COLISTRO CASE

Magistrate Finds Him Guilty of Assault.

TWO MONTHS AT HARD LABOR

The Court Believes the Complainant and Disbelieves the Accused—No Fine imposed.

The police court was packed this morning by an eager crowd, anxious to hear the trial of the Colistro assault case preferred by Joseph Horn. Not only was the body of the room crowded, but the doors and the windows were also filled all during the session. Hon. T. M. Daly conducted the prosecution and A. H. MacNeill K. C. defended Colistro.

The Assaulted Man.

Joseph Horn was the first witness called. He detailed his arrival here on last Saturday afternoon on the train from Northport. He said that Colistro was on the train and when he got out on the platform Colistro said to the crowd there "Here is the scab from Northport" and the crowd jered at him and called him scab and other names and swore at him.

The witness described his visit to the C. P. R. station and down through the town up to the time he arrived at the telephone office. During all this time Horn said he was followed by a crowd, one of whom was Colistro, who kept on calling him scab and other names. Some one of the crowd said, "we'll take the boy into the circus and make money out of him" and the witness, added, he was frightened at what was done. He called up the B. A. C. office and asked for protection. William Thompson the assistant general manager of the Le Roi came down and after some explanation took him up to the B. A. C. offices. No one called him names after Mr. Thompson came, but some of the crowd followed them both up to the offices along the street.

A Card Booster.

To Mr. MacNeill Horn said he had known Colistro only from the 7th of August, and had seen him twice before the row on the 10th of August. Horn admitted playing cards at the International Music Hall for money, and after some hesitation said that he had been paid for his card playing by "the game" and had been engaged as a "booster" in fact. "And now," said Mr. MacNeill "you are being paid for boosting the Le Roi game." At this the crowd roared and the police magistrate ordered the court to be cleared, which was at once done.

Mr. MacNeill went over the story told by the witness in chief, and succeeded in getting him to contradict some of his previous evidence. Horn said that he saw some one with brass buttons at the station and along the street and he thought they were policemen, but he never asked them for protection or appealed to them in any way.

No Strike on.

Horn said there was no strike in Northport so far as he knew. The men were discharged, he said, by the company and he was working for just as high wages as the union men got, $3 a day, so that he did not think he was a scab. Colistro did not hurt him when he pulled his coat.

Dr. Sinclair's Story.

Dr. Sinclair testified, after making some preliminary remarks, that he saw Horn, Colistro, Beamish and some others on the Washington street bridge on Saturday afternoon. He heard a chorus of "Here comes the scab," but did not observe anything that was done. Mr. MacNeill asked no questions.

Miss Kepkey, of the telephone office explained about Horn's calling up the Le Roi office and waiting until Mr. Thompson arrived and took him away. "He seemed scared," said the lady, "and was crying or looked as if he wanted to."

The Assistant Manager.

William Thompson, assistant manager of the Le Roi, told of his coming down to the telephone office on Saturday to help Horn out. There was a crowd about the place, of some 30 or more men and boys, but he had no difficulty getting into the office. Horn seemed badly frightened and he took him up to the company's office. No one shouted at them on the way, but some four or five men followed them right up to the B. A. C. offices.

To Mr. MacNeill the witness said he had not known Horn previously. That he was not armed on Saturday, and did not make a practice of carrying firearms in Rossland.

John Y. Cole was called but gave no material evidence. This closed the case for the prosecution at ten minutes to twelve.

For the Defence.

For the defence Mr. MacNeill called W. L. McDonald, who said he was at the station on Saturday afternoon and saw the usual crowd there. He noticed Colistro, whom he knew, looking for some one. He also saw Horn. He, Rupert Bulmer and some others, including Colistro, went down town along the west side of Washington street to the Allan house corner. They did not go over to the C. P. R. station. Horn was on the other side of the street, about a block or so ahead. The witness did not hear any shouting or calling of names. When they came to the Allan house corner Colistro said he wanted to see Horn or some one else, and left the party to go after Horn, who was going down towards the bridge. He did not know what happened after that, as he, Bulmer and some others went west along Columbia avenue.

Frank Woodside testified that he was secretary of the Miners' union and was at the railway station on Saturday afternoon. He had got word from Northport that some of the gang who had tried to get the union men into quarrels and fights at the smelter town recently, were coming up on the afternoon train and he went up specially to prevent any union men from breaking the peace. The union men knew how the game was played, which was to get some of the spotters to stir up trouble and cause a fight and then get the union men blamed for it.

