CUDAHY AFTER CANNERIES

Portland, No.. 28.—It is believed that another combination to secure control of the salmon output of the American Pacific coast is being formed.

It is said that representatives of John Cudahy, the packer, have secured the properties of the North American Fisheries Company. These men are said to have been bidders at the sale of the Pacific American Fisheries at Bellingham on Novembe r 10, but were outbid by W. F. Peters, representing T. M. McGovern, president of the defunct Pacific Packing and Navigation Company.

The sale of the Pacific Packing and Navigation Company will occur December 10, and it is said that Cudahy money will prove a factor in the sale. Should he be successful in securing the property, according to an arrangement which is said to exist, the successful bidders at the Pacific American Fisheries sale will assign their interest to Cudahy's representatives, thus giving him control of the largest fishing concerns on the American Pacific coast.

James Mason, employed at MacKenzie's drug store, has just received a communication from the secretary of the Pharmaceutical Association informing him that he has successfully passed the Latin and preliminary examination of a drug clerk. The Latin course he took under the efficient tuition of the principal of our school, J. T. Pollock.

THE COW.

Autumn is a more critical period for a cow fresh in milk than winter. Cold rains and raw winds are fruitful causes of decreasing milk. The first makes inactive the muscular system, while the latter so disturbs the nervous system that it fails to perform its work. Cows should, therefore, not be exposed to fall rains, left out during cold nights, or confined in muddy or wet yards at any time.

Sale of Work

The sale of work and entertainment undertaken by the Ladies' Guild, of All Saints, was not so well attended as was hoped, on account of the inclement weather which prevailed all day and away on into the evening.

The ladies are deserving of great praise for the manner in which everything was arranged, and for the amount of the product of skilled labor displayed, which stood for a good many hours of self-sacrifice. The work tables contained numerous and useful articles suitable for Xmas presents, all the product of the scissors and needle in the hands of skilful manipulators.

The stalls were operated by the following ladies: Candy, Misses M. Green and L. Scott; work, Mesdames H. N. Rich, M. Smith, W L. McBride, and Miss Mason; and last, but not least by any means, comes the fishpond, which was very successfully operated by Mrs. Hayes. The refreshments were attended to by Mesdames H. Macklin, W. Livingstone, F. W. Harris, and Miss Ethel Green with Mrs. Green as general supervisor.

The programme was an extensive and varied one and comprised the following numbers: Chorus, "High Society," by Mesdames Lanning and Macklin, Misses Green, Canon Hilton and E. T. Calvert, this was well tuned and timed; solo, "Barney," E. T. Calvert, which was well sung; duet; "Life's Dream is O'er," Mrs. Lanning and Canon Hilton, this was exceedingly well rendered; instrumental, Miss Villa Hall, this was the attraction of all, Miss Hall having a wonderful command of the keyboard; song, "The Sea is England's Glory," J. W. Rudd, this song was well rendered and much appreciated; duet, Mrs. Macklin and Miss E. Green, which was well rendered; recitation, "Brier Rose," Mrs. McBride, this was, without exception, the most charming number of all, though we do not mean to belittle the other numbers; song, "Two's Company," Mrs. Lanning, this number was very much appreciated and loudly applauded; chorus, "When the Pigs Begin to Fly," Mesdames Lanning and Macklin, Misses Green, Canon Hilton and E. T. Calvert, this was very bright and racy, and took well; song, "Fiddle and I," Canon Hilton, accompanied by both violin and piano; song, E. T. Calvert; instrumentals, Miss Hall and Mrs. Green.

A laughable farce, entitled "The Old Maids' Tea Party," was the next on the programme, and was well performed by the following: Mrs. W. L. McBride and Misses Green (2), and Hilton. Miss M. Green sang the only song connected with this and acted the part well. The dresses, disguises, etc., as well as the conduct of each was first class.

Mesdames Green and Hilton acted as accompanists on the piano, while Miss Ladner took the violin.

In the drawings the following were the prize winners: Rose cushion, Mrs. Clausen; 1st doll, Miss Hilton; 2nd doll, Miss Welsh; water color, framed, B. Harris; red cushion, F. W. Harris.

