A DRIFTING RACE

Contest Called Off for Want of Wind.

SHAMROCK HAD A GOOD LEAD

Next Race Will Be on Thursday—Time of Start and at First Turning Buoy.

The race today was called off after nearly three hours had elapsed, there being no possible chance of either boats covering the course within the time limit of five hours.

At the time of the start there was hardly enough wind to fill out the sails of the racers, and all morning the wind was very light and shifting continually.

The official time at the start was given as follows:

Shamrock.....11.00.22
Columbia.....11.00.10

The American thus having obtained the windward berth and twelve seconds start.

The course, was a triangular one, starting and ending at the Sandy Hook lightship, each leg of the triangle is ten miles, and the first turning buoy of the course was not cleared until nineteen minutes of three when the Shamrock managed to start off on the second leg at 2.41.36. The Columbia turned at 2.47.44, or three minutes and twenty seconds behind corrected time.

When the race was called off shortly after three o'clock the Columbia had gained somewhat on her rival, and both boats were heading for the second mark about one-half of the course having been covered.

The next race will take place on Thursday over a similar course to that sailed today.

LONDON IS LIFELESS

Depression Caused by the War Paralyzes Intellectual Activity.

London, Eng., October 1.—There are few subjects under discussion in the press. The changes are still being rung upon the competition in the steel trade and the centralizing movement in the copper and tobacco industries. Arthur Chamberlain has introduced new licensing proposals at Birmingham, which are exciting serious discussion among radical temperance men.

There is little life in public controversies, even the extremists of the church congress, meeting next week at Brighton, seem to have proclaimed a hollow truce, and Mr. Morley, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Mr. Asquith, and Sir Edward Grey, in their approaching campaign in Scotland, are likely to only fight over again the faction feuds of distracted Liberalism. The depression caused by a wearisome war seems to paralyze all intellectual activity.

Don't think that you are going to get the worst of it just because we are offering our photos at such reduced prices. We guarantee them better than you can get anywhere else in the Kootenays, or money refunded. Carpenter & Co.

REPLY TO MR. FRECHEVILLE

Letter From the Miners Union to the Le Roi Director.

CORRECT VERSION OF THE SITUATION

The Eight-Hour Law and the Rate of Wages--Provincial Taxes--All Other Mines Pay the Scale--Conference in 1900--Other Points Noted.

Concerning the strike situation a statement said to have the approval of Mr. Frecheville appeared in the Rossland Miner this morning and in this issue of the WORLD, appears the reply of the union men, which was handed to Mr. Frecheville this afternoon.

Rossland, B. C. Sept. 30, 1901.
R. J. Frecheville, Esq.
Rossland Great Western Mines, Ltd., Rossland, B. C.

Dear Sir:
We wish to acknowledge receipt of your communication of this date and the copy of your resume of the situation here which you kindly forwarded to us. After carefully considering all the points in detail presented in the document, we cannot but believe that the decision of your directors to make no concessions to our request was brought about through a mistaken impression of the situation in Rossland.

We wish to submit for your consideration the points in which we believe the directors have received a mistaken impression. We have enumerated in each section what we believe to be a more correct version of the situation.

I.
At the time of the enforcement of the eight hour law by the Province of British Columbia the miners were not working on a ten hour basis. The system prevailing in British Columbia and the adjoining states of the United States was as follow: Ten hours constituted a days work on the day shift except on Saturday when nine hours constituted a days work. Nine hours was a days work on the night shift except Saturday night. On Saturday night eight hours was a shift, the two crews working alternately two weeks day shift and two week night shift.

A careful calculation will show the average hours per week per man to have been sixty five and one half hours for each seven days, or slightly over nine hours per day. However there was a large proportion then working eight hours, it being the rule that in all shafts and other places where from bad air or water, the conditions were unusually uncomfortable for the miners, eight hours constituted a days work. The proportion was at least 10 per cent of the underground employees who were working eight hours before passage of the eight hour law. These would lower the average days work of the whole mine to a very slight fraction over nine hours per day.

