STOCKS DECLINE

Kootenay Mining Still Disturbed

COKE OUTLOOK DUBIOUS

Production Curtailed but Development Active as Ever—Quotations on Stock Market.

The coke situation is temporarily relieved, and the smelter operations are fairly regular and of nearly normal volume, but there is an air of uncertainty still, and the declining price of copper, for which nobody professes to account, makes mine owners more reluctant to commit themselves to large plans of operations or to undertake regular shipments.

At the same time there is no interruption to development work which continues with encouraging results in many camps. There is also an indication, greater now than for many months past, of renewed interest in Kootenay mines among American capitalists. This is especially true of Sheep Creek valley which has had many visitors during the last week.

The stock market for the past week with only one or two exceptions, witnessed a great decline. Stocks in many cases dropping 25 per cent., this condition seems to be general throughout the country.

Alberta Coal & Coke was offered freely at 41 cents, with but few sales recorded. B. C. Copper declined from $6.50 to $6.25, while Dominion Copper fell off from $4.75 to $4.00. Consolidated Smelters continued weak, no bids being recorded above $108. Cariboo McKinney remained steady, a good demand being in evidence at about 4 cents to 5 cents. Diamond Vale Coal was offered from all quarters, selling down to 19 cents. Galbraith Coal strengthened slightly, gaining 1 cent on the bid price. International Coal remained unchanged. Rambler fell off with each day's trading, declining over 2 cents throughout the week. Sullivan also weakened, selling off over 1 cent per share. Hewitt seems to have created a favorable impression, and it is expected it will be one of the most active stocks on the local market in the near future.

Following are the approximate quotations for the week ending today:

Died in Brooklyn.

New York, Sept. 14.—"Ale Shields, well known in both Canadian and American turf circles for 20 years, died last night in Brooklyn following an attack of stomach trouble and typhoid fever. Shields made a horse called Loman famous by winning races in Canada and at every race track in the north, south, east and west in America. This horse ran 120 races during his career.

Coal for U. S. Navy.

New York, Sept. 14.—The situation with regard to the proposals issued by the bureau of equipment of the navy department for supplying coal for the battleship fleet on its voyage to the Pacific coast, according to the journal of commerce, has assumed rather interesting shape here by the statement of several agents of the larger coal mining concerns that they would not present bids. Their reasons are that they have not the necessary quantity of coal on hand aside from the quantity demanded by private contracts already entered into. The companies claim that they have no reserve stocks on hand amounting to anything and that the labor situation is such that they cannot increase their mining capacity. The coal, it was stated, can be obtained in England if it is necessary to go there, but the price will undoubtedly be what might be classed as "saucy."

THEOSPHISTS' CONGRESS.

Mystics of the World Gather in Chicago —Mrs. Besant Presides.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Scores of delegates are in Chicago for the twentieth annual meeting of the American section of the Theosophical Society, which is to begin its sessions tomorrow. The visitors represent almost every state in the union, as well as most parts of the civilized world. The great interest in this year's convention will be the advent of Mrs. Annie Besant of Adyar, India, the newly elected world president of the society.

The Theosophical society, the objects and views of which are more or less familiar to the public, was organized in New York in 1875 by Madam Helen P. Blavatsky and Colonel Henry Steele Olcott, the latter formerly a well known newspaper man and a veteran of the civil war. It headquarters are in Adyar, and it is represented by active bodies on every continent and in most of the civilized countries of the world. Its lodges are self-governing and the individual members are accorded the utmost freedom. Mme Blavatsky was succeeded in the presidency by Col. Olcott and on his death early in the present year Mrs. Besant, a woman of world renown as a writer and lecturer, was chosen as the head of the organization.

JESUIT GENERAL'S VISIT

Rumor That Head of Greatest Religious Order Will Make Tour of United States.

Rome, Sept. 14.—Practical confirmation has been received of the rumor that the "Black Pope", as the general of the Jesuit Order is called, will soon pay a visit to the houses of his order in America. Francis Xavier Wernz, a German by birth, is the present head of the order, having been elected just a year ago in succession to the late Father Martin. At the time of his election Father Wernz was rector of the Gregorian university here. He has devoted himself principally to canon law, and is considered one of the greatest living authorities on the subject.

The Jesuits are a remarkable body of men. The internal regulations of the society are very similar to those of an army in respect of obedience and executive. There are at the present time about 15,500 in the world, collected in twenty-five provinces under the control of provincials. Every official except the general, who is elected for life, and can only be deposed for some moral, personal error (such a thing has not occurred in the 400 years of its existence) is elected for a term.

