NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It is rumoured that King Milan obtained a divorce from Queen Natalie and more recently abdicated his throne that he may marry the woman whom he loves.

The paternal Russian authorities have decided to allow ladies to become doctors, with this stipulation—that they must only attend on children and adults of their own sex.

An examination in the public schools: Professor to pupil: "In which of his battles was Gustavus Adolphus killed?" Pupil, after reflection: "I think it was in his last battle."

The criminal libel suit brought by Mr. H. J. Clarke against Mr. Acton Burrows was dismissed in Winnipeg recently on the ground that the libel complained of was merely the republication of parliamentary papers.

The direct use of electricity as a labor-saving machine has been applied at the great steel works, Cleveland, Ohio., where a large electric-magnet is used, suspended from a crane, to pick up steel bars and billets. It will pick up 800 lb. billets and drop them where wanted by the touch of a key, the movement of the crane being done by steam.

Arkansan ways of administering justice are peculiar. The other day a white man drew a pistol on a negro and was fined fifty-four dollars. The fine was not forthcoming, so a constable put the man up at auction to be sold to the highest bidder for seventy-two days time. As the prisoner was reputed to be a good shot and too ready with his pistol, no one seemed anxious to buy, and he was finally knocked down to a friend for twenty-five cents. The incident does not put Arkansas civilization in a very favorable light.—Ex.

A curious case of a woman having passed herself off for a man during more than ten years has just been brought before a Paris police commissary. The woman came to Paris dressed as a man in 1878, and, in partnership with her lover, has since been at the head of an important printing office. Till now neither the printers whom she directed nor any of her customers or other people in whose society she was thrown ever suspected the truth. As her conduct has given rise to no scandal of any sort, it is possible that the prefect of police, to whom she has now applied, will grant her demand for authorization to continue to dress in man's clothes.

Says an exchange: Lady Florence Dixie, always original, has taken a new departure which it may be thought will find favour on this side of the Atlantic, especially where "women's rights" are looked upon with favour. To the invitations to a recent ball she has just given, she added the following announcement: "Contrary to the ridiculous customary habit hitherto, ladies will not have to wait to be asked to dance, but will have the right to go directly to whatever gentleman they choose. In my house women shall enjoy the right of suffrage." The Women's Suffrage Association should put Lady Florence's name on its list of speakers.

The following weird story told by a traveller from the wilds of Kwangsi admirably illustrates the belief of the Chinese in the transmigration of souls: "A native's wife was taken very ill, and before she died she told her husband, 'I have a secret to confide to you, which I never told before, for your sake and for the child's. When I die, do not nail up my coffin, but leave it for a time out on the mountain. Have two live fowls ready in the house, for after I have been dead a hundred days I will return to the realm of living men for a time, and come back to our home. Fear not, but if I make towards the child, offer me the two fowls, and say that yourself will tend the infant, and that I need not be anxious, that between the dead and the living a gulf is fixed, and I should rest among the departed and not come back to trouble the child. I will look at you fixedly for a spell, take the fowls, strangle them, and begone, never to return. My body will not lie down again in its coffin, but will be transformed into a living tiger, and if hereafter you come out to the place and see the clothing lying by the coffin, you will know that my words have come true.' Holding her husband's hand, the woman expired. The ghost appeared at due date, did as the living wife had foretold, and disappeared in the jungle; and when the man visited the coffin some days after he found the cast-off-grave-clothes, and wept when he thought of their former happy life together and her strange fate. While drinking his tears he saw a tigress stalk from the jungle, and knew it was his wife transformed into a new existence. Gently he stroked its striped back, and with a melancholy roar it bounded away. No deed of blood was ever known to be wrought by this gentlest of tigresses on the mountain, and the child has grown up and prospers.

GREAT STORMS

Reported from all Over the Continent and Three Gales now Moving East.

Newfoundland will not License American Fishermen this Year to Purchase Bait.

One of the Royal Princes to Visit Canada Next Month and See the Country.

A HEAVY GALE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March, 15.—Vessels coming here from Northern coast ports for the past few days have had a very hard time bucking against a southwest gale and head seas. The Oregon Development Company's steamer Santa Maria has arrived after a passage of 112 hours from Yaquina. The trip is generally made in forty-six to forty-eight hours.

GREAT STORMS.

NEW YORK, March 15.—A cyclone heavily loaded with rain, which is falling heavily all along the south Atlantic coast, is on its way here and is expected to reach this section this evening. A much colder western storm is also moving this way from the west and may reach here to-morrow. Off the coast the wind is blowing 50 miles an hour and signals of a dangerous storm have been ordered up from Savannah to Massachusetts. A severe storm is expected from the Pacific coast and moving eastward. Should these storms meet another blizzard may visit this section.

DENIES THE REPORT.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Telegrams are pouring in upon President Harrison asking the appointment of Ex-Governor Watson C. Squire, of Seattle, to be governor of Washington Territory. Squire seems to have by far the strongest backing of any candidate for governor, and his friends are confident he will receive the appointment. It is expected that the office will be filled next week.

IMPRISONED MINERS.

READING, Pa., March 15.—The six imprisoned miners in the Black Diamond mine, near Mount Carmel, were not rescued up to noon to-day. The two spoken to at 10 o'clock last night are probably dead, as the last one who spoke said he was dying. The four imprisoned by the slide of rock can be heard pounding on the rock between them and liberty. A full force of men are at the work of rescue and they can hear the men faintly calling inside. These calls are answered by the workers outside to keep up the courage of the unfortunates, although a large mass of loose rock above the prisoners may fall on and crush them at any moment.

THREE HANGINGS.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 15.—Willis Green, Anderson Mitchell, and Dan Jones (colored), were hanged at Arcadelphia to-day for the murder of a negro preacher, named Arthur Horton, on May 25, 1888. The execution was private.

THE WEAVERS' STRIKE.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 15.—The strike situation is unchanged to-day. Members state the board of arbitration is in conference this morning with the members of the weavers' committee endeavoring to bring about a settlement of the strike. They have not yet secured a conference with the board of trade. There are no crowds on the streets and the strikers are very quiet; many operatives taking advantage of the strike go to Canada or the old country on a vacation.

A BOY MURDERER.

NEW YORK, March 15.—William Krulisch, the young boy indicted for murder in the first degree for killing a drug clerk named Weschenga, pleaded "not guilty" to-day and was remanded for trial.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The Oregon navigation directors to-day declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent.

AFTER THE SKIPPER.

BUFFALO, March 15.—Wm. Burgess, of Mimico, near Toronto, Ont., arrived here this morning. He has been a big dealer in canning supplies, in which he made a corner, but failed to realize anything. He then sold all his available goods, real estate and personal property, and came to Buffalo. On arrival he deposited $20,000 in two banks. Detectives have been looking for him and discovered him at Black Rock, a suburb of this city. News of the arrest was sent to Mimico and creditors are arriving by every train. The Buffalo chief of police says it looks as if by to-night there will not be a man, woman or child left in Mimico.