Also before the eight hour system was adopted, it was customary for the men to go underground and come to the surface on the time of the company, that is their time was in force from the time they left the surface until they came to the surface, having completed their shift under the present system in Rossland, the eight hours now worked includes only time actually employed in the mine. Where formerly a man left the surface at 7 a. m. he now leaves the surface in time to be at his place of work at 7 a. m., which still further lowers the loss of time to the company by enforcement of eight hour law. We believe a careful computation of this loss of time will demonstrate it to be not two hours per day, but the average reduction by the enforcement of the eight hour law was about three-fourths of a hour for each shift.

II.
The tax on output of mines was increased on all mines of British Columbia, and in no camp except Rossland has it been used as an argument for reduction of wages.

III, IV, V.
Are answered by the answer to section one, there was no straight ten hour system in the Rossland mines at any time.

VII, VIII.
There was no contract system in Rossland at this time, but a few isolated contracts were worked, but by mutual consent of the union and the companies, the straight wage system was adopted.

IX, X, XI, XII.
There has never been any strike ordered by the Rossland Miners till the one in force at the present. In February, 1900, the mines were partially closed down, and the managers of the principal companies announced they would be only operated under the contract system. On hearing the representations of the officials of the Dominion and Provincial government, and having the written declarations of the mine managers that the contract system would not be used to lower the wage scale and that the prices for contracts would be such that miners could make the regular scale of wages or better, and on their representations the Miners' Union accepted the system proposed and the mines were opened.

XVI.
(a) In our demands in regard to muckers wages we only ask the scale of wages paid in all mining camps of this section and in some mines in the Rossland camp.

(c) Says that the hours for blacksmiths be reduced one hour per day, reading as though it included all blacksmiths whereas it includes only one half the blacksmiths, those employed on the day shift.
(d) This demand is only for a continuance of a privilege which had always been in force at this camp till February 14th, 1901, and had been promised to be continued by the managers at the time of the adoption of the contract system. It is in no sense a demand for free access to the companies property but only to such parts where the men congregate while off duty and in no way could be considered to mean a right to go underground or in the offices of any place about the works where it could interfere with any of the work about the mine.

(e) We have never insisted in any demands that the Smeltermen's union at Northport should interfere with the companies right to discharge employes for any reason whatever, except when discharged for being a member of the union.

XVII.
Reads that the union ordered a strike without submitting the demands to the manager. We had in April, 1901, asked both the managers of the principal mines in Rossland to meet a committee from the Miners union to discuss some way in which the conditions could be adjusted. The managers ignored our request to be allowed to present our grievances and we were compelled to order the strike with out a conference by which the grievances might have been adjusted.

XIX.
In regard to accessibility, climate, etc., these factors are as potent or more potent in favor of the mining companies than to the men, especially as mining companies in isolated regions and which operations are hindered by severity of climate and lack of water, fuel, transportation, etc. all pay the scale of wages asked by the miners of Rossland.

Also the managers have stated that there has been a long contemplated plan to reduce wages in Rossland, which is evidenced by the scale of wages submitted, in which wages of one-half of the timbermen in the mines are reduced from $3.50 to $3.00 per day.

In conclusion we would state that we believe a careful consideration of the attached explanation and an amicable desire by both parties to come to some understanding, would lead to some measures by which affairs could be adjusted on a permanent and satisfactory basis to both parties.

BOTHA MADE AN ATTACK

British Lost one Officer and Eleven Men Besides Many Wounded.

Durban, Natal, Oct. 1.—A force of 115 Boers commanded by general Botha made an attack which lasted all day long, on Sept. 29th, on Portitola, on the border of Zululand. The burghers were repulsed but at a very heavy cost to the garrison, whose losses were 1 officer and 11 men killed, and 5 officers and 38 men wounded. In addition, 63 men are missing, of number many are believed to have been killed or wounded. The Boer commandant, Opperman, and 19 burghers are known to have been killed.

MUZZLE THE MINER.

