Salmon Breeding in British Columbia.

(From Hansard.)

INQUIRY.

HON. MR. MCINNES (British Columbia) rose to enquire

"Whether it is the intention of the Government to place a sum in the Supplementary Estimates for the purpose of erecting this year a Salmon Hatchery on the Fraser River, British Columbia?"

He said: I may say that, since placing this notice in the hands of the Clerk to be printed on Friday last, I find the Supplementary Estimates have come down, and I regret very much indeed to see that there is no provision made for the erection of a salmon hatchery on the Fraser River, British Columbia. Three years ago, when I had the honor to occupy a seat in the other branch of the Legislature, I brought this question—a question of vital importance to us in British Columbia—before the notice of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and of the Government, and I finally succeeded last year in getting the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to promise that a sum would be placed in the Estimates for this year. But I regret to say, as we all regret to know, that owing to the serious illness of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, he has been unable to take his seat in Parliament this Session, or to continue the duties of his Department. However, I renewed my application to the Acting Minister and was lead to believe up till within two or three days ago that provision would be made for the establishment of a hatchery in my province. I would ask the indulgence of the House for a few minutes while I endeavor to show the vast importance of this industry to the Province of British Columbia, and to compare the fishery interest of that province with those of the other provinces of this great Dominion. In the first place I will give the total amount in value of fish, fish oils, and of the skins and furs of the various marine animals, products of our seas, lakes and rivers. I find according to supplement number two of the eleventh annual report of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, which is the last that has been brought down, that the total value of fish, fish-oils, skins and furs of marine animals for the different provinces is as follows:—

Quebec	$2,357,220
Nova Scotia	6,029,106
New Brunswick	2,744,446
Prince Edward Island	1,402,302
Ontario	446,491

There is nothing given for Manitoba; and last but not least comes British Columbia with a total of $6,339,321. You will observe that in British Columbia the total catch was nearly $100,000 more even than that of Nova Scotia.

HON. MR. MILLER—Of fish?

HON. MR. MCINNES—Of fish—not only including fish, but oils, and all the products that year of the waters of Nova Scotia.

HON. MR. KAULBACH—You will find it is only $50,000.

HON. MR. MCINNES—I did not figure it out exactly, but it is about $75,000. It will therefore be seen, hon. gentlemen, that the value of the catch of fish, fish-oils, and fur-bearing marine animals in British Columbia amounted to one-third of that of the entire Dominion. I will now call your attention to the exports from the different provinces. I find, according to the same report, that the exports amounted to $6,867,715—that is, for the whole Dominion. Of that amount British Columbia contributed last year, according to the report of the Dominion Inspector of Fisheries for that province, which I have in my hand, $1,454,321, or one-fourth of the entire exports of the products of the waters of our Dominion. Hon. gentlemen who have read or heard the Budget Speech of the Finance Minister, delivered during the present Session, will there find that the amount is the same as I have given. I would now call the attention of hon. gentlemen to the amount that it has cost each province annually for fishery officers:

Ontario	$12,003.00
Quebec	12,591.00
Nova Scotia	14,180.00
New Brunswick	12,291.00
Manitoba	19.75
British Columbia	1,399.00

For overseers of the different hatcheries, $29,100, making a total of $86,062.55. British Columbia cost less than one-fiftieth of the whole amount. I will now show how these overseers or fishery officers are distributed. According to the same report, on page 5, I find that

Ontario had	82
Quebec	103
Nova Scotia	240
New Brunswick	107
Prince Edward Island	44
British Columbia	2

Of fish breeding superintending officers there are 15, making a total of 594 fishery officers in the Dominion, and of that number British Columbia has only two, and the actual salary that they get is $1,250. I find according to the same report that we have seven fish-breeding establishments in the Eastern Provinces, here:

Ontario	2
Quebec	3
Nova Scotia	3
New Brunswick	2
Prince Edward Island	1

The aggregate cost of the construction of these hatcheries has been $30,000, and the annual maintenance $22,000. Each hatchery costs on an average $2,000 per year for maintenance. I do not find any fault with the amount of money that has been spent in their construction and maintenance; in fact, I believe it would be money well spent were it ten times the amount. For instance, last year I find that the Sandwich hatchery on the Detroit River distributed no less than 13,500,000 young fish. In addition to what money has been expended in the cultivation and natural propagation of fish in the Eastern Provinces, there is a sum placed in the estimates of $150,000 for deep sea fisheries. That I believe also is a move in the right direction, and before many years will give a handsome return for the money invested. Now, I wish to draw the attention of the House, for a few moments, to what they are doing to the south of us. I find that in the United States they have thirty hatcheries or fish-breeding establishments, two of which belong to the Federal Government, and cost $476,000—that is, including the maintenance of the institution since it was established in 1871. The annual maintenance of these two establishments is $52,000. The remaining hatcheries belong to the different States. I find that there are 28 States, each of which has a hatchery—the cost of maintenance annually is as follows:

Maine	$2,643 00
New Hampshire	1,600 00
Vermont	750 00
Massachusetts	5,750 00
Rhode Island	1,005 00
Connecticut	3,320 00

For the five Eastern States, the first cost of building the hatcheries amounted to $201,728.

The cost of building hatcheries in the three Middle States and the cost of maintenance is as follows:

	Building and cost of maintenance since built.	Annual maintenance
New York	$165,000	$13,750
New Jersey	29,500	3,270
Pennsylvania	99,539	12,437

The following is the cost of building and annual cost of maintenance of hatcheries in the other States I have above enumerated.

