NOTES AND COMMENTS.

According to the Gloucester Advertiser, the festive lobster has developed a new and ingenious kink. No more use for cats: "Albert Tarr, a son of David Tarr, caught a few lobsters the past week, and he placed them alive in the cellar of his brother, D. Sherman Tarr, for safe keeping. Nothing was said to his brother about the lobsters, but during the night he was awakened by loud noises from the cellar, but did not investigate the cause, thinking it to come from a rat which might have been captured by the family cat, and which was trying to get clear. The following morning he went into the cellar, and was surprised to find a lobster on the cellar floor, with a large rat firmly grasped in one of its claws, the grip being nearly sufficient to cut the rat's body in two. The lobster had been dragged some distance by the rat in his efforts to escape. It is supposed that the latter was attracted to the lobsters by their odor, and happening to get in the cluches of one of them struggled to free himself, which only caused the lobster to grip him more firmly. Mr. Tarr was so well pleased with the lobster's performance that he took it the water's edge and gave it its liberty." Wratz!

Nearly everyone, says an exchange, who has any notions about Africa has rushed into print with expressions of opinion upon the probable fate of Sanley. Sir Samuel Baker now adds his quota of conjecture to the general fund. Sir Samuel, however, is better qualified to speak than most Englishmen, for he is a famous African traveler himself, and bases his views upon experience. Notwithstanding the delay he does not despair of Stanley's safety, and points out that "Those persons who have only followed in the footsteps of others have no idea of the advantage which they derive from the indefatigable explorer who first carved out the road for future travellers; but the first wedge through new ground in Africa is hard to drive. Stanley has 500 miles of untrodden country to penetrate between Aruwimi river and Wadelai. This may require years instead of months before the journey can be accomplished." Sir Samuel Baker considers the idea of Stanley being the White Pasha as absurd, and winds up his letter with a humorous warning to an impatient public not to despair, or fall into the error of the London Times, which in 1873, relying on startling rumors, devoted a flattering obituary to the memory of himself and Lady Baker, supposed to be murdered by the savage tribes of central Africa.

The Empire says: Toronto is able to read of large and successful exhibitions without a pang, and the Centennial International Exhibition at Melbourne, Australia, appears to be a very big thing indeed. In the first place the marvellous growth of the British colonies there is set forth with a unity of representation which is most impressive. New South Wales has cordially co-operated with the younger colony of Victoria on this occasion so as to secure this result. The Prince of Wales, although unable himself to attend, has in his capacity of president of the British Commission exerted himself actively in the interests of the exhibition, and procured for it the finest collection of loan paintings ever sent out of London. Foreign nations are well represented at Melbourne, and Germany has been especially enterprising in sending an exhibit of her products. The prospects are so promising as to lead a cautious Scotch journal to remark: "We augur great things from this Melbourne exhibition—a great stimulus to the development of colonial industries, and an increasing flow of capital thitherward—a brighter and warmer light shed upon the somewhat dull monotony of colonial life; a closer union and sympathy among the sister colonies, and a yet more affectionate clinging to the mother land, whose heart ever goes out to her children, and glories as much in their honorable career when they are far away as if they were still under the parent roof-tree in the dear old island home." It will be seen from the foregoing what importance is attached to successful exhibitions elsewhere. We trust that no pains nor reasonable expense may be spared to have a good rousing provincial exhibition at this city next fall. The sooner we take steps towards this end, the better.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

WILLIAM AT ROME.

ROME, Oct. 11.—Emperor William was received on his arrival by King Humbolt in full uniform and bearing German orders of decoration. The emperor wore the uniform of the Red Hussars and the order of the annunciation. The appearance of the personages on emerging from the railway station was the signal for tumultuous cheering. The troops saluted and the band played the German national anthem. Besides the regular troops all the military clubs and popular associations were present. The monarchs entered the state carriage, which was drawn by 6 horses and escorted by cuirassiers. The carriages which followed contained Prince Henry of Prussia, the Crown Prince of Italy, the Duke of Fosta and Genoa, Premier Crispi, Count Herbert Bismarck, Count Solmi and General Liebenan. The party proceeded directly to the Quirinal where the emperor was received by the Queen of Italy, surrounded by the ladies of the court. After the ministers and other dignitaries had also been presented, the emperor, arm in arm with the queen, proceeded to the balcony, followed by the king and ministers and other visitors. A crowd of 50,000 people gathered in front of the palace, and as the emperor appeared they cheered and waved German and Italian flags.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Lord Rosebery's speech on the future relations of the colonies to the empire has been well received by the press. The Times says:—"We always depreciated a cut-and-dried plan of federation. The object will be more surely attained by gradual approaches. A plan of colonial defence, postal union and the utilization of the high commissioners and agents will serve as a general sort of foundation upon which may be gradually built the fabric of imperial unity." The evening papers generally approve the speech, except the radical Star. The Pall Mall Gazette (liberal), says if we wish to pay the price, namely, give the colonies a greater share in imperial affairs and a larger voice when England speaks abroad. The Globe (tory), says that the mother country will not grudge large sacrifices to weld the empire together, but requires some proof beforehand that the sacrifices will produce the intended effect.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 12.—Fulton Market post office was robbed last night of all mails arriving from all points, and the papers, documents and money abstracted and strewn about the streets. Many letters notifying drafts for large sums were found but no drafts. The authorities are investigating.

