NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Thomas A. Edison sailed for Europe Satuaday last for the purpose of getting a view of the Paris Exposition, and of the way in which his various inventions are displayed there. He was accompanied by his wife, who is the daughter of another inventor.

Ladies who wish to avoid arrest as scolds, and yet have an uncontrolable desire to talk back, advises an exchange, should invest in a phonograph, and after relieving their minds to this boon of humanity they should quietly desposit it on the back stoop of the offending neigbor and let them have it out together.

Grip has a joke on Scotch caution —"Ye'll be down tae see us on the Sawbeth?" "I wull, if I'm spared." "Oh, aye; gin ye're deed, we'll no expect ye! That is not bad; but the other day, the mayor of Grip's own city, writing from London, said: "We will (D. V.) come home by the latter steamer, if nothing unforeseen occurs." The italics are ours of course. Grip should try his beak on that.

There is a mean man in this village, says the Attica News. He sells milk shakes. The other day his clerk had the chills so very bad that his teeth chattered like a pair of castanets. A man came in and called for a milk shake, and this mean man made the clerk hold the glasss in his hand till the mixture was beautifully shaken. He said he saved the wear and tear of his patent shaker.

Another marriage between English nobility and American beauty is announced. This time it is Lord Edward Fitzmaurice, the younger brother of our late governor-general, Lansdowne, to Miss Caroline Fitzgerald, of New York. Miss Fitzgerald is said to be a classical scholar and a fine linguist, and last, but not least, possesses that which constitutes one of the greatest attractions of the American girl—a large fortune and under her own control.

It is said a wonderful invention has been exhibited for preventing collisions at sea. The motive is electricity. A small plate, not larger than a cheese plate, is fixed at the side of the vessel, and the approach of any vessel within two miles immediately causes a bell to sound, and an indicating arrow shows the direction from which it approaches. The idea, of course, is that waves of sound are carried more quickly by water than air, and, if the invention can be perfected, the torpedo boat is likely to be rendered useless. In the experimental tests that have been made on the Thames the indicator has worked perfectly.

The Johnstown sufferers have been accused of sitting down in despair and holding out their hands to be filled, instead of pluckily going to work to recoup their shattered fortunes, but there are many exceptions to this general charge, most notable among which is the case of Mrs. Mary Johnson. She lost both husband and home and was left penniless with four children. Putting the smallest in a cart, Mrs. Johnson, with her oldest child, a girl of eight years, set out on foot to push the cart to Lansing, Mich., her old home. At Cleveland, Ohio, she was recognized by an old freind, who at once provided this heroine in real life with first-class tickets through to Lansing. There are few Mary Johnsons.—Ex.

Says an exchange: A pretty story, almost too pretty to be true, is told of Princess Louise, who last week wedded the Earl of Fife. It seems that this shy royal maiden has been in love with the earl for years; in fact, even before she came out, but she never told her love, nor did the earl tell his until a kind court busybody, guessing the secret, went to papa with it. And during these five years the princess always bought a birthday present for the man she loved, but as she never dared give it to him, the little gift was laid away in a drawer and carefully locked up. There is something exceedingly touch*ing in this fit of girlish sentiment,* and, with it in mind, no wonder the Prince of Wales spoke of his daughter's engagement as one of pure affection.

Whatever the cause may be, the C. P. R. is giving Toronto lots of taffy just now. It "takes a special pride" in making its buildings in that city "a credit and an ornament," &c., &c. It quite falls in with the city's views about providing a safe means of crossing its tracks, and is quite willing to consent to any feasible plan; and generally, it does not profess to be influenced by other than business reasons in coming into Toronto, it seeks to show that its coming, aside from the usual benefits of railway connection, will prove an unmixed good to the city, on account of the large improvements it proposes to make along the lake shore. All of which seems to indicate that vigorous kicking (for Toronto did kick vigorously) is still an element of success in this wicked world.

Job printing of all kinds neatly done at the COLUMBIAN office. Prices will be found as low as at any other office in the province —Adv

TRIBUTE TO THE BRAVE.

QUEBEC, Aug. 12.—The officers of the citadel are having a commemorative inscription engraved in memory of the brave Major Short, who died a victim to zeal in the terrible St. Sauveur conflagration in May last. It will be placed in the English cathedral of this city. A project is on foot to erect a monument on the spot where Major Short and Sergeant Wallack met an untimely death.

A SUCCESSFUL ASCENT.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12.—Yesterday afternoon Salagnard, the Parisian aeronaut, made his one hundred and twenty-eighth ascent, starting from Mount Royal park. He rose to the elevation of over 7000 feet, crossing the river St. Lawrence at a height of 2000 feet. The balloon drifted rapidly towards Rougemont mountain thirty miles away, where a landing was effected thirty minutes after the start. Salagnard says the trip was a very pleasant one.

DINED SIR SOMERS.

QUEBEC, Aug. 12.—His excellency Lord Stanley, entertained Sir Somers Vine and the officers of the citadel to dinner Saturday afternoon. Sir Somers leaves this afternoon for Riviere Du Loup. He will be the guest of Sir John A. MacDonald.

SAN DOMINGO PIRATES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The state department is investigating the charges made by Capt. Wines, of the schooner H. S. Marloe, recently wrecked at the mouth of the Ozama river, in San Domingo. Capt. Wines alleges that his ship was deliberately run ashore and plundered by the officials of the San Domingo government. He asserts that three other vessels were cast away with apparent intention and looted by native officials.

A TOUGH MAN.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 12.—Dan Phelps, an employee of the Brush Electric Light Co., sustained the full force of a 2200 volt current of electricity ten days ago and returned to work this morning feeling well.

REFUSED TO PAY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The board of health held a special meeting this morning to take action on the persistent refusal of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co. to pay the regular quarantine fee on the arrival of its vessels in port. The board decided the company must pay in future, and will make a demand when the company's steamer City of Puebla, arrives from Victoria to-morrow. If the company still refuses, the board will allow neither the steamer's passengers nor freight to land.

THE CHURCHES.

