NOTES AND COMMENTS.

R. Kando, of the Mining University of Japan, is said to be the richest Japanese outside of the Mikado and his family. He is the operator of sixteen gold, silver, and copper mines, and is about to visit the Lake Superior mining districts in order to get a knowledge of the mining machinery used there. His possessions are estimated at $90,000,000.

Something funny happened in the court of Mr. Justice Hannen in London the other day. A demure, sombrely dressed juryman in melancholy tones claimed exemption from serving, and his Lordship asked in kind and sympathetic tones, "On what ground?" "My Lord," said the applicant, "I am deeply interested in a funeral which takes place to-day and am most anxious to follow." The reply was, "Certainly, your plea is a justone." Scarcely had the man departed before Mr. Justice Hannen learned that he was the undertaker.

The young man who obliges his wife to live with his mother-in-law makes a great mistake, as young Mr. Blaine now realizes. The two women may be amiable, but they were never created to dwell beneath the same roof. If a man hasn't enough money to set up his own establishment he had better postpone marriage until he gets it. The mother-in-law and the daughter-in-law must live as far apart as they can get in order to love each other. That is a fact which is not half as well understood as it ought to be.—N. Y. Graphic,

Ras Alula, the Abyssinian leader, is described as about forty years of age, a little above the average height—say about five feet nine inches. He is very well built, has broad shoulders and a deep chest, which makes him look shorter than he really is. He is muscular and athletic, and can hold his own with any man in his army in feats of skill, such as riding and shooting. He is a great sportsman when he has time to devote to the chase, which latterly has not been very often. He wears his hear out short as a rule, and lets it grow gradually, not plaiting it like the majority of his nation. His complection is copper colored, not very dark; his face oval, his nose of good shape, his mouth small, set off by good teeth. His whole features are regular, and when he smiles, which he often does when talking in private and not before his followers, his face is most pleasing and his manner winning. He can be very stern, and on business or political occasions almost as immovable as a statue.

One man who, but a few short years ago, cut a great figure in the world is now almost completely forgotten, and lives to confess the vanity of human wishes. This is none other than Arabi Pasha, who is still in exile at Ceylon. A traveller who recently visited him found him grumpy and resentful against the English, whose language he was obliged to learn. The traveller describes his appearance as that of "a weary caged lion that has no desire to exhibit himself," and came away persuaded that if, Arabi got the chance he would make things lively in Egypt once more. The exile of Arabi and his fellow-rebels is not believed to be so dull and wretched as they are ready to make out, and the visitor who last saw them says: "Having visited them I simply formed a higher idea of the prestige and power of England, which granted such liberty to eight of its former most powerful enemies, now become its prisoners. Their prison is a vast and beautiful country; not a soldier guards them, not a jailer watches them; they go and come as they please, and England does not fear."

Some clever rascal in London, so it is narrated, advertised that he would, on receipt of sixpence in stamps, return to the sender one shilling. The advertisement was published prominently enough to attract considerable attention, and it naturally excited remark. To most persons it seemed a very transparent humbug, too silly to be called a fraud, but there were a few curious individuals who determined to see whether the advertiser was a crank or whether he had some game, so they sent on their sixpence. By return mail each one received a shilling. A few days after the same advertisement appeared again in several of the newspapers, and everybody who had tried it before told all of his friends about it. The result was that several hundred sixpences were received, and next day as many shillings went back. The third time the advertisement appeared the mail received by the clever sharper was simply enormous. Letters came from all parts of the kingdom and from all sorts of people, high and low, rich and poor. The rogue pocketed several thousands of pounds, and, curiously enough, neglected to make any returns.

Messrs. Mitchell & Platt, druggists, London, Ont., write, Dec., 1881: "We have sole Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its first introduction, and we can safely say, no medicine on our shelves has had a larger sale, or gives better satisfaction. We always feel safe in recommending it to our customers.

Chamberlain's Marriage to Miss Endicott the Great Washington Society Topic.

Latest Election Returns Confirm the Republican Victory--A Row in Connecticut.

CHAMBERLAIN'S WEDDING.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The much disputed international question as to whether Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, M. P., of England, and Miss Endicott are engaged or not is now happily and pleasantly settled. Mrs. Endicott sent letters and notes yesterday announcing to her friends in this city and in Boston the engagement of her daughter. She also called on Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Don Dickinson and Mrs. Vilas to acquaint them of that agreeable fact. The day for the marriage will not be named until Mr. Chamberlain arrives in this city. It is to be a house wedding, and a very quiet event.

WHEAT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Wheat very dull at 167⅞; Dec. 164¼.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Wheat steady Nov. 114⅞; Dec., 115½; May, 117½.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Wheat quiet. Nov., 111⅞; Dec., 113⅝; May, 119½.

MANITOBA AFFAIRS.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9.—In the legislature yesterday the government announced that an appeal would be taken against outrages perpetrated against the province by the federal government. It is probable that a request will be made to have the province elevated into a crown colony. Premier Greenway dwelt for three hours on the charges of corruption against himself and the government.

MRS. JAY GOULD.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Jay Gould's condition is critical. She has had two strokes of apoplexy within two days.

THE FEELING IN MEXICO.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 9.—Leading merchants of Mexico are greatly gratified over the result of the presidentitl election in the U. S. They predict renewed prosperity for their own country and think the triumph of the protection principles in the U. S. will not only strengthen the same doctrine in Mexico, but will better the chance of having a treaty of reciprocity between the two republics.

A STAGE ROBBED.

DOWNIEVILLE, Cal., Nov. 9.—As the stage from Camptonville for this town neared a place called Nigger Tent yesterday, a masked man appeared at the top of the grade with a gun which he pointed at the driver and ordered him to throw out the mail bags and express box, which was done. He was then ordered to drive on. The box contained a bullion bar and coin amounting in all to about $2,400. The mail bags were taken away. Nothing has yet been heard of the robber although officers are on his track.

THE COMING WEDDING.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Secretary of war Endicott, speaking of the coming marriage of his daughter to Joseph Chamberlain, M. P., said: "Mr. Chamberlain is now on his way across the Atlantic bound for this country. I cannot state the exact date of the marriage, but the ceremony will be performed within a few days, or a week at the most after Mr. Chamberlain's arrival. The wedding will be a very quiet one. In all probability they will start for the west immediately after the marriage. They will go as far as California and visit the principal places of interest in the United States.

A FATAL JUMP.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Steve Brodie, the famous bridge jumper, jumped from Poughkeepsie bridge, now in course of erection, this morning. He was picked up unconscious and taken ashore, where it was found that he had three ribs broken and was injured internally. He may die. The distance from the bridge to the water was 212 feet. The jump was made for a wager of $500 and a gold medal worth the same amount.

CHARGES DISMISSED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The five charges of forgery against Senaca A. Swalm have been dismissed, owing to insufficient evidence.

THE FRISCO VOTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The votes of only six precincts remain to be counted in this city. Cleveland's majority is 2792. Returns from the remaining precincts will not materially change this.

