NEW PARLIAMENT

Opens for First Time in Transvaal

BOERS ARE IN CONTROL

Intention Declared of Reenacting Asiatic Ordinance Already Disallowed Once.

Pretoria, March 21.—The first parliament of the Transvaal colony under the newly granted constitution met here this morning in the hall in which the late President Kruger presided for so many years over the sittings of the Upper Volk-Staakel of the South African Republic.

In a speech at the opening of the legislature the Earl of Shelburne, High Commissioner for South Africa, said: "My ministers have resolved that the employment of Chinese in the mines shall cease at the earliest possible moment. As to the Chinese already employed there, the ministers will not take any steps to prevent their repatriation at the end of their indentures unless they are convinced that such repatriation will have to take place before an effective substitute, either in the form of unskilled labor or improved mechanical appliances has been found."

The disposition of the new government of the Transvaal to exclude all Asiatics from work in the mines is shown by the fact that the Asiatic ordinance, recently disallowed by the Earl of Elgin, secretary of state for the colonies, after it had passed the late legislature, is again published in the official gazette here, indicating that among the first acts of the new parliament would be a re-enactment of this measure in spite of the imperial government.

The Asiatic ordinance which the Transvaal parliament proposes to re-enact, although, at the present time aimed specially at the British Indians, who are ousting the small white traders from the Transvaal, is equally intended to exclude the Japanese or other Asiatics, who are immigrating to South Africa in increasing numbers. Sir Gilbert Parker, who represents the colonies in the House of Commons, on this question is quoted today in an interview as saying:

"If, as I am sure it will, the Transvaal parliment re-enacts the Asiatic ordinance the imperial government will hardly dare to disallow it again, as over 90 per cent. of the whites in South Africa thoroughly appreciate it."

English on Many Thrones.

It is interesting to note how rapidly the members of the English Royal family are dividing up the Royal spoils of Europe. An English princess is on the throne of Norway;; another, Princess Margaret of Connaught, will some day wear the Swedish crown. The daughter of the late Princess Alice, King Edward's sister, is now the Czarina; the son of the Duke of Albany is Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha; the eldest daughter of the Duke of Edinburgh is Crown Princess of Roumania; the Crown Princess of Greece is a daughter of King Edward's eldest sister; while a daughter of Princess Henry of Battenberg is on the Spanish throne.

Dog Saves a Rabbit.

A sportsman on the Huntsham estate, North Devon, had a rabbit brought to him by his spaniel, which had caught it under a hedge.

The rabbit could walk only very feebly, though all its limbs were found to be sound. In its mouth, however, was a thick twig about three inches long, which had become wedged in behind the teeth in the rabbit's rush from some threatened danger. The animal was unable to extract the twig with its paws and was being gradually starved to death when it was found by the dog.—London Evening Standard.

Fruit Growing Industry.

Toronto, March 21.—The Ontario Department of Agriculture, the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, various local and district associations, and the Farmers' Institutes are at the present time co-operating in a very vigorous campaign for the furtherance of the fruit growing industry. The Fruit Growers have arranged an extensive series of metings in connection with the Farmers' Institutes of the province to promote the organization of co-operative friut growers' associations.

Priceless Paintings Destroyed.

Nanaimo, March 21.—News has just reached this city of a destructive fire on Mayne island, the beautiful residence of Cannon Paddon, rector of the Church of England for the island, being totally destroyed. The house was luxuriously furnished and contained, it is said, many old and almost priceless paintings. The loss is not yet known, but will be heavy. The building and contents were covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is not known.

ENGINEERS ON TOUR.

Take Measures of Approximate Demand for Electric Power.

Toronto, March 21.—Engineers representing the Hydro-Electric Power Commission have commenced a pilgrimage to the various municipalities of the province which have expressed by the passage of a by-law their desire to enter into contract for a supply of electric energy. They will obtain definite information as to the amounts of electricity each town will purchase for the use of their power consumers. The amounts mentioned will not be binding on the municipalities, but they will be filled in in the blanks in the contracts which have been prepared. It is expected that the whole power scheme will be ready for inauguration in four or five months. When the amounts are known the commission will then proceed to secure the power.

