestions and queries which the Aldermen, as well as the ratepayers, would do well to consider. Our correspondent tritely remarks that "the "first estimate is not invariably the "last one." Nearly any one who has had anything to do with any constructive work, of greater or less magnitude, will be able to heartily corroborate this epigramatic statement of a fact of almost universal experience. Be it a house, a church, a steamboat, a bridge, or a railway, pretty substantial "extras" can be counted on, as a rule, to develop themselves before the completion of a given work and swell the comparatively modest "first estimate" to a considerably larger sum.

This fact is so well known by the majority of people, and especially by designers and contractors for all classes of work, that it would not be worth while calling attention to it but for the fact that it may be overlooked when considering the bridge proposal now before the City, and for the reason that thoroughly practical and intelligent men do not invariably carry the same commonsense rules by which they would regulate their private business into public affairs. When Mr. Balfour states, for instance, in all honesty, that he can construct a bridge across the Fraser for the sum of $150,000, and have it completed by next spring, practical business men, viewing the proposal from an every-day business standpoint, would very likely calculate on an increased expenditure of not less than $50,000, and an addition of several months to the time limit. As much should undoubtedly be done when public instead of private interests are involved.

Some other questions advanced by our correspondent are well worth considering, although we cannot agree with all his assumptions and inferences. For example, we think our correspondent rather depreciates the extent of the traffic to be accomodated by either a ferry or bridge in his expression "a few resi- "dents on the other side of the river." We cannot see the force, either, of our correspondent's contention that it would be "manifestly unjust" to those who could not avail themselves of free traffic communication with this City, but had to pay rail or shipping charges to reach our market, to be forced to compete with people whose favorable situation in the district enabled them to avail themselves of such communication. Westminster would be only to glad to furnish, or assist in furnishing, the cheapest and most convenient means of inter-communication with every district and settlement within reasonable reach, and desirous of mutual trade relations, but those nearest and most easily reached will naturally have the advantage. It can not be denied, however, that it would be unfair for this City to tax itself to stand the whole charge for constructing and maintaining a free traffic bridge across the Fraser at this point, as the work is not merely a local, but a Provincial one.

Our correspondent's final question, it must be admitted, contains a pretty strong argument in itself, if carefully considered: "If New York, with all its "population, and Brooklyn and Jersey "City opposite, could go on for so many "years with only ferry steamers, does "it not seem rather too progressive "for this City to spend so much on a "bridge?" The same argument might be drawn from the circumstances of Montreal, which, with its 250,000 population, and towns and villages opposite aggregating 25,000 or 30,000, not to speak of the populous district south of the St. Lawrence, tributary to that city, has not yet got any other means of traffic communication (except the railway bridge) than by ferries. The city of Quebec, on the same river, with the towns, villages and settlements opposite, furnishes another example of the continued use of ferries, where the traffic is incalculably larger than can be looked for between this City and the districts south of the Fraser for years to come. In Portland, Oregon, we have another instance of the same kind nearer home, where, with a population on both sides of the river eight or ten times larger than here, ferries have met all the demands of traffic for years, and even the building and operation of a bridge, quite recently, does not appreciably divert any more traffic from the ferries than if it were merely an additional ferry itself.

Speaking about the bridge recently constructed across the Willamette at Portland, it is worthy of note that this structure, spanning a river certainly not more than half as wide as the Fraser, cost $200,000, being a Howe truss bridge, the same as Mr. Balfour proposes to construct at this city, the only difference being that the Portland bridge is a combination bridge, that is part wood and part iron, which would, of course, add to the comparative cost. Nevertheless, $150,000 seems a very small sum in comparison for which to construct so long a bridge as would be required to span the Fraser opposite this City. Not that we question for a moment Mr. Balfour's honesty in making the proposition, or his ability to carry it out, but the conclusion is unavoidable that a $150,000 bridge would be, a bridge, undoubtedly, and as good a one as possible for the money, but a very cheap and inferior article, it is to be feared, for its requirements. And a cheap and inferior bridge, one which would interfere unduly with navigation, and fail to command the public confidence as a safe means of transit, would be infinitely less valuable than a good ferry; would, in fact, be a dead loss and damage to the City instead of an advantage and a benefit.