HEART DISEASE.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Mr. Patten, the collector of customs, was found dead in his office to-day. Heart disease was the cause.

A BREAK IN THE CANAL.

CORNWALL, Oct. 12.—A serious break has occurred in the Cornwall canal which will take some weeks to repair. This practically closes inland navigation for some time.

SMALL-POX IN BUFFALO.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—A dispatch from Buffalo says: Two new cases of small-pox were reported to the board of health yesterday. These cases are in the Vanbramberg family. A mother, who is ill from confinement and a child about a year old, are the victims of the disease.

ADDRESSES TO STANLEY.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Addresses of welcome will be presented to Lord Stanley to-morrow by the St. Andrews and Sons of England societies.

A STATIONER SUICIDES.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 12.—Alex. Taylor, a well-known Main street stationer, shot himself in the side to-day. He had been drinking lately. He lives in a critical condition at the hospital.

A TIE.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—The election for St. Jean Baptiste ward vacancy in the city council yesterday, resulted in a tie. Both ex-Alderman Lee and Dr. Germain receiving 622 votes. At the election in March Germain polled 798 against 778 for Lee.

DICK WHITE BANQUETTED.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—R. S. White, M.P. for Cardwell, was banquetted by the Junior Conservative Club, of which he is president, this evening. The gathering was a brilliant one. In addition to Hon. Mr. Chapleau and Mr. Taillion, it included all the leading conservatives, French and English, in the district.

THE ROSS McLAREN MILL.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12.—Ross, McLaren & Co., of Ottawa, will have in operation on the Fraser river, B.C., next June a sawmill with capacit of seventy million feet per annum.

TO ENFORCE REGULATIONS.

OTTAWA, Oct., 12.—The minister of customs is formulating a method for the vigorous enforcement of customs regulations at all stations along the boundary line of Manitoba.

Another break has occurred in eastern cables, showing the absolute need of a second cable east, via Vancouver. The chairman of the Eastern Telegraph Co. denies that the Australian colonies are willing to promote the new Pacific cable. He said at a meeting yesterday that though Queensland was prepared to join in the formation of a Pacific line to secure reduced rates, the other colonies were unwilling to injure the Eastern Company.

THE WAGES OF SIN.

KINGSTON, Oct. 12.—The news from Westport is to the effect that a murder has occurred near that place. A young man was set upon by the husband of a woman, shot and mortally wounded. The young man is said to have made a confession of facts before his death.

THE THIEF CAUGHT.

BUFFALO, Oct. 12.—An extensive and bold mail robbery was perpetrated last night by which most of the arriving mails in this city from all points were plundered. The street in the vicinity of Fulton market this morning was found strewn with a large quantity of letters that had been opened and robbed. Examinaton revealed the fact that the robbery had been general in character and covered letters from Canada and all parts of the U. S. The postoffice authorities are investigating the matter. The banks were notified to look out for suspicious characters offering checks. Soon after the bank opened a man named John Shields, a night stamping clerk in the postoffice, presented a check at one of the banks and was promptly arrested. Shields does not deny the charge of robbing the mails.

BOODLING IN QUEBEC.

QUEBEC, Oct. 12.—The press here is suggesting that it is about time action was taken in connection with the scandalous boodling transactions alleged to have taken place in connection with the Lake St. John railway and the Quebec water works which came so prominently before the public at the last term of the criminal court. L'Electeur says that if the royal commission suggested by Mercier is appointed to inquire into the matter it should also investigate matters in connection with the harbor commission, which it characterizes as rank corruption and charges that one member made $5,000 supplying the commission with cement, while the harbor works contractors furnished $5,000 for the last general election.

HER MAJESTY'S PLEASURE.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The queen is enjoying the best of health, revelling in the early winter with unheard of cold. She has been taking drives and walks daily during the heavy snow storms and cold of last week, and has been putting the strength and endurance of her ladies-in-waiting to a severe test. Lady Ely, her chief companion, having served a longer apprenticeship than the others is more accustomed to cold and more able to endure it. The death of Mrs. Hull at Windsor, was a great sorrow to the queen and her family. She was nurse to the royal children from the time the Prince of Wales was three months old to 1858, and had frequently taken care of the children of the Empress Frederick, the Prince of Wales, and the Grand Duchess Alice of Hesse. After her marriage she lived at Windsor, and was often visited by the queen during her illness. Her little house was a model of neatness, and was full of presents given during her life by the queen and the royalities. The greatest delight of the old lady was to display her treasures and to recount the names of the donors and the circumstance of each gift.

Late Canadian News.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 9.—A man named Devlin has been committed for trial for various thefts committed at St. Norbert. Among other crimes he stole a number of articles, including wine, from the Catholic church.

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—Eighteen out of the twenty-five thousand dollars for a winter carnival are already subscribed.

QUEBEC, Oct. 10.—The Allan and Dominion lines yesterday inaugurated a new policy of carrying passengers to Montreal. The steamers of both companies passed this city to-day without stopping.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Joseph Fletcher, of this city, arrested at Owen Sound on a charge bigamy, deserted his wife here some years ago and afterwards married Alice Campbell, a well-to-do lady of Niagra Falls, N. Y. The latter discovered the first marriage and caused his arrest.

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—Hon. Mr. Dewdney will try to visit the northwest this fall.

Ottawa exports for the year show an increase of one hundred and eighty per cent. since the introduction of the national policy.

