SLOCAN ORES DO GO DOWN

End of Long Tunnel Reached at a Vertical Depth of 1600 Feet—Important Fact Demonstrated.

After eighteen months' of steady work, and an expenditure of close on to $50,000, the Galena ledge has at last been struck in the long tunnel at the Last Chance and a fine body of ore opened up, says the Denver Ledger.

The Galena tunnel is without doubt the finest crosscut ever driven in the province of British Columbia. It is 1800 feet long, 7x9 in the clear, and runs to tap the Galena ledge which outcrops very strongly on the surface, but has never been prospected below 50 feet. It was the heaviest mining gamble ever taken in the Kootenays. The tunnel crossed the ledge about three months ago in a barren spot and was driven 160 feet past it, before the managers decided, about a month ago, to raise and drift on a slip which looked as though it might be the vein. On Saturday last the ore was struck at a depth of 1600 feet, and a record made for long tunnel work in the Slocan.

This proves effectually the long-debated question, "Do Slocan ores go down?" and the success of the Last Chance company will be the signal for a new era in deep mining operations that will give the district a new and sounder prosperity.

B. C. COAL COMPANY

A Strong Concern Being Formed to Acquire All Claims.

Grand Forks, Jan. 24.—The Grand Forks Board of Trade last night adopted a resolution expressing regret at the action of the retiring city council voting itself a bonus of $1200. These officers were elected: President, E. Doberer; 1st vice-president, C. A. Powell; 2nd vice-president, Fred Clark; treasurer, Dr. Westwood, and secretary, Colin Campbell.

The British Columbia Coal company, limited, with a capital stock of $1,500,000 in shares of one dollar each, is being incorporated for the purpose of acquiring all the bituminous coal lands of the North Fork of Kettle river, 70 miles north of Grand Forks. A basis of consolidation of the interests owned there by claim owners of this city and Nelson, B. C., has been reached. Development work will be started in the spring.

THE LE ROI SETTLEMENT

Manager Mackenzie and the Miners' Union.

APPLIES TO THE LE ROI MINE ONLY

Negotiations Terminate Satisfactorily to Both Parties This Afternoon--Many Conferences Held--What the Union Executive Say of the Matter:

The negotiations that have been going on for the past week between John H. Mackenzie, manager for the Le Roi Mine company and the executive board of the Rossland Miners' union, were successfully completed this afternoon.

This only applies to the Le Roi mine.

Negotiations are being carried on with the other mining companies of the camp which have been affected by the strike but they are not yet completed.

Working men in outside camps are advised to keep away from Rossland for the present, as there are more union men at the present time here than can secure employment until a settlement has been effected with the other mining companies.

FRACTURED HIS THIGH

A Woodman Badly Injured This Morning--At the Hospital.

Hugh Glenoroff, a Rossland wood man, was out about four miles from the city this morning loading up wood, when a log came down the hill and struck him, fracturing his thigh in two places and otherwise injuring him.

Glenoroff was driven to his house and Dr. Coulthard was called in. After setting the fracture Dr. Coulthard ordered the man to the Sisters' hospital for further treatment and Glenoroff was taken there this afternoon. He is resting easily and will come out all right in time.

GOSSIP OF GREENWOOD

Knights of Pythias Meeting--Curling Club Formed.

Greenwood, Jan. 24.—Greenwood Lodge No. 29, Knights of Pythias, was officially visited last night by Grand Chancellor Commander Binns of Trail. After the lodge meeting a banquet was held at the Imperial hotel, between fifty and sixty attending, including visiting knights from Phoenix and Grand Forks.

A curling club was formed last night with the following officers: James Russell, president; Rev. Dr. McRae, vice-president; J. H. Humphrey, secretary-treasurer. The other members of the executive are F. J. Finucane and A. W. Stickland, both of the Bank of Montreal staff, F. B. Mytton, Canadian Bank of Commerce, and James N. Birnie. There are a number of enthusiasts here, so that it is likely that the game will be well supported through the winter.

ASSESS SHARES

Velvet Mines to Be Reconstructed.

ABOUT $100,000 IS REQUIRED

Proposal Is to Assess the Shares 2s 6d Each—Transportation Facilities.

