SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

The geological map of France, commenced in 1852, has just been completed, making 48 sheets.

Since 1880 encouraging progress has been made under an efficient superintendent toward restoring the forests of Cape Colony.

A Russian mineralogist, K. D. Chrustschoff, claims to have discovered a new metal, which he proposes to name "Russium." It resembles thorium.

An analytical balance of variable sensitiveness—adapting it to ordinary weighings or delicate determinations— has been brought out in Germany.

A remarkable specimen of amber from an unknown locality in southern Mexico measures 4 by 3 by 2 inches; is perfectly transparent, and is said to be even more beautiful than the opalescent or green amber of Sicily. The natives who bring this amber to the coast report that in the interior it is so plentiful as to be used for making fires.

Including the Pasteur Institute of Paris, twenty laboratories for the prevention of hydrophobia are now reported. There are six in Russia—at Odessa, St. Petersburg, Moscow, Cracow, Samara, and Tiflis; five in Italy—at Naples, Milan, Turin, Palermo, and Bologna; one each in Vienna, Constantinople, Bucharest, Rio Janeiro, Buenos Ayres, Havana, Chicago, and Malta.

According to Mr. Phineas S. Abraham, there can be but little doubt that leprosy is really increasing in parts of India, in south Africa, and in some of the West Indian colonies, but it is making little or no progress, or is even disappearing, in Australia, New Zealand and Canada. The census of 1881 gave 131,618 lepers for British India, but the number is thought to have been much too low.

FIGHTING A PEST.—In Cypress the eggs of locusts are gathered, and the developed insects are caught in systems of screens. The quantity of eggs collected was 37½ tons in 1879, 236 tons in 1880 and 1330 tons in 1881. More than 6,000 screens were used in 1882, 195,000,000,000 insects were destroyed; while in 1886 there were more than 11,000 screens and 13,000 traps, the former representing an aggregate length of about 315 miles.

A BRONZE BUDDHA.—The largest and most remarkable of the ancient bronze images of Japan is at Nara, a little to the east of Kioto. This is about 800 years old, is 53½ feet high and more than 28 feet across the shoulders. It has 966 curls on its head, and is surrounded by a halo 78 feet in diameter, bearing 16 images each 8 feet long. The figure is said to consist of 500 pounds of gold, 16,287 pounds of tin, 1954 pounds of mercury and 986,080 pounds of copper. Two smaller images, each 25 feet high, stand before the larger one.

COLOR OF EYES AND HAIR.—From M. Topinard's observations on the color of eyes and hair in 180,000 persons in France many interesting results have been deduced. One of the most curious is that a race formed from a mixture of blondes and brunettes shows the hereditary blonde element in the eyes, the brunette in the hair, this tendency accounting for the variety of a combination of light hair and dark eyes. The assertion that the Americans—a pre-eminently mixed race— are fast becoming a dark-haired and blue-eyed nation is in accordance with this law.

GERMINATION UNDER ELECTRIC INFLUENCE.—In experiments by Mr. H. N. Warren, pads of cotton were saturated with a dilute saline solution and sown over the surface with common mustard seed, then placed upon platinum plates connected with four constant ferric chloride cells. Germination over the positive plates became distinctly visible in less than twenty four hours, and the growth was more than an inch and of intensely green color at the end of a week. The germination over the negitave plate scarcely commenced in the week and was almost white. On reversing the current, the green plates withered, and the others flourished for a time and then also faded. The bleaching is believed to have been due to the liberation of chlorine, and not to the direct action of the current.

DURABILITY OF COLORS.—A study of the action of light on water-colors has been made by Dr. Russell and Capt. Abney. They find that blue light has the greatest effect, green less, and red rays the minimum influence. Dampness hastens fading, but heat does not appear to affect it, and all pigments are permanent in a vacuum. Mineral colors are far more stable than vegetable. Of thirty-nine single colors examined, twelve were not acted upon by light, viz: Yellow ocher, Indian red, Venetian red, burnt sienna, chrome yellow, lemon yellow, raw sienna, terra verte, chromium oxide, Prussian blue, cobalt, French blue, and ultramarine ash—all except Prussian blue being purely mineral pigments. Permanent mixtures were: Raw sinna and Venetian red, raw sienna and Antwerp blue, cobalt and Indian red. Carmine, crimson and scarlet lake, Payne's gray and Naples yellow wore the most fugitive of colors examined.

INSURRECTION AT HONOLULU.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—News has reached here of a desperate attempt to overthrow the government of the Sanwich Islands. The Pacific Commercial Advertiser, of Honolulu, of July 31*st says*: Two half white Hawaiians, Robt. Wilcox and Robt. Boyd, who had been sent at the government's expense to be educated at an Italian military school, had been plotting an insurrection for some time, but current rumors were little heeded until the movement culminated in an armed band of about a hundred and fifty natives marching from Palama to Honolulu and entering the palace grounds, arriving at Manka gate of the palace at four in the morning. The Palama rioters were joined by other squads, and at one time the rebels upon the palace grounds must have numbered about two hundred and fifty. The king, who was absent at the time at the residence of his consort, was notified by telephone, and the royal party went to the king's boat house, where they remained, guarded by the household troops. The rebels knocked at the palace gates and demanded admittance, and finally forced their way inside the gates. Then they demanded the surrender of the palace of L. S. Parker, but he refused. Seeing this stubborn resistance many rebels deserted, but Wilcox maintained his position with the 150 who remained. A general alarm was spread through the city by telephone and the Honolulu rifles were ordered to report at their armory. A cabinet council was held early in the forenoon, at which were determined vigorous measures. Col. V. V. Ashford was appointed to command the government forces. He went to the King street entrance of the palace grounds, but not before several shots had been exchanged between the rebels and the Honolulu rifles. The rioters had turned a field piece on the sharpshooters, who had found a lodgment in the opera house commanding the palace ground. The field pieces were soon silenced by the fire of the sharpshooters. By eleven in the morning the rebels had all taken shelter in a bungalo in the palace grounds, and the fire of the rifles had slackened to an occasional shot as a rioter came in range. The afternoon advanced, and deserters from the rebels began to come in who gave news that demoralization had set in among the rebels. About thirty surrendered at one o'clock. At half past five giant powder bombs were thrown at buildings where the rebels were hid, and after an hour's bombardment, they surrendered and were locked up.

AFTER THE MURDERER.

CANYONVILLE, Ogn., Aug. 10.—L. Pucket, who during a quarrel about lumber yesterday, killed J. S. Catching by crushing his skull with a scanting, and made his escape, is reported to have been seen a few miles above here last night. Officers have gone out this morning.

