POLITICAL ISSUES OF TO-DAY

Address by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper Under the Auspices of the North Vancouver Conservative Association.

The Conservatives here turned out in full force to listen to Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper on "Political Issues of the Day." Many also from Vancouver availed themselves of the opportunity to hear what the member-to-be for Pictou had to say regarding the momentous questions concerning the Dominion as a whole, and British Columbia in particular.

Mr. A. R. Steacy, president of the local Conservative Association, presided, and besides him on the platform were Messrs. W. C. Gladwyn and C. Westworth Sarel.

Mr. Steacy, in a few well chosen words, called the meeting to order, and proceeded forthwith to introduce the speaker of the evening, stating that he did not wish to take up the time of the audience which had gathered to hear Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper.

On rising, Sir Charles was met with loud and prolonged applause. He stated that the subject he was about to deal with was embarrassing because of the infinite number of questions which might be called important as political issues of the day. He was pleased with the large number that had turned out at this meeting to hear him, especially the noticeable number of ladies.

Sir Charles announced that he would deal particularly with the political issues which were within the grasp of his hearers.

No matter what might be thought of the Provincial Government, no opportunity would be afforded voters to pronounce upon these issues for several years, while with reference to the Dominion situation, an opportunity for the expression of approval or disapproval of the conduct of the government would occur with a few months. The squandering of public funds and other corrupt acts of the Dominion Government would come in for criticism from the Atlantic to the Pacific before the next Federal elections.

Speaking of the corrupt practices Sir Charles said that the only defence of the Ottawa Government for its action was the tu quoque argument and the plea that Conservative governments had been quite as corrupt as itself. The query was not, did the Tories do right, but have the Liberals done right? The blunders of the Ottawa government, rather than its crimes, would not be the substance of his remarks. He dealt exhaustively with the attitude of the Conservative government when it was in power, and showed how Sir John A. Macdonald had claimed for the people of Canada the right to negotiate its own immigration laws with foreign countries. Under the Conservative regime Canada had claimed absolute right to regulate its immigration affairs and while that party was in power the right had been exercised and had never been disputed. Sir John A. Macdonald had been able to maintain Canada's supremacy in the matter of immigration, and he challenged anyone to say that Sir John A. Macdonald's arrangements had not been satisfactory to Canada or to foreign powers.

The Liberals had claimed a heaven-born genius to negotiate a treaty for reciprocity with the United States, and Mr. Fisher, when he was in the cabinet, had stated that what Canada needed was reciprocity with the United States. The result of Mr. Fisher's argument had been a trip to Washington, costing the country $34,000, including an item of $12.35 for soap.

"It will take a good deal more than that money value in soap to wash the linen of these people in connection with that matter," said Sir Charles, his remarks being greeted with loud applause.

Touching on the Alaska boundary question, which Sir Charles was so intimately acquainted with, he said that two out of three of the arbitrators chosen by Canada had previously given expression to opinions directly at variance with Canada's interests and that they were previously committed to a decision adverse to the Dominion. Canada had insisted upon the appointment of Lord Alverstone upon that commission, and the only man who could stand out against an adverse decision were M. Jette and Mr. Aylesworth. In this connection Sir Wilfrid Laurier had stated that from time immemorial Dyea and Skagway had been the possession of Russia, and that the property in these places had passed to the United States when that nation bought the Alaskan frontier, and when the United States case had been placed before the arbitration board every word of Sir Wilfrid had been quoted against Canada's contention.

"It was not the bungling of a British diplomat which had done us the wrong, but the utterances of the Prime Minister of Canada."

The speaker recalled the pledge of Sir Wilfrid Laurier prior to the 1895 election, with regard to the trade relations with England, and his promise to send a delegation to England to advocate a preferential tariff and his subsequent putting away of all proposals for a preferential tariff and of every principle upon which such a proposal could succeed.

The recent immigration arrangements with Japan were full of errors, blunders and wrong concessions, said Sir Charles. He was speaking from the point of view of a citizen of Canada, and while he had no privilege of suggestion, he put forward the argument that a great transcontinental railroad company enamored the government to an indecent extent that one of the cabinet ministers had left the ranks. The cost of labor involved in the construction of the proposed new line had resulted in the present situation.

While the United States had stipulated with the full consent of Japan, that it must always have the fullest control of its immigration affairs, and while Canada, under Conservative rule, had stipulated the same thing with reference to the Imperial treaty with Japan, the Ottawa government had overruled all these sentiments and had entered into a treaty which had brought about the present conditions. The government of British Columbia, as early as 1897, had placed itself on record as against Oriental immigration, and Canada had said under Conservative rule that it would have no part in any treaty which would allow an Oriental influx, but the Liberal government had promptly disallowed every Natal act passed by the local government. The local government could draw much comfort from the decision of Chief Justice Hunter on the Natal act, because the chief justice had said in effect that the act can be enforced against all but Japanese.

