BAND NOTES.

It is the intention to have the Band Stand connected with the electric light.

We are glad to hear that, in a short time, the Band intend giving the general public the benefit of open air concerts one evening a week during the spring and early summer months. With a number of new and up-to-date selections these entertainments should be the popular events of the coming season.

Notice will be given in the columns of this paper, from time to time, of the evenings set for these concerts and the flag will be hoisted on the Band Stand in the afternoon of concert days, so we hope to see many people patronize these musical events and thus encourage a deserving and popular institution.

The S.S. Sonoma leaves Ladner at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.; leaves Steveston at 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Every day except Sunday.

While taking a bull to the boat, on Wednesday morning, Jno. Richardson had the misfortune to have one of his horses gored, tearing a large hole in his side.

SUTTON'S SEEDS—Flower and Vegetable, in packages. Field Seeds—Beets, Carrots, Mangel and Swede, in bulk, may be obtained from H. N. RICH, Agent Brackman-Ker Milling Co., Ladner, B.C.

RHEUMATISM MAKES LIFE MISERABLE.

A happy home is the most valuable possession that is within the reach of mankind, but you cannot enjoy its comforts if you are suffering from rheumatism. You throw aside business cares when you enter home and you can be relieved from those rheumatic pains also by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application will give you relief and its continued use for a short time will bring about a permanent cure. For sale by All Druggists.

How are your fences? Do they need replacing? Why not try C. Wickson's wire fencing? He expects to start out about 1st of May. See ad. on 4th page.

Electric Incubator.

An electrically cooked wing from an electrically raised chicken hatched in an electrically heated incubator may soon be possible, for a Vancouver inventor has already successfully settled the problem of hatching by electricity. Like most inventions its inception was due to the observation and application of some simple occurrence, and in this case Mr. Rolston, of the Walworth-Rolston Co., Westminster avenue, found his inspiration in a lady's curling tongs. This morning he gave to the Province an account of his invention and his hopes for future development. Some time ago the British Columbia Electric Company advertised in the pages of a poultry catalogue, "Why not incubate by electricity?" and this was regarded as an excellent joke by the farmers. To day incubating by electricity is a simple matter.

"I first got the idea," said Mr. Rolston, "from the electric heater my wife used to heat her curling tongs with. I felt that heater once in a while by accident, and as I nursed my scorched fingers it one day struck me that there was enough electricity to run an incubator. I spoke to Mr. C. Rummel, of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, about it, and he offered to lend me a machine to experiment on. The incubator used was a No. 1 Cyphes, which is the most suitable machine. Then I ran a coil in and fixed up a heator inside consisting of a place of lead pipe wrapped around with wire.

"The temperature has to be kept at 103½, and that is where we have made an alteration, for instead of the thermostat working on the air chamber it moves on a needle. Immediately the temperature goes over 103½ the needle dips into a mercury pot, and this disconnects the current. I fixed up an incubator at my home in a room that is half library and half conservatory and where the temperature varies with the amount of sunshine. Those who understand incubating will know how difficult an uncertain temperature makes the process, yet with the first trial I successfully hatched 60 per cent. of the eggs, which were all bought from stores. With this electric incubator there is absolutely no smell or odor, but the only trouble with my machine is that I have too great a power. However I am using a suggestion made by Mr. Dickie, of the British Columbia Electric Company armature-room, and that is to double my coil. That would reduce the temperature very much. As it is running now, it takes the same amount of heat as two sixteen-candlepower lamps, and I am absolutely positive that ten candle power can run it.

"Of course I ran my first hatch under very adverse conditions as I only attended to the eggs once a day. If I had attended to them twice a day I would have a larger hatch. My machine changed temperature as often as every eight minutes, whereas a coal oil lamp will very rarely change in less than four hours. By reducing the power in my machine I can get a uniform heat, and am certain I can get a 100 per cent hatch, that is, of course, of fertile eggs. The chickens from the first hatch are all healthy and getting on well."

"Do you intend to patent it?"

"No. The more that get them the merrier, and the cost of running is about the same. In my case it does not interfere with the regular running of the incubator by oil, and can be applied to all machines. We are now fixing up an electric brooder, but that, of course, is an easy matter."—Province, April 10.

