prestalled Proposal For Regular Meeting

AR STILL THE PATRON

ssian Delegate Deceives British and Americans and Keeps Russia's Control.

The Hague, Sept. 30.—As time passes resolution voted at the plenary sit- of the peace conference September regarding the meeting of a future ference loses all importance. As is wn, in the original propositions, ted first by Great Britain and then the United States, there were two nciliated contentions, namely to se- automatic meetings of the confer- every five of every seven years, the withdrawal of the power to call e conferences from Russia, not ow- to any feeling against Russia's em- r, but on the principle that the con- nce should be an automatic institu- and independent of the will of any eign. The delegations interested e question were first induced to re- ce their own propositions, as they t have appeared disagreeable to ia, allowing Nelidoff, the president e conference, who is a Russian him- to present the resolution voted mber 21st, which assumed the cter of a generous renunciation on ia's part of interference in the con- tion of future conferences.

Nelidoff, however, began by merely ding in his resolution for the con- tion of a third conference so that desired periodicity not not appear. e resolution does not mention who convoke the conference, Dr. Beldi- the Roumanian delegate, delivered ech in which, after dwelling on the ative of Emperor Nicholas, and the tality of Queen Wilhemina, he said In view of such omission it was rstood that Emperor Nichalas ld convoke the next conference. Dr. lman's speech was a surprise to all ent except M. Nelidoff. The delega- of the countries which desired to inate Russia's right to convoke the erences kept silent, either because of their members were sufficiently ers of the French language to er appropriately in a speech in that ue or in the fear that their objec- might be taken as disrespectful.

FFALOES NOT EASY

lgary, Sept. 30.—For two weeks hael Pablo and 30 cowboys have spending night and day riding and ning to corral the buffalo for ship- to Canada, with the result that after weeks only 80 of a herd of 300 are e corrals. At this stage of the game cow boys were about ready to quit, n Mr. Douglas planned with Charles rd a son of the late partner in the alo with Mr. Pablo, to get together Mr. Pablo and form the largest d up that ever started through the head country. There will be in all 100 riders, each rider having 2 or rses. It always has been the ob- of the buffalo to strike away into Bitter Root mountains the opposite ction to what they were wanted to It is now the object of the round to sweep clean the range of all buf- into a deep cut in the Pandora ntains, and drive them east the di- ion the buffalo always want to go gradually make a large circuit k into the shipping point. This will take them through a coun- entirely strange to the herd, as it been found by experience when the alo are once out of their own coun- they drive fairly quiet.

reat difficulties have been facing Canadian agents. The northern Pa- c seem to find it hard work to find per cars for the buffalo. The cars far sent to Ravolli to receive the alo have been refused by Mr. Doug- as unfit, not being strong enough without doors in the top through ich the buffalo are fed. No doubt ore the loading commences the Nor- thern Pacific will realize these important points and send the cars required. So far the officials of all the railroads have been most eager to accomodate Mr. Douglas' wishes. The shipping will probably commence about the 28th granting the new arrangements for the drive is successful.

Fall Assize List.

The Fall Assizes open in Nelson tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Justice Morrison will arrive from the coast tonight. No civil jury cases have been set down for trial, so the list is limited to five criminal cases as follows:

Harry Watson and Charles Galligher, for theft at Rossland, two separate indictments.

Gustave Bouchard, for murder committed at Trail.

Walter Herbet Beckett, for sending a threatening letter.

Maurice J. O'Connor for assault resisting arrest.

MANOEUVERS OF FLEET

Three Huge Squadrons of British Navy Practice Tactical Moves in North Sea.

London, Sept. 30.—Under the supreme command of Lord Charles Beresford, the combined Home, Atlantic and Channel fleets will leave Portland about Oct. 14th for the autumn manoeuvres which this year are being conducted in the North Sea, and will be somewhat similar to those held in the spring off the coast of Portugal. The greatest interest is being taken in this gathering of England's first line of defense under the man whom many consider the greatest of her admirals. For a while the usual manoeuvres and other exercises will be carried out. The main object is believed to be strategical, to teach the officers what the admiralty would expect in case of war with Germany. The programme is being kept a strict secret and it is announced that on this occasion journalists will not be invited to accompany the ships.

Neither have naval attaches been given any information, and will as usual not be present, with the exception of the Japanese, who as England's allies, have in recent years been the guests of the officers in command on occasions of this kind. Lord Charles Beresford will be accompanied by no less than nine admirals and the big ships of his fleet will include 25 battleships, 14 armoured cruisers and ten protected cruisers, with a fleet of smaller vessels, including torpedo boat destroyers numbering sixty or more.

PERSONAL.

F. W. Guernsey, of the Trail smelter, is at the Hume.

C. F. McHardy and wife went over to Greenwood today.

J. A. Fraser, provincial constable of Ymir, is in town today.

His Honor Judge Forin is indisposed today and did not hold a chamber session.