	Building and cost of maintenance since built.	Annual maintenance
Maryland	$76,500	$10,580
Virginia	1,500	3,000
West Virginia	3,900	1,300
South Carolina	800	800
Georgia	2,000	500
Kentucky	1,100	2,200
Ohio	29,000	14,000
Illinois	3,000	1,500
Michigan	53,000	6,600
Wisconsin	38,850	4,850
Minnesota	22,500	4,200
Iowa	22,750	1,750
Kansas	2,000	500
Nebraska	1,000	1,000
Colorado	1,200	600
California	37,000	3,700

The total cost of constructing hatcheries or fish breeding establishments in the United States since 1871, when the first establishment of that nature was constructed, has been $1,306,378. This gives us an idea of what they are doing in the way of artificial propagation of fish in the United States. They are becoming fully alive to the importance of their fisheries, and many rivers and lakes that were almost fished out a few years ago are now teeming with fish. I know of one myself, the Sacramento River, in the State of California, that five years ago very few salmon were to be found in; this last year they have caught nearly as many salmon in it as were ever known to have been caught there before canneries were established. Another reason why I consider that we have a just claim on the Government for the establishment of a hatchery in British Columbia is this:—Unfortunately we were not a part of the Dominion of Canada when the Washington treaty was being negotiated, and by some unaccountable oversight British Columbia was left out. The consequence is we cannot send a pound of fish, fresh or salt, into the United States markets, as our friends from the Maritime Provinces are able to do. Why we have not supplied the people of Ontario and Quebec with salmon to a very great extent for the last few years, is owing to the fact that it has been almost impossible to get the fish down to California and have them shipped in bond from there because of the annoyance in connection with the Customs duties and bonding system. It has been a great drawback to us there and it is one reason why I think we are entitled to a small expenditure of money in British Columbia for the purpose of propogating the earlier runs of salmon, especially in the Fraser River. I may say that it was not until July, 1874—eight years ago—that the first cannery was established in that province; it was built in my own town, New Westminster, and was opened on the 1st of July of that year. To-day we have no less than fourteen canneries, and these last year gave employment to over 3,000 men, women and children. Two years ago the total export of salmon alone amounted to $305,000, and last year we exported of canned salmon $1,063,656 worth.

We exported pickled salmon to the amount of	$39,332.00
Fresh Salmon	38,450.00
Smoked Salmon	1,450.00
Mixed Fish, pickled	450 00
Herrings	1,250.00
Smoked Herring	2,500.00

Fish Breeding.

The readers of this journal already know that the Dominion Government have at last consented to establish a salmon hatchery on the Lower Fraser. Elsewhere in this morning's issue will be found the Hansard report of a speech delivered on the subject in the Senate by Hon. Dr. McInnes. The speech is able and interesting, and is well calculated to place British Columbia properly before the public in respect of her great marine wealth, the development of which, it is proper to remark, is as yet only in its infancy. The carefully collated statistics are most interesting, and it evidently took the House by surprise to learn that British Columbia already stands at the head of the list of the Provinces in the product of her sea farm—representing, as it does, one-third of the product of the whole Dominion, while her exports are one-fourth of the entire export of the Dominion. The "Bluenoses" in the House were evidently not prepared to find the Pacific Province o'ertopping Nova Scotia by about $75,000 a year. As has been said, the development of British Columbia's great sea farm is only in its infancy. It is capable of almost unlimited expansion. The product of the Lower Fraser has been nearly doubling every year, and, with proper farming, it can be enormously increased. But there is our thousand miles of sea-coast, with its innumerable rivers, and inlets and fiords and bays and banks, all teeming with fish possessing great commercial value, to say nothing of the extensive fur-seal fields. As has been seen, this Province has already taken the front place. By the time its marine wealth shall have been as thoroughly developed as that of Nova Scotia, how will the figures stand? We cannot trust ourselves even to guess. It was well pointed out by Dr. McInnes that, while British Columbia produces one third and exports one-fourth of the entire marine wealth of the Dominion, she costs the Federal Treasury less than one-fiftieth! It is earnestly to be hoped that the clear and forcible exposition of the subject may lead to some approximate apprehension on the part of the lethargic Department at Ottawa of the importance of this industry, and the consequent duty of seeing that its interests are properly guarded and promoted. The determination to establish a hatchery has evidently been come to with considerable reluctance, and the amount placed in the estimates ($4,000) is but a beggarly sum. Still it is a step in the right direction, and is, we trust, the beginning of a more appreciative policy. It remains for the people, through their representatives in the Federal Parliament, to see that the matter is followed up, until the Pacific Province shall have been conceded her proper rank and position in this respect.

Incorporation.