We believe Mr. Balfour is a practical man, and can build a perfectly suitable bridge across the Fraser, if the City can afford the necessary wherewithal; but $250,000 would be nearer the mark than the smaller sum that has been mentioned, for such a bridge as is required—and which the City should unquestionably build, if it undertakes the job at all—and the main question thus becomes, can the City afford to shoulder a bridge at this time, when an expenditure of $20,000, or $30,000 at the outside, would establish a means of communication that the experience of other localities has shown will meet all require*ments satisfactorily for several years* yet, and give time to go into the bridge question thoroughly and deliberately, instead of taking hasty action in the matter now, that the City might have cause in the near future to abundantly regret?

ADOLPHUS METCALF.

I stood upon the ocean's sandy beach,
And with a reed I wrote upon the sand:
"Agnes, I love thee!"
But the cruel waves dashed in and blotted out the fair impression.
Cruel waves, treacherous sand, fragile reed!
No longer will I trust thee:
But with a giant hand I'll pluck from
Norway's frozen shore, her tallest pine,
And dip its top into the crater of Vesuvius
And upon the high and burnished heavens I'll write—
"Grant has removed his shoe store across the street,
Directly opposite where he used to be,
And is selling the best goods for the least money,"
And I would like to see any dog-goned wave wash that out.

"Where did you get that Hat?" Why, from Phillip's, who has the nobbiest stock of straw hats in town. *tc

NEW WESTMINSTER.
OFFER FOR SALE FOR A LIMITED TIME, at the undermentioned Prices, the following Properties on terms to suit.

SAPPERTON.
Lots in the Sub-Division of Lot 2, Suburban Block 4, from $200 per lot.
These lots are mostly cleared, and are very sightly, commanding an unsurpassed view of the Fraser River in one direction, and Queen's Park and the upper portion of the City in the other. This property is only about one quarter of a mile from the Brunette Mills, and is the best locality in Sapperton either for residence or speculation.

WESTERN ADDITION.
A few blocks and lots in the Western Addition to the City of New Westminster, Sub-Division of Lot 172, formerly the White Estate.
This sub-division, consisting of 600 lots, was placed upon the market by us a short time ago, and so eager were purchasers to buy that the entire 600 lots were sold out within one month. We are now offering the above property at slightly advanced rates on behalf of former purchasers. Those who missed the chance of buying at first prices have yet an opportunity of investing at prices that cannot fail to yield a good profit. We believe that this is the best speculative property in the City of New Westminster.

SURREY.
5-Acre Blocks in the thriving Municipality of Surrey, midway between the Cities of New Westminster, B. C., and Blaine, Wash., at from $30 to $40 per acre.
This property is situated on the Hall's Prairie road, near the junction of the Langley Road, the Yale Road, and the Clover Valley Road, within 500 yards of the proposed station of the New Westminster Southern Railway. The land is high and dry, and the soil is first-class. Surrey is one of the most prosperous sections of the District of New Westminster, and is at present enjoying quite a boom in real estate; so that purchasers of this property will get the value of their money in good, rich, solid farm land in a locality which at the same time promises an excellent field for speculation.

NORTH ARM.
145 acres in Lot 155, near the North Arm Road, about 2 1-2 miles west of the New Westminster City Post-office, at $150 per acre.
This is fine fertile soil, chiefly prairie, and lies well. It has become a maxim that cities grow westward, and New Westminster is proving no exception to the rule. City lots west of Edinburgh Street, along the North Arm road, have doubled in value in less than a year, while acre tracts have, in the same time, in some instances more than trebled. When the proposed extension of Columbia Street to the Westerly City Boundary is completed, the North Arm will become the best suburban section of the City. Moreover, it is confidently expected by many that the route of the Electric Railway to Vancouver will traverse this section. Our shrewdest speculators are realizing the possibilities of this portion of the City, and the many sales of acre property in the vicinity recently, indicate that land in the direction of the North Arm is looked upon as one of the best places for investment in the District. Prices are bound to advance rapidly.