AN EMBEZZLER CAUGHT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—George W. Ryan, secret service officer of Hamilton county, Ohio, left for Sacramento this morning to obtain proper papers on which to take back to Cincinnati Marshall M. Lafferty, of that city, who has been arrested in San Luis Obispo, this state. Lafferty while in the capacity of conductor on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, last October, embezzled $30,000 and made his escape.

A DOUBLE MISTAKE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—Dr. Jeanette and R. J. Devins are the names of the physician and druggist's clerk who are alleged to have caused the death yes*terday of a child, the former* by prescribing the wrong medicine and the latter by giving what he thought the doctor intended to prescribe. The father of the child has entered action against the doctor.

THE POISONING CASE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—Throughout the city, and especially in medical circles, there is much excitement over the poisoning case. It is held by the friends of Dr. Jeanette, who wrote the prescription, that the druggist was wrong in substituting anything. The prescription originally was one which could not be made up. The friends of Mr. Bennard, employed at Devins' drug store on Notre Dame street, contend that sulphate is often used for bisulphate, and, as no such thing as bisulphate morphine exists, it was natural to use sulphate instead. Should the case come before the court it will prove most interesting.

SIR SOMERS VINE.

QUEBEC, Aug. 10.—Sir Somers Vine, after an address to the board of trade yesterday afternoon, was treated to an excursion around the harbor. He goes to Riviere Du Loup on Monday to interview the Dominion premier and then shapes his course for the maritime provinces and west Indies.

THE MEDICOS DINED.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 10.—The banquet to the visiting medical gentlemen at the queen's last night was a magnificent affair in point of enthusiasm and general arrangements. The visitors seemed to be thoroughly pleased with the reception given them, and the attention shown, more especially in connection with the banquet, and in their speeches the wealth of gratitude bubbled out on all sides. The dining room, which was filled to its utmost capacity, was completely decorated with flags, and presented a gay appearance.

DUMAS RETURNS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 10.—Mr. Dumas, jr., returned to the city yesterday from Paris, having been compelled to leave Buffalo Bill's wild west combination on account of ill health. He found the climate of Paris did not agree with him. Mr. Goulet, another Manitoban, was in the hospital for 8 days. On the return journey Dumas was several weeks under treatment in Chicago. His return has been hastened by news of serious illness of his father at Lake Manitoba, for which place he leaves this afternoon. He says Gabriel Dumont did not go to Paris, but at last accounts was lying sick at Fort Assiniboine.

A BIG HAUL.

QUEBEC, Aug. 10.—Another seizure of smuggled whiskey is reported from one of the lower parishes. The haul consisted of 16 barrels.

A STUPID CAPTAIN.

YAROUTHM, Aug. 10.—The inquest on the body of James Cosman, the hostler killed on Tuesday by a cannon ball, has resulted in a verdict of accidental death, but the jury charges Capt. I. R. Jolly, who fired the gun, with stupidity.

REGRETTED STANLEY'S REPLY.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 10.—The branch of the equal rights association has passed a resolution regretting Lord Stanley's action in the Jesuit matter, and expressing approval of Manitoba's alleged determination to rid herself of separate schools and the dual official language system.

A VICE REGAL VISIT.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—The governor-general and Lady Stanley visited the legislative library yesterday. Lieut.-Governor Angers, Premier Mercier and Speaker Marchand joined the vice regal party and paid their respects.

NUMEROUS DESERTIONS.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Some twenty men are reported to have deserted from B battery within the past fifteen days.

WRECKED SEAMEN.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Forty-four of the crew of the wrecked Montreal came up on board the str. Sarmatian which arrived this morning. They will be paid off here.

BRISK SHIPPING.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—No less than sixty-three steamers and sailing vessels are now loading at this port for the United Kingdom. Such activity has not been seen for many years.

AN AGED PRIEST DEAD.

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—Rev. Father James Haban, a well-known member of the Sulpician Order is dead. He was at the time of his death, in point of ordination the oldest priest of his diocese, and his decease confers that distinction upon Rev. Father Rooney, at present co-administrator of the arch-diocese.

THE LATEST ORDER.

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—The customs department have refused permission to the directors of the union agricultural society of the eastern townships, the annual show in connection with which will be held at Clarenceville, Quebec, next month, to bring in cattle, sheep and swine for competition at the exhibition, although the animals will only be in Canada for two or three days, and be but a few miles across the boundary. It is deemed expedient not to give the imperial authorities the faintest reason for scheduling Canada.

GLAD TO WITHDRAW.

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—It will be remembered that some weeks ago the postmaster-general instituted legal proceedings against a party in Montreal, and the great Northwestern Telegraph Co. at Hamilton, for infringement of the postal act by the private delivery of letters. In the Montreal case the postmaster-general secured a conviction, and now the great Northwestern Telegraph Co., at Hamilton, ask for a withdrawal of proceedings in view of their entering into an understanding that avoids such infringment in future. It is understood that the minister of justice has advised that under the circumstances proceedings be withdrawn on the terms mentioned and payment of accured costs.

WANTS INVESTIGATION.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—An investigation is likely to be ordered by the government into certain charges brought by the English board of trade against a shipping office here. It is asserted the proceeds of a certain bill of exchange, drawn up for the relief of Capt. Thompson and crew of the bark Peeress, wrecked near Gaspe some time ago by collision with an English cruiser, were never applied to legitimate objects.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—The equal rights association held a mass meeting on Monday evening to get a report from the Quebec delegates.

BADLY INJURED.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Two women, employed by Carrie Laine & Co., were badly wounded yesterday by the explosion of a boiler on which they were at work.

SIR SOMERS VINE.

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Sir Somers Vine had an interview with Premier Mercier and other members of the local government yesterday, and will address the board of trade this afte. noon.

SERIOUS TRAIN ACCIDENT.

CHARLOTTE, Aug. 9.—The night express on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Railway, bound west, ran into the Rochester train this morning near Forest Lawn, telescoping four cars of the train and killing one passenger and badly injuring eight others.

A NICE SALARY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Ex-Attorney-General Garland has been appointed resident attorney of the Northern Pacific Railroad at a salary of $25,000.

Ice for the Million.

The manufacture of ice in blocks eight feet thick and four feet wide, was commenced in this city this morning. A small block of the manufactured article was exhibited at Campbell's corner. It is bright and clear and appears to be a first class article. The freezing tank was patented by J. C. Kilton, who has charge of the works at present, and it is the intention to turn out seven tons a day. Ald. Kelly is to be congratulated on the success of his new venture. He deserves the appreciation and patronage of the people of British Columbia.—Times.