As will be seen by reference to the report of proceedings of the City Council, it is estimated that the revenues which would be available for municipal purposes, were the territory between the Fraser river and Burrard Inlet incorporated, would approximate ten thousand dollars a year. The committee have not stated the sources from which that revenue would be derived, but we presume the great bulk of it would come from the wild land tax. We are very much inclined, however, to doubt the correctness of the estimate, and we are still more inclined to question the utility of pursuing this matter any farther. As was pointed out last week, there does not appear to us to be that identity of interest between the different communities which would lead one to hope that the whole could be satisfactorily worked under one municipal government. Indeed, so far as we are aware, there is really nothing to encourage the expectation that the proposition would meet with favor in the principal communities concerned. The lumber interests on Burrard Inlet stand very much by themselves, and they would naturally regard with a certain degree of distrust a scheme for yoking them together with other interests and communities in this way. The undue tendency to over-taxation of most municipal bodies would naturally cause those who have large capital and land interests in connection with the lumber trade to view with suspicion, if not actual hostility, any attempt to subject their property to the possible caprice of civic statesmen. Nor have we to go from home for an illustration of the fact that municipal government is not an unmixed blessing; and the mere circumstance of our own corporation being under a cloud just now is not altogether calculated to predispose neighboring communities to incorporation at the suggestion of New Westminster. If the committee be correct in their estimate of the available revenue, and if that amount of revenue could be obtained without imposing any fresh burdens, and if one were quite sure that the Council would be content with that revenue and expend it judiciously, and if it were quite certain that all the communities and interests proposed to be consolidated into one municipality would harmonize, it would doubtless be an advantage in some respects to be incorporated. But these guarantees cannot be given, and we greatly doubt the willingness of the communities to form themselves into one municipality. In the abstract, we thoroughly believe in self-government; but we can readily conceive the existence of conditions rendering any attempt at municipal government of questionable utility.

Thoroughbred Stock.

"Distant hills are green," says the old proverb, and one sees illustrations of the truth of it almost every day. There are in this Province, aye, right in this community, men who will send away to get printing done which can be done, and is being done, as well and as cheaply right here. We merely mention printing as an illustration. In everything else it is very much the same. There is the vague idea that the farther away they go the better they will fare. It is of thoroughbred stock we desire more particularly to speak at the present time. Some years ago Mr. James T. Steele, with an amount of pluck and enterprise worthy of all praise, brought from the other side of the wide continent, at very great expense, some as fine thoroughbreds as ever crossed the sea, and established Grafton Farm, the situation of which is eminently favorable for stock-raising; and he has succeeded in raising a herd of very fine animals. Now, what has been Mr. Steele's experience? We could, if we wished, name farmers who have gone far from home for thoroughbreds, and fared, in every sense, very much worse than they would have done by patronising Grafton Farm. The article has been no better, in some instances not nearly as good, and it has cost double, in some cases more than treble. Such is the tendency, the weakness of human nature. Were the people more patriotic, truer to themselves, giving home the preference, it would be very much better for all of us. In another column will be found an advertisement, from which it will be seen that, on the 6th proximo, Mr. Steele will hold a sale, when nearly the whole of his valuable herd will be offered, and we are in a position to state that the sale will practically be without reserve. There never was a period in the history of the country when it was so important to improve the breed of cattle and pigs and sheep as the present, and the stock-farmers beyond the Cascades will only be acting in their own true interests by taking full advantage of so favorable an opportunity of introducing into their herds a few superior breeds.

"Where have you been for a week back?" enquired a man of his neighbor. "I have not a weak back," retorted he. "You misunderstand me," remarked his friend; "but if you ever get a weak back try Burdock Blood Bitters." It cures all debility arising from disordered Kidneys, Liver or Blood, and is the best purifying Tonic in the world. All medicine dealers supply Sample Bottles at 10 cents. Regular Size $1.00

A REAL NECESSITY.—No house should be without a bottle of HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL, in case of accident. There is no preparation offered to suffering humanity that has made so many permanent cures, or relieved so much pain and misery. It is called by some the Good Samaritan, by others the Cure-all, and by the afflicted an Angel of Mercy.

A BY-LAW TO ENABLE THE CORPORATION OF THE MUNICIPALITY OF CHILLIWHACK TO RAISE THE SUM OF FOUR THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR THE PURPOSES THEREIN SET FORTH.

WHEREAS THE MUNICIPAL Council of the Municipality of Chilliwhack has resolved to raise a sum of $3,400 for the purpose of extending, making and repairing roads and bridges, and $600 towards building Town Hall, and in order to do so will require the sum of $4,000 to be obtained in the manner hereinafter recited;

And whereas it will require the sum of $463 to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of the said debt and interest as is hereinafter mentioned;

And whereas the amount of the whole ratable property of the said Municipality according to the last revised assessment roll, being for the years 1880 and 1881, was $105,000, irrespective of any future increase of the ratable property of the Municipality and of any income in the nature of tolls, interest, or dividends from the work, and also irrespective of any income from the temporary investment of the sinking fund or any part thereof;

And whereas for paying the interest and creating a sinking fund for paying the said principal sum of $4,000 and interest as hereinafter mentioned, it will require an equal annual special rate of one-half of one per cent. in the dollar;

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by the Reeve and Council of the Municipality of Chilliwhack:

1. That it shall be lawful for the Reeve and Council of the Municipality of Chilliwhack to raise by way of Loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of the Debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of $4,000, and to cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Treasurer of the said municipality for the purposes and with the object above mentioned;

2. That it shall be lawful for the said Reeve and Council to cause any number of Debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required, not less than $100 each, and that the said Debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Municipality of Chilliwhack, and be signed by the said Reeve;

3. That the said Debentures shall be made payable in eighteen years at furthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this Bylaw to take effect, at the municipal treasury of the said Corporation of Chilliwhack, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest;

4. That the said Debentures shall bear interest at and after the rate of six per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable annually at the municipal treasury of the said Corporation of Chilliwhack;

5. That for the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said Debentures and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon, an equal special rate of one-half of one per cent. in the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all ratable property in the said municipality during the continuance of the said Debentures or any of them;

6. It shall be lawful for the said Municipal Council from time to time to purchase any of the said Debentures from persons desirous of selling the same; and all the Debentures so re-purchased shall be forthwith cancelled and destroyed and no re-issue of the Debentures shall be made in consequence of such re-purchase;

7. That this Bylaw shall take effect and come into operation upon the First day of July A. D. 1882.

The City Council did a good stroke of business in securing the earth from the post office site for filling at the lower end of Columbia street.