Sir Charles said it is difficult for anyone but a subject of the Mikado to get into this country without being able to pass an educational test.

In referring to Mr. Fisher's visit to Tokio some years ago, the speaker said that he, a bachelor, had come back enamored of all things Japanese, and particularly of their love of their country and their homes, and as a consequence the Japanese are more favorable to the government than British immigrants.

Sir Charles said that Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that it would be foolish to act without thinking and without reflection, and, said Sir Charles, who was the fool? If Sir Wilfrid had taken the care to find out the facts in the case the present Oriental question would not be before the people.

The chickens that have come home to roost on this matter have not come home because of the mistakes of British diplomats, but from the nest of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The speaker read the following letter given to Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, by the recent Japanese treaty-makers at Tokio: "This government will give careful consideration to local conditions prevailing in Canada, with a view to meeting the desires of the Government of the Dominion as far as these are compatible with the spirit of the treaty and the dignity of this State."

Sir Charles could not understand why there had been all these bothersome proceedings on the part of the Dominion government when, at first both the Japanese and the Imperial governments had been in favor of restriction of the Japanese immigration. The wishes of the people of British Columbia has been utterly disregarded by the Ottawa government.

They have been the jackals and are the jackals of some great corporation that needs cheap labor, explained Sir Charles, answering his own question as to why the present treaty arrangements had been sanctioned.

Sir Charles ridiculed the French trade treaty which the Laurier government had recently made, comparing it with the "Little French Treaty" of the late Conservative government.

The speaker contradicted the statement sent abroad by the present government with reference to his personal expenses in connection with the Behring Sea sealing question for the Imperial government and for Canada, showing Hon. Mr. Brodeur had, through the clerks in his department, sent abroad a statement derogatory to himself in the matter of the expenses of that award. The slander of the Minister had since been

LOCALS.

C. E. Jorgensen, C. E., has taken up residence on Sixth street.

Mr. C. B. Blair, of Port Moody, was in the city on business this week.

Mrs. L. Bruce Hodge will be at home to receive on the first Friday of each month at the residence on St. George avenue, near Sixth street.

To RENT—Well furnished house with all modern conveniences. Apply, Corner First street and Chesterfield avenue.

Messrs. Fyfe & Duke have had the misfortune to have a valuable row boat stolen from their boat-house.

FOR SALE—Number of canaries, good singers; also 120-egg Cypher incubator. Apply to Mrs. A. E. Kealy, corner 17th and St. Andrews

Robert Ward & Co., will build a combined residence and store on their property at the end of the Keith road car line to suit tenant. See ad elsewhere.

The Echo Logging Co. have resumed operations on their timber claim on Jarvis inlet.

Mr. and Mrs. Glass, who have been visiting at the home of Mr. R. Brearton for some time, left for their home this week.

St. John's church is anxious to have the surrounding property cleared of the stumps and logs thereon, and have organized an old-time bee to do the clearing. Those desirous of witnessing an old-time bee are invited to be at the church Saturday afternoon.

The subject for the weekly debate at the Young People's Club Tuesday evening was a mock breach of promise trial, which proved to be a most laughable affair, both to the participants and the audience.

A restaurant will be opened up on Hoskins road in Lynn Valley, by Mr. Cripps. This shows that things are booming in the valley.

Councillor McNaught handed THE EXPRESS a sample of the prolific growth of vegetation in the valley, in the form of a young tree, which has grown seven feet four inches in one year.

Mr. C. M. Murray and Mr. F. F. Busted, new superintendent of the C. P. R., were the guests of Mrs. Ross, Second street, on Sunday, Mr. Busted having been an old school chum of Mrs. Ross.

Messrs. Campbell, of the Molson's bank, C. M. Merritt, of the Boyd-Burns Co., and Mahoney, of the Royal City planing mill, have been appointed inspectors to look after the affairs of the Western Corporation until such time as the business is straightened out. The creditors of the company met in the office of the B. C. Trust Corporation, assignees, Monday afternoon, and, after looking into the affairs of the company, expressed themselves as satisfied with the outlook.

The Orpheus male voice choir held forth in the Pavilion Wednesday evening before a small audience. From beginning to end lovers of music found perfect enjoyment, the rendition of the choir as well as the quartette being exceptionally deserving of credit. Mr. Moore, the funiosity man, cracked his jolly jokes and sung his funny songs in his old time witty way, delighting both old and young. The proceeds were in aid of St. John's church.