Geological surveyors arriving back now from the Hudson Bay, report the arrival at Churchill of the regular English steamer one month earlier than usual. No ice was encountered in the straits.

SHERBROOKE, Oct. 10.—Leda Montague, accused of the murder of her husband, has been acquitted. Lieznieux's address in her defence is pronounced the most powerful and eloquent ever delivered in this district. All were deeply moved by the pathetic appeal. The crown prosecutor had an arduous task to restore the feelings of the jurors, and afterwards made an address which lasted three hours. The jury deliberated two hours.

Mrs. E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, Warren Co., N. Y., writes: She has been troubled with asthma for four years, had to sit up night after night with it. She has taken two bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and is perfectly cured. She strongly recommends it, and wishes to act as agents among her neighbors.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Oct. 12, 1888.

A brief review of Mr. Mowat's report for 1887 on fish culture—more particularly on the Fraser River hatchery—will not be without interest, as showing the work that is being done and the results expected. From the 7,316,000 salmon eggs laid on the trays during the fall of 1886, says the report, the following number of fry and semi-hatched ova were distributed in the several rivers as follows: Of the Suckeye fry, distributed in the Nanaimo, Cowitchan, Coquitlam, and Sumas Rivers, Mountain Creek, and Pitt and Harrison Lakes, a total of 3,405,000 was distributed during the year. Of the Quinnat or spring salmon, placed in Pitt and Harrison Lakes, Sumas and Stave Rivers, and Mountain Creek, a total of 1,009,000 was distributed. The grand total of both species distributed in 1887 was thus 4,414,000. "From the above figures," continues the report, "it will be seen that a considerable number of the eggs laid down last fall were lost from various causes, such as overcrowding in the hatchery, improper impregnation on the spawning grounds, want of sufficient hatching trays, and heavy fall rains, which created a sediment that formed a fungoid growth on the eggs." Since the establishment of the hatchery, in 1884, a total of 9,839,000 eggs have been deposited. A table given shows that the number hatched each year has been increased over one-third of the previous year. "From this large output of salmon fry must naturally be expected some beneficial results," says Mr. Mowat, "and I am led to believe that the prospects for an increase are very favorable." Several instances are cited which favor such prospects. Both the inspector and the caretaker, Mr. Max Mowat—who appends a report—call attention to the necessity for providing a small steamer for the fisheries service, which could be used for conveying ova to, and distributing fry from, the hatchery, as well as for other useful purposes. The following clause we quote from the conclusion of the report for 1887 of Mr. Sam. Wilmot, superintendent of fish culture for the Dominion: "In bringing to a close this report of the operations connected with artificial fish culture in Canada during the past year, I desire to draw the attention of the department to the necessity that exists for generally enlarging the work, especially in localities where the more direct benefits obtainable from the present institutions cannot be satisfactorily applied. With some additional establishments, a wider scope would be given for the better development of an industry which would afford greater facilities for the government to foster, and increase the fishing wealth of the country. As a result from such a procedure, the inhabitants generally would obtain increased supplies of fish food for domestic purposes, and would materially add to the traffic in a great commercial wealth obtainable from the large water areas of the Dominion."

The "nation-makers" have spoken. They have decided that we—that is the Dominion of Canada—cannot remain as we are. We must either seek shelter under John Bull's coat-tail or cast in our lot with the screaming eagle. In the words of Senator Sherman: "In ten years Canada will either be sending representatives to Westminster or Washington." Commercial union or Imperial federation lie before us on either hand. One or the other we must accept. There is, indeed, a third alternative which is timidly mooted at times—Canadian independence. It behooves us to intelligently consider the momentous question of our future and, as free people, to insist on having some voice in the dicker. Perhaps, of the two—or three—plans which have been kindly arranged for our future comfort and happiness, Imperial federation is the least understood. Without wishing to prejudice any one at this early stage of the game, we are inclined to believe that it may the best repay investigation. It would appear that Mr. Dalton McCarthy, president of the Canadian branch of the Imperial federation league, failing to be present at a recent meeting of the council of the league in London, has sent a letter to the president of the league in London, Lord Roseberry, which gives an able exposition of the writer's views as to the future relations of Canada with the empire, and generally throws an authoritative light upon the workings and objects of Imperial federation. The Empire in a leading article sums up concisely but comprehensively the letter in question. We quote from the Empire's article, as the letter is rather lengthy for our columns: "The Imperial federationists, by their very constitution, advocate the continued retention by the great colonies of their rights of self-government, and by no means aim, as some have asserted, at lessening this autonomy and local self-control. This point Mr. McCarthy plainly maintains, and it is only for Imperial matters, those concerns of the whole British empire in which we now have no voice, that he sees the possibility of forming in the near future a great council or senate for the empire, in which Canada may be represented. He certainly represents Canadian public opinion when he holds that this body must not be the parliament of the united kingdom, with its overpowering numbers, and its plethora of business already greater than it can conveniently manage. But he wisely agrees with the league in general that it would be injurious to make premature attemps to construct a platform. Another principle of the Imperial federationists is that the great divisions of the empire shall retain the right of framing and changing their own tariffs to suit the requirements of each. Of course this would not preclude any mutual arrangement that they may see fit to make with one another. But so careful has the league been to avoid even any seeming interference with this right of each great colony to frame its own commercial policy, though confined merely to advice, that it has carefully avoided the subject, though other bodies having Imperial unity in view have made their suggestions. Evidently, however, a colonial branch or its officers need not be so reticent on this point, as being less likely to be suspected of forcing an unwelcome policy on other members of the empire. Mr. McCarthy does not shrink from making such a suggestion, considering the commercial relations of the empire to be one of the chief factors in maintaining its unity. Without entering into details he foreshadows a plan of the mother country giving a favorable treatment to our agricultural produce, while we in return should give a preference to British over foreign manufactures, without sacrificing or doing any injustice to our own industries. While the united kingdom has to import food it may well give its custom to its own people beyond the seas; as we do not manufacture and are not likely to manufacture everything that we require, we may well supply ourselves in preference from the mother country. Thus both parties to the bargain would obtain an advantage, each benefitting the other, and by an extension of this system the whole of the British empire would be more closely linked together and become more self-contained. This is a very different thing from the Imperial zollverein which some ill-formed critics ascribe to the Imperial federation league. It is neither a surrender of our right to make our own tariff to suit ourselves nor a sacrifice of our home industries to overpowering competition. It is a plan for mutual advantage by mutual agreement, much like a friendly commercial treaty between two nations, each being able to supply the wants of the other in some particulars, and wishing to facilitate this exchange without altering the general trade policy." A loosely-knit system of Imperial federation, giving the fullest autonomy to the various component parts of the empire and drawing rather than binding the colonies to each other and the mother country by the strong yet yielding cords of mutual interest and kindly sentiment, would seem to commend itself most to loyal Canadians, and, in fact, would appear to be the natural destiny of the colonies with regard to their relations to each other and the land from which they have sprung. In no other way so well can be preserved the integrity of that great empire upon which the sun never sets, and in no other way, we believe, can the best interests of every part of the empire be so well subserved. And this federation need not prejudice one iota the friendliest relations with our big neighbor to the south. We should, in fact, like to welcome her into the same happy family, but no compulsion or coercion would be used to "annex" her against her will. Canada's true policy in the meanwhile is to go slow, to take her own sweet time and consider well and weigh carefully before lightly assuming any yoke, and then to see that the yoke is of the very lightest.