The general of the society is one of the hardest worked men in a hard-working world. Every member of the society may write in complaint or for advice to the very reverend father, and though there is a permanent staff of secretaries, the general is supposed to pass every reply. Moreover, he must control men, many of whom are more brilliant than himself, and tremendously strong-willed, and in addition he has to conduct the external relations of the society. The political influence of the "Black Pope" is a matter of history.

Another ecclesiastical dignatory who will soon go to the United States is Cardinal Vincenzi Vannutelli, who will represent the Vatican at the Eucharistic congress at Pittsburg next month. Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli should not be confused with his better known and more ambitious brother, Cardinal Serafino Vannutelli, who is Prefect of the Congregational Council. The two brothers are the grandsons of a man who rose from an altogether menial position to that of major domo of the first Napoleon's most beautiful sister, Princess Pauline Borghese. She was as free in her gifts and her expenditure as in her affairs of the heart, and under the circumstances it is not astonishing that her factotum should have amassed in her service the large fortunes which his grandsons, the two cardinals, enjoy to this day.

Coal Dust Explosion.

Rock Springs, Wyo., Sept. 13.—Forty men were injured, twenty seriously, by an explosion yesterday at the mouth of the third entrance to mine No. 10 owned by the Union Pacific Coal Company. While a number of the injured are very badly burned it is not expected that any will die. The explosion was caused by miners setting fire to coal dust with their lamps.

NOT MENINGITIS

Dr. Hall's Theory of New York's Epidemic

WAS COMMON IN NELSON

Peculiar Form of Infantile Paralysis Due to Gastro-Intestinal Infection —Not Serious.

The disease called infantile paralysis, which is now epidemic in New York action against it for libel. But evidently neighboring states, may be familiar to the people of Nelson under a different name.

It will be remembered by all that a few years ago a strange malady attacked a great number of children in Nelson. Locally it was called spinal meninigitis. Its victims were crippled for many months but a majority have since recovered.

Dr. G. A. B. Hall, who declared at the time that the trouble was not spinal meningitis, but admitted that he did not understand it, has a theory now which certainly seems likely to be correct. Dr. Hall said to a representative of The Daily Canadian this morning:

"I have read those New York despatches and I am convinced that what the New York doctors are calling infantile paralysis is exactly the same malady which we had here a few years ago. I was satisfied then that it was not spinal meningitis, but I did not know what it was.

"I am satisfied now that it is a gastro intestinal infection to which adults as well as children are liable. The reason why its effect on children is more noticeable and more serious is that the children are more active and until they are disabled are hard to compel to rest, and that the foramina of the vertebrae are larger in children and the spinal effects therefore greater. It is the latter that produces the partial paralysis.

"It is essentially a summer malady. There have been a few cases in Nelson this summer, but none of them serious.

"I believe that with proper care and treatment as soon as the first symptons appear, there is no reason why there should be permanent disability in any case resulting from the disease. Nor is the treatment complicated or difficult."

As lending support to Dr. Hall's theory it may be recalled that the despatches state that the cases in the New York children's hospital, which have puzzled the medical authorities of the American metropolis, have practically all developed in the poorer districts where there was least likelihood of proper care and treatment in the early stages, and the unfortunate children had probably all reached the stage of physical disability before they were found by the doctors.

Artic Explorers Safe.

Fort Ribbon, Alaska, Sept. 14.—Prof. Steffanson, of Mikkelson's party, hailed the steamer Koyukuk at Fort Yukon on Sept. 3rd. Steffanson said he was carrying despatches. He reports that the Mikkelson party made the trip north over the ice and were successful. They encountered many hardships during the trip from Herschell Island and up the MacKenzie river and down the Porcupine. He reports that the party are well and safe.

Costly Joke.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—A joking remark about knowing the best time to visit his friends cost the life of Thomas Ramsay last night. A piece of beefsteak which he was eating caught in his windpipe as he laughed at the reply of his hostess and he quickly died. Ramsay was an expert machinist. He went to call on Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Richards, old friends, just as the family was sitting down to the evening meal. "Well, I'm just in time for a meal," he said as he entered the doorway. Mrs. Richards told him to sit down at the table, and he had just taken the first morsel of meat when he remarked, "Tell me I don't know the best time to visit my friends, eh." "You certainly do," replied Mrs. Richards. "I believe you were born under a lucky star, you are always in time to eat with us." This caused Ramsay to laugh which ended in a choking fit. Mrs. Richards went to his assistance, pounded him on the back and fought in other ways to aid him. Then physicians were called, but Ramsay died. He was 62 years old.

