Atlantic Companies Plan New Giants

RIVALS TO LUSITANIA

Speculation in London as to Future Steamship Developments—Too Big To Pay.

London, Oct. 16.—The interest that has been taken in the two new Cunard steamships, the Lusitania and her sister ship, the Mauretania, and in the first voyage of the Lusitania is evidently very great on both sides of the Atlantic. No one could fail to be impressed with the enthusiasm of the tens of thousands of people who witnessed the departure of the Lusitania from Liverpool and the passengers who sailed on her first voyage. Such exclamations as "wonderful!" "That is far finer than I expected" were heard on all sides.

It is hardly realized, nevertheless, what an advance these vessels are on any that have hitherto been built. In dimensions they are more than one-seventh of a mile in length, or about one hundred feet longer and twenty feet broader that the Great Eastern. In displacement tonnage they are about two and a half times as great as the Dreadnaught. In height and spaciousness of their tsate rooms, and in every provision that can be made for the safety and comfort of passengers, they are far in advance of any other ship afloat. In power they are about 50 per cent. greater than any other ships and about four times greater than the Great Eastern.

The Lusitania has made a good beginning. There was, of course, no question of racing, as she is, without doubt, the fastest steamship on the Atlantic. She has made the best average speed that any steamer has made on her first voyages, and will do more when her stokehole crew gets better used to its work.

The question is asked everywhere "Are steamships going to be larger still in the near future?" Much larger steamships are, of course, quite possible. A Belfast shipbuilder is said to have talked of the possibility of building ships a quarter of a mile long and thirty knots speed. It would be just as easy for other shipbuilders to speak of steamships half a mile long and thirty-five knots speed. Nothing is impossible, provided there is money enough to pay for it. But it would be necessary also to spend enormous sums in providing deeper harbors and larger docks—or the other ships would have to remain out at sea! Such great extensions will not be made for very many years to come. The Liverpool docks are hardly big enough for the Lusitania and Mauretania, and the new deep channel at New York is only deep enough to allow these new Cunard steamers to enter and leave port. If the ships are designed and built longer and broader they must also be made deeper—unless some novel and as yet unthought-of method of providing the necessary strength can be devised. As it is, there are very few ports in the world that can take in vessels as large as the Lusitania. They cannot enter the Suez Canal or the port of London even at their light draught, with no cargo or fuel on board. No German port can accommodate vessels larger, or as large. And there is no trade in the world on which they could live and make a profit except the Atlantic passenger trade to and from New York.

It is certain that larger ships than the Lusitania will be built. It is understood that the designs for one somewhat larger are already being prepared. For carrying passengers, every increase in dimensions, other things being equal, means a steadier and more comfortable ship at sea, and, provided that there are plenty of passengers obtainable to fill the ship, every increase in size, within certain limits, will tend to economy in working.

It does not appear that there are facilities on the Clyde for building and launching vessels much larger than the Lusitania, but there are shipyards at Belfast and on the Tyne which could build and launch vessels very much larger. By the greater use of high tensile steel and by other means of reducing weights, the increase of dimensions will be made easier. There is no doubt that watertube boilers will, before long, be used in Atlantic passenger steamers with a great saving in weight, and there is no doubt that the combined reciprocating and turbine type of engines, which Messrs. Swan, Hunter and Wigham Richardson, Limited, have for the last two years been bringing before the notice of the great steamship companies will further reduce both the weights of machinery and, by their increased economy, the weights of fuel to be carried.

It is safe to say, however, that so far as speed and power are concerned it will be a long time before the Lusitania and Mauretania are exceeded, for in addition to the great first cost of such large power and high speed the increased cost of coals will prevent, or at least greatly delay, any considerable increase in speed.

It has been suggested that by the use of oil fuel higher speeds will become possible, but while the use of petroleum would save one-third in the weight of the fuel to be carried and used the increased cost of burning it instead of coal is quite prohibitive for large high-speed passenger steamships, and, the cost of oil is not likely to be greatly reduced in our time.

It may be noted that there has been during recent years and until the advent of the Lusitania and Mauretania a reaction against the tendency to increase the speed of passenger vessels and the size of cargo-carrying vessels. Most of the Atlantic passenger steamers that have been built during the last ten years have been of the intermediate type; that is to say, of moderate speed, from fifteen to twenty knots. Some ten years ago a considerable number of cargo vessels carrying 11,000 to 12,000 tons were built; more recently the vessels built have seldom exceeded 9,000 to 10,000 tons, deadweight capacity. One reason for this is the falling off both in the export of goods from Britain's side of the Atlantic to America and in the export of grain and produce from America.