Hon. Edward F. Wood, son of Viscount Halifax, is a guest at the Strathcona.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bird, who have been visiting in England, are expected home tonight.

John Moe, district passenger agent C. P. R., will return from the coast by tonight's train.

O. N. Boynton, manager of the Elk Lumber Co., Fernie, is in the city attending the lumbermen's meeting.

G. N. Gilchrist and wife, Fairview, left for the coast last evening. They will spend the week at the New Westminster Fair.

E. D. Orde, of Rossland, left town this morning after a visit of several days. He has recently been up the west coast in an effort to get into the Tel-Kwa country, but accidents to the two Skeena River steamers made entry impossible.

A. E. Blount, private secretary to Mr. Borden, contracted a cold during his travels in British Columbia, and was ill last night. He remained at the Strathcona and will be sufficiently recovered to join the party at the steamer tomorrow morning.

J. M. Robinson, of Summeriand, B. C., spent yesterday in Nelson. Mr. Robinson is an old newspaper man, and still retains a warm spot in his heart for the members of the fourth estate. He speaks enthusiastically of the future of the district in which Summerland is situated.

No Settlement.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Overy Yakowanko, a Russian 21 years old, was found this morning hanging to a ladder, suspended by his belt and two towels, in the small sitting room of the main waiting room of the Grand Trunk Railway station. Life was extinct when the body was cut down. A third class ticket, dated at Milwaukee, for passage to Liverpool via Montreal on the steamer Virginian, was found in the dead man's pocket as well as money and trinkets. Despondency is thought to have been the cause of suicide.

BEST POLITICAL MEETING HELD IN NELSON

Conservative Policy Expounded by Dominion and Provincial Leaders to Largest and Most Attentive Audience Ever Gathered in Kootenay.

R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservatives, has come and gone, and has left a message in Nelson which will be neither ignored nor forgotten. It is the message of the Conservative party that the only way back to national honor and to national efficiency and power is by purging public life of the dark stains of corrupt elections and wasteful and dishonest public expenditure.

The meeting, the best ever held in Nelson, was admirably suited to Mr. Borden. The proportion of ladies in the audience was exceptionally large. Many Liberals were there and listened attentively. The leader never makes an appeal to a mob's enthusiasm nor does he ever seek to create or stimulate excitement in his hearers. In the crisis of a campaign the most dispassionate presentation of burning questions may fire the calmest, but for a tour that is wholly educational in its purpose and method Mr. Borden could not have wished a better meeting than Nelson gave him.

Shortly after the Canadian went to press Saturday afternoon it was learned that the C. P. R. train, which had been held at Slocan for the party was beating its usual time and would reach this city shortly after 6 o'clock. Word was hastily sent round and a small impromptu reception committee was organized, which included Hon. R. F. Green, A. E. Watts, W. A. Macdonald, J. A. Kirkpatrick, D. C. McMorris and E. C. Wragge. At 6.15 the party arrived and were driven to the Strathcona.

As early as 7:30 people began arriving at the Opera House and before 8:30 every seat was filled and even standing room was at a premium. On the platform, which had been beautifully decorated with flowers by a committee of ladies, were a few members of the local Conservative executive including F. A. Starkey, J. A. Kirkpatrick, W. A. Macdonald and D. C. McMorris, a large delegation from Kaslo including R. F. Green, N. F. MacKay, M. L. A., J. Anderson, A. C. Jardine, C. H. Bonnor, A. Currie, a small proportion of Rossland's delegation, including W. J. Nelson, A. S. Goodeve and A. B. MacKenzie, J. W. Schofield, M. L. A., and Dr. Paterson, of Trail; and visitors from Slocan including W. Hunter, M. L. A., and W. H. Brandon, of Silverton, A. S. Brindle, of New Denver, and H. R. Jorand, of Slocan, and A. E. Watts, of Wattsburg, Martin Burrell, of Grand Forks, and F. G. Fauquier, of Needles.

At the press table besides representatives of the Nelson papers there were correspondents of the Toronto News, the Montreal Herald and the Kaslo Kootenaian.

Dr. Rose appeared on the platform a few minutes after half-past eight, followed by R. L. Borden, Hon. R. McBride, J. G. H. Bergeron and Dr. J. D. Reid. Their entrance was greeted with a burst of applause.

Premier McBride.

Hon. R. McBride was the first speaker. He referred to his last appearance on a Nelson platform, declared his conviction that the city is Tory, and regretted the failure of at least 50 Conservatives to reach home in time to record their votes. He was sure that they would be more mindful of their duties on future occasions.