Mrs. G. W. Sugden, of Lynn Valley, arrived home on Monday from Victoria and Ladysmith. Her mother, Mrs. D. Page, accompanied her to spend a couple of weeks.

A lecture will be given to the ladies of North Vancouver on "The Advance of Medicine," on Monday afternoon, March 2nd, at 3 p. m., Room 2, Thompson Building, by Dr. Alice Fuller.

THE EXPRESS, $1 a year.

Messrs. Larson and McMillan have begun excavations for their new block next to THE EXPRESS office. The building, when completed, will be two storeys high, the first floor being fitted up for store purposes, while the up stairs will be used as living rooms. The building will be 27x70 feet, and will be a valuable addition to the Esplanade.

The British Columbia Electric Railway Company is calling for tenders for the erection of a large addition to the carshops in New Westminster, which will double the capacity of the works.

Mr. Bob. Ritchie has been appointed instructor for the N. V. A. C., and also manager of the club rooms. The club has been particularly fortunate in securing Mr. Ritchie's services, as he is well scienced in the manly exercises connected with an institution of the kind. He will give lessons on boxing, dumb-bell exercises, trapeze work, etc., and will be found in the club room on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings for this purpose. Intending pupils will do well to avail themselves of this opportunity. Any person non-members may visit the gymnasium on these nights and see the work being done, although members only will be allowed to use the rings and exercises. North Vancouver already holds a prominent position in the athletic arena, and the splendid athletic stock to be found here only needs training to be able to compete in the big events of other clubs and win honors. It is to be hoped enough interest will be manifested to ensure Mr. Ritchie of a permanent position in the club.

B. C. Union of Municipalities

B. C. Union of Municipalities

The delegates to the annual convention of the above society from the city and district are this week in Nanaimo for that purpose. Mayor Kealy and Ald. Irwin represent the city, and Reeve May and the municipality.

Much matter for the general welfare of the province, and especially the municipalities was discussed, including the necessity of better law enforcement throughout the province; the regulation of telephones, telegraph and electric light companies; the prohibiting of Sunday shooting; that all places of sub-divisions in municipalities should be signed by registered owners before being approved, and that all existing arrears and taxes be paid before final approval was adopted; that the Lord's Day act be vigorously and immediately enforced throughout the province; and the election of officers.

Mayor Kealy was elected on the executive committee.

A delegation was appointed to wait on the government with a view of impressing the advisability of a home in the province for the care of the destitute.

Busy Night for The City Council

At Monday night's council meeting considerable discussion took place over the idea of inviting Admiral Evans and his fleet to Burrard inlet. Not so much in evidence was the good-will of such an auspicious occasion—as was the cost of entertaining while here, as the Mayor pointed out that the city's portion might amount to one or two thousand dollars, which seemed to him, as well as several of the aldermen to be a little steep at the present financial standing. The matter was laid over for another week.

A letter from the city solicitor regarding the bonusing of the Wallace shipyards, Ltd., stated that from a legal point of view there was nothing to hinder the council aiding Mr. Wallace in the establishment of his proposed large shipyards here.

The water committee reported favorably on the application of Mr. P. Larson for water extension connections at the corner of Mahon avenue and Nineteenth street. The committee also recommended that 5,000 feet of pipe be purchased. The report was adopted.

The application for a light at the corner of Mahon avenue and Fourteenth street; was not favorably reported upon by the fire and light committee, and as a consequence no light will be placed there. They asked that fire alarm bells be placed in the residences of the four firemen, which was adopted.

Ald. Irwin gave notice of a by-law to establish the grade on Lonsdale avenue, from the north side of the Esplanade to Eighth street; and First street grade from Lonsdale east to the bridge, between St. Andrew's and St. Patrick's avenues.

A by-law amending section 2, 3 and 5, of the local improvement general by-law was introduced by Ald. Irwin. When these changes are made all expense connected with any ordinary or special improvement on streets or sidewalks would be charged to the improvements on the frontage tax system. Any improvement done by any private individual on streets or sidewalks, the parties making the improvements would be allowed for same, the engineer to estimate the amount of work done.

The fire by-law was given its first reading by Ald. Irwin.

The proposal to erect a $10,000 hospital here, did not meet the approval of the council, inasmuch as the heavy expense connected therewith was thought to be too great for a place this size. Mayor Kealy suggested leasing one or two rooms in a private house to be fitted up for emergency cases. Ald. Braim moved that the council act on this suggestion, and that a suitable room be engaged for this purpose until such time as an hospital was established, and that the City and District Councils bear the expense for same. The hospital building was laid over for future consideration.