Down at Colville yesterday with a view subsequently of arriving at a settlement of the difficulties in the Northport smelter a sawoff was arranged between Attorney Murphy of Denver, representing the smelter unionmen, and the lawyer for the Le Roi company. The union, it will be remembered, had half a dozen cases against Kadish, Lamb, and other employes of the Le Roi company, for openly carrying fire arms and for other gross violations of the law. The smelter company also had some alleged charges against the union men based on the allegations made in the injunction proceedings.

All these cases came up for trial yesterday and by mutual consent each side withdrew its charges and refused to prosecute.

Commenting on the position taken the Spokesman yesterday said: "Underlying the dismissal of the several defendants presumably there is a settlement of the labor difficulties and the announcement of results will no doubt come forth as soon as it is known that all parties have kept faith in all matters of settlement of the criminal cases."

In order to help on a settlement at the smelter Mr. Bernard Macdonald's private property, the Rossland Daily Miner says this morning with reference to the joint withdrawal of the cases.

"This is a striking commentary on all the wild talk that has been indulged in as to the law-breaking tendencies of the new smelter staff." This is one way of bringing about an understanding between the contending parties and is in line with all the efforts for peace and prosperity put forward by the Miner since the trouble began. If Mr. Frecheville hopes to get a satisfactory settlement before he leaves the camp he should muzzle the Miner forthwith or that charming publication will unquestionably prolong the dispute and prevent the possibility of any adjustment.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The revenue of Canada has increased in twenty years from $29,000,000 to $51,000,000, the imports from $103,300,000 to $189,600,000, the exports from $89,200,000 to $191,800,000, the railway mileage from 7000 to 17,000, the railway earnings from $27,000,000 to $70,000,000, the assets of the chartered banks from $198,000,000 to $440,000,000.

The successful prosecution of Geiser, the American contractor, by the miners' union, shows that the alien labor law is not a dead letter if the men concerned care to enforce it. That does not alter the fact that the government should prosecute such cases. It should be left to no individual or corporation to enforce the law of the land. That is one of the first duties of government.—Kootenay Mail.

It is reported from Ottawa that Mr. Ralph Smith, M. P., may be made minister of labor. If it is intended to maintain a portfolio of labor, we do not know any one who could bring to bear upon the discharge of its duties a better spirit and a wider knowledge of the subject than Mr. Smith, and the Colonist will very heartily congratulate him if such promotion comes his way.—Colonist.

gratulate him if such promotion comes his way.—Colonist.

If two parties have a dispute about property, the courts arbitrate the matter and the parties to the affair must abide by the decision, whether they like it or not; but when a great corporation on the one hand and workers on the other have a dispute the fogies say that the courts have no jurisdiction to adjust the matter, but should stand to one side and see fair play only and let them fight it out, if it turns the country into insurrection and possibly civil war! Compulsory arbitration is all right where property is concerned—that's different! Men are not worthy the attention of a court. They are only playthings for the rich private owners.—Lardeau Eagle.

THE Real Situation.

Rossland, B. C., Sept. 5th, 1901.

To the Citizens and Business Men of Rossland and Vicinity and to the General Public:

The Le Roi mine manager has been circulating a report that the strike here is practically at an end and the mines are about to resume. This report has been taken up by their organ, the Morning Miner, and sent out over the country as a true report of the situation in Rossland. We have made a careful analysis of the situation here and believe that no impartial reader can see much reason for the joyful enthusiasm which Mr. Bernard Macdonald and his paper profess to feel.

For three and one-half months the strike has been in force at Northport. The greatest claim Macdonald or Kadish have ever made during that time is that they have been able to operate two of the five furnaces at the smelter. It is only a question of simple arithmetic to see that if it takes three and one-half months to start two furnaces, it will take eight and three-fourths months before they can have the smelter in operation. Now, if it takes eight and three-fourths months to raise the 500 men necessary to start the smelter it will take twice that many, or seventeen and one-half months, to secure 1000 men for the mines in Rossland. Or, at the end of twenty-six and one-half months, if Macdonald has the same success he claims to have had thus far at the smelter, he will be in a position to work the mines.