Mr. McBride contrasted the present attitudes of the parties: the Liberals are suffering from dry rot and jealousies engendered of the scramble for offices; Conservatives are alert and enthusiastic for Mr. Borden and his policy. A Conservative wave is rolling over Canada comparable to the great movement of 1878. The presence on the platform of a French Canadian statesman, the first to address British Columbians since Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1896, he took as a happy augury of victory.

On the subject of Oriental Immigration the premier was very emphatic. He repeated his definite denial of the slanderous accusation that he had advised or endorsed the lieutenant-governor's reservation of his assent to the Natal Act. He continued: "If any one man is especially responsible for the present situation it is Mr. Templeman. He knows the wishes and the requirements of British Columbia and he has ignored them. The Dominion government has had eleven years to fulfil its promise to British Columbia and has failed. This province has continued recording its protest from the legislature but our representatives at Ottawa have done nothing.

Mr. McBride then gave a brief history of British Columbia's attempts to pass anti-Oriental legislation from the first bill introduced by Mr. Tatlow, signed by Sir Henri Joly, and disallowed by the Dominion government, down to the present time.

Referring to the recent impudent attempt of coast Liberals to hold him responsible, he said: "A short time ago Liberals were telling you that McBride never does anything. Now apparently when some one has to be held responsible they charge it on me. In 1896 every Liberal speaker in this province carried a copy of a telegram from Sir Wilfrid Laurier which read: 'Chinese question not an issue in the east, wishes of British Columbia Liberals will prevail.' Has that promise been kept? Has there been any effort to fulfil it? No, and there never will be by Liberals. Our only hope is in Mr. Borden.

"Another subject on which I must speak to you is Better Terms. Mr. Templeman says it is dead and buried. He wishes it were. But, believe me, it was never more alive." Mr. McBride then rapidly summarized his negotiations at Ottawa and at London and concluded "The result is that the door is still open, and Mr. Borden promises us a full inquiry and fair treatment. British Columbia has paid since 1871 more than $20,000,000 more into the Dominion treasury than she has received back in any form. She has also given the Dominion a strip of land in the southern interior 500 miles long and 40 miles wide, a large tract on Vancouver Island, and three and a half million acres in the Peace River valley. That should entitle us to at least fair treatment."

Mr. McBride closed with an appeal to Nelson to redeem its fair fame in the next campaign.

Mr. Borden.

Mr. Borden who was received with cheers, expressed his pleasure at the very cordial greeting and especially at the presence of so many ladies, whose approval he hoped always to keep. He took the opportunity to express publicly his sincere thanks to Mr. McBride for his presence and valued support, and he congratulated the province on having a progressive, capable and honest government, and upon having a strong man like Mr. McBride at its head, who had upheld the rights of the province under very trying circumstances both at the provincial conference in Ottawa, and in negotiations with the colonial office in London. He added: "I doubt whether British Columbia yet appreciates the debt it owes to Mr. McBride for the splendid fight he has made in its behalf. Mr. Templeman may seek to have you regard Better Terms as a dead issue, but his efforts will be unavailing. I do not hesitate to say that, having regard to all circumstances, and to all conceivable divergencies between Eastern and Western Canada, the east should be prepared to deal with the west not only justly but generously. Between east and west there is a tract, north of Lake Superior, unlikely to be settled in the early future. Divergencies of interest and of sentiment are likely to arise. It should be the aim of all Canadian statesmen to avoid them as far as possible. British Columbia has certainly a good case for enquiry. The next Conservative government will grant it, and it will be an independent inquiry.

"I expressed similar opinions and announced similar intentions four years ago. You did not do me or the party the honor of electing any supporters Still that does not absolve me. That promise stands. I might remark that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has evidently very little respect for the members you did elect. When he wanted a cabinet minister from this province he passed them all over and chose a gentleman from the senate.

"Nor have I anything to withdraw on the question of transportation, particularly as to the Grand Trunk Pacific bill of 1903, and the amendments of 1904 Our proposal of 1903 would have meant two new lines to the Pacific ports, the Canadian Northern as well as the Grand Trunk Pacific. Our proposal in connection with the latter road was that as the country was finding nine-tenths of the cash and credit we should find the other tenth also and retain all the benefits of the road. The government could then control its construction and management. As it is we have only such control as is provided by the general railway act. The result is that the promise of construction from the Pacific coast has been violated and you are helpless. But the people ratified that bargain and it must be kept for the sake of national honor and the preservation of the sanctity of public agreements. The amendments of 1904 were made to suit the company. It is now an excellent bargain for the company, and far less advantageous to the country than it might have been, but the loss is now irreparable.

"On the question of immigration I will not emulate Sir Wilfrid Laurier. I, if returned to pawer, will be guided by the wishes not of the Conservatives of British Columbia only but by the whole people of British Columbia.