A young boy named Dickey was arrested yesterday at Montreal on a charge of trying to set fire to two wholesale dry goods houses.

A SUBMARINE VESSEL.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—A successful trial of the submarine torpedo vessel "Elperal," was made yesteday at Cadiz.

WILLIAM'S PROGRAMME.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—The programme of the coming journey of the Emperor William has been arranged as follows: Accompanied by the empress, he will attend the Wagner performances at Baireuth, August 16th; on the 19th they go to Leubenstein, where a hunting party has been arranged for the emperor; 23rd to Metz; 24th to Munster, from which they return next day to Berlin.

THE VENTUROUS BLONDIN.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—Blondin has accepted a wager of $40,000 to walk on a cable stretched from the Eiffel Tower to the dome of the main exhibition building in less than 5 minutes. The cable will be strung in a few days, and Blondin will attempt the feat as soon as the arrangements are completed.

BOULANGER'S TRIAL.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The procureur-general continuing his arraignment of General Boulanger before the high court of impeachment to day, charged that General Boulanger held a veritable political court at Clement-Ferrand; that he organized secret intrigues, electoral agitation and a system of corrupting officials; that he wrote to the war office disclaiming any personal connection with what had been done in his name. The procureur was here interrupted by vigorous protests from the senators of the right against the severity of his language. But he was still more severe when allowed to proceed. The documents before the court, he said, marked General Boulanger's downward path from insubordination to intrigue, falsehood and conspiracy. The evidence showed that General Boulanger tried to have Prince Bismarck informed that he (Boulanger) only desired to be appointed consul for life.

MR. ABBOTT'S MISSION.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Hon. J. J. C. Abbott has decided to proceed to Australia via Canada. He sails on August 22nd, and will have final consultations with his colleagues in Ottawa and then proceed to Australia via San Francisco with Mr. Brown, M.P., and Mr. Parmalee, inspector of customs. Mr. Abbott conferred with the Australasian agents-general here and was received most kindly and given by them letters to their respective governments in the colonies. The place of the inter-colonial conference is not yet known. Canada enters the conference with no further programme than to secure joint action among the colonies in order to promote a greater interchange of products. The result of Mr. Abbott's mission is awaited with much interest here. Reports of impending ministerial changes at Ottawa have reached here from Canada. It is stated that Mr. Abbott will be made minister of trade and commerce, the departments of customs and inland revenue being merged in those of finance and trade. Mr. Abbott says he knows nothing of any such changes and thinks them most unlikely.

Resolution of Sympathy.

The annexed resolution of condolence from the Surrey municipal council was forwarded the Hon. John Robson, provincial secretary, a few days ago:

"That the reeve and council of the corporation of the district of Surrey hereby desire to express the profound sorrow they felt on learning of the demise of the hon. attorney-general, Mr. A. E. B. Davie, also to assure the government of the sympathy of the council and people of Surrey with them in the loss the province at large has sustained by the death of Mr. Davie."

JAMES PUNCH, Reeve.
H. T. THRIFT, Clerk.

Surrey Council.

Council met pursuant to adjournment. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved. Communications received from D. Robson, Esq., C. M. C. N. W. city, informing the reeve that smallpox was believed to be prevalent in Ah Foo's wood camp, near the river; from A. Murphy, D. McKenzie and others re bridge over Nicomekl river; an account of $7.50 from Thos. Dominy for services rendered in the burial of a Chinaman at Ah Foo's camp, ordered paid. Reports were received from the reeve and Dr. I. M. McLean, re the small-pox outbreak, near the river. Dr. I. M. McLean had investigated the place and surroundings and found a Chinaman dead, and three children recovering from the disease, he had vaccinated all who were unprotected in the neighborhood and instituted a vigorous quarantine around the infected locality, with Dr. D. McLean in charge. The action of the reeve in the matter was fully endorsed and approved, and he was requested to proceed as may be necessary to stamp out the disease; from W. Thibedeau, Esq., C.E., together with plans, profiles, etc., for the Surrey drainage and dyking scheme, received and approved. The drainage, road tax, and highway bylaws were advanced to the third reading. The clerk was instructed to request D. Chisholm, Esq., M. P., to obtain the petition from a party or parties in Surrey, praying the government to make no further grants for the improvement of the navigation of the Serpentine and Nicomekl rivers, as such expenditure in the petitioners' opinion was calculated to be an injury rather than a benefit to the people of Surrey. Resolutions of sympathy with Mrs. A. E. B. Davie, and with the government, on the demise of the late Hon. A. E. B. Davie, were passed. The council adjourned until Saturday, Aug. 10th, at 1 o'clock, p.m.

Saturday Evening, August 10, 1889.

We have not heard of a writ being issued yet for the election which will be necessary in Lillooet district to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late Hon. A. E B. Davie, but the document will be out shortly, we suppose. In the meantime the electors of Lillooet should be casting about them for a fit and proper person from among themselves to represent them in the legislature. It is more than probable that such an one can be found, and it will obviate the rather humiliating and undesirable expedient of bestowing their suffrages upon an absentee, a non-resident, one whose interests are all elsewhere than in the district he would thus represent (?) There may have been some excuse for this sort of thing in past years in the province, but there is none now. In all cases mainland men at least should represent mainland constituencies. The only exception that should be tolerated to this rule is in the case of members of the cabinet, who must, of course, reside at the capital, wherever their constituencies might be. With this necessary exception, however, we hope to see the principle we have urged obtaining in all elections in the province in future.

Dr. Milne has consented to act as a sounder for the opposition shallows, and will try conclusions with Mr. Theodore Davie in Victoria. Dr. Milne is generally conceded to be quite eligible as a candidate, and would make a good representative, but it is very difficult to imagine on what grounds the electors of the capital would refuse to re-elect Mr. Davie and return his opponent, when the former would give his constituents representation both in the house and the government, and the latter must, for the remainder of this parliament at least, rest under the disability of the very cold shades of a forlorn opposition. It is quite a foregone conclusion that Mr. Davie will be returned. He has shown no disloyalty to his constituency in the past and may be counted on to zealously further its interests in the future. We confess we can see no sense in the new attorney-general's bombastics about the "Northern Railway," but then, his constituents, accepting the spirit of that utterance, will probably love him all the better for it. We have been considering Mr. Davie's candidature from the point of view of the electorate to which he is directly responsible, and can see no reason why he should not have practically a walk-over. From a provincial standpoint, viewing him as attorney-general and a member of the government, there can be no doubt, we think, that a better, though perhaps not an abler, man has gone before. However, Mr. Theo. Davie was undoubtedly the best material at the government's disposal, and his standing as a lawyer, particularly as a criminal lawyer, is a guarantee of his sufficiency for the specific duties of his portfolio. As to the new cabinet as a whole, it is, as ever, composed of picked men, and the most casual observer having any acquaintance with men and measures in British Columbia must admit that the provincial government is still a strong one.

