S. H. Currie was in from Salmon Arm last Friday.

Even the kittens are busy at J. C. Metcalfe's new store.

G. Alers Hankey is spending a few days in Enderby from Vernon.

The painters are busy on the shelves in the new quarters of the Enderby Trading Co.

Rev. Jas. Calvert, of New Denver, was visiting his parents at Salmon Arm last week.

Ralph Harrop has a portable saw mill for sale that will take the eye of the 10-year-old lumber jack.

Rev. Mr. Woods returned last week from a trip to Toronto, where he attended the annual missionary convention.

A meeting was held at Salmon Arm last Saturday evening and the initial steps taken to organize a Literary Society.

Harry Thorburn passed through Enderby this morning from Silverton. He will spend a few days at the Lakeview, Kelowna.

A Hallowe'en Party was given Monday evening by Mrs. J. Dunwoodie, a large number of young people enjoying a very happy evening.

When in need of anything in the drug line the people of Salmon Arm find a first-class dispenser in W. E. Pratt, druggist and veterinary surgeon.

Fred Richardson, the crack rifle shot of the Province, was in Enderby Monday, and took advantage of the opportunity to show how to make bull's eyes.

The Orangemen of Salmon Arm will give an oyster supper next Friday evening, commencing at 6 o'clock, and promise the public a very enjoyable evening.

J. E. Orchard finished painting the handsome Fletcher residence at Armstrong last week, and is now engaged on the cottages being erected by the mill company.

Five of the twelve cottages to be erected by the mill company are in the hands of the painters. They are very neat, convenient and pretty, and add greatly to the appearance of the street.

H. W. Wright has added a pool table to the attraction of the Enderby hotel, and also a barber's chair. He is also installing a furnace and radiators and will have the house heated from basement to garrett by hot air.

P. Owens, of Salmon Arm, was in Enderby this week, disposing of fruit trees of his own growing. He has a good stock of one and two-year-olds, and has no difficulty in selling them, his orchards and fruit are so well known.

The Presbyterian ladies have organized an Aid Society for the social and financial benefit of their church, and will hold their second meeting in the church on Wednesday, Nov. 9th at 2.30 p.m., when a constitution will be adopted and plans laid for future work. All ladies interested are requested to be present.

E. T. Smith put a new truck in commission this week. It a heavy, table-top wagon, made by the Chatham Wagon Co. It has no equal in this section for handling heavy freight, and is a valuable acquisition to Mr. Smith's rolling stock. For handling pianos, furniture and heavy pieces of machinery it will be found to be most convenient and safe.

The Geo. Patchett Hardware Company of Armstrong has made an assignment of all property owned by the company. Messrs. Geo. Patchett, Osborne, McPherson and P. D. Vankleek are named as the persons forming the company, and Nov. 8th is the date set for the first meeting of the creditors, to be held at the office of Bowser & Wallbridge, Vancouver.

This evening Mrs. A. O. Rutherford, President of the Dominion Women's Christian Temperance Union, will deliver an address in the Methodist Church. The meeting will be entirely free to all, and it is hoped there will be a large attendance. Mrs. Rutherford is one of the women orators of Canada, and none should miss this opportunity of hearing about the temperance movement from the women's point of view. The meeting commences at 7.30 p.m.

The local Orangemen are looking forward to a big meeting next Friday, when they formally open the new Lodge room in the Bell block. The room has been tastefully fitted up for the purpose for which it is to be used, and will be very comfortable and convenient. The meeting on Friday will commence at 7 p.m. All Orangemen are asked to note this fact and govern themselves accordingly. Three degrees will be conferred on candidates, and many visitors are expected from Vernon and Armstrong.

Indians and Liquor.

This has been an unusually lively week in the police court. Magistrates Heggie, Barnes and Fortune were busy Monday and Tuesday. They heard five cases and enriched the Provincial treasury by $155.

Friday evening Constable Gardom arrested four Siwash Indians—Michael, Thomas, George and Antoine—for being drunk and disorderly. On Monday they were tried, and Michael was fined $5 and costs, Thomas $50 and costs, George $50 and costs, and Antoine got three months' hard labor.

On Monday John Gates was arrested for giving liquor to the Indians, and on Tuesday he pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

This is Constable Gardom's first batch of arrests, and it looks as if he intends to keep the red savage straight as well as the white savage.

Farmer Currant came to town on Monday and badly mixed things up. Everything was so lively about town he thought a celebration was on, and he celebrated. His team ran away and he was badly injured.

