Daily British Columbian

Tuesday Evening, June 19, 1888.

From Lulu Island.

Correspondence of the Columbian.

Everything on Lulu Island bears a delightful aspect. All the crops are growing splendidly. The few days' rain, instead of casting a gloom over our citizens, as it sometimes does with our city friends, has cheered the hearts and irradiated the countenances of every farmer on Lulu Island, knowing that these gentle showers are sure forerunners of beautiful harvests.

The Three Ball Club of Lulu Island will hold their second regular meeting at the office of the Phoenix Canning Co. on the 23rd inst. The object of this society is to aid any member that may be in distress, or anyone who is not a member. The society are to be their pawn brokers, to advance the agricultural and fishing interest of this locality, and every other possible industry; to become intimate as far as possible with all the arts and sciences and all literary branches, and to endeavor to enforce all the virtues both in and out of the club, more especially that grand and glorious virtue, temperance. Capt. R. Laidlaw is president, Mr. H. Druommond vice-president, Mr. T. H. Worburton secretary and treasurer, and there is quite a large membership.

Messrs. J. H. Todd & Son's new cannery will soon be under construction, and many other conspicious improvements are everywhere apparent.

It appears to suggest itself to the people of this island that, instead of the cojectured road from Westminster to the proposed bridges leading to Vancouver, it would be much better and cheaper to have a bridge built across the North Arm near Westminster city. In this case many of the South Arm farmers would be brought about as near Westminster by bridge as Vancouver. Even should the North Arm road be built, and the many deep gullies be bridged, at a very great expense, the people who live above the bridges, after going down a considerable distance further away from Westminster, to get to the bridges are likely to go to Vancouver to do their business even should they desire to go to Westminster, and such a road through the woods would for ever be a lonely and dismal drive; which, on the other hand, if there was a bridge across near Westminster city to Lulu Island, and a road completed from the bridge down the island, this would be one of the most lovely drives ever presented to the lover of picturesque beauty, or prosperous husbandry, and a great source of wealth to the city of Westminster. Driving down the island, one could see miles of level prairie stretching out in all directions, of the most wonderful fertility, and beyond this, dark stretches of timber, high mountain peaks, and scenery varying as one would journey along.

The Richmond corporation will have a road completed this summer up this island very near to Westminster city, and we can foresee the day when the bridge will be built, and along these roads will everywhere be dotted the rural homes of the happy sons of toil, and thrifty farmers, with produce from their farms on heavy wagons, will be seen going to the royal city market square, and the pleasure seeker with his light buggie will ever choose the island route and go gliding from the the fresh water city to her salt water sister city, a journey with ever changing scenery; and then New Westminster will reach out her arm across the gently sloping hill until she grasps the hand of her salt water cotemporary, and they will ever go hand in hand for victory, destined to become the great Pacific metropolis of British North America.

Langley Council.

Council met at the town hall Saturday, June 2. Present, the reeve and full council. Munites of previous meeting read and confirmed. Petitions for roads and bridges were laid over until next meeting. Contract No. 2 was awarded to D. Fage, at $48.75; No. 4 to W. Emptage, at $1 per yard; and No. 5 to H. Titmus, at $10 per chain. The contracts on river road and ditch at Norris' were ordered to be tendered for again at next meeting. The revenue bylaw was reconsidered and finally passed. The board of were instructed to examine Tyes' road and report at next meeting. The reeve's expenses to Victoria were ordered paid. The reeve was instructed to take such steps in the Williams case, as might be needful, before next meeting. The board of works reported having let contract on sand-pit to W. Towle at $49.50. Council adjourned until first Saturday in July.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

THE EMPRESS VICTORIA.

BERLIN, June 19.—It is stated today that the Empress Victoria will probably go to Italy for a short rest, then to England for a time. It is not likely that she will continue to live in Berlin.

BOX FACTORY DESTROYED.

DANBURG, Vt., June 19.—A fire last night destroyed Armstrong & Co.'s box factory and two other buildings. Loss, $125,000.

BLAINE TALKS.

DURHAM, June 19.—The Blaine party arrived here last night. Blaine was shown some American cablegrams relating to his candidacy. He said: "I have nothing to say regarding rumors which now, as in every convention week, are current. Of course, however, I am interested in convention work.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

SELMA, Cal., June 19.—The second disastrous fire that has visited this town in two weeks occurred yesterday. Twenty business places were burned out. Losses aggregate $53,000. Insurance, $25,000.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Chauncey M. Depew will be placed in nomination for president at the republican national convention by ex-Senator Warner Miller, of New York. If the speech seconding the nomination is to be made it will be delivered by General Knapp. John Sherman will be nominated by Daniel H. Hastings, adjutant-general of Pennsylvania. Governor Foraker, of Ohio, will second the nomination. The speech placing Gov. Alger, of Michigan, in nomination, will be made by Robert E. Fraser, of Detroit, leading orator of the state. Hon. W. P. Hepburn, of Iowa, one of the favorite speakers of the Hawkeye state, will nominate Senator Allison, of that state; J. P. Dolliver, also of Iowa, will second the nomination.