In addition to the above we have a large list of City and Suburban Property, at moderate prices and on favorable terms, of which we invite examination.

HE KILLED THE MULE.

How an Irish-Indian Got Ahead of Governor Bushyhead.

Bushyhead, one of the members of the Cherokee commission, is in Washington, and many a one, says the New York Tribune, passes the Indian chief without knowing he is an Indian. He is tall, brown of skin, but has the features of the Caucasian race, and it is said that he is not more than one-eighth Indian.

He married some years ago a niece of Senator Butler, of South Carolina, who had gone out to Tahlequah as a teacher. A good story is told of him when he was Governor of the Cherokee Nation. The Cherokees are the most civilized of all the Indian tribes and one of their laws is in favor of prohibition. The law of the United States is that no one shall give or sell fire-water to an Indian, but the Cherokee legislators go further and prohibit the bringing of it into the Territory.

In Tahlequah, when Bushyhead was Governor, there was an Irish blacksmith named Mike Delaney. Now, Mike had been received into the tribe because he had married a squaw, and, strange as it may seem, was more an Indian than any native. He used to orate by the hour over his forge at the wrongs of the red men, and one of his favorite perorations was:

"We have been pairsecuted by the white man, dhriven from our homes in Georgia over mountains an' valleys, an' our noble inheritance stholen away from us."

Mike frequently delivered himself of this and the more fire-water he had in him the more flannel-mouthed and un-Indian was his brogue. He and Bushyhead were great friends, and one day when the Governor was at the courthouse presiding over the meeting of the Legislature the squaw-man appeared and beckoned imperiously.

"Come here," he whispered, "Ol've something to tell you. There's a dead mule in town." A "dead mule" is Western slang for a keg of whisky.

"Give me a dollar," continued Mike, "an' I'll buy a bottle an' keep it in the shop until yez can be afturr comin' to dhrink it."

The Governor gave the money and, half an hour later, deputizing some one to take his place, he made his way to the forge. From afar off he heard the inspiring strains of the "Irish Washerman," and as he drew near he recognized the oft-repeated refrain, "Och, hone, Widow Machree, och hone, Widow Machree," the melody stoutly maintained by an anvil chorus. Rushing in, he was confronted by the hilarious blacksmith, whom he at once asked for his share of the "dead mule."

"Be aisy, Guvner," cried the Irish-Indian, "there's only two heels left, an' I'll drink that, as the law's agin' givin' an Indian whisky."

And he swallowed the rest, the Governor of the Cherokee Nation not daring to prevent him.

DISRUPTION OF FRIENDSHIP.

How an Intimacy of Years Was Brought to an End.

Two women up-town, who have been dear friends for years, are at daggers' points, says the New York Evening Sun, and the friends of both are ranged on one side or the other of the controversy. The cause of it all is a cook. Mrs. A. had a cook of superior skill. One day she appeared before her mistress and quietly announced that she should go into Mrs. B.'s service the next month because Mrs. B. had offered her larger wages. Mrs. A. was thunderstruck. Her dearest friend come into her home and steal away her chief dependence in this way? Impossible! She put on her wraps and drove to Mrs. B.'s home. It was only too true. Her own familiar friend in whom she had trusted had lifted up her heel against her and hired her cook out of hand. Moreover, when charged with her treachery she coolly insisted that she had every right in the world to hire another woman's cook away from her if she could, no matter if that woman was her best friend.