Incorporation Goes

The committee having in hand the matter of town incorporation have done their work well, and are now ready to put the matter through. They have secured the signatures of property owners representing more than $60,000 of the assessed valuation. This is over $20,000 more than was necessary to carry. Others representing $10,000 in property have expressed their readiness to sign the petition but are out of town, so the committee feel the decision is as near unaimous as it is possible to get it. The assessed valuation of Enderby is $80,000, and they feel that $70,000 of the eighty is sufficient to go ahead. There are, indeed, not more than three or four in the whole town who are opposed to the step. Therefore the committee have launched the business by giving this official notice for publication:

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that one month after the date hereof, the undersigned and others intend to make application to his His Honour Sir Henry Joly de Lothiniere, Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council at Victoria, under the Provisions of the "Municipalities' Incorporation Act," Revised Statutes of British Columbia and Amending Acts, for Letters Patent under the Great Seal to incorporate the hereinafter described lands into a Town Municipality under the name of "The Corporation of the Town of Enderby," that is to say: Lots numbered 149 and 150 in Group I. of the Osoyoos Division of Yale District, a portion of the East half of the North-East quarter of Section 22, a portion of the West half of the North-West quarter of Section 23, a portion of the South-West quarter of Section 26, legal sub-division 12 of Section 26, and a portion of the South half of the North-East quarter of Section 27 in Township 18, Range 9, West of the Sixth Meridian, a portion of legal sub-division 9, and a portion of the East half of the South-East quarter of Section 27 in said Township and Range, West of the said Sixth Meridian, more particularly described as follows: Commencing at the North-East corner of said Lot 150, thence West along the North boundary of said Lot to the North-West corner thereof, thence West along the said Northerly boundary of said lot, produced in all a distance of 98 chains; thence South a distance of 80 chains; thence East along the Southern boundaries of said Lots 149 and 150 a distance of 63 chains to the bank of the Spallumcheen River; thence Northerly following the Westerly bank of said River to the point of commencement, comprising 655 acres.

Put on Your Skates

Enderby skaters can polish the steel and get ready to clamp on. The ice is coming and the rink will be here to receive it. And it is going to be a covered rink, electric lighted, with band stand, dressing rooms and all the other things essential to comfort, convenience and good skating.

A. M. Baird has decided to build it. He has ordered the lumber and work on it will start in a very short time. It will be built on an admirable site—close to the river bank, at the brick yard. Mr. Baird has pumping apparatus to raise the water, and all he will have to do is to raise the ground like a circus ring and spread the water thin so that Jack Frost will have no difficulty in making it solid from the ground up.

The building will be 130x60 feet, with sloping roof, arched within, no pillars to run into and no awkward corners to get out of. He will build a curling rink 130x14, leaving the hockey rink 130x46 feet. A 10-ft. dressing room will be built along the front of the building, and above this the grand stand and spectators' balcony.

Mr. Baird believes he will have a good thing. He will conduct the rink in first-class order, giving everybody their money's worth of fun and exercise.

A meeting of those interested in organizing a Curling Club is called for Thursday evening at the Reading Room. The hockey boys are also looking up their shin-plasters and sticks, and there isn't any doubt that Enderby will have a good winter of sport on the ice.

With the Shooters

Thirty members of the Enderby Rifle Association attended the Annual Shoot held at the range last Thursday and Friday, and the shooting was in the main good.

The gold button offered by the Association for the best score during the shoot was won by J. C. English, with a score of 148. The 200 yards was also won by Mr. English, but as the Association decided not to give two buttons to one man, the second on the list received the button. There was a tie for the second place between Geo. Bell and H. Blurton, but when the tie was decided according to the regulations issued by the Government it was found that Mr. Bell had two "outers" less than Mr. Blurton, and he therefore wears the button. The 300 yards was won by Lieut. Roy Wheeler, and 500 yards by G. Sharpe.

Following is the score made by each man at the various ranges:

	200 yds	300 yds	500 yds	600 yds	Totals

The possibles were: 200 yards, 140; 300 yards, 35; 500 yards, 35; 600 yards, 35; grand possible, 245.

Nicely Complimented.