A Creaking Hinge

Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Fream, Independence, Va.

GREAT
Real Estate Sale!

I HAVE RECEIVED INSTRUCTIONS to sell by Public Auction at the Colonial Hotel, on Saturday, October 13th,

AT 8 O'CLOCK, P.M.

THAT VALUABLE HOUSE AND LOT on Agnes street west, and known as Lot 9, Block XXXIII, New Westminster City. This is a full size lot with good six-room House, stabling for four horses, an excellent garden of bearing Fruit Trees, and a never failing supply of pure spring water. Terms: $1250 cash, balance at 8 per cent.

THE S. W. QUARTER OF SECTION 30, Group 2, 3½ miles from New Westminster, with half a mile frontage on the Scott Road leading to Ladners Landing. This is an excellent chance to secure a good ranch within easy reach of the city. The growth is principally light alder, and the soil is of excellent quality. Terms, 25 per cent. cash, balance at 8 per cent.

THAT VERY ELIGIBLE LOT ON AGnes street, next the residence of Mr. Phillips, and known as Lot 36, Victoria Gardens; the size of the lot is 66 x 132 feet. This is one of the best situated lots on this street, and should meet with ready sale.

ANNACIS ISLAND.

ALSO THAT VERY DESIRABLE PROperty known as "Annacis Island." This island is situate about three-quarters of a mile below New Westminster City on the Fraser River. It contains 905 acres, a great part of which is prairie with a heavy growth of timber around the outer edge of the island, forming an excellent shelter and making it eminently adapted for a stock ranch. Some of the land has been cultivated, and it is upon this island that the beet sugar industry was established. This property will be found worthy the attention of capitalists, as in the hands of competent parties this island could be conveniently cut up into small farms of say 50 acres each, and would bring in a handsome return for the investment. And parties locating here would be within easy reach of the city, and have the advantages of a ready and constant market for all they could produce.

ALSO SEVERAL CHOICE LOTS 66 x 132 in Lot 19, Block XIII, New Westminster suburbs; and in Lot 9, Block X, New Westminster suburbs, facing on the Douglas Road. Terms, one-third cash, balance in three and six months, at 8 per cent. interest.

LOTS 15, 16, 17, 18, 22, 31 AND 32, SUBdivisions of Lots 1 & 32, Block 7, New Westminster Suburbs.

THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC is hereby directed to the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888," issued by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, under authority of the "Health Ordinance, 1869."

Having been appointed Provincial Health Officer for Districts lying south of Fraser River, I hereby give notice that the provisions of said By-Laws will be strictly enforced, and all persons are required to govern themselves accordingly.

BY-LAWS ISSUED BY HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-IN COUNCIL,

Under the Authority of the "Health Ordinance, 1869."

HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-Governor of British Columbia, by and with the advice of the Executive Council of British Columbia, acting under and by virtue of the provisions of the "Health Ordinance, 1869," enacts as follows:—

1. Whenever small-pox is present in any locality without the boundaries of any Municipality, the Provincial Health Officer nearest to such locality shall at once cause the patient to be removed to an isolated hospital, tent or other suitable place, or cause such person to be otherwise sufficiently isolated, and shall see that he is properly cared for, and shall take proper measures for the disinfection, or, if necessary, the destruction of all clothing which may have been exposed to the contagion, and for the disinfection and purification of every conveyance, rail-car, steamboat, railway, vessel, carriage, or other vehicle which may have been exposed to the contagion.