THE SHARON CASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—There was another decision in the celebrated Sharon case this morning when the circuit court decided the marriage contract null and void. Mrs. Terry failed to appeal the case. The time allowable for an appeal having expired. Mrs. Terry asked for a revival. This was granted in the decision to-day and it is now expected an appeal will be taken to the U. S. supreme court.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

HARTFORD, Nov. 9.—There is much excitement over the announcement that the republican state committee claims the state in doubt, due to glaring frauds that have just been discovered. The republicans claim that the result is in favor of Harrison. The fraud is claimed to be in New London county, the third congressional district, in the vicinity of Preston, Sprague, New London, Stonington and Old Lyne.

VIRGINIA TOO.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 9.—State Treasurer Thompson, democrat, concedes the state to Harrison. W. T. Hubbard, republican congressman elect, claims Harrison has 3700 republican plurality, and that the state elects a solid republican delegation to congress.

THE RESULT IN CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Latest returns show that Harrison leads Cleveland in the state by over 8,000. The position of the supreme judges is unchanged. Beatty, republican, for chief justice and Sullivan, democratic, for associate, are probably elected. The first congressional district is still in doubt, the second is democratic, and the fifth now looks that way. The remaining three are republican. The senate is probably democratic and the assembly strongly republican.

GREAT SNOWSTORM IN KANSAS.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.—The greatest snowstorm ever known at this season of the year began at three o'clock this morning and is raging with unabated violence. The storm is general all over the state.

LATE CANADIAN NEWS.

A mounted policeman named Calreny was shot in a house of ill-fame at Edmonton the other day. His wounds are serious.

O'Connor, the oarsman, has sent the balance of his deposit to the New York Clipper for his race with Teemer on the 24th inst.

The tenders for the dry work on the Sault Ste Marie canal are closed. The contract price exceeds $1,000,000. The canal will be 6,000 feet long.

At a caucus of the government members the other night a motion was passed declaring the Free Press no longer the exponent of liberal principles.

Meldrum, bookeeper, of Montreal, went to Winnipeg under an assumed name with $4,000 of his employer's money. He managed to spend the greater portion, when he was visited by friends who induced him to return and make up the shortage.

The militia department will make a demand on Winnipeg for the expenses occurred in calling out the troops for service at the railway crossing. Sir F. Middleton says that the city is liable, but believes it will result in litigation.

Hon. G. E. Foster does not think that the Sackville letter assisted the republicans. Hon. Mackenzie Bowell attributes the victory in New York to be in a measure due to the British-American voters won over by Mr. Cleveland's conduct.

H. S. Remington, of the produce firm of Remington & Skeelers, taking advantage of the absence of his partner Skeelers, in Cowansville, where he had been sent by Remington to buy butter and from which place he went to his brother's at St. Albans, has skipped out, taking $4,000 to $5,000 with him.

The British Columbia government declines to pay the expenses of the Skeena river expedition. It is contended that as the outbreak occurred among the wards of the Federal government, and as it was against the latter that the Indians complained, the cost should fall on the Dominion treasury. The amount involved is $12,000.

The Manitoba legislature met yesterday afternoon, and promises to be intensely interesting. In the speech from the throne his honor will assign the crisis in railway matters as the reason for calling the house together. It will be suggested that if the present uncertain state of affairs continues between the provincial and federal governments in regard to the railway question, an appeal will be made to the queen in council to have our rights under the British North America Act defined. It is unlikely that any mention will be made of retaliation on the C. P. R. Interesting developments in connection with charges made against the ministers by the newspapers are expected.

Richmond Council.

Council met on Saturday, November 3rd, reeve Kidd and all the councillors being present. Communications were read from the World printing and publishing company, of Vancouver, requesting the council to furnish a synopsis of the proceedings of the council, and offering in return to forward to the clerk a copy of the World newspaper; received and request granted; from W. & J. Wilson, of Victoria, respecting the survey for location of road adjacent to their property, signifying their willingness to bear a proportionate share of the expense of survey, also calling the attention of council to the fact that, although contributing largely to the funds of the municipality, they had not troubled the council heretofore by urging their wants and desires respecting improvements; now that extensive improvements are contemplated with the proceeds of the loan, they ask the council to construct a ditch and roadway from the N. E. corner of section 35, block 5 N., block 5 W. south to the south arm of the Fraser River; received and the clerk instructed to reply; from Drake, Jackson & Helmcken, on behalf of A. C. Fraser, Esq., objecting to the council opening a road between sections 18 and 19, Sea Island, as he had been informed they intended so to do; received and clerk instructed to reply; from R. Gordon, J. Parsons, George Haugh, and T. W. Horne, residents of Terra Nova, praying the council to extend the public road (now under contemplation), west along the river across Mr. Haugh's property, thus accommodating the whole settlement; received and referred to the road committee. Mr. John Sirr appeared personally before the council and stated that he is in great need of the road under contract by E. Lander, and urging the council to have the same completed as soon as possible; referred to the board of works, instructing them to see that the contract is signed and the work proceeded with without delay. The board of works reported as follows: Contract let and completed for three bridges across road ditches in ward C at $15 each, the council to furnish material and pay freight; Sam Lee's contract completed; Kwong Tong Chong's contract on road No. 3 completed; Ah Len's contract on road No. 4 well advanced; Lee Won's contract on road No. 7 partly constructed. Reports received and adopted and the following bills ordered paid: G. W. Gilley & Co., $126.25; J. Dahl and others, $10; Westcott Bros., $50; Kwong Tong Chong, $436.25; Lee Wong, $57.50; Sam Lee, $100; Ah Len, $400. Moved by Coun. Kilgour, and seconded by coun. Quigley, Whereas we have learned that the Hon. John Robson is on his way to Ottawa, and believe that now would be a favorable time to communicate with him, to further request him to urge upon the authorities at Ottawa the necessity of granting to this municipality permission to bridge the north arms of the Fraser River: Therefore, be it resolved, that a communication be addressed to the Hon. John Robson requesting him to urge the granting of the permission asked for; and that the clerk be and is hereby instructed to forward the same without delay. Carried. The council adjourned to meet on the first day of December next.

H. Gladden, West Shefford, P. Q., writes: For a number of years I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Two years ago I was attacked very severely. I suffered a great deal of pain, from which I was not free a day, until last spring, when I began to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and I rejoice to say it has cured me, for which I am thankful.

WHITECHAPEL FIEND

Again at Work--The Body of a Woman Horribly Mutilated. No Clue Found.

Agitation in England to Induce the Government to Hasten the Pacific Cable.

Parnell's Counsel Has Evidence to Prove the Times-Parnell Letters Forgeries.

AN IRISH OPINION.