A QUARREL ENDS SADLY.

AUSTIN, Nevada, March 15.—At Italian Canyon, twelve miles from here, on Wednesday, Samuel Rundle killed his father-in-law, George Hosking, and his brother-in-law, aged fifteen, by shooting them with a shotgun. Rundle then took a horse and rode three miles to the lower ranch. He entered the kitchen of the house and with a pistol shot and killed Mrs. Hosking and then suicided. The shooting was the result of a quarrel on a division of property.

A ROYAL VISIT.

MONTREAL, March 15.—One of the Prince of Wales sons will accompany Sir George Stephens president of the Canadian Pacific, to Canada next month. The young prince will make an extended tour of the Dominion and the United States.

NO LICENSES.

ST. JOHN, N. F., March 15.—The issue of licenses to American vessel to purchase bait will be refused this season because American vessels last year violated the conditions of the licenses. Revenue cutters are now patrolling the coast and every port is strictly guarded.

A CUSTOMS UNION.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The president will shortly appoint two delegates to a commercial congress, which is to convene in this city on October 2nd of this year. This congress will be attended by delegates from Mexico, Central and South America, Hayti, San Domingo and Brazil, and will consider the formation of an American customs union; the establishment of regular and frequent communications between the ports of the several American states; the adoption of a uniform system of weights and measures and national patent and copyright laws, and the adoption of common silver coins. It is expected that the congress will adopt a definite plan of arbitration of all questions, disputes or differences, to the end that they may be peaceably settled and war prevented.

GREAT FIRE.

HELENA, Mont., March 14.—The most disastrous fire in the history of the Territory occurred at 6 o'clock this morning at Anaconda, the lower works of the Anaconda Smelting Company being entirely destroyed. The concentration and smash mill alone were saved. The loss is $1,000,000, though manager Daly will give no figures. The fire is thought to be the result of a plot, as an excellent fire patrol is constantly on duty, but when the fire was discovered it had such a start that nothing could be done. The Anaconda Campany is a member of the copper syndicate and its output is over 8,000,000 lbs. of copper a month. The fire reduces the output one third. What is known as the upper works are running full force. Upon completion of the plant destroyed to-day the company estimated that it would be able to turn out about 18,000,000 pounds of copper per month.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, Mar. 14th—Adam Brown's pigeon bill, as it is dubbed, received another set back when the house went into committee. Tisdale moved that the committee rise. This motion was carried by a vote of 67 to 60.

Several Liberals supported the principle of Hon. Mr. Kirkpatrick's bill to permit foreigh vessels to aid vessels wrecked or disabled in Canadian waters.

Mr. Charlton moved an important amendment. His amendment provides that American tugs in inland waters be permitted to tow rafts and vessels from one Canadian port to another Canadian port, provided that the United States granted reciprocal terms to Canadian tugs in American inland waters. A clause in the amendment also provides that this arangement do not take effect until proclaimed by the governor-general.

Hon. Peter Mitchell said that when the principle of reciprocity on the great lakes was adopted, it ought to extend to the Atlantic coast.

Mr. Kenny, of Halifax, objected onthe ground that the underwriters would give the American salvage companies privileges on the Atlantic coast. He opposed the amendment. The Americans, he contended, had adopted a bullying attitude towards Canada on every occasion.

Charlton's amendment was lost on a division of 21 to 67, and the bill passed its second reading as reported from the committee.

Section 2 of the original bill, as reported from the select committee, applying the provisions of the bill to the Welland Canal and to the waters of the St. Mary's river and canal, were struck out.

At last nights debate reference was made to the quantity of coal exported to the United States from British Columbia, and some Conservative members agreed that 75 cents per ton duty was an incalcuable benefit to the people of British Columbia. The British Columbia members, some of whom were in the house, made no remarks. Mr. Chisholm was seen taking notes. They are likely to vote against reciprocity with the States.

Mr. Wood, of Westmoreland, resumed the budget debate this afternoon. There was a swell attendance in the house. Mr. Wood, though not eloquent, delivered one of the best speeches of the session. He dealt with the unrestricted reciprocity arguments of the Liberals, and said that those who favored that policy were fond of comparing the condition and progress made by Canada and the United States. Taking both countries as a whole Mr. Wood gave voluminous statistics to show that the prosperity of the American union was unevenly distributed between the various states and urged that the only fair comparison that could be made would be a comparison of the Canadian provinces with the adjacent states, including Maine, Vermont, New York and Michigan. Canada by this comparison would, he contended, make a better showing, relatively speaking, than those states.

Mr. Gigault replied and said: "The Liberals were fond of holding up the United States before Canadian eyes as an example of great progress. He rejoiced at this and hoped that Canadians would continue to follow still further in the footsteps of the United States in building up her industries by means of a protective policy."

Colonel Amyot followed: He admitted that Canada had made progress under protection, but favored unrestricted reciprocity. He said all economical reasons show that this latter is the best policy. The United States took the first steps toward removing trade barriers, Canada ought to do the same. When the United States displayed unfriendly policy it would be time for Canada to retaliate, but everything points to the extension of our trade relations. It was a mistaken idea that the French Canadians enjoy greater liberties under British rule. Any advantages his country may have secured were guaranteed by treaty, and were partly the result of special circumstances.

Sir John Macdonald will move on Tuesday for the appointment of a select committee to confer with a select committee of the senate, to enquire into the expenditure of the country in respect to legislation, and the practicability of reducing it.

The trial of Hatfield for the murder of his wife at Holland, Man., is progressing at the assizes. Thirty-five colonists arrived at Winnipeg Wednesday from the east. Fifteen will take up land in Manitoba, and the remainder will come to the coast.

It is rumored that Hon. L. M. Jones will shortly retire from the Manitoba cabinet. Col. McMillan is mentioned as his probable successor.

AUSTRIAN TROOPS

Moving Towards the Servian Frontier Causes Much Uneasiness in European Money Markets.

The American Baseball Players Presented to the Prince of Wales Yesterday.

Parliamentary Proceedings Against the "Times" to be Entered by Mr. Morley.

MOVING TOWARDS SERVIA.

LONDON, March 15.—The movement of Austrian troops towards the Servian frontier causes uneasiness, which added to the uncertainty about the Paris markets paralizes business on the stock exchange.

LECARON'S DOCUMENTS.

LONDON, March 15.—In the house of commons to-day Mr. Matthews, secretary of the home office, in answer to a question said he neither knew nor sanctioned the action of Anderson, one of the home office officials, in giving to Lecaron, the Times' witness, documents which the latter produced at the Parnell commission. Mr. Matthews said, however, he considered that Mr. Anderson acted properly in the matter. Sir Wm. Harcourt gave notice he would introduce a motion regarding Anderson on Monday, when the vote for the police supply will be discussed.

SMALLEY'S CABLE.