STRIKE THREATENED.

British Railway Men's Union Fighting for Recognition.

London, Sept. 14.—A general railroad strike is threatened in England as the result of the long struggle of the railway men's union with the British railway companies for the recognition of their organization.

The decision of the executive committee of the union will be announced in Manchester Sunday. It is understood that it gives the companies a week in which to officially recognize and treat with the union and that a strike will follow a refusal.

WON BY PEEP SIGHTS

British and Australian Rifle Teams Travel West—Discuss Victory of Americans.

Calgary, Sept. 14.—The British and Australian rifle teams which competed in the recent contests at Ottawa passed through the city yesterday on their way to the coast whence they will sail for Australia. Dougald McInnis, the Strathcona man, who won the governor general's prize, accompanied them as far as Calgary.

There wer thirty men in the party, fifteen to each team, and all were very fine marksmen.

Sergt. Tatlow, of Liecester, one of the prominent marksmen of the British team, stated that they were enjoying the trip immensely, and were all looking forward to the journey through the Rockies. The shoot at Ottawa was in his estimation one of the finest he has ever taken part in, and although the British team was not very fortunate, still they had done their best and could gracefully take defeat. One feature he did not like was the Americans using the "peep" sight. Of course they were privileged to use it, but in shooting on a still day they had a great advantage oved the Canadian, British and Australian teams, who were not allowed to use it. The reason for this is the fact that every team representing a certain country has to shoot under the rules governing the rifle association of that country. In the States the rules allow any kind of sight to be used so as to bring the scoring up to the highest possible point, but the British people are more conservative, and the rules of the British Rifle Association under which all the colonies are governed, do not allow the "peep" sight, thus making a great difference to the work done by the marksmen.

His team will shoot for the Empire cup in Sydney, Australia, and afterwards in different meets in that country, returning to England via Ceylon, after an absence of over five months.

While at the station the press representative was introduced to Lieut. Addison, of the Australian team, winner of the famous King's prize at Bisley. Mr. Addison is a sturdily-built man of about thirty-five years, and is slow in his movements, though he has a pair of eyes which are always on the move, and appears to be absolutely devoid of nerves.

When asked what the sensation was like to win the highest honor in the world as a marksman, he replied:

"Well, to tell you the truth, I found it a great relief when the finals were over, win or lose, as the strain is very hard on a man, but of course one naturally feels proud of himself when he accomplishes such a feat, and it takes some time for the fact to soak through one's intellect. The conditions at the final shoot were most trying, as it was very hard to judge the wind. I remember vividly an incident that happened just as I was about to fire my last shot. The wind was sweeping across the range, and I had just steadied down nicely, and was feeling for a bull when a confounded small fly started buzzing around my head, and finally alighted on the back of my neck. It was undecided whether to spoil my position and remove the insect or bear it out, and I stuck it out, though to say the least, it was a very trying ordeal.

Expert Marksmen.

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 14.—Juan Espanosa, an expert Chillian marksmen, while attempting to shoot an apple from the head of a man at a circus here, missed and killed the apple bearer. The crowd at the exhibition made a ruch for Espanosa and he barely escaped lynching.

JEKYLL AND HYDE

Chicago Girl's Identity Disputed

HARD FOR MAGISTRATE

Two Women Claim To Be Mother of Tillie Tolan, alias Anna Zamales, alias Mrs. Klimovioz.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—King Solomon of old might have tried his mettle worthily had he been called upon, to unravel the claims of the Zamales, the Tolans and one Klimovioz regarding Tillie Tolan, fiancee on one Hammerstrom, yesterday in the Maxwell street police court.

Judge Cleland could not tell whether the young woman was Miss Tillie Tolan of Chicago, Miss Anna Zamales of Grand Rapids, or Mrs. Jno. Klimovioz of Grand Rapids and Chicago.