The morning of convention finds no change in the situation. The adherents of the different candidates are all hopeful, but none too confident. A great deal of Blaine enthusiasm has been roused since the street demonstrations last night, but it is understood Blaine will not be chosen except after a deadlock prolonged over three or four days, and when the chances of candidates now in the field are so hopeless to each that he will join in a request to Blaine. That the convention is to-day vastly in favor of his nomination is apparent, as was the same feeling here in Chicago at this juncture four years ago. Therefore there is really hope in the majority of every delegation, whether with favorite sons or not, that things will so shape themselves as to bring about a deadlock. This latest Blaine strength will be carefully manipulated to allow a preponderance of no candidate until the critical moment has come. This, at least is the programme and it bears every probability of success. The convention wants Blaine at heart, and it will have to be dexterously manipulated by the managers of any other candidate who will persuade it out of its desire. Notwithstanding all the pressure brought to bear on the California delegation it looks probable this morning that California will carry out its original intention and nominate Blaine when the name of that state is reached on the roll call. At 12:32 p. m. Chairman Jones, of the national committee, called the convention to order. Rev. Frank G. Gunsalulus, of Plymouth church, Chicago, delivered the invocation, after which Miss Emma Romersa, of the Third Presbyterian Church, sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," to the tune of "John Brown's Body." Secretary Fessenden, of the national committee, then read the committee's calls to the convention. The mention of the protective tariff created applause. When the secretary concluded Chairman Jones advanced to the platform and delivered a strong address. Mr. Jones made an indirect allusion to Blaine and Logan, and instantly the whole convention was thrown into a tumult, and it was several minutes before the chairman was able to resume his speech. When he finished John M. Thurston, of Nebraska, was introduced as temporary chairman, and proceeded with his address. He referred to Blaine as "the republican chevalier and the nightmare of democracy, the greatest living American and object of our undying love," at which there was a storm of cheers that were given again and again. Thurston said the convention must and dare not place Blaine in nomination after his wishes. Prolonged laughter was accorded Thurston's concluding statement that Cleveland's administration has been remarkable for nothing but its inocuous desuetude. Hoar, of Michigan, presented the temporary chairman with a gavel made of wood from the tree under which the republican party was born, at Jackson, Michigan, July 6, 1854. Dakota was then admitted, and will be allowed her ten votes. Washington territory is given six. Chairman Thurston announced the presence of General Fremont, of Nebraska, first presidential nominee of the republican party. Fremont's speech was punctured with hearty applause, and when he concluded there were cries for Foraker and Ingersoll. Attention was, however, attracted to Secretary Fessenden, who read the committees on permanent organization, resolutions and credentials.

THIS AFTERNOON'S DESPATCHES.

PETITION DENIED.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The supreme court this afternoon denied the petition for re-hearing, in the case of Alexander Goldensen, who has been sentenced to hang for the murder of a little school girl named Mamie Kelly.

A HEAVY SENTENCE.

NEW YORK, June 19.—John R. Dunn, the lawyer accomplice of Teller Scott, who robbed the Manhattan Bank of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars, was to-day sentenced to 9 years and 8 months in the state prison.

STANLEY RUMORED DEAD.

LONDON, June 19.—An unconfirmed rumor that Henry M. Stanley, African explorer, is dead, is in circulation in this city and Paris. There is no news in government or Congo missionary circles either in London or Brussels of the death of Mr. Stanley.

CORRESPONDENCE.

An Enquiring Stranger.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Yesterday as the ship Camana was nearing the R. C. P. Mill Co.'s wharf, some officious individual jumped up on a pile of lumber and welcomed Capt. Gordon with his good ship. On making enquiry I was informed that this individual, whose name is Tom J. Trapp, was not in any official capacity. Is it considered in good taste in this place, Mr. Editor, on an occasion of this sort for a private individual to get up in the presence of the mayor and aldermen and assume the functions of the highest civic officer?

STRANGER.

Ladner's Licensing Court.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—I notice in your issue of the 15th inst. a telegram reporting sitting of the licensing court here, stating a license was granted to Guichon. This must be an error, as of the four magistrates on the bench, two,—H. Benson and John Kirkland—were in favor, and two—W. H. Ladner and John McKee, Jr.—opposed to granting it. The council cannot issue a license, according to the act, unless a majority of the magistrates are in favor of granting—one, at least—that is the way the act reads to

SIGMA.

[In reference to the above we might say the report of the licensing board was sent us by our regular correspondent at Ladners, who probably did not understand the reading of the act.—ED.]

The Power of Steam.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—"To find the strain upon a high-pressure boiler, 30 ft. long, 6 ft. diameter, having two centre flues, each 2 ft. 3 inches diameter, working at a pressure of 50 lbs. on the square inch, we have only to multiply the number of square feet of surface, 1030, exposed to pressue, by 321, and we have the force of 3319 tons, which such a boiler has to sustain. To go farther, and estimate the pressure at 450 lbs. on the square inch, which a well-constructed boiler of this size will bear before it bursts, and we have the enormous force of 29,871, or nearly 30,000 tons, bottled up within a cylinder 30 feet long and 6 feet diameter." Incessant watchfulness is necessary to look out for impending danger in every public direction, and no steam-engineer, while on duty, should relax his energy, care, caution, watchfulness, decision, and presence of mind for a single moment. Hence the best and leading railroads feel the imperative necessity of placing their engines only in the care of total-abstainers from intoxicating drinks. WM. KENT.

The High School Question Again.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—The tirade of words that appeared in last Saturday's issue of THE COLUMBIAN over the signature of T. J. Trapp must have reminded many of your readers of the oft quoted adage about people whose dwellings are of frail material. Would anyone in his senses overstep the bounds of common decency to the extent that the writer of this scurrilous article did in his attempt to damage the reputation of one of our most talented and respected citizens? I consider, Mr. Editor, that it is very necessary to keep a careful watch on any person that would be capable of deliberately penning such an unprecedented, malicious paragraph as that one in which the writer endeavors to cast heavy reflections on Mr. Stramberg's capacity as a school teacher. In reference to "a letter written by someone and signed by Wm. Ross"—"The public know Mr. Ross and can draw their own conclusions"—I can tell Mr. Trapp that Wm. Ross can write his own letters and if he requires assistance at any time "in that direction," he is not liable to call on T. J. Trapp for that purpose. If the people knew Mr. Trapp as well as Wm. Ross knows him there would be no Trapp in the New Westminster school board today. WILLIAM ROSS.