The present age is one of almost open agnosticism. There is a marked yearly increase of unbelief among the younger members of the community, remarks America, an independant secular magazine, published in Chicago, which is noted for its outspokenness on all questions affecting the American commonwealth. It is to be feared that its remarks on the subject will apply in a measure elsewhere than in the States, and its comments which follow are certainty worthy of being read and pondered by the young everywhere. We do not refer to the middle and lower classes so much as to the so-called upper class—the young men of wealth, education, and position—continues America, and adds: The skepticism they display is, indeed, alarming; and unless measures are taken to check its spread, the most serious consequences will ensue. No irreligious people can be long prosperous; the lack of faith of some sort is destruction to morality and honor, as believing in no supreme power there are no ties of belief to curb the passions of the agnostic or infidel. The desire which young men feel to be classed as men of the world is another of the evil influences which are at work insiduously undermining the morals of the republic. The idol they erect is a creature without manly instinct or feeling, a being whose entire organization is of selfish composition, and who views life merely as an egoist. He is an apostle of Epicurus, whose sole ambition is to experience pleasureable sensations, and who employs any means to gain his ends. Truth, honor, virture, and sentiment are scorned by him as unworthy of the man of the world. This is the model too many young men try to follow. They scoff at religion, because it is manly; they plunge into dissipation, because it is manly, and they deny the dictates of their conscience, because they fear to withstand the ridicule of the egoists they worship. These may seem exaggerated words, but we have only to look about us to verify them. The actions of the young men in our colleges prove it, the habits of the young men in our cities demonstrate it. There can be no doubt that a spirit of selfish disregard of the nobler sentiments is taking a fast hold upon the young men of the period. The fad philosophies of cotemporary popularity fan this spirit of egotistic agnosticism, and the seeming inability of the church to counteract the teachings of the modern European casuist prevents the formation of a healthy reactionary movement. The young men of the nation must themselves cast off these evil influences and come to a true understanding of their duty to themselves and others. The enemy lies not so much in temptation of the flesh, as in the cynical pessimisim which is prevading society, scoffing at sincerity, undermining moral sense, and obscuring duty. It is an evil for which the philosophers of modern Europe are responsible, and if we Americans are to be national in our sentiment, we must uproot the seeds of this alien philosophy and develop a spirit of reverence for truth, morality, and God.

Most people like to indulge more or less in ice water during the warm weather, but a good many are restrained from a fear that it is not just safe. The editor of a sanitary journal is of the opinion that there is a great deal of sentiment and many opinions regarding the use of ice water that vanish when the light of reason and experience is turned upon them, and continues as follows: The fact is that ice water, drank slowly and in moderate quantities, constitutes a healthful and invigorating drink. There is no doubt that ice is a great sanitary agent, and every family ought to be provided with it during the warmer months of the year. It is true that the inordinate use of ice water, or its use under some special conditions and circumstances, is attended with great danger; so is the improper use of any other drink or food. The assumption that iced water is dangerous, and that iced tea, or iced coffee, or iced lemonade is a harmless substitute, is simply a delusion. As the source of danger feared by some is the degree of cold, we fail to see clearly how flavor modifies the effect of temperature. There are individuals, undoubtedly, who cannot drink ice water without injury, and who ought never to use it, but to a great majority of persons it is refreshing and healthful. Its use, temperate and discreet, is in no way to be condemned, which cannot be said of some of its substitutes.

THE GOOD TIMES AT HOME.

O, the good times at home! how sweet to remember
The pleasures and joys that surrounded us there,
From December to June, and from June to December,
When we were unburdened with sorrow or care.
From garret to cellar, from cellar to garret,
With happy abandon we frolicked and played,
Invoking the spirits of music and laughter,
And nobody frowned at the racket we made.

O, the games and the gambols out-doors, so inviting,
With home very handy to run to, in case
Some lawless marauders, against us uniting,
Should press us too closely, compelling a race.
All through the dear dwelling and every place near it,
So fearlessly, freely, permitted to roam,
What wonder that we should decide in our childhood
There was nought to compare with the good times at home!

Then the games in the evening in which we would riot!
The telling of stories, adventures, and all
That had brightened the day! And then, later, the quiet,
The peaceful home hours—how sweet to recall!
There were books, there were pictures in endless profusion,
The sick or the studious ones to beguile;
And the dark winter days were made cheerful and pleasant
By the mother's dear presence, her voice and her smile.

O, blest were the ties of affection that bound us!
O, joyously sweet were the songs that we sung,
When merry companions were gathered around us,
And familiar the scenes that we frolicked among!
Though many a banquet is spread for our pleasure,
Though oft from the fireside tempted to roam,
The heart will still cherish its fond recollections
Of the days that are past—and the good times at home,

GRANDPA'S STORY.

He Tells a Very Good One All About Himself.

"So it seems Fred Hayes has finally jilted Fanny Howe," said Grandpa West, one rainy morning, as he stood shaking the drops from his great coat on our kitchen stove.

"Yes," replied I, as I filled a pan with apples and prepared to cut them, "and more shame to him, too. Brought her clear up to an engagement, and then left town with another girl, and without one word to Fan."

"Shame!" repeated good Grandpa West, with an indignant flash from eyes blue and clear as at twenty-one; "it's a disgrace to any Christian church to let one of its members go on so. Time was when he wouldn't have gone scot free as he has now."

"But what could have been done?" I inquired.

"Done! He'd have had the full broadside of church discipline on his shoulders fifty years ago. He ought to be dealt with as Harmon Page was," concluded grandpa, meditatively.

"How was that?" inquired I, interested at once.

"I wonder if you ever heard that story?" said he, with a curious glance understood better afterwards. "See here, it's a rainy day, and mother won't be expecting me home. Hand over a knife and I'll help you with your apples and tell that yarn at the same time."

Well pleased with the plan, I took another pan, and our fingers flew as grandpa went on with the true and authentic history of Harmon Page.

"You see," he began, "all this happened fifty years ago, and Amityville wasn't then the slow-going, dull little place it is now. It was comparatively new, and was as lively and enterprising as the new places of the West are to-day. There were a good many old aristocratic families, though, and I tell you they held their heads high. The very best house slips had to be gauged according to the rank of the buyer, and I tell you old Deacon Avery would never have got the scowl out of his forrard if Squire Page had happened to had a seat in front of his.