Amongst the passengers by the Enterprise yesterday was J. A. R. Homer, Esq., M. P., who has just returned from the Federal capital.

METHODIST CHURCH—Rev. E. Robson. Service at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday School at 2:30 p.m. Seats free; strangers cordially invited. Service at Port Moody at 2:30 p.m.

THAT JUDGESHIP.—The Colonist publishes an Ottawa telegram announcing the appointment of Mr. Walkem to the vacant judgeship, but the Standard denies the truth of the announcement.

BURRARD INLET.—There are fourteen ships, all large class, in the port of Burrard Inlet at present, equally divided between the two mills. The ship Sulatelma sailed from Hastings mill on Thursday and the Athlone from Moodyville yesterday.

OUR COAST FISHERIES.—The news from the north-west coast is to the effect that the run of salmon had set in lively and that there was, consequently, a "boom" at the canneries. We have now six canneries on the coast, and there would appear to be a fair prospect of a good harvest.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT. — On Monday Dr. Tunstall was thrown from his horse, while riding away from the railway head-quarters below Lytton, sustaining the fracture of two ribs and minor injuries. He was treated by Dr. Hannington and, according to latest accounts, was doing well.

SOUTH ARM.—There are booming times in the Delta municipality. The contract for Mr. McKee's fine two-story residence at Bayview has been awarded to Mr. Burns, and the work is going forward. The contract for Mr. A. Fisher's large barn was awarded to Mr. J. Hunter, and the building is well under way. Mr. W. H. Ladner's fine new residence is rapidly progressing.

TOO TOO.—The work of blasting in the concrete which is being removed from the site for the new postoffice has been going on for some time. A few days ago one of these blasts shattered eleven panes of glass in the adjacent building, temporarily used as a telegraph office. Yesterday one shattered six more panes of glass and projected a quantity of gravel and small boulders into the building.

PORT MOODY AT WINNIPEG.—Elsewhere will be found a pretty formidable list of Port Moody lots sold at Winnipeg. These lots were originally sold by Mr. H. V. Edmonds, and he informs us that the prices quoted at Winnipeg represent a very handsome advance—in many instances as much one hundred per cent., so that the Winnipeg dealers are making a big margin. The Mr. McLagan mentioned was, it will be remembered, out here last year.

CUT HIS STICK.—Yesterday Wm. Buckler, serving an eighteen month's term for burning Ingram's barn, at Osoyoos, was sent out with lunch to the convicts at work on the Port Moody road. He appears to have changed his mind on the way and taken to the woods with the provisions. Search was made for him yesterday, but without satisfactory results. It appears that his term had only four months to run, and it was not supposed he would attempt to escape.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—While the train was returning to Yale Tuesday evening one of the cars got off the track near the Suspension Bridge, and some of the workmen feeling alarmed at the situation jumped from the car and got injured; those who remained upon the car escaped. The injured parties were brought to the Hospital here. The names are as follows: Samuel Donpe, severe bruises to the right leg. Patrick Rourke, bruises to the back and side; and James Doherty, who was coming down on the car on account of injuries received higher up the line, got further injured by jumping from the car. There are at present 7 patients in the Hospital. Inland Sentinel.

YALE ITEMS. — The following is gleaned from the Inland Sentinel of Thursday:—Hon. Mr. Justice Gray held County Court on Monday.—The Fire Brigade turned out for a "wash," and with 500 feet of hose, threw a good stream over a 60 foot pole.—The Railway Company's Warehouse that stood near Yale Creek Bridge has been taken down to Emory, where it is more convenient for storage purposes.—Dr. Tunstall is progressing favorably.—Rev. Mr. Horlock preached at St. John's Church on Sunday morning and evening, to large congregations.—A fine bell has been received for the new Catholic Church.—A new Catholic Church is in course of erection at Lytton.—Nothing new in mining operations.

THE BEEF "BOOM."—The price of beef is still upward and the "corner" men are triumphant. They are in a position to dictate to the butchers, and the consumers must stand the pressure of the "bulls." It is supposed that the supply is inadequate for the home market, and still the cry for British beef comes from beyond the boundary line. A few days ago the Portland dealers telegraphed an order for one hundred head at 7 cts. per lb., delivered here; but the "corner" can do better, and the offer was declined. How the tables are turned! The chief matter of regret is that the stock-raisers in the interior are not the principal gainers by all this. The speculating middlemen are pocketing the profits.

Distressing Accident.

On Tuesday Messrs. DeBeck Bros. & Co. hired a young man named John Glen to work at their sawmill. On Wednesday morning the young man commenced work, running an "edger" circular saw. In less than fifteen minutes his left hand, coming accidentally in contact with the saw, was cut clean off about half way between the wrist and elbow! The injured limb was speedily bandaged and the unfortunate young man brought down to the city, where he was attended by Dr. Sivewright, and placed in the Royal Columbian Hospital, where we are glad to hear he is doing well. He bore up manfully throughout, exciting the admiration of the Doctor and attendants. It is a great affliction for a young, athletic fellow to meet with such an accident, especially, as in this instance, when the vast continent divides him from his relatives.