This is the way the Victoria Suburb and Country speaks of the Salmon Arm exhibit at the Provincial Fair: "Salmon Arm made its debut in the arena and obtained fourth place, which is greatly to its credit when we take into consideration the fact that ten years ago it was a wilderness, and even now it has only a small population compared with the districts which received higher places in the competition. The fruit shown was magnificent. The extraordinary dry season just passed undoubtedly told against them in their display of vegetables; but, come again next year, boys. This exhibit probably attracted more favorable comment and interest than any of the seven, and many could hardly believe that all this was done without irrigation. Messrs. Owen and McCallum, who were in charge, had many questions to answer relative to Salmon Arm district, and one could easily believe their statement that this exhibit had carried 57 prizes at the Kamloops show, their apples being especially tempting—particularly the Wealthies, Kings, and Wolf River, while some Alexanders looked good enough to eat."

As It Again.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 1st.—Everything indicates that both the Japanese and the Russian armies south of Mukden are ready for a resumption of hostilities, if, indeed, fighting has not already begun.

General Kuropatkin reports that the Japanese have received reinforcements from the south and Fengwangcheng. Their concentration seems to have been accomplished, and they are both ready to resume the offensive both east and west of the railroad. There is no official estimate of the strength of the Japanese reinforcements, but correspondents place it at forty to sixty thousand.

Union Restaurant Opens.

The large restaurant block erected by W. H. Hutchison is sufficiently completed to allow the restaurant to be opened, and this evening the first meal will be served. Mrs. J. Wiseman has leased the building and will conduct a first-class establishment under the name of the Union Restaurant.

The lower floor is fitted up with three private boxes, and one large dining room. Six tables will be spread. The upper floor is divided off into eight cozy rooms and a parlor, and these will be furnished handsomely.

Mrs. Wiseman has had long experience in the restaurant business, and Enderby is assured of having the finest short-order house in the Valley. Meals will be served from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m., and meal tickets will be sold to those not so positioned as to take their meals regularly.

Must Do Something.

A. B. Clabon, the well-known mining man, after a trip through the interior, brings news of the development of that portion of the province. Two things impressed Mr. Clabon: the exceeding prosperity of the Nickel Plate mine, which will soon be one of the greatest in America, and the feeling there is through the Similkameeen and Nicola that the coast people should do something to have a direct railway.

"It's up to the coast people to do something pretty soon," Mr. Clabon said in an interview on the mainland. "The Great Northern will be building within a year, and the trade of what I believe will be the banner district of the province will all go to Spokane and Seattle. The construction gang which has been operating in the vicinity of Curlew is wintering at Oro, which is an indication that they expect work in the neighborhood next spring. The people on the coast here will wake up after the rails are down and trade is going south instead of west, and that into American territory."—Colonist.

Big Increase in Trees.

Speaking of his business in this section, M. J. Henry in a recent letter, says:

"I have sold trees with an increasing trade into the upper country for the past 15 years. Sent out 10 car loads last spring, and about 10 tons seeds. I do not travel from house to house to solicit orders but do a catalog trade, and save my customers' money by doing so. And as far as I can hear the general run of them are well satisfied.

OF INTEREST TO LABOR.

The servant girls of Watertown, N. Y., have formed a union and will demand a work day of 12 hours a day and four and five dollars a week.

A reduction of the hours of labor from twelve to eight hours per day for engineers employed in all Kansas City breweries has been effected.

A furniture firm of San Francisco has recently voluntarily reduced the hours of labor from nine to eight hours, and at the same time granted an advance in wages from $2.75 to $3 a day.

The men employed in the Maren coal mines, near Belleville, Ill., quit work because they claim the mules used to draw the cars of coal in the mines are not properly fed, and for this reason they are unable to draw the loads expected of them.

Wishing to encourage perfect freedom and candor between THE EDENOGRAPH and its readers, we have thrown down all barriers and want you to feel free to walk into the sanctum sanctorum with your best thoughts in your hand and demand a hearing. If you have an idea, have it printed. Don't wait for a better one. Address—

THE EDENOGRAPH,
Enderby, B. C.

Incorporation—push, polish, prosperity. Are you with us?

DON'T BE A COWARD.

THE EDENOGRAPH does not fear criticism. We rather like it. And as for opposition, why, bless you, that's what we want. That's what makes us grow.

But we do not like to fight a coward. We don't like to handle a bird which is so dirty that it will befoul its own nest. We want everybody to be clean, upright and above board. Hit us as hard as you like, friends, and as often; but don't get down to the level of a mange cur and bark at us from the shadow of a dung hill. Stand up and hit from the shoulder. Be a man! If you don't like our policy, that's your privilege. Roast us, but don't carry your silly rot to another paper and burden its readers with nonsense that they care nothing about. Its editor has sins of his own to answer for.

