NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An exchange says: There has been a great revival of preaching in the Church of England pulpits during recent years. Dean Hole, of Rochester, is one of the most successful and powerful preachers of the church. When preaching in a strange country church on a dark Sunday afternoon the light failed him and compelled him to discard his manuscript. From that time his fame as a preacher began to spread and he is found to be most attractive to men, especially to all grades of the middle class. Alone of any preacher he has been able to fill St. Nicholas, Liverpool, during the week in which he preaches daily to business men. Dean Hole was formerly one of the staff of Punch and was the only clergyman who attended the famous weekly dinners of that periodical.

We continually meet with more or less veiled statements to the effect that Christianity is dying out—allusions, in a "taken for granted" style, to "almost universal scepticism" and so forth. Now if these things are so, how does it happen that Col. Robert Ingersoll, as a man of acknowledged ability, especially as a platform speaker, a man of unchallenged morality and uprightness—but an infidel; how does it happen that this man, solely because of his declared and aggressive infidelity, is rejected by the republican managers as a campaign speaker, on the plea that his official connection would be disastrous, when lots of men, not nearly so able, not nearly so respectable, socially and morally, and probably not a bit more religious, are welcomed? If scepticism is anything like as widespread as some would have us believe, it does not appear to have much of the courage of its convictions, when it comes to a test of popularity.

The English newspapers in all localities have republished Mrs. Cleveland's social ukase against the bustle, and some fashion periodicals also, all approvingly, but corsets still have advocates. The great British Association has been in session at Bath, once the most famous watering place known to fashion. The other day the association listened to a paper by the professor of pathology at Cambridge and his administrator of pathology in which a decided opinion was advanced and maintained by illustration and precedents that "the slight pressure involved in wearing stays has a beneficial effect, and reasonable lacing increases mental and physical activity." Several medical gentlemen attacked these views, but they were most vigorously upheld by Miss Lydia Barker, who said: "A moderate degree of tight lacing conduces to a woman's comfort and improves her appearance." Like the bustle, the much maligned corset has developed more uses than the mere ornate; stopping bullets is its latest forte, according to the despatches—a very useful quality now-a-days, when the ardent lover, instead of "suiciding" or "plugging" his rival, invariably shoots the object of his affections.

Fiber and Fabric says: It is noticeable that wool is continually growing in popularity as an article of clothing, to the disadvantage of linen, cotton and other vegetable fibers, which are more ornamental fabrics than thirty years ago, when linen suits for men and women were almost universally worn during the hot summer months. Now a suit of this kind would be a curiosity. We still, however, see linen dusters worn by travelling men and women, but they are simply worn as dusters, and do not displace any article of woolen clothing. For some years back, soft woolens have been almost universally worn by ladies as dress goods, and the change from this to other fabrics of woolen material, made of the combing process out of our best merino wools, mohair or alpaca. Woolen stockings and woolen mixed with cotton for underclothing are far more common now than in the past, and it is making rapid strides to popular favor each year. Knit underclothing is rapidly taking the place of that made from flannel goods in the years gone by. Knit goods are much better adapted to fit the human figure and for washing than the old time flannel-made garment. Any accidental felting is hidden in the knit fabrics that would ruin underwear out from flannels.

Canker humors of every description, whether in the mouth, throat, or stomach, are expelled from the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. No other remedy can compare with this, as a cure for all diseases originating in impure or impoverished blood.

COMMENTS ON MERCIER.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Mr. Mercier's agitation is still under discussion in the English press. To-day's comments present no new feature of special interest, but the St. James Gazette points out that the incident is an illustration of what might be expected over again from any Dublin ministry with Mr. Parnell for premier, which had a chance of working the Downing Street cabinet. It also declares the retrograde policy of Quebec extremely hurtful to the whole Dominion. All the progress that Canada has made has been in spite of the hindrances thrown in the way by Quebec home rule. It attacks French-Canadians for their readiness to barter their votes to any party who is prepared to bid for them.

LONDON NOTES.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—The Rome correspondent of the Chronicle says that Manager Persico's reports to the Vatican have succeeded in allaying the intensity of the Nationalist agitation.

The recent disaffection between the tories and unionists had greatly raised the hopes of the liberals that they were the precursors of a complete disruption of the coalition in the very near future. But these hopes were dispelled by the Unionist conference held at Bradford to-day. The fact that Mr. Chamberlain dominated the conference adds greatly to the importance of the resolutions adopted, pledging the party to sink all minor disputes and defer indefinitely the consideration of questions not immediately urgent and support the government until the home rule question had collapsed, or in other words, until Mr. Gladstone should die. These resolutions show the hand of the unionists, and in a manner more open than on any previous vote or declaration of the leaders of that party, and confirm the already strong belief that the unionists are anti-home rulers only because the liberal leader is for it.

The inquest on the body of the woman found murdered in Whitechapel was resumed to-day. The evidence confirmed the theory that the murderer is a skilled anatomist. It was shown that certain organs of the murdered woman were removed in a way that no one but an expert could have done it, and the theory that the murder was committed by an insane surgeon finds many believers.

