CITY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the city council was held on Monday night, His Worship Mayor Kealy presiding. There were besides present Aldermen Dick, Emery, Irwin, Jordan, Crickmay, Smith. City Clerk Woods was also in his place.

G. S. Wilson, Assistant Secretary of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, wrote re the annual convention which will be held in the twin cities of Fort William and Port Arthur, on August 13th to 16th. Matters of great interest to Canadian municipalities will come up for discussion. On motion of Alderman Irwin and Emery that the city council affiliate and co-operate with the union.

H. Davidson, manager of the Hastings Shingle Manufacturing Company, limited, wrote and transmitted by Alex. Philip, C. M. C., requesting a lease from the council of a right-of-way for five years for use of flume line and roads across lots 856, group 1, New Westminster district. The agreement with the council dated 20th of February, 1906, the company have the use of all water needed for fluming purposes from Rice lake for six years from that date. On motion the request was granted.

Colin F. Jackson wrote asking for a three-quarter-inch water pipe put on his premises on Fifteenth street. Referred to water committee.

John Dierssen wrote applying for a three or four year lease of 30 feet square of land at foot of Lonsdale avenue. Application refused.

John Chivers wrote applying for position of caretaker of parks in the city. Filed for reference.

Smith & Woodward, barristers, on behalf of R. H. Branca, wrote applying for a shop license to sell intoxicating liquors. Clerk to reply, giving information as to procedure.

Mrs. Doctor Carroll wrote acknowledging receipt of letter of condolence of council re the demise of Ex-reeve Carroll. Filed.

W. D. Duke on behalf of the citizens' committee, having in charge the proposed joint celebration of the incorporation of the City of North Vancouver and Dominion day, wrote applying for a civic contribution to the funds. Referred to committee of the whole.

Mr. W. T. Stein wrote applying for the position of auditor.

Other communications were referred to committee of the whole—one being for water and another re clearing of land.

Tenders for work on St. Andrew's avenue were laid over.

Plans submitted by Mahon, McFarland & Mahon for approval of sub-division of district lots 549 and 550, bounded by Twelfth and Fifteenth streets and St. Andrew's and Ridgeway avenues. Accepted.

The balance sheets in connection with the dissolving of the old municipality and the formation of the city were submitted by the auditor. Laid over.

G. J. Phillippo, chairman of the citizens' celebration committee, was present, and stated that the committee desired him to ask the council for a grant for the joint celebration of the incorporation of the City of North Vancouver and Dominion day in a fitting manner. The district council had given the sum of $100, and on the same lines the city was asked to give as liberally as possible. The proposed celebration would be quite an event in this city, and the citizens were doing their very best to make it a great success. The expenses would be very large as there would be more sporting items this year than last. Also there would be extensive decorations. Mr. Phillippo also asked that the board of works be permitted to fix up Second street to pull off some of the events on the programme. There would be large crowds from other places. An excursion would come from Nanaimo, and also reduced fares would be made by the different transportation lines. Several fine ands had also been secured. He closed by again asking the mayor and council to do what they could in assisting the committee by making a generous grant.

C. McKenzie, one of the committee, said that the reference of Mr. Phillippo to have Second street fixed up was to have a course for the firemen's races. He also showed the council plans of the proposed grounds and grand stand at Athletic park.

A. R. Steacy said he did not want to hurry the council in the matter of making the appropriation, but hoped that it would be from $500 up.

His Worship said that the request would be considered in committee, and the decision made known on Tuesday morning.

Alderman Irwin gave notice of motion that at the next regular meeting he would move for a frontage and improvement by-law.

Alderman Dick also gave notice of motion providing for installation of sceptic tanks under civic supervision.

Alderman Jordan gave notice that he would move for striking a tax levy.

On motion of Alderman Emery, seconded by Alderman Irwin, the city engineer was instructed to put in a temporary dam at the waterworks intake.

The clerk was instructed to present to the water committee all applications for water connections now on file for reference.

A by-law to regulate proceedings of the council was read and considered.

The temporary loan by-law was reconsidered and finally passed.

The question of appointing a city solicitor was referred to the finance committee to resort.

It was decided to retain the services of J. J. Woods as city treasurer.

The meeting then adjourned.

David Cooke was present and urged the council to rebuild the Lynn creek bridge. He was listened to patiently, and was informed that the previous council had decided not to rebuild the bridge in the same place, as the location was not a good one.

Plan of sub-division of part of district lot 607, Keith and Capilano roads, was accepted.

Col. Tracy, submitted plans of sub-division of northwest part of district lot 871, and also of west half of 888. Passed.

Councillor McNaught suggested that in future all sub-division plans having any bluffs or ravines thereon that they be distinctly marked.

On motion of Councillors McNaught and Robinson, a grant of $100 was made to the celebration committee.

It was decided that the whole council make a tour of inspection of the roads on Thursday.

Quite a number of the Indians have left here for Alert Bay, to attend the big potlach. The celebration will last, it is expected, two or three weeks.

Herbert B. Chaffie, of the St. Francis hotel, spent a few happy hours in the city on Tuesday.

Surveys are being made at Burrard, the new townsite put on the market by Mr. McLean, just east of the Capilano.

Celebration Committee.

The citizens celebration committee met in full force on Wednesday night in the city hall, Chairman Phillippo presided.

The proceedings were very enthusiastic. His Worship Mayor Kealy stated that the firm of Messrs. Mahon, McFarland & Mahon had generously contributed the sum of $250, which announcement was received with applause.

Motions thanking the two councils and Messrs. Mahon, McFarland & Mahon for their contributions were unanimously carried.

The report of the finance committee, although gratifying, shows that more money is needed if the huge celebration programme is to be carried out.