The New School House.

After long years of weary waiting and tiresome importuning, after wriggling and protesting and pleading, New Westminster is to have a new school house. Not such an one, perhaps, as she was entitled to expect; yet an immense improvement on the old one. The building is 36 by 67 feet; two stories high, the first being 14 feet and the second 12 feet in the clear. The first flat is divided into two school-rooms, 35 by 26½ feet each, divided by a twelve foot hall running clear through. The second flat is not intended to be finished at present. The front elevation will be 30 feet. We are sorry not to be able to praise the architectural effect attained; but we suppose we ought to feel thankful for the internal accommodation afforded. "Beggars cannot be choosers," and although the people of New Westminster contribute ten dollars towards the revenue for every one they receive, still they have to beg and cringe for the miserable pittance. The contract has been awarded to Mr. John Calbick, whose tender ($2,430,) was the lowest, and the work will be proceeded with immediately. The fact of its being in his hands is a sufficient guarantee for the work being well and promptly done.

Railway Matters.

Mr. Onderdonk arrived in this city yesterday and is staying at the Occident. From him we gather the following information:

WORKING FORCE.

There are now at work 2,000 whites and reds, and 4,050 yellows. Two thousand five hundred more of the yellow sort are coming from China, and as many more whites and reds as can be got will be taken on. It is expected that the working force will be strong by the 1st of August, of whom nearly one-half will be on the lower section.

10,000

MILLEAGE UNDER CONSTRUCTION.

The whole line between Hope and a point about five miles beyond Spence's Bridge, about ninety miles, is now under actual, active construction, and the line between Hope and Port Moody about eighty miles, is in process of clearing. Work over all that extended area is being pushed with all possible vigor.

A BIG PUSH

is being made with a view to having the railway in running order as far down as Murderer's Bar this fall, so that the contractor may be independent of low water which usually renders steamboat navigation beyond that point impossible in early spring and late fall. The contractor is also anxious to have the track laid between and Pitt river as soon as possible, in order to facilitate access between the two water systems.

The steamer Skuzzy has been sold to Mr. Kyle (a brother of Mr. Kyle in this city) who intends taking her up through if possible, where she will do the railway steamboating under contract.

HELL GATE

The railway contractor has had a large force employed for some time in forwarding supplies, &c., up past the canyons, in anticipation of portions of the waggon road being by the spring freshets. There appears to be a general impression that the water in the Fraser will be unusually high this season.

SUBMERGED

INDIAN LABOR

has proved very satisfactory so far, and the contractor only wishes he could procure a few hundred more Indians.

The contractor disclaims any intention of constructing wharves at

PORT HANEY,

but he hopes to make use of wharves constructed by private enterprise, and expresses great faith in the important future of that place.

GENERALLY,

it is the policy and wish of the contractor to work as large a force as can be put on and to push the whole line from Savona to Port Moody to completion at the earliest possible date. It is hoped that by the close of next year trains may be running between the seaboard and the railway bridge over the Fraser below Lytton.

The general health on these extensive works is excellent, and there has for some time been gratifying immunity from accident.

The Liver, the Skin, the Kidneys and the Bowels are the natural cleansers of the system; secure their healthy action by nature's grand remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters. It cures Scrofula—It cures Liver Complaint—It cures Dyspepsia—It cures Female Complaints and purifies the Blood while it restores strength and vitality to the shattered system. Trial Bottles 10 cents.

City Council.

The Council met on Wednesday evening, the 31st ult. Present:—His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Cunningham, Johnston, Curtis, and Edmonds.

Amongst a number of communications were one from Mr. Scoullar renewing application for permission to construct tank and lay pipes, and a summons from P. Briggs for $100, paid for liquor license in January last.

A number of accounts were disposed of.

The resignation of Councillors Howison and Elliott for St. George's Ward, and Councillor Geo. Webster for St Andrew's Ward were read and accepted and the Clerk was instructed to call for new elections to fill vacancies, on the 9th June.

Councillor Johnston reported on the application of Mr. Scoullar and others for permission to construct tank, &c., recommending delay.—Agreed to.

Councillor Cunningham handed in plans and specifications for St. John street.—Received and laid over.

Councillor Edmonds reported that the revenue from wild land tax and other sources from the territory between Fraser river, Pitt river, Burrard Inlet and the Gulf of Georgia would approximate $10,000, and recommended that further steps be taken to induce the inhabitants to form themselves into a municipality.—Report adopted.

The Board of Works reported in favor of granting James Turnbull permission to construct a tank on Agnes street; also in favor of non-interference with hospital drain. — Report adopted.

On motion, it was resolved that a Health Officer be appointed at the next meeting of the Council.

The revenue Bylaw was advanced a stage.

The Clerk was instructed to issue a notice about cow-bells.

On motion of Councillor Cunningham, specifications to govern the construction of all water-tanks was adopted.

Councillor Curtis gave notice of an amendment to the Cattle Bylaw.

The Council adjourned till next Monday evening.