The Tolans, represented by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tolan, 483 Potmas avenue, claimed the young woman as a daughter while Mrs. Jno. Zamales protested she was the girl's mother. Jno. Klimovioz, whose insistent claim that the girl was his runaway wife, brought him into court, opposed Heming H. Hammerstrom, her fiancee. Klimovioz last Sunday accosted Miss Tolan and Hammerstrom on a street car. Klimovioz claimed her as his runaway wife and was arrested for disorderly conduct. At the trial yesterday the young woman said: "I am Tillie Tolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Tolan, and I have lived in Chicago since I was two years old. I never saw these people from Grand Rapids."

"She is my daughter, and she was born and raised in Grand Rapids, Mich. Don't you suppose I know my own daughter when I see her? She left us two years ago and married Klimovioz, Feb. 12, 1906," said Mrs. Zamales.

Both sides produced photographs in court, Klimovioz and the Zamales family showing portraits of Mrs. Klimovioz, which the court admitted to look very much like those which Miss Tolan presented. The Tolans were accompanied by Rev. Justus Erickson, pastor of the Emmanuel Swedish church, who stated that Miss Tolan had been a member of his congregation for years and was engaged to be married to Hammerstrom, organist in his church.

Attorney Ponic declared that Miss Tolan is not only the exact image of Mrs. Klimovioz but that he had a specimen of the handwriting of both and that they were identical. He further asserted that Miss Tolan has a mole on her back, which must be of weight in identifying her.

"This question of relationship is the most remarkable I ever heard of," said Judge Cleland at the close of the examination, "but it has nothing to do with the charge of disorderly conduct against the defendant. I shall dismiss the charge because the the defendant was acting in good faith when he approached the complainant and the young man accompanying her on the street car and told her she was his wife."

Without judicial aid the parties to the controversy will have to determine among themselves whether the woman in the case is Miss Tolan or Mrs. Klimovioz.

Heart Disease.

Teheran, Persia, Sept. 14.—Mushir Ed Dowley, ex-grand vizier and ex-foreign minister of Prussia, who was regarded as being chiefly responsible for the Shah's rescript granting a national assembly, died suddenly today of heart disease.

Storms in Alberta.

The towns of Southern Alberta have neither unnaturally nor unpardonably, abstained from sending out reports of the damage sustained by the recent storms. But travellers who have come through to Nelson within the last two or three days report a most unfortunate condition. At Pincher Creek on Thursday the snow was two feet deep. At Macleod, Lethbridge and other neighboring towns it was nearly as heavy. At Medicine Hat there was two inches, and some distance east of Medicine Hat there was none. It has been general throughout Southern Alberta, and the damage to crops has been very heavy, in some cases ruinous to the farmers who have anticipated their proceeds. The snowfall was unfortunately coincident with the arrival of several large parties of intending settlers.

MORE IRISH THAN EVER.

Sir Thomas Lipton's New Challenger to Be Built at Belfast.

Glasgow, Scotland, Sept. 14.—William Fife, to whom the commission for designing Sir Thomas Lipton's new challenger for the American cup has provisionally been given, will work on the plans and model all summer. It is impossible for him to complete them as no decision has been arrived at as to what rating rule would govern the contest. It is understood, however, that all Mr. Fife's experiments were in the direction of producing such a boat as would be built for racing, under the new international rule, now accepted by the yacht racing associations of all the European countries.

Therefore it is believed that the challenge through the Royal Irish Yacht Club stipulates this rule, or the rule favored by the New York Yacht Club for its home racing, which gets the same results by different methods. It was at first proposed to build the challenger at the factory yards but this is now doubtful. Sir Thomas, in challenging through the Royal Irish Yacht Club, desires to have this yacht more Irish than ever and negotiations were made with a Belfast firm to build the Shamrock IV.

DEFECTS HAD BEEN SEEN

Employee of Quebec Bridge Company Tells of Late Discovery of Several Flaws.

Quebec, Sept. 14.—D. B. Hailey, president of the local bridge workers' union, and employed there since June last by the Phoenix Bridge company, gave evidence yesterday before the government commission which threw some new light on the case. This witness was on the traveller when the bridge collapsed and went down with it, being rescued by a boat from the opposite shore. According to this witness he and several companions on the bridge had noticed defects in the bridge. One of these was in the chord just outside the cantilever arm, the first one outside the main diagonal on the Quebec side. All the four webs of the chord were giving way. The lacing was bent down in some places and up in others while some showed signs of kinking. About four feet of the chord seemed in this condition. This examination was made on the eve of the accident.

Young Liberals.