2. Such Health Officer shall have, in his discretion, full power to place in another building or tent all persons who may have been exposed to the contagion, and shall cause them to be supplied with all necessaries until the period of incubation of the disease shall have elapsed, and no such person shall go, or be permitted to go, abroad, until he or she has given satisfactory proof of successful vaccination within the preceding seven years, or shall have obtained a medical certificate of insusceptibility to the said disease, nor until the clothing or effects worn or carried by or with him or her have been properly disinfected, if the same have been exposed to contagion.

3. To assist the Health Officer, he shall have full power to employ persons to be nurses, sanitary policemen, and otherwise to aid in the prevention of the spread of the disease, and may himself give and enforce such reasonable directions for the same purpose as to him may seem expedient, and the nearest Government Agent shall see that all articles and necessaries required by the Health Officer are furnished.

4. It shall be the duty of every medical practitioner who shall attend upon, or give medical or surgical advice, to or about any person suffering from small-pox, to give notice forthwith after he shall have commenced so to attend or give such advice, to the nearest Provincial Health Officer. When a householder knows that a person within the house occupied by him is taken sick of small-pox, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the nearest Provincial Health Officer.

5. The Provincial Health Officer before mentioned is and includes any person appointed Health Officer under the "Health Ordinance, 1869," by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

6. The foregoing provisions shall have no effect within the limits of any Municipality, save as hereinafter mentioned.

7. In case the Council of any Municipality, whenever small-pox is present, or likely to occur therein, shall fail to make or carry out proper provisions to prevent the invasion or spread of small-pox within the Municipality, and complaint thereof shall be made to the Lieutenant-Governor by the Council of any adjacent Municipality, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, acting upon such complaint or in his discretion upon other information, to order that these regulations shall, until otherwise ordered, apply to and be in force within the Municipality in which such neglect occurs, and thereupon any Provincial Health Officer shall have, within and in respect of such Municipality all the authority with which he is clothed in respect of localities without Municipalities, and in such case all disbursements and expenses paid by the Province, in the carrying out within such Municipality of the foregoing regulations, shall be paid by such Municipality.

8. These regulations may be cited as the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888."

Dated at Victoria, this 3rd day of October, 1888.

By Command,
JNO. ROBSON,
doc6m1 Provincial Secretary.

EIGHTY YEARS AGO.

A Girl's Life of That Period—Interesting Extracts from Her Correspondence.

Eliza Southgate, afterward Mrs. Walter Bowne, was born at Scarborough, Maine, on September 24, 1783, the third of the twelve children of a physician and judge in that seaport.

Her published letters begin when she was 14 and went to a boarding school at Medford. She was then in the solemn stage of letter writing:

"With pleasure I sit down to the best of parents to inform them of my situation, as doubtless they are anxious to hear—permit me to tell them something of my foolish heart," which turns out to mean that the poor girl had been crying at being left alone at school. However, she soon gets to practical details.

"There's four beds in the chamber and two persons in each bed. We have chocolate for breakfast and supper."

She missed "above all things our cheese and butter, which we have but very little of, but I am very contented."

She wants "a flannel waist and a petticoat," which shows how early "waist" became, in the American tongue, an article of dress. Also, "I have found the nubs and sent them to Portland."

Then she was sent to another school which she liked much better, kept by an English woman and an ex-actress, Mrs. Rowson or Rawson, who "treats all her scholars with such a tenderness as would win the affection of the most savage brute."

Eliza seems to have left school before she was 16, and early in 1800 we find her continually engaged in "parties, plays, balls, etc. Last night was ball night," and "Had charming partners always."

"For mourning for Washington," who had died not quite two months previously, "the ladies dress much as if for a relation, some entirely in black, but now many wear only a ribbon with a line painted on it."

The next letter deserves quotation:

"Now, mamma, what do you think I am going to ask for—a wig. Eleanor has got a new one just like my hair and only $5, Mrs. Mayo one just like it. I must either cut my hair or have one; I cannot dress at all stylish.

"Mrs. Coffin bought Eleanor's and says that she will write to Mrs. Sumner to get me one just like it; how much time it will save—in one year we could save it in pins and paper, besides the trouble. At the assembly I was quite ashamed of my head, for nobody has long hair.

"If you will consent to my having one do send me over a $5 bill by the post immediately after you receive this, for I am in hopes to have it for the next assembly. Do send me word immediately if you can let me have one."

Eliza was made happy with her wig, and seems to have thought it rather a good joke when she accidentally pulled it off with her bonnet. This was one of many adventures and misadventures described in one of the best of her early letters.

THE HISTORY OF HELEN.

In Which Some Liberties Are Taken with the Old, Old Story.

"Johnny," said Uncle Ezra, "would you like to hear about Helen of Troy?"

"No, sir," said Johnny, promptly.

"Well," said Uncle Ezra, paying no attention to Johnny's discouraging reply, "be a good boy, and I will tell you all about her.

"It happened some time prior to the Revolutionary War of 1812, a good while before that, I think. So you see your grandfather is liable to be a little misty about what took place. But as near as I can remember it was this way. Helen was a pretty laundry girl in Troy, New York, and was eventually married by the King of Troy."

"But, uncle, I didn't know they ever had kings in New York," interrupted Johnny.

"Well, sonny, you must remember that this was a good while before the Declaration of Independence was signed after the fall of Richmond.