Bill and Dan Win Again.

Ottawa, March 21.—The Mackenzie and Mann bill to build to the Pacific coast was carried in the senate committee today.

Calgary Clearings.

Calgary, March 21.—Bank clearings for the week ending today were $1,258,418.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

Strong Team Already Available for Green and White—Prospects for Other Sports.

The season of 1907 will be a very active one in sporting circles in Nelson. The devotees of every sport are already organizing and clamoring for the usual spring clean up of the recreation grounds so that they can begin practice.

The small boy is to the fore as usual. No sooner had the final disappearance of the ice put an end to hockey, than old baseballs and gloves were hunted up, and practice was begun on the school grounds and on the streets.

What the prospects for senior lacrosse and baseball may be, it is too early to say. Most of the stick handlers of last year are still in the city, but the few of the old guard remaining are getting tired, and the intermediates who really put in faithful practice last year are not numerous enough to form a team by themselves.

Baseball is in even worse case. Last year's senior team made a fair showing, but it was composed almost altogether of outsiders. The local players will not even form a nucleus for a team.

There are two sports, however, which should flourish better than ever before in Nelson, namely cricket and association football. The cricket team has lost none of last year's players. An organization meeting will be held shortly and plans made for the season.

The Association football club is already organized and only waiting for the ground to become fit for play. This will be the fourth year of the club's existence, and so far it has suffered but two defeats, one by Sandon, which has already been amply repaid, and one, still unavenged, by Pincher Creek, the crack team of Alberta.

J. L. Meighan, who has managed the club successfully since its first organization, is certain to be the choice again this year. He has already prepared his line-up for the year, and has an ample reserve of good men for whenever substitutes are required.

The first eleven with their positions, and the names of the Old-Country clubs in which they qualified, are as follows:

Goal, J. Emerson, Royal Horse Artillery.
Right back, J. Sharples, Blackburn Rovers.
Right half, A. Warren, Derby.
Centre half, H. Harper, (Capt.), Plymouth, Argyle and Cornwall county.
Right wing, C. Gill, Leytonshore and Clapton.
Inside right, G. Sadler, Liverpool.
Centre, A. Burkmar, Junior English International.

The following also are available for play when required: W. Walton, Tottenham; J. Denniston, Lanark; S. Waters, Newcastle; H. Evans, St. Mary's, London; Sparks, Oxford University; D. Elvery, Clapton Orient, and H. Springer, Vancouver.

A meeting will be called shortly, due notice of which will be given. All footballers, and all interested in the game, are invited to attend.

Will Work on the G. T. P.

Winnipeg, March 21.—Four hundred immigrants the pick of Scotland arrived here yesterday, having been brought out to work on the Grand Trunk Pacific west of Winnepeg. They had passage money advanced by the company and gave their word of honor to work for the company six months. Only 20 deserted.

MINING IN YUKON

Guggenheims Operating on Vast Scale

SECOND PHASE IN NORTH

Enormous Sums Spent on Development and Treatment—Big Ore Deposits Still Untouched.

Dawson, March 20.—A rumor has been printed in some of the eastern papers and given other circulation to the effect that the placer interests in the Yukon held by the Guggenheims have not and are not being represented, and alleging that the ground is being held irregularly.

Careful enquiry into the facts at the official headquarters of the government in Dayson today result in total refutation of the rumor.

The fact is, it is learned from an official source, that the Guggenheim interests spent in the Klondike, within a radius of 50 miles of Dawson, last summer $780,000 alone in labor on dams, ditches, roads and installation of equipment and the like. All this applies on representation and far more than represents the claims which the company holds in this country.

None of the ground held by the company was mined by the company last year, but considerable muck was ground-sluiced off on the lower Bonanza in preparation for working there with dredges this year. The company virtually had not a dollar's yield in gold last year, but was doing the important preliminary dead work of preparing for the use of an immense plant.

In the item of road building alone the company has spent $30,000 the last year. It is gathered from an official source that the expenditures of the company right in the camp last year were sufficient, were such allowable, to represent the claims they hold for two or three years in advance, but only the expenditure of each current year are allowable to apply on representation. That is to say, the representation for each year must be made during each year. This is to enforce miners and operators to do continuous work on their claims, or to make them get out so that others can work.