DUBLIN, Nov. 8.—Mr. William O'Brien's United Ireland expresses indifference at the result of the election in America, as it says it has friends in both camps. The paper is inclined to think that General Harrison owes his election to the Sackville affair, as the Irish voters suspected President Cleveland of being friendly with Lord Salisbury. It says: "While it is immaterial to the Irish to be able to turn the scale in such contests, the fact is regrettable that it is so humiliating and menacing to America. The Irish vote exists as a separate and menacing factor in American politics, because of the fact that Ireland is without home rule rankles as a spearhead in the relations between the English speaking races. It would be cheap for America to establish home rule in Ireland even at the cost of a war with Great Britain. We will not comment on the value to England of a settlement of the Irish question."

THE WHITECHAPEL MURDERER AGAIN.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Another mutilated body of a woman was found this morning in a house on Dorset st. The murder was committed in the woman's own room and the body was cut up in a horrible manner. This is undoubtedly a repetition of the series of woman murders in Whitechapel. Bloodhounds have been brought to the spot and are working on the trail of the murderer. The victim had a husband but led the life of an abandoned woman. Her name is believed to be Lizzie Fisher, nicknamed Mary Jane. As she entered the house where she lodged by means of a latch key no one saw the man who accompanied her. Hence it is doubtful if the murderer will ever be identified. Physicians who viewed the corpse reserve their statement until the inquest.

DISTRUST DID IT.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Daily News this morning says: "The tariff agitation, the fisheries question and the Lord Sackville incident all combined are not sufficient to account for Cleveland's overthrow. It must be due to distrust felt for the party now in power.

WILL PROVE THE FORGERIES.

LONDON, Nov. 9—Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, will call witnesses to swear that the Times' letters were forged. He will show by enlarged photographs and a magic lantern that in tracing the signatures they were repeatedly stopped in the course of writing.

WHEAT.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 9.—Wheat easier, demand fair. Cals. 8s 2d.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A public meeting has been called to urge on parliament the advisibility of pushing the survey for the route of the proposed cable across the Pacific ocean.

LATE DESPATCHES.

THEY QUARRELLED OVER A WOMAN.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 2.—Frank Hayes, formerly manager of John P. Clow, the pugilist, was shot in the stomach yesterday by Finky Barnett, proprietor of the Duluth Theater at West Superior. The shooting was the result of a quarrel over a woman. Last night Hayes was reported worse, and his life is said to be in danger.

CONFESSES ANOTHER MURDER.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 2.—Fred Anschlag, now in jail here under sentence of death for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Hitchcock, of Elgin, Ill., at Garden Grove some months ago, has made a written confession of the murder of Julius Feugh in September, 1887. Feugh was a neighbor of Anschlag, who then resided in Butte county, and Anschlag claims that he was inspired to kill Feugh by two men, George Stenger and one Barber, in order to obtain Feugh's money. Stenger was arrested in San Francisco yesterday. Barber's whereabouts are unknown.

POLITICS HELPS BURGLARS.

LEBANON, Ind., Nov. 2.—While E. T. Lane and family were in attendance at a political meeting last night burglars forced an entrance into their dwelling and stole money, jewelry, and clothing amounting to $150 in value. A. Wysong's hardware store was also entered and some fire-arms taken. A fifty-pound bowlder was thrown through the large plate-glass window in front, making a hole large enough to enter.

Preacher (at Waifs' mission)—"Yes, my dear children, you little know of the blessed influences which now surround you. My son is here with me to-day, and I will ask him for a leaf from his experience. Stand up, my son, and speak so all the children can hear you. How were you led to the Sabbath school?" Preacher's son (fiercely)—"By the ear."

At the last drawing of the Prussian State Lottery the grand prize of $75,000 went to a Silesian. Curious enough his father won the grand prize just forty years ago, and fifteen years ago his uncle won half the grand prize in the same lottery. But the most startling coincidence in the whole matter is that in every instance it was the same number that captured the prize.

No Use for Him—"If this is your final answer, Miss Redstone," the young man said, with ill-concealed chagrin as he picked up his hat and turned to go. "I can do nothing but submit. Yet, has it ever occurred to you that when a lady passes the age of thirty-seven she is not likely to find herself as much sought after by a desirable young man as she once was?" "It occurred to me with a sudden and painful distinctness when you offered yourself just now," she replied. "Good night, Mr. Peduncle."—Chicago Tribune.

Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Nov. 9, 1888.

Mr. Moody, the deservedly great and world-renowned evangelist, after spending four weeks of devoted labor in the three chief cities of British Columbia, has taken his departure from our shores. He has not found it necessary, like some of the faithful gospel-bearers of old, to "shake off the dust of his feet for a testimony against us;" for, according to his own words, he has been well received wherever he has gone in the province—he had not heard an unkind word, which he considered remarkable. This is so much to our credit as a people. Just how much it says for us, however, it is difficult to compute, owing to the fashion of the age. We receive the messenger well now, as a matter of course, even if we should trample the message under foot. In the earlier and ruder—and, what if we should say, honester—days, the messenger was very likely to share the fate of his message. If the latter was well received, so was the former, and vice versa. Mr. Moody's testimony, however, if it does not predicate anything deeper, shows that the people of British Columbia are well abreast the spirit and practice of modern civilization, in general courtesy, and in a generous appreciation and respect for true merit. But as to the actual results—for Mr. Moody is a soul-winner, and did not come to British Columbia to win golden opinions or a cordial reception for himself—have none received the message as well as the messenger? So far as indications go, we are justified in concluding that many have, and the good work inaugurated by Mr. Moody is still going on, in Victoria, in Vancouver, and in this city. We are informed that as a result of the mission in this city alone, 50 or 60 have professed to have accepted the great invitation, so far. Besides the work done in the three principal centres of the province, many have flocked thither from the outlying districts to hear the unadulterated gospel from Mr. Moody's lips. Those who have not been able to listen to the great evangelist themselves have enjoyed a fairly accurate report of his various addresses through the daily and weekly press of the province, which, without an exception, in the three cities where the services were held, has done much to enlarge Mr. Moody's audiences and extend the scope of his work. The grand aggregate of results from Mr. Moody's four weeks' mission in British Columbia is too large and far-reaching in its effects and consequences to be taken in at a single glance, and, it is safe to say, will never be rightly appraised until that day when the secrets of all hearts shall be made manifest. A great deal has been said about the secret of Mr. Moody's success; for, having in view his object—soul saving and quickening—it must be acknowledged that he is and has been wonderfully successful everywhere, throughout his long and honored career. Those who hear him soon find out that he is neither learned, eloquent, nor polished. But he is more than either or all of these: He is genuine—without a particle of sham or affectation in his composition—entirely devoted to his work, for the work's sake, earnest to vehemence, and—what is not always found associated with other virtues—has a good ballast of sound, practical common-sense, which is also consecrated to his Master's service. This much as a deduction from observation If Mr. Moody were asked himself, what was the secret of his success, he would probably say that he was merely a willing and humble instrument working under the Divine agency; that, like the Apostle Paul, whose writings he admires and whose life he plainly emulates, he is determined, by the grace of God, to "Know nothing amongst men but Jesus Christ and Him crucified." And this great principle of Mr. Moody's life, including all the minor things, as the greater includes the less, is, doubtless, the real secret of his wonderful success, as it was of his great predecessor and joint laborer, St. Paul.