Mrs. A. fairly gasped at the heresy. Women had occasionally been known to do this dark and dishonorable deed, but there had never been one found so hardened in iniquity as to defend it. Perhaps Mrs. B. would be capable of a like defense if she had estranged the affections of Mrs. A.'s husband or children from her. Mrs. B. had the grace given her to rejoin that there was no parallel in the cases. This was an affair purely of business. The cook's services were worth so much a month to Mrs. A. If they were worth more to another woman that woman had a perfect right to make the fact known to the cook and the cook to profit by it. This was the business method, and no man accused another of dishonorable methods because he had offered his most competent assistant better pay for his services. Mrs. A. refused to look at the matter in that light and they parted—Mrs. A. in tears, Mrs. B. in the cool consciousness of business sagacity and of unsullied rectitude.

The matter was speedily brought into an open parliament of their common women friends, there to be the subject of an intellectual game of battledore and shuttle-cock that is still at its briskest.

POWERFUL MEMORIES.

Prodigies Whose Existence Is Too Well Authenticated to Be Doubted.

There was a Corsican boy who could rehearse forty thousand words, whether sense or nonsense, as they were dictated and then repeat them in the reversed order without making a single mistake. A physician, about sixty years ago, could repeat the whole of Paradise Lost without a mistake, although he had not read it for twenty years. Euler, the great mathematician, when he became blind could repeat the whole of Virgil's Æneid, and could remember the first line and the last line on every page of the particular edition which he had been accustomed to read before he became blind. One kind of retentive memory may be considered as the result of sheer work, a determination toward one particular achievement without reference either to cultivation or to memory on other subjects.

This is frequently shown by persons in humble life in regard to the Bible. An old beggar men at Stirling, known about fifty years ago as "Blind Alick," afforded an instance of this. He knew the whole of the Bible by heart, insomuch that, if a sentence was read to him, he could name the book, chapter and verse; or, if the book, chapter and verse were named, he could give the exact words. A gentleman, to test him, repeated a verse, purposely making one verbal inaccuracy. Alick hesitated, named the place where the passage was to be found, but at the same time pointed out the verbal error. The same gentleman asked him to repeat the thirtieth verse of the seventh chapter of the Book of Numbers. Alick almost instantly replied: "There is no such verse. The chapter has only eighty-nine verses." Gassendi had acquired by heart six thousand Latin verses; and, in order to give his memory exercise, he was in the habit daily of reciting six hundred verses from different languages.—Toronto Globe.

THE use of nitro-glycerine in cases of emergency instead of alcohol is recommended by an English physician. A drop on the tongue rouses a fainting man, and it may restore life in the case of apparent death, as from drowning. It has quickly relieved headache, heart pains and asthma, and strengthened weak pulse in fevers.

The effect of the May Day procession was greatly marred by the dust. It is a pity the watering cart was not pressed into service for the day.

The str. Yosemite on her trip to Victoria this morning took a large number of passengers, 40 tons of merchandise, and 25 tons of farm produce.

A large number of people came over from Vancouver to-day to be present at the May Day festivities and witness the lacrosse match. They seemed to enjoy themselves immensely.

A large quantity of machinery arrived from Victoria by the Yosemite yesterday for the Brunette Saw Mills. This will be put in place immediately and in a few weeks the saw mill will be ready for cutting.

There was a rumor round town to-day that the new City pound was opened and in full running order. The rumor, however, has not been verified. The expulsion of two cows from the City Hall grounds probably gave rise to the report.

Mr. A. C. Wells, proprietor of the Chilliwack cheese factory, intends to commence operations in about two weeks. The quality of cheese turned out from this factory is excellent, as will be remembered by all who have had the pleasure of sampling it.

The machinery for the new steamer being built at Revelstoke for the Canadian Pacific Navagation Company, which will run on the Columbia River, arrived from Victoria last night and was shipped to the interior to-day. It is understood Capt. Frank Odin will command the new vessel.

The attention of contractors is called to the advertisement of Mr. H. Hoy, chairman of the Board of Works, asking for tenders for the clearing and grading of Thorne road from Douglas street east to the intersection of Columbia street. Tenders must be in by Monday, May 15th. This is the way the ratepayers like to see the improvements taken hold of. There will be no mud-puddling this year.