"Putty soon there came along a good looking young man named Paris. He was the founder of Paris, Kentucky, I believe. He and Helen eloped together, which made her husband quite provoked. They had quite a war about it, and it took years and years to settle the trouble."

"But what became of Helen?"

"What became of Helen—oh—er I think that in order to avoid any future complications she went to Chicago and got a divorce from both of them."

A PECULIAR TEMPTATION.

It Was Yielded to with Certain Amusing Consequences.

A large well-dressed man strolled into a commission house. He had an air of culture and seemed to be pondering over the limitless possibilities of human life.

A bushel basket of eggs stood near the door. They were not necessarily strictly fresh, nor even fresh, simply plain every-day-in-the-week eggs.

The stranger gazed at the eggs. He lifted his foot, and let it down firmly with commendable resolution on top of the eggs. Then he tried to crush the eggs and with no inconsiderable success. The proprietor rushed out.

"See here, what in the name of the seven devils are you doing?"

"Oh, I only wanted to see how it would seem to stand on this basket of eggs," said the man calmly.

"You'll settle for this before you leave here," was the reply of the irate merchant.

"I haven't any objection," he said, producing a well-filled wallet and paying in full for the damage.

Then with a thoughtful mien and philosophic countenance such as proceeds from the Concord scholars, the well-dressed man departed.

Food for Thought.

One of those shoppers known as "tasters," who chew calico to see if the colors are fast, went into a prominent drygoods store on the avenue.

Approaching the calico counter she inquired of the clerk:

"Have you any blue-striped calico on a red ground?"

The clerk, who knew his customer, answered politely:

"Not a mouthful."

A Tramp Who Saw a Long Way.

"Here comes a benevolent-looking old cove," said a peripatetic gentleman of leisure to his chum on the street corner; "let's tackle him for the price of a night's lodgin'."

"Don't ye think of it, Bill," hastily responded the other, seizing his arm. "Let's wait for somebody that's half full. Them benevolent-lookin' ducks allus wants to organize themselves into a society, elect a Board of Directors and hire a hall afore they give ye a quarter. I don't want to stay up all summer!"—Puck.

Constipation.

Is a universal and most troublesome disorder. It causes Headache, Mental Depression, impairs the Sight and Hearing, destroys the Appetite, and, when long continued, causes Enlargement of the Liver, Inflammation of the Bowels, and Piles. Constipation is speedily cured by Ayer's Pills.

For a number of months I was troubled with Costiveness, in consequence of which I suffered from Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, and a disordered liver. My eyes also troubled me. I was compelled to wear a shade over them, and, at times, was unable to bear exposure to the light. I was entirely three boxes of Ayer's Pills. I have no hesitation in pronouncing this medicine to be the best cathartic ever made.—James Keller, Poland, Ohio.

I suffered from Constipation, and, consequently, from Headache, Indigestion, and Piles, for years. Ayer's Pills, which I took at the suggestion of a friend, have given me effectual relief. I commenced taking this remedy two months ago, and am now free from Constipation, the removal of which has caused my other troubles to disappear, and greatly improved my general health.—W. Keeler, Amherst, Mass.

I suffered from Constipation, which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills cured me, completely.—D. Burke, Saco, Me.

PROVINCIAL

Government Lands

—ON—

NORTH ARM OF FRASER RIVER, AND ADJACENT LANDS, NEW WESTMINSTER DISTRICT.

TUESDAY, 23rd OCTOBER

AT 11 O'CLOCK, A. M.

I have been instructed by the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works to sell by Auction

AT VANCOUVER, B. C.

Several parcels of fine agricultural lands, situate on or near the North Arm of Fraser River, being sub-divisions of Lots 325, 326, 329, 330, 331, 332 to 339, 149, 150, 150, 175, 160, 155, 162, 163. The subdivisions of these Lots contain from 27 to 172 acres each; the location of these lots is shown on the present maps of the District.

The farms in the immediate vicinity of these Lots are considered the finest agricultural properties in British Columbia. Some of the lots front on the North Arm, and others are in the immediate vicinity of the same.

Steamers run daily from New Westminster and Vancouver, past these valuable properties.

ALSO,

Lots 622 to 670, and Lots 700 to 736.

All situate between the North Arm of Fraser River and Vancouver City. The North Arm Road from Vancouver runs through these Lots, and there are other roads laid out which will give access to each of them. This property commences about 2½ miles south of Vancouver City, and is bounded on the west by the C. P. Railway Land Grant, and is surveyed into lots containing from 4 to 35 acres each, maps of which will shortly be ready for distribution.

All the lands to be sold are well adapted for agricultural, dairy or orchard purposes, and on account of their close proximity to the markets of Vancouver and New Westminster cities, will be desirable properties for families seeking a home or for investment.

The C. P. Railway are now constructing a fine wagon road from Vancouver to the North Arm of Fraser River and Lulu Island. They are also surveying a line of railway through these properties with a view of connecting with the United States system of railways at Seattle.

These lands may fairly be considered as the most valuable ever offered for sale by auction in British Columbia.

The contribution is a generous one and will likely be followed by others from the citizens of Westminster.—Vic. Times.

The adulteration of food report has been issued by the department of inland revenue at Ottawa. Samples to the number of 909 were analyzed and twenty-five per cent. found to be doubtful. The greatest amount of adulteration seems to have been practiced in milk and baking powder. Eighty-six were examined in Winnipeg and fifteen found impure.