Daily British Columbian

Tuesday Evening, June 19, 1888.

Yesterday was a red-letter day in the annals of New Westminster. The pioneer lumber vessel—the long expected herald of a new era in the lumbering industry—arrived shortly after 4 o'clock, in tow of the tug Pilot and in charge of Capt. McAllister, and is now lying at the Royal City Planing Mills wharves in this city, loading lumber for the foreign market. In the column report which THE COLUMBIAN gave its readers yesterday, they were duly informed of the particulars of the Camana's arrival at the mouth of the river, the reception given the deputation from this city, on board, by the gallant Capt. Gordon, the triumphant passage of the sandheads and subsequent progress up the noble Fraser, and the ultimate arrival and enthusiastic reception of the fine ship, gay with streamers and flags, at the royal city, the fresh water terminus of the C.P.R. The sandheads bugbear of interested parties was completely demolished, and Capt. Gordon drew some very favorable comparisons between the navigation of the Fraser and that of other navigable rivers by sea-going vessels, particularly in the matter of the ease and rapidity with which the river was ascended, with only one tug, while in other instances cited two or three tugs were required, and worse time made, owing to the force of the currents. It should be remembered, in this connection, that this is the freshet season, and our currents are at the strongest. Eighteen feet of water, low tide, was the shallowest water found by soundings yesterday, and it was easily demonstrated that it would require a much larger vessel than the Camana, drawing 17 feet loaded, to raise the question of the sandheads at all in navigation, even when the improvements, as at present, are uncompleted. A moderate additional outlay at the river mouth will give Westminster the status of one of the first seaports of the world. We congratulate the citizens of Westminster, Capts. Gordon and McAllister, and the enterprising managers of the R. C. P. M. Co., upon this auspicious inauguration of a new era in one of the most important industries of the province.

The Times (Victoria), the other day, in an article on "Lottery Swindles," cites some interesting facts which people who "speculate" much but not wisely would do well to constantly remember. Referring to the action taken by the Hon. Mr. Mercier, premier of Quebec, relative to the suppression of lotteries, as well as the private measures adopted by the Dominion government to suppress the "bucket shop" traffic, the Times very appropriately remarks: "The drain of Canadian capital for foreign lottery swindles is much more serious than most people are aware of. * * * The lottery which now draws so much money from the pockets of our people—and hard-earned money in many instances it is—is the Louisiana lottery, which claims credit for occasionally paying a few prizes in order to keep up its name. All the same it is the most gigantic swindle ever invented." Right you are, friend Times. Our cotemporary adds: "The following is stated to be the plan upon which the lottery is conducted. All the tickets for each drawing are not sold, but a very considerable part of them are. But in case any remain unsold they are the property of the company. The full number of 100,000 tickets participate in each drawing. If in a quarterly drawing, for instance, the tickets have all been sold, the company have received for them $2,000,000 in cash, and after paying the prizes they have nearly $1,000,000 left. If only one half of the tickets have been sold the company have received for them $1,000,000 in cash and still have one half of the tickets left, which participate fully in all chances of the lottery. Prizes drawn by any one of these tickets belong to the company. * * * In short there is no form of gambling where the chances are so terribly against the player and in favor of the bank. For every dollar invested in tickets fifty cents goes permanently into the treasury of the lottery. * * * Yet it is into this gigantic iniquity that thousands of dollars from Victoria and the province of British Columbia are sent yearly. * * * It is believed the managers find in Canada a more fertile field for 'suckers' and 'greenies' than in the United States. * * * For every one who will succeed ninety and ninety-nine hundred will fail in even getting the value of a postage stamp." The Times says that thousands of dollars are sent annually from Victoria to help keep up this colossal legalized fraud. We do not suppose the people of the royal city are any less "enterprising," in proportion, and it may, perhaps, be safe to say that thousands of dollars go out of this city to a foreign land—for which, of course, no equivalent is received—every year. We may be over the mark, but when it is remembered the frequent opportunities given to the "speculative" by these Louisiana "boodlers"—quarterly drawings, 100,000 tickets, at $20 a ticket, and monthly drawings, 100,000 tickets, at $10 a ticket—it can easily be seen what a strong temptation there is for those who have "got on the string" to "drop" an X or a double X every time the occasion offers and their purse will permit. We leave it, however, to the initiated to estimate just how much in round numbers is blown out of the town and into Louisiana every year. If the sum is as large as we suspect, it must prove a serious drain upon our resources. This sort of "speculation" must be the result of thoughtlessness, as it is both unpatriotic and suicidal to the state and certainly very little short of ruinous to the individual. Those who refuse to see the harm of the practice from an ethical standpoint, might, we believe, with a little thought, detect its economical rottenness. Suppose, for example, 100 individuals in a city the size of Westminster to be habitually "speculating" in lottery tickets. On an average they would each probably take, say two $20 and three $10 tickets a year. (If this is too high an estimate the reader will correct to suit himself.) That would be $70 each a year, which, multiplied by 100, would give $7,000. The experience of the initiated will probably bear us out when we say that $1,000 a year is too high a figure to expect in return for the $7,000 outlay. We have an idea, which, if the reader will lend an ear, he can have for just what it cost us: British Columbia is a new and rich country with boundless resources awaiting capital to transmute its latent wealth into gold. Suppose that these 100 individuals aforesaid, instead of "giving themselves away" in the manner described, and enriching the cotton-growers "down south," should put their heads and their spare change together for a year or two, they would have a fund—and a constantly increasing fund—which would enable them to "tackle" almost any legitimate enterprise imaginable, and at the same time prove a constantly increasing source of strength and wealth to the community, instead of a draw-back and a drain, as at present. Of course, the benefit to the "speculators" themselves would be as appreciable as it would be deserved; they would be "running the bank" themselves, and would at least get good interest on their money in almost any home industry it might be invested in, if ordinary prudence were exercised. Such habits, too, would engender an interest in legitimate and reproductive industries, and lead in time to other large and worse than useless disbursements being diverted into the same healthy channel. If we could suppose for a moment that there were not good openings on every hand for surplus capital that now flows out of the country, without the remotest prospect of a quid pro quo being received by anybody, it would be much better, both for the country and the deluded votaries of foreign "boodlers," if the money thus squandered were saved up in a common repository until a large hoard was accumulated, and then, a la the "noble red man," dispensed periodically in a grand cultus potlach. But the authorities have shut down on the poor Indian's hyu cultus potlatch, on the ground that it was demoralizing the unfortunate native; with much stronger reason should they shut down on some of the demoralizing abuses that are playing havoc with the "poor white man." We shall be glad to have suggestions from correspondents relative to establishing a co-operative capitalistic association, with the object of diverting idle and misapplied capital into legitimate and reproductive channels, thus materially aiding in developing the resources of the country, proving a blessing to hundreds of small "capitalists," enabling them to combine their forces to advantage and reap a commensurate reward, and, by the establishing of new industries, and the maintenance of others, to furnish employment to an increased population, which in time, would, of course, react favorably upon the general prosperity. In the event that the foregoing suggestions should not apply in Westminster, for the reason that nobody here "does such things," we would respectfully dedicate these remarks to our Victoria friends, who have already, through one of their leading journals, honestly "acknowledged the corn."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