Have Your Cows Tested

F. M. Logan, B.S.A., Provincial Dairy Inspector, visited Ladner and vicinity on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The object of his visit was to ascertain how many of the farmers in this district would like to have the individual cows of their herds tested, to find out what quality of milk they are giving. The Dominion Government have agreed that if a sufficient number of Dairymen in the province wish to have their cows tested, that a man will be sent to do this work without any charge to the farmer.

Mr. Logan informs us that all that is required of the farmer is that he provide a pint bottle suitable for holding the sample, and a scale for weighing the milk.

The milk from each cow is weighed both morning and night for three days during each month; say at intervals of ten days, and a small sample taken from each of these, and put in the glass jar for the purpose of being tested. At the end of each month these samples, together with the weight of each cow's milk, is sent to the Creamery where they are tested and a statement, showing the weight of butterfat given by each cow, is made out. So at the end of each year the owner knows just what each cow has produced.

It is a well known fact that there are poor cows in every herd in the province, but no man can tell, with any degree of certainty, which cows are profitable or which are not, unless he adopts a system such as this to find out.

Mr. Logan thinks that labor is too expensive to be employed in milking a lot of scrub cows, but that no man can intelligently weed out, or grade up his herd, unless he first finds out what each cow is doing, so this is an opportunity that no man who keeps cows can afford to lose. He tells us that farmers often get greatly surprised, as the cow they thought the best often proves the most unprofitable and vice versa.

While here, Mr. Logan called upon about 30 farmers and they were unanimous in their opinions regarding the benefits of the scheme and all agreed to the regulations governing the association.

Mr. Logan wished us to state that he was not able to call on all the dairymen in the district, but if any others would like to have their cows tested, they can get full information by speaking to Mr. Steeves, manager of the Delta Creamery.

The Market.

New Westminster, April 20.—Potatoes touched their highest price of the season yesterday when they sold on the market at $1.50 per sack and from $25 to $30 a ton in large quantities. There was a fairly large quantity of potatoes of an inferior grade, which sold at $25 and $26 a ton but the strong demand was for first class goods. Seed potatoes were fairly plentiful and these sold as high as $30 a ton.

Meats were still scarcer yesterday than they have been for many weeks. The demand for beef was exceedingly good, and 10 and 11 cents for hindquarters were offered, while the exceedingly high prices of 8 and 9 cents were paid for forequarters. Sales were brisk all morning and the stalls were pretty well cleared by 10.30. Fifteen cents was paid for mutton under a very strong demand. The supply was very short. Veal was a little more plentiful than usual, but still inadequate for the demand, which was very strong. The farmers report that hogs are very scarce just now and are likely to be so for some weeks yet. Under a very brisk demand pork sold at 10½ cents a pound.

The supply of eggs let up a little and probably not more than 700 dozens were disposed of. A large portion of them were retailed locally at 30 cents per dozen. 27 cents a dozen was the jobbers' price for cases. The demand was fairly good and is likely to hold firm for several weeks.

Just as many people bought butter as on the week previously, and they were all just as anxious to get it with the result that the supply was greatly short of the demand. Forty cents was the price charged by the regular venders to their usual customers, while a great quantity was disposed of at 35 cents. First class butter will be, no doubt, bring 40 cents for some time to come.

Many people are buying chickens at the present time for laying and breeding purposes. The supply was much larger than for weeks past and good prices were paid. About 75 good buff leghorns were sold at auction in pens of eight and nine at from $7 to $8.50 per pen. Good chickens realized from $7.50 to $9 a dozen.

Only a few ducks were on sale and these went at $1 each.

Very few apples were sold, the supply having dwindled to a very low ebb. The few boxes on sale realized from $1.50 to $2 a box.

Good timothy hay is being purchased on the farms for $12 a ton, the purchaser bearing the cost of shipment to the city.

Mrs. A. Read, of Ladner, was a market vendor with butter and eggs.

Mrs. H. G. Taylor, of Ladner, had butter and eggs, and delicious cream. The butter realized 40c per lb. and the cream 20c per pint.

Mrs. L. Whitworth, of Ladner, vended butter and eggs at the prevailing figures.

After much delay, we are pleased to state that that piece of Slough road opposite the Vicarage which, through continued opposition, has sunk into a very dilapitated state, is being macadamized at last, and we are sure the new condition of things will be a vast improvement over the old. Let the good work continue.