LONDON, March 15.—The second appearance of the American baseball teams does but confirm the first expressions of the English. They played to the people yesterday including a large number of cricketers, amateurs and professionals, who agree that batting is the weak point of baseball; the bat is not shaped so as to make scientific playing of the ball practicable, and even if it were the batsmen would get no sure advantage from their skill. "We could soon put a team in the field that would make a fair show against your baseball champions," said one distinguished cricketer, "but your men would not have a chance against us at cricket after years of practice. Science is on our side." Civilities to the Americans are not less numerous than if the game were better liked. The men themselves are more admired than ever. Mr. Irving, who never forgets his American friends, asked them to the Lyceum where they saw "Macbeth" as Macbeth's guests. Their interview with the Prince of Wales at the Oval on Tuesday, I hear, gratified them. The prince held an informal levee for their benefit in the committee room of the Surrey cricket club, and Mr. White presented each player to him by name as they filed past. To most of them, the prince made some pleasant remark.

AFTER THE TIMES.

LONDON, March 15.—Parliamentary proceedings against the printer and publisher of the Times will be pushed by Mr. Morley.

BASE BALL IN BRISTOL.

BRISTOL, March 15.—The American base ball teams played here to-day. Score, Chicago's, 10; all Americans, 3.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

PARIS, Mar. 15.—The Figaro announces the resignation of W. Pillet Wiel, as director of the Bank of France has been accepted unanimously. None of the other directors will withdraw from the board.

A WAITING GAME.

LONDON, Mar. 15.—The market here to-day is stagnant, waiting the outcome of Austrian and Servian affairs. Early reports from Paris say the situation there is slightly better.

BRAVE CASSAGNAC.

PARIS, March 14.—In the senate to-day Senator Myquet refused to defend himself from the charges made against him on account of his connection with the Patriotic League. He said he knew the chamber had condemned him already, therefore he would say nothing in his defence. The prosecution of the league was sanctioned by a vote of 213 to 58. In the chamber of deputies the committee appointed to confer regarding the prosecution of the league, rendered a report advising the prosecution of Deputies Lagurrea, Laisant and Turquet. An excited debate ensued. M. Paul Cassagnac defied the chamber to prosecute General Boulanger, and stigmatized the government as cowards. The chamber authorized the prosecution of the deputies named by a vote of 334 to 227. Owing to the excitement of the debate duels are likely to take place between M. M. Arene and Provest, M. M. Buredeau and Cassagnac and M. M. Pichon and Lagurrea.

CORRESPONDENCE.

"The Way of Transgressors is Hard."

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Last Sunday a wayfaring man in charge of a team laden with household goods, consisting of various articles, together with women and children, was met on the Scott Road about 3 miles from New Westminster. He had been from 9 o'clock a.m. until 5 o'clock p.m. in making that distance. He declared he had not travelled such a hard road before. Any one, in future, who may be fleeing from justice to the "land of the free," should not take that road, for fear of being caught; it is full of sloughs, and seems to be neglected both by the government and the municipal councils, although a leading road from N. W. to the boundary line.

TRAVELLER.

Hot Springs Ore.

Mr. Morris Moss yesterday received a sample of silver ore from the No. 1 mine, Hot Springs camps, Kootenay Lake, which carries a large quantity of wire silver, and is as rich a specimen as could be desired. It was taken from the shaft. A tunnel is being run to tap the ledge at one hundred feet, and if it continues the same character of ore, the mine will prove one of immense value. Morris is jubilant.—Colonist.

A Kildonan, Man., teacher was taken to task for whipping a pupil, by the school board, whereupon he knocked down one of the trustees and took to the woods.

It will be seen by an item in another column that Mr. Higgins, for the Ross, McLaren Co., will lay an ultimatum before the city to the effect that the company's mill will not be erected on the site above this city unless on the condition that the council agree to have the projected Southern Railway and traffic bridge built across the Fraser at some point above the proposed site of the Ross, McLaren mills. The reason assigned for this demand is that the bridge will interfere with the towing of vessels to and from the mills, and prove very detrimental to the company's interests. It is almost too bad that the Ross, McLaren men find the prospective bridge to be so much in the way that they cannot carry on their milling operations on the river unless it is thrown across about three miles above the city. The bridge will, of course, have a draw, and in similar circumstances elsewhere navigation has been found to be quite possible. At any rate, it would prove very detrimental to the city's interests to consent to have the railway and traffic bridge built either above or below the city, and such a proposition cannot be entertained for a moment. While we are in favor of giving every reasonable encouragement to new industries and enterprises, we have no hesitation in declaring that the royal city does not hold itself so cheap as to be successfully dictated to, against its own interests, by the agents of any corporation, however colossal in its operations, promises, or threats. The bridge in question, as is well known, is to be a traffic as well as a railway bridge. The first-named feature is a very important one, and would itself justify the bonus required. But a traffic bridge three miles above the city, connecting with no roads on the opposite side of the river, is too absurd to be thought of. Local traffic would, of course, in time, adopt itself, by force of necessity, to such a roundabout route, but the inconvenience to the public and the damage to this city would be incalculable. We should be sorry to see the Ross, McLaren Co. abandon their intention of operating their extensive mills near the city, but if this is contingent upon Mr. Higgins' ultimatum, the larger interests of the city must be considered first.