"But Sir Wilfrid Laurier let matters drift. Finally he accepted the recommendations of a commission and raised the tax on Chinese. In the session of 1906 a treaty with Japan made Canada a party to the Anglo-Japanese treaty of 1894. The Conservative Government had not ratified it between 1894 and 1896 and as far as Canada was concerned it had no effect.

"We all deplore the violence with which subjects of a great friendly power were treated in Vancouver.

"We were told by Mr. Fisher after his visit to Japan in 1903 that there was nothing to fear from the immigration as only merchants, travellers and students would come. Even now, I say that either the government is in a position to abrogate that treaty or parliament has been grossly deceived.

"The Conservative party is prepared to deal with the question according to the views of the people of British Columbia, constitutionally expressed. Above all considerations of material growth and prosperity we must keep British Columbia for our own great pioneer race.

"Now, to refer briefly to the policy which I have enunciated—I have been accused of stealing from the Liberals. If I have done so I have only followed them. They have borrowed the whole of our tariff policy. In spite of all their denunciations they have not dared to lay unholy hands on one principle of the National Policy.

"Another of Sir John Macdonald's cherished ideas was the nationalization of public utilities. In many countries the railways are owned by the state now. We already own 1700 miles of road. What I want is management of that and other roads by an independent commission.

"Let us give credit to the Laurier government for one forward move, the creation of a Railway Commission. I think the credit is due to the late A. G. Blair. We did not oppose it, we helped to make it as effective as possible. It should now, I submit, become a Public Utilities Commission with two branches, one to deal with questions of policy, the other with administration and it should have executive power. In Great Britain the telegraphs and telephones are owned and operated by the government and it is an example we might profitably follow.

"I also advocate Civil Service Reform, that in future appointments should be made by competitive examination. The right of appointment is a public trust, which has been scandalously abused by the present government for 11 years in respect of all offices high and low. Men who have been convicted of crimes have been appointed to office and have been paid their salaries for the time they were in prison. The civil service to be efficient must be independent of partizan domination.

"There are three essentials of democratic government: honest appropriation and expenditure of public money, decent appointments to public office, and decent elections untainted by the work of the briber and the ballot thief. The Laurier regime has been painfully lacking in all three."

Mr. Borden then told of his efforts in parliament to investigate the election crimes committed in West Huron, Brockville and London, of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's promised aid, of the open obstruction by Liberal members and of the final condoning of crimes and rewarding the criminals. "Since then," he said, "there has been a carnival of corruption, it has been exposed in proceedings of court, but the criminals know that they are safe behind the protection of the government."

Mr. Borden closed with an eloquent plea to the electors of Kootenay to record their protest against the abuse of power by the Laurier government by redeeming Kootenay for Conservatism.

He was loudly cheered at the conclusion of the speech.

Mr. Bergeron.

J. G. H. Bergeron, member for Beauharnois since 1878, was given a hearty reception which he pleasantly acknowledged. He then referred to his leader who entered parliament in 1896 a young looking man. He dwelt on the fidelity of Mr. Borden's attention to parliamentary duties, to the ungrudging self sacrifice in the performance of his duties as leader of the opposition, the close and persistent but ever fair and helpful criticism of government measures and the never failing thought for the future. But now, he thought, the horizon is brightening, the welcome accorded Mr. Borden from ocean to ocean was a certain augury of victory.

Mr. Bergeron then referred to the Liberal policy of 1896, reduction of debt, reduction of expenditure, senate reform, free trade and other sweeping changes. "On that platform we were prepared to fight, but they played us a trick. They did none of those things. They stole our National Policy and have kept it ever since, and if we left any abuses they have kept them too.

"They promised to reduce the debt, they have increased it by $8,000,000. They appointed a tariff commission of three of their best men, who travelled all over the country at a cost of $50,000, and recommended the National Policy. The Conservative expenditure of $38,000,000 was denounced by Laurier, Patterson, Charlton and Cartwright as outrageous; their expenditure last year was $136,000,000. The Conservatives used to grant $3,200 a mile to railways, the Liberals grant $6,400."

Mr. Bergeron's rapid contrast of Liberal promise and performance was graphic and kept his hearers amused as he continued: "Sir William Mulock used to move that no man should be appointed [illegible] he had been out of politics [illegible] years; Sir William walked from parliament to the bench to a higher salary. Sixty other members have gone straight from parliament to public office.

"Sir Richard Cartwright used to rail against the senate; he is a senator now. They have not reformed the senate they have deformed it by the appointment of every man who tried to get into the commons and failed."

Mr. Bergeron then gave many details from court records of the protection of ballot thieves by cabinet ministers, of Conservatives deprived of the franchise, of ballot boxes with double bottoms, of votes recorded where there were no voters. He then passed to the administration, especially of the public works department. He said:

"Mr. McBride worries about money for roads, bridges and wharves. He is foolish to do that. We don't do that in Quebec. Sir Wilfrid builds us everything we want." The details of wharves and bridges being interchangeable, and of both being built where there was no water were amusing, and will certainly be remembered.