W. B. Goodwin, of Seattle, was in Vancouver yesterday trying to arrange a four-oared rowing match with the Vancouver Boating Club crew. The clubs have been in correspondence for some time so that a match may be arranged before Mr. Goodwin leaves the city. The beautiful and accomplished Mrs. Scott-Siddons will read poetical and dramatic selections at the Opera House on Saturday evening, May 3rd. There she had the misfortune to suffer from fire, from the effects of which she has just been repaired. She will be called the Transient.—World.

Plans and specificaf tions can be seen and blank forms ot tender can be obtained at the office of G. W. Grant, Esq., of this City, or at the office of W. S. Gore, Esq., Victoria. The advertisement will appear to-morrow.

The Constance Arrives.

The new str. Constance, built at Victoria for Mr. Alex. Ewen, arrived safely in port yesterday afternoon in charge of Capt. Frank Odin. No sooner had the trim-looking little craft arrived than hundreds of citizens flocked down to the landing place to inspect her, and the general expression was very favorable indeed. The Constance is a fast craft, very steady in rough water, and as neat a little vessel as there is on the river. She will be put into commission immediately in connection with Mr. Ewen's fishing and salmon packing operations, and it may be takne for granted that she will give all the satisfaction expected.

MERRY MAY DAY.

The Ancient Custom of Welcoming Glad Springtime Duly Honored To-day. A Magnificent Event.

The sun shone bright and warm today and every child in the city felt that there was nothing to hinder the merry-makings that have always gladdened the glorious first of May. There was only one drawback and that was the dust, which floated in clouds whenever the feet of the horses or the waggon wheels disturbed it. Before the hour appointed for the parade at Hyack hall, one o'clock, little groups gathered around there and discussed probabilities. Then the firemen in their fine uniforms began to arrive, then carriages and buggies with little folks dressed all in white and adorned with flowers almost as pretty as themselves, then the band, and a moment later the Queen, ex-Queen and maids of honor arrived, and things began to look like business. Then a man was seen coming along Columbia street tottering under the weight of a large square box with three long thin legs. When he put the box down and straightened up everybody knew it was Mr. Davis the photographer, and everybody smiled a smile of welcome at Mr. Davis the photographer, and he smiled, too, and looked real pleased. Then another gentleman with another box also ornamented with three long thin legs, came up and he and Mr. Davis got out in front of the large group of May-day merry-makers and told them to "keep quite steady for one moment, please, and look pleasant," and the photographs were taken. Then the band took the head of the procession and played some of Wagner's beautiful music; the royal carriage came next with its load of merry little distinguished people, then the carriage containing the chief of the Hyacks and other officers of state, then the Hyacks, two and two, looking so handsome and smart in their holiday array. Following them came miscellaneous vehicles, and the sidewalks were crowded with those who preferred to walk up to the Park with the procession. On reaching the Park the May Queen, Miss McPhaden, surrounded by her faithful guard, the noble Hyacks, received her crown from the ex-Queen, little Miss Hatherly, and made the following speech to her predecessor and subjects assembled:

DEAR SISTER: The happy occasion which brings us together to-day is fraught with all the joy and pleasure that should accompany this most beautiful season of the year—the glad springtime—when after a long and chilly winter the tender grasses once more spring forth, the blossoms expand into life, and the little birds whose carols have been hushed all winter, sing clear again their sweetest warblings, filling the air with that light music which we all delight to hear.

The crown, dear sister, which you have resigned, and which has been bestowed upon me, your successor, is the emblem of authority, and to which you all must bear true and faithful allegiance. But our reign is peace. We govern by love; and our wish is to so rule our subjects that nothing but pleasure will fill our hearts and rule our fancies on such an occasion as this.

I command you, therefore, to come with me to the beauteous May Pole, round which you will dance as true subjects of the May Queen, and under the watchful care of my faithful guards, the gallant Hyacks, may we while away the happy day in the innocent and pleasing amusements it is my wish you should join in.