There is one trade, however, in which there must shortly be an increase both in size and in speed. Practically all the fastest Atlantic passenger steamers sail in and out of New York. The time is comeing when Canada must have steamships running direct to her own ports of equal speed to the New York liners and of equal comfort. The Canadian liners have no doubt been greatly improved in speed and otherwise, but they are not yet fast enough. The quickest route to Canada is via America, and Canada cannot be satisfied until passengers and mails can reach Montreal as quickly as they can reach New York.

AGED EMPEROR BETTER

Announcement in Austrian Reichsrath That Francis Joseph's Illness is Not Dangerous.

Vienna, Oct. 16.—The condition of Emperor Francis Joseph this morning was regarded by his physicians as being slightly more favorable. Thoug virtually the same symptom continue, the fever has somewhat abated and the spirts of the patient are brighter. At the opening of the lower house of the Reichsrath today, the president, Count Vetter von Der Lilie, announced that the condition of the emperor "who is suffering from catarrh arising from influenza, is, under the circumstances, perfectly satisfactory, inasmuch as notwithstanding the fever symptoms which always accompany an illness of that nature. His Majesty is able to follow his customary mode of life." The president added that the only restriction imposed upon the emperor was to avoid talking, which was an effort to him. But the doctors did not wish him to engage in conversation because it caused increased irritation of the throat. Moreover, the president stated, the fever was less pronounced and did not last so long as at first and the sinking symptoms had subsided.

WILL NOT FIGHT

Liberals Let London Go by Default

LABORITE NOMINATED

Major Beattie Contests Hyman's Seat for Conservatives—General News of Canada.

London, Ont. Oct. 16.—Major Thomas Beattie, ex-M. P., was nominated by the Conservatives last night as candidate for the Commons at the forthcoming by-election. The Liberals are not likely, it is said, to bring out a candidate and the fight will be between Jacobs, Laborite, and Beattie.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—The claim of another class of York County Loan shareholders to be treated as creditors, otherwise to get one hundred cents with interest for every dollar invested, was presented to G. Kappele, official referee, yesterday. This class holds permanent stock and consists of 295 holders of fully paid up stock representing $49,8000 and 2.140 holders of an aggregate of $548,100 on which $24,252 had been paid. Mr. Ferguson, representing the claimants, urged that these stockholders were actually creditors because in the first place the issuing of permanent stock was irregular, and in the second place the by-laws under which they had been issued had not been confirmed by the shareholders. Kappele pointed out that it was obvious all subscribers to the company's stock were shareholders, but adjourned futher argument until Friday next when he would ask for production of evidence that permanent stock had actually been subscribed.

Carlyle, Sask., Oct. 16.—Considerable uneasiness is manifested over the whereabouts of J. A. Stewart, farm instructor on White Bear reserve. On Thursday evening last he came to his house, changed his clothes and without any intimation to his wife or family, left the house, his hound accompanying him. He was half an hour later seen by an Indian walking towards Carlyle. There is no reason for thinking that Mr. Stewart met with foul play and the only explanation of the situation is that he took a passing freight train to Manitoba to engage in threshing or has engaged with the threshing gang nearer home, he being a qualified engineer. His wife and family are naturally much concerned and along with Indian Agent Cory are making every effort to unravel the mystery.

Woodstock, Oct. 16.—At the annual meeting of the board of management of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, which opened yesterday afternoon, reports were read from British Columbia, Northwest Territories and Manitoba branches as well as those from Eastern Canada, showing the establishment of new auxiliaries and substantial increase in contributions. At last night's meeting addresses of welcome were delivered by Major Butler and Rev Mr. Cobbledick while the story of the year in mission work was also given by Mrs. Carman of Toronto.

Isaac Cockburn, formerly secretary of the Western Retailers' Association, and William Barclay, of London, one of the defendants in the case, and director of the Alberta association for the district of Claresholm. The case was adjourned for two weeks, October, 29th, in order to give Mr. Cockburn, one of the witnesses in the case, an opportunity to go to Winnipeg and secure some documentary evidence required by the subpoena.

