NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A Yale College senior says to the New York World, referring to waltzing: "I cannot see the difference between hugging set to music and sofa squeezing."

An advertiser in the New York Herald, in advertising for "a competent and reliable bookkeeper," specifies that "bookkeepers who suffer from thirst caused through the smell of the ink or the dry look of the paper need not apply.

Bradstreet's estimates the money losses by the recent floods in the United States, of which the Johnstown disaster was the most deplorable of all the consequences, at $44,250,000. Of all this amount $30,000,000 falls on the Pennsylvania railway and the Cambria iron and steel companies.

The globe in the Paris exhibition represents the earth on the scale of one-millionth, and is nearly 100 feet in diameter. Paris occupies about a third of an inch. All the great lines of communication by land and sea are shown in detail. The earth's daily rotation will be precisely imitated by clockwork, a point on the globe's equator moving at the rate of an eightieth of an inch per second.

It is often asserted in the United States that British gold is sent over to that country to influence elections. No proof has ever been given of the assertion, which is well understood to be merely a campaign fiction. It has just come to light, however, that some British gold was really sent across the ocean a few days ago. The amount was £7,500, and it was contributed by the members of the London Stock Exchange for the relief of the sufferers by the Johnstown disaster.—Mail.

Experiments have lately been tried at Dover, England, with a so-called sea-anchor, invented by Captain Waters. This apparatus consists of a canvas bag about four feet in diameter, and five feet deep, with either a strong hoop to hold it open, or a square bolted frame to answer the same purpose. The bag is attached to a beam at float in such a manner that it lies just below the surface of the water, and a stout rope forms the connection between it and the bow of the vessel employing it. The object of this sea-anchor is to bring a boat or ship's head to the sea when in danger of foundering from getting broadside towards the waves.

In recognition of the valuable service rendered by King Maatafa in saving life and property on the occasion of the recent hurricane in Samoa, the navy department, to show its appreciation of the King's conduct, has decided on sending him a whale boat of the latest improved model. It will be clinker-built, of the finest material to be obtained, and the fittings will be in keeping with the rest of the boat. When completed, the boat will be sent to King Maatafa, accompanied by an autograph letter from President Harrison, testifying in the highest possible manner to the bravery exhibited by King Maatafa and his men on March 15 and 16, in rescuing so many of the American sailors.

Lady Onslow wife of the new governor of New Zealand, the Earl of Onslow, had a hard cross to bear at the outset of her viceregal career. For self-protection the colonies have passed a law requiring imported dogs to go into quarantine for a certain period before they are allowed to wander at large. Lady Onslow applied for an exemption order for her pet poodle, but the local authorities were inexorable, and decreed a six months' separation between mistress and dog. The mistake Lady Onslow made was in formally applying for exemption. Had she quietly smuggled the animal ashore in a bandbox (the orthodox mode of evading this law) nobody would have been the wiser, but as she herself directly acquainted the public health authorities with the animal's coming they say they have no option but to enforce the law.

An Englishman contributes to a recent issue of the St. James Gazette an extraordinary article on the lack of fighting qualities of the American. He declares that there was no real fighting in our civil war, and that at any time during the first two years a well equipped division of 10,000 disciplined troops could have cleaned out either side within three months. But when he gets down to the probable results of a war between the United States and a European power he is most amazing. He figures out that if a war did not result in the South seizing the opportunity to secede again, then the cowboys and Indians of the West, both of whom "hate the grangers" and detest the government, would unite and devastate the country. The picture of the union of "Lo" and the cowboy is a bit of unconscious British humor which throws into the shade the best efforts of the American wits.—S. F. Chronicle.

On Wednesday night Mrs. Boyd and Miss Thompson, accompanied by A. Symonds and John Gillespie, left Blyth, Ont., for parts unknown. Mrs. Boyd leaves a husband and six small children behind her.

LECARON THE SPY.

Is Expelled From the G. A. R. for Evidence Given in the Parnell Case.

Burke the Murderer of Dr. Cronin is Arraigned at Winnipeg To-Day and Trial Fixed.

Chief Kiewish of the Wabegons Cables His Greviences to the Prince of Wales.

LECARON EXPELLED.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Lecaron, the British spy who testified against Parnell before the Parnell commission, was last night tried by his comrades of Winfield S. Hancock post, No. 560, grand army of the republic, and summarily dismissed from the G. A. R. The charges against him were that he was unworthy of being a comrade of the other members. The trial was brought about by his testimony given in the Parnell case.

EMIGRANTS SHOT.

HELENA, Mont., June 21.—The bodies of two men, a middle aged woman and two young girls, all shot in the back except the youngest girl, who had been strangled, have been found in the Judith country about 150 miles north of Helena. Everything by which the bodies might be identified had been destroyed. The victims are supposed to have been emigrants either from Iowa or Illinois.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21. — Ex-Policeman J. W. Wallace, who shot and killed Geo. H. Rice, a dive keeper, on Tuesday night, has been charged with murder by the coroner's jury.

SULLIVAN'S INDICTMENT PROBABLE.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The grand jury resumed the consideration of the Cronin case this morning, and additional evidence has been obtained which renders the indictment of Alexander Sullivan more probable than it appeared yesterday.

A FOOLISH MAN.

SANTA BARBARA, Cala., June 21.—About 9 o'clock this morning Jas. B. Henderson, 24 years of age, who has been living here about a year, shot and and seriously wounded Mrs. Kate Andonague, keeper of a boarding house, and then killed himself by blowing out his brains. Henderson, who has been leading a dissipated existence, had asked Mrs. Andonague, whose husband deserted her a long time ago, to marry him, and on her refusal shot her. She may recover.

THE ELECTRIC SUGAR FRAUDS.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Wm. T. Howard, convicted recently in the electric sugar refining case, was sentenced to 9 years 7 months imprisonment in the state prison.

WHEAT.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Wheat, June 84½; July 84½; August 83⅜.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Wheat quiet; buyer '89 133⅜; buyer season, '89, 135⅝, seller '89, 126.