GALESBURG, Ills., Sept. 20.—A collision occurred early this morning during a fog, on Burlington & Quincy road, between a passenger and freight train. The engineer of the former was killed. Two tramps on the freight were also killed.

LAID ON THE TABLE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The order reported yesterday by Edmunds from the committee on foreign relations, directing the retention of the Chinese exclusion bill, was taken up. Edmunds said that as the bill had gone out of the possession of the senate, and the order was not applicable to the present state of the case, therefore, so far as he was concerned, the resolution might be laid on the table. The presiding officer Ingalls, said, "If there is no objection the resolution will lie on the table as ordered."

A CRACKED CYLINDER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The navy department has been informed that one of the intermediate cylinders designed for the cruiser Baltimore has been found to be cracked and will have to be replaced. It was made for the cramps by the Southwark foundry at Philadelphia. This will probably not delay the completion of the vessel, and will have no effect upon the launching which will take place next Saturday.

FLEEING FROM FEVER.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 20.—Ten new cases of yellow fever have developed to-day at Decatur, Ala. A regular stampede from the city is in progress

ORDERS FOR SEA.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The commander of the cruiser Boston has received orders that the vessel be ready for sea within ten days. It is said that her destination is the coast of Central America. This is looked upon as significant coming almost simultaneously with appearance of the secretary of treasury's order in regard to the discrimination made against the United States vessels by the government of Costa Rica. This order commands all officers of the customs to see to it that all cargoes of Costa Rican vessels entering United States ports be subjected to the discrimination duties levied by the act of March 3rd, 1883, in view of Costa Rica allowing all vessels other than those of the United States trading between Costa Rica and United States ports a rebate of 5 per cent. of customs dues and certain privileges as to port charges.

MILLS OF THE BILL ILL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Congressman Mills is ill at the Clarendon Hotel in this city but his condition is not serious.

FOOD FOR THE DESTITUTE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Major Hewitt to-day received a dispatch from James M. Schumacher, chairman of the finance relief committee at Jacksonville, stating that the committee were assisting McCleny and Hendersonville and were watching and keeping advised about other places that may need assistance. The committee, he said, were supplying food to twelve thousand people.

THE CHINESE BILL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—In the house to-day Morrow of California offered a resolution directing the committee on enrolled bills to transmit the Chinese bill to the president forthwith. A point of order was raised against Morrow's resolution and the debate upon the points has been spirited and at times almost bitterly personal.

RELIEF FUND.

SAN DIEGO, Cala., Sept. 20.—The evening Sun has started a subscription fund for the benefit of the Florida yellow fever sufferers.

THE CUBAN CYCLONE.

HANANA, Sept. 20.—The total number of deaths caused by the recent cyclone throughout the inland is estimated at upward of 1,000. At Cardenas property was destroyed or damaged to the extent of $100,000, and the deaths numbered 100. The greater part of the fatalities occurred along the coast at Citrin and Matanzas. A letter from Sagua says that the losses in that district amount to $600,000 and the deaths number several hundred.

NINETEEN CASES.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Only 19 new cases are reported up to noon to-day, and three deaths. The weather continues fine.

THE GREAT JOHN L.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—At 9 o'clock this morning John L. Sullivan was resting easily, but his condition is unchanged. He passed a restless night and did not begin to sleep soundly until 6 a. m. Yesterday afternoon it was thought he was dying. He had a chill and his hands and feet became cold and his breath very quick. About 10 o'clock he felt better. His physicians think he will be all right again within 6 or 7 weeks. Sullivan's stomach now retains food, and he takes extract of beef every four hours. The patient has good courage and at times laughs and jokes. When well enough he will be taken to the hot springs in Arkansas or perhaps to Texas or Mexico.

SULLIVAN WORSE.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—At 2 p. m. the physicians stated Sullivan to be worse, and it is believed from what can be learned from others he is now dangerously ill.

NORTHERN PACIFIC ANNUAL MEETING.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—At the annual meeting of the Northern Pacific directors, to-day, Thos. F. Oakes was elected president in the place of Robt. Harris, and August Belmont was succeeded by John C. Bullitt as member of the board of directors. Henry Villard and the rest of the directors were re-elected. Harris, who retires from the presidency, will act as chairman of the board of trustees. The following were also elected: Vice-president, Jas. B. Williams; treasurer, George S. Baxter; secretary, S. Wilkenson.

REPORTED DEATH.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Advices from Tashkend state it is reported that the Ameer of Afghanistan died suddenly.

THE SEIZED SEALERS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—Information has been received here that Marshal Atkins, of Alaska, now at Seattle, W. T., in charge of the Canadian sealers seized in Behring Sea last year, has received instructions from Attorney-General Garland to transfer the custody of the schooners to the marshal of Washington Territory. It is thought the vessels will be turned over to the owners shortly, under bonds, pending the decision of the supreme court of the United States in reference to the claim of the Alaska Commercial Co. to a monopoly of the privileges in Behring Sea.

Daily British Columbian

Thursday Evening, Sept. 20, 1888.