The columns of THE EDENOGRAPH are open to you, if you will be man enough to give and take what is coming to you without squealing. You need not fear any editor if you will be honest and clean and decent in dealing with him and the public. Speak your mind. Tell him he is a liar and a thief and a rogue, if you think so, but always be a gentleman yourself.

MR. ROSS NOT FAIR.

In his address before the electors of Enderby ten days ago Duncan Ross ridiculed the railroad policy of R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, declaring point blank that Mr. Borden would turn the road he proposed to build by the government over to the C.P.R., to be operated by that corporation. This is manifestly unfair to the Conservative leader, if his words are to be taken as evidence of the intentions of his party. Mr. Ross also said that if the road were placed in control of the government and the Conservative party were in power for any number of years, the operators of the road would all be Conservatives, and he said, "if the Liberals should get in power, I am ready to confess that the Conservatives would all be fired and their places given to good Liberals."

Mr. Borden in a recent manifesto states his policy in this connection: "The subject of most immediate concern is transportation. Having regard to the enormous obligation which would be imposed upon the people by the government's rash transcontinental project, to the certainty that its adoption would shut out for a century government ownership of railways, and to the vital importance of controlling our own traffic and commerce, this question is the most momentous and far-reaching one that has ever been submitted to the electorate of Canada.

"The immense territory and ever-increasing products of Canada demand the best and most economical transportation. We know that the people are willing to provide generously whatever moneys may be necessary for the development of the Dominion, and our policy is to extend and improve its transportation facilities, by land and by water. But we insist that what the people pay for the people should own and control; that public moneys should be used for Canada and for its people, and not to promote the trade and wealth of foreign ports.

"We fully realize the country's need for increased facilities of transportation, and that efficient service and reasonable rates must be assured. In utilizing the public credit for these purposes we must thoroughly guard against the diversion of our trade into the hands of foreign competitors.

"The government seeks to impose liabilities amounting to at least $150,000,000 for the construction of a transcontinental railway under conditions which absolutely fail to safeguard our national interests. The important and immediately profitable western division is to be owned, and the whole is to be absolutely controlled, by a corporation interested in driving our trade away from our own ports. We oppose to this our declared policy of constructing the new transcontinental railway as a public work, to be owned and controlled by the people, and to remain a national highway in the truest sense. I beg you clearly to understand that it is still open to you to decide whether this shall be done. Do not be misled by any assertions to the contrary. We affirm that the management of the Intercolonial railway and other railways operated by the government, should be freed from partizan interference and from party political control."

A SNAKE IN OUR EDEN.

It is never wise to pay any attention to the assaults of one who is a born coward. Anyone who will slap another from the cover of an assumed name hasn't the manhood of a snake.

The following is a sample of what a coward will do. We take it from the columns of the Armstrong Advertiser. It sounds like the bawling of one who would eat at your table, drink of the cup that you drink of, partake of the benefits of your thrift, and stick a dirk into you from behind:

"To the Editor of the Advertiser. Dear Sir: I noticed in last week's EDENOGRAPH a statement to the effect 'that there are but three property owners in Enderby who are opposing incorporation.' Now our respected editor is perfectly well aware of the fact that about one-half of the property owners in Enderby are opposed to incorporation, but who believe that under existing circumstances rural municipality would best meet our requirements. Among these, I might add, are those who are more interested in the permanent welfare of our town than the editor of the EDENOGRAPH, who does not possess one square inch of real estate in or near Enderby, but who can, when taxation becomes too high, quietly pack his carpet bag and hit away to 'greener' pastures. The question naturally arises: why is it that our respected editor is taking such a very strenuous interest in incorporation? Simply this, that he is perfectly well aware of the increase it would mean in his special line of business, and therefore he feels justified in using every means within his power to accomplish his aim. We wish that some kindly friend who has reached years of discretion would just explain to him, that works of fiction should be labelled as such when worked in with local news items. I am Sir, respectfully yours, Edenite."

OUR FRUIT EXHIBITS.

The despatch from the Agent-General of British Columbia in London, says the News-Advertiser, stating that the exhibit of fruit from this province had received the first prize at the show of the Royal Horticultural Society, will be read with great satisfaction by everyone interested in the progress of British Columbia. The circumstance cannot fail to prove to be a splendid advertisement for the province, both in the United Kingdom and throughout the Dominion. Even in eastern Canada the announcement will come to many people as a surprise, because there is in many parts of the Dominion great ignorance as to the conditions prevailing in British Columbia. It is known to be a country rich in minerals, and one that has large areas covered with fine timber, while the seas that wash its shores are also known to have great wealth in fisheries. But it has been realized by few that fruit can be raised here of a quality unsurpassed in any other part of the Dominion. This success attained by British Columbia fruit growers in London in competition with their rivals from other parts of the Empire will, therefore, have a great educational effect—the result of which will mean millions of dollars to this province in the future.