Summaries of Some of the City Sermons Spoken Sunday.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

At St. Paul's (Reformed Episcopal) church, last evening, the pastor, Rev. Thos. Haddon, discoursed from Psalm 22, 26 v.—"Your heart shall live forever." He spoke as follows: The Bible speaks of the heart as the centre of the affections and passions. The inspired writers often speak of the heart as sinful, viewing it as they do in its natural, sinful form. Like all God's creaton, it was good to commence with, yet, through man's wilful disregard for the Creator, it became depraved; hence (in Genesis chap. 5—6v.) God, seeing "the heart of man was only evil continually," repents that He had created man. Multitudes to-day make Him mourn because of their darkness through the God of this world; while, on the other hand, those who have sought and experienced a change have hearts a copy of God's, and, like David, praise Him for the change. God opens up, searches and tries our hearts, and the importance of the heart being right is seen by the command of Jesus "Love thy Lord thy God with all thy heart and all thy mind." Thus in the bible our heart is joined and applied with our life in a spiritual sense, as it lives forever; the world passes away, and the lust thereof, but the heart and soul will live forever; the material works of God will pass away, but one of his works, the man, the inner man, shall live forever; no gliding away from thoughtful, conscious life is admitted in the teachings of this book. Immortality is taught in this verse, that there is a land in which there will be eternal existence cannot be doubted, a land to which we are drawing nearer day by day. Job couldn't help talking about it when in trouble, and yearn for its realization, and our Lord teaches the doctrine in the parable of the rich man and Lazarus. At the transfiguration Moses and Elias were seen, their bodies had been buried, but their souls lived, and Stephen just before his death speaks of seeing into the other world and beholding Jesus standing at the right hand of God, while Paul had a glimpse into the future state, but was not permitted to reveal what he saw. The book of Revelations is a mysterious account of what was seen by John, and he fails in conception of the vast host and is compelled to express himself as seeing an innumerable company who had washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. The great doctrine of the future state is taught all through the Bible, and this is why we are admonished to prepare, this is why the sacrifice on Calvary took place, this is why the invitation is repeated again and again in the gospel, to come to the fountain and be cleansed; bring your hearts with their sin to Jesus, and He will bear your sorrows and cleanse you from all sin and uncleanness. We have to think of the dead ones gone before, as living—"the heart lives for ever." What a world of thought in that one word, eternity, we cannot fathom its depth, —cannot with our finite minds grasp a conception far reaching enough to understand that which had no beginning and has no end, but goes on, on, no termination; and sometimes when I try to think out its meaning, I have to stop, and, while realizing that it is for ever and ever, the sad thought comes that men believe and live and act as though there were no hereafter, and that when they die they pass into oblivion; how sad their mistake is. Death is not an annihilation; this book not only teaches immortality, but our very conscious being tells us we are accountable beings; hence nations, almost without exception, believe in an after life, although their views of the state beyond this life are diverse. Death is only the beginning of a life that will never end; there are millions in the grave, yet they live, their spirits have gone up and live, although they laid their bodies down to sleep the sleep of death; they have only passed from this sphere of action on to the future and have taken their thought, feeling and faculties with them to glorify Him by whose aid they are permitted to enter; they went not shorn or unattended, but circled with friendship, and all their full faculties. When some of you left the old country, you became dead to your friends, and they mourned at your departure as though you would never return, and you were dead as far as your presence was concerned, yet there lives in you loves as strong of those left behind, and is it not so with those who sailed on into eternity; they are dead to us as far as their bodies are concerned, yet they live and watch over and talk about us, and some go as far as to say they are our protecting angels. Just here, remember that as we live so we die; we carry our love or hate for men or things beyond the grave, therefore, we should feel like David and pray like him, "Create in me a new heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." You can see what you will be like on the other side of death's river, by searching yourself; for the life there will be a reproduction of the life you live here, and as the heart is projected forward into the unknown future, and mystery lies around that future, it should put hope and ambition into the life of men here, and they should form and cultivate a character suited to the eternal existence with God. Brethren, how are we looking to this heart cleansing? With concern and attention let us appeal to Christ to cleanse our hearts from sin. God only can make the heart right, and how important it is to see to the change.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Scouler took as his text last evening Isaiah 43c. 25v.—"I, even I, am He that blotteth out thy transgressions; for mine own sake I will not remember thy sins"—and spoke as follows: In the preceding verses of this chapter God reminds His people of what He had done for them. He says, "I gave Egypt for thy ransom, Ethiopia and Sheba for thee." He reminds them that they were His purchased people, and of many of those blessings which He had bestowed upon them, that he had distinguished them above all the other nations of the earth, but that they had ill requited all the goodness which he had bestowed upon them, that they had forgotten God and lightly esteemed the rock of their salvation. There are in the preceding verses several charges which God brings against them. Foremost of these He charges them with neglecting prayer. He had revealed Himself unto them as the prayer hearing and the prayer answering Jehovah, He had requested them to call upon Him and He would answer them, but instead of presenting their prayers unto God they were found offering them unto dumb idols, unto gods that could not save. Thus they indicated that they were backsliding, that they were wandering away from their God. One of the first indications of a backsliding heart is when prayer is neglected. When men thus neglect to call upon the name of the Lord there is a sure indication that they are forgetting and forsaking God. My young friends, I trust that you will not neglect this duty. Neglect not, I pray you, this sacred privilege. Continue you, I beseech you, to engage in the exercise of prayer. Another charge which God brought against His ancient people was that they had not presented to Him the sacrifices which He required, those sacrifices which were due for their sins. They had learned to offer sacrifice to other gods, to dumb idols which could not save, they had fallen into the ways of the people by whom they were surrounded. They had also trampled upon His moral precepts. They had made Him to serve with their sins; that is, they had taxed His patience to the utmost in bearing with their sins. We might have thought that it would have called forth the righteous judgment of Jehovah; but, no; He waits to be gracious, is waiting still. There are certain things which belong to God. Secret things belong to God. Man should not seek to be wise above what is written. God is not fully revealed. There are things referred to in the bible that are not made fully known, things which probably we would all like to understand, but we must be content with what we do know. God has revealed Himself so far that we may know the way of salvation. There are those who are disposed to reject the gospel because they cannot understand everything in the bible. But the finite mind cannot grasp the infinite in things which are hid. Then that honor and glory which is His belongs to God alone. His people often rob Him of these, and give this honor and glory to idols. Let us seek to give Him that honor and glory which is His. In man's salvation God has been pleased to make use of man as an instrument, but the work and the honor and glory are His. Then, forgiveness belongs to God alone. There are those who arrogate to themselves this power. But all that one poor sinful man can do for another is to direct him to the source from whence forgiveness comes, to direct him to God, who is able and willing to forgive. If we repent and make our confessions unto God, we believe, yea, we are assured, that He will forgive; and He will not only forgive, but forget. He will cast our sins behind His back; He will "put away our iniquities as a cloud and our transgressions as a thick cloud." Return, then, to the Father and obtain this forgiveness, and enjoy His favor and the light of His countenance, that when you are called into His presence it may be to bask eternally in the sunshine of His love.

GRAVE CHARGES.

Boulanger Embezzles Large Sums of Money from the Secret Service Funds.

Both Russia and Turkey Making Active Preparations for the Coming War.