The sum of $780,000 referred to in the foregoing does not in any way include the cost of dredge or other material, only labor and work on ditches and the like appurtenant to the claims being applied as representation, and then going far over the mark as stated.

SIR WILLIAM HINGSTON.

Some Incidents in the Career of the Eminent Physician.

Not many weeks before his death the late Sir William Hingston, of Montreal, was talking with an old friend about times that had gone and scenes of long ago. The conversation turned to the bright spots in human life—for Sir William was on of those happily constituted men who do not allow the shadows to thrust sunshine into the background—when he was asked to name the proudest moment in his long and very successful career. He answered without hesitation as if the answer was in his mind before the question was asked. The occasion to which Sir William pointed as being that on which he felt the greatest pride and satisfaction occurred many years ago when he was pursuing his medical studies at the University of Edinburgh, after having graduated at McGill. He was leaving the university building one afternoon when he was overtaken by the professor of surgery, one of the most eminent members of the profession in Great Britain. Saluting the young Canadian student the professor took him by the arm and together they walked down the street until their ways parted. "That," said Sir William, "Was the proudest moment of my life."

Perhaps one can point to an occasion that must have brought Sir William some disappointment and possibly not a little temporary feeling of humiliation; and that was when he was defeated at the polls by Mr. James McShane. It was in the bye-election held in 1895 in St. Ann's disvision to fill the seat in the house of commons rendered vacant by the elevation of Hon. J. J. Curran to the bench. Already breakers were beginning to loom up before the Bowell government. The old Conservative ship seemed to be steering straight upon them. Every effort had been made to hold St. Ann's, the Irish constituency of Montreal. At the earnest solicitation of his friends Sir William consented to lead the forlorn hope. He made a plucky fight but the odds were too great and Mr. McShane won. One of the orators brought into that campaign from a distance by the Liberals was the Hon. G. W. Ross. Shortly after that defeat Sir William was appointed to the senate, and after many stormy fights and many vicissitudes of fortune Mr. Ross joined him in the upper chamber. Thus do the circles of men's lives touch and cross each other.

SAYS THAW IS INSANE

Jerome Finally Asks for a Commission in Lunacy to Report.

New York, March 21.—That Justice Fitzgerald will appoint a commission in lunacy to enquire into the present mental condition of Harry Thaw, seems a foregone conclusion. This afternoon he will hear arguments of counsel on both sides of the famous case, and he plainly intimated yesterday that he would appoint a commission. That this commission will find that Thaw is now insane is the opinion of most of those who have closely followed the trial.

Dr. Allen McLean Hamilton, one of the country's most famous alienists, has openly expressed the opinion that Thaw is now insane and incapable of conducting his own defence. Dr. C. McDonald and Dr. A. Flint, also noted alienists, have expressed the same opinion and affidavits are expected from all these three as well as from the doctors who are familiar with the history of the Thaw case and with the insanity, which is said to have been present on both sides of his ancestry. The appearance of Dr. Allen Hamilton in the case yesterday, and District Attorney Jerome's appeal to the "conscience of the court," came like a bombshell. It was expected that the testimony would be finished yesterday and that this morning the summing up would begin. It was the general expectation that the case would go to the jury not later than Saturday. But when Mr. Delmas called Dr. Hamilton the stand the end was in sight.

The shadow of the famous alienist has loomed large in the background ever since the case began. It was known that he believed Thaw to be still insane, and neither side was anxious to call him. The defence apparently did not want him because of his belief in Thaw's present insanity; the prosecution could not call him because his relation to Thaw was that of physician to patient and he could not be be compelled to testify without a specific waiver of the privileges created by those relations. That the attorneys for the defence will make a hard fight to prevent the judge from appointing the commission when the court sits this afternoon is presumable. From the first the fight has been to secure an acquittal and it is not probable that it will be given up so long as there is the slightest chance that it may be successful. On the other hand, Mr. Jerome is convinced that Thaw is now insane, and he will fight just as hard for the appointment of the commission.

Other Lines Must Conform.