For the information of those interested, we beg to state that the account of $163.20 paid Gilley Bros. as shown in the accounts on another page, is account for March. Messrs. Gilley Bros. have been paid for sock supplied in January, February and March of this year, and the account for lumber is also for goods received this year.

MAKES ASHES BURN.

Altoona, Pa., April 18.—The remarkable secret for burning ashes with coal, discovered by John Elemore, an Altoona cobbler, and which has excited much attention all over the world, is out. Here it is;

Common salt, one pound; oxalic acid, two ounces; water, one gallon.

Mix and moisten a mixture contained in one part coal and three parts ashes, and a better fuel than pure coal is obtained.

The ashes of anthracite coal burn as readily as do those of bituminous. This mixture will, upon being placed upon a burning fire, fuse into a cokelike mass and deposit but little residue.

The compound is now being used in many large industrial and mercantile plants here and it is claimed for it that it has reduced the fuel item more than half.

The Royal Bank of Canada with its splendid connection all over Canada, affords you exceptional banking facilities.

Rev. D. E. Hatt, missionary evangelist for B. C. and Alberta, will give a missionary address at the Baptist Church on Monday next, at 8 p.m. An offering for Home Mission work will be taken.

W. N. Draper arrived here, yesterday, to undertake the task of locating the original gazetted line of the Trunk road, which, it is hoped, will be the first step to the final winding up of this great dispute.

Local Legislature.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

This article was received too late for publication in last issue.

Victoria, April 13.—The debate on the budget was continued on Monday, the 8th inst., Mr. Oliver leading off for the opposition in a mild criticism of the speech of the Finance Minister, and showing conclusively that the large increase in the revenues was caused principally by the vast speculation in timber licenses and lands. He dealt at length with the over expenditure of $300,000 which had not been authorized by the legislature, arguing that the government, on the same principal, might expend the whole revenue. He also compared the amounts proposed to be expended in the different constituencies, showing that the constituencies represented by the Socialists received an average grant of some $4,800, the Liberal constituencies an average grant of $12,000, and the Conservative consitituencies an average grant of over $32,000. Dealing with the New Westminster bridge, he pointed out that this was the only place in the province where tolls are collected. That the bridge was a provincial work built as a part of the Coast-Kootenay Railway and to control the railway situation and that only the vehicular portion of the bridge could be characterized as a local work, and as such had not cost more than the bridges over the north arm of the Fraser near Eburne, which were built and maintained as a government work. He deprecated the sale of large areas of agricultural lands to speculators, claiming that if we are to have population we must have something to offer them. He was glad to see an appropriation for a ferry over Canoe Pass which he had been urging for for years, and regretted that the statements of the Premier that a more liberal policy of dealing with the municipalities would be adopted was not being carried out; the necessity of continuing the River road to Ladner; the need of aid for reconstruction of the Trunk road—Ladner to Langley; and for liberal appropriations for the Yale Trunk road, the road to Fort Langley, the Coast Meridian; Hall's Prairie and Cloverdale roads and also a number of roads in Langley municipality.

The Premier, in reply, denied any discrimination and said Delta constituency was handsomely treated; he denied making any promises for public works and berated the member for Delta in asking for the abolition of tolls declaring that tolls could not be abolished until the revenue from railway traffic met the fixed charges.

Other members on both sides of the House continued the debate, dealing principally with local issues. The debate was continued until Friday when the House went into committee and passed a portion of the estimates.

The University Bi was again in committee where it underwent a great many changes caused by the leader of the opposition pointing out its many defects.

An amendment to the Land Act was introduced, the principal object of which is to raise the royalty on timber. As a consequence of this there are large deputations of millmen waiting an opportunity to press on the government the inadvisability of making the change at the present time.

An amendment to the B. C. Railway Act, introduced by the Premier, was allowed to stand over at the request of Mr. Oliver, who wished to communicate with a number of his constituents who might be seriously affected. When the bill came up again for its second reading it was agreed that the bill should be amended to meet Mr. Oliver's views as he wishes legislation to compel the railways to provide farm crossings where necessary.

Mr. Oliver's bill re Ditches and Watercourses passed the Municipal Committee as well as a bill be introduced to amend the Municipal Clauses Act.

To make fortunes out of the future you must put something into the present . . . .

Local Legislature.