STABBING AFFRAY.

MURPHY, Cal., June 21.—A cutting scrape occurred between two miners on Stanislaus river last night, resulting in Thos. Dunster being fatally stabbed by George Marks. Marks gave himself up claiming to have acted in self defence.

TRAIN ROBBERS SENTENCED.

PRESCOTT, Ariz., June 21.—Judge Wright to-day sentenced the following persons to the territorial prison:—Dan Harwick, Wm. Stiren and James Halford, who robbed the express train on the A. & P. in April last, each 25 years.

BEET ROOT SUGAR.

READING, Pa., June 21.—C. Spreckles has informed the board of trade that he will build a sugar mill here if the surrounding farmers will plant fifty thousand acres with sugar beets. A vigorous endeavor will be made to secure the enterprise here.

ANOTHER HERO STRICKEN.

LANCASTER, June 21.—The condition of Gen. Simon Cameron to-day is reported about the same although at noon he was resting somewhat easier. His entire right side is paralysed. The general was in bed when the stroke came. He is conscious of surroundings. Physicians are in constant attendance.

A SENSIBLE VIEW.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—W. C. Van Horne, president of the C. P. R., is expected to arrive from Tacoma in a few days. A well known railroad man, commenting to-day on the conference between Van Horne and Villard at Tacoma last Tuesday, and the report that the Canadian Pacific is willing to withdraw as a competitor from the Northwest and Puget Sound if the Northern Pacific ceases its aggressions in Manitoba, said: "A bargain of that character is too much in favor of the foreign line. Its competition on Puget Sound business cannot hurt the Villard line materially, while with his line from St. Paul to Winnipeg and the extensions he contemplates from the latter place he will secure an immense amount of business in Manitoba. Besides the scheme is hardly practicable. One of the roads from Seattle into British Columbia will be built, and the Canadian Pacific is not going to turn up its nose at business it will get from it, no matter how small in quantity."

A DETERMINED MURDERER.

ELGIN, Neb., June 21.—About midnight last night a man named Nick Foley shot and instantly killed Mrs. Pomeroy Clark, residing 3 miles northeast of this place, and slightly wounded her husband. Foley was in love with Miss Effie Riggs, sister of Mrs. Clark, but she rejected his attentions. About midnight he entered the house and meeting Clark shot him in the side. Clark then threw him down stairs. Procuring a ladder Foley climbed up to the window and shot Mrs. Clark through the head. He then fired several more shots at Clark and Miss Riggs, but without effect, and going to the stable took a valuable mare and fled. A posse of citizens is after him. He will be lynched if caught.

WELL DONE KIEWISH.

WINNIPEG, June 21.—Kah Kiewish, chief of the Wabegoon tribe, sent a cable message to the Prince of Wales last night, complaining that the white men are cutting timber on the shores of Eagle Lake, which is part of the Wabegoon reservation, and urging him to arrange to put an end to the depredation.

BURKE ARRAIGNED.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 21.—Burke was arraigned this morning on charge of the murder of Dr. Cronin. The judge set the case for Wednesday next.

DEFEATED AGAIN.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 20.—With four towns to hear from, Rhode Island votes to repeal the prohibitory amendment, 23,970; against repeal, 8,675. This is about 4400 more than three-fifths of the vote required to repeal the amendment. The total vote in to-day's election in the state was 28,449 for the repeal of the prohibitory amendment and 9853 against the repeal. The amendment is therefore repealed by 5469 more than is required—three-fifths of total vote. The amendment was adopted in 1886 by a vote of 15,113 to 9230.

INQUIRY TO BE MADE.

WASHINGTON, D. C, June 20.—The navy department is advised that the Constellation has been taken to Norfolk, and will go on the dry dock to-day. All are well on board. Secretary Tracey has appointed a board to meet at Norfolk to-morrow to inquire into the cause of the vessel getting ashore.

THE CRONIN MURDER.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Chief Hubbard says if Burke, under arrest at Winnipeg, is the Martin Burke he wants, they have one of the murderers. A story is current to the effect that a man has been found who declares that Burke revealed part of the plot to him in endeavoring to induce him to become a party to it. Burke used every cent he could get to secure liquor, and in a maudlin condition told him all about the scheme to take Dr. Cronin's life. The plot, as Burke gave it to the man, differed widely from the way the murder was carried out. A portion of the session of the grand jury to-day was occupied in the taking of evidence, showing that as far back as 1883, Dr. Cronin had stated to intimate friends that his life was in danger and that if anything happened to him Timothy Crean should be held responsible. Timothy is now dead. Rumors are current to-night that iceman Sullivan is on the eve of making a confession. This afternoon he made a request that he be removed to the boys' quarters of the jail, an isolated portion of the building, and it was granted. The jail officials believe this move is preparatory to a squeal and that the prisoner will unbosom himself before many hours.

OTTAWA NOTES.

OTTAWA, June 20.—The benchers of the law society have offered the position of principal of the new law school, Toronto, to Justice Strong, of the supreme court, Ottawa. If he accepts, a vacancy will be created in the supreme court bench.

The Dominion government has brought action against the Great North-Western Telegraph Co. for $25,000 damages, for delivering letters. The Great North-Western Co. has had a regular mail service at Hamilton since the government raised the postage on drop letters to 2 cents.

The Ontario Anglican synod in session at Kingston, adopted anti-Jesuit resolutions

The leading papers continue to state that Chapleau will be appointed minister of railways.

THE CLAN NA GAEL DOOMED.

BALTIMORE, June 19.—It is given out from a source that has always been regarded as very close to Cardinal Gibbons, that the developments concerning the Clan-na-Gael that have been brought out by the murder of Cronin in Chicago will without delay receive the very serious consideration of the highest authority of the Catholic church in the United States. To quote the words of the chancellor of one of the largest dioceses in the country, who stands close to the cardinal, and who was summoned to Baltimore within a few days: "The church will await the developments of the civil authorities in the investigation of the Cronin conspiracy before it will take any action. If it should be developed that the Clan-na Gael is in anyway responsible for this deplorable affair, I have no doubt such steps will be taken as will warrant the order being condemned by name by all the archbishops of the country. The duty of the church is very plain in the matter, and its line of action is clearly marked out by the decrees of the third plenary council."