Ottawa, March 21.—The Railway commission has given judgment ordering the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Pacific companies to reduce their passenger rates to three cents per mile. The regulation goes into effect in 60 days and affects all lines east of and including the Calgary and Edmonton. Other roads are to be immediately notified and requested to conform or to inform the commission why they object to doing so.

FOR GAME PROTECTION

Meeting Tonight to Consider Steps to Be Taken for Organization of Kootenay District.

A public meeting is called for tonight at 8o'clock in the board of trade rooms to consider means of securing the protection of game of all kinds in Kootenay. The meeting is called by C. W. Busk, president of the Kootenay Game Protective Association, which was formed two years ago in Nelson.

Recently associations in the coast cities with similar objects have ben approaching the provincial government for more stringent laws and stricter enforcement, to prevent the depletion of game in their districts.

It is pointed out that while there is no dearth, present or prospective, in the high mountains of Vancouver Island, of the mainland coast, of the Kootenay and of Cariboo, those districts are accessible only to the professional hunter. The tourist who would enjoy one or two days' shooting cannot go far from the centres, and it is here that protection is needed.

Provincial Game Warden A. Bryan Williams has issued a circular letter to associations asking for suggestions.

No part of the Kootenay is as yet an organized district within the meaing of the Game Protection Act. To secure such recognition must be the first task of the local association. Afterwards improvements in the law, and the adoption of more effective measures for its enforcement may be taken up.

Mr. Busk asks that all who are interested in a subject which is of the greatest importance not only to sportsmen but to all landowners and others concerned in the attractions of Kootenay to travellers, will attend the meeting and assist in securing such legislation as may be found necessary for the protection of the game animals and fish of the district.

AFTER RAILWAYS

State Legislatures Fight the Roads

COMPANIES IN PANIC

Magnates Declare in Favor of Federal Control—Western States Most Active in Struggle.

Chicago, March 21.—E. H. Harriman, President Stickney, of the Chicago Great Western, and other prominent railroad executives are quoted as saying that they would prefer that their roads be brought under the control of Congress rather than to be subject to the legislation of the several states. It needs but a glance at the list of anti-railroad measures passed in the various states during the last six months or so to show that there is good reason for this preference on the part of the railroad officials. Congress, in response to the popular agitation, commenced the crusade for legislative regulation of railroads two years ago; but it is doubtful if even the most far-seeing statesman dreamed then of the lengths to which the crusade would be pushed by the states.

The fever for anti-railroad legislation by the states seems to have been sporadic in character. New England has been comparatively free from it, although no section of the country has better reason to complain of the domination of railroad combines. New York has been busy regulating the insurance companies and other big corporations and as yet has not had time to give a great deal of attention to the railroads. New Jersey and Deleware have not bothered the roads to any extent, but Pennsylvania started an investigation that stirred things up and Ohio followed suit by striking the first successful blow for the 2-cent fare.

But it is in this section of the country, in the Mississippi valley and the prairie states, that the anti-corporation fever has manifested itself in its most virulent form. A wave of anti-railroad legislation has swept like prairie fire from North Dakota to Texas. The most popular forms of legislation were two-cents-a-mile fare bills and bills authorizing state commissions to regulate rates and railroad affairs generally. A number of states passed such laws at the sessions now drawing to a close, or just ended, and in many other states agitation began which promises lively times at the next sessions.

Nebraska passed a two-cent-fare bill and then gave its attention to a terminal railroad taxation measure; a bill reducing Pullman rates one-third, and other drastic anti-railroad legislation. Kansas passed a two-cent-bill providing for 500, 1,000 and 2,000 mileage books, the 2,000 mile books to be interchangeable. Indiana also enacted bills, including two-cent mileage books and two and one-half-cent flat fare.

In the southern states there has been a great deal of recent legislation adverse to the railroads. The Alabama legislature used a particularly sharp stick, fixing rates on more than a hundred articles of freight, making sweeping reductions from existing tariffs, providing for reciprocal demurrage and reducing passenger fares to two and one-half cents a mile. The activities of the Alabama legislature in this direction were heartily supported and more or less directed by Governor B. B. Comer, who was elected to office on an anti-railroad platform.