"The Liberals are seldom bashful," said Mr. Bergeron, "but in one respect they are. They never buy anything from the man who owns it. They prefer paying two or three times its value through a mutual friend." This was amplified by references to Halifax and Moncton properties.

The story of the steamer Arctic and the cruise for the north pole was the best entertainment of the evening and it was in good hands. The house rang again and again with laughter by no means confined to Tories as Mr. Bergeron told of the fast steamer which crossed the Atlantic in 35 days,—of the $215,000 for provisions for 32 men, the absurd purpose, the holiday in Hudson's Bay, the entertainment of, and the extravagant gifts to, the Eskimo ladies, the naming of Mt. Laurier and Prefontaine Bay.

The North Atlantic Trading company scandal, the impudent refusal of Preston to account for public money, the support of him by Sir Wilfrid Laurier were all effectively dealt with. Mr. Bergeron then critized the immigration policy of the government which benefitted only two out of nine provinces. He took up a recent Liberal pamphlet and demonstrated that its claims were all untrue except that Canada's trade had grown and that there were surpluses and general prosperity.

He closed with praise of Mr. Borden, "a man of his word," of Mr. McBride, "the champion of his province," an acknowledgement of the debt of the party to the ladies and a graceful appeal for their further approval and good will.

The National Anthem and cheers for Borden, Bergeron and McBride, concluded the best political meeting ever held in Nelson.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Borden rested but Mr. Bergeron and Dr. Reid were taken out by a party in launches and had a very enjoyable cruise and equally enjoyable visit to Duntulm, the orchard farm and summer residence of J. J. Campbell.

Mr. McBride left for Victoria via Spokane Saturday night. Mr. Green left by the C. P. R. last night. Mr. Borden and his party left this morning for the Boundary, where they will speak tonight, returning by special train to catch tomorrow morning's steamer. All are delighted with Nelson and its people, with the climate and the scenery, and with their quarters and the courtesy shown them in the Strathcona hotel.

SPANISH EMIGRATION.

Government Circles Alarmed at Exodus of Laborers.

Madrid, Sept. 30.—The Spanish government, alarmed at the increasing emigration of Spanish laborers, has entered upon a vigorous campaign to put a stop to the exodus and of directing special efforts to prevent laborers going to Panama to work on the Isthmian canal. The government claims to possess proof that laborers are grossly deceived by the recruiting agent of the canal and upon their arrival at Panama they are compelled to line up and work under the most atrocious conditions. The complaints, however, are plainly traceable to Spanish landlords who find their workmen deserting under the prospect of better wages. Also within the past two years thousands of Spanish laborers have gone to the Isthmus.

A Good Grit.

A bon mot worth recording was heard Saturday evening, a staid citizen who has never attempted to win a name as a humorist being the author. Having asked a friend to join him in an ancient custom, he remarked: "I was looking for a good Grit." "Did you ever see a good Grit?" asked his friend. "I did once." "Surely he's dead now?" "He was dead then."

KEEPING FRENCH BUSY

Casablanca Practically Shut In by Land—Customs Receipts Are Reported Increasing.

Casablanca, Sept. 30.—General Drude, commanding the French forces here, continues to send out reconnoitering parties to put an end to any opposition against the French that may arise. There are no signs now of Arabs within sixty-four kilometres southward. Mulaia Hafig's column, commanded by Bourri Aliel Marish, has reached Settata where the pretender exercises a certain controlling influence over the Chaouaias tribesmen, and as sultan Abdul Azis' presence at Rabat assures tranquility on that side, no more fighting is liable to occur for some time. Mulai Hafig's son was first appointed to command his father's column, but was superseded on account of his fanaticism.

Paris, Sept. 30.—In the course of an interview today M. Guiot, the French delegate of the bondholders of the Moroccan public debt, said that the financial situation in Morocco was not altogether hopeless. The customs receipts at all the ports, with the exception of Casablanca, had considerably exceeded those of last year and were likely still further to improve. At the same time this was the only hope as the new loan, which was imperative, could not be floated and guaranteed under existing conditions. The sultan, M. Mueot declared, had been forced to pawn his jewels to obtain money for pressing needs.

EXCITEMENT IN TOKIO

Newspaper Despatch from London Says Japanese-American Relations Are Strained.

Tokio, Sept. 30.—Secretary Taft in the course of his speech at the municipal dinner to be given in his honor tonight, is expected to deny emphatically the reports that the relations between the United States and Japanese were at any time strained. This has developed as a result of the publication in the Asahi of a special despatch from London asserting, on high authority, that the Washington statesmen are "tired of the attitude of Japanese officialdom, hence the dispatch of the American battleship fleet to the Pacific and the changed tone of the Japanese since the orders were issued."