FROM VICTORIA.

A Tacoma Forger Arrested at Victoria. The Custom House Runs A Narrow Escape From Fire.

Special to the Columbian.

VICTORIA, June 21.—Wm. Foster, a young man, confidential clerk of E. L. Sawyer & Co., Tacoma, was arrested on the arrival of the Islander from Vancouver last night. He is accused of forgery. He decamped with a lot of the firm's money. He was lodged in jail and will be returned to Tacoma to stand his trial. It is supposed the amount of his defalcation is large, but as he took the bank book and keys of the safe the amount could not be ascertained.

The str. Danube passed up at nine o'clock this morning from Portland to Vancouver.

Shortly after noon to-day the grass amongst a lot of lumber piled along the side of the custom house was discovered to be on fire. It was extinguished without damage.

An eastern detective arrived here last evening. He is looking for a man who victimized an eastern American bank of a large amount. The subject has been shadowed for the last week. Developments are expected soon.

The recently reported scandal case reached a head this morning in the police court. I. Bechtel, of the Vancouver Hotel, was fined one dollar for assault on John Holbrook. Bechtel claimed Holbrook was too intimate with Mrs. Bechtel. The judge gave the plaintiff a raking down, and thought he deserved what he had received at Mr. Bechtel's hands.

Early Thursday morning fire broke out in the engine room of the Cornwall, Ont., spinning mill. The entire building was soon in flames. Loss $40,000 to $50,000.

AUSTRIAN RIOTS.

Serious Riots Occur in Austria and the Militia Called to Keep Order.

Falling Walls in a Fire-Swept City in China Kill Twelve Hundred People.

The Death Roll at Johnstown Foots up an Awful Total.—Paying the Laborers.

SERIOUS RIOT.

VIENNA, June 21.—A Serious riot the outcome of strikes in that region, has occurred at Kladro, Bohemia. The strikers defied the gen d'armes and the latter were compelled to fire several volleys into the mob before it could be dispersed. Two of the rebellious miners were killed and two were wounded. Further trouble is feared, and three battalions of infantry have been sent to the scene.

GERMAN MAKE.

LONDON, June 20.—The London military tournament is attracting large crowds from all parts of the kingdom. An exhibition of swordmanship to-day was witnessed by thousands of spectators and quite a little flurry was occasioned when during the combat two swords were broken in quick succession. The cry of "German make!" "German make!" and so on was taken up and the whole vast assemblage re-echoed the shout. It was some time before the contests could be resumed.

TERRIBLE CALAMITY.

SHANGHAI, June 20.—A fire which lasted four whole days has destroyed the half of the important town of Lachan, in the province of Sze Chuen. The inhabitants were compelled to flee for their lives, and it is estimated that no less than 1200 were killed, most of them being crushed to death while attempting to escape through the narrow and crooked streets. There are 10,000 people homeless. A fund has been started for their relief.

A SAD ROLL CALL.

JOHNSTOWN, June 21.—John Kerns, of Bellefont, Pa, was assaulted and robbed last night in Cambria city. He was found this morning lying in the street unconscious, and was taken to the hospital. Full particulars of the assault are not learned. The physicians say the injuries are very serious. Nearly $1,000,000 in wages were paid out this morning to the employes of the Cambria Iron Co., in payment for wages due for two weeks previous to the flood. At that time the company had 5000 names on the pay roll. To-day 3600 answered to their names. It is known almost to a certainty that 1000 employees lost their lives in the flood. The employees of the Gautier Steel Co. were also paid to-day. About $54,000 in wages due the first two weeks of May was distributed among the employees. This company employed 1200 men; 700 answered to their names to-day. About 150 of the employees are among those lost in the flood.

A Liberal Banker.

A certain bank on Bellingham Bay likes to encourage new settlers in great shape. A few days ago a gentleman from Canada came there to locate and by some oversight had neglected, before leaving Victoria, to change the $2,650 in bank of British Columbia bills which he carried in his pocket book. Going to the said bank he endeavored to have the bills changed for greenbacks or gold. The modest banker offered to do so for him for the nice little fee of $250. The man knew he could travel to Victoria and back for about $15, so he refused to accept the b. b. b's generous offer and took the steamer for the royal city to change his money into gold, but probably found it necessary to go no farther than Seattle.—Blaine Journal.

A Prophecy.

Mr. A. M. Stenhouse, ex-M. P. P., late of Comox, has taken objection to some remarks made by Donald Truth and writes as follows to the editor: "In your editorial notes of Saturday, April 27th, which I have only just seen, you say: "The Mormon, like the Chinese, must go." All right. But I venture to predict that monogamy, with its foul following of seduction and prostitution, will go also—and that very early in the coming century. Does any sane man suppose that these three conditions, not one of which can exist without the others, will be allowed to obtain forever? Are all abuses to be reformed excepting our iniquitous man-made law of marriage, which lies at the root of them all? Pshaw! The thing is preposterous; and, as a man of the world, you must perceive it is so. Americans may very possibly lag behind, for once in their history. The sovereigns and statesmen of Europe will lead the royal crusade for the emancipation of woman."

Female Evangelist.

Mrs. Wheaton, a female evangelist, arrived from the sound on Monday evening. She is accompanied by a young lady, formerly a variety actress of San Francisco, who was rescued from evil ways by a philanthropist. It is Mrs. Wheaton's custom immediately after visiting a prison to hold street services, and in this work she is always accompanied by the Magdalen. The lady claims she is working for the Lord and does not care for money, and that she is always provided for at these meetings Mrs. Wheaton is best contented when visiting penitentiaries in which are incarcerated the more hardened prisoners. She was the spiritual adviser of Goldenson, the San Francisco murderer, and the evangelist claims that her homely way of illustrating the Bible prepared the slayer of his sweetheart for the unknown hereafter. Mrs. Wheaton has just come from the Walla Walla penitentiary, where she spent several weeks leading devotional exercises in the prison.—Times.