Grenfell, Sask., Oct. 16.—There is considerable excitement in town here owing to the discovery of a vein of natural gas near the town. It appears that for some time farmers and others driving past a certain spot have noticed a peculiar hissing sound, but it was not until today that the cause was discovered. A farmer driving past was attracted by the noise and at once proceeded to investigate. He lighted a match over the spot and immediately an explosion toop place, and a flame several feet in height shot into the air. The farmer immediately brought the news to town, and a number of citizens went out to look into the matter.

Grenfell, Sask., Oct. 16.—Constable Moss made an important capture last night at Wolseley when he took into custody John Stour, who has been passing useless southern states bank notes at almost every town along the main line of the C. P. R. from Winnipeg to Wolseley.

Brandon, Oct. 16.—Detective Foster arrived with David J. Dick, a farmer living seven miles south of Wawanesa, whom he arrested on a charge of seduction. B. F. Coole, whose sister is alleged to be the victim of Dick, laid the information.

Woodstock, Oct. 16.—The funeral of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick was held here this afternoon, services were held at the residence of Mrs. Burnstall, deceased's sister, by Rev. P. G. Thompson, of College Avenue Methodist church. Quite a number of people were in attendance. The interment took place in the Episcopal cemetery, where Mrs. Chadwick's parents are buried. The pall bearers were Mayor John Butler, F. E. Butler, Alfred Welford, Dr. Odlum, J. C. Karn and Ald. A. M. Kent.

The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and the police magistrate sentenced him to one year with hard labor in the Nelson jail.

Art Collection Going.

London, Oct. 16.—Another of Great Britain's cherished art collections, that is known as the Ashburton collection, is about to be dispersed and it is probable that some of the best examples there is will find its way to America and the continent. According to a reliable report this collection has been bought by a syndicate of London art dealers. It contains sixty-five examples of the famous artists of the world, including such painters as Corregio, Rembrandt, Velasquez, Murillo and others.

Car Jumped Embankment.

Cincinnati, Oct 16—Harry N. Bauscha, an attorney, was killed, and thirty other persons hurt, six probably dangerously, today when an Elboran Avenue care went over a twenty-five foot embankment at Mount Hope, a suburb. The motorman lost control of the car, which was going down a steep hill, and there jumped the track, going clear across the street and over the bank.

TAFT IN MANILA

Declares American Policy in Philippines

NO FREEDOM EXPECTED

Thinks Natives Will Not Be Fit for Self-Government for at Least a Generation.

Manila, Oct. 16.—The second great step in the plans of the American government to make the Filipines self-governing was taken today, when the representatives chosen at the first insular elections held last month gathered in the capital for the opening of the National Assembly. The presence of Secretary of War Taft and his address convey the sentiments of the American people added to the importance of the occasion.

The inauguration of the assembly took place in the opera house and was attended with military and civic display. The auditorium, which is the largest in Manila, was thronged with hundreds of citizens of all classes, in addition to the membership of the Assembly. In the audience were many army and navy officials, consular officers and others whose uniforms added brilliancy to the impressive scene. The ceremonies were opened with an invocation by Archbishop Harty. Governor-General Smith then took the chair and after a few brief remarks introduced Secretary Taft, who delivered the principal address of the occasion. The Secretary of War was given an enthusiastic reception and his speech was loudly applauded.

In his opening address Mr. Taft reiterated his former statements regarding the Philippine Islands, declaring that his views announced two years ago regarding the incompetence of the Philippine people were unchanged. He did not believe that they would be allowed to go out for themselves for at least a generation, but he added that the matter was entirely in the hands of congress. The secretary denied emphatically that the United States had any intention of disposing of the Islands, said he had confidence in the Filipinos, denied that he was disappointed at their inability to legislate conservatively, and asserted his belief that they felt their responsibility and acknowledged the necessity of supporting the American goernment.

Queen Victoria's Letters.

London, Oct. 16.—The London papers this morning publish elaborate extracts from the "Letters of Queen Victoria," which make their appearance today by authority of King Edward. These letters for an interesting autobiography which, without revealing any important political matters not already known, present a deeply absorbing picture of the queen's life and character from her own hands. Editorially the newspapers express their grateful thanks to the king for this selection from nearly six hundred volumes at Windsor in which the queen's letters and papers are classified and indexed.

Coming to America.

Dublin, Oct. 16.—Sir Antony Patrick MacDonnell, under secretary to the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland and the real author of the Irish council bill, departed today for the United States, where he will spend in all about one month. Sir Antony will land at New York and then travel through the New England States, after which he will visit James Bryce, the British ambassador at Washington. His visit to the United States is non-political, but he will be accessible to men of influence interested in Ireland and her welfare.