In view of the extremely friendly attitude of the Japanese towards Mr. Taft the publication of the dispatch cause uneasiness and surprise here. The Japanese newspapers sent representatives to Mr. Taft who immediately said he would give a reply in his speech tonight. The programme mapped out for Ssecretary Taft has again been changed. He and his party will leave Tokio for Kobe Wednesday.

Esquimalt Restored.

Victoria, Sept. 30.—A special cable from London, England, says that Great Britain will send a fleet of five warships to Esquimalt early next spring, following the coming of the United States squadron to the Pacific. Whether they will remain for a year or permanently was not learned.

Japanese Pirates.

Seattle, Sept. 30.—A report was made to United States consul Smith of Vancouver Saturday by Captain Munro of the schooner Casec, of the pirating of the Alaskan village on Litak Bay, on southwestern Kodiak Island by the crew of a Japanese sailing schooner operating in Behring Sea this season. The Casec called at Litak Bay for water an the Russian priests asked Capt. Munro to inform the United States authorities of the outrage. The Japanese landed from the schooner and broke open the houses and looted right and left. All manner of things were dragged from the houses. Another report is that Japanese sailors landede on Shelikoff Island and killed cattle running on ranges there.

LEADER AND POLICY.

The electors of Kootenay, at least of that part which is nearest to Nelson, have now had an opportunity of hearing the policy of the Conservative party expounded by its leader, and have also met the man to whom Canada must look for an administrator when loss of confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues finds public expression at the polls.

It will hardly be denied by anyone that Mr. Borden has made a profound and entirely favorable impression. Liberals who are unalterably committed to a name may find consolation in remarking that he has no magnetism, that he doesn't bring his hearers to their feet in wild enthusiasm, and will doubtless rely later on the appeals that will be made to party loyalty, and to the general prosperity of the country.

It is not incumbent on Conservatives to claim for their leader the palm for rhetoric. As a platform entertainer Mr. Borden has many superiors, but the perfectly sustained attention given by the audience Saturday evening to his every word proved to every thoughtful member of that audience how direct was his appeal, how clear and convincing was his exposition.

Mr. Borden laid down three essentials for democratic efficiency, which are given in full elsewhere in this issue. They might —condensed as they are—be further condensed into one word—decency Happily, in Canada, the electors may safely usually on suffidient ability in both parties in parliament to guarantee a fair degree of efficiency. None of his predecessors has encountered anything like the same difficulty as Sir Wilfrid Laurier in finding men in his party fit for cabinet positions.

How are the desired decency and honesty in our administrators to be attained and maintained? Only by a quick and sensitive public interest, intelligent enough to make efforts at deception dangerous, and pure enough never to be led astray by prejudice, passion or self-interest. Intelligence and honesty are the only doctors that can cure the evils of democracy.

It is to public intelligence and public honesty that Mr. Borden makes his appeal. There is in all his platform and in all his exposition of it no unnecessary charge against his opponents and no excessive criticism of the wrongs that are patent and about which silence is impossible.

It is entirely in Mr. Borden's favor that he has frankly adopted several of the pledges given but never redeemed by the Liberal party. It contrasts most favorably with the Liberal attitude on the tariff and the fast Atlantic service in respect of which they have assimilated Conservative proposals not only without acknowledgement but without retracting the former denunciations.

The strength of the Liberal party in its victorious campaign of 1896 was its promise of reform and purity. There were abuses in the last years of Conservative administration. They were exposed then not by Liberals but by other Conservatives. It would be idle to deny them now. The Liberal party came forward with promises of purer elections and honester administration. They were untried. It was not unnatural that the country should listen and consent.

Can any one pretend that that promise has been kept? Can any one point to one sincere attempt at reforming abuses or one indication that power af administration and appointment was regarded as a public trust? Are elections purer than they were? Is public administration more free from fraud? Comparison suggests the language of the younger advisers of King Rheoboam. If Conservatives chastised us with whips, Liberals have chastised us with scorpions. Nothing in former election records compares with the London disgrace, nothing in administrative records compares with the North Atlantic Trading company and the cruise of the Arctic.

For many years Conservative taunts as to Liberal delay in abolishing protective tariffs were answered with a protest that it could not be done suddenly. Even that answer is now abandoned. Surely it is no unpardonable impatience in asking why a promise of correction of grave abuses is not only unfulfilled after 11 years of unlimited opportunity but that every former evil has been multiplied tenfold.

Hear Mr. Borden whose sincerity no man questions—even the Liberals who seek to "damn him with faint praise" admit his entire honesty of purpose and cleanness of method. His offer to the country is definite. He will prevent corrupt elections as far as possible, and prosecute and punish offenders. He will place the appointment of public servants beyond the control of caucuses and patronage committees by entrusting it to an independent commission, to be guided as far as possible by the results of competitive examinations honestly conducted.