The anti-railroad fever left the Rocky mountain states almost immune, but showed itself in nearly all the states of the Pacific slope. Wyoming, Colorado and Utah declined to enter the anti-railroad crusade. Colorado passed a few harmless measures, and Montana contented herself with providing for a railroad commission. California was moderate in its demands on the railroads, but Oregon passed a comprehensive law empowering the state commission to regulate rates, providing for reciprocal demurrage and giving general restrictive control of the railroads. Washington too has been hot on the trail of the railroads for a long time and Nevada now has a railroad commission with broad powers of regulation.

Telephone Extension.

The British Columbia Telephone Co. will shortly begin the construction of a telephone line, 16 miles in length, on the opposite side of the lake. There has been a line already in existence there for several years. This was erected by C. W. Busk, Charles West and others, but with the growth of population on the other side of the lake a more pretentious line is now demanded The old line was strung along the trees, and was never very reliable. For the new one it will be necessary to erect poles, and as there will have to a great deal of rock cutting done the cost will be heavy. Besides, a submarine cable will have to be laid, which will make the undertaking very expensive. It is proposed to build the line as far up as Hallet's ranch, and extend it when necessary. There are nine customers served by the existing line, but it is thought that it will not be a difficult matter to secure 20 patrons for the new line.

INSANE FROM STUDY.

Dr. J. H. Roberts of Dawson is Brought Down to Westminster.

Vancouver, March 21.—Corporal Kelly and Constable Hume, of the R. N. W. M. P., arrived on the Amur, having in charge Dr. J. H. Roberts, a well-known physician and surgeon of Dawson. Dr. Roberts, who was highly respected in that section of the country, was one of the first practising physicians to go into the camp. He had then just graduated. He came out later and took a special two years course in surgery with the view of fitting himself to handle the accidents inseperable from mining life. After returning to Dawson he was unremitting in following up his studies along this line until his brain gave way under the strain. The first peculiarity noticed was when he commenced inviting his friends into his office and asking them after a little chat to get in the chair and be operated on. He told them that he must have practice in order to become perfect. He was at first not at all violent but the repeated refusals of his friends to gratify his somewhat startling whim irritated him and he began to show signs of violence and it was necessary to put him under restraint. He has been placed in the hospital for the insane in New Westminster. In Dawson hundreds of his friends in all walks of life hope that aberration will be only temporary.

CANADA'S NEW HYMNAL

Compilation Making Fair Progress—Result of Resolution Adopted by Kootenay Synod.

Toronto, March 21.—Making a hymnal is a big work as the progress of the Anglican Book of Common Praise shows. To get it out several preliminary skeleton volumes have to be issued in order that the compilers may do their work to the best advantage. The work is done so thoroughly that these draft volumes will be of the greatest value to all who shall hereafter compile an edition of hymns in English. The third draft of the Book of Common Praise has just been printed, and it is more important and interesting than the first or second. The book is now approaching its final form, and some of the copious indices promised appear. Six of them are in this draft as follows: Of first lines, of metres, alphabetical index of tunes, of composers, of authors and translators. Where the first line is printed differently in different existing hymnals it will appear in these different ways in the index, though not, of course, in the hymn itself. For instance, the first line of "Glory to Thee, My God, This Night," is in some hymnals, "All Praise to Thee, My Gid, This Night." Both forms will appear in the index so that anyone used to either form can find the hymn.

The index of metres is very complete. In the index of tunes where a tune is known by two names, both will be found in the index. This index also shows whether the tune is copyrighted, and who owns it. The index of composers is very full, and the indext of authors shows the nationality and religious denomination of each writer. This index shows that while all denominations contribute to this, as to all Christian hymnals, the great majority of the writers are Anglicans. This is, perhaps, in line with the contention that the world is more indebted to Anglican hymn writers than to those of any other denomination. Great care is being taken to secure the literary acuracy of the book, every hymn being examined by Rev. John Mearns, sub-editor of Julian's Hymnology, and compared with the originals in the British Museum and the Church House, London. More than 200 suggestions are printed in this draft for consideration of the compilation committee when it meets at Gananoque next July. Altogether the draft bears testimony to the hard work of the committee and their determination to produce a book as nearly perfect as possible.