Inventor Dies Poor.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—David Redfield Proctor, 61 years old, a cousin of United States Senator Redfield of Vermont, was found dead yesterday in a cheap lodging house in South Clark street. He had been in straightened circumstances for several years, although he made a s fortune from the sale of royalties on an invention which he patented early in the seventies, a device which arrested and extinguished the sparks from the funnels of locomotives, making the kindling of prairie fires by passing trains an impossibility. He was known as "Inventor Proctor," and when his lifeless body was found in the dingy room in which he had lived, and dreamed his dreams of astounding inventions for the last six years, the narrow little bed was simply festooned with tiny hand carved models of flying machines which he had guarded as embodiments of secret discoveries he claimed to have made in the field of aeronautics. Mr. Proctor was a native of Gloucester. He is survived by a widow and two daughters.

May Bring Fortune.

New Orelans, Oct. 16—In the captain's stateroom of the steamer Albian which left yesterday is a bale of cotton known as the president's bale. President Roosevelt operated the machine of one of the floating Mississippi cotton compressors which made this bale a few days ago. It will be sold for charity by the Royal exchange at Manchester, England, to which city it is consigned.

Hiding in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 16.—Inquiry at the hotels in the city have failed to reveal the whereabouts of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clarkston. Neither could Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ritchie be discovered in Paris. Mrs. Clarkson is the daughter of Martin Maloney of Philadelphia, and eloped recently from New York. The supposition is that the couple is in the city under an assumed name.

Wants More.

Budapest, Oct. 16.—Rumors have reached here from America of a reported difficulty between Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and her fiance, Count Szechenyi. Inquiry in aristocratic circles and to members of the Szechenyi family failed to elicit any thing that would justify credence being given them.

Moors Advancing.

Paris, Oct. 16.—In a despatch from Tangier a correspondent of the Petit Journal says that Mulai Hafid's army 8,000 strong, is marching on Casablanca with the direct intention of attacking. General Drude, commander of the French forces at Casablanca, is making elaborate preparations for defense. The tribesmen who recently attacked a French column near Oudja are reforming and preparing for an attack.

FONTANET DESOLATED

Indiana Village a Scene of Ruin—Extent of Loss of Life and Property Unknown.

Fontanet, Ind., Oct. 16.—The residents of this village of 1000 persons when they awoke this morning encountered a much different situation than they had been accustomed to in the past. Instead of a quiet country town and pleasant secenery to greet their eyes desolation was at hand. Soldiers of the Indiana state militia were on hand and had stood guard all night. Details of what caused the terrible catastrophe of yesterday at the powder mills, killing 35 and injuring some six hundred persons, were lacking. No one connected with the powder company could ascribe any reason for the explosion. Several rumors were current, one of the most probable being that the machinery in the glazing mills became overheated from friction and set fire to some loose powder. A number of residents were able by patching up their houses to pass a fairly comfortable night. The remainder were accommodated with sleeping room on cots placed in tents brought here by orders of Governor Hanley. The officers of company B of the Indiana national guard which was brought here last night, reported that the night passed without disturbance of any kind. The guardsmen were instructed to shoot on any attempt at looting. It is understood the state authorities will immediately begin an investigation of the cause of the disaster. A number of coffins were received today from Terre Haute and the bodies of those recovered were buried today. The total number of dead will probably never be known and it will be several days before the exact amount of property distroyed can be figured out.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 16.—Of the fifty victims of yesterday's disaster at Fontanet cared for at St. Anthony's hospital here, 14 were in a critical condition when brought here. Five of them died and little hope is entertained of the recovery of nine. The others are expected to survive. One of the seriously injured is Miss Susan Bishop, a school teacher who was caught in the collapse of the shool house. Assistant Superintendent Chas. Nash of the powder company is at his home. He is dangerously injured but probably will recover.

KOREA SUBMITS

Seoul Welcomes Japanese Prince

BRITISH EDITOR WARNED

Consular Authorities Forbid Criticism of Ito and Incitement to Native Outbreak.

Seoul, Oct. 16.—The preparations made for the reception of the Crown prince of Japan, Yoshihito, who is to arrive today at Chemulpo are most elaborate. He will be welcomed by the emperor and crown prince of Korea, Prince Ito, the Japanese resident general here, the entire Korean cabinet, all the high military and civil officials. Seoul has been elaborately decorated in honor of the visit of the prince and will be illuminated nightly during his stay.