Mrs. Maybrick, the Husband Poisoner, Sentenced to Hang on August 26th.

STARTLING EVIDENCE.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The accounts of M. Reichert, an official of the French commissariat, show that General Boulanger used in his personal propaganda 242,000 francs; that he took from the secret service money $170,000 francs to pay personal debts; and that he subsidized newspapers and furnished his various establishments in elaborate style from the public moneys.

ANGRY IRISHMEN.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—There is a vast deal of gossip over the scene between Balfour and Harrington in the house of commons last week. The Irish member, thoroughly aroused by Balfour's taunts and insulting manner, threatened to drag him below the bar of the house and punish him. The Freeman's Journal says Balfour carries a pistol and would no doubt have used it had Harrington attempted to carry out his threat.

A VILLAGE DESTROYED.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—The village of Sachsenberg, in Waldeck, has been burning since Saturday and is entirely destroyed.

WAR PREPARATIONS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 12.—The Turkish government is pressing on the work on the fortifications at Erzeroum in consequence of the movements of Russian troops on the Armenian frontier. The Russians are organizing bodies of independent cavalry throughout the Caucasus.

RATHER DOUBTFUL.

DUBLIN, Aug. 12.—Announcements have been posted throughout this city by the United Ireland that cipher telegrams have been discovered which prove that the forgeries of letters attributed to Mr. Parnell originated with the Castle officials. The Journal says that it will print in its next issue full details of the discovery, and fasten it on the guilty persons.

IRON-CLAD LAUNCHED.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—The iron-clad "Siegfried" of the German navy was launched at Kiel on Saturday.

FORTY-SIX HOUSES BURNED.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—In a fire at Boskemolle, Sweden, 46 houses were burned.

FOR BERLIN.

VIENNA, Aug. 12.—The Emperor Francis-Joseph of Austria, leaves for Berlin this evening, accompanied by Count Kalnoky.

THE DEATH DAY FIXED.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 12.—The execution of Mrs. Maybrick has been fixed for August 26th.

SAW STANLEY.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—A prince of Bruro tribe, known as Frederick Smith, a convert to Christianity, has just arrived from the Congo. He saw and talked with Stanley on the 28th of November last. He says the explorer was in robust health.

THE CRETAN TROUBLES.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The troubles in Crete are causing considerable uneasiness at both the British and Berlin foreign offices, owing to the opportunity they give Russia for playing the part of the Christian protector in joining with Greece to force Turkey to ameliorate the condition of Cretan Christians, who have for years suffered patiently at the hands of the Turkish administration. The men appointed to administer the government of the country have resorted to every species of brutality to collect the taxes and in addition their own exaction, by which they recoup themselves for the sum they have to pay the palace ring at Constantinople, through whom they have obtained office and hope to retain it. It is admitted that the general disorder and mismanagement which have prevailed for some time, has caused many hitherto peaceful citizens to follow the lead of the wilder revoluntionary spirits and that the consequences may yet be disastrous to the peace of Europe.

THE TRIBUNAL FARCE.

PARIS, Aug 10.—The procureur-general, continuing his arraignment of General Boulanger before the senate, sitting as a high court of impeachment, to-day charged General Boulanger with having tried to corrupt M. Goron, chief of the department of public safety, and Generals Thomasson and Tricoche, and with having received commissions on the purchase of coffee for the use of the army. When the address of the procureur-general was finished, M. Buffet asked leave to speak. The president refused to allow M. Buffet to speak and a prolonged tumult ensued. When order was restored, the president explained that the charges could only be discussed in secret committee. The court then resolved itself into a secret committee, but before further proceedings, M. Kirdrel, of the right, offered a motion declaring the court incompetent to try General Boulanger. This motion and the charges will be debated on Monday.

ON A SPREE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Edward Kelly, who claims he is a silenced priest from Montreal, was arrested at a hotel here last night for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. This morning when arraigned in the police station he handed the judge a letter stating he is a priest and intends to sail for Rome next Saturday. Kelly was committed to the care of the commissioners of charities and corrections, and the churches will be notified of his arrest.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Receiver Gray of the North River Sugar Refinery Co., applied to the supreme court for an order to restrain the sugar refineries trust from declaring or paying any further dividends. The court granted a preliminary injunction, and made an order requiring defendant Co. to show cause to-morrow why the injunction should not be made permanent.

Daily British Columbian

Monday Evening, August 12, 1889.

By the report elsewhere of the public meeting held on Saturday night to take steps to arrange a programme of sports and games in connection with the provincial exhibition, it will be seen that the various committees have been appointed, and that the selections made have been good, insuring so far a successful celebration. It is to be hoped that the committees, and especially the collection committee, will have the prompt and hearty support of the public, and that every one will work together cordially and energetically from this out, so as to have an exhibition, and a programme of sports in connection with it, that will reflect credit, instead of disgrace, upon the royal city. While on the subject, we would urge upon the subscribers to the "Exhibition Fund" in this paper the necessity of paying in their several subscriptions, if it is desired that they should be of any avail for the exhibition this year. If those subscribers who have not yet paid in their amounts would hand them over to the collection committee for the celebration, the object of the fund would be realized as fully as by any other disposal of the money. If this is done, and THE COLUMBIAN notified, we shall acknowledge the payment the same as if made to the bank. If this suggestion does not meet with the approval of the "fund" subscribers, we would make a further suggestion that the said subscribers meet in committee and dispose of the funds in some suitable way in furtherance of the exhibition.

What Garth Grafton did for the "sad, sad city by the straits," some very stupid or spiteful ink-spiller (a correspondent of the Alliston, Ont., Herald, who appears to have recently made a tour of the coast) does for Vancouver. Four columns of "stuff," it is said, appears in the paper mentioned from the correspondent in question, of which the following about the "terminal city" is a sample:

Vancouver is a city of about 3,000 of a population, and is supported chiefly by immigration. One steamer plies daily between Victoria and Vancouver, and one every two weeks between Vancouver and Japan. During our stay we saw one barque waiting to load with lumber, but were unable to discover that anything except the above constitutes the shipping trade of the Pacific. There are quite a few buildings being erected, chiefly stores, mostly all being owned by Sir Donald Smith and Van Horne, of the C. P. R. Company. The town is full of tradesmen and Chinamen. There are eighty plasterers and other tradesmen in proportion."