If Shakespeare, alias Bacon, were alive, he would still be able to place the "law's delays" in a catalogue of the provocations to self-destruction. The ponderous machinery of the Parnell commission has just got into position, got thoroughly lubricated for action, and after a preliminary turn, has closed for repairs until the 22nd of October next—over a month, as the commission met on Monday last. This long adjournment was probably "correct form," and perhaps is rendered necessary from the fact that some more preparation is required to get the vast amount of evidence in shape. A branch commission, too, will have to be sent to America to scrape up material over here bearing on the case, and the judges will want to take a good long breath before settling down to what promises to be a lengthy, tedious, and costly investigation. At the opening of the commission the other day in the probate court, it is said the room was crowded, a noticeable feature—showing the great public interest in which the case is held both in England and America—being the presence of 200 reporters and correspondents, representing London and provincial and American newspapers. The commission is composed of three judges, Sir James Hannen, Sir Archibald Levin Smith, and Sit John Day. Sir Charles Russell, M. P., and Mr. H. H. Asquith appeared for the Parnellites, while Councillor Rugg, who conducted the O'Donnell case against the Times, watched the proceedings for O'Donnell. Mr. Graham was retained, with Sir Charles Webster, attorney-general, for the Times. Judge Hannen said the commission was instructed to enquire into and report on the charges which had been made against members of parliament and other persons connected with the Times-O'Donnell libel action. The enquiry would proceed in accordance with the rules of ordinary courts. Sir Charles Russell, on being asked for whom he appeared, replied, "For eighty-four Irish members of Parliament." This gifted counsel scored one for his clients early in the game. He demanded, on behalf of Mr. Parnell and others, that he be permitted to inspect all letters and photographs, also that he have the power to discover the documents in the hands of the Times' attorneys. He wished to inspect all the letters and documents that were referred to in the Times' articles on "Parnellism and Crime." The Times' attorneys objected to an order giving such full privileges. Judge Hannen said that he understood that the Times would produce all letters and documents affecting Parnell and others. If the parties in the case could not agree on this matter the commission would deal with the disputed points in chambers afterwards. Mr. Graham then opened the Times' case, but was interrupted by Sir Charles Russell, who insisted that the case should not proceed until the commission had decided upon the question regarding the production of all documents bearing on the case now in possession of the Times. The judges then adjourned to their chambers to consider the question, and decided that the details of the charges made against the persons accused by the Times ought to be given up. The commission, said Judge Hannen, was determined to enter thoroughly into the inquiry and to follow it out to the end. Sir Charles Russell, on behalf of the Parnellites, also asked for the release of Dillon from jail, so that he might give evidence before the commission, and for the appointment of a commission to take evidence in the United States. In demanding the production of all letters and documents, Sir Charles stated that he wanted to know in plain language if the Times charges Parnell or his associates with complication in the park murders. Graham, for the Times, replied that the Times would produce evidence to substantiate all of the charges it had made in the article on "Parnellism and Crime." The Times' counsel made no objections to Dillon's release on bail, and an order of court was made accordingly. He said that the two persons now in penal servitude for connection with the Phœnix Park murders would all have to be brought before the commission, as well as the evidence of certain persons in the United States. After the order had been made for inspection of the banker's books containing the accounts of the National League, the commission adjourned until October 22nd. England and America at least will watch the progress of this famous inquisition with absorbing interest, and we believe the general hope is that the "uncrowned king" and his associates may be able to demonstrate their innocence.

Jas. Shannon, Lesakdale, writes: For many years my wife was troubled with chilblains, and could get no relief until about two years ago she was then not able to walk, and the pain was then so excruciating that she could not sleep at night. Your agent was then on his regular trip, and she asked him if he could cure her. He told her Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil was a sure cure. She tried it, and judge of her astonishment when in a few days the pain was all allayed and the foot restored to its natural condition. It is also the best remedy for burns and bruises I ever used.

The rather severe, but perhaps merited, criticism of Alderman Humphries by the News of yesterday raises the question whether or not it is the privilege of public newspapers to criticise the public acts of public servants, or whether their high position forbids any criticism at all. People occupying public positions will most probably subscribe an unanimous "amen" to the latter proposition; but it will be generally admitted, we think, that public journals are considered not only at liberty, but in duty bound to notice the acts of such servants of the public, either to approve or disapprove; but it is also to be understood that nothing but fair and just criticism should be tolerated. The object of such criticism should be to correct and restrain any undue conduct in our public men. The News proposes three modes of action with recalcitrant and remiss public servants, viz., to elevate them to a higher standard; to lower others to their standard; or to squelch them. The first or last might improve the situation, but the second is rather objectionable in this age of progress. The down grade is too well patronized already: better try and elevate. It might be possible where and when an alderman would be justified in quitting his chair, to prevent a rash measure from passing, which would give an opportunity to consider the question by means of public opinion; but such an alternative would show that there was only one wise man in the assembled council, and in that case it might be better to "squelch" the majority. Representative bodies are not always possessed of all the wisdom nor the virtue of the community. Instances have occurred which would go to prove the very contrary. That ill-fared word "boodle" that has found its way into the English vocabulary may yet be the means of so corrupting representative bodies that Mr. Humphries' tactics will be the only means of checking bad legislation. We are not acquainted with the circumstances, and don't presume to say whether the Vancouver alderman was justified in quitting his chair, as is alleged. Our own city fathers sometimes absent themselves, for reasons best known to themselves, and even when present play up some queer pranks. It may be all for the best, but it don't look business-like, and seems to be trifling with important questions. Of course they get nothing but empty honors for their pay, but, having sought and obtained the position of trustees of important public interests, they must be held responsible for an honest and intelligent performance of the high duties appertaining. The best way to correct a refractory or unprofitable servant is to dismiss him at once. If he is not faithful in little things he will be still worse in greater matters. There must be perfect confidence or no union. Better cut off a finger than have it "aye wagging."

