

CITY AND COUNTRY

The total sockeye pack this year is as follows: Fraser river, 55,000 cases; Northern B. C., 227,000, and Puget Sound, 88,000. This is less than two-thirds of last year's pack. In a couple of seasons the sockeye salmon will become practically extinct, like the buffalo of the western plains.

The name of the winter apple on exhibition at this office and grown by Mrs. Kickham is the Blenheim Orange. It is an old English variety, and is similar to the russet.

Two fine clusters of Hungarian prunes are on exhibition at THE EXPRESS office. One has fifteen and the other fourteen, which lay together as closely as grapes. The four larger prunes weigh each a quater of a pound. They were grown by Mr W. L. Keene, who says that the fruit is a fair sample of all in his orchard. Undoubtedly were an Exhibition to be held here this year he would have won the best prize.

An impromptu birthday party was held at the Hotel North Vancouver on Monday night, when a few intimate friends and guests of the house took opportunity in wishing Mrs. P. Larson many happy returns. After a very enjoyable evening the merry gathering broke up.

The proposed meeting of the Athletic Club on Monday night did not materialize. No doubt it was in anticipation of a revival of the riots at Vancouver that attracted the members to go across the inlet.

The Situation

To the Editor of THE EXPRESS:

SIR,—Referring to your editorial headed "The Situation," the prophecy of the News-Advertiser is as equally safe as it is misleading. At this time of the year, not only from climatic reasons, but from both the natural trend of business and the fact that the harvest is a practically sure item (incidentally the whole item in the whole business in the whole world), the volume of business may temporarily become less extensive, in other words the speculative interest will be, to a certain extent, eliminated. The wealth of a nation is in exact proportion to the productivity per acre. Can any "panic" (save the term) reduce the productivity per acre of British Columbia. I believe not. The advance in values, the increase in bank clearings, the volume of real estate transactions in British Columbia is due to no ephemeral stock exchange transactions, but is due to her power, engendered by her natural resources. The matter of railroads, banks, financial accommodation, are inevitable, and do not have to be begged for; they follow prosperity, and that we have.

Yours truly,
W. H. A.

Poor Food For Horses

In feeding the doves this morning I found that a considerable portion of the oats I was giving them they would not eat, and inquiring, I find that there is a good deal of cheating in the quality of oats sold. When I was organizing the Illinois Humane Society, many years ago, I found the omnibus horses in very poor condition, and by riding with the drivers ascertained that while the companies provided good oats the hostlers or somebody mixed with them a large quantity of the cheaper shorts, pocketing the difference in value themselves. In Florida while I was there, many years ago, I found that the horses drawing United States mails were in bad condition, and on inquiry ascertained that the drivers sold a considerable portion of the good oats bought by the Government, substituting shorts or cheaper food and putting the balance into liquor for themselves. I think it is well to say to horse-owners and drivers that oats which the doves will not eat are hardly suitable for horses.

Horses in Norway

[We received the following from a friend in Oakland, Cal.]

"You never see a broken-winded horse in Norway," said a horse doctor, "That is because the horses there are allowed to drink while they eat, the same as mankind. Our horses, let them be as thirsty as getout, must still eat their dry fodder, their dry hay and oats and corn, with nothing to wash them down. But in Norway every horse has a bucket of water beside his manger, and, as he eats, he drinks, also. It is interesting to see how the Norwegian horses relish their water with their meals. Now they sip, then another mouthful, just like rational human beings. You never see a broken-winded horse in Norway, and the natives say it is because they serve water to the animals with their feed."

The largest potato recorded at this office this year was one weighing three pounds, grown by Alex. Gibson, Lonsdale avenue. It's a dandy.

CITY COUNCIL

A special meeting of the city council was held in the city hall Monday night. It was held in the city hall last evening. Mayor Kealy presided and the aldermen were all present.

The correspondence consisted principally of letters from the district council. Number one enclosed a statement of the city's indebtedness to the municipality. Another, tendering cordial thanks for the city's granting permission of the use of the city gaol as a temporary "lock up."

In reference to the joint committee to inquire into the betterment of the ferry service, the district wrote saying they would be pleased to co-operate and consider any recommendations that might be suggested.