"Deacon Avery had a daughter—a quiet, gentle girl, with a slight, graceful figure and a face—well, you don't see such faces nowadays; a clear, fine complexion, with a delicate pink trembling up into her lips when she was spoken to. Her eyes were great limpid wells, changing with every thought, and her hair was a soft chestnut brown, waving about her face in its own wayward style.

"She was a lovely girl, became a professor young, and was always to be seen in the end of the deacon's pew every Sunday, rain or shine. She'd never had much company, for there was a kind of dignified reserve about her that kept the fellows at a distance. But when she was long about eighteen or twenty Harmon Page began to go with her.

"He was a handsome, high-spirited chap, lively and full of talk, and as different from Mercy Avery as two persons could be. But they loved each other; there's no doubt about that. Many's the time I've seen her grand eyes sparkle and pretty cheeks flush at Harmon's witty speeches, till she was really brilliant. And he, with all his proud spirit, always grew strangely gentle with Mercy.

"So, in spite of the rivalry that had always existed between the two families, no one would have disturbed the two, had it not been for Virginia Wake. She was a cousin of Colonel Ford's first wife and came there visitin' from the South.

"Virginia was called a handsome girl, with her brunette face, flashing black eyes, and heavy black curls she was never tired of jingling around her neck. She had a good deal, too, of what you call 'style,' and Amityville folks who didn't know as much of the ways of the world as they do now, were completly fascinated with her taking ways. The young fellows in particular hovered around her like moths around a candle.

"All except Harmon Page. He had engaged himself to Mercy, and at first gave the new comer the go-by. The Pages and Fords had a family feud of a good many years' standing, which kept them apart for one thing, and Virginia had plenty of company besides Harmon.

"But I suppose Harmon's indifference piqued the girl, and she snubbed the other boys and exerted all her charms on Harmon.

"She came in the fall, and along about Christmas time the neighbors began to notice that Virginia was mighty thick at the Pages.

"The two houses were pretty near together, and she used to run over to Mother Page's on some excuse or other twenty times a day. Perhaps 'twas'nt strange that Harmon began to be flattered by it. He had as good a turnout as any chap in the place, and he got in the habit of taking Virginia considerable.

"You see position's every thing in more cases than one, and Virginia was right there Shandy,, while Mercy lived at the top of one of our old-fashioned Connecticut hills, with a dreadful hard road leading to it.

"Whether she knew how much Harmon was taking the other girl wasn't known; some thought not. She didn't get out much, except to meetin' that winter, and she had enough of her father's spunk about her not to let on that she saw Harmon foolin' with Virginia Wake at the noonin's.

"There was splendid sleighing that season—the kind we don't have these days—and some of the young folks wanted to have a general sleigh ride. It was put off from time to time, till 'twas finally set for one Thursday night.

"It was the night of the regular weekly prayer meeting, and after the time of the ride was all settled Harmon, who was the only professor in the party, tried a little to have it changed. But Virginia Wake declared, with a wicked shake of those jingling curls, that she could say her prayers just as well in a sleigh as she could cooped up in that stupid barn of a meeting house.

"Every body thought afterwards that she fixed the ride for that night to show Mercy Avery the power she had over Harmon Page.

"Well, the party started from Amityville 'long about five o'clock. They were all in a big two-horse load except Virginia and Harmon.

"She had arranged for them to go ahead in his cutter alone, and I'll admit they were a splendid looking couple—he with his fine eyes and teeth, and she in a rich crimson hood that set off her dark beauty to perfection.

"Our route—for I was one of the party—lay straight up the hill towards Deacon Avery's. Just as we turned into it who should we meet but the deacon and Mercy.

"They were late, for the meeting was also appointed for early candle lighting; but Mercy had probably waited awhile for Harmon, who for a year back had taken her to Thursday meetin' as regular as the day came round.

"She sat up straight and queenly beside her father as they passed, and seemed not to hear the malicious sally Virginia called out to her.

"We, in the back team, were near enough to catch the scornful glance she threw from those deep eyes, gray as steel that night.

"As for Harmon, he turned white to the lips, and for a mile hardly answered the banter that Virginia kept up. After that he seemed to grow perfectly reckless, laughed and joked louder than any of the rest, and was so careless that he drove on a stone wall; and we, following, were all upset in a heap together, and had hard work to get tied up so as to make our way home towards morning more dead than alive.

"It was a sorry day for Harmon Page. He was waited upon by a church committee, headed by Deacon Avery, who denounced his whole conduct towards Mercy as unchristian and highly inconsistent in a church member.

"He didn't have much to say for himself, and they churched him on the spot. He was pretty down in the mouth, but kept up some hope till he saw Mercy Avery.

"He had refused to see Virginia Wake, and that night he went up the familar hill to Deacon Avery's stone house.

"Mercy herself came to the door calm and self-possessed, as if nothing had happened, and showed him into the sitting-room. There was a steady light in her gray eyes, though, that made Harmon tremble, and, without beating about the bush a bit, he came right to the point, and asked if all might be forgiven and forgotten, and they become as good friends as before. He worked himself into a passion, cried and like a child, they said.

law, it didn't move her an atom. the genuine old Avery grit, if she was mild mannered, and she told him that, as long as the church had put him out, she of course in conscience couldn't take him back.

"He pleaded and entreated until ten o'clock at night, a late hour in them days, but it didn't make a mite of difference. She wouldn't overlook what the church had considered a gross breach of faith. He went out a crushed man, and from that time his spirit seemed to leave him utterly.

"And what about Virginia Wake?" I interrupted, unconsciously cutting my finger in my eager interest.

"Oh, after the girl had done all the mischief possible, public opinion toward her changed 'mazin quick, and she left town in a few days, and was never heard from in these parts again."

"And Harmon Page—what became of him?"

"He never got over the shock. He became silent and melancholy, and finally had to be taken to the Retreat. He grew worse, and the sight of a handsome woman with red checks and black curls would always throw him into his most violent tantrums. He died in the asylum at last."

"Now, I think that was real mean," said I, wrathfully, winding cotton around my bleeding thumb. "If Mercy Avery hadn't turned him off his life might not have ended so sadly. I think she ought to have taken him back."

"Ah, ha," said Grandpa West, quizzically; "do you mean that?"

"Certainly," said I, with dignity, "why shouldn't I?"

"Oh, nothing," he replied, "only if she had, Harmon Page would have been your grandfather instead of me."

