DANGEROUSLY NEAR.

The fire in the bog is becoming a serious thing for the farmers of East Delta. During this week it has broken in on Thos. Wilson, Robt. McKee and John Honey-mas's properties, and is very threatening on others. All of this has been kept under by the prompt attention of the farmers.

The municipal fire brigade, under Chief Ormiston, has been kept busy endeavoring to protect the Kiltson and Trunk roads and property in general.

It is feared that should the wind rise, all East Delta will be cleaned out which would be a very grievous loss both to individuals concerned and to the district at large.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd went over to Vancouver, Tuesday, on their honeymoon trip.

HIGHLAND AHOY.

As a result of our articles on the employment of our brothers from the highland, quite a few came down this season and have given the greatest satisfaction as will be seen below.

Among those who came here from the highland were: E. Elliott, W. Stafford, E. Thompson, G. Allen, C. Cornborough, J. W. Elliott, A. Smith, H. Holland and I. Gardiner, all of Aldergrove.

These men were employed by the Pybuses, father and sons, and Wm. Pybus has a standing bet that any half dozen of these men will beat any other half dozen in the hay field. All have signed articles for next year and expressed themselves as well pleased with the treatment received.

After finishing on Saturday they paid a visit to P. McRae at the Point, with E. Elliott handling the ribbons in his well known style. Some have returned home while others are busily engaged with other farmers on the flats.

Mrs. T. W. Foster is slightly indisposed.

Canon Hilton and family are camped at the Bay.

A. Mitchell, of Toronto, is visiting his brother, N. Mitchell.

Mr. Munro and sister, of Vancouver, are guests at the Manse.

I. Whitworth has been laid up for a few days but is able to be around again.

There will be Band practice on Monday evening and an open-air concert on Friday evening.

Stanley Page, who is visiting at Broad View Farm, is laid up with a severe attack of rheumatism.

Mrs. Flett, of Vancouver, visited Mrs. Woodley and Mrs. McLean yesterday, returning in the evening.

Holy Communion to-morrow in All Saints at the mid-day service, it being the first Sunday in the month.

Miss Agatha Nash, who has been visiting Canon and Mrs. Hilton for three weeks, left for Victoria last Wednesday.

Mrs. Flett, sister of Mrs. Hilton, and daughter, returned to Vancouver last week, after a week's visit to the Vicarage.

Miss Mabel Arthur, who has been visiting friends for the last two weeks, returned to Vancouver, Saturday, accompanied by Miss Florence Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Matchett and two sons, of Spokane, accompanied by J. Forrester, of Vancouver, paid a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Frederick, Broad View Farm.

Another big fire has started in the timber on the Scott road making it very nearly impassible. A large fire is also raging in the neighborhood of Blaine.

We have taken the cobwebs off our windows and still we cannot see the reason why some people go to the city with their work that they pay for and ask the home man to do the "oh thank you very much" kind of work. We always give satisfaction to those who ask for good work.

GOOD WATER.

There was quite a fair average attendance at the meeting held in the Town Hall on Saturday evening last when the matter of Good Water was introduced. Dr. J. E. Wilson was voted to the chair and L. M. Richardson acted as secretary.

Messrs. Spand and Atkinson, of Vancouver, addressed the meeting and set forth the plans of the company, which are: That the Corporation guarantee the sum of $11,400 per annum, for which the company agrees to supply twelve hydrants and 300,000 gallons of water per month.

H. N. Rich thought the matter should be laid before the people in proper form so that they may see just where they stand in the matter. The corporation should be supported by the people in the matter of bringing in a supply of good water which should be thoroughly analyzed and an estimate obtained from a competent engineer as to what the cost would be.

P. T. Gibbie thought the farmer should pay $4.50 as a minimum while the village should be given a lower rate and pay for the hydrants.

Capt. Oliver thought the minimum rate of $3 per month was far too high for the average household.

Moved by Jas. McCallan, seconded by D. Woods: "That the Council submit a by-law to the people."

On a standing vote being taken the motion was carried unanimously.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

WATER NOTES.

Has Delta a record for water on the Coquiltan?

E. L. Kirkland holds a water record of 300 inches of water in Delta district.

Why not investigate our own resources first?

Cheese Wishes.

