DOMINION REVENUE INCREASING

Mexican Trade Relations—Death of Senator Dever—Militia Bill

Ottawa, May 9—The statement of revenue and expenditure of the Dominion for the ten months ended April 30th, shows the revenue to be $56,728, 716, compared with $52,616,841 for the same time last year, an increase of $4,111,875.

The expenditure for the same period was $35,802,813, an increase of $70,000, showing a betterment in finances of over $3,500,000. The outlook is that the surplus at the end of the fiscal year on ordinary revenue will be in the vicinity of $20,000,000, and that there will be big reductions in the public debt.

P. M. Arredariz and Santiago Mendez, of Mexico, are here interviewing Postmaster-General Mulock in regard to steamship communications, trade matters and postal arrangements between both countries. They say that Mexico is anxious for closer trade relations with Canada.

Senator Dever died at St. Louis hospital today. His death leaves four vacancies in the Senate, two in Nova Scotia, one in British Columbia and one in New Brunswick.

(The late Hon. James Dever was born on May 2, 1825, at Ballyshannon, Ireland. He came as a child to New Brunswick with his parents and when he reached man's estate took an active part in the business and political interests of the province, amassing considerable wealth. He was a Liberal and was appointed to the Senate, March 14, 1868.) Dr. Sinclair, of Rossland, is lobbying for Reid's place.

The Minister of Militia will amend his Militia Bill so that a council of seven will have control of the Militia. This council will comprise four officers of the headquarters staff, and three civilians, the Minister of Militia, his deputy, and the accountant of the department.

Another Lardeau Mill

Reliable information has reached the Camborne Miner that the first payment on a ten-stamp mill has been made to the Allis, Calmeyer company, by the Elwood Tinworkers company, operating the Capper Dollar, Silver Dollar and Western Star groups here, and that the mill will be shipped early this summer. The mill is intended for the Silver Dollar group.

CAUGHT IN A CLEFT STICK

Russians Must Abandon Port of Newchwang.

RUSSIANS IN RETREAT ON MUKDEN

Isolated Positions on Liautung Must Fall Into the Hands of the Japanese Army.

Antung, May 9—Orders have been given to continue the Seoul Wiju railway on to Fenghwang with the idea of making the final terminal Liauyang on the Manchurian line half way between Newchwang and Mukden.

Fenghwang is now the Japanese headquarters, and the Japanese are concentrating at this trade centre, which is the junction of the roads from Wiju, Newchwang and also Pitzewo. The Russians are said to be pressing on in hot haste for Mukden, although they may stand at Liauyang on the main line so as to preserve communication with Newchwang. The rear guard is at present occupying Lien-shankwan on the road to Liauyang.

London, May 9.—It is reported from Port Adams that the entire Japanese army which landed here and at Pitzewo, 28 miles by road across the peninsula, number 60,000 men. To guard against attack along the line of railroad the bridges at Port Adams have been blown up. It is said that the entire Russian garrison at Port Arthur does not exceed 4000 men and the Japs expect that these men will fall into their hands as prisoners of war as also other parties which were on the coast of Korea Bay at Pitzewo, Takushan, Chingtaize and Tachwangho. At Talienswan (Dalny) there is a small garrison which with Port Arthur is cut off from all communication by the occupation of the railroad at Port Arthur and the main road at Pitzewo. It is expected that the Russians on the peninsula north of Pitzewo will attempt to retreat by the central valley between the two coast ranges by the road which connects Chingtaize with Hsiuyen 60 miles in the interior. Thence a road leads to Fenghwang, already in the hands of the Japanese, and a mountain pass, impassible to cavalry or artillery, with Kaiping, a point on the railroad 40 miles below Newchwang and about 100 miles north of Port Adams.

It seems therefore probable that the Japs will advance by the main line, leaving some 10,000 men to mask Port Arthur, and a small body to surround those Russians who have retreated up the Pitiho valley to Hsiuyen, junction being effected with the main army at Liauyang in front of the Russian position. This will also cut all communication with Newchwang. Should the Russians advance to defend Newchwang, their rear will be threatened by the main Japanese army advancing along the proposed railroad between Fenghwang and Liauyang.

EULOGY OF BOSTOCK

Backed for the Senatorship by the Liberals of Ymir.

Ymir, May 9.—On Saturday evening of the Ymir Liberal Association was held with President J. W. Ross, J. P., in the chair. The meeting was in connection with the vacancy in the Dominion Senate. A resolution was introduced and unanimously carried that the Ymir Liberal Association strongly urge upon the government appointing Hewitt Bostock, ex-M. P. for Yale Cariboo, to the Senate in place of the late Senator Reid.

At the meeting the sentiment was wholly in accord with this recommendation as it was felt that no man in British Columbia had done more to advance Liberalism than Mr. Bostock; further that he was a man of great influence and ability.

Copies of the resolution were forwarded to Sir Wilfred Laurier, W. A. Gallier, M. P., Duncan Ross,

President of the Interior District Council, Senator Templeman, the Minister of Justice, and to the Secretary of the Provincial Liberal Executive.

STRUCK WITH APHASIA

Ill Health of Hon. Joseph Chamberlain Is Causing Anxiety.

London, May 9.—From a Birmingham source the Canadian Associated Press learns that some anxiety prevails lest Mr. Chamberlain be unable to fulfil his Birmingham engagement of May 12. His medical advisers are strongly averse to his undergoing the mental strain and excitement of addressing a political gathering.