The success achieved in this competition in London should stimulate those who have the direction and supervision of the provincial fruit industry to still greater efforts to maintain and improve the quality of the fruit raised, and to protect the crops from the inroads of insect and other pests. It is a matter of common knowledge now that the orchards of Ontario and some of the Pacific coast states have been ravaged and almost made valueless by the lack of precautions, and the absence of a system of rigid inspection and supervision. Fortunately the industry in British Columbia starts out under favorable conditions in this respect, and we believe that public opinion, and those directly interested in it, will support the Department of Agriculture in all reasonable measures to maintain the good condition and high quality of the products of our orchards and fruit farms.

Considerable as the growth of the industry has been already, it is as yet but in its infancy. Some of the districts on the Island and Coast section of the mainland will be put largely under fruit, while the Okanagan and some other districts of the interior are destined to become famous throughout Canada for their fruit products. Difficulties incidental to the settlement of a new country are being overcome, and experience is being accumulated from day to day as to the best methods of cultivation. We venture to prophesy that it will not be many years before an annual provincial exhibition of fruit will be one of the leading and regular incidents in the history of British Columbia.

POLITICS are strange things. Men will be reasonable in all things but their politics, and in these they become so bigoted and narrow and selfish that they can never grow, and live and vote and die simple tools in the hands of those who fatten on their credulity. In Canada it is as bad, if not worse, than in most countries. I remember when I was a child, scarcely able to talk, it used to be my fond daddy's mode of "showing me off," by standing me up in a high chair or on a table and having me hurrah for Sir John A. McDonald. I did not know Sir John; did not understand what it meant. I only knew there was a piece of candy in sight, or a smile of appreciation and a pat on the head, and I hurrahed as lustily as I could.

I have since learned all about Sir John and the other fellows. They were, and are, all human. Each has his pet way of doing things; all are sincere to a degree. And each caters to the passions and whims of the voters—just as a farmer coaxes an unruly cow into the barn to milk her. The object of the average politician is to get something for nothing, and he works the people up to give it to him.

Here in Canada we have no set time for holding an election. The politician can call it on when the time best suits his purpose. Generally it is when the people are least prepared to intelligently vote on the issues affecting the country.

In the present campaign the voters are jerked out of the shops and harvest fields to hear a speaker or two, then hurried to the polls and asked to vote intelligently on questions that affect the welfare of the whole country! One speaker tells them black is white and another says white is black, and there the whole thing ends. The people take sides; some favoring white and others black, and vote for the man who talks most, promises most and lies most according to their own way of thinking. We hear only what we most desire to hear, and understand only what is to our liking. We vote, not so much for what we believe would be most beneficial to the country, but to beat the other fellow. And these are civilization's politics!

ENGINEERING NOTES.

The tensile strength of a wet rope is only one-third the strength of the rope when dry, while a rope saturated with grease or soap is weaker still.

A cap nut lock for propellers has been invented by Capt. Lewis Davis, of Liverpool, and is intended to prevent the loss of blades at sea, says the Engineer.

A German method of constructing large balance wheels for high peripheral speeds consists in making the rim by winding a rectangular section steel wire on a cast iron spool.

A raft of remarkable size was started down the Mississippi river from Stillwater, Minn., for St. Louis, Mo. The raft is 256 feet wide, 768 feet long, contained 9,000,000 feet of lumber and has loaded on its deck 60 car loads of shingles.

The engineer in charge of the improvement of the Yellowstone park denies that the geysers are approaching extinction. An article to this effect appeared in a French paper and was widely copied throughout the United States. It tends to create an impression that the Yellowstone wonderland, as far as regards the hot springs and geysers, is practically a thing of the past.

In a paper on "Fly Wheel Explosions" read before the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the author, Mr. C. H. Vanning, gave some figures relating to wood-rimmed wheel for this purpose. He stated that for the same weight, pine wood has a much more tensile strength than cast iron, and is, therefore, much safer for a fly wheel. An experience of ten years with many such fly wheels has satisfied him that for engines running at a speed of 100 revolutions per minute or less, a properly constructed wood-rimmed wheel is much the safer.

ON THE WING.