A circular has been issued by the directors of the Velvet mine, in which a scheme for reconstruction is placed before the shareholders with the object of raising about $25,000 for further working capital. The proposal is to assess the shares for 2s 6d each, which will be called up by instalments extending probably over one year or more. This mine, and, in fact, all the properties on Sophie mountain, have been greatly handicapped by the lethargy of the government in providing transportation facilities, which has made the cost of development abnormally high, and the getting in of suitable machinery a most arduous and costly undertaking. The experience at this mine has been the same as at those situated on Red Mountain—that down to the 400-foot level, the ore bodies are broken and faulty, but below that they become regular. Although Mr. Sorensen, the manager, reports that he has taken out ore ready for shipment running as high as $30 a ton, the sale of which would provide money for development, it will be a short-sighted policy not to provide the necessary working capital to carry on operations on a large scale by which great economies can be effected.

THE KING'S INSURANCE

Nearly $15,000,000 Placed on King Edward's Life by His Subjects.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—If Edward VII were to die before the coronation it would mean, in addition to the passing of the world's greatest monarch, that nearly $15,000,000 insurance money would be paid to his heirs and to the business men in England.

This immense sum, with the exception of $3,000,000 which King Edward carries on his own life, and nearly three millions placed by persons who have an interest in his royal existence, has been carried by the English companies in favor of the infinite variety of tradesmen against the King's coronation. The merchants and tradesmen of the great metropolis are spending millions in money, counting on immense profits during the fete week in which the King is to have the crown placed upon his head as the culmination of the most magnificent ceremony the world has known. If this ceremony should not take place many of the traders would be financially crippled and bankrupted, on which they pay large premiums.

ENGLISH UNIONS.

Under the heading of "Do Trade Unions Limit Output?" in the current number of The Contemporary Review, Clement Edwards answers the charge preferred by the London Times against Trade Unions, and Mr. Clements' answer is decidedly in the negative.

Referring to the attitude adopted by the Times in the past to Trade Unions, the writer in the Contemporary says:

"Upon various occasions during the past forty years the Times has put forth special efforts to secure the suppression of Trade Unions, or a crippling restriction of their liberties. Hitherto the effect of its efforts has invariably been to broaden the liberties of the unions."

In a lengthy article Mr. Edwards reviews the Times' article on the "go easy" and other charges, and refutes them one by one.

Concluding his refutation, the writer says:

"It may be freely admitted that the unions have often behaved unreasonably. It may be openly confessed that they have at different times attempted to oppose unwise conditions upon their employers. It may be frankly said that some of their strikes have been grossly unreasonable, and quite indefensible. Finally it goes almost without saying that within the ranks of the unions there are lazy and skulking fellows who hate work. This phenomenon of idleness and indolence is innate in human nature in all ages, and in every country, in unions and out of them. But after saying all this, we are still far removed from the charges that the unions connive at laziness, and that their leaders secretly urge a policy of "go easy." For these grave charges against the great Trade Union movement, as I hope I have shown, there is no justification."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mr. Lowery of the Ledge has gone south for his health. He announces his departure this way in the last issue of his paper: "The editor has gone on a trip to the sunny clime of Southern California. He left his trunk and bulldog behind. Watch the fire fly when he hits the trail in the land of roses and dusky maidens."

The Toronto Globe of 50 years ago contained the following information: "A woman has been tried and convicted in Virginia for teaching a slave to read the bible, and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. According to the indictment she, not having the fear of God before her eyes, but moved and instigated by the devil, wickedly and maliciously and feloniously did teach a negro woman to read the bible, to the great displeasure of Almighty God."

The people of Cartersville, Ga., a prohibition town menaced with a saloon on account of a court decision regarding the sale of liquor in original packages, passed the following resolution, which is published in The Atlanta Journal: "Resolved, first, we don't want any original package or any other package of whiskey sold in Cartersville; secondly, we are not going to have any sold here; thirdly, we will make an original package out of any damnable scoundrel who tries it, in fifteen minutes."

That the amount of oxygen in a room is decreased alarmingly by our methods of illumination the following simple statements show: A man may exist for an hour in a fair-sized room hermetically sealed if he has no light burning. Place a lighted candle in that room with him and his existence will be shortened fifteen minutes. If he had a lamp instead of a candle in order to make himself more comfortable with additional light, he would live only half an hour. If he had two good gas burners he would scarcely have time to make his will, for he would not live more than five minutes—London Science Findings.

Sir Wilfred Laurier's recent speech at Toronto has won the heart of even that conservative of Conservative papers, The Ottawa Citizen. "There was," it says, "robust Canadian sentiment in his declaration of conviction that Canada can get on without the United States, and find better markets within the empire; and there was a pleasant, patriotic optimism in his assertions that within a decade or two Canada will be the greatest wheat-producing country in the world, as well as the chief rival of the United States in iron and steel products. That's the way to talk. This country is too modest."—Ex.