Victoria, April 19.—A large portion of the time of the Legislature during the first part of the week was taken up with the consideration of the estimates as submitted to the Legislature. Various items came in for a large amount of criticism, especially "Vote No. 58," providing $3000 for Mr. Babcock's salary as Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries. Mr. Oliver moved to strike out this item and criticised at considerable length Mr. Babcock's conduct as a government official from the time of his appointment down to the present date, the main point of his contention being that Mr. Babcock's judgment was faulty in the extreme. He based his criticisms almost entirely upon the official reports made by Mr. Babcock, dwelling most severely upon the fact that salmon penned up by the thousands in a small retaining pond during the hot weather in July, August and September, and argued that it was impossible, however, for the fish or the ova to be in a healthy condition under such circumstances.

It has been understood that Mr. Gifford, the member for New Westminster, gave his constituents a written pledge to endeavor to secure Mr. Babcock's dismissal, but when the vote was taken in the Legislature and during the whole of the discussion he did not say one word in connection with the matter. How Mr. Gifford will explain his position it is difficult to imagine.

The government have receded from their position in respect to raising royalty to be paid to the province in respect to timber cut on provincial lands. The proposition met with strong opposition from the lumber men with the result that the government were unable to withstand the pressure and the matter has been shelved until next session, and the general feeling is that the government will not be strong enough then to withstand the influence which will undoubtedly be brought to bear upon them.

As showing the loose manner in which the government administers provincial affairs, discussion on the estimates brought out the fact that the auctioneering firm who disposed of the Point Grey lands, last year, received for their services upwards of $23,000. The opposition contended that, as the sale only involved from three to five days' work, that this was a most excessive amount, and the only explanation which the Government could give in the matter was that the sale had been arranged by the late commissioner.

Mr. Oliver secured an important amendment to the act to amend the B. C. Railway Act as follows:

"FARM CROSSINGS.

"3. (1.) Every company shall make crossings for persons across whose lands the railway is carried, convenient and proper for the crossing of the railway for farm purposes. In crossing with live stock, the same shall be in charge of some competent person, who shall use all reasonable care and precaution to avoid accidents.

"(2.) The Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works may, upon the application of any landowner, order the company to provide and construct a suitable farm crossing across the railway, whenever in any case the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works deems it necessary for the proper enjoyment of his land, on either side of the railway, and safe in the public interest; and may order and direct how when, where, by whom, and upon what terms and conditions, such farm crossing shall be constructed and maintained."

H. J. Hutcherson, W. A. Kirkland, W. J. Lanning, W. H. Smith, W. McRae and Dr. Woodley, spent Thursday on the Nicomekl meeting with very fair luck.

CAUGHT COLD WHILE HUNTING A BURGLAR.

Mr. Wm. Thos. Laurgan, provincial Constable at Chapleau, Ontario, says: "I caught a severe cold while hunting a burglar in the forest swamp last fall. It will loosen and relieve a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and is a favorite wherever its superior excellence has become known. For sale by All Druggists.

WILL LEAVE MINISTRY.

To be removed through ill health is bad enough but to have to resign through failing sight is something to be deplored, but we regret to say, such is the position, Rev. C. Croft is placed in, and which means to him that he must give up his life's work, the ministry, and try some other form of employment. Rev. Mr. Croft leaves, to-morrow, for Vancouver, but may possibly, supply here on Sunday next. We regret, very much, Mr. Croft's removal and we but express the opinions of many others when we extend to him our heartfelt sympathy for him in having to resign the ministry under such distressing circumstances.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Lazy Man's Hankering.

I'd like to have a nice, soft job,
Where I could simply be
A sort of weekly visitor,
To draw my salary.
And then, as that got burdensome
And seemed inclined to bore me,
I'd like to have some fellow paid
To go and draw it for me!

The Important Question.

"How do you like your new servant?"

"That isn't the question at all," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "We are trying to find out how she likes us."

A Domestic Limerick.

A strenuous matron named Maud
Decided her man was a fraud,
So she put the poor lad
Very much to the bad
When she lit on his features and clawed.

Nearly the Limit.

"Yes, I know him slightly. He always impresses me as being rather a hard man."

"Hard? Say, that man can dull a knife by just carrying it in his pocket."

May She Fare Well.