"My grandfather—why, then," said I, in some confusion, "Mercy Avery must be—"

"Mercy West, your grandmother," said grandpa, chuckling me under the chin. "Confess now that 'all's well that ends well.'"

"I suppose so," said I, reluctantly.—New England Magazine.

UNDERGROUND CHAPEL.

Interesting Discovery in an Old Mine in Northern Mexico.

An interesting discovery has been made in an old Spanish mine on the property of the Corralitos Cattle and Mining Company, on the Casa Grande river, in Northern Chihuahua, an immense estate belonging to El Paso and New York parties. The mine is called the San Pedro, and there is on it an old incline going into the mountain at an angle of forty-five degrees and evidently following the richest ore streak in a zigzag manner. At the end of this incline a subterranean chamber was found which had been fashioned evidently with great labor and trouble into a regular Catholic chapel. The chamber is some thirty feet in diameter and about twenty feet high. Seats have been cut from the solid rock running all around the chapel, and so has been an altar and a pulpit. The whole was found neatly whitewashed, and presents a peculiar and weird aspect. The ancient chapel could be used at a moment's notice as a place of worship.

A tradition is found to exist among the natives living in the neighborhood that many years ago a regiment of Spanish cavalry was stationed at the presidio of Janos, some twenty-five miles distant from the mines, and that the Indians disclosed the existence of the mine to the priest, who was in spiritual charge of the regiment. This priest went into partnership with the Colonel, and they employed the soldiers of the command in working the mine, which was found exceedingly rich. After a while complaints were made about this enforced labor at headquarters in Spain, and the Colonel was called home to answer the charge. Before leaving, he and the priest divided the silver, and the Colonel's share was sufficient to load eighty mules, which he took with him across the country to Vera Cruz, where he took ship for Spain.

The whole country adjacent to the Casa Grande and Santa Maria rivers is full of objects of interest to the archæologist and naturalist. Prehistoric ruins are found everywhere, many of them clearly traceable to the Aztecs, but others evidently antedate any authentic records of history. A richer field of exploration and investigation can not be found anywhere in North America.

Dickens and the Clergyman.

Says James Payn in the Independent: "Dickens used to tell a story of meeting with a clergyman in a railway train who held forth to his fellow-travelers ever so long upon the novelist's private failings. 'Dickens is an atheist, sir, as I happen to know; he is also a gambler, and, I regret to say, drinks,' and so on. 'Dear me, how sad. Have you ever seen him drunk?' asked Dickens. 'Well, not exactly drunk; no, but certainly overtaken by liquor.' 'Have you ever seen him sober?' 'Well, that is too much to say. Oh, yes, I have seen him sober.' 'Often?' 'Yes, often.' 'No, sir; only once. You see him now for the first time.'"

How to Smoke a Cigar.

An old smoker says that to give some persons good cigars is like casting pearls before swine, because they do not know how to light them. The best "Havana" that is "imported" from Florida or Connecticut will yield but a vile, unsatisfactory smoke if lighted so as not to burn a clear ring all around and evenly. The outside or wrapper is of the best tobacco; the next, the "binder," is of a poorer grade while the bulk of the cigar, the "filler," is the poorest. They are assorted with the intent that they be burned together. When this is done the result is a delicate and gratifying smoke. The full benefit of a cigar is only secured when it is lit thoroughly and the cinder kept moderately close so that it will not fall off right at the fire.

Port Kells

This Fine Townsite, at the Fresh-Water Junction of the

—WITH THE—

FRASER RIVER

12 Miles Above Westminster,

Has just been Surveyed, and the Lots are for sale by

WOODS, TURNER & GAMBLE

—AND—

ALBERT J. HILL & COMPANY

OF NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C.

The advantages and prospects of this Plot for a future thriving Town are many.

The Land in the vicinity is good.

There are inexhaustible IRON ORE DEPOSITS, of a superior quality, immediately adjacent, as well as vast strata of the finest BUILDING SAND and POTTERY CLAY.

On the Townsite are a number of valuable MINERAL SPRINGS.

Communication by land and water is unequalled, by reason of the location of the Townsite on the Fraser River and the Southern Railway, while the natural elevation and lay of the land can not be excelled as a situation for a fine town.

The ground is open and clear of heavy timber.

The site has been selected as one of the most important stations on the Southern Railway, and with the completion of the road, in the near future, must, with all its other advantages, spring into prominence at once.

Those who apply early will have the pick of the Lots.

A clear title given with every purchase.

Parties wishing Lots can apply as well, on the premises, to

The Whatcom daily Bulletin has been purchased from Messrs. Spiers & Anderson, by a joint stock company. The daily edition will be enlarged and greatly improved. It is evident the Bellingham Bay cities are flourishing, even booming, to be able to sustain so many newspapers.

By an advertisement in another column it will be seen that Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, the noted Brooklyn preacher, will lecture at the Imperial opera house, Vancouver, on Tuesday August 20th, when his subject will be "Big Blunders." Seats are on sale at Mr. A. M. Herring's drug store.

All citizens are requested to be present at the public meeting to-night at the city hall to discuss the exhibition celebration. If the sports and games are to be a success everyone having an interest in such matters must come to the front now and lend their assistance. Westminster must shine on this occasion.

The salmon run to-day was fully up to the average, and shows no signs of decreasing. The estimated pack up to date is 240,000 cases, and this number will probably be increased by 75,000 cases more if the run continues good. Many of the canneries have run out of tin for making cans, and have ordered fresh supplies, which a month ago they little expected would be necessary.

The benefit of having the Canadian capital in direct telegraph communication with distant provinces was shown to great advantage in the Behring Sea difficulties. The Canadian Pacific Railway's telegraph were able to offer Mr. Bowell, minister of customs, an opportunity of direct conversation with the custom officers of Victoria, B. C When the company's system is completed to Halifax a similar service can at any time be commanded by the government to that point in connection with the Atlantic fisheries.—Empire

The Victoria Times, in its editorial columns, refers to the premier as "John" and the attorney-general as "Theo." The opposition organ ought to learn to be more gentlemanly. Such easy familiarity is not only undignified, but is also calculated to bring the press into contempt. Assume a virtue if you have it not, Mr. Times, and affect courtsey. People have been laughing at your "analogies" and wordy rubbish of late, and if you do not turn over a new leaf somebody will imagine that the chain-gang has been let loose into the editorial rooms.—World.

PERSONAL.

D. Mills is in the city on a short visit.

Capt. Fletcher returned to Victoria to-day.

Major Norris, customs officer, of Cranbrook, Kootenay district, is in the city and a guest at the Queen's.