A correspondent, "R. J." writing in yesterday's issue, makes a suggestion to the effect that, for the proper support of the high school in this city and to insure securing the services of a second teacher, a small tuition fee of say two dollars a month might be charged. This suggestion our correspondent offers for the careful consideration of the public and the trustees, and adds that it would be "doing it handsomely if Westminster would voluntarily take the lead in this matter," intimating that compulsory legislation may soon force the high schools to be self-supporting. We see no reason why the high schools should not be supported by fees altogether, but the ratepayers of this city are already paying one-third of the salaries of the public schools here—a sum more than sufficient to support the high school as at present kept up—and if any move is made, either voluntarily, or by compulsion, to make the high schools self-supporting, this special school rate on the cities should be abolished, and the public schools made free, as they ought to be.

There is evidence, says the Monetary Times, of a good deal of shrewd observation and experience in the following list of prohibitions drawn up by a successful business man for the governance of his clerks in giving credits. They were promulgated some months ago at a gathering of grocers in New York, who endeavored to frame rules and agreements to cure trade evils. They are worthy of repetition and we reproduce them for the benefit of all concerned: "Do not trust a man who is unwilling to make a statement over his own signoture. Do not trust a man starting anew in business who has not sufficient capital of his own to pay for stock and fixtures. Do not trust a man unless convinced that his daily profits are more than his daily expenses. Do not trust a man who habitually and continually sells his goods for less than average cost for doing business. Do not trust a man who drinks to excess. Do not trust a man who lives beyond his means. Do not trust a man for more than one quarter of his visible assets. Do not trust a man who is a constant better on horse races, or is a gambler." Apply these rules in the ordinary way of Canadian wholesale trade, and how many would stand? asks the Monetary Times. And yet they are sensible rules, some of them essential rules, in these days of extravagance and artificial living.

In the construction of our city water works, which the action of the council and the ratepayers has assured, natural considerations of self-interest and regard for the city's advantage will dictate to the civic authorities the propriety of disbursing as much as possible of the $200,000 necessary expenditure right in our own midst. A considerable share of the money will, of course, be spent in this city for construction work, laying mains, pipes, etc. The service pipes and other fittings will have to be imported outright, as well as the steel sheets for the mains. But the rolling and riveting of these latter will involve a large amount of work and an outlay of many thousands. This work, if possible, should be done here, and the necessary outlay for that particular item kept in circulation in this city, instead of being sent abroad, or even to any neighboring city. Possibly the aggregate cost of the work might be less, by a few thousand even, if done out of the country, but it would be a good investment for the city, and indirectly at least a benefit to every citizen, if a point should be stretched in favor of home industry and a larger sum even paid for the work to enable local mechanics to undertake it. Such a statement does not require any elaborate argument to demonstrate its correctness, but must be self-evident, and there is no doubt but the city council, with their usual patriotism, will see it in this light.

Eli Perkins has been writing to the New York World his impressions of British Columbia and the Northwest. He has been simply astonished, he says, at the natural wealth along the entire line of the C. P. R., which road, though only five years old, is self-sustaining from Winnipeg to Vancouver. After speaking in most flattering terms of Victoria and Vancouver, which cities he visited, Eli branches out into eloquent generalities, as follows: "Immediately on leaving Winnipeg the C.P.R. strikes the fertile prairies of the Saskatchewan loaded with wheat and cattle and fanned by the warm chinook winds from the Japan seas. Here is a fertile farming country as level as Illinois and as black and rich as the alluvial soil of Iowa, 1,000 miles long and 600 miles wide. It reaches from Winnipeg to the Rocky mountains, and from Dakota and Wyoming to the Athabasca and the Peace rivers. It grows more temperate as it goes north until on the Peace river, we find the climate of Missouri. Under all this land is a thick deposit of coal. Coal crops out in a thousand places, at Medicine Hat, Brandon and Battleford. At Calgary the road strikes the Rockies filled with the same rich silver, copper, iron and gold mines that we find lower down at Butte, Helena and Leadville. At Banff, the Interlaken of America, are rich anthracite mines, as rich as Wilkesbarre and Scranton. This anthracite is now being shipped to Vancouver, Portland and San Francisco. There is no poor soil along the C.P.R. There is no Humbolt basin, no thousand miles of hot, waterless sand. The country between the Rockies and the Cascades is heavily timbered with cedar, balsam, pine and hemlock. The grass is as green as in New England. Every garden springing up in the forests shows thrifty corn, potatoes, peas, and luscious fruits. In all this country the thermometer seldom gets below 12° below zero. It is warmed by the Japan chinook breezes. The great Fraser which, with the Columbia, drains the northwest half of the continent, drains all the country between the Rockies and the Cascades. It is down this river, with its roaring torrents, splendid gorges and deep canyons, like the canyons of the Arkansas, that the C.P.R. plunges through the Cascade mountains into the fertile and almost tropical plains of British Columbia. These plains fronting on Puget Sound are loaded with cedars and pine, enough to supply the universe for a hundred years." If Eli has erred at all in the foregoing, it is in profuse generosity of expression, but he may be pardoned for this. It is hardly true, we are afraid, to say that the Peace River possesses the climate of Missouri (although it may be just as desirable in some respects), and to make the unqualified assertion that "it grows more temperate as it goes north" will hardly enhance Mr. Perkins' reputation as a truth-teller. Those "Japan chinook breezes" must have blown through Eli's whiskers with the utmost soothing effect, for he evidently can't say enough about them. While agreeing with the versatile Perkins that these "breezes" are very important entities, especially on this side of the mountains, it would require considerable imagination to detect any Japanese flavor in the breezes that sometimes blow over the Northwest, although proximity to the Pacific, and the decreasing altitude of the mountain barrier as it stretches northward, undoubtedly does render certain portions of the Northwest, including part of the Peace River tract, more temperate as to it its winter climate than Manitoba, Dakota or Montana. "The almost tropical plains of British Columbia," "loaded with cedars and pine," and "fronting on Puget Sound" (!) has a far better ring to our mind than the contemptuous "sea of mountains" with which less observant and liberal-minded tourists have seen fit to advertise their own mole-eyedness and general stupidity, and is much nearer the truth, if it is "a little mixed." On the whole, Eli Perkins, who, it must be remembered, passed through "from Winnipeg to Vancouver" at a favorable season of the year for seeing things to advantage en route, has given evidence of being a tolerably close and accurate observer and a fair, as well as enthusiastic, describer.