Fashionable New York society, which is said to have narrowed itself down to "four hundred," and is more than half inclined to blackball Mrs. Cleveland, now that she is the wife of a private citizen, has a genuine "fad" just now, which has more to recommend it than mere novelty. The select ones have actually been invaded by the salvation army, in the person of Mrs. Ballington Booth, a pretty, refined, and formerly society young lady, who has renounced the world and its follies, espoused the cause of the despised salvationists, donned their uniform, and, as the wife of a son of General Booth, the founder of the army, is devoting her life to salvation army work both in the slums and palaces of the great American metropolis. In all the luridness of the army uniform, Mrs. Booth is countenanced and given audience in the rectory parlors of the Episcopal church and the fashionable parlors of Fifth avenue, and the "upper crust" are for the time nothing loth to hear this devoted woman speak of the subject nearest her heart and of her work in the slums of New York. In fact Mrs. Booth has become the rage. Before the whim changes, it is not improbable that some lessons in humanity and the common origin and brotherhood of man may have been brought home to the minds of the exclusive "society" of New York. Gail Hamilton, a popular American writer, discusses the subject in the Graphic, from which we make the following extracts: "The introduction of the salvation army into the ranks of fashion may be only a fashionable caprice. The output from that army of a young and pretty woman into the haunts of the "four hundred" may be because she was young and pretty; but can youth and beauty be better employed than in bridging the awful chasm between society and the slums. If the Power outside ourselves has so made ourselves that truth is more winning from curved and rosy lips than from hard and harsh or even from uncouth and ugly ones, why not avail ourselves of it and bid truth win, even thus, her votaries? If society will take up Mrs. Ballington Booth because of her simple charm, let us look scrutinizingly at what Mrs. Ballington Booth is trying to do before we utterly frown down this social whim. What says the young woman in the poke bonnet? For one thing, that she is going to put the salvation army on a different footing from that which it has hitherto held—as needs must, if she is the gentle lady her bearing indicates; and on the other hand she does propose to continue some of the methods which have made it to society not only objectionable but impossible. Yet on these points she is not stubborn but argumentative. She speaks from observation and experience. She admits that the army is theatrical, but pleads that they must be theatrical to secure their followers. It is the old argument of the mere; the harmless and the conclusive Pauline argument—to become all things to all men in order that some men may be won. * * * Mrs. Booth tells us that she has entered rooms where women were living who never so much as lifted their head at her entrance, or made any sign of recognition of her presence. Many and many a time has she rolled up her sleeves, tied a shawl around her head, taken mop or broom in hand, and as the ladies of society visit each other with cards and carriage, broom and mop have been her visiting cards and her medium of intercourse in her calls upon her and our wretched fellow citizens. Often has she gone thus her dreadful round simply helping these dumb creatures in their hopelessness; helping to scrub floors and scrub babies without speaking one word of religion. But she has thus secured her second position which is of equally vital importance to the first; viz., the friendliness of her beneficiaries. Thus have they been drawn towards her and have felt once more the touch and throb and thrill of human life. Is it not possible that the cornet and drum may have something to say for themselves. If fate has gone so hard, if living souls have grown so benumbed with beastly toil that common curiosity is dead within them, may not Mrs, Booth be right in affirming that far off church bells will ring in vain for them? It must be something near and clear and loud, which they will hear. Only that which shocks the ear attuned to melody can strike the ear deadened by doom to all but love. Not deadened to love, for through all the misery and the squalor the mother's love delves on and on, as Mrs. Booth incidentally testifies, simply to provide food for the children for whom she can provide little else. Mrs. Booth and her miseries would better be a fashionable fad in Fifth avenue drawing rooms than not be in them at all. There is a vital connection between the purlieus of wretchedness and the palaces of luxury. * * * If Fifth avenue and the rectories will do something besides make a fad of Mrs. Booth, will stay her hands as Hur and Aaron stayed the hands of Moses, will follow her with money and time and organization into her haunts of poverty, will help her to send the mother and children, whenever it is possible, out into the cheap country-side where fresh air costs nothing and fresh water costs nothing, where rent is low and work is greatly in demand; will help to support the poor mother there, will eke out the labor of her feeble hands with their own generous surplus till she shall have grown strong to support her children or even until her children have grown strong to support her—why, it will not be inexpensive, but it will be less expensive than a 'revolt' less expensive than an uprising'" Gail Hamilton concludes as follows: "Blow, bugles, blow, if your blast can pierce the darkness of death! Nuisance the salvation army may be, beneath the windows of Fifth avenue, but not so great a nuisance as the reeking cellars out of sight, where vice and wretchedness brood and breed. If the salvation army can purify these purlieus, blow, bugles, blow, though every ear of Fifth avenue be deafened with their din."

JAMES CUNNINGHAM.

Importer of Hardware, Agricultural Implements, Etc.

In every city there are individual examples of men whose connections with its business pursuits, whose prominence in all matters of public enterprise, whose record for unflinching integrity, undaunted energy, and untiring industry, make them objects of special note, not alone in their homes, but wherever exalted commercial reputation is recognized and respected, such a man have we in the subject of this sketch. Mr. James Cunningham established his business in this city in 1862 and has, through all the vicissitudes of twenty seven years' trade, maintained the even tenor of his way. His transactions have increased year by year, and the circle of his customers and patrons gradually widening and his firm extending until he now controls a business unexcelled by any similar establishment in British Columbia. His buildings are large and commodious and admirably arranged and appointed. All this space is filled with a complete and extensive assortment of hardware, agricultural implements, paints, oils, glassware, crockeryware, wall-paper, woodenware, stoves, tinware, hollow-ware, plumbers' goods, house furnishings, iron pipe and fittings. This house also manufactures tinware of all kinds and does every variety of sheet-iron cornice work, gas-fittings, plumbing, roofing, etc. There is no house in the trade which carries a more complete stock or whose facilities surpass those of this establishment for supplying the trade with first-class goods at lowest quotations. The length of time this gentleman has been in business and the success he has attained are better recommendations than the loudest praise we could possibly give. We may mention, however, to our readers who have not yet become acquainted with this firm, that none in the Northwest has a better reputation for fair and honorable dealing. —Mercantile Review.

NOVELTIES IN FANS.

The Newest Fashions in Fair Woman's Dainty Weapon.

Exquisite and Delicate Articles That Cost Five Hundred or a Thousand Dollars—A Fan to Match Every Costume the Proper Caper.

Most ladies in society have a fan to match each costume, and fans, like dresses, have a peculiar form for each occasion of service, says the New York Sun. As an accompaniement to the dainty neglige dresses is an equally dainty toy of painted surah and ivory, while for the afternoon tea, with its elaborate gown, is a beautiful gauze and lace affair described below. At dinner exquisitely painted fans of vellum, gauze or silk with ember or tortoise sticks accompany the elegance of the dinner toilet, while for evening wear are spangled gauze fans and those of long waving ostrich feathers. The fairy-like lace fan is sacred to brides.

Probably the most expensive fans ever used in the city are the point-lace fans sold at a big jewelry store, on which the pattern is picked out in little diamonds and whose bar is set with the same precious stones, and cost from $500 to $1,000 and even more. These fans are not kept in stock, but the plain lace fans are frequently sold, costing from $50 to $250, and the fan bars in stock range in price from $20 to $50. Sometimes ladies bring their fans and have them ornamented with the diamonds at an expense of $500 to $600. Beautiful fans are displayed, too, painted by Houghton, Lafitte, Lasellay, Grivay, Cheunevielle and Albert (French painters famous for their fan decoration) varying in price from $60 to $500. The material used in these elegant trifles is fine gauze, surah, satin and vellum, the most correct and popular of which at present is gauze. The sticks are carven pearl inlaid with gold, mother-of-pearl, amber, tortoise shell, sandal-wood, violet wood, gold and silver. The decoration is usually a figure or group of figures, with encircling flowers; but flowers are rarely used alone in the decoration of expensive fans. One beautiful fan, evidently designed for decorative purposes rather than general use, was of plain black gauze painted by Albert with two nude reclining woman, exquisitely tinted and carefully executed.

Among the curios in a Broadway store is a case of extremely ancient fans, painted by La Baur on vellum, with carved mother-of-pearl sticks ornamented with bas-relief of nymphs set around with inlaid gold. These fans, though somewhat dilapidated and too frail for any service, bring a price of $450.

The summer novelties in fans display a rare delicacy of material, an exquisite and artistic beauty of decoration, and an extensive and unique variety of design. The most popular style for summer use is an arrangement of gossamer and gilt, edged with lace, and painted in delicate hues, with beautiful trailing sprays of flowers or graceful figures in Watteau designs and coloring. Some of the more elaborate of these have ivory sticks nicked out in gold or silver and exquisitely carved.