Hawks have been seen to follow the wake of a moving railway train, to swoop down on small birds that were suddenly disturbed and frightened by the noise, and therefore for the moment were off their guard.

The ostrich has long been laughed at for pushing his head into a bush when hunted. It is really far the wisest thing the bird could do, for its long neck is by far the most easily seen part of it. Its body plumage harmonizes perfectly with the desert sand.

One of the strangest lapidarian freaks that has ever come within the knowledge of diamond experts is now on view at the Burns Hotel, in Kimberly, South Africa. The stone, says the Jeweler's Weekly, is in shape and size like a pigeon's egg, of a dark brown color externally, and at first sight opaque. If viewed in a dark place, with a candle or other light so placed that the rays pass through the stone before falling on the retina, however, one sees distinctly the image of a man from the waist upward. Turning the pebble, he sees at another point a woman's face, partly concealed by heavy tresses, and yet, again, on another portion of the surface being applied to the eye, a moonlit cloud sketch is clearly dilineated.

The stone was found in a debris wash up, and £10 10s have been refused for it. A Mr. Bergsma, a debris washer, was the finder of the remarkable stone.

RULINGS OF THE COURT.

The right of a city to discharge a sewer into a tailrace belonging to an individual, where it runs through a culvert under a highway, is denied in Nevins vs. Fitchburg (Mass.), 47 L. R. A., 312.

A policy of insurance against loss or damage by windstorms, cyclones or tornadoes is held, in Holmes vs. Phoenix Insurance company (C. C. A. eighth C.), 47 L. R. A., 368, not to cover damage by hail.

Failure to enact or enforce an ordinance prohibiting the riding of bicycles on sidewalks is held, in Jones versus Williamsburg (Va.), 47 L. R. A. 294, insufficient to make a municipality liable for injury to a person struck by a bicycle ridden on the sidewalk.

A breach of promise of marriage is held in Sanders versus Coleman (Va.), 47 L. R. A. 581, to be excused when, without any fault on his part, the prospective husband has developed a grave malady of such character that marriage might endanger his life or health.

A state hospital created for purely governmental purposes under the exclusive ownership and control of the state is held, in Maia versus Eastern hospital (Va.), 47 L. R. A. 577, to be not liable for injury to an inmate by negligence of the persons in charge.

The right of a telephone company to string wires in a highway is held in Wyant versus Central Telephone company (Mich.), 47 L. R. A. 497, to include the right to do the necessary trimming of trees in the highway in a proper manner, without first giving the landowner an opportunity to do it.

An infant who has bought a bicycle on the installment plan is held, in Rice versus Butler (N. Y.), 47 L. R. A. 393, to be under obligation to account for its use and for deterioration in its value while in his possession, if he rescinds the purchase. The disaffirmance of a conveyance by an infant is upheld, in Bullock versus Sprowls (Tex.), 47 L. R. A. 326, without restoring the consideration received for the property, when it is not in his possession or control upon arriving at full age, but has been dissipated by him while still a minor.

RAIL AND TIE.

A project is on foot to connect the railways of Greece with those of Turkey, so as to connect Athens with Europe by rail.

Official figures recently compiled show the main line mileage of mail roads in Missouri to be nearly 7,000. This total is likely to be considerably increased this year.

The Southern Railroad company of Italy is going to have built 18 locomotives, 121 passenger cars, 32 baggage cars, and 1,000 freight cars. Foreign concerns will be allowed to compete.

It is considered very doubtful if the Pennsylvania railroad will adopt nickel-steel rails for the points of severe service. At the famous Horseshoe curve the nickel steel rails have been replaced by those of the ordinary steel type, for it was found that the rails diminished the tractive power of the engines on account of their hardness.

A special car for invalids is being built for the Saxon state railroads for the transportation of those who can afford the expense of a whole car. It consists of three apartments, with a corridor on one side. One is for the sick person, and one of the others for the physicians, and the third for attendants. Cooking apparatus and refrigerators are provided. It may be hired for use on any railroad in Europe provided it is not needed at home.

A curious railway accident occurred in India lately. While a train was in Ruxaul station a terrific storm commenced, and, although the brake was applied in the van and the engine, the force of the wind was such that the train was driven along the line. The engine dashed through the buffer stop at the end of the line, and traveled along about six lengths of rail laid end to end without fishplate fastenings. After leaving these rails the engine plowed along the embankment, and then came fortunately to a standstill, no great damage having been done.

