Dear Mrs McVicar:

It must seem like old times to be reading a "memorandum" prepared by EJ but I thought it might be helpful to both Mrs Brack and yourself and might clarify the situation with regard to the contribution to be made by Mr Glenn. I know that he is much respected by the Association and that it might therefore be well for a direct approach to be made to him in whatever way you and Mrs Brack may think best.

Do not be too surprized if you receive some wild appeals for help during the coming weeks in looking up dates, spelling of names, etc. It is rather difficult to work so far away from the original sources but so far (though I am keeping my fingers crossed) I find that my arduous labours in making all those excerpts are yielding good dividends.

I do hope that y ur parents stood their long journey well and that they are enjoying their visit with you. I can well understand your anxiety concerning them. These are difficult days for elderly people, especially in Britain, but it must be a tremendous comfort to them to have you nearby.

The address given above will reach me until further notice but before very long I hope to have one of my very own.

With all good wishes,

yours very sincerely

Ethel Johns