VENOMOUS SERPENTS.

An Expert's Account of the Reptiles of the United States.

In this country there are four different species of rattlesnake, the ground, or black rattlesnake, the Florida species, the mountain serpent and that of the Staked Plains, says Stephen J. Wilcox in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The rattlesnake found east of the Mississippi and the wooded district west of that river, is essentially the same as the Florida species, although sometimes classed as a separate variety. Of all these the Staked Plains rattlesnake is the largest, most active and most dangerous. Six feet is not an unusual length, while seven-foot snakes have on several occasions been killed. These serpents measure sometimes ten inches round the body, and reports of deaths from their venom are very rare. The Florida rattlesnake comes next in size, while the short, stumpy ground snake, scarcely ever more than three feet long, is the least venomous.

But three other venomous serpents are found in this country, the copperhead, the moccasin, land and water, and a small and very rare snake found in Arizona, which is considered the most deadly of all. This snake lies in the dust, and strikes like a flash of lightning at any thing that approaches. A peculiar fact about this snake is that it is nearly completely blind, and has the keenest hearing of any snake known. These reptiles are very rare, and but half a dozen specimens are found in any of our museums.

Among the articulates some of the spiders, nearly all of the scorpions, and a few species of centipedes are poisonous, but the virulence of their venom has been immensely exaggerated, and has become a superstition. The tarantula is regarded by many as more venomous than the rattlesnake, but in all my investigations I never discovered more than two instances where men have been bitten by these great spiders, and in neither case were the consequences serious. The sting of a scorpion is not much worse than that of a wasp, and the bite of a centipede at least than any found north of the Mexican line.

The effect of a snake's poison is entirely confined on the corpuscles of the blood. I have experimented on various animals, and have found that the result of venom is to cause a disintegration of the corpuscles, reducing the blood to a thick, homogeneous mass. Hogs are regarded as impervious to poison, but this is by no means the case. They certainly kill and eat rattlesnakes, but these reptiles once drive their fangs deep enough to reach the blood, a pig will die as soon as any other animal. The secret of their immunity lies in the fact that they adhere to upon the snake with their fat cheeks inserted. The snake drives its fangs into a mass of fat presented, the blood is not reached and the hog strips the snake through its teeth before it can strike another blow. But when the hog is thin the fangs can not serve as a shield and death ensues. Whether or not an animal recovers from a snake bite depends largely upon its strength, as in a short time the blood will become its corpuscular condition, and no recovery ensues. It is simply as a stimulant that whisky has been found effective, as it is the only way directly counteracts the effect of the poison.

MARKING MERCHANDISE

Convenient Table for Merchants in All Lines of Business.

Many goods bought and sold by retail merchants are billed and vended by the dozen, says the Industrial World, and it often happens that in marking them the merchant is sometimes a little puzzled as to the percentage the selling price bears to the wholesale figures. After adding freight and cartage proceed by the following method. To make a profit or 20 per cent., multiply the cost per dozen by ten. This is done by removing the decimal point one place to the left. To illustrate: If Ames' spades cost $17.50 per dozen, delivered at store, remove the decimal point one place to the left, which will make $1.75 each, and if they should be sold for to gain 20 per cent. on the cost. The 20 per cent. is taken as a basis for the following reasons: We can determine it instantly, by simply removing the decimal point without changing or adding a figure. Therefore to mark an article at any per cent. profit we may use the following as a general rule: First find the per cent. profit as above, then as 20 per cent. profit is 120 per cent. of the cost and profit, add or subtract from this amount the decimal part that the required per cent. added to 100 is more or less than 120. The majority of merchants, in making their sales, generally take a per cent., that is, an aliquot part of 100, as 20, 25, 33⅓, 50 and so on. The obvious reason for this is, because it is much easier to add such per cent. to the cost, and a merchant could mark a ton shovels, forks and hay knives at 50 per cent. profit in the time it would take him to calculate and mark one at 35 per cent. The following will be found very convenient for merchants in marking all articles bought by the dozen:

To make 20 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left.
To make 25 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add ¼ itself.
To make 30 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add ⅓ itself.
To make 50 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add ½ itself.
To make 44 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-5 itself.
To make 40 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-6 itself.
To make 37 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-7 itself.
To make 35 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add ⅛ itself.
To make 33⅓ per cent. remove decimal point one place to left and add 1-9 itself.
To make 33 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-10 itself.
To make 30 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-12 itself.
To make 28 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-15 itself.
To make 26 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-20 itself.
To make 25 per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and add 1-24 itself.
To make 12½ per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and subtract 1-10 itself.
To make 10⅝ per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and subtract 1-30 itself.
To make 18¾ per cent. remove decimal point one place to left, and subtract 1-96 itself.

For instance, a dozen hay knives cost $15, 33 per cent. is to be added—then removing the point to left $1.50, and add 1-10—15—$1.65, the marking price.

How a Great Many New York Belles Are Undermining Their Health.

A tall, fine-looking woman, dressed in the best fashion, entered an up-town drug store last evening and approaching the counter leaned wearily against it, says the New York Telegram. The clerk, who was waiting on another customer, reached to a shelf and taking down a little box shook two pills into a bit of paper. He passed them to the fashionable lady and gave her a glass of mineral water. After putting the pills in her mouth the lady drank the water, and with a sigh of relief hurried from the shop. Not a word passed between either the customer or clerk, and no money was paid for the pills.