Oolahans, a kind of fish peculiar to that coast, pickled, smoked and fresh	4,311.00

Of the fur seal skins, we exported $164,492 worth, and I may mention here that that industry has sprung up within the last three years. Three years ago there was no person engaged in it. Now there are a great many men employed, principally Indians; in fact there are fleets of Indian canoes taken out by steamers in the morning that are allowed to go off three or four miles from the vessel to hunt seals, and when night comes or a storm threatens, they return to the vessel for shelter. The canoes employed in this business are from forty to fifty feet long, and contain each a crew of eight or ten men and women. We export the following articles as well, viz:

Hair Seal Skins	$1,750.00
Sea Otter	6,000.00
Oolahan's Oil	1,630.00
Herring Oil	6,400.00
Dog Fish, Seal, and Porpoise Oil	56,896.00
Dog Fish Oil (refined)	14,850.00
Other Fresh Fish	45,000.00
Fish Cured for Home Consumption	2,500.00
Fish Scraps—dried	200.00

Making a grand total of $1,454,321.26 in value, exported last year from that province. Now no doubt, it may be asked by many hon. gentlemen: If there are so many fish, and especially so many salmon, in British Columbia—and in the Fraser river particularly, why do you want a hatchery?

HON. MR. KAULBACH—And when you have no market for them?

HON. MR. MCINNES—We have all the market we want; and I will just say in reply to the hon. gentleman from Lunenburg (Mr. Kaulbach) that no less than five new canneries have been erected in the district of New Westminster within the last year. That, I think is pretty good evidence that they can find a ready and profitable market. Our men would not invest their money in any such enterprise as that, with the experience of the other canneries before them for a number of years, unless the outlook was a safe one. The reason we want a hatchery is this: The early run of salmon—which is the chief fish canned on the Columbia river, takes place 200 miles south of us. That "run" sets in about the first of May, and continues uninterruptedly until about the middle of July; whereas with us on the Fraser river, although only 200 miles farther north, the main "run" does not set in until the first week of July. It is true that a few of the "run" which frequent the Columbia river south of us find their way into the Fraser river during the first few days of the month of May; but they do not come in sufficient quantities to warrant the canneries in opening out. So that, virtually, our run of valuable fish does not set in until the first week in July, and terminates about the second week in August, making a season of only five weeks for fishing in British Columbia. On the other hand, in the Columbia and Sacramento rivers, they have a fishing season extending over three, four, and even five months. Now, I have the highest authority on fish culture to sustain me in the position which I have taken, and I think I fully convinced the Minister of Marine and Fisheries of the importance of this subject. I pointed out to him that if a hatchery is established on the Fraser river for that particular "run" and that early spring "run" propagated, we can extend our fishing-season over four or five months, instead of five weeks as at present, and would give employment to 4,000 or 5,000 men, women and children for that space of time, instead of the shorter period during which work is now afforded them. It is not for the sake of having a few thousand dollars expended in British Columbia that I am advocating this, but because I am fully convinced that if a hatchery is established of that nature, and that particular species of fish propagated, we shall secure this longer fishing season.

HON. SIR ALEX. CAMPBELL—Is there any difference between the species?

HON. MR. MCINNES—Yes; on an average, in point of size and weight, they are more than double the size of the main "run" that sets in with us in the month of July.

HON. MR. KAULBACH—Won't one species drive the other out?

HON. MR. MCINNES—I think not. When I bring this subject up and discuss it with a great number of hon. gentlemen from the east, I am met with the reply, "You have more fish than you know what to do with."—

HON. MR. KAULBACH—It is said they are so plentiful that they impede navigation?

HON. MR. MCINNES—Well, it is true, when that "run" we are speaking of—which frequents our Fraser river in July—comes in, the water is nearly black with them; but that only continues for a short time. So great is the run that nearly all the canneries, notwithstanding the fact that they have their cans made for months beforehand, and have a great number of boats—some of them from 50 to 75—they cannot take full advantage of the "run," it is so great. The consequence is they have frequently to withdraw, (I have seen this myself), perhaps two-thirds of their boats. With the prospect of our Canadian Pacific Railway being completed within four or five years, and of the Great North-West being opened up and peopled, not by hundreds of thousands, but, as I believe and hope, by millions, there is no question at all but we shall supply not only the North-West and Manitoba, with fresh and canned salmon, but I believe that here in Ontario and Quebec you will find, in a few years, our Fraser river fresh salmon on your tables two or three times a week. Indeed, I should not be at all surprised if they should find their way down to the town of Lunenburg, in Nova Scotia. I do not wish to trespass much longer upon the patience of the House, and having called the attention of the leader of the Government to this matter, and endeavored, in my feeble way, to show the necessity for an institution of that kind being established, I hope that the Minister of Justice will urge upon the Government, of which he is such a prominent member, the advisability of taking steps to construct that hatchery before another year has gone by. I would add that I rely upon him to do justice to us in this matter.

HON. SIR ALEX. CAMPBELL—I have great doubt whether by the hatchery which is proposed, or by and other means, the salmon which frequent this river can be induced to come there at an earlier season than their natural tendencies will take them. I distrust the success of the experiment which my hon. friend desires to have made, and fear it will not have the effect of bringing the fish into the river earlier that they are now brought there.

HON. MR. MCINNES—A certain number of the salmon run up the Fraser river as early as April, but they are not in sufficient quantities to warrant the canneries in opening.

HON. SIR ALEX. CAMPBELL—Then the suggestion is that this April "run" should be selected and brought there?

HON. MR. MCINNES—Yes.