The carrier pigeon when traveling never feeds. If the distance be long, it flies on without stopping to take nutriment, and at last arrives, thin, exhausted and almost dying. If corn be presented to it it refuses to eat, contenting itself with drinking a little water and then sleeping. Two or three hours later it begins to eat with great moderation and sleeps again immediately afterwards. If its flight has been very prolonged, the pigeon will proceed in this manner for 48 hours before recovering its normal mode of feeding.

The largest time ball in the United States is being erected in Philadelphia on the roof of the Fourth street end of the bourse. The ball, which is four feet in diameter and weighs 60 pounds, will be hoisted to the top of an iron column, 193 feet above tidewater, five minutes before noon each day and be dropped electrically 40 feet to an air cushion exactly at noon by the naval observatory clock in Washington. The object of the time ball is to enable all the mariners in the Delaware and Schuylkill rivers to regulate their chronometers before sailing.

WITH HANK REKLAW

Teach me to be kind—that's enough.

Every cross word to the cow tells in the milk.

When we live to help others we live that others may help us.

If your soul is turning to clabber; God help you. A hurry-up pill might help Him help you.

Let your light so shine (through the garden), that men will see your good works and glorify.

When we feel that another has injured us, let's change our focus—the trouble may be within.

We pray, "God give us Love," and think we are going to get it without exercising what we've already got!

Physical exercise will cure more ailments than the apothecary, if you will use you Will in conjunction with it.

We all know what we would do if we were the other fellow, but what are we doing now that we are just ourselves?

If you think evil of another you are sure to get the worst of it, for the evil that you think will as surely come to you.

Fear is a silly thing. Afraid of what? Better to be over bold than fearful. Nothing can harm one but his own thoughts.

To love and to be loved—in that broader sense—gives peace to the heart, light to the eye, and a digestion that you never feel.

Get away! Get away from that heart-breaker Self. He will lead you into all manner of moral degeneracy—and the root of all evil, Selfishness.

We lift our hearts to heaven when we touch the button that makes the cloud burst into sunshine, and the countenance to ripple with laughter by blowing over it zephyrs from the land of Love.

Don't think that you can "kill time." Time is a Wise One: he does not hit back. He just feeds out the line, and lets you have your way. But no calf can handle much rope without hanging itself.

How ready a party man is to applaud your independence in politics if you happen to say something that he likes, and if he doesn't like it, how quickly he concludes you are "bought" by the other side!

To give the wood a finer finish I hear the workmen running it over with sandpaper. Would you do without the scourings that troubles give the soul and have it corroded with the rust of inactivity, the festers of pride, the warts of vice and the unsightly buboes of passion?

THE MARKET.

Once more the fowls scored a success, and once more the general tone of this division was almost devoid of the marring feature of poor conditioned birds. The chickens for sale were all in the A-1 class, and they were quickly disposed of. For the full-grown chickens the prices ranged between $6 and $6.50 per dozen, and for the broilers, which also were first class, from $3 to $4.50. For the ducks there was a good demand, and this was increased by the good looking birds for sale. Buyers gave from $6 to $7.50 per dozen.

Butter was well represented on Friday's mart. The general quality of the offerings in this quarter was very good and the sales were large in proportion. For butter the steady asking was 30c. per lb. Eggs still remain scarce, and the highest prices were obtained everywhere on the mart. There was a good demand here and wholesale the eggs realised a regular 40c. per dozen. Retailed they were bringing 45 cents.

From a general standpoint the vegetable market on Friday was as good as any person could wish, and the offerings here were of the best with hardly an exception. The buyers constantly thronged this portion of the floor and trade was necessarily brisk. Potatoes were going at $15 per ton. Beets brought 75 cents, and carrots 50 cents per sack. Turnips were 50 cents per sack, and cabbage was 40 cents for the same quantity. Onions did a little business at $1.50 per sack.

Lumbermen and Protection.

The Winnipeg Commercial, which has always had Liberal leanings, though not run on political lines, being purely a commercial paper and an influential one at that has a leading editorial on the lumber situation. The article is almost panicky in its tone. It says that "Quite regardless of their views upon the question of protection, which is being so persistently forced to the front in connection with the lumber question in the West, the people of this country are profoundly sorry to see the fine lumbering industry of British Columbia in such sore straits, as it seems to be in at present. Nature has been kind to that industry, and has given it such a supply of raw material as is not to be matched anywhere else upon this continent; yet, for some reason, it languishes and threatens to crumble to the ground."