E. N. Bethel, a British subject, editor of the Korea Daily News, and also of the Daihan Shimpo, appeared toady before the British consular court here on a summons charging him with using the columns of his papers to incite the Koreans to riot. Articles were read by the court containing bitter criticism of the preparations for the reception of the Japanese crown prince, and the consul bound Mr. Bethel in heavy security for his future good conduct and also announced that a repetition of his offense would result in his security being forfeited and his probable deportation. Mr. Bethel has maintained a steady campaign against Prince Ito's undertaking, relying on extra territorial rights for his protection from prosecutios. The British privy council, however, recently issued an order covering the conduct of newspapers by British subjects in foreign countries, and it was under this order that the proceedings were taken against Mr. Bethel. Incidentally, it is believed here that the order was a result of a request made by the Japanese government to reach Mr. Bethel whose attitude towards the Japanese authorities caused Japan to make formal representations on the subject through the British ambassador at Tokyo, Sir Claude McDonald.

N. S. FRASER LEAVING.

Chief Despatcher Remembered on Eve of Departure.

Mr. Norman S. Fraser, on his transfer to Revelstoke, was made the recipient of a handsome smoking set and an address by his friends in the city.

The presentation was made early this morning in the office of Superintendent Coleman, who officiated on the occasion. Mr. Fraser leaves tonight for his new post at Revelstoke. Following is the address:

Dear Mr. Fraser:—

Your business associates and friends have been impelled by their respect and regard for you, to give some slight expression of their regret at your approaching departure from the city, where you have spent so many useful years. They wish you to feel that you carry away with you their earnest hope and every success will attend you in your new sphere of activity.

They are confident that with your acknowledged ability, your natural sturdiness and independence of character, and your zealous devotion to the interests of your employers, the highest honors in the railway service will not be denied you. Your friends in Nelson will view with pride your progress in the service, and will cherish kindly the recollection of many years of pleasant association with you.

They ask you to accpet a little gift which they thought might please your fancy, and they wish you as you sit by the fireside and smoke the pipe of comfort, to think often of the friends you have left behind, and to remember that their regard for you is unaffected by the accidents of location or the passage of time.

On behalf of your friends,
D. C. COLEMAN,
P. WADE,
J. M. CAMERON,
W. P. TIERNEY,
S. P. TUCK.

Mr. Fraser, who has been a resident of Nelson for eight years, leaves for Revelstoke tonight. He is succeeded here by F. Walker.

THE GLOBE ON THE TARIFF.

The Toronto Globe has been occasionally repudiated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier as an official organ of the Liberal party, but to the great majority of the English-speaking Liberals of Canada it is still the voice of authority. Therefore the views of the Globe on a great public question may be expected to either guide or reflect the views of some proportion of Canadian Liberals.

In a recent issue the Globe criticizes the course of Lord Balfour of Burleigh the leader of the Scotch Tory peers. Lord Balfour of Burleigh is president of the British Constitutional Association, a non-political body which has been organized to oppose the fallacies of Socialism. He is also one of the leading Conservatives who have followed Mr. Balfour on the question of tariff reform. He is not wedded, to the doctrine of free trade nor is he an ardent protectionist, but beiongs to the middle group, still small, which recognizes that tariffs are a means to an end, and will not sacrifice English industry for the sake of paying reverence to the names of Cobden and Bright.

The Globe professes to see a glaring inconsistency in the position of an anti-Socialist who is not a convinced and inconvertible free trader.

The inconsistency is not evident. No summary can do justice to the extraordinary views of the reverend editor of the Globe, but a few extracts may. After quoting Lord Balfour of Burleigh:

"The essential condition for the progress of a community is that the incentive to efficiency on the part of its individuals shall be the strongest possible, and this required incentive can only be supplied by a strict application of the principle that the earnings of each individual shall be securely preserved for him."

The Globe comments:

"This is eminently sound, and only the Socialists will be inclined to question it. The earnings of each individual should be securely preserved to him. But Lord Balfour will find it difficult to reconcile that principle with a policy of empowering, by the tariff, a favored few to take the earnings of many individuals and give only a partial equivalent. His manifesto is full of good things. He says:

'But it is forgotten that the evil to a community is as great whether the plunderer be merely an individual member of society or society itself. In either case the citizen is deprived of the fruit of his labors, and the result to him is the same.'