HON. SIR ALEX. CAMPBELL—Although I distrust the experiment, there may be merit in it; and my hon. friend will be happy to know that, at all events, the Government have resolved to bring down an item, to enable the experiment to be tried; the item will be a supplement to the Supplementary Estimates.

HON. MR. MCINNES—I thank the hon. Minister for the information.

Our Story.

KITH AND KIN.

"Then I am sure you shall never feel it again. I promise you that, and I beg your pardon, if I have wounded you," he said earnestly, and, hoping to turn away her attention from that topic, he added:

"But you said something about going to church. Do you think the neighbors expected me to be at church this morning, instead of rambling round the lake, and talking about the fells with the farmers' boys?"

"I dare say people would be a little surprised, especially as it was the day after Mr. Aglionby's funeral. These small places, you see——"

"Have their lex non scripta, which is very stringent. Yes, I know. I ought to have gone. I would have gone, if I had thought of it."

"Are you a dissenter?" asked Judith; "because there is a chapel—Methodist, I think—at Yoresett, and a Quakers' meeting-house at Bainbeck."

"I am not what you would call a dissenter, I suppose, but a free-thinker; what it is now fashionable to call an Agnostic—a modish name for a very old thing."

"Agnostic—that means a person who does not know, doesn't it?"

"Yes. At least, with me, it does. It means that I acknowledge and confess my utter and profound ignorance of all things outside experience, beyond the grave; beyond what science can tell me."

"But that is—surely that is atheism—rank materialism, isn't it?"

"Scarcely, I think, is it? Because I don't presume, or pretend to say, that those things which believers preach do not exist—all those things in the beyond, of which they so confidently affirm the existence—I do not deny it; I merely say that for me such things are veiled in a mystery which I cannot penetrate, and which I do not believe that any other man has the power to penetrate. My concern is with this life and this life alone. I have a moral law quite outside those questions."

"Have you? Then you do affirm some things?"

"One thing, very strongly," he answered, with a slight smile, "a thing which partly agrees and partly disagrees with what you affirm—I am supposing you to be a Christian."

"And what is that?" asked Judith, neither affirming nor denying her Christianity.

"This: that to use the words of the Old Testament, 'The sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation,' ay, and a good deal beyond that; and that, in our system of belief or disbelief—whichever you like to call it—there exists no forgiveness of sins. That is all. It is not an elaborate creed, but I think any one who really comprehends it and accepts it, will find that he must lead a life, to come up to its spirit, as stern and as pure as that which any system of theism can offer to him."

"No forgiveness of sins," faltered Judith, more struck, apparently, by his words than seemed reasonable. "That is surely a hard lesson. Not even by repentance!"

He shook his head. "I don't see how even repentance can bring forgiveness," he said. "'The soul that sinneth, it shall die,' and 'the wages of sin is death.' There is no getting out of it, is there? The man who leads a sinful life does not do it with impunity, I think. If he seems to escape pretty well himself, look at his children—his children's children. Look at the punishments that are transmitted from generation unto generation 'of them that hate me and despise my commandments."

"That is God," said Judith.

"I know you call it so. To me it means the laws of science and nature; reason, morality, righteousness, clean hands and a pure heart."

"And you think that would be sufficient to deter people from doing wrong and wicked things?" she asked, still with an absorption of interest in the theme which surprised him, for all it was a very old and hackneyed one—a subject which had been disputed thousands of times, and he had certainly not thrown any new light upon it by his words.

"I do not know," said he, "I am an Agnostic there, too. It is to be hoped that if it were not efficacious now—which it hardly would be, I dare say—it may become so in the course of time, as the world grows what I call wiser, what you denominate more skeptical, I suppose. At any rate the fact remains, which no theologian can deny, that the sins of the fathers are visited upon the children daily, hourly, inevitably; and that if a man wish his descendants to escape punishment—if he wish to escape it himself—he must walk circumspectly; he can't be a drunkard or a profligate all his life, and by repenting on his death-bed wipe out all the consequences to himself and others; despite all that is preached about its being never too late to mend, and never too late to be forgiven, he cannot do it. He has sinned, and the effects are there. Surely you will own that?"

"It cannot be denied."

"Well, and a man or a woman cannot live a dishonest life—cannot go on with a lie in their right hands—without consequences ensuing. They may repent, sooner or later, in dust and ashes, and may swear, like Falstaff, to 'eschew sack and live cleanly,' but it takes two, at any rate, to tell a lie or to act one; the effects spread out in rings—none can know where or how they will end. It cannot be escaped. Some one must be punished."

"Then those who come after—is it of no use for them to try to expiate the sins of their fathers?" she asked, with the same anxious, eager intentness; "or, would it not be natural and right for them to say, 'Since my parents left me with this blight in my life, I'll even live recklessly. No repentance will cure it. There is no justice. I will get what pleasure I can out of my maimed existence, and the future may look after itself?'"

"I told you the creed was a hard one," he said. "We have no God of mercy to go on our knees to for forgiveness. What we have sowed, we must reap, God or no God. It is open to us to do as you say—'Eat, drink, and be merry, for to-morrow thou shalt die.' Or, it is open to you to take your stand as firmly as may be, to do without the cakes and ale; to say, 'Whatever I may suffer for my parents' sin, none shall have to suffer for mine,' and to live righteously."

"And the reward?" asked Judith, looking at him eagerly and intently, even anxiously.

"There is no reward, that I know of, except the one which Christianity says is not sufficient to keep a man straight—the conviction that you have done right and been honest, cost what it might, and that whatever you have suffered from others, no others shall suffer by you. That is all that I know of."