Mrs. C. A. Worsnop, of Vancouver, who has been the guest of Mrs Brymner for a week, returned home yesterday.

Dr. R. I. Bentley and Dr. Fagan left for Banff to-day to attend the annual meeting of the Canada medical association, which meets there next week. They will be absent about a week.

Councillor O'Brien and family, of Seattle, are in the city and the guests of Mr. W. R. Lewis. Mr. O'Brien is on a pleasure trip and will visit Harrison hot springs and other points of interest before returning home.

R. W. Powell, J.P., of Elmira, Ont., gave us a parting call before leaving the city to-day. He made a thorough inspection of the city this morning, and went as far as Laidlaw's cannery, with the working of which he was more than delighted. Mr. Powell is greatly pleased with the royal city and hopes to pay it a longer visit in the near future.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The Phenomenon Explained.

The unaccountable rise in the waters of Harrison Lake and river, announced in these columns a few days ago, has brought several theories to the front, the most popular one being that the immense salmon run has been the cause of it. This theory is quite likely to be correct, for reports say that Harrison River is simply a mass of salmon moving towards the lake. They are running so thickly that the water is black with them from shore to shore, and boats have simply to plough a road through the fish in order to obtain a passage. The millions that enter the lake every day must necessarily displace a large quantity of water, and, consequently, cause the lake to rise. The lake is about 40 miles long and several miles wide the most of its length, and therefore the number of salmon required to raise the water 3 feet in four weeks must have been something enormous. It is generally conceded that the salmon theory must be correct.

The Propagation of Salmon.

Colonel Marshall McDonald, of the United States fish commission, is in Portland, Or. The object of the visit is the extension and development of the fish culture on the coast. He says he hopes by means of artificial propagation to make salmon as plentiful in the Columbia river as in the early days. He visited McCloud hatchery on his way there and since his arrival has inspected the hatchery on the Clackamas river and says that the Clackamas station is the most favorably situated on the coast, in regard to collection of eggs, but not so well situated for distributing young fry. He hopes to establish McCloud and Clackamas hatcheries as central stations for collection of eggs, and to establish auxiliary stations on the head waters of the various streams, where eggs can be hatched and fish put in water. Col. McDonald intends making a visit to Alaska next year, and hopes to have some streams reserved by the government, especially for furnishing salmon eggs, and expects that far-off-land to be a source from which will be procured enough salmon eggs to stock the rivers of the country.

A Perilous Voyage.

The well known steamer K de K, of the Westminster and Brownsville Navigation Co., left this port yesterday morning, outward bound, with a large number of passengers on board. The morning, as our readers are well aware, was desperately foggy and smoky, but as the steamers of this company have never been known to miss a trip, no matter how the weather blows, the gallant captain, when the hour of departure arrived stepped on the bridge, gave the command "Cast off everything!" and rang to the engine room "Full speed ahead." In a few seconds the K de K was lost sight of in the fog, and that was the last seen of the fine vessel for many an hour. Through the fog and smoke the vessel ploughed her way, leaving the bubbles behind at her usual speed of 22 knots an hour. The morning air was damp and cold, which induced the passengers to gather in the saloon and there make themselves comfortable on the gorgeous seats and cushions with which the whole vessel is furnished. Among the most prominent of the passengers were a well known scientist, one of our leading legal lights, two civil engineers, a captain of the Canadian militia, with a squad of men, and two prominent Victoria marksmen. Everything went merry as a marriage bell till the vessel had been seven minutes out, when the chief officer entered the saloon hastily and requested the scientific gentleman to join the captain on the bridge. He left the cabin and in a few minutes the word was passed round that the gallant K de K was lost in the fog. General consternation was the result, and everybody rushed on deck in momentary expectation of a calamity in the shape of a collision with a fishing boat or a sunken reef. The Victoria marksmen fastened themselves to a heap of life preservers, determined that they should float even if everything else went to the bottom. The legal gentleman took a seat on the capstan and hastily wrote out the "last will and testament" of the civil engineers, while the captain of the militia mustered his men on the forecastle, determined that if the vessel went down he and his squad would meet death according to Queens Regulations and go down like true British soldiers. By this time "all hands on deck" had been sternly summoned by the boatswain, the crews had been posted and the boats were ready to be cleared away at a moment's notice. A barrel of beer and two pounds of crackers was stowed in each boat, and a double allowance of rum was served out to all hands to steady their nerves. At this time a loud and angry dispute arose between the scientist and the worthy captain, the former asserting that the vessel, according to his observations, taken at a moment when the sun showed itself through the fog, must be opposite the big stump above the Brownsville landing, while the latter offered to take his affidavit before the legal luminary that the K de K was still holding her proper course. To prove that he was right the scientist descended from the bridge and commenced sounding with a long pole, which in his excitement he dropped overboard and lost. A moment later the K de K ran high and dry, with a mud crushing thud, on a sand bank. In a moment all was the wildest excitment, the passengers rushing to the boats and drinking the beer with a frenzy perfectly unaccountable, and as if it were the last drop they would ever get. The calm but stern voice of the captain soon quelled the hubbub, but not before the greater part of the beer had been drunk. After a lengthy consultation it was decided that one of the Victoria marksmen should try and wade ashore, and if he succeeded the whole might land in the same way. Everyone embraced the brave fellow before he started on his perilous trip, and the militia gave him three ringing cheers as he disappeared in the fog. Perfect stillness reigned on board, all intently listening to the musical splash made by the marksmen's feet. Suddenly a terrible shout was heard, followed by a short but spirited conversation in the purest Chinook. Again all was silence, and the captain of the militia announced that the Victorian must have been attacked by the natives, and ordered his men to load with blank cartridge in case the vessel should be next attacked. The legal gentleman prepared to read the riot act, and again all waited in breathless silence, broken only by the requiem sung by a mug of beer as it gurgled down some thirsty throat. "Ship Ahoy!" sung out a loud voice from the lee side of the fog, and one unanimous howl went up from all hands on board. A few seconds later the Victorian reappeared at the head of a fleet of Indian canoes, and within 10 minutes every passenger of the K de K was safely landed on shore at a cost of 25 cents a head. At high tide last night the K de K was successfully floated and immediately proceeded on her voyage to Brownsville.

The Provincial Matches.