"This is the philosophy with which the British Liberals are meeting Mr. Chamberlain's protection campaign. They say it maks no difference economically whether the citizen is confronted by a pistol and a demand for money or by a tariff-entrenched monopoly with an equally peremptory demand. "The result to him is the same."

It finally sums up by saying:

"In this able attack on Socialistic encroachment Lord Balfour is doing excellent work against the Chamberlain campaign toward which he has illogically shown an uneasy friendship."

It is as unprofitable to argue with one who has made free trade an article of religion as with one who believes dancing to be sinful.

The Free Traders' mental plight is utterly hopeless. They have neither eyes to see nor ears to hear anything but the shibboleth of an economic fallacy that is fast losing to Britain the commercial and industrial supremacy won by the half century of scientific protection inaugurated by the Younger Pitt. At the time of the repeal of the Corn Laws Britain's supremacy was absolutely unquestioned. In the sixty years that have followed Germany and the United States by means of high protective tariffs have almost achieved equality.

The familiar reply of the Cobdenite is that though manufacturers may benefit by Protection, their employees do not. The workingmen of Germany, the United States and the British Colonies, all Protectionist, are far better off than those of Britain.

But it is idle to argue with those who prefer the phrase they have learned in infancy to the evidence of their eyes.

The interesting feature of the Globe's ebullition is that it indicates a recrudescence of Free Trade as a Canadian Liberal policy.

Everyone is familiar with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's denunciation of "the iniquitous system of Protection." Sir Wilfrid's brain was probably weary and his sweet voice was allowed untrammelled play.

Moreover Sir Wilfrid has wisely abstained through more than eleven years from translating rhetorical nonsense into action. The revival of Free Trade as a Liberal campaign cry would be indeed a counsel of despair, but hardly worse perhaps than the resurrection of the once condemned Conservative policy of a fast Atlantic service between Britain and Canada.

ADMIRALS ARE INDIGNANT.

Secretary of U. S. Navy Has Ordered Swimming Test.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Great consternation is felt in the navy over an announcement made today by Assistant Secretary Newberry that rear admirals must shortly undergo a test to show whether they can swim or not. In the army a test of whether or not colonels can ride horseback has already been ordered. Mr. Newberry's declaration in favor of a swimming test for admirals, however, is considered far worse, although the average colonel weighs several times more than his horse.

The assistant secretary's plan is to have rear admirals dive from shore and swim to their ships. Many admirals who have not moved a wheel for years except from the navy department to the club, are indignant. It is felt that what the assistant secretary is really proposing is a general harikari among the most eminent naval heroes of the age.

"What does Newberry mean?" demanded one indignant hero at the club tonight. "Don't he know that by the time a man gets to my rank his abdomen outweighs his head? He might as well demand a swimming test for the police department."

Nevertheless the rear admirals accept Mr. Newberry's announcement as a fact against which there is no use in kicking and they are prepared for it.

Reports from Rear Admiral Evan's headquarters received today by intimate friends of his are that Fighting Bob is confident of being able to come up to Newberry's test. Evans, ever since the battle of Fort Fisher, swims entirely with one foot, the other being used mainly as a sort of screw propeller. The general effect is that of a flat wheel locomotive trying to climb a hill. Evans, however, is satisfied with his locomotion and nobody in the navy has ever dared to criticise it except one or two officers, who served with the army in Flanders and can talk back the same way.

Evans fortunately is the same size all the way down. He has nothing to kick about. The wails that are now deafening the Washington horizon arise from globular admirals with convex protuberances abaft the midriff. It is reported that Admiral Converse is about to resign.

American Gas Institute.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The second annual meeting of the American Gas Institute assembled at the New Willard Hotel today for a three days' session. President Walton Clark of Philadelphia called the meeting to order. Rates charged for gas, operating expenses, the obligation imposed by franchise, and a number of other topics are scheduled for consideration.

DANGER IN MANCHURIA

Conduct of Chinese Troops Severe Tax on Japanese Self-Restraint— Trouble Expected.