TUESDAY, 23rd OCTOBER

AT 11 O'CLOCK, A. M.

I have been instructed by the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works to sell by Auction

AT VANCOUVER, B. C.

Several parcels of fine agricultural lands, situate on or near the North Arm of Fraser River, being sub-divisions of Lots 325, 326, 329, 330, 331, 332 to 330, 149, 150, 156, 175, 166, 155. The subdivisions of these Lots contain from 27 to 172 acres each; the location of these lots is shown on the present maps of the District.

The farms in the immediate vicinity of these Lots are considered the finest agricultural properties in British Columbia. Some of the lots front on the North Arm, and others are in the immediate vicinity of the same.

Steamers run daily from New Westminster and Vancouver, past these valuable properties.

ALSO,

Lots 628 to 670, and Lots 750 to 756.

All situate between the North Arm of Fraser River and Vancouver City. The North Arm Road from Vancouver runs through these Lots, and there are other roads laid out that will give access to each of them. This property commences about 2¼ miles south of Vancouver City and is bounded on the west by the C. P. Railway Land Grant, and is surveyed into lots containing from 6 to 50 acres each, maps of which will shortly be ready for distribution.

All the lands to be sold are well adapted for agricultural, dairy or orchard purposes, and on account of their close proximity to the markets of Vancouver and New Westminster cities, will be desirable properties for families seeking a home or for investment.

The C. P. Railway are now constructing a fine wagon road from Vancouver to the North Arm of Fraser River and Lulu Island. They are also surveying a line of railway through these properties with a view of connecting with the United States system of railways at Seattle.

These lands may fairly be considered as the most valuable ever offered for sale by auction in British Columbia.

se19td AUCTIONEER.

A Creaking Hinge

Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Fream, Independence, Va. ††

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

UNHEEDED GIFTS.

The placed rare lilies in her hands,
Poor hands that scarce had touched a flower.
And creamy rosebuds, whose perfume
Embalmed her for her funeral hour.

They wrapped her form in lustrous silk,
And draped small folds of filmy lace
About the slender pulseless wrists,
And underneath the patient face.

At last she lay in perfect rest;
While voices, late so slow to praise,
Rehearsed her many virtues o'er,
And spoke of all her pleasant ways.

The sleeper heeded not the wealth
Of bloom that lay on either hand;
And not a word of love or loss
Her sealed ears could understand.

Strange, we so often keep the flowers
Of love in folded hands at last;
And little luxuries of life
Withhold, till care for them is past.

Strange that we do not oftener praise
The living today by our side
Why reach the full-blown flower of love
Until our friend we loved has died?
—Good Housekeeping.

A JAPANESE TEMPLE AND BELL.

This a Marvel of Sweet Tone as Well as of Colossal Size.

If I were a good Buddhist I would say a prayer or two to the Chioin bell, the largest in Japan, but a monster breathing sweet music that thrills one from head to foot, and ringing so seldom that the dates are kept in mind carefully, lest one miss the great treat.

The bell hangs in a shady little place at the top of a stone staircase by itself, and is struck from the outside by a swinging beam that gives the soft reverberations, that do not jar on the ear no matter how powerful they are.

When the huge beam is unchained and swung it is generally at the time of the five-o'clock mass in the morning, and many worshippers have been unconscious of the musical booming and missed it all. Others are wakened by the strange vibration and the soft music and pulsating on the air, and in the half consciousness of waking it seems like part of some beautiful dream.

It is the greatest pity that with such a magnificent bell the temple does not see fit to ring it oftener.

The Chioin is a rich temple, and its altar one of the most gorgeous in Kioto, a mass of carved and gilded ornaments surrounding a massive gilded shrine.

Occasional worshippers come and kneel on the mats and mutter their prayers, but most often one finds the only occupant of the space is a lone old priest industriously hammering away at a modern drum shaped like a huge round sleighbell. From five o'clock in the morning until the temple closes at four in the afternoon the thunk, thunk keeps up.

A nice old woman, who must be a professional mender, from the incessant patching and darning of blue cotton garments that she keeps up, takes care of the shoes while one roams the temple stocking-footed, but she does not offer to mend the foreign stockings worn out on matted and polished wood floors.—Globe.

A HORSEY DOMINIE.

Why the Great Kentucky Senator Thinks a Great Deal of Him.