This address was received with loud shouts of applause from the assembled multitude, followed by three hearty cheers from the Hyacks.

The maypole was then climbed by one of royal guardsmen and the gay and many colored ribbons were released from their festoons, an end of ribbon was handed to each of the pretty roysterers below, and round the maypole they circled looking too pretty for anything. The whirligig at the top of the pole did not work very well, but who cared? everybody laughed, the sun was warm and pleasant, the air was filled with the perfume of flowers and a smile lighted every countenance. After the maypole dance the pole was stripped of its ribbons each child receiving one; then came the call of "a ring, a ring." Herculean Constable Smith, grand in a gorgeous white helmet, was there, and he soon made lightsome room for the royal set of quadrilles. The little fairies were led out "to trip the light fantastic toe" each by a burly member of the Royal Guard. First came the blushing Queen of the May, lovely as a rose in June, Miss May MacPhaden, escorted by the gallant commander of her majesty's loyal guard, Chief Ackerman. Next the ex-queen, sweet and charming Miss Maud Hatherly, was brought forward by Mr. W. Dickinson; Miss Mabel Harvey had for a partner Mr. Thomas Ovens, Miss Mabel Ewen was escorted by Mr. Scoullar, Miss Gerty Trodden by Mr. Fitzgerald and Miss Addie Ewen by Mr. Geo. Hume. Then the band struck up a joyful dancing air and the graceful and happy votaries of the Terpsichorean art danced a right merry measure to the great glee of the onlookers and their own pleasure. After the dance the little folks and their guardians went over to the enclosed part of the park, and on entering the gate the queen's most gracious bounty was dealt out to all alike; confections, fruit and cakes were dispensed with a liberal hand. The merry-go-round did an immense business. Everybody patronised it and everyone was delighted with the amusement it afforded. The games and ths fun were kept up until late in the afternoon, and will be renewed in the evening at the opera house, when the young people will dance until 10 o'clock and their elders as long after that as they feel like it. Considerably over two thousand people were at the park this afternoon. The grand stand during the ceremonies was filled almost to overflowing, while hundreds stood on the grounds. It is conceded on all hands that this has been the most successful May Day festival ever held in Westminster.

New Westminster's Water Works.

Complete specifications for the construction of the water works have been prepared and printed, and by advertisements elsewhere it will be seen that tenders are invited for the clearing of the pipe line, up to 4 p. m., of the 10th inst., and for furnishing the material, and making and laying the pipe, up to July 14th next at 4 p. m. Plans, specifications, etc., can be seen at the office of the engineer of the water works, A. E. Hill, Esq., at the city hall.

Westminster Real Estate.

Westminster is still the favorite so far as speculation is concerned; and why should it not be, for who has lost money on an investment in Westminster realty? In the past it has been impossible for the speculator to make an unprofitable deal. He has simply paid the then market value and in three months his investment was worth a third more. And the same is the case to-day. Real estate has got to go far beyond present prices before the limit is reached, and the investor of to-day has almost as good chances as he had a year ago. By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Mr. T. J. Trapp will hold another of his popular action sales of real estate at the mart on Saturday night. A large number of properties have been listed, and all will be sold to the highest bidder at the fall of the hammer. The sale will attract much attention.

PERSONAL.

Mr. G. R. Raymond, of the Colonial, has returned from a trip to California.

Mr. John Boultbee, barrister, of Vancouver, is in the City on professional business.

The Junior Lacrosse Match.

The lacrosse match between the Westminster and Vancouver juniors took place on the old cricket field this afternoon and proved a very interesting event. There was a large number of spectators present notwithstanding the greater attractions held out by the May day merry-makers. Following were the teams: Vancouver--Linklater, Morency, Scurry, Boultbee, Scott, Campbell, Quann, McPhee, Browne, Dinsmore, E. Miller. Spare man, Myers. Westminster—J. H. Vidal, Culbert, P. Peele, G. Hill, J. Johnston, W. Greig, C. Grant, Webster, B. Peele, Taylor, W. Clute, F. Turner.