Refreshments were being handed around by the ladies in charge of this department, while the drawings were being conducted.

A very successful evening's entertainment was brought to a close at about 12 o'clock.

RUNAWAY.

On Wednesday evening last, at between 6 and 7 o'clock, A. Barber had the misfortune of a runaway. It appears he had just finished unloading hay at D. A. McKee's and was about to gather up the lines, when the horses started for home. However their run was short and sweet, the wagon parting in twain just beyond the Vicarage, while the horses were quite satisfied with the run they had had by the time they reached the barn. Mr. Barber escaped without injury. The rig needs a few fixings.

John McKee, hearing the runaway team passing his house, grabbed his cap and ran, expecting to meet an injured man lying in the roadway. In the excitement of the moment he developed quite a speed and it took him a couple of hours to recover himself.

A SURPRISE IN STORE.

New York, Nov. 28.—Relative to the Japanese general assault upon the defences at Pott Arthur, a Tokyo despatch to the Times says that according to unofficial advices from the besieged city the Japanese escaladed the parapets of the forts, and transported mountain and field guns, which they employed against the enemy.

The attack was directed against Sungsheshan, Ehr Lung Shan, and North Fort of East Kekawanshan.

Commenting upon the Associated Press despatch that specially trained swordsmen were at the front of the Japanese troops who charged into the Russian forts, the Times says the information confirms various vague reports that have come from Japan in recent months.

These reports told of a corps of "fort stormers" that have been formed in the Japanese army. It had been trained for years, and its special province in this war is to capture Port Arthur.

Of the nature of this body no correspondent has been permitted to speak as it was evidently intended to surprise the Russians.

Probably the troops belong to the Samurai class, and are descendants of the men whose skill in wielding the sword has never been surpassed.

An Attack of Pneumonia Warded Off.

"Some time ago my daughter caught a severe cold. She complained of pains in her chest and had a bad cough. I gave her Chamberlain's Cough Remedy according to directions and in two days she was well and able to go to school. I have used this remedy in my family for the past seven years and have never known it to fail," says James Prendergast, merchant, Annato Bay, Jamaica, West India Islands. The pains in the chest indicated an approaching attack of pneumonia, which in this instance was undoubtedly warded off by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. For sale by E. J. Mackenzie.

Obituary.

The death occurred on Monday last at his residence, Agnes street, of an old and highly respected resident of the Royal City, in the person of Dr. Willian Kent, Fellow of the Society of Science, London, England. The deceased was over 85 years of age.

For many years the late Dr. Kent has been a well known figure on the streets of New Westminster, and few indeed there were who have not at sometime or other come in contact with the kindly friend of all humanity. For some time past he has been noticeably failing, but nothing could keep him from his works of mercy, and to the last his interest in his fellow men was unremitting. Especially was he fond of the children, and one of his last requests was that as many as possible of the little ones would be present when his body was lowered into its last resting place. He constantly visited the city schools, and there, perhaps, more than in any other walk of life, will he be missed, with his gentle presence and ever-helping words of kindly advice. Always a consistent Christian, and of late years a member of the Baptist church, he was a firm believer of the Golden Rule, his actions being governed, as he many times stated to his friends, by the thought that "the Almighty was forever looking over his shoulder."

William Kent, M. D., F. S. Sc., was born in North Scarl, England, on the 14th of Febuary, 1819. From there his father and mother moved to Harviston, on Cross Cliff hill, near the city of Lincoln, and there he was brought up. He was educated in the Old Country, and completed his course in medicine in New York. On this side of the water he met and afterward married Mary Elizabeth Haviland, who survives him, by whom he had three children, a son and two daughters, of whom two are dead, one daughter only living, at present in California, the wife of John Benson, brother of H. D. Benson, of Boundary Bay.

Dr. Kent was at one time a medical missionary in the West Indies, where he had charge of a leper lazaretto, and where he did a great deal of useful work. Leaving the south on account of his health, he settled in Ohio, where he occupied the position of Latin professor in the Wilberforce University. Still in the pursuit of health and strength, but never content to rest and do nothing, he moved to Athens, Tennessee, where his second daughter died at the age of ten years. There the deceased gentleman built and conducted a large private hospital from 1867 to 1873. He was an ardent advocate of emancipation of slaves, and in spite of his residence in the south he actively championed the cause of the black race.