The policy of arbitration and conciliation has recently accomplished a victory in Boston, where a threatened strike of 5000 teamsters was averted by the intervention of the governor of the state, the mayor of the city and the president of the Chamber of Commerce. Through this intercession a compromise was effected in which the teamsters receded from nearly half of their demands and employers conceded the remainder. This is the second notable case of strike prevention since the beginning of the year, and augurs well for the policy inaugurated a few months ago by the formation of the National Civic Federation.—Post-Intelligencer.

Next, the province of British Columbia needs a man at the head of its government who will build a government lead smelter and refinery and operate these institutions in such a way as to rescue the grasp of the United States smelter trust. THE SOCIALIST Views of Rev. Vrooman of Vancouver.

WHERE THE CHURCHES STAND

Christianity Stands for Civic and National Righteousness—What the Churches Must Do.

Today the churches may not be doing anything very practical along Socialist lines as churches, but the members of churches are everywhere in the front rank of social reform and progress. Christianity is still the inspiration of crusaders for civic and national righteousness. Men who think are coming to see that they cannot apply consistently the laws of Christ to modern commerce and industry without becoming Socialists of a more or less virulent type.

Of course, many refuse to be consistent and remain conventional Christians, whose religious life is a sanctified selfishness and whose holiest desire is to escape safely from this evil world into the bliss of heaven. But with this increasing clearness it is coming into the thought of the world that Christ is to be king over the affairs of men as well as the savior of sinners, and that the kingdom of God is concerned with railroads, slums, land laws, and politics as well as with prodigal sons and pharisees.

Practical and earnest Christians are everywhere seeing that the logical consequence of their principles of life must be industrial and political development on Socialist lines toward an era of universal co-operation; fraternity, and peace. They see that the competitive system, based upon private ownership, must yield to more Christian methods of business ere the kingdom of Christ is consummated on the earth.

There is an urgent reason why the pulpit and the church must consider their duty to social questions. The conception of social harmony and peace proclaimed by Socialism, which is treated as too secular for the pulpit, has become to multitudes of men the most sacred theme that engages their thought. It is to millions a sort of religion, and the indifference of the church alienates them from Christianity, to their own indefinite loss and the loss of the church. Without the spiritual life and moral fibre which Christianity imparts, any scheme of social reform would fail to accomplish permanent good.

Without attempting to guide men in their plans for social betterment the church loses touch with them, and is not a logical and consistent exponent of her own teachings. She must proclaim the kingdom of God in its social and political consequences to the state, as well as for the personal reformation of the individual sinner.—Rev. Mr. Vrooman, Vancouver.

What She Said.

In the high school one day last week a teacher desired to refresh a boy's memory and help him to answer a question. Acting on the supposition that a mental review would lead him to a correct conclusion, she said:

"Now, go away back—"

Unconsciously from the entire class there came a responsive murmur:

"And sit down."

The teacher was compelled to join in the audible smile, and hardly knows yet whether the boy's answer was right.—Rochester Post-Express.

A FAMILY REUNITED

After Twenty Years Husband and Wife and Son Meet Once More.

There was a happy reunion of a family, separated for over 20 years, in the Milwaukee depot yesterday afternoon. The participants were John M. Hawley, Rossland, British Columbia, his wife and son William, who had never seen his father until he met him in the railroad station yesterday.

Twenty years ago Hawley, who had been married only a few months, left Cornwall, England, to seek his fortune in America. He promised to return within a year and bring his bride to this country, but the fortune which he had hoped to secure within a few months was slow in growing. The one year he was to be away from home lengthened into 20, and last September he decided to write to Cornwall for Mrs. Hawley.

Hawley was away from home only a few months when a son was born, and although he heard frequently from him he never met the boy until yesterday.

The family left last night for Rossland, British Columbia, where they will reside.—Minneapolis Ex.

ELEVATOR BOY'S PLUCK

Ran His Elevator Through Flames to Save a Paralytic.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—The La Strain Hotel, a seven-story apartment hotel, was practically destroyed by fire today. Sixty women and children were in the building when the flames were discovered. About half of them were on the top floor at luncheon, and they were thrown into a panic. Otto Bela, the elevator boy, however, succeeded in making several trips through the smoke and flames and carried all of them to safety. The last person out of the building was a paralytic, whom the elevator boy carried to his car, and later into the street.