The compilation was ordered by the general synod of the church in Canada at its meeting in Quebec in 1905, on a resolution presented from the synod of the diocese of the Kootenay, by Rev. F. H. Graham.

Loyal Ontario.

Toronto, March 21.—Mr. Pine, minister of education, has decided that the department will supply every school in the province with a large Union Jack, upon which will be emblazoned the Canadian Coat of Arms. Tenders will be called for by the government for flag poles and the poles will be erected on every school ground, from which the flag will fly on all school days. The regulations are likely to provide an interesting ceremonial in connection with the flag. It is possible that following prayers, the teachers will assemble the school and pupils will salute the raising of the flag.

WILLIAMS' WAGES BILL

Fair Terms Resolutions Will Be Up for Discussion Tomorrow—Case of Rossland Today.

(Special to The Daily Canadian.)

Victoria, March 20.—The expected debate on the premier's Fair Terms resolution has been postponed to Friday on the suggestion of J. A. Macdonald, after J. H. Hawthornthwiate had complained that his amendments had been ignored by the official reporters, and the premier himself had asked leave to add a clause.

Several bills were advanced a stage and Hawthornthwaite introduced a Shop Regulation Act.

The premier brought down a return of all documents bearing on the title to the Tsimpean Indian reserves which is now in dispute between the Dominion and the province and which the former wishes to donate to the Grand Trunk Pacific Company. The Dominion government has in fact, by order-in-council, conveyed to the company such title as it can, carefully labelled "without recourse." The provincial government holds that as the Indians have surrendered their title to the lands, the reversionary interest is vested in the province.

The chief interest in tomorrow's session will be in the premier's reply to Mr. Macdonald's question as to special aid for Rossland; and in the premier's contribution to the debate on Parker Williams' bill on semi-monthly payment of wages.

POLITICS AND PURITY.

To read the Saturday and Sunday editorials of the Canadian papers generally and the political articles in the few Canadian monthly and quarterly publications, one might imagine that all Canada were clamoring for sweeping reforms in the administration of the Dominion and provincial services, and of politics generally.

It is often forgotten that the men who write such articles, or deliver addresses in colleges or clubs, on similar subjects, are as a rule active politicians, who know the game as it is, and play it according to the loose rules more or less generally observed.

The great majority of the members of both parties loathe bribery as a political weapon; but many of them at least know that it is used and utter at most a very feeble protest during campaigns.

It is safe to predict, for example that the circle of ministers in Winnipeg who denounced from their pulpits the alleged corruption of the Roblin government, will not allow their votes at the next Dominion election to be influenced in the slightest by the disclosures of the last election in London, by the retention in the civil service of W. T. R. Preston, J. Obed Smith and a hundred others of the same kind, by the North Atlantic Trading Co. scandal, or anyone of a hundred other scandals.

Such men are often influenced by big political issues, such as the loyalty or disloyalty of a party to British connection, but for the sins of their party in debauching an electorate they only sigh—and keep on voting.

Some advocate civil service reform as a panacea. They think if positions were awarded on the results of competitive examinations instead of by personal appointment, the chief means of, and incentive to, corruption would be gone.

Undoubtedly the gain would be great, and to none more than to the pestered and wearied ministers and members who hear a score of appeals for every vacant position. The local patronage committees, whose existence can only be defended on grounds of expediency, would disappear.

But civil service reform is not easy of attainment. The examples of Britain and Germany are not at all to the point in a country where racial, religious and territorial representation in all public services from the Dominion cabinet down is claimed and conceded.

Quite recently a claim was entered for representation in the Dominion Cabinet for British Columbia. It was not pretended that any British Columbia member had any qualification for any portfolio. But the claim on merely geographical grounds was admitted and Mr. Templeman was chosen as easily the least unfit.

Any proposal to appoint an Easterner to a position in British Columbia is hotly resented, and the other provinces are no less jealous. This system must be abolished before automatic appointment as the result of standing in competitive examinations can be seriously considered.

The only road to reform is easier and simpler than that. Let the good people who are horrified at corruption attend their own party meetings and see that clean and able men are chosen as candidates. If they fail to let them enter their protest—a protest no party machine will dare to ignore.