He had not known Horn previously and Horn was not pointed out to him on Saturday by Colistro or anyone else, nor did he hear anyone say at the station "here comes the scab." He talked with Horn and asked him if he had been scabbing down at Northport, and found out who he was. He walked with Horn, side by side, over to the C. P. R. station, but did not go inside. He addressed Horn as "scab" because he was one. He told him he could go to Trail by the stage if he wanted to but did not tell him he must leave town or in any way threaten him.

He went down the east side of Washington street with Horn and to one enquirer who asked "what was up" he said "Oh! nothing only just a scab here he is." He did not search or attempt to lay hands on Horn nor did he see or know of any one who did. He left the party when Columbia avenue was reached and went up to the hall. Colistro was not one of the party who came down with Horn from the railway station to Columbia avenue. A "scab" was a man who took a striker's place at work. He would not like to be called a scab personally by any one. There were lists of scabs in the hall. Union men kept some track of scabs from camp to camp as these men tried to join the unions at times. He knew that Horn had got into the telephone office but when he inquired what had become of him later in the afternoon was told that another scab had come along and taken him away.

Rupert Bulmer, president of the miners union corroborated the evidence given by W. L. McDonald and in reply to Mr. Daly testified as to the existence of the miners union and the Western Federation of Miners.

The court adjourned at 1.15 until 2.30 o'clock.

After lunch Colistro, the accused, was called on his own behalf, but his story has to be held over for the present.

Mr. MacNeill said that all the evidence for the defence was now in and that the case was narrowed down to a meeting by the accused at the Red Mountain station and a subsequent meeting on the Washington street bridge a little later. Counsel referred to the injunction proceedings in force at Northport, and said that Colistro was afraid to talk to Horn, or the Italian Horn was with at Northport, and what took place in Rossland later so far as Colistro was concerned was only a continuation of the conversation at the Smelter town. No evidence had been given of any kind which implicated Colistro, except Horn's story, and all that Horn proved was that Colistro had taken hold of his coat once. So far as the union was concerned the officers had only tried to prevent trouble which they believed was being attempted to be put on them.

Mr. Daly then addressed the court and pressed for a conviction.

The magistrate said:

"The only conflict of evidence as to whether an assault took place at the Red Mountain station and on the Washington street bridge is between the stories of Colistro and the complainant. I believe the story of the complainant. I do not believe Colistro's story. I think the whole matter was a most disgraceful exhibition and reflects against all those who were engaged in it."

"I think," said the magistrate, addressing Colistro, "that you are the real cause of all this trouble, and you must be punished for it. The sentence of the court is that you be confined in the jail at Nelson with hard labor for the space of two months."

Mr. MacNeill: "There is an alternative, the prisoner has a right to pay a fine of $20."

The magistrate: "I think not, the law is clear. It is I who have the alternative, you can set me right on appeal if I am wrong."

The charge against Thomas Beamish was further adjourned until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock no evidence being taken today.

After the trial was over Mr. MacNeill said that an appeal from the magistrate's decision would at once be made.

Sale of the British Columbian Iron Works—Bridge Over the Fraser River Above Ashcroft.

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—Arrangements are still pending for the sale of the British Columbian Iron Works plant to the Albion Iron Works of Victoria. The deal will aggregate nearly $100,000.

The new bridge to cross Fraser river above Ashcroft for the accommodation of Cariboo people, according to a statement of Hon. W. C. Wells here today. Chief government engineer Gamble and expert Waddell, who is in charge of the Westminster bridge, left today to make an inspection. Mr. Wells said today that the Great Northern, Canadian Pacific and some other railway would be given the right-of way over the bridge. The Great Northern is expected to build into Vancouver from South Westminster on completion of the bridge.

American fishery authorities last night seized a Canadian fishing boat in American waters.

The provincial Epworth League convention opened here yesterday.

The New Vancouver Coal company have decided temporarily to close down No. 1 and Protection Island shafts.

The inquest concerning the death of Quinn, fire boss at No. 3 Extension, has been postponed one week in order to further investigate the matter. The cause of the explosion is still a mystery, but the theory is advanced that tool thieves, who have stolen a number of miners' implements of late, may be responsible. Quinn's body was not badly burned and the authorities do not believe the explosion was due to his carelessness.