Cheese is one of the most concentrated forms of nitrogenous food and as a food well adapted to the laboring man or those working in the open air. When properly cooked, cheese is probably more easily assimilated by the ordinary stomach than eaten raw, and hard, uncooked cheese should be served grated. In combination with certain food materials cheese is valuable, but when used in this way should form the staple dish of the meal. Macaroni and cheese, rice cooked in stock and then baked with cheese or cooked with it, as in the form of risotto, should be used in the place of meat. An ordinary dinner menu of meat, potato, macaroni and cheese is not properly arranged. Macaroni and cheese should be used for a luncheon dish, and a green vegetable should be served with meat and potato.

He was engaged to be married, and every one knows how the engaged men talk when he gets a friend corner.

"She is the loveliest and best girl that ever lived," he asserted.

"Sure?" inquired the friend.

"Sure! Of course I'm sure. You don't doubt it, do you?"

"Certainly not," replied the friend hastily, "only—"

"Oh, I suppose it's all right, but I'd like to introduce you to Debby."

"Who's Debby?"

"Oh, another friend of mine who told me yesterday that he was engaged to the loveliest and best girl that ever lived, and I'd like to have you two get together and settle the matter."

It wasn't all so simple. "Johnny," said his mother severely, "some one has taken a big piece of gingerbread out of the pantry."

"Johnny bit it off guiltily."

"Oh, Johnny," his mother exclaimed, "I didn't think you'd do that."

"It ain't all," replied Johnny, "pass it on to the table."

GOOD WATER.

The meeting held on Saturday evening last brought out a sufficient number of facts to show that everyone is satisfied good water is needed, but whether the municipality should go so far as to guarantee $11,400 per annum for that privilege is not so plain.

It was said that it would cost at least $300,000 to instal a water system here taking its supply from Gold Creek, this same system to supply both Richmond and Surrey which will mean that Delta's share of the expense would be $100,000.

The principal and interest on a loan of $100,000 is $7,000 per year for fifty years, the term of the franchise sought. Eleven thousand four hundred dollars per year for fifty years is $570,000. This is a pretty big outlay even for good water.

However, the Council has been asked to introduce a by-law so that we shall hear more anon.

The Schools re-open on the 27th inst.

Jas. Nelson started out, Thursday, with his thresher.

On Wednesday evening last, W. H. Smith had the misfortune to fall and injure his back pretty severely. While taking some packages from a high shelf he slipped and fell, his back striking the corner of a box. He was very fortunate it was no worse as he might easily have broken his back.

LINEN SHOWER.

A number of the young ladies of Ladner and Vancouver, friends of Miss Ethel Reid, gave her a surprise on Monday, the 23rd of July, the occasion being a linen shower, all of the gifts being very pretty and useful and much appreciated by Miss Reid.

Asahe Smith was a visitor to New Westminster this week. Mr. Smith is getting ready to ship a large portion of his prize taking potatoes. One order of five tons is billed for Australia.

According to The Commercial of Winnipeg, the visible supply of oats in the United States and Canada, east of the Rocky Mountains, is 5,376,000 bushels, compared with 5,330,000 bushels a year ago.

MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES

There is a lesson in the work of the tannery farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. O. Stockland, Pastor of the First M. E. HOLDING A CIGAR.

Points in a Man's Character the Act Is Said to Disclose.

Did you ever notice the different ways men hold cigars or cigarettes? Did you ever observe how you yourself hold one?

There are about a dozen different ways, and probably no two men hold their cigars exactly alike.

A judge of human nature may pick up interesting points as to character from watching smokers.

One man will hold his cigar firmly between thumb and forefinger. He is usually a resolute, decisive man, strenuous or merely pigheaded, as the case may be, but never lazy. His fingers are stumpy.

Another man holds the cigar loosely between his first and second fingers. He is apt to be graceful, lazy, irresponsible, a man of artistic temperament, but not a hustler. His fingers are long and tapering.

A third man will carry his cigar with the lighted end turned in toward the palm, the hand held scoop shape around it. He picked up that trick when smoking on the fly as a boy, fearing papa might break suddenly into the game. He is usually of a secretive nature and not marked by any special tendency to frankness.

A fourth will hold his cigar awkwardly, nervously gripping it and often starting at it inquisitively to see how it is burning. He is not a "natural smoker," nor is he apt to be what is known as a "good fellow." He is usually anxious to conciliate others and has not great force of character.

Watch the man behind the cigar and see if all these character drawings are not correct.

A CHEAP SQUARE MEAL.

Successful Scheme That Was Worked by Two Hungry Men.