To a fair lady bound for the fair
The conductor said, "Lady, your fare?"
She paid him, and so
On his way did he go
With the fare from the fair to the fair.

His Weight in Gold For the Poor.

"A Hindoo stood in a scale, and his weight was measured in goldpieces. That," said a traveler, "was the strange spectacle that I once beheld in India. There was a great crowd looking on, and it took a great many goldpieces to equal the Hindoo's weight, for he was fat. Finally, though, the big scale balanced, and then everybody began to shout: 'Tulabhara! Tulabhara! Tulabhara!' The fat man got out of the scale. He and his friends took the gold, and, going through all the poorer quarters of the town, they distributed it among the destitute. This, I was informed, was a kind of religious ceremony among a certain sect. Every male at the time in his life when it was thought his weight would be greatest was put in a scale, and gold to equal him in bulk was measured out and distributed in alms. As a rule, each man was forty-seven when his weight was taken. They hold in India that at forty-seven a man is at his fattest."—Philadelphia Record.

A Story With a Bad Moral.

In a prosperous town in Mexico lived a merchant whose wealth grew out of a combination of good luck and drunkenness. An uncontrollable desire for drink cost him position after position, and he drifted down to Mexico and became a news agent. He sold lottery tickets. He had to report on drawing day what unsold tickets he had and forward them. He got drunk the day before one of the big drawings. Two days later he sobered up and found himself in possession of several hundred dollars' worth of unsold tickets. He did not possess $10 in the world. He examined the list and found that a number of the unsold tickets had drawn prizes aggregating $35,000 in gold. He collected the winnings, paid for the unsold tickets and took an oath of perpetual total abstinence. That was years ago. He has never touched liquor since and is today a wealthy man. The moral is bad, but the story is too good to suppress.

Her Own Idea.

"Your daughter," said Mrs. Oldcastle, after being conducted through the newly finished wing of the magnificent palace occupied by the Bullingtons, "has such a splendid vocabulary!"

"Do you think so?" her hostess replied. "Josiah wanted to get her one of them escritoires, but I made up my mind right at the start that a vocabulary would look better in a room furnished like hers is even if it didn't cost quite as much."

Knew What He Meant.

"That grocer of ours speaks the most fragmentary English of any one I ever heard," said Mr. Precise.

"You mean 'broken English,' my dear," corrected Mrs. Precise. "You know he is a German."

"I mean fragmentary," repeated Mr. Precise. "The man stutters."—Judge.

Had Been There.

Edith—Oh, Ethel, what shall I do? Jack says he supposes it's all over between us and that he'll send my presents back.

Ethel (experienced)—Tell him to bring them.

Life is not so short but that there is always time enough for courtesy.—Emerson.

Helping Him Along.

"Then there is such a thing as heart failure, is there, doctor?" said the handsome young widow.

"Certainly, madam," responded the bashful young physician. "The records of the profession are full of—"

"It's a perfectly unnecessary disease, isn't it, doctor?"

On this hint he spake.

Taken at His Word.

He (after marriage)—What! You have no fortune! You said over and over again that you were afraid some one would marry you for your money.

She—Yes; and you said over and over again that you would be happy with me if I hadn't a cent. Well, I haven't a cent.

Burned Out.

Yesterday morning the peaceful (and some slumbering) inhabitants of Guichon were aroused by the unusual spectacle of a real bona fide fire in one of the buildings belonging to the old Harlock cannery which has been occupied for some time by Chinamen.

It is difficult to say just how the fire originated, but shortly after 7 o'clock a small line of smoke was visible drifting, with the strong wind blowing at the time, across the Guichon estate. Soon people could be seen making their way in the direction of the fire, and it was then found to be a very fair imitation of a fifth of November bonfire with the exception that Guy Fawkes was missing (except that one might have mistaken a rather singed looking Chinaman for one), and the old shingle roof was blowing, in good-sized chunks, across the road onto the old mess house, now occupied by Mrs. Allan, the moss on the roof of which being very dry, started to burn in several places, but thanks to the energy and coolness of the bucket brigade, headed by Jack Guichon, these small fires were soon extinguished and all danger in that direction over.

The general opinion seems to have been that it was a great pity that the whole of these old cannery buildings were not consumed as they are only a menace to the surrounding property and a harbor of refuge for all the hobo element that frequent the river in the fishing season.