A slight recurrence of the aphasia which attacked him before his visit to Egypt, where he had hoped for a complete cure, has somewhat upset him.

PRIMROSE DAY.

Last week was celebrated in London with more than usual impressiveness, the centenary of the birthday of Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield. The day was doubly marked, for beyond the usual annual celebration, and we are told year by year increasing numbers of people scatter primroses over the memorial of the great statesman, it was the centenary of the birthday of the only Jew who ever succeeded in getting supreme control in England, gaining the personal friendship of its Sovereign, the plaudits of its people and the envy and admiration of England's friends and enemies. And the day, at this juncture of Imperial affairs, is of more than special note. At a time when most English statesmen, however high in position, of whatever party, were inclined to regulate the affairs of the predominant partner in the British Isles after the manner of Bumble in the famous borough of Eatonswill, to say of the Dominions over the Seas, "out the painter," and let them go, Disraeli stood forth as the champion of the Empire, not champion of Little England, nor of Great Britain, but the world wide Empire, which is now fast approaching form and shape as the sculptors chisel out of the rough block of marble the lineaments of a statue as the exemplar of things great and noble down through the ages. It was not given to Disraeli to be more than the Herald of Empire. The work which he did in forcing recognition from a proud and longlineaged aristocracy as the leader of their party, despite his poverty and his foreign extraction, in winning them over to see that the aristocracy of birth, of education, of training, had nothing in common with a mere plutocracy, but had all things in common with the man of the farm, manufactory and the mines, whose fellow countrymen, whose compeers they were on the field of common sport, added to the task of overcoming by his logic and his lightning like repartee, for his was no gift of oratory, the greatest orator the little island had seen since the days of that whirlwind, Burke; all these together, aged a man who lived strenuously every moment of his time. But one of the proudest moments to a man who has recognized the value of the teachings of Disraeli, is that his chief exponent today is the old time "rad," the bad man, reputed Socialist and demagogue, Joseph Chamberlain.

COMPARATIVENESS.

There is little, perhaps nothing, altogether absolute in this world, everything is comparative. Young, we judge, error is error, and therefore culpable. Older we see that while error is still error, yet all mankind is liable to error, and the cleverest man is he who makes the fewest. As a famous whist player declares 'we win by making fewer mistakes than our opponents, not by displaying greater skill.' Great Britain has gone notably prepared into all her wars. We seem fated never to win our first campaign. During the Boer war red tape had tied down the War Office till the kingdom was in a state of absolute unpreparedness. Everything had to be bought at the last moment. Cavalry swords, to take one in stance out of many, were only supposed to be in reserve to the number of 8000. This when the country knew it had to fight the Boers on their veldts, open campaign country where the cavalry arm was most needed of all in the service. This was bad enough, but when the test came it was found that the 3000 had come down to 80. All because some cursed quill driver thought he knew more than practical men. It is an English fault and has to be owned up to. Such instances have been known in the Rossland mines. Yet there must be good qualities which makes up for these shortcomings. Now during the Boer war it was said that had Russia, had Germany, had the United States had its conduct the war would not have been protracted to its length. The utter annihilation of the Germans in dealing with a black tribe, not strong fighters like the Boers, the Hereros must make these young unfledged critics take water. Just such a similar instance is being afforded by the Russians against the diminutive Japs. An ordinary Boer could take two of them and crack their skulls together putting them out of business. Or the United States which began the war with the Philippine islanders fifteen months before the Boer war, and now that war is concluded amicably these two years, are still barely able to count for their own territory more than the soldiers feet tread upon. And this against people who are armed with bolos and sumpitans. No one doubts the strength and courage of the man of the United States any more than he does that of the Russian or the German. They have all proved to be good fighters. All have their good qualities. Only they make more mistakes than we do, whatever those may be.

BOUNDARY OF ALASKA

Three Survey Parties from Both Countries Undertaking Work.

Ottawa, May 9.—Mr. W. F. King, Dominion Astronomer, leaves here on the joint survey of the Boundary line between Alaska and the Yukon Territory that was defined by the International Commission which met last year in London. Mr. King will only go as far as Vancouver, which will be the starting point for the surveyors. Mr. Otto H. Tittmann will act in the same capacity as Mr. King for the United States.

There will be three surveying parties for each country. Of these two parties on each side will follow up the valley of the Chilkat River and its tributaries on the Lynn Canal. Another party for each side will make a survey up the Stikine River. It is expected that about one-tenth of the survey work required will be completed this year. The line will be surveyed where it runs through the valleys, and not across the mountains.

The distance from Mount St. Elias to the head of Portland Canal is approximately 500 miles. Mr. J. J. McArthur of the Canadian Surveys left on Saturday to continue the resurvey of the 49th parallel between British Columbia and Idaho and Washington Territory, which was instituted two years ago.

The monuments will be of aluminum, and not steel, the former being able to stand the wear and tear better and being more easily transported.

Parrot Like Cry

London, May 9.—Right Hon. Henry Chaplin, M. P., at the annual banquet of the Dewsbury Chamber of Commerce said the only real objection raised by Chamberlain's proposals was the parrot cry, as silly as it was absolutely untrue, that food would cost more. Instead of it increasing the proposals would substantially reduce the cost of living, that was the greatest certainty on earth.