"It Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles.—E. Bragdon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and, I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, 18 Second st., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe Cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Lizzie M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio. ††

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

OTTAWA, 27th March, 1888.

TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BRITISH COLUMBIA, VICTORIA.

Your Government should issue public notice cautioning persons going on Sealing expeditions to refrain from assertion of their rights by force, and from taking on board arms and ammunition in excess of their usual requirements. The whole matter is engaging the attention of Her Majesty's Government and forms the subject of diplomatic negotiations now in progress. Any intemperate action in the meanwhile would be most detrimental to British Columbian interests and might lead to serious complications and be followed by grave consequences to those concerned.

The Latest Information Regarding the Pigmy Races of Men.

A lecture was given recently at the Royal Institution, London, by Professor Flower, C. B., F. R. S., the Director of the Natural History Departments of the British Museum, on "The Pigmy Races of Men."

Various classical authors—Homer, Herodotus, Aristotle, Ctesias, Pliny and others were cited to show the wide-spread belief in the existence of races of human beings of exceedingly diminutive stature, and to which the name of Pigmy was given.

Extension of knowledge of the natural products of the earth and a more critical spirit on the part of authors led to attempts to explain this belief, and the discovery of races of monkeys, of the doings of which more or less fabulous stories were often reported by travelers, generally sufficed the commentators and naturalists of the last century for this purpose.

Recently acquired information as to the actual condition of the human population of the globe has, however, led to a revision of the ideas upon the subject, and M. de Quatrefages, the eminent professor of anthropology at Paris, has especially carefully examined and collated all the evidence bearing upon the question, and devoted much ingenuity to prove that the two localities in which the ancient authors appear to place their Pigmies, the interior of Africa and the southernmost parts of Asia, and the characters they assign to them indicate an actual knowledge of the existence of the two groups of small people who still inhabit those regions, and whose history formed the subject of the lecture.

The Andaman Islands in the Indian Ocean are inhabited by a race of great interest to the anthropologist. The inhabitants do not cultivate the ground nor keep any domestic animals, but they have a rude kind of hand-made pottery, and make vessels for holding water out of the hollow stems of bamboos; they also make excellent fishing nets and baskets. They are perfect swimmers and divers and expert at managing canoes. Their principal weapon is the bow and arrow, but they also use spears, harpoons, etc. They have no metals, and appear not to know how to produce fire, though they always preserve it carefully as they rarely eat any food which is not cooked. They live chiefly on wild pigs, birds, turtles, fish, wild fruits, roots and seeds, larvæ of insects, and honey, and drink nothing but water.

One of the most distinctive physical features of the Andamanese is their diminutive size. Accurate measurements of a large number have been made, showing that the average height of the men is 4ft. 9in., that of the women 4ft. 6in. The color of their skin is dark, almost black, their hair is exceedingly closely curled or "frizzly," and their heads are of the short round type. The great interest of the Andamanese natives is that they are the only remaining pure specimens of a race of small stature, dark color, and frizzly hair which appear to be the earliest inhabitants of a large part of Southern Asia, including India, Siam, Cochin China, and all the islands of the Indo-Malayan Archipelago—a race to which the name of Negrito has been given.

Passing to the continent of Africa, we find in the southernmost parts well-known Bosjesmen, or Bushmen, exhibiting a very peculiar modification of the Negro type. Their average height is very much the same as that of the Andamanese, and they have the same very crisply curled short black hair, but in many other respects they are widely different.