One noticeable variety of the type is a pale pink gauze fan with pearl sticks carved and inlaid with gold, with the figure of a dove with wide-spread wings painted in soft shades at the top; another, edged with a border of roses, is cut out in the shape of the flowers at the top; while still another, of soft gray gauze edged with lace applique, is decorated with a small landscape, whose strong effects of light are brought out by bits of mother-of-pearl. A fan of cardinal crape lisse, with slender sticks scarcely a quarter of an inch in width, carved and enameled, extending to the border of the fan outside the gauze, has bands of ribbon narrowing to a point between each stick, and is ornamented with a dainty decoration in gilt. Yet more expensive fans of this kind have an applique of lace transferred upon them, leaving portions of the gauze in the center for the decoration of delicate painting. These fans sometimes come as high as $150, but may be bought for $15 and $20. Next in expense comes the feather fans, so much used with evening dress, and very popular, with plain mother-of-pearl sticks, and made up in many unique designs, one of the most beautiful being composed of three long ostrich feathers and a soft-curled bunch of tips surmounted on an ivory handle.

Fans are also made entirely of flowers to match different costumes. A fan of violets with violet wood sticks which emit the fragrance of the flowers, is a beautiful arrangement. Still more costly and rare are the point-lace fans kept in stock in some of the large stores in the city, but rarely sold except as bridal presents. These come as high as $65. The range of prices, where a choice collection of imported gauze fans is displayed, run from three to sixty dollars, while the fair average price paid by ladies is from ten to fifteen dollars.

The fan counters exhibit the widest range in price, extending from 25 cents to nearly $200, and an endless variety of style from the gilded paper Japanese fan to the costly bauble of round point and painted gauze, with carved pearl sticks inlaid with gold, in exquisite design, costing $175.

The latest novelty in fans is the ribbon fan, composed of gauze with rows of narrow ribbons of pale rainbow colors caught loosely from one stick to the next across the fan. The sticks are of mother-of-pearl shaped like the ribbons, and at the bar is a knot of the many-hued ribbon containing sometimes seven or eight colors in a single fan, but so delicately tinted and carefully combined as to produce a harmonious combination.

The gauze fans vary in price from $1 to $25, are medium in size, and have delicately carved sticks of enameled wood or inlaid ivory extending from the bar to the edge of the fan outside the gauze, and forming part of its decoration. They are ornamented with embroidery, painting, and spangles, and delicate lace applique.

A peculiar design in feather fans is a blue coke feather water lily with a mother-of-pearl stem arranged in the form of a fan, while still another is a cluster of scarlet cactus flowers with green leaves all of the feathers.

PARLOR HYPNOTISM.

Artificial Somnambulism the Latest Fad at the Hub.

To secure appreciation in Boston it is only necessary that a "fad" shall be sufficiently unhealthy, writes a Chicago Tribune correspondent from the Hub. Any thing that is morbid in the way of religion or pseudo-science—spiritism, faith-healing, theosophy, or what you will—goes in this town. The demand for such incitements to dementia here is never equaled by the supply. Thus it is not at all surprising that "hypnotism" should have become locally fashionable of late as a parlor amusement.

Presumably you are aware that under certain conditions a person susceptible to such influences may be thrown into a state of artificial somnambulism by gazing intently at some bright object, submitting to hand-passes before the eyes, and in other ways. Beyond this simple fact little is known regarding the curious phenomenon in question. It is supposed that by intense concentration of the attention the upper brain—in which the intelligence has its seat—is put to sleep. Meanwhile the mechanical faculties—situated in the lower brain—remain awake, and the helpless subject will do any thing, however absurd, at the suggestion of the operator. Nervous or weakly people, particularly women, are sent off into such fits with especial ease. Victims of this description afford much delight to physicians of a certain class, who may be said to have invented a new disease incidentally to their investigation of these matters. For it would seem that an individual who has once been hypnotized is in like manner affected more readily another time, and so on progressively, until at length he, or she, becomes a slave to this extraordinary disorder and is likely at any moment to be popped off into a cataleptic trance by a sudden noise or other trifling occurrence. The unhappy creatures who exhibit the "Wonders of Mesmerism" on lecture platforms are all professional subjects—reduced in this way nearly to imbecility—whom "Prof." This or That hires at so much a performance to travel with him about the country and exhibit themselves in public. And yet there is no law to prevent such abominations.

And now it would appear that artificial somnambulism is to be popularized as a form of entertainment for the drawing-room. Young ladies under proper chaperonage—are to be put asleep by young gentlemen of their acquaintance, who, in their turn, will provide amusement by all sorts of nonsensical antics. By the time that the pursuit of this interesting pastime shall have produced a reasonable number of incurable idiots, it will probably have gone out of vogue, to be succeeded in its turn by some other undesirable freak. In conclusion, it may be as well to mention a case reported here a few days ago, of a girl in Cambridge, who—having been thrown into the hypnotic condition by means of a bright steel button held in front of her nose—could not be roused from the cataleptic state which usually succeeds the primary symptoms. It was only after three or four doctors had been summoned that she was finally brought back to consciousness and at last accounts she was a dangerously-sick young woman. It does not pay to fool with this kind of thing. Certain unscrupulously scientific persons have devoted much attention to experimenting with it, but without acquiring any information that is of the slightest value. Incidentally they have done a great deal of harm, and it is high time that something was said to discourage such systematic propagation of a pitiable nervous complaint.

SENATOR INGALLS.

Incidents of His School-Days in an Old Massachusetts Town.

John James Ingalls, the President of the National Senate, looks back to old Pentucket as the home of his boyhood and the place where his beloved parents still reside, writes a Haverhill correspondent. Ingalls' forefathers were Puritan immigrants, one of whom founded the city of Lynn. His father has lived here nearly all his life, and was engaged in the manufacture of shoes and in mercantile interests. John James was the eldest son and was born in 1833. He attended the grammar school at the same place where the present School street school-house is, and at the very early age of eight he entered the high school. It was held in what is now called the Whittier School, and his was the first class to occupy the building. Although a keen scholar he never evinced any great talent in any direction while he lived in this vicidity. At the age of fourteen or fifteen he wrote quite a number of poems of no special merit, but one about which he was obliged to take considerable "chafing" later in life when in college. The poem was based on the old legend of an incident that happened at what is known as the "Button-woods." A young country swain was jilted by a fair damsel, and left her with a threat that he was going to drown himself. Picking up a large piece of wood, he rushes toward the well. Fearing that he would carry out his threat, the maiden follows after, out into the night, and arrives just in time to hear the splash in the well. It was only the piece of wood, however, and the youth rises from behind the curb where he had hid, calms her fears and is accepted.

But this was not the path that young Ingalls was destined to follow for fame and fortune. He was blessed with a remarkable flow of language and a ready tongue that could put a most stinging point to his words, and woe to the youth who assailed him in public, for he was sure to suffer under Ingalls' quiet but cutting sarcasm. It was probably the consciousness of this faculty that afterwards led him to enter upon the study of law, for which, as was afterwards seen, he was admirably fitted. At the age of eighteen he entered Williams College. It was while he was familiarizing himself with Homer and Virgil that his talents first began to be seen, not especially in mastering the dead languages, but in the debating hall and in the discussion of college politics. The same fiery eloquence which upheld the principles of and won over new supporters to the "Beta Sigmas" carried its weight when the Silver bill, the Pension bill and the bill concerning Indian affairs were before the National Senate. He became a leader in college politics.