Senator Beck has among his friends a Presbyterian clergyman who lives in the northern part of New York and who is an excellent judge of horse-flesh.

"I shall never forget," said Beck the other day, "our first meeting. It was at a planter's, near Lexington, who raises some very fine colts every year.

"Accompanied by our host we took a stroll one morning among the barns and stables and looked at the stock, when presently a couple of colts, six weeks old, were brought out for our inspection, by one of the stable boys.

"'Those are Morgan colts,' said the clergyman.

"'Why,' I exclaimed in surprise and overjoyed at finding a man of the cloth who seemed to know something about horses, 'do you know a Morgan colt when you see it?'

"'Certainly,' said the clergyman promptly, 'or an Eclipse colt, for that matter.'

"Well," continued Beck, "it was the first time I had ever met a minister who knew a Morgan horse or any other at sight; and we have been fast friends ever since.

"Why, sir," added Beck in a burst of enthusiasm and admiration for his friend's knowledge of horse-flesh; "that man could hitch a colt to any church in Kentucky."

SHEEP SHEARING BY MACHINERY.

An Improvement First Introduced in Australia.

The process of sheep shearing by machinery is now performed in Australia by an ingenious kind of device, the results, as represented, being very satisfactory.

The apparatus in question is a very simple one, being made on the same principle as the cutter of a mower or reaper, and the knives are worked by means of rods within the handles, these in their turn being moved by a core within a long flexible tube, which is kept in a rotary shaft, and wheels driven by a stationary engine. The comb is in the form of a segment of a circle, about three inches in diameter, with eleven conical-shaped teeth.

Each machine is worked by a shearer, and, as the comb is forced along the skin of the animal, the fleece is cut.

The machine can be run either with a steam or gas engine, or by ordinary horse power, and does not easily get out of order.

Grotesque Goose Story.

"When I was in Alabama, between Porter's Gap and Millerville," said a gentleman living in Atlanta, "I came to a country place where a man was driving ten or twelve geese from a branch toward a cotton patch.

"'For Heaven's sake,' said I, 'what is it you have on the necks of those geese?'

"'Those are gourds, full of water. I drive these geese into that cotton patch and keep them there all day weeding out the cotton. There is no water in the cotton patch, and I have to give them water in this way to keep them there.'

"'But how do they get the water out of those gourds under their necks?'

"'They drink out of each other's gourds. Each gourd has an opening in the side so that another goose can put his bill into the gourd and drink. If you will stay here long enough you will see it yourself.'

"I waited there half a day to see that performance, and finally I saw it. The geese did just as the man said they would. When a goose got thirsty he walked up to his neighbor and coolly drank out of the gourd on his neck."—Atlanta Journal.

The Reaction Came First.

"How is your employer, Sambo? I heard he had a bad fall."

"Yes, sah, but he's sufferin' most from de reaction before he fell, sah."

"Oh, the reaction came first, did it?"

"Yes, sah, de mule kicked him ober."

KISSES ON INTEREST.

A Father's Beautiful Counsel to his Daughter.

A father talking to his careless daughter, said:

"I want to speak to you of your mother. It may be that you have noticed a careworn look upon her face lately. Of course it has not been brought there by any action of yours, still it is your duty to chase it away.

"I want you to get up to-morrow morning and get breakfast, and when your mother comes and begins to express her surprise, go right up to her and kiss her on the mouth. You can't imagine how it will brighten her dear face. Besides you owe her a kiss or two.

"Away back when you were a little girl, she kissed you when no one else was tempted by your fever-tainted breath and swollen face. You were not as attractive then as you are now. And through those years of childish sunshine and shadows she was always ready to cure, by the magic of a mother's kiss, the little, dirty, chubby hands whichever they were injured in those first skirmishes with the rough old world. And then the midnight kiss with which she routed so many bad dreams, as she leaned over your restless pillow, have all been on interest these long, long years.

"Of course, she is not so pretty and kissable as you are; but if you had done your share of work during the last ten years the contrast would not be so marked. Her face has more wrinkles than yours, far more, and if you were sick that face would appear more beautiful than an angel's as it hovered over you, watching every opportunity to minister to your comfort, and every one of those wrinkles would seem to you to be bright wavelets of sunshine chasing each other over the dear face.

"She will leave you one of these days. These burdens, if not lifted from her shoulders, will break her down. Those rough, hard hands, that have done so many necessary things for you will be crossed upon her lifeless breast. Those neglected lips that gave you your first baby kiss will be forever closed, and those sad, tired eyes will have opened in eternity, and then you will appreciate your mother; but it will be too late."

"HOME, SWEET HOME."

"The Sweet Power of Music."

The little city of Dalton, in North Georgia, has a tradition about John Howard Payne.

When the Cherokees were corralled for exportation from North Georgia and East Tennessee to what is now Indian Territory, Payne was one of the whites at the frontier settlement of Cross Plains, located where Dalton now stands. Many of the Indians, loath to leave the homes of their childhood and of their tribe for generations, tried very ingenious methods of dodging the officers. Payne several times shielded them.