"Well, that beats me," exclaimed a visitor.

"It is rather singular," said the clerk, smiling, "but such things happen here every day. That customer is well known in the social world. She has got the quinine habit, which will kill her in the end. There is too much of this quinine business going on, but we have to keep up with the times. That lady exhausted herself in social and charitable visits, and then began to take a five-grain pill of quinine to brace up. She did it by the advice of a friend. Now five grains every evening she advanced to fifteen, and soon she will want forty.

"She likes to feel cheerful and look well when she goes out with her husband, and having become a slave of quinine she takes it as a stimulant. But her husband is ignorant of the habit. She pays us $1.50 a week and we keep the pills here for her. There are many ladies in Ward McAllister's exclusive 400 who are slowly dying of the habit. It is far worse than drinking alcoholic liquors, and we frequently advise our quinine patients to brace up on whisky or brandy and let quinine alone.

It Makes You Hungry

"I have used Paine's Celery Compound and it has had a salutary effect. It invigorated the system and I feel like a new man. It improves the appetite and facilitates digestion." J. T. COPELAND, Primus, S. C.

Spring medicine means more now-a-days than it did ten years ago. The winter of 1888-89 has left the nerves all fagged out. The nerves must be strengthened, the blood purified, liver and bowels regulated. Paine's Celery Compound—the Spring medicine of to-day—does all this, as nothing else can. Prescribed by Physicians, Recommended by Druggists, Endorsed by Ministers, Guaranteed by the Manufacturers to be

The Best Spring Medicine.

"In the spring of 1887 I was all run down. I would get up in the morning with so tired a feeling, and was so weak that I could hardly get around. I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and before I had taken it a week I felt very much better. I can cheerfully recommend it to all who need a building up and strengthening medicine." Mrs. B. A. DOW, Burlington, Vt.

Paine's Celery Compound

is a unique tonic and appetizer. Pleasant to the taste, quick in its action, and without any injurious effect, it gives that rugged health which makes everything taste good. It cures Dyspepsia and kindred disorders. Physicians prescribe it. $1.00. Six for $5.00. Druggists.

ALBERT J. HILL & COMPANY

OF NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C.

The advantages and prospects of this Plot for a future thriving Town are many.

The Land in the vicinity is good.

There are inexhaustible IRON ORE DEPOSITS, of a superior quality, immediately adjacent, as well as vast strata of the finest BUILDING SAND and POTTERY CLAY.

On the Townsite are a number of valuable MINERAL SPRINGS.

Communication by land and water is unequalled, by reason of the location of the Townsite on the Fraser River and the Southern Railway, while the natural elevation and lay of the land can not be excelled as a situation for a fine town.

The ground is open and clear of heavy timber.

The site has been selected as one of the most important stations on the Southern Railway, and with the completion of the road, in the near future, must, with all its other advantages, spring into prominence at once.

Those who apply early will have the pick of the Lots.

A clear title given with every purchase.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Ald. McKillican gave notice in the council meeting last evening of his intention to introduce a by-law providing that a salary of $200 per annum be in future paid to each of the city aldermen. They claim that the aldermen are entitled to a small sum with which to meet expenses in connection with their office, just as much as the mayor is.—Colonist. It would not be a bad idea to pay the Westminster aldermen a similar salary, and then when they happened to strike work without reason they could be paid off and discharged.

Attention is directed to the great auction sale of blooded and graded stock fixed to come off at Ontario farm, Langley Prairie, on 28th June, full particulars of which will appear in next WEEKLY COLUMBIAN. The Messrs. Innes are favorably known as being good judges of horses and cattle, and the sale in question will give an opportunity seldom offered of acquiring good stock. 160 acres of the best prairie land in the province will be offered for sale by auction at the same time and place. Mr. T. J. Trapp will conduct the sale. td*

E. W. Johnston, the champion all round athlete, arrived in town yesterday per s. s Islander. Judging from appearances, Mr. Johnston's two weeks' training in Tacoma has agreed with him, as he is looking remarkably well. A prominent topic of conversation in athletic circles generally is his coming wrestling match with Perrie for $400, to take place next Saturday evening in Hart's Opera House. Johnston made his final deposit of $100 with the stakeholder, Mr. Geo. Black, *yesterday. He seems to be very con*fident of winning in the coming contest, at the same time admitting the undoubted skill of Perrie.—News, June 20th.

What a Canneryman Must Know.

Some people think a man does not require to know much to hold even the most responsible position in a salmon packing establishment. Smart young men thinking this way had better not apply for a soft billet unless they can keep books, sell dry goods and groceries, run a typewriter, tail Chinook, act private secretary to the proprietor and milk cows. This is the sort of a man a well known canner wanted last week, and he got him. The prodigy comes from Nova Scotia.

Mining on Salt Spring.

The Salt Spring Island Mining Company (limited) was incorporated some weeks ago and work has since been prosecuted on the mine, men being kept at work steadily night and day. A shaft was sunk 85 feet, at which depth a well defined ledge was found. In order, however, to prospect the ledge at a greater depth and with less expense, the company have decided to run a tunnel from the side of the mountain 130 feet lower down. The *tunnel is now in 100 feet and every*thing so far gives evidence that the mine is going to turn out well.—Times.

The Militia for Vancouver.

It has been finally arranged that both the Westminster corps will visit Vancouver on July 1st and take part in the celebration there. Twenty five members of the artillery have agreed to go, and 35 of the rifles, including the band. This will make the Westminster contingent 60 strong, but it is probable at least 70 men will answer to their names on Dominion day morning. It will be necessary to parade for drill at least once or twice next week, and every man who intends going to Vancouver must be present. The Westminster corps must be equal in every way to the Victoria contingent.

Everything Settled.