Organization is essential to victory. If the learned and refined citizens shirk their public duties and leave the organization to the ignorant and the coarse, they may rest asured that the work will be done ignorantly and coarsely. The man who will not do his own share of such public duties puts himself out of court. He has no right to complain if others do it in a way that does not meet his judgment and taste. Corruption is due mainly to indifference, and the indifferent are the chief sinners.

The remarks of E. K. Beeston, published in yesterday's issue of The Daily Canadian, deserve careful attention and consideration. If Nelson is to continue the campaign for growth and improvement begun last year, it were better to do it effectively than in a slovenly manner. There is ample room in Nelson for improvements; the streets, lawns and gardens, vacant lots, unoccupied buildings and, most of all, the water front, are good subjects. But the most important thing of all is the appointment of a paid secretary, not one who has many other interests but one whose whole time and effort can be given to the work, a man of some literary attainments, who can write a good descriptive letter, and a man of good address and wide general information whom visitors will be pleased to meet. If such a man can be secured much may be accomplished by a tourist association or 20,000 Club or any other advertising organization.

So far this session the Socialist members have behaved well. Hawthornthwaite and Williams have kept fairly busy, but the bills they have introduced are on the lines that special representatives of working classes might be expected to follow. There is something to be said for semi-monthly wage payment, and shop regulation, though it is doubtful if either is really necessary in British Columbia at present. If the Socialist members continue advocating and securing improvements in conditions of industry, their occupation will soon be gone. The "wage-slaves" will become quite reconciled to the so-called capitalistic system.

We are still the in the dark as to the position which the Liberals in the legislature will take on the issue of Fair Terms between the Dominion and this province. We still express confidence that J. A. Mcdonald will show himself more patriot than partizan and will support in their entirety the rsolutions to be offered by Mr. McBride, reaffirming British Columbia's protest against the ne wscale of provincia subsidies proposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

WANT LAWS ABOLISHED

Emma Goldman, Lady Anarchist, Says Government is Unnecessary—Despises Preachers.

Toronto, March 21.—A female anarchist, Emma Goldman, lectured on "Misconception of Anarchism" to a fair-sized audience in the Labor Temple last night. She declared that anarchism was opposed to all coercion and authority, believing only in co-operation. The restrictions of laws were what caused laws to be enacted. The removal of the penalty of hanging for horse-stealing was followed by the cessation of horse-stealing. How, she asked, could one human being assume to punish another? The essential thing, Miss Goldman declared, was to get rid of the idea that government was necessary. When men get that out of their heads they would become independent.

She denied that anarchism had necessary connection with force or was synonymous with it. If anarchists used violence it was because of the presence of violence in human affairs, and because violence was used on them. But the philosophy of anarchism was quite opposed to force. The more rigid government was ,the more stringent the laws of a country, the more danger there was of violence.

A number of questions were by the lecturer's invitation put to her at the close of her address. One man asked how could workmen organize without law or the idea of government. Miss Goldman replied that she did not believe in trade unions as they are today, the men were under the rule of their labor leaders, which was as bad as that of other forms of government.

In answer to other questions, as to what she would say of the idea of the government of God, she said she was not a Christian, did not believe in a God and thought "science had sufficiently disproved the idea of a hereafter." She did not accept a religion which had made men slaves and filled them with the idea of sacrifice for others. They needed to look after themselves. The life of man, she declared, had nothing to do with God or with gods in heaven, the god was in man's own self. While looking to God above, the gods down here on earth had emptied men's pockets. She advocated belief in the truth as it is and not as we had been taught it by the preachers, who, she said, "had never earned an honest dollar in their lives." Some of these statements were loudly applauded by a number in the audience.

Earl Grey's Good Work.