The council then adjourned.

The provincial estimates for the current year as follows: Salaries, $249,960; public works, $1,255,960; miscellaneous, which includes printing, stationery, bounties, donations to institutes and associations, provincial board, health expenses and salaries, rents, etc., etc., $193,695; administration of justice, $29,750; education, $1,605 (not including salaries).

Who Pays for Your Advertising?

Who pays the cost of advertising? At first sight this question looks easy. One is apt to say off-hand that the advertiser pays it.

The purchaser doesn't pay it, because he gets the goods cheaply from an advertising firm as he could from a non-advertising firm.

A special feature of the coming bout is the fact that the men have signed articles to go fifteen rounds.

As an example: If $20 spent in advertising brings you in $30 additional profit, your advertising is paid for and you are $10 in pocket.

LOCALS

J. Brown and E. Connesello were each fined $10 or eight days for being drunk and incapable on Tuesday morning before Magistrate Kealy.

Geo. Nye laid complaint against Hing Kee of an infraction of the health by-law, by dumping refuse in the creek near Second street, and which came up before Magistrate Kealy this week.

Mr. Mildmay's recital of The Merchant of Venice in the Pavilion on Monday evening did not prove a very great attraction, owing no doubt to the scarcity of advertising.

On Saturday car No. 60 arrived back from the car barns in Vancouver, where it had been shipped for repairs.

Mr. Wm. Moore, the well-known funiosity man, leaves next week for his home in Ireland.

A discovery which may lead to a valuable find was made in Lynn Valley by Wm. Burrell while digging a well.

Dominick Corven was charged before Mayor Kealy on Tuesday with doing blasting work without complying with the blasting by-law in not having proper precautionary measures taken.

It is stated that the report of the commission which has inquired into the civil service, and which will be presented soon, will recommend an all-round increase of salary of from fifteen to twenty per cent.

Ritchie Favorite For Monday Night

What promises to be the best boxing contest seen in British Columbia for many months is the Miller-Ritchie affair next Monday night.

The fact that both men have been hard at work with their trainers for days past, makes a good fast contest assured.

A special feature of the coming bout is the fact that the men have signed articles to go fifteen rounds. This will be much more satisfactory to the public, and as the same admission at popular prices will be charged, a crowded house is expected.

BOB RITCHIE

A first rate preliminary has been arranged, and this will serve to whet the appetite of the spectators for the main event which follows.

Every seat in Larson's pavilion, commanding a clear and unobstructed view of the ring, makes it an ideal place for the event.

Bob Ritchie will be the favorite with the majority of the sports on account of his former victory over Miller, but the latter's backers will no doubt be there with plenty of coin.

The men are meeting at catch weight, which gives a slight advantage to Miller, but Ritchie makes up for that in speed and cleverness.

Miller can always be depended upon to mix matters from the tap of the gong, and as Ritchie says things can't be too fast for him, it looks as if there would not be much time wasted in sparring and clinching.

The North Vancouver Athletic Club is promoting the match, which is a guarantee that every thing will be managed in a way to suit the public.

The government estimates for the year includes $19,000 for roads, streets, bridges and wharves in the Richmond district.

R. Dancey, street car motorman, of Victoria, was shot in the jaw by masked robbers, at the Gorge hotel, Wednesday evening.

A special C. P. R. train carrying Salvation Army immigrants from Montreal to Vancouver has been arranged for.

North Vancouver audiences display about as much interest in local events as does the Russian Douma.

The estimated cost of new buildings in course of erection is conservatively placed at $150,000.

Percy Cove, a one-time well-known glove artist, is back in Vancouver, and wants to arrange a match with the winner of the Ritchie-Miller bout next Monday evening.

The story of the emigrant: I lived, I loved, I lied—then I left.

Seventeen Chinamen have forwarded a petition to the mayor of Toronto, asking for the suppression of gambling among their fellow countrymen in that city.

Mr. L. Reda, of the Palace Hotel, left last week for Soap Lake Springs, where he will take a course of the baths.

Boxing and Wrestling, Singing and Smoking

Those who attended the athletic club's smoker in the club-rooms Tuesday evening saw one of the best programs of the season. The committee having the affair in hand spared no pains to ensure success, and their endeavours in this respect were well rewarded, although the attendance was rather slim.

In the smoking line the club supplied plenty of good tobacco and Missouri meersham pipes, and when the program began the air was blue, but everyone smoked up and made themselves at home.

CITY OF NORTH VANCOUVER

PUBLIC NOTICE

DOG LICENCES FOR 1908 ARE now Due and Payable at the City Hall.