In due course of time Ingalls' commencement day came around and he was chosen one of the orators. Taking for his subject "Mummy Life," he embodied in a most brilliant essay satirical hits that cut the professors and faculty to the bone. But when the piece was handed in to these professors they in turn cut the very heart of it out. But the coming lawyer and Senator was not to be baffled in that way. He learned and rehearsed the essay as directed, but also learned it as he had originally written it, and on commencement day delivered it entire, to the dismay and confusion of the learned professors.

CLEANING BOTTLES.

Ingenious Devices for Removing All Traces of Former Contents.

There are probably a few old-fashioned bottlers who clean not only temperance-drink bottles, but also wine bottles with shot; but that is not the practice in the latest approved bottling establishments, says the New York Sun. There is one in South Fifth avenue where five thousand bottles are cleaned every day, and thoroughly cleansed, without the use of shot.

Ordinary root beer and sarsaparilla bottles are easily cleaned, because the material used in them is readily and quickly soluble in cold water. The bottles are dumped, thront up, into a big tub of clean cold water, which is kept clean by constant replenishment. Each bottle is quickly filled and allowed to soak a short time. Then the cleaner grasps three or four bottles in his two hands, holding them throat up, and shakes them vigorously. That is sufficient to dislodge the sugary coating, and then the bottles are inverted and allowed to drain off. As they are made of transparent green glass it is easy to see when they are clean. Care is taken to wash out any flies that have been sepulchred in the bottle in their search for sweet things. The old-fashioned stone bottles that were formerly used for root beer have long been discarded as too heavy and costly.

The cleaning of soda-water bottles is more carefully done. Here warm water is used, and the workman manipulates a four-pronged tool that looks like a fork. Each prong is mounted with a stiff blade of India rubber, of such shape that when the prong is thrust into the bottle the rubber blade reaches the inner side of the bottle. In front of the workman is a cocoa mat. This serves a double purpose. The mat cleans the outside of the bottle, and the rolling brings the whole inside of the bottle in contact with the rubber blade. A few vigorous rolls clean the bottle thoroughly, and then it is rinsed and ready for use.

Still another process is used for lager-beer bottles, which require even more vigorous washing. This is done by a machine with revolving spindles, on which are placed rubber brushes. The bottle is thrust over the spindle, which is run by steam, and running water carries off the scum. Each bottle then gets a thorough internal scouring.

It is, in fact, an essential element of success in the bottling business to keep the bottles clean, and no manufacturer who expects to keep his custom would dare neglect the essential element of cleanliness. The element of cost prevents, if no other considerations could do so, the slow and tedious method of cleaning bottles with shot. There was a bottle-washing macine in use here not long ago which cleansed bottles with revolving bristle brushes, but the wear and tear of bristles was found to be too expensive, although the work done was very effective. The substitution of rubber blades for the bristles proves to be cheaper and quite as thorough.

A much better way than the use of shot for cleaning bottles is to put a small piece of iron chain with small links into the bottles with some water. This, when rattled about, will clean a bottle well. Of course, if a bottle has been filled with any greasy substance the only way to clean it thoroughly is with strong alkali, and this is done by all careful bottlers.

Second Tramp—"Cert, pard. I ain't had nothin' to eat since Friday, an' you ain' had no sleep for four nights. I'll take th' pullet, an' you take the feathers n go over in that air barn 'n enjoy yourself."—Tid Bits.

Hot Coffee, Beef Tea, etc, at the "Hub." *

A new single harness for sale cheap. Apply to S. J. Thompson. *

Fresh Eastern and Native Oysters, served in every style, at the Club. *

The barque Malay has taken aboard something over 100,000 feet of lumber.

A. McInnis invites tenders for certain work on his residence on Halifax street.

Wm. Reidt has returned to the city and will be on hand for business for a few weeks. *

Go to Reidt's for bargains in swamp lots and 1 and 8-acre lots, suburban property.

New collars at Ogle, Campbell & Co.'s, including "Top Royal," the latest thing out. *

Merchants and others will do well to read the notice of Capt. Nichols of the barkentine Malay.

The str. Gladys returned from up-river ports this afternoon with freight and passengers.

Ald. Lefevere's seat in the 5th ward, Vancouver, will be protested on the grounds of disqualification.

Finest lot of Ladies', Misses' and Children's New Spring Hats; latest fashions, at Jas. Ellard & Co.'s. *

Just received—the latest styles in Ribbons, Feathers, Digrettes and Fancy Novelties, at Jas. Ellard & Co's.

Wm. Johnston received to-day another large consignment of fine boots and shoes, and inspection is solicited.

The str. Adelaide left for up-river ports this morning with 30 tons of merchandise and a number of passengers.

Macpherson & Thomson, the Druggists, have received a splendid assortment of Gibson's English Confectionary. *

The barometer had an upward tendency to-day, and Capt. Poole predicts gentle rains followed by clearing weather.

This morning the first 4-horse stage of the Tait Line left the city in grand style for Whatcom, with Frank Gilbert as driver.

The police court docket was clean to-day, no cases of disorder having disturbed the peace of the city during the past 24 hours.

Everyone should bear in mind the Choral Union concert, which takes place on Tuesday evening next at the Oddfellows' Hall.

Salmon averaged 4 to the boat last night, a considerable falling off from the first part of the week. Sturgeon, cod and other fish are very plentiful.

The next vessel to load lumber at the Royal City Planing Mills is expected to arrive on the 25th inst. The company is arranging for several more charters.

On Monday next the C.P.R. will commence a daily transcontinental service instead of a six days' service as in the past. This addition will be greatly appreciated by the travelling public.

John E. Lord has removed all his stock, consisting of furniture, upholstery, &c., into the building adjoining Van Volkenburgh's butcher shop, and good cash bargains can be made. See adv.

The str. Princess Louise arrived from Victoria last evening with 3000 boxes of tin for different canneries and 40 tons of merchandise. She left on the return trip this morning with 25 passengers and a full load of freight and farm produce.

Sheriff McMillan Wednesday night seized the steamer Barbara Boscowitz under an execution of Henry Saunders for $23,000. Mr. Saunders intends contesting the validity of the mortgage of $20,000 held by Mr. Boscowitz against the steamer.—Colonist.

The Earle Bros. Musical Comedy Company played at Herring's Opera House last night to a fair audience. The musical part of the programme was very good. The company left for Victoria this morning where a performance will be given this evening.

Constable Haywood arrived from Vancouver this afternoon with two prisoners consigned to the provincial gaol. One is Mike Hanly, committed for trial for forgery, and the other Frank Josephs, alias Scott, who will serve a term of six weeks for vagrancy.