History, says an exchange, is full of the dangers that attend the interference of royal wives in their husband's politics. Reigning queens have been successful enough. Elizabeth of England, Marie Theresa, Catherine of Russia, and our present queen, have shown that they can select wise counsellors and guide the destinies of realms; but the queen consorts of history, when they have interfered with the politics of their husband's cabinets, have done a great deal of harm. Henrietta Maria exercised an unfortunate influence at the court of Charles I. Marie Antoinette made her husband additionally unpopular. The last King of Bavaria was married to a high-spirited Saxonian princess, who encouraged his resistance to constitutionable demands. In 1870 the Empress Eugenie declared to her intimate friends, "Remember, this is my war," and it is likely enough that the emperor, ill, weak and hardly able to mount a horse, would have deferred the struggle had not his impetuous and spirited consort urged him on. It is sometimes said that the influence of women on the politics of the world would put an end to war; but while they remain non-combatants we greatly doubt it. They are able to realize some of the results of war—the empty chairs, desolated homes, the widowed lives; but they never see its coarser consequences. They never witness a battlefield after the fight is won—the wounded, the dying, the anguish of untented men, the fearful spectacle of human life trampled in the mire, and all the grim and disgusting incidents of the shambles of war, from the bloodshed of the day of victory to the spectacle later on of unburied bodies mouldering in the sun. They read novels and poems that throw a halo around it all; they hail as heroes the men who return; they listen to the music of the triumphal entry; they watch the waving plumes and the flaunting banners, and they invest with interest every man in the victorious array. It is in this spirit of unreasoning enthusiasm that beautiful women on thrones send brave men out to-day and to be slain—stinging with their taunts the princes who hesitate, and rewarding with their smiles the rash kings who stake their crowns on the issue of a day. Queen Natalie of Servia is only the last of a long list of illustrious ladies who have burned their fingers playing with the fires of politics and war.

The possibility of a coal famine in London has caused a suggestion that it would be well to try if a coal mine cannot be found under the great British metropolis. It is not only very possible, but even probable—if they dig deep enough. That is the great obstacle, the enormous depth, with consequent expense and the mechanical and other difficulties. In boring for wells in various parts of London they have already reached considerably over a thousand feet, without arriving at any sign of coal, or indeed of the formation in which it is to be expected. It is now suggested that by sinking still deeper, especially in the southern parts of London, where it is supposed that the conditions would be most favorable, success would be achieved. Even if unsuccessful, one or two deep drillings would afford information that would be worth the expenditure. Whether or no Londoners will be able to draw their fuel from beneath their feet, it is certain that as the supply runs short collieries will be opened in localities hitherto unsearched. Coal, especially in the British islands, is found chiefly in one geological formation. Throughout large tracts of country these coal measures in which seams are likely to be found underlie later strata which in places may not be so thick as to prevent either discovery or successful working. There are many such localities where trials might be made with a reasonable chance of success. The Toronto Empire, commenting on the scheme of sinking for coal in London, Eng., says: "It is because the old settled part of Ontario is of a geological formation below the strata of periods producing coal that the occasional reports of discoveries may be disregarded. Our rocks are not coal-bearing, nor are any strata that underlie them in geological sequence; so to go to the expense of drilling to discover coal is mere waste of money." Such is not the case here, however, where the conditions resemble more those in the "tight little isle," and coal probably underlies the surface in nearly every direction.

Your Children
Are constantly exposed to danger from Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, and diseases peculiar to the throat and lungs. For such ailments, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, promptly administered, affords speedy relief and cure.
As a remedy for Whooping Cough, with which many of our children were afflicted, we used, during the past winter, with much satisfaction, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For this affection, we consider this preparation the most efficacious of all the medicines which have come to our knowledge.—Mary Parkhurst, Preceptress, Home for Little Wanderers, Doncaster, Md.
My children have been peculiarly subject to attacks of Croup, and I failed to find any effective remedy until I commenced administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This preparation relieves the difficulty of breathing and invariably cures the complaint.—David G. Starks, Chatham, Columbia Co., N. Y.
I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, and have found it especially valuable in Whooping Cough. This medicine allays all irritation, prevents inflammation from extending to the lungs, and quickly subdues any tendency to Lung Complaint.—J. B. Wellington, Plainville, Mich.
I find no medicine so effective, for Croup and Whooping Cough, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It saved the life of my little boy, only six months old, carrying him safely through the worst case of Whooping Cough I ever saw.—Jane Malone, Piney Flats, Tenn. ††

TO JENNY.

Do I love you? Yes and no;
Jenny mine, 'tis hard to say,
For your charms, dear, come and go
In the most perplexing way.
When I warble at your feet,
"Jane, my Jane, my pretty Jane!"
Now, you are surpassing sweet;
Then, anon, supremely plain.

Jenny, this is sad and strange;
Jenny, why, O tell me why
Comes there such a grievous change
O'er your lip and in your eye?
Cheeks that had a peachlike bloom,
Like a kitchen maid's are red.
Features so refined, assume
Quite an aspect over fed.

Yet at other times you seem
Formed to conquer and to please;
All that love, young love, can dream
Of the magically fair;
Then I wonder if some elf,
To Titania's lord akin,
Can present your other self,
As a baser kind of twin.

But it may be that my eyes,
Darkened by distemper's dew,
See a vision that belies
All the charms that made me woo.
Shall I love you? Yes and no;
With the fickleness of men,
While those charms, dear, come and go
I will love you now and then.

—L. F. Austin, in Temple Bar.

AN ANECDOTE OF GREELEY.

How the Fine Old Man Started on a Patriotic Rampage.

Horace Greeley, as is well known, was a very pronounced non-resistant, yet he was one of the most pugnacious men in the world.

A curious instance of this incongruous temperament and its result came under the writer's observation on one occasion, occasioning him some surprise.

It was the general opinion that the old fellow was a coward at heart, and made use of his non-resistant professions as a screen to protect himself from personal injury at the hands of an opponent.

It was a Sunday morning in New York at the very commencement of the war, just after the great Bull Run scare, and the Government authorities at Washington were frantically calling for troops. The Metropolitan Hotel, of New York, then the great up-town exchange, was filled by a motley crowd, drinking, smoking and discussing the situation of beleaguered Washington.

Among the crowd were several army officers in full uniform, smoking their cigars and criticising Lincoln as commander-in-chief in a sneering way, when a commotion occurred in the doorway, and Greeley, with his old felt hat on the back of his head, rushed through the crowd and up to the group of officers and addressed them somewhat after this style:

"Why are you loafing about here, you miserable cowards? Why are you not reporting yourselves at Washington? This is a resort for skulkers. Aren't you ashamed of yourselves?"

The biggest fellow of the group was terribly angry, and lifting his heavy sword, he thundered out:

"Repeat those words, old man, and I'll split your skull!"