About the year 1874 he came to British Columbia and took up land on Cresent Island, the property now owned by E. Chiddell, where he remained until some short while after his son was drowned in Crescent Slough. He then went to New Westminster, and there he has lived ever since, engaged in any work that met his hand for the Master whom he loved and served.

In 1897 the doctor completed his labors on his "Christian Philosophy," a book that has won him world-wide fame, and for which he received the London Society of Science gold medal.

The funeral took place at Sapperton on Wednesday, conducted by the I. O. L.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1904.

Residents of the Slough road are highly pleased with their sidewalk, which is "a thing of beauty and a joy forever" until the Council gives a better.

There are many smiling faces, which betoken thankful hearts, for the (extensive) repairs recently effected on Delta street. Let the good work be continued—quickly.

WHAT WILL IT COST?

On Monday evening and Tuesday morning last, we were brought face to face with the possibility that the Council may yet have a good fat bill to pay for horseflesh. Horses are continually going through the planking. The cases in question happened near P. Clark's blacksmith shop.

We have repeatedly mentioned, in these columns, the condition of affairs at this particular spot, and have been given to understand that this work has been authorized for some time, and why is it not done?

LUNATICS ABROAD.

In our last issue we mentioned the fact that some persons had so far forgotten themselves as to point firearms at school children in the outskirts of the district, but since then another case has been brought to our notice. This time it is nearer town and an elderly lady, who happened to be seen using a pair of field glasses. It is too bad a person has to be denied the privilege of overlooking their real estate with a telescope because some imbecile is permitted to prowl around the country shooting at everything in sight. What's the matter with appointing some special constables through the district.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY.

Much money is spent every year in cleaning out the ditches—and farmers watering their stock are to blame—while pedestrians are compelled to plod through the mud. Now, we suggest that the Council put down a sidewalk alongside the ditches and compel the farmers to water their stock inside their own fences. Those farmers who have a care about the welfare of the district will see to it that their stock do no damage in this way.

It is very inconsistent for a man to growl about bad roads and choked up ditches, if he will overload his wagons and turn his cattle into the ditch to water them, instead of making connection with the ditch from inside the fence.

HE LOST THE CRAMPS.

The following is told of a couple who attended the state fair and stopped at one of the best hotels in Salem: About 2 a. m. the husband was seized suddenly with severe stomach cramps and was almost frantic. His wife was very frightened, but knew that something must be done quickly, so without waiting to put on clothing started down stairs on the jump with naught on but her "nighty."

Running into the dining-room she saw a mustard cruet on the table. Emptying the contents into her handkerchief she started upstairs on the run, and entered the first door she came to. Here she saw a man lying on the bed, who in the dim darkness she mistook for her husband, and gently tucking up his lingerie slapped the poultice on his abdomen. The man let out a howl, and, sitting up, quickly shouted in angry tones: "Woman, what in —— are you doing?"

There was a shriek, a patter of unshod feet on the hall floor, and, frightened half to death, the poor wife found her room and suffering husband. She told him her troubles, and it tickled him so that his cramps took a change of venue.—Toledo (Wash.) Leader.

WILD MUSTARD.

In the Seed Laboratory at Ottawa, one hundred fresh seeds of wild mustard were planted in good soil in a box, and under the most favorable conditions only thirty-five of them could be induced to grow. The box was then placed in the open air for a week with the thermometer below zero. When again put in the germinator, seventeen more seeds produced plants. The soil was then allowed to become thoroughly dry and again put out to freeze, after which twelve more of the hundred seeds germinated. This operation was repeated several times, until finally every seed demonstrated that the mother plant had not lived in vain.

The Best Remedy for Croup.

(From Atchison, Kan., Daily Globe.)

This is the season when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. One of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The croup remedies are almost as sure to be lost, in case of croup, as a revolver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an old-fashioned remedy for croup, known as hive syrup, but some modern mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to "throw up the phlegm" quicker, and gives relief in a shorter time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. It never fails and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by F. J. Mackenzie.