The other letter from the district council was in answer to the city clerk's letter in reference to arbitrating certain matters that the district contended were in dispute between the two councils. The following resolution was adopted by the district in this connection and was enclosed in this communication:

Resolved to reply to the city council that apparently it is impossible to arrive at a settlement without arbitration; (1) Regarding the matter of the ferry paid due on 15th July last and since paid to the city, and (2) Regarding the matter of the district control of the Lynn creek valley road, as regards the erection of telephone poles and lines thereon, and, as the city makes claims regarding both these matters, by virtue of the City's Incorporation Act, they necessarily fall under the arbitration clause in the scheduled agreement to that act.

Letter No. 1 was referred to the finance committee, the second and third were filed and the fourth letter was laid over till next meeting.

J. Kirkland wrote complaining of damage done to his property by the B. C. Agency Corporation, who are clearing land in the vicinity of his buildings. Mr. Kirkland stated that the company would not reimburse him in any way, and he therefore laid the matter before the city council to take action in his behalf. Mr. Kirkland was present and spoke a few words in explanation of his letter. In the first place he thought the council was responsible as he understood the B. C. Agency had obtained a permit to do blasting within the limits. He considered the damage done his property from flying debris, would amount to $25. The matter was referred to the finance committee to consider Mr. Kirkland's losses.

Mr. Kirkland also spoke in connection with a petition sent in for the opening up of a street into Western avenue. At the present time conditions do not permit of building materials being taken into that district. The request also included the laying of a sidewalk. It was referred to the board of works.

A letter from Health Officer Dr. Campbell was read, which recommended the installation of a septic tank in certain localities where the conditions existing at present were injurious to the public health. The recommendation was adopted.

The waterworks regulation bylaw was read in full and passed its third reading. An appropriation of $50 per month was made to the Dominion Publishing Co., publishers of "Where to Go," for advertising space.

The council then went into committee.

Mr. B. H. de Jersey, of Los Angeles, visited North Vancouver last Monday. Mr. De Jersey was in Vancouver about two years ago and at that time took a trip over to North Vancouver and much was his astonishment at the rapid development of this city since his last visit. He stated to a friend that the growth was beyond anything he could have imagined. He is also thinking seriously of coming to B. C. to reside and as North Vancouver made such a favorable impression on him it is probable that he will decide on a location in this city for his future residence.

Mr. Ivan Cameron, son of D. Cameron, of this city and engineer for the district, arrived home from Swanson Bay near Bella Coola, where he has been engaged in construction work for the last few months. Mr. Cameron, Jr., came out to Canada from the old land before his parents and having secured the position up north, was not here when his father and mother, with their family arrived. He has now, however, about made up his mind to remain in this city.

Conservative Club

On Wednesday evening in Larson's Pavilion steps were taken to form a Conservative Club. The meeting, though not largely attended, was a very enthusiastic one. C. M. Woodworth, president of the like club in Vancouver, outlined the work to be done, and assisted very materially at organizing. Mr. A. R. Steacy was elected president of the newly-founded club, Dr. Jordon, vice-president, and Mr. T. Shephard, secretary-treasurer. Bylaws as previously drafted, were accepted, after which the membership roll was opened. Messrs McKay and Allardye also gave words of encouragement, as did also Mayor Kealy, M. S. McDowell, and others. It was decided to call another meeting for Wednesday evening next, the 18th, when a general organization will take place.

OYSTER CULTURE.

THE EXPRESS had a talk the other day with Mr. Robt. H. Bryce, of this city, about oyster culture. He said that the annual product of the oyster beds of the United States totalled the fabulous sum of $20,000,000, one-third the entire value of her fisheries. The oyster industry of this country should not only be protected, but substantially aided by the government. The only successful oyster beds in the past were operated by private enterprise.

On this coast there are not many physical or biological characters that are favorable to oyster culture. On the other hand there are many serious drawbacks, owing to the formation of the country surrounding the Pacific coast. Five important factors must be considered in propagating oysters on the Pacific coast. (1) The density of the water; (2) temperature of same; (3) character and consistency of the water; (4) the quality of the oyster food; (5) the presence of enemies, and how to prevent their intrusion.

There is a natural breeding ground about 240 miles north of this city, where the oyster are most prolific. A proper breeding ground must have no mineral indications, and the bottom should be of such consistency as will prevent the oysters becoming engulfed in mud, or covered by shifting sands.

The bulk of oyster food consists of diatoms, which, although endowed with powers of locomotion, are nevertheless plants, and require their nourishment from the same class of substance as do the common plants. Eastern oysters, transplanted on the Pacific coast, have been sown promiscuously without thought of the surrounding conditions of the country.