Our respected citizen, Mr. S. H. Webb, left the royal city a couple of weeks ago ostensibly to visit England and the continent on pleasure, but it is now whispered that he went east for no other purpose than to disturb the cordial relations now existing between the mother country and the United States. He has already raised a fearful commotion in diplomatic circles at Washington, and yet he has only been absent from home two weeks. A despatch from Washington, dated June 16th says: "No little comment was indulged in diplomatic circles to-day over the announcement in an Ottawa dispatch that S. H. Webb, of British Columbia, had information to the effect that England and the United States have come to an understanding in accordance with which no seizure of British vessels will be made in Behring's sea this season." It is quite evident from the above that Mr. Webb is well informed as to the negotiations which have taken place regarding the Behring's sea fisheries, but that Mr Webb is modest withal is borne out by the fact that he never whispered a word of his knowledge even to his most intimate friends in the royal city. Mr. Webb has also by some means, only known to himself, ascertained where the legal rights to Behring's sea belong, for he tells an American press correspondent at Ottawa, "the United States has undoubtedly superior rights in Behring sea. The indiscriminate slaughter of seals is having a bad effect and for seven seals shot only one is secured." Probably Mr. Webb got the latter part of his information from the same source as the rest comes from, but wherever that may be every one will acknowledge that he has the "dead cinch" on the whole diplomatic world. Mr. Webb announced that he was going to visit the continent before returning home, and if he does, the final settlement of the "eastern question" may now be looked on as arranged, to be followed shortly by Bismarck's retirement and the installing of Mr. Webb into the iron chancellor's boots.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. E. J. Miller has returned from Victoria.

E. Mohun, C.E., is registered at the Colonial.

S. T. Mackintosh left for Victoria this afternoon.

Mrs. B. Springer, of Moodyville, was visiting friends in town to-day.

Hon. J. H. Turner, minister of finance, arrived from Victoria this afternoon and is staying at the Colonial.

It is reported that the road from Albert Canyon to the north fork of the Illecillewaet, which is only 8½ miles *long and built at a cost of some $4,*000, is nothing but a trail, the bridges alone being wide enough for the crossing of a wagon. Somehow or other, it costs like blazes to build government roads in the west division of Kootenay district, and when they are built they are generally unfit for use. —Donald Truth.

OUR PROVINCE.

Its Cities, Resources, Scenery, Climate, Prospects, Etc.—How These Impress the Casual, Disinterested Observer—A Pleasing and Eloquent Description.

The following hastily written notes and impressions of his recent trip through the province, from the pen of Rev. Dr. Ormiston, written at Los Angeles, where the doctor was making a short sojourn, will be read with some interest by the majority of our readers. To fit the article to our space we have been forced to shorten it in some particulars, otherwise it is published intact:

After having spent two weeks amid the sublime grandeur and awe-spiring impressions of the mountain scenery, along the route of the Canadian Pacific Railroad—scenery scarcely equalled, certainly not surpassed by any on this continent. I greatly en*joyed the quiet restfulness and pictur*esque beauty of the city on the right bank of the majestic Fraser. What a contrast the well-built city, with its cultivated gardens, its handsome edifices and busy factories, presents to the towering, cloud-piercing, snowcapped mountains, which sometimes seemed to overhang the track of the adventurous train. And the deep ravines, which the train itself seemed literally to overhang. From the time when we entered the "Gap," which is the eastern portal of the Rocky mountains, one scene of surpassing grandeur or beauty succeeds another before the startled vision, with all the sudden and bewildering variety of a tremendous kaliedoscope in the hands of a Titan. Successive ranges of prodigious mountains, deep gorges, rushing rivers, dashing cascades, snow-slides and glaciers, arrest attention, awaken wonder, exhaust emotion, and tire the brain so that one is fain to close the eye for a time, to recruit the weary mind—or to stop over a train to rest, and so more clearly apprehend and more fully appreciate the unique, unparalelled, character of the scenery.

At Banff such a resting place is found, where the government has reserved a national park which includes the valley of the Bow, Spray and the Cascade, which here unite their floods into one common stream. Numerous walks, drives and bridle paths have been constructed which render all the places and objects of interest—falls, lakes, hot springs, baths and bridges—easy of access. Passing up the valley of the Bow, through the dense forests, under the shadow of the bastions and battlements of Castle Mount, we get a view of the lonely and lofty Spray and soon reach the Summit, where we get the first glimpse of the glaciers, which afterwards are objects of frequent occurrence.

The descent, by the banks of the rushing maddened Wapta, is very steep, and appears specially perilous. The scene is really terrible, the road clinging to the side of precipitous cliffs, whence one looks down upon the raging stream more than a thousand feet below. On rushes the train as if racing with the tumultuous torrent, past the spires of Cathedral Mount, and the dome of Mount Stephen, down whose slopes slowly glides the frozen stream. Soon we enter a deep narrow gorge or canyon between the two ranges of mountains. So narrow is this pass, that the rocks on either side seem almost within reach of the hand, and the fierce mad stream makes a final plunge into the quiet waters of the broad Columbia.

Again ascending by another steep grade, we attain the summit of the Selkirks, at Roger's pass, which lies between the heights of McDonald and Hermit. Sir Donald, the monarch mountain, raising his hoary head about 11,000 ft, is here distinctly seen. Soon we arrived at Glacier House, a most comfortable hotel, offering another most delightful and desirable resting place. The great glacier is in full view of the house, distant about two miles; a path renders it accessible to all pedestrians. Here the bear, the big horn sheep and the mountain goat find their homes I saw a large black bear, which a hunter had shot that day in the vicinity of the hotel.

The descent, which again is very rapid, is accomplished by a marvel of engineering skill—the road repeatedly doubling on itself, and returning after a run of many miles almost to the place of starting. The Illiciliwaet, a small but rapid and turbulent stream, rushes through the Albert canyon in a narrow flume not more than twenty feet in width, and three hundred feet below the railroad. At Revelstoke we again cross the Columbia, which is now on its way, after a detour around the hills of the Dominion, to its native home in Washington Territory. Then passing a number of beautiful small lakes, we come to Shuswap lake, along whose banks, lovely and quiet as an English landscape, we ran for fifty miles, and then arrived at Kamloops, so named because it stands at the "confluence of the waters" of the North and South Thompson rivers.