No one can deny or dispute that Bernard Macdonald has left no stone unturned to secure men for the smelter at Northport. He has cast his drag net over the states of Minnesota, Colorado, California, Oregon, Missouri, Montana, or, practically, over the entire country west of the Mississippi river, and has been able to start but two of the five furnaces at the Northport smelter. This is the success he boasts. He claims the strike is at an end. It has only begun.

So far we have taken as true his statements that he has two furnaces in operation at Northport. We wished to prove how futile are his statements by his own evidence. The real truth is he has never had two furnaces in successful operation at one time for 24 hours. They have produced no matte for shipment up till August 25. He claims to have shipped one carload on August 21. That it was the highest in value of any shipment made. The records of the railroad at Northport fail to show any trace of matte shipments on or about August 21. If any shipment was made it was via the Columbia river route and rests at the bottom of the river.

He also claims to be able to start the mines in Rossland. Apparently he does not realize there is an alien act in Canada, for of the 30 employes now at the mines all but two have been brought here in direct violation of this law and will be deported inside of two weeks. He has in eight weeks been able to secure but two scabs in Canada. Now, if the Canadian people should, to his surprise, enforce their laws, even if it does hurt the feelings of Bernard Macdonald, how long will it take to start the mines at the ratio of two every eight weeks? And as yet there is not a miner in the lot.

We are not deceiving the miners of Rossland by false promises. We hope for an honorable settlement of the difficulties here. The sooner the better it will suit the union miners of Rossland. But if it is necessary to continue this fight to its final end the union miners and smeltermen will stand shoulder to shoulder for carrying on the fight.

This war was forced on these unions. We entered the struggle full of a belief in the justice of our cause and confident of our ability to carry it successfully to an end. This belief has never been shaken for an instant, and certainly is not when we consider the almost unbroken line of successes which have thus far attended our efforts.

BOSS SKIPPERS

The Men at the Tiller and the Wheel.

CAPTAINS SYCAMORE AND BARR

Pair Are Well Watched—Barr Was Born in Scotland—Has Sailed in Many Races.

Capt. Sycamore, of the Shamrock, known as "Wicked Willie," has the well-earned reputation of being the most skilful and daring sea jockey to be found anywhere in Europe.

He is strongly in favor of abandoning the arrangement which allows each boat two clear minutes in which to get started. He thinks the flying start, now almost universal in yacht racing, is preferable.

He thinks it preferable because he knows his prowess as a sea jockey. He is full of crafty manoeuvres to nose his boat first over the line. He believes his crew to be smarter than that possessed by his American rival. He remembers the work done by his sailors on Shamrock I. at the starts, and this time he wants his crew to do a little better. So he wants a flying start.

Captain Sycamore is a weather-beaten salt, with bold, rugged face, eyes set wide apart, denoting great intelligence, a heavy-set jaw, denoting tenacity, and the broad-shouldered, big-statured figure of a sea captain.

Captain Charles Barr, the man who guides the Columbia for the second time in her contest for the cup, is an American by adoption. He was born in Scotland thirty-five years ago. His reputation as a racing skipper is the best. He followed a seafaring life along the English coast several years. He sailed many races in American waters under foreign colors. In 1893 he took charge of the Navahoe and afterwards of the Vigilant. He steered the Columbia when she held the cup against Shamrock I. His faith in the yacht is unbounded. "She is the fastest thing that ever went by sail power," he says. Captain Barr is an expert on racing rules. He is courageous and cool-headed, and for his quickness to accept any legitimate advantage in a race is known as the "jockey of the seas."

THE ATHABASCA.

Work Will Not Be Resumed in the Near Future—No Control of the Venus.

The Nelson Tribune says: "For the past few days the rumor has been persistently circulated that the deal by which the Athabasca company was to secure control of the Venus property has fallen through. While it has not been possible to verify the rumor, it has received some confirmation from the circumstance that the Athabasca management has decided upon removing a quantity of stores from the mine to Nelson. This is taken to mean that there is no prospect of the company resuming work either on the Athabasca or the Venus within the immediate future.