The last match of the 16th annual prize meeting of the British Columbia Rifle Association was concluded last night, and the most successful and brilliant meeting ever held in the province was brought to a close. The shooting throughout has been remarkable, and, it is safe to say, will compare very favorably with any other provincial meeting in the Dominion. Capt. Fletcher, secretary, and Capt. Scoullar, range officer, and Capt Peele, assistant range officer were indefatigable in their duties, and to their good management can be attributed much of the success of the meeting. A little unpleasantness was caused by two of the Victoria team leaving the range on the last day, and thereby breaking up the Laurie Bugle team. They were not successful in winning prizes, and so left, which action was severely commented on even by members of the Victoria team, many of whom were willing to shoot the match although defeat was almost certain. Following were the last two matches fired:

NO. 10.—ALL COMERS MATCH.

Gnr. Wilson, N.W.G.A.	16
A. McElmer, B.C.G.A.	12

After this match the Laurie Bugle match was called, but the Victoria team failed to put in an appearance. The Westminster team then shot over the ranges, making a grand total of 585 points nearly 100 points over any previous record in the same competition. Following is the score:

LAURIE BUGLE MATCH.

Ranges 200, 500 and 600 yards, five shots at each range.

Pte. Fraser,	65
Pte. Fooks,	65
Pte. Proud,	64
Pte. J. C. Chamberlain,	61
Pte. Fletcher,	60
Pte. H. Chamberlain,	60
Lieut. Cotton,	60
Pte. Sharpe,	53
Pte. McColl,	51
Pte. Trapp,	46
Total	585

The positions taken by Victoria, Vancouver and Westminster in the different matches, and a comparison of winners, is worthy of special note. Out of the 13 first prizes and cups Westminster takes 10 as follows:

Opening match, Pte. T. J. Trapp; Lieut.-Governor's cup, Pte. Proud; Westminster Challenge cup, Pte. Fraser; Chapleau Challenge cup, W. W. Wolfenden; Association Stakes, Pte. Sharpe; District Militia match (cup), Pte. H. C. Chamberlain; Laurie Bugle, Westminster team; All Comers match, Capt. Turnbull; Consolation match, Jas. Wilson; Grand Aggregate (medal) Pte. Proud.

Corp. Winsby, of Victoria, took the Nanaimo Corporation cup and the Militia Aggregrates. P. A. Grant, of Vancouver, took the Victoria Corporation match.

Westminster takes 6 second prizes, Vancouver 3 and Victoria 3. Westminster takes over 40 per cent. of the total number of prizes, and over 50 per cent of the money. The Extra Series have not been decided yet, but when they are Westminster's winnings will be largely increased.

The Ottawa team this year will consist of Pte. Proud, Pte. H. C. Chamberlain, Gunner Winsby, Pte. J. C. Chamberlain and Pte. Fooks. Lieut. Cotton won a place, but being a commissioned officer is debarred from taking a place on the team.

The Artesian Well Boring.

The public, and more especially the residents of Yale district, will be pleased to learn that the government has taken steps to ensure the active prosecution of well boring, with a view to ascertain whether artesian water can be obtained in the interior. Several proposals were sent to the lands and works department in answer to the advertisement, but none were considered quite satisfactory by the department. A contract has been entered into with Mr. Ross, of Mount Lehman, Fraser river, under which that gentleman, who has had considerable experience in driving wells, has given bonds to sink 500 feet every six days at a stipulated price per foot, the government supplying the requisite machinery and paying the cost of transport to the places where it may be deemed desirable to sink. The contractor erects the machinery and furnishes all labor, fuel, etc. The contract is terminable at the pleasure of the chief commissioner. A complete set of machinery, including a 16-horse power steam engine, has been purchased at Petrolia, Ont., and is now on its way to Yale district, when upon its arrival work will immediately commence and be energetically carried on. Under the arrangement it is contemplated to put down test bores on the Thompson river at Kamloops, Cache Creek, Nicola and Okanagon, and in other places in the province. Keeping the machinery at work steadily, no doubt good results will follow and possibly lead to the discovery of coal or other minerals as well as water.—Colonist.

The visiting members of the Canadian medical association at Winnipeg arrived yesterday afternoon, and were banqueted by the city doctors last night and left to-day for Banff, where the annual meeting is to be held.

South Arm Social.

The splendid new opera house now being erected by our enterprising citizen, Mr. W. H. Steves, was the scene of great festivity on Wednesday evening, the 7th inst., when about 130 met and spent a most enjoyable night. After a thoroughly interesting programme, consisting of songs, recitations, selections, &c., had been exhausted the ladies served refreshments in general style and every one present seemed to enjoy this part of the proceedings even more than the literary portion. After the inner man had been satisfied votes of thanks were proposed to Mr. Steves, the proprietor of the hall, to the chairman, and three cheers and thanks were given to the ladies who provided and served the refreshments. During the evening an address and purse were presented by the settlement to the Rev. R. N. Toms, who is leaving for California. Rev. R. N. Toms, in accepting the address, replied in a very suitable manner, and stated that he was glad such a kindly sympathy existed between the people of the South Arm of the Fraser river and himself, and that while they might differ on matters pertaining to religion they could respect each other and dwell together as brethren. After the refreshments were served and the seats removed, the music commenced to play and a series of dances followed, which lasted until broad daylight. When it is remembered that the opera house is not yet completed, and that the people only had a few days' notice of this event, one can see the demand for such a building, and we may add that many more social gatherings are anticipated in the near future.—Com.

By the Visitation of God.

A despatch from Detroit, Mich., says that a few days ago Patrick Gallagher, a resident of that city, prepared to smoke his pipe after his supper. He searched in his vest pocket, where he usually kept the pipe, but failing to find it, he swore frightfully. His wife remonstrated with him for losing his temper over such a trifling matter, when he said:

"I don't care. I hope the Almighty will paralyze the man who took that pipe," at the time raising his hand toward heaven.

Hardly had the words passed his lips when he complained of a violent pain in his side. A doctor was sent for, and when he arrived he saw at a glance that Gallagher had been stricken with paralysis. The unfortunate man became rapidly worse, and in twelve hours after the stroke he was a corpse.

The family at first were disinclined to connect his death with the awful wish he had uttered; but after the funeral, while searching the dead man's clothes, they were horrified to find the very pipe he had missed in one of the outside pockets of his coat, where he himself had placed it in a moment of forgetfulness.

There is much excitement in Detroit over Gallagher's awful death.

Philip Vandal, a member of the Montreal bar, was yesterday committed for trial in the court of Queen's Bench, for criminal libel.

A despatch from Roundhill, Annapolis, states that Thursday, when a party of children were out berry picking, a bear made his appearance and caught and ate a little boy.

Medical testimony was taken at the inquest in Toronto on the body of Jas. Hicks, who died from arsenic poisoning. The prisoner Cole was discharged. The inquest was adjourned and Mrs. White and Hicks were remanded to jail.