Mr. Ryal was chosen referee and Messrs. Quigley and Cambridge umpires. When the men lined up the general impression was that Vancouver having the heaviest material would make an easy win, but at the same time there were many who had confidence that the Royal City boys, though light, would hold their own—and they were right. Sharp play followed the face and then the rubber travelled down to the Vancouver flags and remained there three and a half minutes; then it was thrown up field where Quann got it, and, threw on goal; to the amazement of the crowd the rubber passed, making first game for Vancouver. Time 4 min.

SECOND GAME.

After a rest of ten minutes play was resumed, and the lads went at the game in good style. Westminster made the best showing all round, but some individual players on the Vancouver side did fine work. Percy Peele had been changed to goal, greatly strengthening the defence thereby. After some general play in the centre field the ball was gradually worked down to the visitors' flags, and, work as they would, it kept close there for several minutes. Finally the rubber shot down to center field where it was captured by B. Peele, who, after running clear of several opponents, fired on goal. The shot was the finest play of the day, the ball travelling with the rapidity of thought fully 50 yards and scoring game for Westminster. Time, five minutes.

THIRD GAME.

The score was now even and both sides took the field determined to win the victory. But the Westminster juniors played the stronger game and the ball was kept pretty much in the vicinity of the Vancouver flags. Turner, Greig and Clute aimed many a shot at goal, but the magnificent defence of the visitors repelled the attacks as often as they were made. Once in a while the rubber would travel up field, and a few shots were made at the home flags, all admirably stopped, however, by Percy Peele, who generally managed to relieve the pressure by capturing the ball and throwing well down field. At the end of 25 minutes play Cuthbert got the rubber, carried it well down field and threw to Webster, who made a quick shot on goal and scored the second win for the Royal City. Time, 25 minutes.

The fourth game was won by Vancouver, and the fifth and sixth by Westminster. This ended the match in favor of Westminster by 4 games to Vancouver's 2.

Obituary.

The Rev. Brother McBride, a native of Ireland, who joined the order of Oblates at Williams Lake ten years ago, died of consumption in St. Mary's Hospital at 10 o'clock last night. He was a faithful servant of the Lord, and fortified by the rites of the Church, he departed this life full of hope that a merciful God would receive his soul. The mass will be said in St. Peter's church at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning. The remains will be interred at St. Mary's mission.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons was greeted by a large and highly appreciative audience in Victoria Hall last evening. They were charmed with her appearance, her richness of attire, and her rendering of the eight selections which constituted the programme. The dramatic recital lasted for about two hours, and the interest seemed to be increasing up to the close. The lady's interpretation of the sentiments expressed was admirable, and her personification of the various characters was true to succession; she was French, Italian and Yankee by turns, not only in dialect, but in gesture, thought and feeling. In the sleep-walking scene the stillness was almost breathless throughout the hall. The recitals of the mild caricature style, from Dickens and Mark Twain, were particularly effective. Everybody enjoyed the entertainment immensely.—Manitoba Free Press, Winnipeg, October 29, 1889.

COLUMBIAN SUPPLEMENT.

VOLUME VII. NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., MAY 1, 1890. NUMBER 76.

TO THE ELECTORS

—OF—

New Westminster District.

GENTLEMEN:—In view of the near approach of the election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of our late representative (the much-respected D. Chisholm) and as I have stated in my card to you that I am a candidate for that honor, I will now lay before you some of my views on the leading questions which I consider will arise in the near future for consideration.

I have been asked what I mean when I announce myself as a Liberal-Conservative; I reply, "That by nature and education I am a Conservative, but a residence of over 30 years in this Province and much intercourse with our American cousins has had the effect of changing many of my views, and given me liberal ideas, therefore I claim I am a Liberal-Conservative." Owing to the fact that party lines are not defined in British Columbia as they are in the older provinces, I consider that our representatives are not in duty bound to give a through-thick-and-thin support to any party, but they should go to Ottawa prepared to give a generous support to all good measures which may be brought before them, and to consider the prosperity of the Dominion as a whole, but our own Province in particular, and should a measure come before them which they consider in any way detrimental to the interests of this Province they should take their stand like true men and vote against it.