Greeley threw off the old felt hat, exclaiming:

"Strike as soon as you please; I repeat what I have already said."

Every one present expected that the old man would be cut down; instead, the fellow turned on his heel, saying:

"Come away, boys, I won't strike the d——d lunatic."

Greeley gave them one contemptuous look, and took his departure.

HE WOULD BE MASTER.

Where American Women Would Not Be at All at Home.

The French rule in Algiers has improved the condition of Arab women, by exacting vengeance from the husband who ill-treats his wife too outrageously. The tourist who sees an Arab marched through the streets by mounted French soldiers, will be told, if he inquires the man's offense:

"It is his wife he has been beating; they all do it, these Arabs."

As the Arab buys his wife, he regards her as his chattel, to be driven and beaten, to be worked and treated as a slave.

A story illustrates the Arab's method of showing that he is master in his own family.

An Arab chief, having taken an affectionate farewell of his household, departed for Constantine. In a few days he returned, greatly excited, and bade his favorite wife bring him four posts and a cord. Lashing her to the posts driven into the ground, he began to beat her.

"What has she done?" asked the villagers, attracted by the woman's cries.

"She is the best of wives and mothers, the pearl of the tribe," explained another.

The infuriated chief stopped to explain that at Constantine he had seen an Arab woman accuse her husband of ill-usage; and the Cadi, backed by the French authorities, had actually given a judgment in her favor!

"I felt that all men were insulted through that woman!" exclaimed the chief. "And I am assuring myself that I, at least, am master in my own family."

A RAILROAD WITHIN THE ARCTIC.

Enterprise of Man in the Neighborhood of the North Pole.

An important engineering enterprise now in progress is a railroad in the Arctic Circle.

The Swedish and Norwegian railroad now building from Lulea, on the Gulf of Bothnia, to Loffoden, on the North Sea, is partly situated within the Arctic circle, and is some 1,200 miles further north than any railroad in Canada.

An interesting meteorological fact stated in relation to this work is that the snowfall is found to be actually less than in some more southern latitudes, while the darkness of the long winter nights has been partly compensated by the light of the aurora."

The object in view in constructing this line is to tap the enormous deposits of iron ore in the Gallivara Mountains, the approximate exhaustion of the ore in the Bilboa district rendering very desirable a new field of non-phosphoric ore suitable for steel rail making.

Don't Be a Clam!

"Laura," exclaimed the youth, as he laid his arm timidly on the back of her chair, "now that you have promised to be mine it surely does not seem like asking too much, if I—"

"Well, George?"

George took her hand in his, swallowed once or twice spasmodically, and proceeded:

"As your affianced husband, Laura, whom you will some day promise in the sight of high heaven to love, honor, and —er—cherish, you will not think me presuming, dearest, I hope, if—if—"

"Well, George?"

"—if I venture to claim the privilege of a kiss?"

The lovely maiden laid her head trustingly on the young man's shoulder, a tender light shone in her dreamy eyes, and her fragrant breath swept the cheek of the rapturous lover as the reply murmured:

"George, don't be a clam!"—Chicago Tribune.

ANGLO-JEWISH NAMES.

The Meanings of Cowan, Hart, Lion, Sachs, Brown, Wolf, Fisher, Etc.

It is not quite correct to say that Jews ever change their original names. In the synagogues they bear throughout their lives the Hebrew names—in the traditional Oriental form of So-and-so son of So-and-so—given to them shortly after their birth.

The instability of the names by which they are known to the world is due to the fact that originally, like all Oriental peoples, they had no family names, and that wherever they have congregated very closely together the secular use of the traditional genealogical forms has been tenaciously preserved. In some countries, such as Germany and Austria, special legislation has been found necessary to compel them to adopt fixed surnames.

As, at different times, they have come into closer contact with the Gentile world, they have themselves seen the necessity of surnames; and it is not surprising, if, under these circumstances, some of them should have chosen the most sonorous and distinguished they could find.

The foreign surnames and place names preserved by the Jews of England form a small epitome of the history of the Israelitish dispersion. Side by side with the Hebrew Abraham are the Egyptian Moses, and the English Mordaunt, the Greek Alexander and Margolies, the Latin Marcus, and the Arabic Mocatta.

Those derived from mediæval house signs are Rothschild, Adler, Gans, Schiff, Strauss, Silbershrom, etc.

Some of the occupation names are interesting. Rophe is Hebrew for physician, and Rappoport is a corruption of Rophe d' Oporto; Jalfon is Hebrew for money changer, and Mocatta is Arabic for mason.

More strictly Anglo-Jewish are the natural assimilations of Hebrew and Jewish names to English forms. Thus, Coleman is a corruption of Kalman, which is an abbreviation of Kalonymos, the Greek translation of the Hebrew Shem Tob (Good Name).

Bonny is derived through Bondi, from a Latin translation of Yom Tob (Good Day).

Phillips comes from the Hebrew Uri or Meier, both meaning "light," through the Greek equivalent Phœbus and its German-Polish diminutive Pheibul.

Saville is a more natural corruption of Samuel than is generally imagined, seeing that in Germany the Scriptural name has been shortened into Sanvel, and in England we have the authority of Mr. Weller, senior, to spell it with a "we."

Freeman is from the German Friedmann, a translation and apocopation of Shalom ben Menachem.

Hayman is derived through Hyman and Hyan from the Hebrew Haim (life). Jessel is from Echeskel, the Hebrew pronunciation of Ezekiel.

Yates is from Goetz, an abbreviation of Gottschalk, which in Low German means "God's servant," and is a literal translation of Elijakim.

Among simpler changes are Cowan—Cohen, Lewin—Levi, Victor—Avigdor, Archer—Asher, Jessop—Joseph, and Soman and Slowman—Solomon.

Curious instances of misdirected translations are afforded by the names Marchant and Chapman, both of which are Anglicizations of the German Kaufmann or Handelsmann. Originally, however, neither of these names meant "merchant" among the Teutonic Jews.

Kaufmann is a corruption of Koppelman, of which the first two syllables are a German diminutive of Jacob and the third an abbreviation of Menachem, the whole being a contraction of Jacob ben Menachem.

Handelsmann has a similar history, being derived from Elchanon ben Menachem, through Handl, a recognized German diminutive of Elchanon.

In the same way Seligman is a contraction of Selig ben Menachem, and Felberman a corrupted contraction of Phœbus (Uri) ben Menachem.

Katz, which one of these days will perhaps be Anglicized into Cat, is derived from the initials of Kohen Tzedek (priest of righteousness); Sebatz, which in Hungary has actually been translated into Kincz, the Magyar for "treasure," is from Schliach Tzibur (Messenger of the Congregation); Babad is from Ben Ab Beth Din (Son of the President of the House of Judgment); Sack is from Sera Kadosh (Holy Posterity), and when the name of a town beginning with s is added—as, for example, Sera Kadosh Speyer (Holy Posterity of Speyer)—it becomes Saks or Sachs, which has been frequently mistaken for an abbreviation of Saxon (Saxony); Bram is from Ben Rabbi Moses; Beah (corrupted into Brass, and translated into Brown), from Ben Rabbi Nachman; Bard, from Ben Rabbi David; Bersal, from Ben Rabbi Solomon, the Levite; and Bril, from Ben Rabbi Judah the Levite.