Attention is again directed to Mr. Trapp's great auction sale of real estate to take place in the Colonial Hotel to-morrow evening, particulars of which will be found in another column. Several additions have been made to the list since first advertised. This will be one of the most extensive real estate sales ever held in the province, and will furnish excellent opportunities for investment.

Sued for Libel.

Hon. Robt. Dunsmuir has entered an action for libel against the Times newspaper, placing damages at $5,000. It is understood that statements contained in the leading article in Monday evening's paper has caused the action to be instituted.—Colonist.

Does Advertising Pay?

There is one merchant in town who in future will swear by The Columbian as the best advertising medium in the province. On Wednesday evening James Cunningham put an advertisement in The Columbian announcing a cheap sale of stoves, and in less than 36 hours after it appeared he had sold more stoves than in the two months previous. Judicious advertising pays a hundred per cent. on the capital invested, but there are many merchants who are afraid to risk a few dollars per month on an investment that has never been known to fail.

The Columbian Fund.

Messrs. Sharpe & Paine, of Lulu Island, have the honor of being the first to follow the lead of The Columbian in contributing to the success of the provincial exhibition. The generous example set by these gentlemen should be immediately followed by every farmer in district. Who will be the next to follow suit? "He who gives quickly, gives twice"; so don't grow cold on the matter, but come down handsomely with the cash!

Celestial Bones.

Ching Tuey, whose business it is to collect the remains of dead Chinamen and ship them for final burial to the Flowery Kingdom, paid a visit to the Douglas road cemetery yesterday and exhumed the bones of a number of his countrymen and will ship them to China by the next steamer. It is the custom to allow the body to remain in the ground until the flesh disappears and then the bones are taken up, made into a neat package and sent home.

Moody in Victoria.

Dwight L. Moody arrived in Victoria yesterday evening by the Olympian. An audience of upwards of a thousand was in attendance at the Skating Rink, the various local ministers conducting the preliminary services while waiting for Mr. Moody. Shortly after nine o'clock Rev. Mr. Reid ascended the platform, accompanied by Mr. Studd, Mr. Moody's companion, and announced that the noted evangelist was too ill to speak at the opening service, being confined to his bed. He would be at the subsequent meetings, however, and would remain two or three days longer in the city than he had originally intended.

A Narrow Escape.

About one o'clock this afternoon Capt. Treholme of the tug Swan met with an accident at Austin's wharf which might have proved rather serious but for the prompt assistance he received. He was shoving the st. Fairy Queen from the wharf, using an umbrella for a fender. The umbrella broke and Capt. Treholme was precipitated into the water, and, being heavily clothed at the time and unable to make free use of his limbs, the accident might have proved fatal but for the assistance rendered him by Capt. Cooper and Mr. J. Reidt. We are glad to learn the captain is none the worse of the accident.

She Found Him at Last.

A sensational discovery was made at the Villard house last night about 10 o'clock by Miss Minnie Ellingham, a wealthy young lady of Toronto, Canada, who is stopping at that hostelry. Miss Ellingham is fond of jewelry and has an extravagant display of many precious gems. With her weakness for jewelry, however, she has a large bump of caution and never retires without first looking under her bed. Her vigilance was rewarded last night by the discovery of a dudish thief secreted under the bed, awaiting his opportunity to steal her wealth. Immediately on the discovery she rushed into the hall crying hysterically, and a large number of guests soon made their appearance at the doors, like sheeted ghosts, to discover the cause of the commotion. In the confusion the young sneak made his escape and the noise subsided.—Tacoma Ledger.

A Little Romance.

A very sensational story of kidnapping was being chatted about on the street corners yesterday, but on investigation proves to be a rumor with hardly any foundation. The facts of the matter are that a young lady from San Francisco arrived in the city on Monday evening, expecting to meet a gentleman friend who was to act as her escort home, she having been visiting friends in the province. The gentleman was not in the city to meet her as expected, and the young lady was compelled to seek employment, which she subsequently obtained in a hotel at Esquimalt. Her friend arriving in Victoria on Tuesday, ascertained her whereabouts and drove to Esquimalt, where he was joined by his fair companion and the two proceeded home together as previously arranged. The only part of the matter to cause the gossips to talk was that the Esquimalt hotel proprietor, not wishing to lose his new employee, is said to have ejected the young man, as well as the driver of the equipage, from the hotel.—Colonist.

W. C. T. U.

Close of the Convention---Proceedings of Last Meeting.

The election of officers was the first business before the convention on re-assembling at 2 o'clock Wednesday. The following were the officers elected: President, Mrs. Jas. Cunningham, New Westminster; first vice-president, Mrs. Jenkins; second vice-president, Mrs. Middlebrook; correspondent secretary, Miss McDougal; treasurer, Mrs. Hemlaw. The election of subordinate officers and the transaction of other important routine business occupied the balance of the afternoon.

A fair audience filled the Blue Ribbon Hall in the evening. The meeting was opened with the usual devotional exercises. Mrs. Jenkins read an interesting and instructive paper on the work of the W.C.T.U., after which Mrs. Grant addressed the meeting at some length on the franchise.

Rev. J. E. Starr addressed the meeting in his usual forcible way, taking for his theme "The Liquor Business, a Leech," and thoroughly condemned the liquor traffic.

The Hon. John Robson followed. He denounced the Club Theater in in strong terms, which he described as the worst of "man traps" and the ruin of many boys. The inefficiency of the city police came in for their share, also did the moral by-law, which was denounced as a delusion, and that the street obstruction clauses was intended as a blow at the Salvation Army.