Separated from them, both geographically and in physical characters, are a peculiar race of very little people called by Hamy Negrillos, who are found living in scattered communities among those of the ordinary full-sized Negroes nearly all across the continent of Africa, within a few degrees of either side of the Equator. Unless these were the real Pygmies of the Greeks, our first knowledge of them is due to Andrew Battell, in his interesting and apparently truthful description of the Loango coast, written in the end of the 16th century. His accounts were corroborated by Du Chaillu, Stanley and others.

To this group of people belong the Akkas, who live a short distance to the right of Lake Albert Nyanza, discovered by Schweinfurth in 1870, and more recently investigated by Emin Pasha, from whose letters some extracts were read by the lecturer. These appeared to be really the smallest race known, full-grown men and women being often not more than 4ft. high.

Though so small in stature they are active and courageous, great hunters of elephants, and use the bow and arrows with the same dexterity as their cousins, the Negritoes of Asia. It is surprising that they have contrived to maintain their independent existence, though probably in gradually diminishing numbers, in the midst of powerful tribes of larger stature; for all the existing evidence points to their being the descendants of the earliest inhabitants of the continent of which we have any knowledge.

Our information about them is, however, at present very scanty, and a fuller investigation into their characters, habits, customs, traditions and language would well repay the labor spent upon it.

A True Lover.

There's a pretty little child up-town, a girl, who has a boy cousin. They are much of an age and they are very fond of each other.

The girl was taken sick a few days ago with the measles. The boy was wildly excited and he went to his mother.

"Please, mamma, Elsie has the measles. I want the measles too."

"What? No, dear."

Then the boy began to cry, and would not be comforted until his mother promised if he was a good boy he should have the measles, and he has been so good, and he has built so much upon having the measles, that they are afraid he'll lose all faith in his mother if they don't let him have them.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Correctly Voiced.

Pretty School Teacher—"James, is 'to kiss' an active or passive verb?"

James (oldest boy in the class)—"Both."

Pretty School Teacher—"How is that, James?"

James—"Active on the part of the feller and passive on the part of the girl."

Pretty school teacher blushes and marks James "perfect" in grammar.—Washington Critic.

Almost a Sure Thing.

New York Mother—"Lulu, didn't I hear that young man kiss you in the hall last night?"

Lulu (shyly)—"Yes, maw."

Mother—"Then he has proposed?"

Lulu—"No, maw, not yet, but I am almost sure he will."

Barnacle.

A Richland Township scholar recently defined the word "barnacle" as "a tramp who sleeps in a barn."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

BISMARCK'S VERSAILLES TABLE.

How the Great Chancellor Made Sure of Getting It.

I heard an anecdote last week of which Prince Bismarck is the hero, which would tend to show that he does not always gain his ends by the blunt, outspoken means he so often adopts.

When the German army was besieging Paris years ago, Prince Bismarck, like the Emperor and the Crown Prince, of course resided in Versailles, and the house he occupied is still pointed out to curious visitors, although its owner has so altered its exterior appearance (it is said from patriotic motives) that Prince Bismarck himself would probably fail to recognize it again.

During his forced occupancy of the dwelling Prince Bismarck is reported to have several times come in collision with its patriotic proprietor.

When the time came for the headquarters to leave Versailles, Prince Bismarck not unnaturally wished to take with him as a historical relic the rosewood writing table on which he had during the occupancy of the house signed so many momentous decrees and made so much history.

So he sent for the proprietor and expressed his wish to purchase the table, which was a very ordinary and inexpensive one, at any reasonable price which might be named. But, not much to the Prince's surprise probably, the proprietor refused to part with the piece of furniture in question. Nor did Bismarck attempt to argue with the man. He merely said, "Very well," and let him go.

But that same night two German soldiers of the Engineer Corps, who chanced to be skilled cabinet makers, were brought to the Chancellor's house, and within twenty-four hours they had made a table so like the original one which the Prince wished to take with him that no merely superficial glance would have disclosed any difference between the two. The sequel can be guessed.

When Prince Bismarck's baggage left Versailles the "Simon pure" table, if I may so term it, was safely packed away with his effects, while the only one left in the embrasure of the bow window of the room the Chancellor had so long occupied was the imitation one that had been made by his orders.

Whether the proprietor of the house detected the fact of the substitution I cannot say, but it is certain that the historical table he refused to sell to the Chancellor is now at Varzin, where it has been duly scheduled among the items that are to be handed down in the Bismarck family as heirlooms.

Mother Swan's Telegraph.

"The very earliest telegraph in America," said great-grandpa, seating himself in his story-spinning chair, and taking Bright Eyes on his knee, "was in active operation in Vermont, while the settlers were doing their best to become actually settled. Mother Swan lived there, in the centre of what is now a flourishing town, but which was then a pathless forest; and, being a widow, was obliged to look out herself for her little garden and live stock.

"Every morning the cows were let out to feed, and went straying away through the woods, and sometimes, by three o'clock, not a tinkle of their bells could be heard. Then Mother Swan's telegraph came into play.

"She had eight children, and these she sent to find the wandering animals; but she did not despatch them together, for then they might easily have become lost in the woods. The youngest child was stationed just far enough from the house for her mother to hear her if she should call; the next in size went only far enough to be able to communicate with the first, and so the line stretched out.

"When the one at the farther end of the line changed his position, in looking for the cows, he shouted directions back to the next station, and so the line moved to left or right, as the case might be, perhaps ending, before the cows were found, in describing a circle about the house, exactly as that might be done by the minute hand of a clock, the log cabin, with the anxious mother, being at the center of the dial.