The exegetical names are also peculiarly Jewish. They consist of equivalents for Hebrew names derived from collocations in Biblical.

Thus the comparisons in Jacob's blessing furnish equivalents for Benjamin in Wolf, for Judah in Lion, and for Naphtali in Hart. Fisher is an equivalent for Ephraim, because it was foretold (Gen. xlviii., 19) that he should multiply exceedingly, and the fish is a symbol of fruitfulness. It is also sometimes a substitute for Moses, because Pharaoh's daughter, in giving him his name, said (Exodus ii., 10): "For I drew him out of the water."

Goldsmith has been sometimes adopted as an equivalent for Uri, on the strength of the verse in Exodus (xxxi., 4) which describes Bezaleel ben Uri as "cunning to work in gold." This is the case with the English family of Goldsmid, which is descended from a certain Rabbi Uri Halevi.—St. James Gazette.

Wouldn't Drink Any.

Old Jefferson Catnip, upon his first visit to the city, went with a friend to a restaurant. While they were sitting at a table a young fellow, carrying a lawn tennis racquet, came into the room.

Old Jefferson, after regarding the instrument for a few moments, turned to his friend and said:

"John, dinged ef I'd drink any milk in this town."

"Why not?"

"Why not? (pointing.) Jes look at the strainers they use. Blamed ef a cow couldn't shove a catbird through 'em."—Arkansaw Traveler.

Just the Difference.

Gubbins is one of the rare moments he devotes to the cultivation of his intellect, was reading aloud from a work on natural history.

"The camel is an animal that can work a week without drinking."

"And I," remarked Gubbins, commenting upon the text, "I am an animal that can drink a week without working."—Judge.

How It Strikes a Stranger.

"What are you doing?" demanded a citizen of a countryman who was critically examining the former's electric bell-knob.

"Say, mister," replied the countryman, straightening up, "there's suthin' the matter with your door-bell. The knob's got pulled clear into the hall."

The Matter with Whiskey.

"Whiskey am de cause ob al yore troubles an' sorrers," replied Jim's spiritual advisor.

"Dat's so, Parson. I feels mighty troubled when I hasn't got any ob hit."—Texas Siftings.

Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I inherited a scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a derangement of my whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before.—O. A. Willard, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.—Elisabeth Warnock, 54 Appleton street, Lowell, Mass.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 158 Sullivan st., New York. ††

Public Notice

THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC is hereby directed to the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888," issued by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, under authority of the "Health Ordinance, 1888."

Having been appointed Provincial Health Officer for Districts lying south of Fraser River, I hereby give notice that the provisions of said By-Laws will be strictly enforced, and all persons are required to govern themselves accordingly.

R. I. BENTLEY, M.R.,
Provincial Health Officer.

New West., Oct. 6, 1888. doc6ml

[L.S.] HUGH NELSON.

BY-LAWS ISSUED BY HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR-IN COUNCIL,

UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE "HEALTH ORDINANCE, 1888."

HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-Governor of British Columbia, by and with the advice of the Executive Council of British Columbia, acting under and by virtue of the provisions of the "Health Ordinance, 1888," enacts as follows:—

1. Whenever small-pox is present in any locality without the boundaries of any Municipality, the Provincial Health Officer nearest to such locality shall at once cause the patient to be removed to an isolated hospital, tent or other suitable place, or cause such person to be otherwise sufficiently isolated, and shall see that he is properly cared for, and shall take proper measures for the disinfection, or, if necessary, the destruction of all clothing which may have been exposed to the contagion, and for the disinfection and purification of every conveyance, rail-car, steamboat, railway, vessel, carriage, or other vehicle which may have been exposed to the contagion.

2. Such Health Officer shall have, in his discretion, full power to place in another building or tent all persons who may have been exposed to the contagion, and shall cause them to be supplied with all necessaries until the period of incubation of the disease shall have elapsed, and no such person shall go, or be permitted to go, abroad, until he or she has given satisfactory proof of successful vaccination within the preceding seven years, or shall have obtained a medical certificate of insusceptibility to the vaccine disease, nor until the clothing or effects worn or carried by or with him or her have been properly disinfected, if the same have been exposed to contagion.

3. To assist the Health Officer, he shall have full power to employ persons to be nurses, sanitary policemen, and other wise to aid in the prevention of the spread of the disease, and may himself give and enforce such reasonable directions for the same purpose as to him may seem expedient, and the nearest Government Agent shall see that all articles and necessaries required by the Health Officer are furnished.

4. It shall be the duty of every medical practitioner who shall attend upon, or give medical or surgical advice, to or about any person suffering from small-pox, to give notice forthwith after he shall have commenced so to attend or give such advice, to the nearest Provincial Health Officer. When a householder knows that a person within the house occupied by him is taken sick of small-pox, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the nearest Provincial Health Officer.

5. The Provincial Health Officer before mentioned is and includes any person appointed Health Officer under the "Health Ordinance, 1888," by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

6. The foregoing provisions shall have no effect within the limits of any Municipality, save as hereinafter mentioned.

7. In case the Council of any Municipality, whenever small-pox is present, or likely to occur therein, shall fail to make or carry out proper provisions to prevent the invasion or spread of small-pox within the Municipality, and complaint thereof shall be made to the Lieutenant-Governor by the Council of any adjacent Municipality, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, acting upon such complaint or in his discretion upon other information, to order that these regulations shall, until otherwise ordered, apply to and be in force within the Municipality in which such neglect occurs, and thereupon any Provincial Health Officer shall have, within and in respect of such Municipality all the authority with which he is clothed in respect of localities without Municipalities, and in such case all disbursements and expenses paid by the Province, in the carrying out within such Municipality of the foregoing regulations, shall be paid by such Municipality.

8. These regulations may be cited as the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888."

Dated at Victoria, this 3rd day of October, 1888.

By Command,
JNO. ROBSON,
Provincial Secretary.

We have been asked to call the attention of young men who have no particular place for spending their spare time to the fact that the Y.M.C.A. rooms on Columbia street are open all day and until late in the evening, and they are invited to enjoy the advantages of the free reading and sitting rooms, where will be found all the latest papers and periodicals, as well as amusing and entertaining games.

By the new C. P. R. time-card, the Victoria people coming to New Westminster will be able to take the Vancouver boat, have an hour in Vancouver going, one hour and ten minutes in New Westminster, and be able to get back to Victoria, via Vancouver, the same day. New Westminster people going to Victoria have a choice of two trains and can leave as late as 13 o'clock each day and arrive at Victoria the same night.

Fatal Accident at Wellington.