The above is certainly a notorious example of the untrustworthy lucubrations of the peripatetic scribe, who appears to write very much at random and without taking ordinary pains to insure against ridiculously erroneous statements. British Columbia and its various cities have suffered considerably at the hands of these gentry—we blush to remark that some of them have been ladies—but this reckless misrepresentation has hardly the same power to injure now that it had a few years back, since we have become connected more intimately with the outside world, and an intelligent interest and knowledge concerning the province, its cities and resources, is taking the place of the old time apathy and ignorance. So many people visit the coast these times, and see for themselves, that any glaringly absurd misstatements are not likely to have the influence they have had formerly. And more authentic published information is being disseminated about the province these times, although there is undoubtedly room for much greater exertions in this respect. But just fancy, that any gallful, mole-eyed "easterner" should have the hardihood to put Vancouver's ppulation down to 3,000! It's enough to make the corduroy on Granville street get up on end and execute an Indian war dance. The lowest estimate would give the "terminal city" fully three times the figure of the Herald correspondent. And all the other statements are on a par with this one.

Between the high and dry old tory who is inclined to maintain the old doctrine of the divine right of kings, and the red radical who would abolish all kings and potentates at one fell swoop, there are, of course, many shades of opinion. One of the London weeklies recently set forth the view of, we presume, the milder radicals, on the question of the royal grants, in a very moderate, practical way. "We do not now," it says, "consider monarchy as divinely prescribed. We maintain it because we think that on the whole it has advantages over an elective chief magistracy. But practically the monarch has become simply the hereditary president of the commonwealth * * * the monarch has come to be regarded as an official paid for the discharge of certain great duties * * * the heir-apparent * * * a vice president." And it proceeds to argue that, while these "officials" are worthy of their hire, there is no reasonable or constitutional ground for the payment of public money to other members of the royal family. To the argument that the crown must be surrounded with becoming dignity, our cotemporary answers that a monarch who is well paid can provide a reasonable subsistence for all his children, and that true dignity does not depend upon wealth and display, but upon what people are in themselves; and it adds that if monarchy finds it impossible to adopt itself to this view, another generation will find monarchy impossible. Those who have looked into the matter know that monarchy, in Great Britain, has been adapting itself to that view with tolerable rapidity, and there is no reason to believe that the royal family will peril its hold upon the people by any stupid opposition to the spirit of the age.

There is a tendency with the average man, observes an exchange, to think himself overworked, although the statisticians have never found the number of deaths from this cause large enough to be classified separately. Over-exertion may lead to disease, and finally to death, but the cases which can be traced to this cause alone are exceedingly rare, and do not call aloud for remedy. There is a class of overwork, however, which is of very great moment to the public interest, and that is the excessive labor which officials who have the safety of many of their fellow-beings in their hands may be called upon to perform, such as railway employees, whose daily hours of work are usually very long and who are obliged in so many instances to toil incessantly seven days in the week. The subject of working over-time by railway officials was lately discussed in the British parliament, brought up by the recent fatality in Ireland, where the lives of many people were sacrificed. The practice of keeping men on duty for twelve hours was shown to prevail extensively in England, to the consequent imperiling of the travelling public placed at the mercy of worn and weary men, who would often be physically incapable of exercising the vigilance required to maintain perfect safety. It was shown that the very class of men who have the most important duties to perform were those whose energies were frequently overtaxed and their usefulness impaired. The discussion is expected to do good without any executive or legislative action being taken. Where overwork is established so clearly as it appears to have been done in the case of the English railway employes, it becomes a genuine grievance, and the protection of society demands that it shall be remedied. Many a coroner's jury has carefully investigated the sharpness of railway curves and the strength of driving wheels, has collected evidence regarding signals and the failure to issue or follow directions, in the hope of solving the cause of some great accident. It is a question whether long hours of labor might not be responsible for some of the blunders that lose life and money, and render a large supply of trust necessary when one goes on a railway journey. The average man will continue to make his little complaint against the burden of work, but the specific instances of real over-exertion, such as falls to the lot of these English railway employes, effectually precludes the critic from laying the blame at the door of indolence.

WHERE TOYS COME FROM

Most of Them the Product of Cheap German Labor.

Why the United States Can Not Make the Cheaper Kinds of Playthings—All About Dolls, Toy Locomotives, Ten-Cent Watches and Other Trifles.

"Of the dolls sold in America," said a prominent wholesale dealer in toys to a New York Times man, "nine-tenths come from Germany. Of these a large proportion are made in one little place, Sonneberg, a town of about ten thousand inhabitants in Thuringen. Almost the entire industry of this place is confined to the manufacture of dolls. The inhabitants are very poor people and are brought up to doll-making.

"Before it is completed a doll passes through many hands. The heads, hands and feet are made by one person, the body by another, the hair is fixed on by another, and the face is painted by two other different people, one doing the rough work and the second the finishing touches. The clothing is made by another person and the dresses are put on by still another. All this labor is done at such starvation prices that Americans can not compete in the manufacture, although the duty for importation is thirty-five per cent.

"To this town of Sonneberg there come every year a large number of buyers from all over the world. I go there myself and never fail to meet at least a score of Americans engaged in the same business. There are at least 500 different kinds of dolls, and the variety is remarkable. The French invent many of the most attractive, but the Germans copy them so cheaply that the world's buyers go to the latter for their stock. For the manufacture of fine dress dolls the French still hold the lead by long odds. It is only in the cheaper goods that the Germans outspeed them. England furnishes very few dolls, and I can now recall only one kind that is distinctly English—the English rag doll, which is made wholly of rags, even to the face, the eyes being sewed on. There are French walking dolls, smoking men and other automatic figures, but these do not really belong to the family of dolls. They are mechanical figures, too intricate in their mechanism to be classed as mere dolls. Of the rubber dolls fully one-half are made in America, where any thing that is machine made prospers to the exclusion of imported stuffs.

"The price of dolls ranges from 1 cent to $50, but the most popular are those that sell for 25 cents, 50 cents and $1, although there has been a great run recently on 5-cent and 10-cent dolls.

"As with dolls, so it is with other toys. The most of them come from Germany, where they are made very cheaply. This same town of Sonneberg furnishes many of them, but more come from Nuremberg and small towns in its vicinity. It is in this district that magnetic toys, swords, guns, trumpets, horns, woolly sheep, jumping-jacks, monkeys on sticks, jacks in the box and ingenious mechanical toys are made. The carved wooden toys come principally from the Bavarian highlands, but they are brought to Nuremberg to be sold. The cheaper grades of wooden toys are made in Lower Saxony and comprise cheap arks and sets of furniture.

"How cheaply they make these things you can judge from this instance. Here is a toy of furniture consisting of three chairs, a bureau, a table, a sofa and a mirror, carefully done up in a substantial pasteboard box. Now, after having paid 35 per cent. duty and having allowed 20 per cent. for freight and other expenses, we sell such furniture sets at 75 cents per dozen and make a reasonable profit. You can figure out the original cost if you choose.