The Commercial goes on to discuss reasons that are being assigned for this state of affairs: rates of transportation, labor troubles and the like; but it dismisses these summarily from consideration and points to competition from the United States as the principal cause. It is on the ground and knows quite well the conditions, and because it is the business of a commercial paper to enquire into such matters. "Lumber mills," it says, "in the nearby states of the American Union are dumping large quantities of good lumber into the Canadian market without any regard, apparently, for what it costs to produce it, and in this fact is to be found the chief reason for the stagnant condition of the lumber business in British Columbia. Just at present the mill men are endeavoring by cutting out the profits of middlemen to get their prices down to a competitive basis. They say, however, while doing so, that this will not prove a sufficient remedy, and that until they get protection from the Dominion government the lumber trade will be an unprofitable investment."

In the Pulpits

What the Local Pastors Talked About Sunday

Decision of Character was the subject chosen by Mr. Roberts for the evening discourse in the Methodist Church. The text was Prov. 4 : 23: "Keep thy heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life." It is not enough to be negatively good, there must be active progressive goodness in order that the life may be right with God. If every Christian in Enderby was an active worker—a living exponent of the teachings of Christ—what a tremendous power they would have for good and for God. Solomon in this chapter urges, first, that we do no evil—that is, be negatively good; then teaches how to do well—that is, to be actively good. The worst of all conditions is to be colorless, half-hearted and weak. In the book of Revelation God's thought towards the half-hearted Christian is shown in the message to the Laodicean Church found in the 3rd chapter. There are many who make good resolutions, but do not follow these with action; many who are like Reuben, unstable as water and cannot excel; many are like Esau, willing to sell their birthright for a very little. It is easy to step from the straight and narrow way, and we need to keep our hearts with all diligence. In the text there is, first, a great duty: "Keep thy heart." To have the active principle of right we must keep a strict watch upon the inner self—the source of our outward life. Keep out bad thoughts; keep in good thoughts; keep the affections on the right object and keep them in control. There is also a good reason why we should perform the duty: "for out of it are the issues of life." It is important that the reservoir should be full, and the water pure, that the water supply may be right. It is important to have the heart full of sympathy, kindness and love—in a word, full of the love of Christ; and it is also important to keep the heart pure: "for out of it are the issues of life." The only way to do this is to let Christ in to reign in the heart and life.

At the Presbyterian Church, Sunday morning, the Rev. Mr. Marshall took for his text the 17th verse of the 5th chapter, 2 Corinthians: "Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." To the man, he said, that accepts Christ as his personal Saviour and renounces sin, all things do indeed become new. Sin hangs as a veil betwixt man and God, and shuts out the blessedness of liberty and sunshine of God's love; but by submission to His spirit the way becomes clear, and as a light unto our path. Things that were a pleasure before and eagerly sought after, now become distateful—there is a nobler desire. The Bible presents truths that were never understood before, and it becomes a bosom friend—a constant companion. Instead of selfish desires, there comes into the heart a love for your fellowman, and an earnest wish that others should realize the joy of His service.

Sometimes, he said, the question is asked: does sin remain in the heart after conversion? Yes; but by continuous striving and wrestling it can be overcome by the Grace of God; and we may become so near unto the life of Christ that it will not harm us. We have been born again; brought from death unto life, by the death of Christ.

Self-control has to be attained before we can ever overcome passion, evil thoughts and desires, and many other forms of inward sin; and by putting on the whole armor of God we may be proof against the outward sin.

In conclusion, he made an earnest appeal that we should strive after a more thorough knowledge of the truths and wisdom of the Bible, and become more faithful as co-workers in Christ.

OUR CONUNDRUM CORNER.

They roused him with muffins—They roused him with ice—They roused him with mustard and cress—They roused him with jam and judicious advice—They set him conundrums to guess.

Just Wait a Little.

A little boy, who had a good idea of his artistic ability, was found by one of his father's friends at work drawing a picture.

"What are you doing?" he asked the boy.

"I am drawing a picture of God," replied the boy, hardly looking up from his work.

"Why, you cannot draw a picture of God," said the friend. "No one draws a picture of God, because they do not know what He looks like."

"I know it," replied the youthful artist, "but they will when I get through."

Must Have One to Know.

Last week a strapping negro woman was up before a magistrate, charged with unmercifully beating her boy.

"I don't understand how you can have the heart to treat your child so cruelly," said the magistrate.

"Jedge, has you been a parent of a wuffless yaller boy like dat ar cub of mine?"

"Never—no, never!" With great vehemence, and getting red in the face.

"Den don't talk; you don't know nuffing about it."—Philadelphia Ledger.