No fault can be found with that offer, nor can any one advance a single reason for pretending to doubt Mr. Borden's determination to fulfil his promises. It is patent to all that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has deliberately neglected to fulfill his undertakings.

On the questions that are of greatest interest to the people of this province at the present time Mr. Borden is equally clear, equally definite and equally sincere. There is not the first suggestion of the demagogue in his treatment of any of our three burning questions. On all he is temperate, sane and honest.

He believes that our treaty with Japan can and should be abrogated unless we can secure from the government of the Mikado satisfactory assurance that the emigration from his shores to ours will not be of such a kind or quantity as to menace the supremacy of the Anglo-Saxon race in British Columbia.

On the question of our financial relations with the Dominion he concedes that our permanent physical difficulties may be such that exceptional treatment is permanently necessary. There are statesmanship and patriotism of the highest order in his statement that the populous eastern provinces should deal not only justly but generously with the as yet sparsely settled west where the pioneer work is yet to be done.

On the transportation problem he promises nothing and can promise nothing. He can only sorrowfully remind British Columbians that by electing a solid Liberal delegation in 1904 they voted to ratify and approve an improvident bargain which permits the Grand Trunk company to build when and as they please, but that under any circumstances that contract must be fulfilled. National honor and the sanctity of public contracts are higher considerations than material loss or gain.

Undoubtedly there are Liberals unconvinced because they are not open to conviction, but there was no open-minded man who heard the Conservative leader Saturday night who did not leave the meeting with absolute respect for the man and a longing to see the reforms he advocates carried into effect. We are optimistic enough to trust that there are enough open minded men in Canada to give him the power to abolish the evils from which the country suffers in fortune and in fame.

Notice is hereby given, for the information of intending settlers and others, that selection has been made of the 3,500,000 acres of land situated in the Peace River Valley, Province of British Columbia, granted to the Dominion Government under the provisions of Section 7 of "An Act relating to the land Railway, the Graving Dock and Railway Lands of the Province," and such land is not open to entry under the land laws of the province

The block selected is described as follows:—Commencing at a point 33½ miles south of the Peace River on the 120th Meridian, being the eastern boundary of the province, thence west 75 miles and 38 64 chains, thence north 72 miles and 35 03 chains, thence east 75 miles and 38 64 chains, thence south to the point of commencement, along the 120th Meridian and containing approximately 3,500,000 acres.

Notice is also given that, with a view to facilitating settlement in the valleys of the Peace, Parsnip and Pack Rivers, the following belt of land 40 miles in width and extending 20 miles on each side of the Peace, Parsnip and Pack Rivers has been reserved for actual settlers to be acquired by pre-emption only under the Land Act, such land not being open for sale, lease, license or other alienation under the said Act except by pre emption:—

Commencing at the intersection of the western boundary of the block of land selected by the Dominion Government with the Peace river, thence following the Peace River and Parsnip River to their confluence with the Pack River and thence following the Pack river to the point where said Pack River leaves McLeod Lake, and extending for a distance of 20 miles on each side of said Rivers and approximately 170 miles in length.

All lands outside the boundaries of the Dominion Government Grant and the reserve above described are open for location under the laws of the Province.

Acting Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works.

CODDESPONDENCE.

Editor Daily Canadian:—

Can you shed a little light on a situation that is probably perplexing the average Canadian at the present time, namely, the erratic navigating of our little bark, the Canadian Commonwealth in its present indefinite and uncertain manner amongst the shoals of numerous adversities that threaten impending hardships in a land whose prosperity and promise is even now with loud acclaim thrilling our auditors in other lands? Can you find an honest man who can and will reveal a solution of the problem of money scarcity in a country but recently boasting of its acquisition of a high class American immigrant who was bringing abundance of wealth with him to help develop our country? Can you explain why it is necessary to beat about the bush in a vain endeavor at excluding the yellow and the black man from usurping the white man's rights in our land, when white men, induced by the alluring enticements of a parson, a victim of cupidity, to come to our land and pick jobs off the trees, are told that there are not enough jobs to go around? Can you tell me whether anyone outside of the English parson and the Japanese agents are getting a rake off from this tide of immigration? Can you tell why there should not be room in this vast country for more white working men even though they should not have sufficient capital to buy farms; why is there not sufficient industrial progress to create a demand for labor? What's the use of driving another great railroad across the country if the national progress has been arrested? Can you tell if those who are piloting our craft are aware of the ominous murmer of the breakers near by, or are they still soaring aloft in an exalted state of mind, borne upward on pleasant wings of content for having achieved the marvelous feat of awakening from a long lethargy and acquainting the world with Canadian resources? Are they still wafting about in high altitudes on the fleecy clouds of self-esteem, totally unconscious of the serious nature of the impending crisis on the earth below, due to the lack of equilibrium in our development, that will arrest the flow of white immigration to Canada and again check our progress? But my mind is full of enquiry and I must make haste to lay it bare before you.