"Porcelain toys—tea sets and things of that sort—are also made very cheaply, the paste places in the potteries being filled up with their molds without much additional cost. Toy horses, cows, elephants, cats, dogs, lions, tigers and all kinds of animals are made largely in the German prisons. Many of these are ingenious novelties, being constructed as to be able to move heads and emit a noise resembling more or less the natural cries of each animal. The retail price of these toys runs from 50 cents to $50, according to size and perfection. We sold a toy horse the other day for $50 about the same time a real racer was disposed of at auction up-town for a much less sum.

"Of the wooden toys fully one-half are made in America. They include A B C blocks, building blocks and games, and are easily turned out by machinery. Iron toys are also made largely here, and so are tin toys. The tin for the latter is imported from Europe, and when the toys are finished they are exported for the European market. The majority of the rubber toys come from France, chiefly from Paris, although the manufacture of this line of playthings is constantly increasing in America, and the American rubber toys are really the best to be had. The reason that America has not taken the lead in the manufacture of rubber toys is found in the fact that the demand for other rubber goods is so great as to put out toys. Toy watches are largely made in France and are remarkably cheap. They sell watches with chains, charms and movable hands for 35 cents per dozen, after having allowed for duty and freight.

"Of the standard games the best chessmen come from England; backgammon and checkers are made almost altogether in America; bone dominos, dice and the cheaper grades of chess come from France; by printing presses, locomotives and all that line of goods are domestic. Toy printing presses were furnished formerly almost wholly by the Germans, but latterly the Americans have superseded their Teutonic brethren in this industry. In educational toys America leads the world, and exports large quantities. So it does also in the manufacture of out-door games, lawn tennis, croquet, base-ball, etc."

NATURAL COWARDICE.

Colonel Dudley Tells the Story of a Soldier Afflicted with It.

Talking about courage and cowardice at the club the other day, says the Washington Post, Colonel Dudley remarked that he always had as much sympathy with a coward as he had admiration for a brave man, for he thought nerve was a natural attribute to man, just like a taste for art, the gift of acquiring languages, or musical talent. One man may have a gift for music, while his next-door neighbor may not be able to tell one note from another. So one man may be a natural coward, while his brother or his cousin may be born without a sense of fear.

"I had a case in my own regiment, the Seventeenth Indiana," continued Colonel Dudley. "A young fellow by the name of Woods, who was bright, well educated and came from one of the most respectable families in Indiana. He was a good camp mate, but we were never able to get him into a battle. The sound of explosives or the sight of blood would throw him into hysterics of fear, and when he was placed in a position of danger he would become unconscious—temporarily insane. Finally he deserted, went over into the rebel lines, and then came back with a suit of gray on, expecting that he would be sent to some northern prison as a Confederate. But he was identified, tried by court-martial, and sentenced to be shot as a deserter. He was shot, and, strangely enough, on the day of his execution, for the first time in his life, he behaved like a hero. I never saw a man exhibit the nerve he did. He refused to have his eyes bandaged, but stood up beside his coffin and looked straight into the barrels of the muskets that were pointed at his heart. He made a ante-mortem statement, in which he claimed that his desertion was not due to lack of loyalty, but to bodily fear. He thought he could get out of the army that way, and I believe his words were true."

A Cardinal's Placidity.

Cardinal Haynald, the Hungarian prelate, was leaving his hotel to go to his carriage a few days ago when a child begged him for alms. He felt in his pockets without finding a coin, and, seeing a richly-dressed woman passing, beckoned to her, asked for her purse, and taking from it a liberal sum bestowed it upon the child. Then he thanked the woman gravely, and entering his carriage was driven away.

SINGLE BLESSEDNESS.

A Contented Old Maid Discusses the Marriage Question.

A Few Prominent Hints on the Education of Girls—Marriage a Sad Lottery and, at the Best, a State Full of Cares, Worry and Anxieties.

I have met with very few unmarried ladies who have not appeared to me to feel, after the age of thirty, that their existence was thoroughly comfortless and wretched, writes an "Old Maid" in the New York Ledger. Many have I heard express themselves thus openly; and that such is the fact can very easily be learned by an accurate observer of the human countenance. It is also certain that three out of every five of the young ladies of the present day must remain unmarried, because so many young men think they can not exist on less than two thousand a year when married; and how few men there are with two thousand a year compared with the number of young ladies in the country! There are sometimes five, six, eight girls in one family; generally all tolerably pretty, and most of them pleasing and accomplished women—many possessing talents of no ordinary stamp—yet, perhaps, in our drawing-rooms these lovely and accomplished beings are completely neglected by the other sex, "because" (I must repeat the sentiments I have heard from thousands of young men of fashion) "I never talk to girls. I dare not pay attention to unmarried women, because I am not a marrying man; my friend, ——— flirted with so-and-so, and was accused of behaving improperly. I don't like to excite false hopes; I shall never marry, unless I can find a wife with at least two or three thousand a year, because I am much richer unmarried with the small fortune I have."

It is of no use to quarrel with the state of society as it is at present constituted, for we can not alter it; but I think it might be beneficial to give a few hints on the education of women, which might perhaps be useful in procuring them, in a state of single blessedness, as it is very falsely called, a greater share of happiness, or a less load of misery, than they at present appear to me to possess after the awful age of thirty.

A girl at thirty is called an old maid. She goes to a ball, and generally sits neglected all the evening, or dance with some gentleman who has been asked often to dine at her father's house, and who, perhaps, remarks: "Miss—— is rather passée—a good old girl—and I must do my duty there; and now I shall dance with the beautiful Miss ——." My heart always bleeds for the mortifications I see endured by these poor old girls continually. There are certainly some single women whose talents have made them as much considered in society as they ought to be; but, then, I have generally observed that they have fortunes, or have had advantages above others to bring them into notice, and to give to the natural ambition of the human species some scope of action.

I will suppose a case in which there are four girls—a moderate proportion in one family—and two sons; and I will suppose their father possesses five thousand a year. I will suppose one of the four young ladies very pretty, one tolerably pretty and the other two rather plain. They have been educated, in all probability, as the greater proportion of American girls are. First of all they go every Sunday to church, and are moderately rich, perfectly honorable, upright and well-principled. It is only for their own happiness that I would propose any change in the education of a class for whom I entertain so high a respect.

These four young ladies have all been brought up with the idea that they will become wives and mothers, and are taught to cherish these natural affections which, if by some remote chance one out of the four ever does marry, will make her so amiable and lovely as a married woman. They are all allowed to read modern novels, at least all such as are considered to have a moral tendency. Now, I maintain that there is scarcely one of these works which does not impress any young woman with the idea that happiness can alone be found in love and marriage.