Everybody in Canada wants to see Newfoundland a part of Confederation, but few people would bring in the ancient colony without the full consent of its inhabitants. What is needed just now is that the people of both colonies should know one another better. To this end no one has contributed so much in recent years as Earl Grey, governor-general of Canada. Newfoundland papers are still recording the kind acts which Their Excellencies did while in Newfoundland last summer, and which aided in the conquest which Their Excellencies made of the hearts of Newfoundlanders wherever they went. One of these was the sending by the Countess Grey of the sum of $325 to aid an injured miner in the General hospital at St. John's. Now Lord Grey is using every effort to have present at his musical contest in Ottawa a representative musical organization from Newfoundland. He very much desired the presence of the Ladies' Orchestra of St. John's, but owing to the difficulties of travelling about the end of January, and for other reasons, the orchestra cannot come to Ottawa. However, Lord Grey is endeavoring to induce one of the other musical organizations to represent the ancient colony. All of which makes for a better understanding and a better feeling all around.

The Actor and the Man.

Great painters, sculptors, musicians and actors are careful not to lose their heads in the tumult of their emotions. Edwin Booth, so far as is known, never threw himself into his character but on one occasion, and then he was playing Bertuccio in "The King's Fool." It is related that he came off the stage at the conclusion of the performance convinced that he had surpassed all of his previous efforts and that he was excited, thrilled, tingling with the emotions of the character into which he had blindly cast himself, but his daughter, Edwina Booth, who had been sitting in a stage box, told him she had never seen him act so badly. For that one performance Booth deliberately had chosen to be the man and not the artist.

WEST INDIAN COTTON.

Impetus to Production from Recent British Visit.

Kingston, Ja., March 21.—Sir Daniel Morris, is highly sanguine of the success of cotton growing in the West Indes, and in a letter received from him by Sir Alfred Jones, he speaks of the impetus the industry has received from the recent visit by the delegation of the British Cotton Growing Association to th cotton growers of St. Vincent and Barbados.

"Already," says Sir Daniel, "there are indications that the planters are more convinced than ever as to the prospects of the Sea Island cotton industry, and are prepared to put forth their best efforts to enlarge and improve the industry.

"If matters proceed as I hope they will, you may rest assured that this time cotton growing in Jamaica will be put on a thoroughly satisfactory footing..... Even if the other people in Jamaica do not come into the scheme at once, I have confidence they will do so later on."

POLITICAL PRISONERS.

Brutally Treated by Authorities in Russian Provinces.

From independent Russian, German, French and English sources come heart-sickening accounts of systematic tortures practiced in Russian prisons upon "politicals" with the object of compelling them to betray their friends and supporters. For a long time such tortures have been reported from various prisoners all over the Empire, but the worst atrocities seem to be habitually perpetrated in the prisons of Poland and the Baltic provinces. In Riga, for instance, a special chamber has been fitted up with all the instruments of torture known to the Inquisition of old. Rubber sticks, long pins, pincers, a rack and so forth, are used in the process of making the victim "confess," and all this is not only by permission of the higher local authorities, but frequently under their personal guidance. Such things as knocking out the teeth, tearing out the hair and pieces of flesh are in ordinary usage.

My Wife's Family.

A farce in the broadest sense and yet withal without a word of suggestiveness, one that was never intended for anything deeper than causing hysterics with its laugnable situations, witty dialogue and impossible nonsense, is the announced attraction, "My Wife's Family," at Sherman's opera house Monday. That old story of the henpecked husband, the more than usually obnoxious mother-in-law, and the family of nephews, cousins, sisters and numerous other relatives, are served up with new and elaborate trimmings of bright sayings and catchy music, pretty girls and dazzling dance numbers. The story brings a vociferous mother-in-law to the home of her inoffensive son-in-law with her host of relations, among whom is a son lately married surreptitously and the father of a three months' old child. Through a combination of mistakes the son-in-law is suspected, and has some hair-breadth escapes from his angry relations when the child is found in the house. After barely escaping with his life explanations clear up the troubles and things end happily. Appleton and Perry, the two comedians, as the friend and husband respectively, in dialogue, song and the xcrutiatingly funny automobilie, are sure to create laughs galore, while there are over a dozen of the brightest of vaudeville specialties introduced during the action of the comedy by various members of the excellent organization.

The street car started making regular trips this morning. When the trial run was made last Monday it was discovered that the new wheel fitted too closely to the axles. The axles were taken to the C. P. R. shops and the wheels fitted by hydraulic pressure. Everything is now running smoothly, and it is hoped that from this time forward the car will make regular trips.