The new wharf at the Union Mines is one of the best on the continent. Every care has been taken in its construction and it has been built in the most approved manner. Cargoes of coal from this wharf will be discharged in the centre, a vast improvement over the old style.—Courier.

Fishermen say that seals are more numerous in the river this spring than for many years. They follow the salmon nets, and when a fish becomes entangled they attack it and devour it unless frightened off by the boatmen. The damage done to nets by these thieves is sometimes considerable.

A pile-driver was towed up to the mission this morning by the str. Adelaide. It will be used by the contractors in connection with the building of the new mission bridge. The construction of the bridge is expected to make things quite lively in the vicinity of the mission this summer.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

The estimated revenue of the city of Victoria from all sources, including $38,000 from water rates, for the present year, is $153,212. The expenditure foots up a total of $152,419.

The Vancouver World says an effort is being made in that city to form an imperial federation league. With this object a meeting was held in Messrs. Corbould & McColl's office Wednesday night, a number of those present signing their names. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for a meeting aa a future date.

The Y. M. C. A. regular board of management meeting takes place tonight at 8 p. m. A special meeting of the association will be held at the rooms next Wednesday evening at 8 p m. to consider the adoption of a new constitution, to receive new members, and transact any other business brought up which might come before a regular monthly meeting.

An attempt is now being made before the house to have a bill passed empowering a company to drain Burnaby lake and the small lake near by, the land reclaimed to be the property of the petitioners for the bill. This scheme if carried into effect will do away with Burnaby lake, depreciating, it is claimed, the value of land in that vicinity and depriving the community of the only inland body of water within easy reach of the city. The property owners near the lake are protesting against the passage of the bill, and the feeling of the people of Westminster is not favorable to it. Strong efforts, we understand, will be made to prevent the bill from passing.

The Short Line Railway.

The New Westminster and Vancouver Short Line Railway Co. have asked for an act of incorporation, their object being to construct and operate a short railway line between the cities of New Westminster and Vancouver. The capital stock of the company is placed at $500,000, and the applicants for incorporation are Messrs. Robert Dickinson and Henry Hoy of New Westminster, and Messrs. Thos. Dunn and R. G. Tatlow of Vancouver.—Colonist.

River Mouth Improvements.

The repairs to the snagboat Samson are going ahead rapidly and it is expected she will be ready for work again by next Thursday. The first duties Captain Grant will be called upon to perform will be to drive a row of piles against which a large number of mattrasses will be sunk. Messrs. Gilley Bros, the entergetic contractors for the work, have a larger number of mattrasses ready to put in place, and more are under construction. When these mattrasses are down the good work that is being accomplished at at the mouth of the river will be greatly accelerated.

The Queen's Hotel Leased.

The Queen's Hotel, on Columbia street, which has remained unoccupied since its erection, has been leased by Mr. Duncan to a Mrs. Miller, from Halifax, N.S., who will furnish it in first-class style and conduct it on the temperance plan. Mrs. Miller has taken possession and hopes to have this fine hostelry ready for the reception of guests by the 1st of May. She has also rented the vacant store on the ground flat. The opening of this hotel will be a great boon to the city, as travel has increased so rapidly of late that the present hotels are at times *unable to furnish the required accom*modation.

Texada News.

Messrs. Hooper and Shupe, of Vancouver, have discovered an immense ledge of ore about three miles above the "Golden Slipper" camp. These gentlemen, not seeing anything in sight, began prospecting on one of the hills which abound on Tedada, and after going down about three feet uncovered a ledge about three feet in width. The prospectors therefore feel jubilant over the new find.

Mr. Eaton has also located a fine ledge on the south-eastern part of the island. Some of the "float" rock taken from the new claim and which is being exhibited is a fine looking sample of quartz.—Courier.

The Fur Trade.

Furs are beginning to be brought in by Indians and others, but only a small number have been marketed as yet. Yesterday W. H. Vianen purchased 30 beaver skins which were trapped near Chilliwack this winter. Although the weather has not been cold, and therefore against handsome furs, the skins are considered prime and of fine color. As soon as the Indians begin to return from their winter quarters a lively time is expected in the fur market, as reports say trapping has been fairly good during the last three months. Deer were unusually numerous last fall and the Northern Indians killed immense numbers of them.

Reduction in Freight on Lumber.

The management of the Canadian Pacific Railway, always seeking to encourage the natural industries of the province and open up new channels of trade, has made a material reduction in the rates on the shipment of lumber and shingles in carload lots to Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. In relation to this, Mr. D. E. Brown, dis*trict freight agent*, yesterday issued the new schedule of rates of freight from Port Moody, Vancouver and New Westminster to the undermentioned points as follows:

TO	NEW.	OLD.
Calgary	35c.	40c. per 100 lbs.
Dunmore	40c.	45c. "
Maple Creek	42½c.	45c. "
Regina	47c.	55c. "
Winnipeg	50c.	60c. "

The above are all carload lots of not less than 30,000 lbs.—News-Advertiser.

The Ross-McLaren Mills.

Mr. W. H. Higgins, manager of the Ross-McLaren Lumber Co., states that he is all ready to begin work on the companys mills and that men are on the road from Ottawa for that pur*pose, but he is emphatic* in declaring that not a stroke of work will be done until it is definitely settled where the Southern Railway bridge will cross the river. Mr. Higgins says a bridge across the river, below the site of the mill, would be very detrimental to the interests of the company, as vessels being towed down stream during the high water season would be difficult to manage and would be liable to strike against the piers. He will lay the subject before the council for their consideration at the next meeting probably. The best interests of the city are the first questions to be considered in this case.

The First Consignment.

The first train of Northwest cattle for British Columbia left Calgary on Wednesday night and arrived at Kamloops last night and were unloaded there to be fed and watered. The cattle will be put aboard again this evening, and at midnight the special will leave for Westminster and is expected to arrive here to-morrow evening, making the trip in a little over three days, including the stop at Kamloops of 24 hours for feeding the cattle. Immediately on arrival here the cattle will be unloaded and stabled till required for killing. Messrs. VanVolkenburgh Bros. are the consignees. If this consignment is the success expected more shipments will follow as the trade demands. The consignees wish us to correct the report in this morning's News-Advertiser that the cattle had been five days on the road from Calgary, and that they would be killed immediately on arrival. This statement is incorrect in every particular.

A Lost Mine.

W. A. DeHaas, who is interested in mines in the Okanogan country, will leave for Alaska Thursday next. Alaska presents an alluring field to prospectors, who believe it is exceedingly rich in the precious minerals. They constantly refer to the great Treadwell mines and works, where there are 240 stamps under one roof. Mr. DeHaas is backed by men of means and is going on a general prospecting tour, though he is in reality in search of a lost mine. About a year ago Indians residing on the shore of Norton Sound found two dismantled sloops wrecked and containing nothing but about 300 tons of silver ore, the crew having been lost, evidently, in a storm that had prevailed shortly before they discovered the sloops. They informed the officers of the United States revenue cutter, who secured specimens of the ore and sent them to San Francisco. The ore as*sayed $400 to the ton, and samples* from it, as well as assays, are now in Tacoma.