The heroine is very amiable and perfect, surrounded with admirers, all contending for the honors of her least notice; but where is the novel which represents four poor, pretty, unnoticed girls, who are destined to pass their young years without so much as one admirer amongst them? Year after year passes—their bloom and beauty fade—and my four lovely and accomplished warm-hearted beings, having seen all their youthful castles fall one by one, become listless and unhappy. They have little in life to interest them; one dies of a complaint of the spine; another lives many years on arrow-root and calf's-foot jelly, and is enveloped in flannel even in July; a third is under the care of a Dr. S. for indigestion; and, perhaps, the fourth, who is made of tougher materials and born with less feeling than the others—or, perhaps, from having something to occupy her mind, in preparing the arrow-root for one sister and ordering the hard dumplings prepared by Dr. S. for the other—outlives her sorrows and disappointments; and, if she takes an interest in her brother's children, or a share in their education, or in something which gives vent to those affections which are implanted by nature in the breast of woman, she becomes happy.

This, then, appears to me to be the secret too much neglected in female education. Teach the girls, by all means, that one great source of happiness consists in the indulgence of virtuous affection; but do not teach them that there is no affection capable of producing this happiness except such as may be felt for a lover or husband. If the heart be properly regulated it may take a warm and sufficiently engrossing interest in many objects less intimately connected with it. Marriage is a sad lottery, and, at the best, is a state full of cares and anxieties. Freedom and independence ought not to be lightly parted with, or set down as possessions of little value.

Gravity as an Expectorant.

It is claimed in the Polyclinic that in cases of pneumonia where there is great embarrassment of breathing from accumulation of secretion in the bronchial tubes great benefit may often be derived by inverting the patient and having him cough violently while in this position. It is easily accomplished by a strong assistant standing on the patient's bed, seizing the sick man's ankles, turning him with his face downward and then lifting his feet four or five feet above the level of the mattress. If the patient, with his face over the edge of the bed and his legs thus held aloft, will cough vigorously two or three times, he will get rid of much expectoration that the exhaustive efforts at coughing failed to dislodge when not thus aided by gravity. Life has been saved by repeated performances of this maneuver in pneumonia accompanied with great cyanosis, due to inundation of the bronchial tubes with mucous secretion.

Walter Scott's Works.

Never was there a more healthful and health ministering literature than that which Scott gave to the world, says Andrew D. White in Scribner's Magazine. To go back to it from Flaubert, and Daudet, and Tolstoi is like listening to the song of the lark after the shrieking passion of the midnight pianoforte—nay, it is like coming out of the glare and heat and reeking vapor of a palace ball into a grove in the first light and music and breezes of the morning. It is not for nothing that so many thousands have felt toward Scott a deep personal gratitude, which few, if any, other writers of English fiction have ever awakened.

Chess Taught at School.

In the neighborhood of Halberstadt there is a village named Strobeck, of which all the inhabitants are chess players. Chess is regularly taught in the schools, and every year there is a public examination in the game, a distribution of prizes in the shape of chess boards, and a kind of chess tournament and festival at which the six best players in the locality are publicly feted and carried home in triumph.

THE BRAIN (from a photograph.)
Healthy Condition. With Paresis Lesions

There are many well known men confined in our Asylums who but a short time ago were prominent among our business and social circles.

Why are they there?

Paresis!

Did it come on at once?

Not at all. It was a gradual but positive growth. They overtaxed nature. The drain on their vitality, their nerve powers, their brain tissue, was too great, and they gradually but surely sank under it. The things they did to bring this sad end about are precisely the same things being done by thousands of men and women to-day. It is not necessary to name them. They all end disastrously unless checked or regulated.

Prof. Phelps, of Dartmouth College, knew this fully when he began his experiments which resulted in the discovery of the wonderful Paine's Celery Compound. He realized that Paresis (consumption of the brain) was our great National weakness. He knew that the brain and nervous system must be fortified to meet the great strains which modern life bring upon it. He saw that men were becoming debilitated and women weakened by the pressure and demands of life, and he sought and discovered the remedy. Paine's Celery Compound, if rightly taken, will renew the brain and build up nerve tissues as fast as they become exhausted. It is not a narcotic. It contains no drugs, no nostrums. It is perfectly pure. It is absolutely harmless. The high character of its discoverer guarantees this, and the indorsement of the medical and chemical professions prove it.

Port Kells
This Fine Townsite, at the Fresh-Water Junction of the

FRASER RIVER
12 Miles Above Westminster,
Has just been Surveyed, and the Lots are for sale by
WOODS, TURNER & GAMBLE
—AND—
ALBERT J. HILL & COMPANY
OF NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C.
The advantages and prospects of this Plot for a future thriving Town are many.
The Land in the vicinity is good.
There are inexhaustible IRON ORE DEPOSITS, of a superior quality, immediately adjacent, as well as vast strata of the finest BUILDING SAND and POTTERY CLAY.
On the Townsite are a number of valuable MINERAL SPRINGS.
Communication by land and water is unequalled, by reason of the location of the Townsite on the Fraser River and the Southern Railway, while the natural elevation and lay of the land can not be excelled as a situation for a fine town.
The ground is open and clear of heavy timber.
The site has been selected as one of the most important stations on the Southern Railway, and with the completion of the road, in the near future, must, with all its other advantages, spring into prominence at once.
Those who apply early will have the pick of the Lots.
A clear title given with every purchase.
Parties wishing Lots can apply as well, on the premises, to HENRY KELLS,

Mr. Joseph Wise has commenced cribbing the west side of McKenzie street, between Columbia and Front streets. The sidewalk will be laid with the least possible delay and the streets opened for passenger traffic.

The next cricket match, Vancouver vs Westminster, will be played at Hastings on the 24th inst. An effort will be made to arrange a match with Nanaimo at an early date. The next match with Victoria will probably be played during exhibition week.

The American schooner, C. G. Funk, 513 tons register, has been chartered by the Royal City Planing Mills Co. to load lumber at this port for Melbourne, Australia. She is now on her way from San Francisco to this port and will arrive within a week or ten days.

By an advertisement elsewhere, it will be seen that Rev. Prof. Blaikie, D. D., LL. D., F. R. S. Edin., will give an address in St. Andrew's church this city, on Wednesday evening next, instead of to-night, as at first announced. Prof. Blaikie will doubtless have a large audience when he comes.

To-night the Hyacks racing team will hold its first practice for the Tacoma tournament, and from this date forward regular practices will be held until the team is in thorough trim. The Hyacks are determined that if hard work and constant practice will gain the victory, they will come out at the top of the list of winners.