I am opposed to a certain extent, to the Tariff, or National Policy as applied to British Columbia. We are a long way from the centres of manufacture in the East, and many articles of every-day use to our Farmers and others, and which we cannot produce at home can be obtained more readily and at shorter notice from our near neighbors over the line, and in many cases the articles are better adapted to our needs than those brought from the Eastern Provinces; in fact, much of our Farming and Mining Machinery, Wooden Ware and other articles are brought from the States, although the duties are so heavy. Again regarding our food supply; we do not raise enough to supply our wants, and are obliged to cross the border for it, and are met with such heavy duties that heads of families in this Province pay more than ten to one compared to their compeers in Eastern Provinces. We have had example to the point during the last three months. If we had not received a good supply from California there would have been a meat famine; as it is we are now and have been paying 25 cents per pound for mutton, which is more than ordinary mortals like to pay, and the same state of affairs is likely to obtain again after any long and severe winter, for in spite of "Protection" for the last eleven years our stock raisers are little better prepared to meet hard winters than they were before, and to my mind the only ones who have reaped the benefit of the N. P. are the manufacturers. As a true Britisher I should like to see "Free Trade," but as that seems out of the question, I would advocate "Reciprocity" in many articles which are at present in the Tariff lists, as I think it would be beneficial to both countries, and the working man would not have to go down so deep into his pockets to buy what he needs to eat and wear. I am aware the Government must have a revenue to carry on the affairs of the country, but I would have "luxuries" pay more and get at the pockets of the richer classes who can better afford to pay taxes.

Owing to the long continued sickness of the late Mr. Chisholm, he was unable to be in his place this session, and very little during the previous one, so we of this District have been practically unrepresented, and our local wants have not been brought before the notice of the House. Had he (Mr. Chisholm) been in his seat, I do not think the Post*master*-General would have been left so much in the dark concerning the necessity of regular mail facilities on the Lower Fraser as he seems to have been when he proposed to cut off the mail subsidy from that important route, and there are other places in the District which need better postal facilities, which I consider should receive that gentleman's earliest attention.

I hope that in the near future our District will reach that point that we may look for it to be divided and receive another representative. At present I think it is the largest constituency in the Dominion, extending over 1500 miles of territory, and when the census returns are in I think the necessary number of population will be found to demand such additional representation.

The protection of the river banks at Chilliwack, Sumas, Burton's Prairie and other places should receive my earnest attention, also the works for improving the channel at the Sandheads, in view of the expected increase in our shipping interests.

I consider the Province should have control over all railway charters and privileges within our borders.

Our Fishing interests, being of such great importance to this District in particular, I feel should receive more than ordinary attention.

I would urge the cutting of a canal through the Delta lands from the mouth of the Serpentine to Fraser River, also to enquire into the question of cutting one from the Fraser River to Port Moody, which has often been suggested to me.

Immigration, I consider, should be fostered, and encouraged judiciously. Just at present it is coming here fast enough; I would not like to see a large influx pour in at once, as many would be disappointed and go away disgusted and probably give our glorious Province a bad name.

There are many other matters I should like to touch upon, but it would make this address too long. I hope to see as many as possible before the election, when I shall be prepared to lay my views more fully before them and answer any questions. As soon as possible after the arrival of the writ I will arrange for a personal canvass and will send due notice of time and place of meetings.

During my long residence in the Province I have travelled through much of it, from Victoria to Cariboo, and have noted its growth and requirements, therefore, I feel fully competent to bring such matters before the notice of the House in a practical, business-like manner.

Should I have the honor to be elected I assure you I shall watch over the interests of this District faithfully and to the best of my ability, not forgetting that I also go as a true British Columbian and to do my duty as such.

Yours faithfully,

WM. B. TOWNSEND.