"At the first tinkle of the cow-bells, 'Found!' cried Number Eight, and 'Found!' repeated Number Seven; and so the news ran along the line, until Mother Swan herself received it. And the little sentinels kept their places until the cows had been collected and driven home, as nearly as might be in the line held by these original telegraph operators."

Cape Cod Folks Abroad.

The story of the Cape Cod youth who spent a week in finding ten cents on the street in Boston, has brought the Listener another story of the Cape Cod boy, who must have been a relative of that one.

He happened to be visiting in Boston, a good while ago, on the Fourth of July, and went out on the Common to see the sights. He returned in an hour or two, looking rather rueful.

"What's the matter, Silas?" he was asked.

"Gosh all hemlocks!" he exclaimed, "this is the most extravagant place I ever see."

"What has happened?"

"Wal, you know that quarter of a dollar you gave me this morning?"

"Yes. Well?"

"Spent it, by hokey, all but twenty-three cents, slap-dash for molasses cake!"—Boston Transcript.

He Got Things Mixed.

An old parish clerk was told to give the following notice:

"On Sunday next the service in this church will be held in the afternoon and on the following Sunday it will be held in the morning and so on alternately until further notice."

What he actually did read was:

"On Sunday next the morning services in this church will be held in the afternoon and on the following Sunday the afternoon service will be held in the morning, and so on to all eternity."

Carbon and Milk.

In spring and early summer milk is apt to have a garlicky or onion-like flavor from some odorous shrub eaten by the cows.

To absorb this peculiar taint drop a piece of wood-charcoal, three or four inches square, into each pan of the fluid, or into the milk-pitcher for table. The carbon very quickly deodorizes the milk, leaving it sweet and pure.

Veils of Hebrew Women.

Among the Hebrew ladies veils were considered of great importance; no respectable woman was without them. But women were not then as closely veiled as they are at present in the East.

There were several kinds of veils. There was one like a light mantle, which was worn in the way our ladies wear a fichu, and, to mention only one other kind, there was a veil fixed to the covering of the head, which fell on to the brow and then was turned backward, while another veil fixed under the eyes was let down to cover the breast.

Perfect Hair

Indicates a natural and healthy condition of the scalp, and of the glands through which nourishment is obtained. When, in consequence of age and disease, the hair becomes weak, thin, and gray, Ayer's Hair Vigor will strengthen it, restore its original color, promote its rapid and vigorous growth, and impart to it the lustre and freshness of youth.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a long time, and am convinced of its value. When I was 17 years of age my hair began to turn gray. I commenced using the Vigor, and was surprised at the good effects it produced. It not only restored the color to my hair, but so stimulated its growth, that I have now more hair than ever before.—J. W. Edwards, Coldwater, Miss.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING from debility and loss of appetite; if your stomach is out of order, or your mind confused; take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine will restore physical force and elasticity to the system, more surely and speedily than any tonic yet discovered.

For six months I suffered from liver and stomach troubles. My food did not nourish me, and I became weak and very much emaciated. I took six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was cured. —J. M. Palmer, Springfield, Mass. ††

Tuesday Evening, June 19, 1888.

The tug Pilot cleared for Victoria this morning.

The Rithet arrived from Victoria about 5:15 to-night.

The str. Gladys left for Chilliwhack to-day with freight and passengers.

The snagboat Sampson, Capt. Grant, returned to the mouth of the river this morning.

What we may expect as a result of the recent rain: a drop in strawberries—off the vine.

There will be a Methodist ice cream social at the Oddfellows' lecture hall to-morrow night.

The Rainbow left for Victoria this morning with a large number of passengers and a good freight.

The str. Irving returned from Chilliwhack this afternoon with a quantity of farm produce and 23 passengers.

The str. Adelaide, which is lying at the C. P. R. wharf, is receiving a coat of paint and being otherwise renovated.

Reports from up-river say the water is falling steadily. At the gauge on the C. P. N. Co.'s wharf last night the water showed a fall of several inches.

The COLUMBIAN tenders thanks to those correspondents in various parts of the province who furnish communications and items, and thus keep their districts before the public.

Yesterday the salmon run was very good but to-day it fell off again, though a fair number of fish were brought in. W. H. Vianen to-day shipped 1500 lbs. to Vancouver and ports east.

The meed of merit for promoting personal comeliness is due to J. C. Ayer & Co., whose Hair Vigor is a universal beautifier of the hair. Harmless, effective, and agreeable, it ranks among the indispensable toilet articles.

Attention is called to the notice in another column to the members of the artillery to return their rifles to the armory for inspection. Those requiring them for shooting practice can take their rifles at any time.

For chronic catarrh, induced by a scrofulous taint, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the true remedy. It stops catarrhal discharges, removes the sickening odor, and never fails to thoroughly eradicate every trace of the disease from the blood. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

Messrs. W. and G. Wolfenden have been appointed sole agents, for Westminster, for the sale of the celebrated Morse's soap. They have imported largely and are now prepared to supply these manufactures, either wholesale or retail.

H. F. McCarty, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, Ottawa, writes: "I was afflicted with Chronic Bronchitis for some years, but have been completely cured by the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in doses of five drops on sugar. I have also pleasure in recommending it as an embrocation for external use.

The "oldest inhabitant" is credited with having discovered an infallible indication of the commencement of settled summer weather—"Crutchy's" annual hegira from "Port" Douglas to Westminster. This auspicious event occurred the other day, and fine weather is in order now.