"One of the cleverest tricks I ever saw was worked the other day in a quick lunch restaurant on Park row," said the Observer. "I noticed two men talking earnestly just below the place as I was going in to get my lunch. One of them followed me in and took a seat just below me at the table. A few seconds later the other entered and took a seat just opposite his friend, whom he did not appear to know. The first man ordered a very extensive dinner, commencing with soup and ending with Charlotte russe and coffee. He got the very best that the place could afford, and his check for $1.35 was placed in front of him. The other man took his time about ordering, taking corned beef and beans—10 cents' worth. His check was placed in the center of the table, between the two men.

"Number one ate hastily and finished first. He got up, put on his hat and then calmly picked up the ten cent check that belonged to his friend. Without turning a hair he went to the desk, paid to cents and walked out. A few minutes later number two, who had been reading the paper, prepared to leave and took up the remaining check. He appeared greatly surprised and called the waiter, asking for an explanation. There was nothing for the knight of the napkin to do but give the man a new ten cent check, as it was very evident that he had not eaten $1.35 worth of food. I suppose that the two met outside and at the next place visited number two got the "square" meal.

UNNECESSARY EXPENSE.

Acute attacks of colic and diarrhoea come on without warning and prompt relief must be obtained. There is no necessity of incurring the expense of a physician's service in such cases if Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is at hand. A dose of this remedy will relieve the patient before a doctor could arrive. It has never been known to fail, even in the most severe cases and no family should be without it. MEALS BY WHOLESALE.

Extensive Kitchen Arrangements at the Northern Hotel.

The kitchen arrangements of the modern hotel are on the first basement floor. There is a chef, but so far as I could see he does not cook. He is simply a captain of the seventy-five other cooks, who work in three relays of twenty-five each. There is no range, but a solid bank of broilers—immense griddles, beneath which are the fires that never die. As for the 400 loaves of bread and 8,000 rolls required daily, the chef does not worry his mind over the patent cutters and mixers and ovens and staff of bakers needed to supply the simple items of bread or concern himself with the quality of the 1,100 pounds of butter that are each day required to go with it.

I must not forget the item of eggs. Eighteen thousand are required every twenty-four hours. Boiled eggs do not get overdone. They are boiled by clockwork. A perforated dipper containing the eggs drops down into the water. The dipper's clockwork is set to the second, and when that final second has expired the little dipper jumps up out of the water, and the eggs are ready for delivery. There are men who do nothing else but fill and wash and empty these dancing dippers, and it seemed to me great fun.

On another part of this floor is the dishwashing, where great galvanized basins lower the plates into various solutions of polish and clean rinsing water, all so burning hot that the dishes dry instantly without wiping. Sixty-five thousand pieces of china-ware are cleaned in a day and an almost equal quantity of silver. All told, there are 300 employees in the kitchen departments of this huge living machine.—Albert Bigelow Paine in World's Work.

IN BORROWED PLUMAGE.

Well Dressed Women Who Wear Gowns Sent on Approval.

When the ways of some women are considered, it is less remarkable that such numbers of women dwell in the large dress stores as it is that they before their methods of securing rich costumes for all occasions have been scrutinized.

There are women, and many of them very wealthy, who make a regular practice of having elegant gowns sent to their homes on approval, wearing them once and then returning them to stores or costumers. Some women will wear a dress or a cloak to the opera and send it back next morning, or they will get a hat or wrap and go driving or visiting in it. The average person would be astonished to know all the things, from handsome umbrellas and fans of great beauty to jewelry and clothes, that some women borrow from the shops.

Of course all of these women are not well off, but they all dress well and go out a great deal, and although the shopkeepers often discover the manner in which they are being deceived, they do not always like to make a fuss for fear of losing a good customer. Besides they know that if they incur the penalty of such impostors the women are quite capable of abusing their goods and robbing them of other and more honest customers. Strange as it may seem, these women generally mingle in pretty good society, or the fringes of it, and have some influence in the matter of dress, since they have won the reputation of always dressing elegantly and in the newest things.

This sort of imposture had been carried on so often by a customer of a certain large firm that its members determined to put a stop to her fraudulent about in borrowed plumage, at least when the plumage belonged to them. One Saturday this woman had a splendid wrap sent home on approval, and on Sunday one of the head clerks of the firm who knew Mrs. Blank as the offender stationed himself near her pew in the fashionable church which she attended. When she walked down the aisle after service, resplendent in the borrowed cloak, this man stepped up to her and said:

"How do you do, Mrs. Blank? I am delighted to see that you like our cloak well enough to keep it."

Of course after that she could not return the cloak.