On Monday last a miner named Gustava Nelson, a large, powerful man, aged 31, lost his life in the No. 5 shaft of the Wellington collieries by a fall of rock from the roof of the mine. At the inquest held on the body, the evidence went to show that the cave of rock was caused by the neglect of the deceased in not timbering his workingplace properly, and a verdict in accordance with the evidence was returned.

The Moody Revival.

Notwithstanding the slight break in the revival services now being held, caused by the departure of Mr. Moody, the union service held last evening in the Methodist church was well attended and the deepest interest was manifested throughout. Mr. G. R. Studd preached a practical sermon, taking as his text the story of the rich young man who came to Christ, Mark 10: 17-22. At the conclusion of the sermon a number responded to Mr. Studd's invitation to retire to the school-room where a prayer and inquiry meeting was held. Mr. O. E. Winslow conducts the service to-night.

Ripe Raspberries.

Mrs. E. J. Miller returned from Port Hammond yesterday and brought with her a dozen raspberries bushes fairly loaded down with ripe berries. The berries were grown in Mr. W. J. Harris' garden at Port Hammond and are by no means rare. Six baskets have been picked since the first of November and Mr. Harris picked another basketful yesterday morning before Mrs. Miller left. Many of the bushes are now in blossom and if the present weather continues several more baskets will be picked before the frost comes. Ripe raspberries in November speaks well for the glorious climate of British Columbia.

The Temperance Lecture.

The second lecture by Mr. George Woodford of Chicago, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., was given in the Pandora street Methodist church last evening. The large congregation sat for over an hour listening to the forcible and pathetic discourse, and the impressions made will not easily be forgotten. At the close of the lecture a great many ladies and gentlemen signed the pledge. It is not often that the temperance cause has had so able an advocate in Victoria as Mr. Woodford and those who have not yet heard him should not miss the opportunity to-night.—Colonist.

A Hardened Criminal.

On Tuesday afternoon, Supt. Sheppard received a telegram from New Westminster advising him to be on the look out for a man named Kelly, who had robbed and nearly murdered a man in New Westminster on Monday night and who was supposed to have left Westminster for this city. Kelly is well known here. He is a man about 5 feet 4 inches in height, wears a dark moustache and weighs in the neighborhood of 150. In the fall of 1880, he and a companion named Barry garroted a man on Store street, near the Albion Iron Works. The garroters were subsequently arrested by Officers Sheppard and Speed, and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.—Colonist.

Victoria vs. Westminster.

The Westminster foot ball club left for Victoria this morning by the str. Princess Louise and will meet the capital city club on Beacon Hill tomorrow. The team is composed as follows: Westminster—Back, Woods; three-quarter backs, Rev. P. Woods, White and Bell; half backs, Turner and Greame; forwards, Lister (captain), Cameron, McMartin, Hall, Smith, Hamber, Pickles and Mowat. This team, though not our strongest, is well able to give any club in the province a stiff brush for victory. THE COLUMBIAN has made arrangements to publish a report of the match. A number of friends accompanied the team to Victoria. The team chosen to represent Victoria is composed as follows: J W Sinclair, back; W Fisher, Kenning, B Drake and E Grant, three-quarter backs; Martin and Clark, half backs; L Crease, W H Langley, Pugh, F Pemberton, P Hibben, Earsman, Kennedy and Clark, forwards.

North Arm Notes.

A very successful concert and entertainment was given in the town hall, Lulu Island, on Thursday evening, 6th inst., under the auspices of the Methodist church. A fine new parsonage has been built and will soon be ready for occupation and the proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to help in furnishing the parsonage with the heavy furniture, so as to save expense of removal when the itinerant system prevailing in the Methodist church changes our present pastor for another. The different numbers on the programme were furnished by local talent and all excelled in their different parts. Mrs. Thompson presided at the organ with grace and ability, the choir showed careful preparation and the readers and reciters rendered their selections with eloquence and no small elocutionary power. It would be inividious to select any for special commendation, but the kindergarten songs of the Robinson children seemed to please everybody immensely and were repeatedly encored. The proceeds of the concert amounted to $45.00.

COM.

Chip O' The Old Block.

A union of boisterous mirth and old-fashioned melodrama was accomplished with entire success last night at Third Avenue Theatre. The result was made possible by the well-directed efforts of a dozen actors and actresses who had been selected with a view to individual ability, and yet had been grouped so that the entertainment became harmonious, if now and then exaggerated. The vehicle for this unusual achievement was "A Chip O' the Old Block," from the pen of Herbert Hall Winslow, a young author and one of prominence. The Chip was an old salt who had seen service, spiked guns, spilled buckets of blood, and then talked about it all the rest of his days. He figured as the protector of the melodramatic lost child, who had to dance and sing constantly, in order to keep her spirits under the indefatigable pursuit of the genteel villan; in the end she triumphed, because she was pert, pretty, plucky, and on the correct side of the law. Briskness marked all the comedy, and appropriateness was a feature of the musical trimmings. Mr. Robert L. Scott, a droll and original comedian, who talks and winks like Lester Wallack, was the Chip, and Mr. Harry Mills was equally acceptable as the horsey young man who loved the heroine, and wedded her with the Chip's blessing. The performance was smooth and spirited. Nothing better in its line has been seen this season.—New York Sun.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C. W. Snow & Co., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Please send us ten gross of Pills. We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr. Chas. A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these Pills have cured her."

PERSONAL.

T. E. Ladner, of Ladners, is stopping at the Colonial.

Miss Mildred Major is visiting friends in Toronto and will not return home for a couple of months.

C. Lowenberg, of Victoria, who has been the guest of Mr. I. B. Fisher for a few days, left for home this afternoon.

Fred. Homer, formerly a resident of this city, arrived from San Francisco yesterday on a visit to relatives and friends. He will remain here for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. A. Nelson, Brantford, writes: "I was a sufferer from Chronic Dyspepsia for eleven years. Always after eating, an intense burning sensation in the stomach, at times very distressing, caued a drooping and languid feeling, which would last for several hours after eating. I was recommended by Dr. Popplewell, Chemist, of our city, to try Northrop & Lymon's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and I am thankful to say that I have not been better for years; that burning sensation and languid feeling has all gone, and food does not lie heavy on my stomach. Others of my family have used it with best results."

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

All Arrangements Completed to Begin the Work at Once. The Ferry to be Built at Westminster.

From Whatcom North Construction will be Commenced Immediately. Steel Rails to Arrive in May.

The negotiations regarding the construction of the N.W.B.B. & S. Railway having been satisfactorily closed yesterday, THE COLUMBIAN, through the kindness of Mr. B. Douglas and Mr. Jas. Leamy, is able to lay before its readers the arrangements and intentions of the company. The contract for the grading, tieing and bridge work from New Westminster to the boundry, a distance of about 25 miles, has been let to Mr. Jas. Leamy, the well known railroad builder, who is bound by the terms of the contract to have the work completed and in perfect order by July 1st next. The route to the boundary is somewhat circuitous, but this was made necessary in order to avoid heavy cuts and fills and expensive bridging. The route chosen will bring the farmers of Langley Prairie into direct communication with Westminster. The present unsettled state of the weather being unfavorable or railroad construction, Mr. Leamy has decided to wait a month before beginning operations, and, unless the condition of things is very bad, the beginning of January will see 1000 men at work on the contract. Mr. Leamy has all the tools, etc., collected, a large number of men engaged, and could, if necessary, begin work at a few day's notice.