"Then do you recommend this creed to others?"

"I recommend it simply as I would recommend truth, or what appeared to me to be truth, before a lie—as I would recommend a man setting out on a journey to fill his wallet with dry bread, or even dry crusts, rather than with macaroons and cream-cakes."

She leaned her head on her hand, in silence, and at last said:

"It is a hard doctrine."

"Yes, I know. It is the only one that I ever found of any service to me in my life."

"It seems to me that it might be good for strong spirits, but that it would altogether crush weak ones."

"Then, Miss Conisbrough, it should be good for yours; it should be the very meat to sustain it," said Bernard involuntarily and eagerly.

Judith smiled, rather wanly.

"You imagine mine to be a strong spirit?" she asked.

"I am convinced of it."

"You never were more mistaken in your life. I am a faint-hearted coward." She rose, slowly, and paused near the fire. "I think, Mr. Aglionby, that there is a great deal of reason in your Agnosticism. I wish people—some people, I mean—had known of it and realized it a long time ago."

There was a dreary hopelessness in her tone, a blank sorrow in her expression, which went home to him. Like many a strong soul which has been scarred in battle, he shrank from seeing others exposed to the ordeal he had gone through. He thought she was going, all desolate as she was and looked. He could not endure the idea of sending her comfortless away, and he strove to detain her yet another moment.

"Do you mean," he hastily asked, and in a low voice—"do you mean about my grandfather? Because, you know, I try to live up to my convictions. He did wrong, I know—and those who come after him must suffer from it more or less; but I have elected to take the side of not letting others suffer by me, and——"

"I was not thinking of my great-uncle at all," was the unexpected reply. "You are harping on the way in which he has left his money. And you would like to make it right. You cannot. I never realized until now, how utterly impossible it is. Yes, the sins of the fathers shall be visited upon the children. But you have committed not sin. Do not trouble yourself. If it were merely money—though I am nearly a pauper, I never felt to care so little for money as I do now. It seems to me to make so little difference. I think I shall try your creed, Mr. Aglionby; it seems to me to be a manly one." She held out her hand.

"But you want a womanly one," he urged eagerly, yet not too boldly.

"No; I want as strong, as masculine, as virile a creed as I can find. I want a stick to lean upon that will not fail me, and I believe you have extended it to me this night, though I will not deny that it has a rough and horny feeling to the hand. Good-night."

"I am greatly concerned," he began, and his face, his voice, and his eyes all showed that concern to be profound.

"Do not be concerned. I thank you for it," said Judith, smiling for the first time upon him. Aglionby hardly knew what the feeling was which seemed to strike like a blow upon his heart, as he met that smile, exquisitely sweet and attractive, like most smiles of grave faces. He could not speak a word, for the emotion was altogether new to him. Passively he allowed her to withdraw her hand, and to walk out of the room.

He sat with his elbow on his knee, his chin in his hand, gazing into the fire, and would have sat there till the said fire had expired, had not Mrs. Aveson at last wonderingly looked in to ask if he had finished supper.

"Yes," he answered, abruptly, and the words of the song came tenderly into his mind:

"Noch eenmal lat uns spraken;
Goden Abend, gode Nacht!
De Maand schient up de Daken
Uns Herrgott halt de Wacht."

About noon the next day, Sir Gabriel Danesdale and his son, riding down the hill behind Scar Foot, left off a lively discussion on politics, which had hitherto engrossed them, and turned their thoughts and their conversation toward the house which had just come in sight.

"I wonder how we shall like him," observed Sir Gabriel. "At the funeral, I took good notice of him—you were not there."

"No, I don't go to them on principle."

"That is a mistake," said his father; "there is never any harm in occasionally confronting in another, what must some time be one's own latter end. When I fairly realized that it was old John who was being laid under the ground there, my own contemporary, and the friend of my youth, I assure you that the things of this present, the roast and the boiled, the lands and the houses, seemed to shrink away into remarkably small compass. It puts things before one in another light."

Sir Gabriel spoke with a tempered cheerfulness, and Randulf replied, "I never thought of it in that way; I have no doubt you are right."

"You are young, it is no wonder you have never thought of it in that way. But, as I was saying, I took remarkably good notice of this young fellow, and it was strongly borne in upon my mind that if he and old John had been much together, the roof of Scar Foot must have flown off under the violence of their disputes. He is not of us, Randulf; not one of my kind, though he may suit your new-fangled notions."

NO. 11 KEARNEY STREET, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

DR. SPINNEY, well known as the founder of the Montreal, (C. E.) Medical Institute, and late Proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, would most respectfully inform his patients and the afflicted generally, that he still continues to treat chronic and nervous diseases with unparalleled success.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.

Remember that procrastination is the thief of time so

COME AND BE HEALED.

It matters not what your troubles may be, come and let the Doctor examine your case. It will cost you nothing for consultation, so please call and satisfy yourselves whether the Doctor understands your case. If he can cure you he will tell you so; if not, he will tell you that, for he will not undertake a case unless he is confident of effecting a cure.

Parties at a distance wishing treatment, by sending $25 and a minute description of their troubles will receive in return a full course of treatment securely packed so as not to excite curiosity.

DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit Five Hundred Dollars for every case of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

P. S.—For diseases of short standing, a full course of medicines, sufficient to cure, with all instructions, will be sent to any address on receipt of $10.