A Runaway Couple Stopped.

This morning telegrams were received by Mr. Moresby and the chief of police, from a man in Whatcom, asking that his daughter Nellie Gallagher, and a man named W. H. Hart be arrested and detained. No explanation of the affair was given, but the general supposition was that a runaway match had taken place. The couple arrived by the Whatcom stage at 2 o'clock and as they were stepping off the ferry steamer Mr. Moresby informed them that he wished to speak privately with them. After a short confab, in which Mr. Moresby explained the cause of his action, the couple agreed to go the Colonial and remain without trying to escape until the arrival of Gallagher from Whatcom this evening. Constable Carty was also in attendance and escorted the couple to the Colonial. In conversation with Hart, Mr. Moresby learned the following particulars: Hart keeps a saloon in Whatcom and during two years, while his wife was absent in the East, Nellie Gallagher acted as house-keeper for him, and was greatly esteemed by his children. Mrs. Hart lately returned home and Nellie left the house and went to live with her father and mother who keep a boarding house. Nellie claims that her father is a cruel *and unnatural parent, and was fre*quently in the habit of abusing her; also that her mother winked at a scheme whereby Nellie was assaulted by one of the boarders, whose wrong intentions, however, were not successful. She escaped from her home and fled to Hart, who took her in charge and left immediately for Westminster for the purpose, he says, of placing her in the Sister's convent. Hart disclaims any intention of an elopement, and says he is only acting out of kindness to the girl. Hart is a man of about 45 years of age, and it must be confessed looks like anything but a gay Lothario. Nellie is a plump and good-looking little girl of about 18 summers, and does not look in the least romantic. Both acted very quietly when taken in charge and neither seemed to be greatly disappointed, but Nellie showed the natural timidity of her sex by edging up just a little closer to her protector, as if to be safe should some greater evil befall. The couple were bespattered with mud and showed evidences of fast driving and muddy roads. When the horse they started with gave out the couple waited for the stage and made the latter part of the journey in that conveyance.

The girl's father will arrive this evening from Whatcom and then his side of the story will be learned, and which is certain to differ very materially from Hart's. Nellie has expressed her decided intention of not returning home, and there is no law to compel her to do so, as she is free from her father's control while in Canada, unless an extraditable offence is laid against her. The latter is not likely, and some interesting developments are likely to follow her father's arrival.

LOCAL PARLIAMENT

Yesterday's Proceedings in the Provincial Legislature

VICTORIA, March 14.—The speaker took the chair at 2:15 p.m. Prayers were read by Rev. Mr. Starr.

Col. Baker presented a petition from James Rogers and others, concerning the amendment of a certain clause in the mineral act. The petition was laid on the table. Mr. Martin presented a petition of a similar character to those previously ruled out of order by the speaker. He said he knew that it would be ruled out of order, as it addressed the lieutenant-governor in council, but would have to present it, as his constituents desired. The petition of certain druggists in Victoria opposing bill no. 24, relating to poison bottles, was read and ordered to be printed.

The committee on standing orders and private bills recommended the reception of the petition regarding the reclaiming of the land covered by Burnaby Lake although the standing orders had not been entirely complied with in regard to an advertisement in the local papers. The committee also advised the suspension of the standing orders to allow the reception of *the petition of Victoria city in refer*ence to the amendment of the official map act. The report of the committee was received.

Mr. Fry moved, seconded by Mr. Martin, that a select committee be appointed with power to call for all person, papers, maps and records and reports to the house to enquire into all matters relating to the west half of section 11, range 2, Cowichan District, sold by the crown on 16th November, 1876, and which piece of land is claimed by the Indians as formerly part of the Indian reserve at Cowichan. The said committee to be composed of Messrs. T. Davie, Martin, Bole, Croft and the mover.

The mover said that the Indians held possession of the land and would dispute the ownership with the holder of the crown grant to the death and unless something was done and the owner attempted to take possession a murder would be done. The resolution was carried.

The house went into committee of the whole, Mr. Manson in the chair, on the Vancouver Street Railway bill. The bill was reported complete with amendments; to be considered on Friday.

The house again went into committee on the municipalities bill (Beaven), Mr. Semlin in the chair. The committee rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.

The standing order having been suspended the bill to incorporate the Burnaby Lake Improvement Company was introduced. The bill read the first time and referred to the committee on standing orders and private bills.

Mr. Beaven asked leave to introduce a bill relative to the amendment of the Victoria official map act. Leave was granted and bill read a first time and referred to the private bill committee. House rose at 6.15.

On notices of motion Mr. Humphreys will move that an order of the house be granted to return the number of cases and description of the work, the amount of salary and otherwise paid to the official stenographer to date.

Mr. Turner is to introduce an act respecting assignments for the benefit of creditors.

Questions: Mr. Martin will ask the attorney-general is it within the power of the provincial government to establish a common on any lands within the 20-mile belt.

The provincial secretary will move on the consideration of the report on bill (No. 9) entitled "an act to amend the public school act," the following as a new clause: "Section (9) with the sanction of the lieutenant-governor-in-council for cause to summarily suspend the teaching of any teacher and cancel for cause his certificates of qualification of any teacher under the lieutenant-governor in council shall confirm or disallow his action in suspending such teacher, and the cancellation or suspension of the teachers certificate when confirmed by the lieutenant-governor in council shall release the school trustees of the district in which such teacher is employed from any obligation to continue to employ him as teacher."

PERSONAL.

Rev. W. H. Porter, of the Talbot Street Baptist church, London, Ont., arrived in the city to-day and will be the guest of Mr. A. J. Hill, C. E., for a few weeks.

LATE CANADIAN NEWS.

After Wednesday next the trains between Winnipeg and Vancouver will be run every day in the week, instead of missing one day in the week as at present.

Financial returns of the province of Nova Scotia, as presented in the legislature, show a revenue last year of $712,951, an expenditure of $668,400, and a surplus of $44,551.

Frank Vavey, accountant, in the employ of the liquidators of the Exchange Bank, Montreal, is missing, and with him $800, the proceeds of a cheque which he was sent to get cashed.

Word has been received from Ottawa that the Orangemen in the Kingston penitentiary will receive permission to walk on the 12th of July, provided they give two days' notice that they wish to do so.

Sentry Beyford alleges that while on duty on Sunday night at the powder magazine, Halifax, two shots were fired at him, and that he fired three shots at his would-be murderer as he fled. Beyford was removed to the hospital, where his index finger, which had been struck by a bullet, was amputated. The military regard the affair as a plot to blow up the magazine with dynamite, which would have resulted in appalling disaster. The picket fence was torn away several days ago, and it is now believed this was done so as to enable the fiend to reach the magazine and murder the sentinel.

A. M. Hamilton, Warkworth, writes: "For weeks I was troubled with a swelled ankle, which caused me much pain and annoyance. Mr. Maybee, of this place, recommended Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for it. I tried it and before one bottle was used I was cured. It is an article of great value." Beware of Electric or Electron Oils, as they are imitations of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil.