The rate of growth of the oyster depends upon the rate at which it is supplied with food. The oyster food on the north coast is the richest on the whole Pacific coast. The local oyster is coming through its tests with gratifying results. And if the government would give a little attention and aid the B. C. oyster would take a high position in the oyster world.

The close season should be at such time as will protect, not so much the spawning oyster, but the delicate spat during when it is especially susceptible, from the workings of the beds.

AS TO OYSTERS

Elsewhere in this issue is published an interview with Mr. R. H. Bryce about oyster culture. On going into the matter we would suggest that the federal government should subsidize any one bringing B. C. oysters into the market. The suggestion has been made in certain quarters that the law should read "for seed, breeding and transplanting," and thereby removing the duty. This would be playing into the hands of unfair dealers, who would bring in oysters under this head, and then use them for mercantile purposes. Mr. Bryce says it is impossible to guard against fraud, as the oysters vary so much in size, that it would be impossible to discriminate. A six-months' old Baltimore is far larger than a three-year-old Olympian oyster. The government must needs therefore to employ a large staff of oyster experts to inspect every boat arriving in B. C. This is unreasonable to expect. And we say let the duty remain as it is.

Where To Go, Vancouver's weekly guide, has just been issued. It is a 50-page illustrated magazine printed on the best calendered paper. It contains general information and a directory of the leading business houses, hotels, and real estate market. It is a worthy publication and deserves a very liberal advertising patronage. "The Ambitious City" is very creditably written. We wish the new venture every success. The office of publication is at 614 Hastings street, Vancouver.

Chief Joe Capilano, after interviewing a delegation of northern chiefs this week, has decided to postpone his trip to Ottawa to see Premier Laurier this year. He will go north in a few weeks, thence to the west coast of Vancouver Island. The B. C. Indians are pulling together on Chief Joe's mission.

Mrs. Cummer and her little son Otto, Seventeenth street, will leave in a few days for the east, where they will spend several months. Mrs. Cummer has been in very poor health for a long time, and her friends hope the change will do her good.

One hundred thousand feet of 6x12 fir is being shipped from the Western Corporation mill this week for England, via S.S. Teucer. Four hundred thousand shingles will also be shipped on the 19th for local trade.

Yesterday Mr. Walsh, of Vancouver, made the trip from the ferry wharf to the Capilano Hotel in an automobile in 45 minutes. This is the first time an auto ever arrived there.

The new store at the corner of Second street and Lonsdale avenue has been completed, and Mrs. H. A. Shaw is now occupying the same.

Ald. Smith's "pound bylaw" has received its third reading. The dog days are now over.

On Thursday afternoon an exceptionally heavy blast of stumping powder shook the buildings in the neighborhood of the corner of Second street and Lonsdale, where clearing is going on. The city hall, in particular, felt the shock, and windows in the rear were broken by flying debris. A long piece of the stump was thrown out into the street.

The Elocutionist's Curfew.

(Harper's Magazine.)
England's sun was slowly setting
(Raise your right hand to your brow).
Filling all the land with beauty (Wear a gaze of rapture now);
And the last rays kissed the forehead
of a man and maiden fair (With a movement slow and graceful you may now push back your hair).
He with sad, bowed head (A drooping of your head will be all right
Till you hoarsely, sadly whisper):
"Curfew must not ring tonight."

"Sexton," Bessie's white lips faltered
(Try here to resemble Bess, Though of course you know she'd never worn quite such a charming dress)
"I've a lover in that prison" (Don't forget to roll your r's.
And to shiver as though gazing through the iron prison bars).
"Cromwell will not come till sunset" (Speak each word as though you'd bite
Every syllable to pieces). "Curfew must not ring tonight."

"Bessie," calmly spoke the sexton
(Here extend your velvet palm;
Let it tremble like the sexton's as though striving to be calm.
"Long, long years I've rung the curfew"
(Don't forget to make it yars.
With a pitiful intonation that a world of sorrow bears).

"I have done my duty, ever" (Draw
yourself up to your height,
For you're speaking as the sexton:
"Gyrl, the curfews rings tonight!"
Out she swung, far out (Now here is where you've got to do your best.
Let your head be twisted backward,
let great sobs heave up your chest.
Swing your right foot through an arc
of ninety lineal degrees;

Then come down and swing your left foot, and be sure don't bend your knees.