We have been requested by Mr. W. H. Falding, registrar of the supreme court, to correct the statement, made in Saturday's issue of the News-Advertiser to the effect that two of Mr. Falding's brothers had been drowned in the Ottawa river. The boys drowned were nephews of Mr. Falding, and the careless and incorrect statement made by the News has occasioned him much trouble and anxiety.

Mr. W. R. King, architect, of this city, has received instructions from Mr. Sheriff Armstrong to prepare designs, etc., for two new brick stores to adjoin the present Armstrong block on Columbia street. In erecting these new buildings Mr. Armstrong shows his appreciation of the fact that Westminster still requires many fine substantial buildings and we hope his enterprise will be amply rewarded.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Is it so?

The following paragraph, purporting to have been telegraphed from this city, appeared in the latest number of the Ottawa Citizen to hand:

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., June 8.—Mr. Dewdney has been offered the constituency of Westminster district by acclamation, if he is given a portfolio in the cabinet. It is understood that Mr. Chisholm, the present member, will be appointed to the senate.

The Arrival Celebrated.

Last evening after the arrival of the Camana, Mayor Dickinson invited Capt. Gordon, Mr. Parker, chief officer, Capt. McAllister, Capt. Worrall, Capt. Christianson, Mr. Townsend and a number of other gentlemen to the Club, where a very pleasant hour was spent. A number of healths were drunk and responded to, and the prosperity and increasing business of the port were toasted right heartily.

To Have a Trained Secretary.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms last evening to consider the resignation of the present secretary, Mr. F. R. Robinson, which was accepted after a long discussion. It was decided to secure the services of a trained secretary from the Y. M. C. A. training school at Springfield, Mass., and the meeting adjourned after passing a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Robinson for the able manner in which he has performed his duties.

The New Lumber Company.

Mr. W. H. Higgins has returned from a visit to Puget Sound, where he went for the purpose of inspecting the large sawmills located there. All the latest mill machinery was inspected, and Mr. Higgins was fortunate to secure much information that will prove of great value to him in the erection and fitting up of the new Ross & McLaren mill. The erection of the mill will commence as soon as the plans designed by Mr. Higgins are approved of by the gentlemen who are establishing the company. It is understood Messrs. Ross & McLaren will build a fine large tug suitable for towing the heaviest vessels, thus doing away with the vexatious delays caused by dependence on the towing companies.

Port Moody School Meeting.

The annual meeting of Port Moody school district was held in the school house on Monday, June 18th. W. Elson, secretary of the board of trustees, called the meeting to order, when the voters present elected Mr. H. Elliott chairman and J. W. McRae secretary. The trustees' report was read by Mr. Elson, when it was moved by A. Annand; seconded by J. Tays, that the report be received and adopted.—Carried. Mr. R. Inglis was then elected trustee in place of Mr. J. A. Clarke, whose time expired. Mr. S. Lehman was elected to fill the vacancy occurring by Mr. Geo. Annand having removed from the district. No other nomination up to the hour of closing, the chairman declared the above duly elected.

Shipping Notes.

The crew of the Camana commenced work this morning trimming the ballast preparatory to taking in cargo. The Royal City Mills have erected a bridge on the new wharf, by which lumber leaving the saws will be rolled directly into the vessel, thus saving much unnecessary handling. Stevedore York has everything in readiness for stowing away the cargo, and it is expected this work will begin at noon to-morrow. By the ease and convenience with which the ship can be loaded it is thought the whole cargo will be aboard and the ship ready for sea in fifteen days. If this can be accomplished it will be the most rapid loading done on the coast. This record the Royal City Mills intend starting with and will keep it up in each succeeding case.

Capt. Gordon Promoted.

Capt. Gordon was somewhat taken by suprise last night on his arrival in port to find that he had been displaced from the command of the Camana and ordered home, Capt. Worrall having arrived to succeed him. Many regrets were expressed on all sides when the news leaked out but the regrets soon vanished when it was further learned that Capt. Gordon was ordered home to take the command of a fine four-masted ship just completed by Nicholson & McGill, of Liverpool. Capt. Gordon will remain in charge of the Camana till she is ready for sea, when Capt. Worrall will assume control of her. We congratulate Capt. Gordon on his promotion and trust his voyages will be as fortunate and smooth in the future as they have been in the past.

From Cariboo.

Sergt. Lindsay, the well-known registrar of Cariboo, is in the city visiting his many old-time friends. Mr. Lindsay reports dull times in the Cariboo country at present, but is satisfied that once the chlorinization works are established the whole district will experience a boom such as never reached it, even in its palmiest days. Many very rich gold-bearing quartz ledges are being developed, but lack of the necessary machinery for separating the gold has proved a serious barrier in the way of extensive operations. With the completion of the works about to be erected by the government it is thought all obstacles to the rapid development of the mines will be removed and then a new edition of the good old times of Cariboo may be expected. Placer mining is very good on some creeks. Mr. Lindsay came to the city seeking to better his health, which has not been very robust for some months. We are glad to to say he has already found the climate beneficial to him and he is feeling much better. After concluding his visit in Westminster Mr. Lindsay will go to Victoria.

Langley Notes.

A correspondent thus facetiously describes the annual school meeting at Langley Prairie: "The annual meeting of the Prairie school district was held Monday, June 18th, and the seige of Derry was fought in the ancient style. All the army was called out in full blast; the principal gunners were McKee and Smith; drum major, Larmon; J. K. Nelson, minister of war. The army consists of the 42nd Highlanders and the light dragoons. There were a few vollies fired between the gunners, which resulted in the promotion of Capt. R. MacInnes to minister of war, in the room of Nelson, who is rather too old to stand the fighting. Aide-de-camp Culvert retreated at the sound of the cannon, and that is all killed, missing and wounded. The generals propose to fight the battle of Trafalgar one year from date."