The funeral of the late Charles Stewart, who was drowned from the new North Arm bridge on Saturday, took place this afternoon to the Sapperton cemetery. Rev. Mr. Scouler conducted the services. The deceased was a brother of Capt. Stewart, of the North Arm, who is very widely known in this city. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends of the deceased, both from this city and the North Arm.

The editor and proprietor of the defunct Donald Truth has gone to Westminster, where we understand he intends to commence the publication of a morning newspaper. We understand he has in view the "waking up of the dead" in the royal city, the "dead" being supposed to be represented by present publications. We imagine he will find one of them at least to be a rather lively corpse. What do you think, Mr. Columbian?—Kamloops Sentinel.

A reception was lately tendered to Rev. Professor Blaikie, of Edinburgh, and Rev. Dr. Ormiston, of New York, at Los Angeles, California, by the members of the Caledonian club. The hall of the club was beautifully decorated with flowers, and it was crowded to overflowing. President J. O. MacLean briefly introduced both gentlemen to the Scottish community of Los. Angeles. Drs. Blaikie and Ormiston replied, and addresses were delivered by many of the resident clergymen, and by Judge McKinley, of the supreme court.

CONFIRMED.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, a few years ago, has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it, and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers, the Cal. Fig Syrup Company.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Knights of Pythias.

Royal Lodge No. 6 K. of P. which was established in this city only a few months ago is now in a flourishing condition, and bids fair to outstrip any lodge in the province. Royal Lodge started with a membership of 28, which has been steadily increased every meeting night till it now numbers 55. At the election of officers for the present term the following were elected: T. Ackerman, C. C; T. Gifford, V. C; J. E. Knight, M. of R. & S; J. B. Kennedy, M. E; J. L. Chisholm, M. F; T. Turnbull, P; N. Nelson, M. A; S. Eastman, O. G; E. McNair, I. G; J. Harling, P. C.

Falling Trees.

The forest fire which has been burning on the opposite side of the river for several weeks, is beginning to make itself heard by the crash of falling trees. Many of these mammoth trees have become undermined by the fires, and are continually toppling over and falling to the earth with a crash like the sound of a cannon shot. All Saturday night and last night the noise made by these falling mammoths resembled a heavy cannonade, and all that was required to make one fancy himself in the vicinity of bloody war, was an occasional volley of musketry, or an explosion of fire-crackers in Chinatown.

Railway Grading.

Mr. Jas. Leamy, the contractor for grading the line of the Southern Railway from Brownsville to the boundary has been very busy for the past few days trying to find men to work on the contract. Owing to the unusually large number of men employed by the canneries this year, laborers are not at all a drug on the market, and it is rather a difficult task to gather a large force of men together. Mr. Leamy has succeeded in employing a fair number already and he hopes by Monday next to have 300 extra men at work on the grading. Sub-contractors will be given a chance to contract for the work in sections to suit their capacity.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The regular monthly meeting of the association will be held on Wednesday evening of this week. New members will be elected and also delegates to the convention to be held in Vancouver from September 19th to the 22nd. An athletic exhibition will be given by the Y. M. C. A. gymnastic class on Wednesday evening, August 21st. Rev. Thos Baldwin will address the young men on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Arrangements are being made for a course of lectures to be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. during the fall and winter. Members of the association will be admitted on their membership tickets.

Drowned from a Skiff.

Yesterday afternoon a man named Daly, with a companion, started for Brownsville in a skiff. Daly, who was considerably the worse of liquor, undertook to steer the boat with an oar while his friend did the pulling. When about half the distance to Brownsville had been covered, Daly, who was standing up, made a miss stroke and fell headlong over the stern of the boat into the water and sank immediately. The man who was pulling the oars, backed water and waited for him to rise, but nothing more was seen of him, and his body has not yet been recovered. The name of Daly's companion could not be definitely ascertained, and nothing reliable could be learned of the deceased's antecedents.

A Fitting Tribute.

Acting Mayor Townsend has been requisitioned to call a public meeting to discuss the advisability of giving a public dinner to the Hon. Edgar Dewdney, minister of the interior, on the occasion of his visit to Westminster, this month. Hon. Mr. Dewdney is well and favorably known throughout British Columbia by the pioneers of the province, in the ranks of which he is proud to line himself, having been one of the first to wash the Cariboo waters for the golden dust. He was at one time a resident of Westminster, and has always taken a lively interest in this city, as well as the province in general, since his removal to the east. To an old resident and a pioneer of the province, who has attained to such honors and distinction as has the Hon. Edgar Dewdney, no more fitting or appropriate tribute could be paid than a public recognition of this kind, and at which, sans ceremonie, he and the other pioneers of early civilization in British Columbia, may meet and again renew their old time acquaintance.

Sports and Games.

The public meeting called for Saturday night to discuss the exhibition celebration, though small in point of attendance, was very enthusiastic and unanimous. At 8.30 o'clock acting Mayor Townsend took the chair and called the meeting to order, after which he addressed the audience on the object of the gathering, explaining the benefit of the celebration would be to the city, and the additional attraction it would give to the provincial exhibition. Mr. L. P. Eckstein was elected secretary pro tem. Mr. Curtis was sorry to see such a poor turn out; it was a disgrace to Westminster. He had expected the citizens to take hold of the matter before, but not having done so the council had taken the work in hand and had called this meeting. He suggested that the secretary read the rough draft that had been prepared. The draft with comments was passed as follows:

Executive and reception: The mayor and aldermen, John Hendry, I. B. Fisher, R. Dickinson, G. D. Brymner, H. V. Edmonds, B. Douglas and Dr. Fagan.

Printing committee: P. Grant, S. T. Mackintosh and F. G. Strickland.

Boating and sailing: J. A. Laidlaw, Wm. Johnston, Alex. Ewen, H. Elliott, J. W. Harvey, A. M. Herring, James Wise and R. F. Drummond.

Athletic sports and games: E. S. Scoullar, Thos. Mowat, P. Grant, J.E. Gaynor, Thos. Ovens, J. C. Whyte, L. A. Lewis, C. Hamber, G. Raymond, H. Wilson, R. Lister, J. S. Clute, jr., S. Woods, A. O. Campbell, H. Read and J. S. Walker, with power to add to their numbers.

Music and dancing: T. J. Trapp, W. H. Keary, R. J. Rickman, W. McColl, J. S. C. Fraser and L. P. Eckstein.

Horse races: Under control of B. C. Jockey Club.

Rifle competition: Under control of N. W. Rifle association.

Fire works: W. Moresby, J. C. Armstrong, H. Hoy, M. Sinclair, Wm. Johnston, R. F. Anderson, Col. McGregor, G. I. Schetky and A. E. Rand.

Excursion committee: Mayor and aldermen.

Decoration: S. J. Thompson, J. S. Clute, sr., C. E. Holt, W. A. Duncan, R. J. Rickman and C. Murray.