Your face is worn and white;
Keep this up for fifteen minutes till
your face is worn and white;
Then gaze at your mangled fingers).
"Curfew shall not ring tonight!"

O'er the distant hills came Cromwell (Right hand to the brow once more;
Let your eyes look down the distance
—say above the entrance door).

At his foot she told her story (Lift your hands as though they hurt),
And her sweet young face so haggard
(Now your pathos you assert,
Then you straighten up as Cromwell,
and be sure to get it right;
Don't say, "Go; your liver loves!"— well; "Curfew shall not ring tonight!"

THE SAFEST WAY.

Myer—"What is the best way to tell a mad dog?"
Gyer—"Well, I never had occasion to tell one, but if I do I'll tell him by long-distance phone."

HIS INHERITANCE.
Askitt—"Did young Satterly inherit anything from his father?"
Noitt—"Yes, I believe he inherited the desire to avoid work."

LUCKY, INDEED.
"Did your husband have any luck on his hunting trip?" asked the friend of the family.
"Yes, indeed," replied her husband's wife. "He managed to get home without shooting himself or anybody else."

Horticultural Society.

A fair attendance was present at a general meeting of the Horticultural society held in the city hall last evening. Alexander Smith occupied the chair.

The principle object for which the meeting was called was for the considering of ways and means advisable in connection with the erection of a building on the society's grounds, 21st street. The matter was thoroughly discussed. The executive was instructed to secure the sum of $3,000 for the effecting of this purpose. The main portion of the building proposed will be 40 by 60, with a verandah around all sides. The executive are very desirous of securing as large a list of members as possible and will offer a special inducement about the first of October to any intending to join.

The executive have done very creditable work in the past and are endeavoring to make the society a very popular organization throughout the district.

School Board.

A special meeting of the school board was held on Tuesday evening. Chairman A. R. Steacy occupied the chair and the members were all present.

Reports from different schools showed the usual increase in attendance that has been evidenced throughout the school district at the opening of this term.

In the North Vancouver schools Principal Bennett's room alone opened with an attendance of fifty-seven, which is nearly a hundred per cent. increase from last term's number.

The schools, and especially the one in the city, are so overtaxed that the board were forced to take immediate steps for the securing of more accommodation and the addition of another teacher to the staff. Consequently they resolved to lay the matter before the city council and explain the position they were in and request that body to make an additional appropriation to meet these demands. This request was unanimously granted by the council and a grant of six hundred dollars made to cover the extra seating required and salaries, etc. The contractors are putting the finishing touches on the new addition to the city school and expect to be able to hand over the keys in a few days.

The Ambitious City.

An article appearing in the September number of Westward Ho! entitled "The Ambitious City," by W. O. Bell, an ex-resident of that city, is well worth reading. Mr. Bell's article gives an accurate history of the city of North Vancouver from its inception to the present progressive stage, and pictures it as a possible rival to Vancouver in the not far distant future. The article is accompanied by halftones of the mayor, A. E. Kealy, and different places of interest.

From an instructive stand point, the article contains much valuable information concerning the Ambitious City, and would be of interest to intending home-seekers in the east.

Contractor McLennan is engaged in the clearing of Mr. J. W. Horne's five lots on the corner of second street and Lonsdale avenue. Rumors are numerous as to Mr. Horne's intention in this connection. In any event it will add to the beautifying of the property in the neighborhood of the business section of the city.

The B. C. Meat Market delivery cart had a runaway yesterday afternoon. A broken shaft and other minor derangements were caused in consequence. The delivery will not be hampered in any way, however, as another rig was on hand to take the place of the disabled one this morning.

The minutes of last meeting were adopted as read.

Petitions from owners of property in block 599 asking for a road to be put through this block running from the north to the south was presented to the council and referred to the engineer.

Hastings Shingle Manufacturing Co. and others petitioned the council for the purpose of having many more turnout places put in the plank road known as the Lynn Valley road which runs north from North Vancouver to Frome's camp. It was decided that the matter receive the council's attention at an early date and action be taken.

Petition from owners in D. L. 2023 stating that the road in that district was in bad condition and asking that the council have it gravelled and repaired. Resolved that work should be commenced as soon as convenient for the day work gang.

Percy King wrote saying that he intended getting building material and a stumping machine into his property and wished the council to put into proper condition the crossing over the flames. Referred to board of works.

Petition from three residents in D. L. 2087 asking that Duval street be opened up from Westover road to Peter street. It was referred to the engineer to report on.