Still, with all the efforts put forward by shops and costumers to break up the pernicious habit of forcible borrowing on the part of sundry feminine offenders, the practice goes merrily on, and many a fair dame with an enviable reputation for exquisite dressing appears but once in garments and hats that when next seen are bedecking another woman or hanging in the show-room of some smart shop.

Six Varieties of Asbestos.

There is probably no product of inorganic nature about which there is so much popular mystery and misconception as asbestos. It is vaguely understood that the principal claim of this remarkable product is that it cannot be consumed by fire. That is true, however, no less than six varieties of asbestos, each of which possesses qualities peculiar to itself. They may be classified as follows: Amianthus, in which the fibers are so exceedingly long, flexible and elastic that they may be woven into cloth; common asbestos, with the fibers much less flexible—it is heavier than the first variety; a dull green in color, sometimes nearly as lustre and oily to the touch; mountain cork, light enough to float on water; mountain leather, also very light, but thinner and more flexible than the last; mountain paper or blue asbestos; mountain wood, which in external appearance resembles dry wood. As a matter of fact, nearly all varieties have more or less the appearance of fossilized wood. Asbestos has been found in nearly all parts of the globe.—New York Ledger.

MATRIMONIAL DON'TS.

Don't marry the woman who would rather nurse a pug dog than a baby.

Don't marry the woman who would rather die than wear a bonnet two seasons old.

Don't marry the woman who wants things just because "other women" have them.

Don't marry the woman who buys lingerie for the best room and borrows kitchen utensils from her neighbors.

Issues on One Point.

Erskine mentions a case where a person who had been convicted in an earlier prosecution of his brother and the proprietor for imprisonment and false process. The prosecutor, himself a witness in support of the indictment, was put into the witness box and examined. When Erskine came to cross examine him, he tried to discover some lurking alteration of mind, but during a proper examination, conducted with all the skill and sagacity of which he was master, for nearly an hour he was completely foiled.

But a gentleman who had come accidentally into court whispered to Erskine's ear that the witness thought he was the Saviour of mankind.

On receiving the hint Erskine made a low bow to the prosecutor, addressed him in terms of great reverence, respectfully begged to apologize for the unceremonious manner in which he had treated a person of his sacred character and called him by the name of Christ. The man immediately said: "Thou hast spoken truly. I am the Christ."

The Original Carnation.

The original carnation was a five-petaled bloom native in the south of Italy. It was imported into England about the time of the Norman conquest. As early as 1019 horticultural works gave minute directions for the cultivation of the flowers in winter. The carnation industry has risen to considerable importance during the last ten years, according to Town and Country. As 2,500,000 of young carnation plants are sold each year and florists produce an equal amount grown by themselves which are not sold, the entire production of young carnation plants approximates 5,000,000 and upward a year. These plants are grown under glass during the winter time for cut flower purposes, producing an average of more than 100,000,000 blooms. What becomes of this enormous number of flowers is somewhat of a mystery. They are put to innumerable uses.

A Powerful River.

"Should one be asked at random to name the most powerful river in New England—that is, the river yielding the most water power and doing the most work—he would be likely to name the Merrimac," said M. S. Edgar of Portland, Me. "He would have in mind the great manufacturing city of Lowell, and the answer would be a natural one. It is surprising, therefore, to be told by the United States geological survey that the most powerful river in New England is the Androscoggin. Yet the surprise abates when the facts are recounted. There are nine or ten developed water powers along the river, and it appears that they furnish total power equal to 73,000 horses. The falls at Brunswick yield 7,700 horsepower; at Lisbon Falls, 1,225; at Lewiston, 12,000; at Livermore Falls, 3,000; at Otis Falls, 8,000; at Jay's, 3,700; at Peterson's Falls, 6,000. At Rumford Falls there is a potential of 30,000 horsepower when the resources at that place are fully developed, and that is altogether the greatest water power in New England."

Two Problems.

"Dorothy always begins a novel in the middle."

"What's that for?"

"Why, then she has two problems to be excited over, how the story will end and how it began."

Courage in Elephants.

An elephant with a good mahout gives perhaps the best instance of disciplined courage—courage, that is, which persists in the face of knowledge and disinclination to be seen in the animal world. They will submit day after day to have painful wounds dressed in obedience to their keeper and meet danger in obedience to orders, though their intelligence is sufficient to understand the peril and far too great for man to trick them into a belief that it is nonexistent. No animal will face danger more readily at man's bidding.—London Spectator.