Procession: T. Ovens, J. C. Whyte and S. J. Thompson, with power to add to their numbers.

Collection committee: The mayor, T. J. Trapp, B. Douglas, W. Wolfenden, R. Dickinson, E. S. Scoullar.

On motion it was decided that the chairman of each committee be a member of the executive committee. The secretary was instructed to communicate immediately with the heads of every society in British Columbia, asking them to take part in the grand procession. The appointment of a permanent secretary was left in the hands of the executive committee. It was then decided that the sub-committees meet at the city hall on Tuesday night, arrange programme, and prepare an estimate of appropriation required by each committee, the same to be laid before the general meeting on Saturday night. The necessity of the collection committee making a thorough canvass without delay, was urged and the secretary was instructed to notify each committeeman, by post card, of the meeting on Tuesday night. The meeting then adjourned.

Police Court.

(Before T. C. Atkinson, P.M.)

William Shields, was found on Ewen's wharf at 9:30 o'clock last evening, by Constable Smith, dead drunk and sound asleep. He was lying within a few inches of the edge of the wharf and had he happened to turn over just once he would have dropped into the water, and very probably would have been drowned. Fortunately the constable happened to come along and removed him to the lockup where he slept off the effects of his spree in perfect safety. He pleaded guilty, but explained in extenuation that he had just arrived from a month's sojourn at Chilliwack, and the relief was too much for him. Fined $2.50 or 10 days.

Charles Wise, charged on the information of Ralph Jameson with feloniously stealing a boat valued at $10. Jameson swore he lost the boat on May 15th and saw no more of it until a week ago last Sunday, when he found it in possession of Wise near Pitt river bridge. Wise promised to bring the boat down and settle for it, but did not do so. He left the boat somewhere and then said he would have the matter fixed up later. Wise said he had bought the boat and paid for it, but had no doubt it belonged to Jameson. Adam Read swore he had owned the boat and sold it to Jameson for 10 gallons of beer; gave 5 gallons of the beer to Gray for his interest in the boat. Gray afterwards claimed the boat and sold it to Wise, but agreed to get it back again and return it to Jameson. For the defence Wise produced witnesses who swore Gray had sold the boot for $3 to him. Gray swore he had sold the boat to Wise. The magistrate gave Read and Gray a severe lecture on their conduct in not stating who was the owner of the boat before selling it. Wise, the magistrate said, was perfectly innocent of the charge brought against him, and, if he wished, had good ground for a civil action. Case dismissed with costs.

Drowned in the Fraser.

Yesterday afternoon a carpenter named T. W. Stewart, who was engaged at work on the new bridge over the North Arm of the Fraser river, was drowned. From the facts which could be gathered it appears that Stewart, while assisting in raising a heavy piece of timber, was struck on the head and fell into the water in a condition of unconsciousness. This appears to be the fact, as he did not make an effort to save himself, although it was known that he was an expert swimmer. The body of the unfortunate man was taken out of the *water about half an hour after the ac*cident, and the circumstances of the casualty were reported to the police here by Mr. Smith, the foreman of the bridge carpenters. The deceased has a brother living on Sea Island.—Sunday's News.

Dissatisfied Miners.

The Pennsylvania negroes, who arrived at the Union mines last Sunday on the steamer Princess Louise, are not satisfied with the terms offered, says the Nanaimo Courier, and, although some have gone to work, others sold what valuables they had and are now footing it down the coast en route for the United States. Great indignation prevails at the action taken by the management in the matter of importing foreign labor when the home market is overstocked and white men are leaving, being unable to obtain employment. No violence has been offered to the colored miners, the men seeming to think that perhaps the evil will work itself quietly to a head in the near future. At present only two or three negroes have started on the return journey, the road having been represented to them as being very rough, but more are expected to follow ere long, and the general verdict is good riddance.

The Jap Threw Arena.

The Tacoma Globe has the following account of Monday night's struggle between Matsada Sorakichi and Pietro Arena, in that city: "The Jap was attired in dark tights, while Arena wore white tights and blue trunk. Paddy Meagher was selected as referee, and called time at about 11 o'clock for the first bout, which was catch-as-catch-can style. The Jap, who was in very poor condition, found that Arena was a wrestler of some ability, and was pushed to throw the latter with a Nelson and leg hold in seven minutes. The second fall was Greco-Roman style. Arena here showed that this style was his best, and although throughout he acted entirely upon the defensive, yet drew immense applause from the house by the manner in which he evaded the Jap's efforts to secure a full Nelson upon him, and for his great activity. After several herculean efforts the Jap finally succeeded in securing his favorite neck and shoulder hold and laid the Italian 'both shoulders down' in the space of twenty-two minutes."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The "Lion" and the Mouse.

The Vancouver World is responsible for the following: "An amusing story is in circulation, and whether true or not, is more or less interesting. Until recently, so the tale goes, Dr. G. Hamilton Griffin, a penitentiary prisoner, occupied a cell upon the highest tier in the prison. The authorities had a suspicion that the prisoners in that tier held communication with each other, but they could not discover by what means for a long time. After a while a careful watch was kept and then it was discovered that the doctor was in possession of a trained mouse, to which he attached letters by means of a string, and then allowing the little creature to run through the ventilator, was thus *enabled to converse with his neigh*bors. The mouse was an ordinary one which the prisoner had caught in his cell and tamed. It is needless to say that Dr. Griffin was speedily removed to more congenial quarters.

The Late Superintendent.

A glance at the door of Superintendent Roycraft's residence on Courtenay street disclosed several sheets of blue and white paper to the eagle eyed reporter of the Times. The light breeze wafted the papers around and the reporter, seeking information regarding the whereabouts of the gallant superintendent, carried his investigation far enough to inspect the documents. The first paper inspected was headed "Thomas Argyle, plaintiff, versus H. B. Roycraft, defendant. *The plaintiff claimed $400 on a pro*missory note with $13.33 interest. The next notice was a claim by the Hudson Bay Company for $290.75. This account was for $151, account rendered; one hat, $6.75, wine, $7; cigars $26; total $290.75. The third document was issued by McLean & Stewart, account rendered, $104. Document number four was issued at the instance of Joshua Davies for the amount of $400, money loaned, with $75 commission. A. A. Aaronson's claim for $257, money loaned, was tacked up near the other papers issued by the sheriff. The claims aggregate $1233.08, which will be levied by distress on the furniture of defendant unless the claims are settled within eight days. The government auditor examined the books of the departed superintendent a few days ago, and it is reported discovered several shortages. Amounts for licenses, etc., running over many months, are said to have been collected and never paid over to the treasury.—Times.