Government Inspector Morgan is making a thorough inquiry. The mine is being flooded to extinguish the fire and several months must elapse before it can be pumped out and worked again.

THE CANADA'S CUP.

Captain Jarvis and the Invader have succeeded in re-capturing the Canada's cup at Chicago and the next battle for the championship of the great lakes will be sailed under Canadian management in old Ontario's blue waters. Jarvis is probably the best amateur sailor in America today. Some years ago in order to thoroughly master the details of the "sport of kings" he joined the crew of a sailing vessel as an able seaman and for two years sailed around the world before the mast. He now holds a mate's certificate and is in every sense a most practical sailor. During the last races for the America's cup off New York, Mr. Jarvis represented the Toronto Globe and his description of the races and criticism of both boats were quite the best and most readable of any published.

It was unfortunate that one of the three races awarded the Invader should have been won on a foul, but Captain Jarvis did not claim the advantage and had he been allowed to, under the rules governing the contest, would have sailed the race on its merits. Canadians have the additional joy of knowing that their boat not only defeated the cup representative but also the Milwaukee, the boat which so keenly contested with the Cadillac the honor of defending the cup.

Now that the cup is ours once more it is to be hoped that the Royal Canadian Yacht club of Toronto, the custodian of the trophy will be able to make good the boast "What we have we'll hold."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It is complained that the labor unions are endeavoring to compel men not in the unions to join them, and that this compulsion is without justification. Perhaps it is. But the methods of the trusts are entirely similar, and the labor unions are only following an example that they find necessary in the circumstances, to their preservation. The trusts compel similar establishments to merge their interests, under penalty of ruin. It "freezes out" those that refuse. If the trust is justified in its methods of combination and means of enforcing it, labor is justified in its efforts to unionize the workers of the mills.—Oregonian.

Anyone who fancies plain speaking should read The People, of Butte, formerly the Reveille. Here is an extract from the last issue: "For law villainy and imbecility, for absolute lack of honor and honesty, for unblushing advocacy of corruption, for prostitution of mind and conscience, for utter evil degradation we challenge, any one to produce a newspaper in the world that can compare with the Helena Record."

The Trades and Labor congress of Canada meets in the city of Brantford, Ont., on Sept 17th. The affiliated bodies have now before them the notices to select delegates; and the importance of the approaching congress should be the stimulus to enable as many western organizations as possible to send delegates.

A jack-a-napes by the name of Macdonald, manager of the Le Roi smelter at Northport, Wash., who is swelled by his own fancied importance set about it to crush out the smeltermen's union, not from any difference about wages or hours, but just from pure cussedness. He discharged all union men and started in to operate with non-union men but has only been able to operate one furnace spasmodically, and that has been "frozen" eighteen times since May 26 at an estimated cost of $10,000. Macdonald has tried every means to induce the union men to commit violence, but it is said to the credit of President Shed and the members of the smeltermen's union, his efforts in this direction have been barren of results. Macdonald's hired thugs have, on the contrary, time and again violated the law.—Pueblo Courier.

"A Great Show."

This is what the Topeka Daily Journal of June 14, said of the performances of Sells & Gray's United Shows, which are to be duplicated in Rossland on Tuesday next.

"The big tents were literally packed with people, and it may be said, to start with, that everybody was delighted with the performance. There were new and novel features that caught the crowd immediately. A band concert preceded the performance in the big tent, which was a treat for music lovers. The ring performance introduced the Earl Sisters, in thrilling aerial feats: the Tybells in evolutions on the lofty ladder; the six Eddys, whose acrobatic feats were wonderful; Miss Edna, a beautiful and daring performer, and many other famous in the ring, not to speak of the clowns, who kept the people in a roar of laughter from the opening tournament to the hippodrome races. Altogether, the performance is a kaleidoscope of marvelous feats and funny acts, and beyond doubt is one of the best ever seen in this city."

This coming from such a reputable paper as the Topeka Journal assures the people of the excellence of Sells & Gray's Show, and their tents will certainly be packed at the two performances at the ball grounds next Tuesday, Aug. 20th.

B. BANNETT,

WILL ARBITRATEProposed Measure Now Before Parliament.*SOME DETAILS OF THE BILL

Practically Compulsory Arbitration
—What Is Included Under the Head of Labor Disputes.