The convention then adjourned.—Times.

Immense Yields.

Some time ago a paragraph appeared in The Columbian to the effect that Mr. Thos. Shannon, of Clover Valley, had threshed over 700 bushels of oats from a 5-acre field. The Blaine Journal observed the item and attempts to go us one better. It says:—"The Columbian reports a yield of 140 bushels of oats per acre on a five-acre piece belonging to Thomas Shannon, of Clover Valey. Of course that yield is a magnificent one, but the paper overdoes the matter by challenging "any state in the American Union to equal this yield." For the safety of The Columbian's position it is well that Washington is not a state, for a few days ago we were told of a single field of forty acres on Swinomish Flats which threshed out over 5615 bushels of oats."

As the Journal seems to regret not being able to accept the challenge we now include all the territories of the United States in our challenge, which were omitted in the first instance by an oversight, and take much pleasure in inviting our territorial friends to "wade in." The exact yield from Mr. Shannon's 5-acre plot was 715 bushels—an average of exactly 143 bushels to the acre. The average yield to Swinomish farmer was only 140½ bushels to the acre, which falls considerably short of Mr. Shannon's returns. But in case the Journal does not think itself fairly beaten we will give him another instance of the great superiority of the soil in New Westminster district. Mr. E. A. Sharpe, the well-known farmer of Lulu Island and one of the most progressive farmers in the province, imported a bushel of a new variety of oats from England and sowed them on a patch of ground covering half an acre. The oats were threshed this week and it was found the single bushel had produced 94 bushels, the enormous average of 188 bushels to the acre. If Washington Territory or any other territory can beat these figures The Columbian will take down its sign and move south.

What Toronto's well-known Good Samaritan says: "I have been troubled with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint for over 20 years, and have tried many remedies, but never found an article that has done me as much good as Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure." Clara E. Porter.

More about Grand Pre.

From our Halifax Correspondent.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 24.—In a letter a short time ago I spoke of the poetic reminiscences which a visit to Grand Pre brings back to a reader of Evangeline. This letter will refer more to the village and its vicinity as they now are.

The Windsor and Annapolis railway runs through the valley. After a two-and-a-half hours' run from Halifax, a brakesman hastens through the car calling out, "Grand Pre Station," and you are hustled off bag and baggage. You watch the train draw slowly away from the station and hurry off on its way to the Bay of Funday. Turning to look around you, you find yourself on the platform of a small, desolate-looking station-house situated at one side of a stretch of dyked land which apparently reaches to the northward as far as Blomidon. The whirr of the mowing machine and the creaking of wagons are the only sounds which greet you. You say to yourself, "So this is Grand Pre, the site of the Acadian settlement; but where are the relics of the French?"

The only thing is an old French well, situated about two hundred yards north of the station. Visiting it, you find nothing romantic in its appearance—nothing different from a thousand other wells. To the northward of the well, distant about fifty feet, is a large grove of old trees said to have been planted by the Acadians. This is the spot near which the old Acadian chapel is supposed, by antiquarians, to have bee located. Here and there throughout the valley are old French orchards, the gnarled trunks of the trees bearing witness to their extreme age. The villagers also possess a few relics of the Acadians, including a very old-fashioned hand-made plough-share, which tourists are all disposed to believe was made by the mythical Basil the blacksmith.

The stretch of dyked land, known as the Grand Pre dyke, reminded me more of the Delta farming country than anything I had seen since leaving B. C. The dyke which keeps the Bay of Fundy tides out is a very large affair, compared to which our Delta dykes are mere pigmies. It is kept in repair by assessments levied on the lands benefitted. I understand that the water has never covered this dyked land but once in the memory of living man. That was at the time of the great Saxby storm, 12 or 14 years ago. This land is very fertile, producing hay and all kinds of agricultural produce in great quantities. It is counted amongst the best farming land in the province, and averages in price $125 an acre.

Back from the station, that is to the southward of it, lies the modern village of which I spoke in my last letter. Farther south, reaching almost to the Gaspereau is an upland farming country which when Longfellow wrote was the "forest primeval." Here are situated many of the finest farms in King's county. Among so many beautiful places it would be hard to make a choice, but I cannot help selecting Mr. Stewart's, which lies close to the station, and Mr. R. L. Weatherbe's, Judge of the Supreme Court. The latter contains about 150 acres of upland and a piece of dyke adjoining it on the Gaspereau. Judge Wetherbee has spared neither time nor money to make his farm one of the best in the county. The architecture of the dwelling-house is Swiss. All the buildings are coated with crude petroleum which gives them a peculiar appearance.

A new bridge crosses the Gaspereau at Judge Wetherbe's farm. The river at this point—about four miles from its mouth—is probably a little wider than the Brunette, at the Brunette mills. Crossing the river you ascend the South mountains—hills you would call them in B. C. From the slope of these mountains the whole valley lies before you in one great panorama, embracing part of King's and Hant's counties. From this point the towns of Wolfeville and Canning, and the villages of Grand Pre, Horton, Greenwich and Port Williams can be seen, while between them lies the wide area of farming land closely dotted with neat farm houses.

On the whole, laying aside the poetical association of the valley, I think it is admitted on all sides that no place can be found in Nova Scotia which surpasses in rural beauty and quiet happiness this beautiful "valley of Evangeline." F. W. H.