Why are we still purchasing merchandise from other countries that can be manufactured in our own? Why do we pay duty on that merchandise and incidentally pay it again to the Canadian manufacturer who adds it to his price to equal the price of the imported article plus its duty? Why have we a revenue tariff only on imported goods instead of a protective tariff that would protect Canadian labor instead of foreign labor, by impelling those foreign manufacturers who compete in our markets to manufacture in our market and thus increase competition, and our labor market and its consequent consumption? Are patriotism and love of the principles of progress the incentives of our political pilots, or is private interest and the love of the almighty dollar, and the rest of the country be hanged, their motto?

We have kept close to the heels of our ancestors in our political opinions, and conformed to the party views of our fathers. But now, a generation heretofore unreckoned, is emerging into the arena of affairs, who possess a common interest for the good of all, and whose motto is "Party be hanged, but Canada for unfaltering progress." As one of this throng I, whose antecedants have been Liberals, make all this enquiry, having somewhat of an apprehension that the eagle of greed, that bird of prey which soars so high above the common throng, has swooped down so close, its spreading pinion from there proximity, obscuring the light and plunging many into a shadow where the impending disaster of its talons piercing the flesh is unobserved. For it seems to me that the greed of politicians is in a large measure responsible for present conditions in Canada, and there is nothing more contagious than greed. My reason for assuming that this is the case are drawn from reflection upon the current topic, the tightness of money. Where has the money gone from the enormous transfers of Canadian land in past few years? Why has not this money received from these wealthy immigrants been placed on deposit in Canadian banks? Where have the enormous profits gone? Can you tell us whether it is being used in developing industrial enterprises in the country to meet the influx of population, and thus, by the natural law of reaction, which is the main principle of sustaining life, tend further to the growth of our country? Or has it been divided between American land agencies to be invested in the United States, and Canadian politicians to be invested in Cuban schemes? It seems to me that Uncle Sam has the laugh on us. We crowed that we were enticing a lot of American dollars into Canada, but it seems as though half the money has only changed hands in the United States, and the other half gone to develop Cuba, a protege of Uncle Sam; and American farmers have acquired a lot of Canadian land for which Canadians ultimately get nothing but a tighter money market than has been for years, more agricultural competition and less expansion of the industrial market where the farmers' products would be consumed.

My conclusion is this: The producers of farm products have been increased, but no adequate stepts for increasing the home markets for those products have been taken, which steps would also lessen, in a measure, living expenses, by encouraging competition in manufacturing. Moreover we have not sufficiently increased the capital of the country in increasing its population, but have simply obtained a greater number of people to divide the limited capital that already existed amongst them.

My conclusions may be wrong, but if so I desire light; if correct, light is also solicited on what remedy may be accessible to electors.

In conclusion, I ask one more question: Are our political pilots patriots or pirates?

Yours truly,
ENQUIRER.

Thanksgiving Fast.

If the announcement for the date of Thanksgiving Day is correct, the choice is a peculiar one. Oct. 31st is the eve of All Saints' Day, and therefore of course, in the Anglican and Roman communions, a day for fasting not feasting.

Lumbermen Meeting.

A number of lumbermen of the district are in the city today including A. E. Watts, of Wattsburg, T. Ludgate and O. Lachmund, of Arrowhead, A. Leitch, of Cranbrook, and A. M. McDougall of Fernie. The meeting is for informal discussion of the outlook, which is not bright.

Party Delayed.

A broken wheel on a freight car near Slocan Junction this morning delayed the Slocan and Boundary trains for several hours. No damage was done. Mr. Borden's party got away in plenty of time to reach Grand Forks. The party will return by special train tomorrow at 5.30 a. m. and transfer at once to the Crow boat.

Salvation Army Funds.

Farewell Dance.

Henry Avery and son will leave for New York tomorrow morning. It is understood that the son will take up a college course in one of the state educational institutions. His friends will entertain him at a social dance in the K. of P. hall this evening. All members of the 20 to 1 club, and anyone holding invitations to that club, are cordially invited to be present.

Press Correspondents.

C. F. Hamilton, of the Toronto News, and B. K. Sandwell, of the Montreal Herald, are accompanying Mr. Borden and his party on their tour. Mr. Hamilton was war correspondent of the Globe in South Africa, his letters being the fullest and best direct accounts of that campaign that reached Canada. He is now in the front rank of Canadian journalists and a frequent and welcome contributor on Canadian subjects to old country publications.