Our correspondent adds a small item, to which, of course we cannot see the point, but we suppose the "red-headed batchelor" in question will, and the "pleasant look" on his bucolic visage will probably change to one of sour displeasure. The item reads: "It makes quite a pleasant look on a red-headed batchelor to hold a fine two-year-old curly-headed child up on his arm, don't it, eh?" We should imagine that it would.

On motion of Ald. Elliott the real estate bylaw was reconsidered and finally passed.

On motion, the railway debenture tax was struck off as the tax is no longer necessary.

Council adjourned till next Monday night.

Late Canadian News.

CORNWALL, June 13.—As the steamer Corinthian entered the Long Sault rapids at Dickinson's Landing at noon a man leaped from the upper deck and was drowned. His coat and other things were found on the deck. It was found that his wife was on board and they were bound for Paris on a pleasure trip. They resided in Toronto. No cause can be learned for the rash act.

MONTREAL, June 16.—The Frenchmen are incensed because the flag is at half-mast over the French consulate.

Jottings From Agassiz.

The moist weather we are having, coming after the dry spell, is bringing forward the crops at a rapid rate, and present indications point to this neighborhood fully keeping up its reputation for abundant yield.

The Harrison is higher than it has yet been this year. The hot springs road is flooded in some places, and the stage had a narrow escape while attempting to cross a floating corduroy on Friday night. It is now impossible to reach the springs with teams, part of the trip having to be made in boats.

The ranks of the benedicts here have suffered from desertion in the shape of our enterprising neighbor, Mr. Duncan Robertson, who was recently married to Miss McEwen. It is to be hoped the good example will be followed by others.

We were glad to note the arrival here of Messrs. Turner and Sprott to report upon the road requirements in this neighborhood. The settlers are pleased to know the government has not forgotten them; in truth we have been badly neglected in the past, the hot springs road being the only piece of work ever attempted in this vicinity, while people living in the neighborhood of Mr. Free's at one end of the valley, and Maria Island at the other, are completely isolated from the station. Mr. Turner, however, is the right man in the right place, and we are sure that if his report is acted upon there will be no cause for complaint in the future.

Residents here were a good deal exercised over an article in your paper of a late date, relating to "Sea Bird" Island and the Indians; the name of this island is Maria Island, and lies between this station and Sea Bird bluffs. It is about six miles long, with the railway running through the centre of it. It is said that it was reserved for the Yale Indians, provided they settled upon it within a certain time, which they failed to do, although frequently advised to do so by the R. C. clergy. In 1885 a few of them took the advice, in so far as to put in a few potatoes "among the logs," which they never dug out, and did not return until this spring, when some 20 of them came down and made another feeble attempt at cultivation, living in tents. It might be said to be a remarkable coincidence that Mr. P. McTiernan, Indian agent, should come upon the scene, about a week after their arrival, to take stock in the inhabitants of the island.

There has never been but one family living upon this island; it consists of three persons, and does not belong to the tribe for whom it was reserved; the whole amount of land cultivated upon this large island does not exceed 3 acres, and people are justly incensed to think that sharp practices are resorted to in order to keep the large tract of magnificent land in a state of primeval wilderness, when it might afford homes for scores of white families, who would contribute their quota to the support and well being of the province.—COM.

Mr. Alex. Robinson, of Exeter, in writing about one of the most popular articles, and one that has done more good to the afflicted than any other medicine has during the short time it has been in existence, says: I have used four bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and have been cured of Dyspepsia that troubled me for over ten years. Part of that time I had it very bad, and was at considerable expense trying to get relief; but this excellent remedy was the first and only relief I received."

Maple Ridge Council.

The sixth regular meeting of the Maple Ridge council was held on Saturday June 2nd. All the councillors were present with the exception of Councillor Haney. Minutes of last meeting read and received. Communications were received from the secretary of the New Era Lodge, I.O.G.T., in reference to the granting of beer licences; J. Mighton, petition for road; Brunette Sawmill Co.; and petitions from Ritchie & W. Dell and John Lormbath. Account from J. W. White for repairs to town hall. Moved and carried that this council do not intend to grant any "Beer Licences." Petition of J. Mighton referred to the board of works moved, seconded and carried that $25 be granted as requested by Ritchie & Dell and $75 to build a road in J.J. Annouss Brat. The revenue by-law received its third reading. Moved that resident tax payers be allowed to work half their real estate tax out on roads. Notice of motion to gazette the road between Jas. Robertson and John Elliot; also, that the two scrapers be under the jurisdiction of the two different boards of works, and that said scrapers be used on no other than public works. The board of works for township No. 9 were instructed to sell the rope in possession of Pathmaster Callighan and the board of works for No. 12 to sell timber on section line, commencing at the southwest corner of section 16; also that the collector be instructed to state in all trade licenses that he may issue after this date that no business is allowed to be transacted on Sundays. The sum of $100 was granted to open up road on section No. 16. The board of works were authorized to have the sum of $600 expended on the Lillooet road. Council then adjourned.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion is occasioned by the want of action in the biliary ducts, loss of vitality in the stomach to secrete the gastric juices, without which digestion cannot go on; also, being the principal cause of Headache. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills taken before going to bed, for a while, never fail to give relief and effect a cure. Mr. F. W. Ashdown, Ashdown, Ont., writes: "Parmelee's Pills are taking the lead against ten other makes which I have in stock."