Mr. B. Douglas, president of the Southern Railway, informed our representative that work on the right of way, from Whatcom north, will be commenced forthwith, and construction will follow closely, so that both contracts will reach the boundary about the same time. Large wharves will be required at Whatcom as well as Westminster, and these are included in the contracts already let. The railway ferry steamer will be built at Westminster under the supervision of Capt. Lake, a noted shipbuilder of Seattle, who will arrive in the city and commence work on the steamer within a couple of weeks if sufficient lumber is ready. The lumber order is to be sent up from Seattle this week. All labor in connection with the construction of the steamer will be employed at Westminster. The steel rails will be ordered immediately and a ship load will come direct to Westminster and discharge at the Brownsville landing. The first cargo will arrive in May. The number of ties required for the line from Brownsville to the boundary will be about 60,000, and Mr. Leamy will shortly call for tenders for cutting and delivering this quantity. This item alone will find employment for a large number of men.

Before Messrs. Canfield and Sheafe left the city, yesterday, they gave satisfactory assurances that the line from Westminster to Whatcom would be constructed and fully equipped and regular trains running by the first day of August next, and the line to Seattle constructed and in running order within one year later. The terms of the agreement will be faithfully carried out, and all anxiety concerning the rapid completion of the road is now at an end.

Attempt At Highway Robbery.

Another attempt at highway robbery was made last night, which shows that the band of thieves are still operating boldly despite the efforts of the authorities to run them down. Shortly after midnight while Mr. W. H. Keary was passing the Crescent, homewards bound, he was suddenly startled by the appearance of two men, one of whom sprung out of the bushes close to the battery while the other appeared from the Crescent. Springing quickly forward a few spaces Mr. Keary turned and drew his revolver threatening to shoot them down if they attempted to approach him. The men stopped but did not leave, and Mr. Keary fearing there might be more in the gang retreated backwards till close to Capt. Insley's house when he called for assistance. At the first call the robbers vanished. Mr. Robert Kennedy heard the calls and shortly joined Mr. Keary and together they went back and searched for the men, but without success as they had lots of time to make good their escape.

There was considerable talk round town to-day of forming a vigilance committee to patrol the city at night and put every suspicious character under arrest. If the present state of lawlessness continues the committee will be an absolute necessity.

"The West Shore."

This magizine makes a specialty of giving just such information about the great Pacific Northwest as those who are interested in that region desire to have. It is neither an immigration pamphlet nor a subsidized railroad publication, but a genuine magazine, now in its fifteenth year. It devotes its attention especially to Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, British Columbia and Alaska. It gives reliable descriptions and beautiful engravings of the mines, agricultural districts, stock interests, fishing industries, and the cities, towns and resources of that region, as well as the famous scenery. In fact it is the only publication giving the class of information sought for by emigrants and tourists to the Pacific Northwest. The West Shore contains artistic engravings and maintains a high standard of literary excellence. It is essentially a western magazine in every feature, and an exponent of the life and energy of the west. With each number is sent an art supplement, in colors or tints, about 18x24 inches in size, the subject being some feature of the grand scenery which enchants all tourists through the Northwest. Subscription price, $2,50 per year. Sample copy, 25 cents. Address L. SAMUEL, publisher of the West Shore, Portland, Oregon.

Word has been received in Philadelphia from Prof. Peters, announcing the safe arrival of the University of Pennsylvania Babylonian exploring expedition at Sindh after the brief detention by shipwreck in the Mediteranean. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

AN IMPORTANT CASE.

In the County Court Yesterday---The Rev. Father Fouquet vs. the Corporation of New Westminster.

Mr. Justice McCreight Presiding.

The claim herein was brought to recover certain money expended in burying a person who died without friends or means at St. Mary's Hospital in this city. The directors of that institution claim that, under the existing coroner's act of 1885, the city was liable to pay for same, it being as they contended "an unclaimed human body found dead within the municipality."

Mr. Leamy appeared for plaintiff and agreed that the body came within the meaning of the act as being unclaimed and found dead.

Mr. Bole, Q.C., and Mr. McColl, for defendant, corporation, took occasion to remark that it was not a question of amount which caused the city authorities to dispute this claim, but that they did so solely as the guardians of the public interest, on a serious question of principle, as, if the city were bound to bury that body, they were bound to bury the unclaimed body of every person dying at either hospital, or, in fact, in any house in the city; that, according to the well-known principles of interpreting statutes as laid down by Maxwell, the first thing to ascertain in order to the right understanding of the statute's meaning was the existing state of the law when the statute was passed; and that was clear, as according to the law laid down in Regina vs. Stewart 12, Adolphus & Ellis 779; Regina vs. Fox 2. Q.B.D. 246; Jones vs. Ashburnham 4, East 460—the former case being recognized as existing law as late as 1862, in the case of Bradshaw vs. Beard, 31, L.J.N.S.C.P. 273—every householder was bound to bury any person dying in his house, and the hospital was in no better or worse position than a private house, so far as the coroner's act is concerned; again the expression "found dead" used in a coroner's act had a distinct, clear and settled meaning, whereas the contention of the learned counsel for the hospital would really amount to this: You must read the act as meaning that every unclaimed body of any person dying within the municipality shall be buried at the expense of the corporation,—an intention which would involve such serious consequences that, before giving it effect, the intention of the legislature should be clearly expressed in very different language to that used in the act under discussion.

His lordship said he thought the act did not apply to the claim before him, but reserved his decision.

Br. Bole, Q.C., and Mr. McColl for defendants.

A Modern Balaam.

Written for THE COLUMBIAN.

Our champion crank hath spoken; O! ye gods
And little fishes listen to his words:—
"The joyful reaper reaps as he has sown"—
"From liberal sowing liberal harvests come,"
O! Balaam, thrice hast thou bestrode thine ass,
To bar the city's progress, but, alas!
"It moves, it moves, ye cannot stay the might
Of freeborn peoples struggling for the right.
Thy curses turn to blessing on the foe
As onward to their goal with regal step they go.

Special attention given to FINE WATCH REPAIRS. Having learned the business thoroughly from some of the finest Horologers in England, and since then managed the watch-repairing departments of a few of the best firms on the continent of America, is a sufficient guarantee of good workmanship. Formerly manager for nearly 8 years of the well-known firm of Savage & Lyman, Montreal. Charges Moderate.

MONTREAL, Dec., 1887.—Mr. F. Crake.—Andw. Robertson, Esq., Chairman of Montreal Harbor Commissioners, says: "I never found a Watchmaker who did so well for me as you did when in Montreal, and I am sorry you are not here to-day."