A Young Liberals' Association was formed in Nelson last night at a meeting held in the office of A. M. Johnson. The following officers were elected provisionally: President, V. W. Odlum; secretary, Anthony Turner; executive committee, A. Cheyne, A. Carrie, W. G. McMorris, A. M. Johnson, L. Stewart, W. Clayton, W. B. Clayton, H. C. Hall, J. Goerle, C. F. McHardy, G. C. Egg and C. Newton. The Young Liberals, it is announced, have no intention or desire to encroach on the prerogatives of the senior association. They will not attempt to elect delegates to the approaching provincial Liberal Convention though they may make suggestions and recommendations.

Late C. C. Clark.

C. C. Clark, member of the firm of Clark and Thompson, whose death occurred at the Kootenay Lake general hospital last evening, will be buried tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 by the Nelson Aerie, F. O. E. Mr. Clark had been a resident of Nelson since 1898 and was generally popular on account of his unvarying kindness and geniality. So far no relatives have been located but a brother is believed to be living near Brussels, Ont.

WORLD'S APOLOGY

Vancouver Liberal Organ Retracts

AUTHORITY WAS WRONG

Accusation that Premier McBride Was in Deal with Ottawa Was Without Foundation.

In last Saturday's issue the Vancouver World published in black type on its front page a sensational story of an alleged deal between Hon. R. McBride and the Dominion government in connection with the disallowance of Mr. Bowser's bill to control Oriental immigration.

The World was fortunate—extremely fortunate—in the issue of R. F. Green's tion against it for libel. But evidently it has learned caution nevertheless.

In its issue of Thursday, Sept. 12th, now to hand, the World says, in a front page editorial:

"The World has never asserted as a fact that Premier McBride made a deal with Ottawa by virtue of which the words "final and unalterable" were to be cut out of the B. N. A. Amendment Act. What the World did say was to publish a suggested explanation of the premier's extraordinary course in advising the vetoing of the Bowser Immigration Bill. That explanation was given tentatively. At the same time it would not have been given at all had not the World felt satisfied with the authority by which it was conveyed. It has since been shown, however, that whatever may have caused Mr. McBride to act as he did it was not the hope of effecting an understanding with the Ottawa authorities and the World regrets that since this is so, it complicated the question and did Mr. McBride an injustice by giving publicity to the suggestion. The World has not heard from Mr. McBride on the subject but it does not have to hear from him or from anybody else before taking steps to repair any injury it may have done. The same desire for fair play and equal justice to all which in the past impelled The World to adhere to statements which it believed to be correct in the face of the utmost pressure, is equally effective in causing it to acknowledge an error once it is convinced that it has made one and to repair it as far as possible."

Many Traitors in Germany.

Coblents, Prussia, Sept. 14.—Further arrests have been made in connection with the extensive betrayal of military secrets previously referred to in these dispatches. There are now fourteen persons in custody of whom twelve, including four civilians, one of whom is said to belong to the nobility, will be charged with high treason. In the meantime all the prisoners are kept in the closest confinement. The two who will not be arraigned on the charge of high treason will appear as witnesses for the state, but they will not be released before the trial, which in all probability will be in secret.

Mexican National Holidays.

City of Mexico, Sept. 14.—The streets of the capital are elaborately decorated in anticipation of the annual national holidays. Tomorrow President Diaz will be seventy-four years old and the anniversary will be observed with the customary festivities throughout the republic. The president will heold the usual state reception and in the evening the time-honored custom of repeating the Grito of Hidalgo will be repeated. This ceremony will usher in the celebration of Mexican Independence Day, which falls on Monday. On that day the president will review the military parade, and at 6 o'clock in the evening will formerly open congress and read his semi-annual message.

Honduras Settling Down.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The state department has been advised by the provisional government of Honduras that tomorrow, the anniversary of the political independence of Central America, has been selected as the date upon which Honduras will return to a constitutional form of government, adopting the provisions of the constitution of 1894. An election will take place next month for a permanent president, and it is understood that the leading candidates are Gen. Danvila, president of the provisional government, and Dionisius Gutierlez, formerly a member of the cabinet and long prominent in the political affairs of Honduras.

NELSON'S FAIR.

Although Nelson's Fair lasts for only three days it is the dominant feature of the situation in Kootenay for over a week. It is the biggest and most representative fair held in any city of Nelson's size in Canada with the exception of New Westminster which has the annual provincial fair of British Columbia.