The following article from the Peking and Tientsin Times throws some light on the present condition of affairs in Manchuria:

"It has been more than once reported that Viceroy Hsu Shih-chang has given grave offence in Peking and has been impeached by censors for not showing a bolder front to the Japanese in Manchuria, and for yielding to them on many commercial points, such as the importation of salt from the Liaotung. His appointment was in the first instance made on the understanding that he was a persona grata with the Japanese, and if we remember rightly their Majesties in their farewell instructions to His Excellency specially directed him to maintain pacific relations with the Japenese. Considering the general conditions which they found there, and the start which the Japanese had in the three eastern provinces, it was obvious that the new officials would not have an easy task before them, and that the reorganization of the provinces would call for the utmost tact and self-control. In the case of Tong Shao-yi we have long since seen that the strain was almost more than he could bear, and relations have been even in the Yamen rather delicate.

From reports which have been coming down from time to time it is clear that with all Hsu's diplomacy and friendliness the situation is fraught with extreme complexity, and that the elements are all present for difficulties of a serious nature to arise at any moment. Two or three weeks ago we heard that the Chinese troops sent up to Mukden and the neighborhood to keep the Chungchuses in check had lost their heads on the emperor's birthday and attacked the Japanese hospital at Changehun and attempted to assault Japanese women. Since then correspondents have more than once sent us word of the conduct of Chinese troops and the danger which appears imminent of a rupture between them and the Japanese troops stationed there. We have refrained from too frequent insistence on the point, as it seemed possible that the excitability of the men might be only temporary, and that the situation would be speedily eased by a little discipline and tact on the part of the respective commanders. There seems room for suspicion, however, that there is an element at work which may prevent this desirable improvement. It has been more than once suggested that there are in Manchuria many members of the Anti-Dynastic party, and where they are there is always an ever-present watchfulness for any excuse to create bad blood and cause an outburst in order to embroil Chinese relations with some other power.

The attitude of the new Chinese troops toward the Japanese military around Changchum is such as to severely tax Japanese self-restraint, and it is reported that anti-Japanese feeling is running very high amongst the Chinese troops. This may be due to the whisperings of those revolutionaries or it may be due to indignation at the stories local Chinese are ventilating of their suffering during the past few years, in which Japanese as well as Russians, and even more so, have loomed large. It may be, again, due to nothing more than the inevitable desire to test their new powers which these troops experience, for they are, we believe, better drilled and more efficient than the ordinary troops and may be impatient to put their knowledge to the test a not uncommon instinct of efficiency. Whatever the cause, there are, as we have said, the elements of danger in the Manchuria situation and care is required on both sides if harmonious relations are to be preserved between the two authorities represented."

Tenders Wanted for the Purchase of a Mineral Claim.

Tenders addressed to the undersigned at his office in the Court House, in the City of Nelson, will be received up till the hour of 5 o'clock, in the afternoon, of Friday, November 1st, 1907, for the purchase of the "Anne" Mineral Claim, Lot 5380, Group 1, Kootenay District, which was declared to be forfeited to the Crown at the tax sale held in the City of Nelson, on the 6th day of November, 1905, for delinquent taxes up till June 30th, 1905, and costs.

The upset price upon the said mineral claim, which includes the amount of delinquent taxes and costs at the time of forfeiture, with interest, taxes which have since accrued, cost of advertising, and fee for Crown Grant ($25.00,) is $123.70, which is the least amount that will be considered as a tender

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque for the full amount of the tender, payable to the order of the Deputy Commissioner of Lands and Works, at Victoria, B. C., at par.

Dated at Nelson, B. C., this 27th day of Sept. 1907.

Death Reveals Double Life.

London, Oct. 16.—The London papers this week contain an interesting story of a "double life," led by an American, which was revealed only by the hand of death. The man in the case crossed to Europe on business, leaving his wife in America. While travelling in France he was among the victims of a terrible railway accident. Beside his body in the morgue was placed the body of another victim, whose satchel contained some of his visiting cards.

The authorities, suspecting nothing irregular, cabled to the family in America to inform them of the two deaths. The widow cabled back merely ordering them to send his body home for burial. A second cable was accordingly sent from France to say that a lady had been travelling with him, that one of his cards was found upon her, and that her bag contained letters signed with his name. A description of the lady and the name written in envelopes in her bag were also wired across the ocean.

A prompt reply came back. The authorities were instructed to bury bury the husband at once, in France, but nothing was said about the unfortunate woman. They were buried in French graves, side by side. It subsequently developed that the woman had been a lifelong friend of the family. No one suspected anything between the two, but it points to a carefully arranged meeting in Europe. The letters from him found among her belongings afterwards fully proved that the liaison had been going on for years. The man whose name has been carefully withheld, is said to have been prominent in the business and social life of one of the largest cities in the United States.