EVADING ALIEN LAW

More Men From Joplin, Mo., Brought to Northport-- Later Are Sent Here.

Northport, Wash., Oct. 1.—A special train of three Great Northern passenger coaches arrived here on Saturday afternoon with 99 strike breakers from Joplin, Mo., on board. The train was run directly to the works of the Northport Smelting and Refining company and the men were unloaded there without noteworthy incident. This makes the third shipment from Joplin, and with the men brought in from Leadville, Col., and Keswick, Cal., a total of about 350 men have been imported by the company since the beginning of the strike. A great many men have come in singly and in small groups not under the charge of the smelter employment agents. While there is no way of arriving at the exact number of these arrivals it can not be much less than 300, or a grand total of 650 new men in the past ten weeks. As the Alien Labor Law makes it unsafe for the company to send new men directly through to the mines at Rossland, they are put to work in the plant here and as soon as they get a few dollars ahead they quit work and go to Rossland. In this way the mines are rapidly securing a force of men, notwithstanding the unfavorable Alien Labor Law which the unions have relied on to keep contract labor out of British Columbia.

THE METHOD TO FOLLOW

New Zealand's Way of Settling Industrial Disputes.

In industrial disputes in New Zealand the method is as follows:

First try—By boards of conciliation, both sides fairly represented.

Second try—Failing agreements by conciliation, the court of arbitration, whose findings are binding and duly enforced by law.

Since the New Zealand act became law (August, 1894), 210 cases of disputes have been settled.

A few were withdrawn. Twenty-four cases settled by agreement.

One hundred and nine cases came before the board of conciliation.

Sixty-eight cases came before court of arbitration.

Conciliation board award accepted in 28 cases out of 109—remainder sent on to arbitration court.

Public results—Fair settlements; industrial peace; no strikes.

Canada has courts of conciliation and has provided facilities for voluntary arbitration, but New Zealand crowns the edifice by its authoritative arbitration court. It will be observed that in New Zealand opportunity for reflection is provided by having all cases go first through the courts of conciliation; which takes a good deal off the edge of the charge that in New Zealand the arbitration act is an arbitrary act. It comes in—in the interest of the whole public—only as the court of last resort; but when necessary, it gets there and does its work well.

A NEW LINE FOR INGRAM

Employing Strike Breakers at Winnipeg--Trouble All Over Here,

Ex-Chief Ingram, formerly of the Rossland police force, but who was discharged by the commissioners last spring, has adopted an entirely new line of business.

According to the Winnipeg "Voice," the labor organ of that city, the ex-chief has been busily engaged for some weeks trying to induce strike breakers to come to Rossland and work the mines here. The "Voice" says that the ex-chief had a letter from Bernard Macdonald authorizing him to employ men and he (the ex-chief) announced that the strike was all over here and that there would be no more difficulty. Ingram is expected to arrive here this evening.

Keep Your Eye on Meteor

METEOR is the new high-grade mining camp in the south half of the Columbia Reservation, seven miles west of the Columbia river, eight miles southwest of Daisy and 28 miles by good road from Meyers Falls. The townsite is in the centre of the rich aggregation of mines comprising the Meteor, Stray Dog, White Swan and Given groups, all of which are working in high-grade shipping ore. A great number of very promising properties are opening up in the vicinity. It is surrounded by a splendid agricultural, fruit growing and stock raising country, unequalled in the northwest, and has a splendid supply of timber for building and mining purposes, together with unlimited water power near it. It has already, besides a store, a number of buildings in course of erection, and a telephone service, saw mill, etc., will be in operation within a short time. Meteor is a high-grade camp of the real Leadville type, the ores mined being gold, silver, lead and copper. Picked assays have given as high as $140,000 to the ton, the average of the camp being about $35. You can't afford to forget Meteor. Now is your time to get in at bed-rock prices.