What is practically a compulsory arbitration law has been introduced into the imperial house of commons by Mr. Richard Bell, the British railwaymen's representative in parliament, says the Inland Sentinel. This measure is confined to disputes between railway companies in the United Kingdom and workmen employed by them, but it is framed along the lines of the New Zealand act, and there is no reason why it should not be made applicable to all industrial disputes.

The court of arbitration is to consist of three members, one appointed by each party to the dispute and a third by the two other members. If either party fails to appoint a member of the court within a week of being required in writing by the other party to do so, or if the two members appointed by the parties fail to appoint the third member within one week of their appointment, the president of the Board of Trade may make the appointment.

For the purposes of the act the expression "industrial dispute" includes a dispute with regard to any of the following matters:

- Remuneration of persons employed.
- Hours of employment and conditions of employment.
- Dismissal of or refusal to employ any person or persons.
- Employment of persons who are not members of a trade union.
- Any custom or usage of industry.

It is hard to say, of course, what the fate of this bill will be, but it certainly indicates the trend of public opinion in Great Britain, and it may be the precursor of a government measure having for its object the compulsory settlement of all industrial disputes.

The Denver Attorney.

Mr. Murphy of Denver, Col., attorney for the Western Federation of Miners, arrived at Northport last week to take charge of pending litigation between the smelting company and the union. Sunday afternoon he met a number of the business men at Savage's hall and discussed with them the situation involved in the injunction proceedings instituted by the smelting company against its former employees and citizens in general.—Northport News.

MINOR MENTION.

Fishing parties in Rossland now-a-days are thicker than blueberries. The market is not glutted, however.

A number of Rossland residents are enjoying a picnic in the vicinity of the Evening Star mine today.

Mrs. Dandrum has closed the Victoria dining room for the present.

William Soper will leave tomorrow morning for the Lardeau district where he has secured a lucrative position.

George Green, proprietor of the Grand Union hotel will leave today for Seattle, he will be gone about ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McDonald and family, who have resided in Rossland for several months, left yesterday for Grand Forks where they expect to reside in future. Miss Josie Macdonald, who has been teaching music here since arriving, accompanied the other members of the family and will pursue her profession in here new home. She is possessed of excellent talent as a musician and Grand Forks is a decided gainer by her presence.

Antone Sorrenson left today for Eholt, where he goes to work at the B. C. mine.

Miss Belle Brisky, who for some time has been residing with her sister Mrs. Beam, left for her home in Old Mission, Wash., today.

Nar Patterson, of the Queen cigar store, who has been ill for the past three weeks left on the noon train for Old Mission where he will join Mrs. Patterson. They will reside for the future in the country in the hope that by proper care, light exercise, and plenty of green corn Mr. Patterson may be able to thoroughly recover.

The Old Story.
Tweed, Ont. Aug. 15.—The thirteen year old daughter of W. F. Graham yesterday secured possession of her brothers rifle. Pointing it at her four year old sister, she exclaimed, "Look how brother fires his gun," and pulled the trigger. The bullet lodged in the little one's neck and she died a few hours afterwards.

BUSH FIRES AT SANDON

Fears Are Entertained for the Safety of the Payne Mine Buildings.

Sandon, Aug. 15.—Bush fires are burning the Payne tram and fears are entertained for the safety of the mine buildings. The tram is a three-rail surface tram 4500 feet long and cost in the neighborhood of $35,000. It is not known yet how serious the damage will be. All the mine force and a gang from town have been engaged all day fighting the fire. The lower terminals, ore house and lower tram connecting with the C. P. R. track are considered safe, but the damage to the upper tram may interfere with the operation of the property. All the Payne buildings and tramway property are covered by insurance.

A heavy bush fire is doing terrible destruction to timber in the neighborhood of Sproule's and Twelve Mile on the K. & S. railway.

MORGAN is situated on Kettle River, half way between Marcus and Cascade.

MORGAN is an ideal townsite in that it has a large mining district and a big agricultural, stock and fruit raising country tributary to it.

MORGAN has no rivals and will be the largest town between Spokane and Grand Forks.

MORGAN is the shipping point for the great First Thought mine, which is developed by 1900 feet of tunnels and shafts, and has over $1,000,000 worth of ore in sight.

MORGAN is the headquarters for the Pierre Lake and Flat Creek mining districts which contain more partially developed mines and prospects showing bodies of sulphide ores averaging over $10 a ton than any similar area in the northwest