Complaint was made against him, a warrant was issued, and he was arrested afterward by Sheriff Gen. Underwood, at the home of old John Ross, hereditary chief of the Cherokees, whose log cabin still stands in the now suburbs of Chattanooga.

Payne, evidently with the thoughts of the homeless Indians in his mind, began to sing the first stanza of his now world-famous song, then unpublished, "Home, Sweet Home."

The pioneer Sheriff stood still as the words fell upon his ear.

"What song is that?" he asked as the first verse ended.

"It's a little composition of my own," answered Payne.

"Sing me some more—sing all of it!" exclaimed the frontiersman.

And Payne did sing it, with such spirit and understanding that the Sheriff's feelings got the better of him, and he told Payne he could help the Indians as much as he pleased.

GIGANTIC ENGINEERING.

The Proposed Bridge between England and France.

The contemplated Channel bridge, as outlined by French and English engineers, is expected to cost some two hundred million dollars, the shortest distance being some twenty-two miles, that is, on the score of shallowness.

The depth of the Channel is declared to be much less than is commonly supposed, and there are two shallows—those between Cran-sur-Auts and Folkestone, where the depth is only twenty feet, and these, it is expected, will insure a material difference in laying the foundations and huge piles which will be required for such a gigantic structure.

From the French coast to these shallows the depth is about 160 feet, and from the other shallow to Folkestone about 100 feet.

The plan is to have a bridge with two slight bends, the first deviating a little to reach one shallow, and the other falling back to reach Folkestone.

The piles required would be blocks of concrete and masonry 160 feet long by 100 broad, these to be placed at intervals of about 550 yards, these measurements to be possibly augmented in order to insure to the bridge a strength capable of bearing some 25,000 tons weight.

The causeway of the bridge will be about 160 feet above the sea level, or of sufficient height to enable vessels of any class to pass freely beneath it.

The Artist in the Country.

She does not carry sketching tools any more. She was full of artistic ideas, and carried all her materials with her as she roamed through the woods. She came to a little farm house.

It was in the country. Naturally, an artistic outfit must make an impression and provoke the admiration of those simple people who live in ignorance of everything metropolitan. She stopped at the ranch house and the lady of the ranch came out and greeted her.

"Good morning," she said.

"Good morning," said the native.

"Beautiful morning, is it not?"

"Y-e-s-s; and what may you peddle?"—San Francisco Chronicle.

Some Ingenious Euphemisms.

You remember the young lady who went to have a look at the penitentiary in San Quentin, and got into conversation with a prisoner, and wished to ask how long he was in for in a delicate way. She asked:

"How long do you expect to be away from home?"

"There was a lady in the country whose husband had been given fourteen days for a spree and a fight. The day after he was sentenced a city friend called upon her.

"And where is your husband?"

"John? Oh, John went down to the Court House yesterday on some business and I don't think he'll be back for a couple of weeks."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"It Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles.—E. Bragdon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and, I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, 18 Second st., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe Cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Lizzie M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio. ††

F. Burrows, of Wilkesport, writes that he was cured of a very dangerous case of inflammation of the lungs, solely by the use of five bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Feels great pleasure in recommending it to the public, as he has proved it (for many of the diseases it mentions to cure) through his friends, and in nearly every instance it was effectual. Do not be deceived by any imitations of Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil. Be sure you get the genuine.

Newspaper men are not notorious for carrying vast sums of money about their person, or, in fact, for having more than enough of the stuff to meet the ordinary expenses of a very unassuming life. But there are exceptions to every rule, and a couple of these exceptions are to be found in Westminster. Any one passing a certain store on Front street this afternoon might have observed two ex-editors (with the accent on the we), with mammoth pocket-books in front of them, shaking away vast sums of money at every rattle of the ivories. It was a sight novel to us and we lingered and gazed on the scene for many minutes.

Dominion Illustrated.

G. E. Desbarats & Son's handsome illustrated magazine is again to hand, containing some finely executed engravings of prominent features of Toronto and vicinity, besides art subjects and engravings from personal photographs. Puyallup Valley Hop Fields.

There is a shortage of hop pickers in the Puyallup Valley, and one thousand hands could be used to advantage for the next three or four weeks. The growers, owing to the scarcity of Indian help, are falling back on Chinese labor, Owing to the lack of pickers, a part of the crop will be lost, as the hops will soon be too ripe. Those pickers who are at work are making money, and in addition to good wages are furnished with apples, potatoes and other farm produce.

A Bridge for the Fraser.

H. J. Cambie, C.E., and A. R. Green, C.E., returned to the city yesterday having been down the river making a preliminary survey for a railway bridge across the Fraser river, somewhere in the neighborhood of Tilbury Island. It is said the municipalities of Richmond and Delta are anxious to obtain railroad communication with Vancouver and will give every possible assistance to a project leading towards that end. The numerous surveys being made in the vicinity of Ladners and Richmond ought to result in something definite before long.

Come High, But We've Got to Have 'Em.