Owners in D. L. 597 wrote asking that the road allowance in that district be widened ten feet more to allow them to get in building material for the erection of buildings which they anticipated erecting. Referred to the engineer to report on.

Letter from the city council enclosing a communication from the provincial secretary to that body in connection with the Second Narrows bridge, was read and filed.

W. G. Walker, C. M. C. for the municipality of South Vancouver, wrote stating that his council had appointed Councillors Bell, Stewart and Pound as representatives in the Second Narrows bridge committee. The representatives from the district of North Vancouver are Reeve May, Councillors Robson and McNaught. This committee will be a standing body who will deal with the bridge matters from time to time, as they come up.

The clerk of the city of North Vancouver wrote giving the district permission to use the city jail as a temporary lock up, provided the district pay any expenses incurred.

Engineer Jorgensen's plan was submitted and accepted.

Mr. Kells, of the Capilano hotel at the dam, spoke to the council in regard to repairing the Capilano road north from the big hill to his hotel at the dam. Mr. Kells was assured that his request would receive immediate attention as soon as the district became the owners of the road which at present is controlled by the city of Vancouver in connection with their water works system.

Several plans of subdivisions were accepted. The reports of the finance and board of works committees were adopted.

Mrs. A. S. Billings, of Lonsdale avenue, gave a whist party on Thursday afternoon. There were present Mrs. Kealy, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Bunbury, Mr. Dick, Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Fieldhouse and Mrs. Philippo, thus making two tables. The playing from the commencement developed into gay competition between the players. After the regulation number of games were played the count showed that Mrs. Hanna carried off the honors of first prize. The consolation prize fell to the lot of Mrs. Bunbury and consisted of a bunch of tooth picks which came in very useful later on when a fine the ladies, previous to their leave taking.

The first regular meeting of the newly organized lodge of the Knights of Pythians will be held in the Orange hall, on September 18.

Candidates, who will then be present for the initiation ceremony, underwent medical examination yesterday afternoon.

The organizer has been doing very strenuous work in connection with the inception of the North Vancouver lodge and it is expected the membership roll will almost touch the 40 mark when lodge meets next Wednesday.

Mr. Brassey of the logging firm of Brassey & Quinn, who operate a camp up the coast about thirty miles north of Sechart, was in the city Saturday.

J. B. Farquhar and Mr. McKay of the Dominion assay office, Vancouver, spent Labor Day at the Capilano hotel. Both gentlemen being enthusiastic fishermen, an enjoyable and successful time was spent.

Obituary

Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gibson, of Lonsdale Avenue and Third Street, at their irreparable loss in the demise of their son Walter Edward, aged ten years and six months. The sad event took place last Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The little fellow, an exceptionally bright boy, came home from school on Wednesday morning on account of sickness. Dr. Campbell was sent for and did what he could, but on Friday Dr. Langis was in consultation with Dr. Campbell, and they decided to operate for appendicitis, which operation was performed on Friday night. The boy rallied for a while, and was cheerful, but the shock was too great for his frailty, and he passed away peacefully in the presence of his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson have suffered the loss of three daughters and four boys. John, who is attending the St. Louis veterinary college, is the only surviving son. The funeral, which was well attended, took place on Monday, to Mountain View cemetery. Among those sending floral tributes were: The children of St. Andrew's Sabbath school, Mrs. Kichham, Mrs. Wm. Morden, Mr. and Mrs. McBain, Ald. and Mrs. Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Russell, Mrs. E. McMillan, Mrs. Grosse, Mrs. L. M. Heard, Mr. Walter C. Green, Mrs. H. T. C. Eves, Mrs. Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Skene, Mrs. T. Leroux, Charles and Louis Reda, Glen McMillan, Sidney Gray, Bryan McRae, George Millar, Reda & Andrus.

Mr. Stephen B. Green, who has been chief janitor at the Vancouver court house ever since its erection, over seventeen years ago, on account of his health, has been superannuated, and he and Mrs. Green have become residents of this city, locating on the Keith road. There is no man better known to the legal fraternity of the province. He was a diligent worker and most courteous and accommodating to everyone he had dealings with. So careful was he of the water pipes of the building that he never once had an accident with them. When in the winter of 1892-3 the temperature went 15 degrees below, the court house was about the only public building in the city that did not suffer. Mr. and Mrs. Green have the best wishes of a legion of friends in taking up their new home here.