The Fair is an annual surprise to visitors and a matter of growing pride to the people of Nelson and the district who have made it what it is. Its growth in the five years since the organization of the Nelson Agricultural and Industrial Society, has been remarkable. Beginning as a demonstration, modest but determined, of the fact, then believed only by a few, that the Nelson district was destined for orchard land, it has grown to be a fairly complete representation of all the resources and industries of Kootenay, produced from, or connected with its mines, forests and farms.

It is not too much to say that the Fair has already achieved the purpose of its founders. No one now disputes the fruit-growing capabilities of Kootenay. While the district's reputation, throughout Canada, the United States and Britain, has not been won solely by the efforts of the Agricultural Society, they have certainly contributed to it in no small degree. As the Nelson Fair has established itself and won recognition as the premier institution of its kind in the interior of British Columbia, so has Kootenay, Whose name as a mining and lumbering country was already established, become known as one of the best fruit-growing districts on the continent.

This year, in spite of temporary disturbances of the lumbering and smelting industries, the general outlook in Kootenay is fair, and the general prosperity is certain to be reflected in the displays and in the attendance at the Fair.

The time for entries expires at 10 o'clock this evening, and the number of entries is already very large. The managers have stated that this year's Fair is certain to eclipse all its predecessors, brilliantly successful as several of them have been.

The mineral exhibit is in capable hands and will probably be more extensive and varied than ever before, although it will not have the advantage it had last year of recent important and interesting discoveries such as those of Ainsworth, to attract and hold the general interest.

The local industrial displays promise to be even better than before, and their arrangement will afford greater convenience to the exhibitors and also to visitors.

The district fruit exhibit has always been a centre of interest and this year will be no exception. The directors are determined that the rules governing the competition shall be rigidly enforced so as to leave no room for the unfortunate disputes which have been a regrettable feature of former exhibitions.

The directors and officials have done their work well. It now remains for the people of Nelson and the district to do their part.

What does the Fair mean to Nelson? It means the chief, and, judging from recent developments, evidently the most popular, of Nelson's means of advertising her attractions and resources to the world at large. However citizens may differ as to the means of advertising and inviting new industries and new home makers, there is no division of opinion as to the desirability of making Nelson a larger town than it is. The foundations have been well laid. It is often remarked by strangers that Nelson is a solider and more substantial looking city than any other in the country of the same population and than many of far greater population. In its streets, water system, sewer system, lighting and power supply Nelson has already equipment adequate for a city several times as great in population. Additions to the latter will entail very little in the way of increased expenditure while it will materially lighten the burden on the present tax-payers. To the people of the district increase of population means improved markets for all their products. The city council has decided from necessity and many of the citizens from judgment or sentiment not to assist the work of the 20,000 club which exists solely for advertisement. Without commenting on such decision it ay be pointed out that it constitutes an additional reason for supporting more generously than ever the first means of publicity for the city—the Fair.

Knowing One's Limitations.

"You told me she couldn't sing," said one man to another, as a voice crashed in on their conversation.

"I never said she didn't sing. I only said she couldn't," was the reply.

This little story throws a light upon a certain phase of life—the utter inability of the majority of people to realize their own limitations. There is not one person in a hundred who has sufficient strength of mind to get outside of themselves and their conceit, and see what they can do and what they cannot do. Scarcely anyone can bear to admit there is any thing they cannot do if they try.

To specialize on certain common types, there is the woman of the anecdote, who thinks she can sing when she cannot; there is the woman who thinks her taste in clothes is perfect, when in reality she has as much idea of what is becoming as a cow; there is the girl who fancies herself an artist, when her daubs are complete wastes of time and material; there is the amateur cook, whose efforts tend to violent indigestion, and so forth ad infinitum. To turn to men, one of the common types is the man who thinks he can make a speech and bores his listeners to death; another everyday type is the man who prides himself on his taste in neckties, and runs to loudnesses that deafen his friends. But of all the most trying of persons who fail to recognize their own limitations perhaps the worst is the specialist on games, the golfer, who cannot golf, the rower who cannot row, and so forth. There is nothing to be ashamed of in an inability to play a certain game, and yet it is a very unusual person who says frankly: "I play, but I play badly." Perhaps the most often met form of this self-blinded individual is the one who plays cards, and now that bridge is the vogue, the bridge-player who fancies herself or himself is much to the fore. A recent case was a young lady who doubled trumps. It was her lead and she plumped down a heart with the remark, "This heart convention is an awful nuisance." The makers made two odd and it turned out that the girl who trumped had several good clubs, but thought she must lead hearts! And yet she said she often went to bridge parties and considered herself quite a player. It is this sort of person who resents any advice. A good card player never resents a question or a comment. In fact they are welcomed. But the blind individual who is perfectly satisfied with his or her performance is very indignant at any criticism. It is only a receptive mind that can shed the scales of self-deceit.