A mainland doctor was recently summoned to Harrison Springs to attend a well-known Seattle lady, who was taken suddenly ill. He remained over night and returned home next day. His fee was $350. The same medical man was a short time ago called to Grand Prairie, about 150 miles south of Kamloops, to attend a case, for which he charged a fee of $500. On his way home he was called in to visit a couple of other patients, one of whom he charged $300, and the second $200. The time occupied was four days, and netted $1,000. His district does not receive a government subsidy to retain a resident physician.—Colonist.

United Once More.

At the police court this morning, Elizabeth, runaway wife of Lang Sing, of Chilliwhack, was brought face to face with her lord and master, who arrived yesterday. Elizabeth did not wish to return to her home and was far from acting the contrite wife, which greatly annoyed poor Lang and it was evident for a time that a great inward struggle was taking place in his breast whether to let the erring wife go or not. But love conquered at last and the heart-sore celestial in most endearing terms begged the truant Lizzie to return to her home and be happy with her loving husband. Lizzie could not stand this sort of thing long, backed up as it was by the wisdom of the court and the advice of several members of the legal profession, who all seemed to have aroused a lively interest in the fair half-breed and her case, and the result was she succumbed gracefully and a few minutes later passed out of court leaning on Ling's arm. It might not be out of place to note that more than one of the dozen people in the court room showed by their manner that they envied Lang the possession of his beautiful half-breed.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

KAMLOOPS TOURNAMENT.

Is Finally Closed.—The Whole Affair a Grand Success.

(From our own Correspondent.)

KAMLOOPS, Sept. 19.—The balance of the money remaining in the committee's hands, $160, was put up today for a consolation game between Donald and a mixed team, and the former was successful in carrying off the prize.

Smith, catcher, and Chesley, pitcher, were the battery of Donald team, and Askim catcher, and Schultz pitcher, of the mixed team. March, of the Donalds, played 3rd base, and O'Connor and Galger, of the Donalds, played 2nd and 3rd in the mixed team. A very amusing game was played but not much scientific ball. Mr.. F. W. March, the pitcher of the Donalds, is certainly all that could be desired. If the catcher could have held his hot curves the result of the matches might have been different. He says that he will come down to the coast with the Donald team if they come, and I am sure he will be welcomed by the many warm friends that he has made by his gentlemanly conduct and fine work in the field.

This event closes the tournament, which on the whole has been a grand success. The various committees performed their duties well and carefully, and the success which has attended the affair is due entirely to them.

Police Court.

Before P. McTiernan and W. D. Ferris, J.Ps.

Billy, a Chinaman, charged with supplying an intoxicant to Indians, was remanded till Friday.

Lucy, an Indian woman, charged with inducing her daughter to desert her lawful husband, was treated to a severe lecture and allowed to go.

James Ferland, charged with supplying an intoxicant, in the form of Jamaica ginger, to Indians. Mr. Bole, for the defendant, pleaded guilty and addressed the bench at some length on the subject. He pointed out that this was the first case in the province where a man had been summoned before a court for selling Jamaica ginger to Indians and he felt certain very few people knew the extract came within the Indian act.

Mr. Jenns, for the prosecution, said he did not wish to push the matter and was content with the defendant's plea, but he thought the court should speak plainly on the case and state publicly that such drugs could not be sold to Indians except in defiance of the law.

After consultation the magistrates fined the defendant $50 and costs, stating that was the lowest fine permitted under the act. They acted leniently in this case as they felt convinced defendant did not know he was breaking the law and as it was the first case of the kind to come before the court. The magistrates then pointed out that eau d'Cologne, painkiller, Jamaica ginger, and all like extracts, bearing a large percentage of alcohol, came within the Indian act and must not be sold to Indians, and cases of this kind coming before the court in future would be severely dealt with.

From Lillooet.

Correspondence of the Columbian.

LILLOOET, Sept. 17.—The district of Lillooet has been favored with glorious harvest weather this year. Old settlers say they never saw finer weather this time of the year. The consequences are that grain is mostly in and in splendid condition, never having had any rain at all after it ripened. The yield of grain is generally above the average. Some farmers are done threshing, and some are now busy threshing.—Times are unusually dull in the upper country this fall.—One of the oldest settler in the district met with an accident which resulted in his death shortly after. His name was C. Brown, a stockraiser on the Fraser River, and strange as it may seem, one of his sons, a young man, died a few days afterward through grief and fright, or both together. It seems they were driving down hill when when some sudden jerk threw the older man off the load of grain, hurting him so badly that he only lived a short time. Many will miss Charley Brown in the district.—There were two Chinese accidents also in the month of August. One was thrown from his horse and killed by being dragged over a mile. He died shortly after his foot came out of the stirrup. The other Chinaman was drowned in Cayoosh Creek, a large turbulent stream in summer.—Game is very plentiful on Pavilion mountain and quite fat, having helped the farmers get their grain into use.—There is considerable grumbling done up here at the way the taxes are being increased every year without any corresponding benefit to farmers. Why not take a little off the salarias of fat, over-paid officers of the government instead of trying to crush the last cent out of farmers, especially beginners. Everything the farmer has to sell has gone down in price since the railway was built. Taxes are going steadily up, and were it not that goods and machinery are getting a little cheaper there would not be a farmer up here able to pay taxes at the rate they are piled on. Some find it very hard as it is.—Mr. Pope, superintendent of education, is expected to visit Lillooet on Thursday next in the interest of education.—The mountain fever is in the Clinton part of the district; there are several cases of it in Clinton. Mr. Mendorf, of Bonaparte, has lost one of his daughters, who was just growing into womanhood, and they have another still very ill with it.—Quite a number are out prospecting for quarts about Lillooet yet. Some of the miners on Bridge River are doing well. Good reports are also coming in from Anderson Lake.—CHIPS.