It is a place of great beauty and at*tractiveness,*—a wide valley with a back ground of hills on either side—a grand grazing region, where numerous herds of cattle and horses roam at will, and were a system of thorough irrigation provided, either by using the mountain streams or by sinking artesian wells, crops and fruits of all kinds could be raised in great abundance. There is between the two rivers an Indian reservation, on which stands a good sized village with a church and school. Some of the natives are industrious and have acquired considerable property.

Leaving Kamloops the road follows the course of the river until, at Lytton, it joins the Fraser. Along the banks of that turbid and turbulent river, through a wild, weird canyon, the road pursues its devious and difficult way till it reaches Yale, the head of navigation, and thence, with lofty mountains constantly in view, to Vancouver—a city of infantile years, but of giant growth, situated at the terminus of the C. P. R. and bidding fair to be a place of commercial importance.

From Vancouver, a short ride by rail or stage brings us to New Westminster, on the Fraser, 16 miles from its mouth. This is one of the foremost and most important towns in the province. Its situation is very fine, on an elevated slope, rising gradually from the bank of the Fraser, which is here of majestic size, navigable for ships of heavy burden. The town is well built and contains many handsome private dwellings, as well as suitable public edifices, including the penitentiary, an asylum for the insane, and a number of commodious and beautiful churches. It is a great lumber centre. A number of large sawmills produce a vast quantity of excellent lumber, much of which is shipped to Europe, Australia and China. The fishing interest is very important, and is a source of great wealth. The Fraser is the favored habitat of the salmon, immense numbers of which are annually caught and canned, and the products are exported to every part of the world.

The entire annual products, it is said, amount to more than one million of dollars, and New Westminster is the place of greatest enterprise and activity in the business. The average weight of the salmon caught in the river varies from eight to fifteen pounds. The weight of some is as high as fifty or sixty. The recent and rapid rise of Vancouver, at the terminus of the C. P. R., will undoubtedly retard, but cannot ultimately prevent, the growth of New Westminster, which is not only favorably situated for commerce, but is surrounded by fertile lands adapted for agriculture.

The province of British Columbia is exceedingly rich in all kinds of material resources, which, time and increasing population will soon develop. Treasures lie hid in her forests and mines, on river and sea, and it presents to the tourist a vast variety of most enchanting scenery, beautiful and picturesque, gorgeous and grand. The most western member of the great sisterhood of provinces, that constitute the Dominion—which comprises nearly one half of North America—and the only one which lies on the Pacific coast, it is destined to take a high place in the prosperity and progress of the Dominion, or form a grand part of the future great independent nation.

The territory is vast, containing about three hundred and fifty thousand square miles, extending along the Pacific seven hundred miles, from the 49th to the 60th degree of latitude, comprising within its extended boundaries lofty ranges of mountains, great rivers flowing westward to the Pacific, or northward to the polar seas; and along its western coast are scattered a multitude of islands, chief of which is Vancouver, the most southerly, where Victoria, the capital of the province is situated—a fascinating, beautiful and attractive city. The climate is highly salubrious and invigorating and, along the shores of the Pacific, equable and genial, specially so at Victoria and New Westminster.

The land waits for its coming population, which will find or make in its valleys or on the slopes of its hills many prosperous and happy homes. And as the population increases, New Westminster will share in the general growth and prosperity, and maintain the rank and fame it has already honestly acquired. My personal recollections of the city, and of the generous hospitalities extended to me by her warmhearted citizens will ever be grateful to me.

The writer has a paragraph on the C. P. R., in which the greatest admiration is expressed for the road as an engineering achievement, and the highest praise bestowed upon its management, its service and its officials, who are described as courteous and considerate. Freedom from accidents and unnecessary delays is particularly and favorably noted, and the fact that "in no instance was the train behind time in arriving at any station" is characterized as remarkable.

Dr. Ormiston concludes his interesting letter as follows: On the way I made it my duty to visit all the Presbyterian churches along the route, I visited twelve congregations and preached or lectured for them twelve times. I conversed freely with fifteen ministers, all of whom I found were earnestly and hopefully engaged in their work. These brethren are building up a strong church in the Northwest, and will leave a noble record and a permanent monument behind them. I very much enjoyed myself in fellowship with them, and was by them greatly refreshed. May they and their congregations receive a copious unction from on high.

WM. ORMISTON.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Mr. White's Reply.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—I notice an anonymous letter in your issue of Wednesday, criticising and condemning in advance, what may be said in the Methodist church next Sunday evening. Allow me to say that the subject announced was not "The Town By-Laws," but "The Liquor License By-law," which I shall try to discuss in a manner beneficial to God's day and house. This may not suit your correspondent any better, but it is certainly unfair in him to threaten to turn his back upon all the churches because of his dissatisfaction with one of them. Yours Truly,

JAMES H. WHITE.

LATE CANADIAN NEWS.

A court of enquiry is being held in St. John's military school, Montreal, on a charge of insubordination against a lieutenant. It is stated that the lieutenant refused to obey his major, and, being ordered under arrest struck his superior officer on the face. Colonels Houghton and Mattice are holding an inquiry.

It is reported in official circles at Ottawa that the Canadian government has impressed upon the imperial government the urgent necessity for the early settlement of the Behring's sea difficulties, and suggests that the British ambassador at Washington be instructed to learn from the Washington government whether it is willing to agree to the appointment of an international commission to inquire fully into the whole question of the seal fisheries of Alaska. The government at Ottawa is of the opinion that the question of the right of the United States to exclusive privileges in Behring's sea could be satisfactorily gone into and decided upon by such a commission, and that the report of such a commission to the legislatures of both countries would be of incalculable value in tending towards a settlement.