WIDOW'S SON REVIVED

Raising of the Dead at Nain—Services Announced for Tomorrow in City Churches.

Tomorrow will be the sixteenth Sunday after Trinity. Next Saturday will be the festival of St. Matthew the apostle and evangelist. The calling of St. Matthew, as told by the evangelist himself, consisted merely in the words: "Follow Me," uttered without explanation and obeyed without hesitation or question.

The gospel for the sixteenth Sunday after Trinity is the account of the raising from the dead of the son of the widow of Nain, and the impression it created throughout Judaea, an impression which does not seem to have endured.

The following services are announced for tomorrow in the churches of Nelson:

Cokeville, Wyo., Sept. 14.—Joe Bates, a sheep herder, was shot and instantly killed by J. S. Branson, a rancher, living thirty miles north of this place, after he and his brother Sam had shot a seventeen year old boy whom they had held up and robbed, and had terrorized the people along the road which they travelled for several hours.

The Bates brother, after drinking to excess, started out to hold up every body they met, and eventually ran into Branson, who resisted them, snatching Sam Bates' revolver from its holder and killing Joe Bates as the latter was attempting to draw his gun.

The shooting of the boy was deliberate and caused great indignation. Sam Bates was place under arrest, and the youthful victim of their outlawry, whose name was not learned, was taken in charge by neighbors and driven to town on his way to Salt Lake for treatment in the hospital in the hope of saving his life. Lynching is threatened if the boy dies.

A SIMPLE EXPEDIENT

How Sane Business Men Explain Mistakes of Typewriter.

The phrase "dictated but not reread" is now occasionally seen stamped or typewritten in the lower left hand corner of a typewritten letter. This is the latest loophole of escape adopted by cautious though very busy men to avoid reading over the letters they dictate, and, at the same time, to explain any error made by a careless or ignorant stenographer.

By this simple expedient a business man is able to affix his signature to each of a pile of typewritten letters, trusting that no glaring mistakes have been made. Again, with this printed explanation the business man may leave before the day's mail is finished, this explanation making a personal signature unnecessary.

This scheme for relieving one's self from the results of mistakes caused either by the misunderstanding of a word at the time of dictating or the stenographer's ignorance of business terms was first adopted by travelling salesmen obliged to have most of their correspondence done at hotels along the route and never sure of the accuracy of the stenographer available.

As in many cases a salesman is obliged to leave for another city before his letters are finished, the necessity for some such explanation is obvious. While a carbon copy of each letter is usually sent him at his next stopping place, the original goes on to the headquarters of his company and sometimes contains amusing mistakes, the result of ignorance of the terms used in his particular line of business.

For instance, not long ago a fire insurance adjuster obliged to dictate an important letter just before taking a train was surprised on his next visit to the home office to find that only about half of his letter had ever been received. About midway in the letter the stenographer had inserted this note:

"Here the gentleman went so fast I didn't know what he said, but it was something about a cross-eyed agreement."

After a little thought on the part of the one who dictated the letter he remembered that he had referred to a quasi agreement, an expression with which the hotel stenographer was evidently unfamiliar.

Another instance was the case of a young attorney who dictated a letter to his stenographer asking a brother lawyer if he could argue a demurrer on a certain day. The letter was sent out hurriedly and not reread. The next day the letter was returned to the writer asking for an interpretation of what seemed a surprising request. Investigation showed that the stenographer had misread her notes and inquired if the young lawyer could "agree to demure" on a certain day.

"Dictated by ——, but not reread by him" is sometimes added to the bottom of a letter by means of a rubber stamp, the initials of the particular person dictating the letter being filled in with a pen. This method is adopted when the letter has been dictated by one member of a firm and signed by another perhaps not entirely familiar with the subject matter.

Field Day.

There is a general desire among those interested to have the date of the annual school field day put forward a little. It has so far been held during the latter part of October. This is thought to be a little too late, both because darkness comes on rather early, and because children are not all wise enough to guard against the danger of chills at night fall after a day of vigorous athletic exericse. Field day this year will probably come very soon after the Fair.