To ASSIST NATURE most effectually in her efforts to throw off or resist serious disease, it is essential that an impulse should be given to functions which growing ill health suspends or weakens, namely, the action of the bowels, bilious secretion, and digestion. Oftentimes, though this is impracticable by the use of ordinary remedies, it proves an easy task when Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure is resorted to.

Late Canadian News.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—It is probable that a change will be made in the immigration agency at Winnipeg, and that Mr. Graham will either be removed to some other point or will leave the service altogether.

Mr. Oliver, of Ellisboro, Assiniboia, will apply for a bill of divorce at the next session of the house of commons. Mrs. Oliver eloped with the hired man to Winnipeg.

Henry Beatty, manager of the Canadian steamships, interviewed Hon. Mr. Langevin to-day and urged the extension of the Esquimalt graving dock. He says it is not large enough for the first-class vessels of the Canadian Pacific coast steamship service.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 17.—The proposals made by the Hudson Bay Railroad company to the government have been published. They ask that the aid remain as at present, and in that condition make alternate propositions. They are to complete forty miles already graded and to extend the line to the narrows of Lake Winnipeg.

KINGSTON, Sept. 17.—Hon. H. C. Joly has been heartily complimented on his stirring appeal at the opening of the fair to young men not to desert the farm but to rise to its responsibilities. Many farmers grasped the Quebecer's hand saying, "you have done us a great benefit."

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—Lieutenant-Governor Royal arrived this morning at Regina, and joined his family at Vaudreuil.

QUEBEC, Sept. 18.—Two young men, Pope and Paridis, went out boating Sunday afternoon and have not since been heard of. It is believed that they have been drowned. The boat was found in the river this morning, but there is no clue.

Ninety Icelanders for Manitoba, landed here by the Carthaginian, left for Winnipeg this afternoon.

From Barkerville.

BARKERVILE, B. C., Sept. 12.—Thinking that your readers (many of whom no doubt are old Caribooites) might like to hear how things are going in the mountains, I send you a few items. The events of the last few days have been such as to stir the stocial inhabitants out of their usual apathy.

Judge Crease and some prisoners and witnesses having arrived, the fall assizes were heard. During the trial of the only case on the calender it appeared that Ah Moon, a Chinaman, had been gambling with the deceased Ah Wah, had subsequently followed him to his own cabin, had a struggle with the deceased (a much older man, and a quiet inoffensive character, who peddled vegetables and carried water for a living), overcame him, stabbed him to death, cut off his head, arms and legs, and set fire to the house to cover up his villany, after having taken the trunk out to the chicken house. The chicken house was covered with earth, and after the walls were burnt the roof fell and covered and preserved the body, to be a silent but potent witness against him. The trial, which lasted till past midnight, was conducted by Judge Crease, with Mr. Cumyou as interpreter, who performed his duty in an able manner, and Mr. Atkinson, from Westminster, as crown prosecutor. The jury having deliberated about two hours, brought in a verdict of guilty; the prisoner was sentenced, and the court adjourned at about 3:30 a.m. The prisoner was locked up, but yesterday he managed with the aid of his belt to hang himself to the grating above the door of his cell. A coroner's jury brought in a verdict of suicide.

The government test mill is making satisfactory progress in some respects, but the weather is so broken and rainy at this time of the year that it is doubtful if the bricks intended for the furnace can be got ready. There are two or three thousand dollars' worth now hanging in the balance, with the chances seemingly decidedly against them being a success, although all that can be done is being done to ensure the outcome; but a week or ten days of the benign countenance of Old Sol would be more effective than all the devices that can be used to dry the bricks ready for burning. The grading and cribbing of the site is about finished and the contract for the building is let to Johnny Knott for the sum of $4,700; so that if all goes well the works will be in operation under the direction of Mr. E. A. Martin, government assayer, before winter.

DILLON RELEASED.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19.—John Dillon was released to-day from Dundalk jail. He is in fair health. A demonstration in his honor is being arranged in Dublin. His release from jail has not any connection whatever with proceedings of the Parnell commission. Owing to the medical report of Dillon's health the viceroy of Ireland has granted him an unconditional release from imprisonment, although his full term did not expire until the end of the year. He arrived at Dublin this evening and was met by a host of friends who gave him a very warm greeting. Among those who received him were Messrs. William O'Brien, Thomas Sexton, S. D. Sullivan, Peter McDonald and D. Kenny, members of parliament. Dillon looked much thinner and paler than usual and is obviously ill.