The committee on aquatic sports submitted a lengthy list of proposed events, and after considerable discussion, a further sum of $25.00 was appropriated for the water sports.

The sports committee submitted a partial list of events, which were approved. A further report will be made at the next meeting.

Meeting adjourned till Monday night.

Wide Streets Necessary

Interviewed by the press of Vancouver, Mr. Hocken, editor of the Orange Sentinel, Toronto, said in part:

"The thing that impresses me most is that your people seem to be building on a broad foundation. This strikes one forcibly in your good and wide thoroughfares, as I can conceive of little that is so important to a city which is destined to become populous.

"In Toronto the early authorities failed to see this, and a proposal is now being seriously considered for the widening of several of the principal streets at a cost which will total many millions to the city. The main streets, Queen and Younge, with Elizabeth, are under consideration, and if the size of Toronto could have been forseen all this expense could have been avoided as it seems to have been done here. I presume that your other public utilities, such as sewers and sanitary necessities have been managed on an equally broad principle.

"Apparently none of the Eastern city corporations have grasped the conception of the future greatness and magnitude that awaits Canadian cities, but Vancouver seems to have been alive to this from the first and has avoided their mistakes."

Our council should take up the question of wider streets, although we have some of the best streets to be found in any city. We think that the Esplanade should be widened, and put in line with the Esplanade east.

The B. C. Saturday Sunset, Vancouver, 20 pages, appeared for the first time last Saturday. It says that it is a "weekly paper devoted to the interests of its readers and publishers—which are identical with those of British Columbia. It prints only wholesome matter, good for all the family to read." The letter-press is well selected, and the typographical and press work thereon is a credit to the art preservative. Richard S. Ford is the manager, and John P. McConnell the editor. We wish the new venture every success.

John A. Fulton, proofreader on the Province, spent a few happy hours in the city on Wednesday.

CITY AND COUNTRY

The ladies' aid, of St. John's church, will hold a luncheon in aid of the church on July 1st. One tent will be erected on the horticultural grounds, and one on Third street. A twenty-five-cent meal will be provided.

The city is to have a shooting gallery of no mean dimensions. J. A. Fillier will put one in at the foot of Lonsdale avenue. There will be one large moving target, and two stationery. Electric targets will be used, and he has half a dozen brand new rifles.

The steamer Prince Rupert has been sold by John Davis to Bressey & Quinn. She will ply between Lasquito island and this port.

J. N. J. Brown, the well-known champion amateur oarsman, has returned from the Capital City, and will remain here for some time. He is just as enthusastic over the city and aquatic sports as ever. In all likelihood he will be a contestaet in the single scull race on the first of July.

Nothing is being left undone by the boating club to make the regatta on the first of July a record breaker. Already the committee on aquatics have arranged the programme, which is certainly a very creditable one.

A very successful dance and supper was given by Mrs. Bissett at the pavilion on Friday night. There was a large number present, and the affair terminated shortly after midnight.

L. Reda, the proprietor of the Palace hotel, has decided to build an annex to his already large premises.

Robt. Campbell, brother to the barber, has returned from Lasquito island after an absence of several months. He likes the North, but the city botter.

A strawberry festival, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Sixth street, North Vancouver, will be held on Monday evening, June 24, at 8 o'clock. Strawberries and ice cream will be served, and a very interesting program of music, singing and recitations will be rendered. Admissions to church and grounds free.

The Internaional Otrder of Good Templers formed a branch here on Wednesday night. The lodge starts out under very favorable anspices.

Miss May Fairfield, of Portland, is visiting Mrs. Clayworth, Keith road. She will leave for Winnipeg on Tuesday.

Mr. H. M. Ramsay, late manager of the ferry company, accompanied by Mr. J. B. Hodgson, paid North Vancouver a visit Wednesday, and called on THE EXPRESS.

A meeting was held on Monday night at the school house, Lynn Valley, of the property owners and rasidents of that locality, to discuss the opening of a trail through the middle and upper canyons of Lynn creek. After considerable discussion the entire matter was referred to a committee, with full power to act, consisting of Councillor J. F. McNaught, Chairman J. M. Duval, G. W. Sugden, V. G. Cross, J. M. Frome and A. F. Burrows.

The Alexandra hotel, on the corner of Water and Carrall streets, is now open for business, and is a valuable acquisition to the hostlery of Vancouver.

At a meeting held in the Lynn Valley school house, on Monday night, arrangements were discussed for holding an entertainment for the school children on the breaking up of the school for the summer vacation. All the necessary committees were appointed, consisting of entertainment, refreshment and decorating. Councillor McNaught acted as chairman, and Mr. McD. Milne filled the position of secretary.

Mr. Morrison and family took up their residence in Lynn Valley on Wednesday. They keep comin'.

Mr. J. A. Pyke, of the Home Life Insurance Company, dropped a cheering word in our office this week.

There will be two moonlight excursions. per steamer St. George, under the auspices of the Round "O" Club, on Monday, June 24th, and Wednesday, June 26th. The boat will leave the Carrall street ferry landing at 8 o'clock, calling at North Vancouver at 8:30 p. m., thence up Burrard inlet. There will be music, dancing and refreshments. Tickets, 50 cents

Elsewhere in this issue will be seen the advertisement of Inkster Marriott & Ward, the new firm of financial and commercial brokers. The office will be opened about July 15, on Lonsdale avenue, between Second and Third streets. Mr. J. Loutet, brother to our city engineer, will be the local manager. We bespeak for the new venture a successful business.

Messrs. Tarn, Emmerson & Grant have been awarded the contract to build the new addition to the school, the price being $4,457.52. The same firm are building the grand stand at the Athletic park.

The festive cutworm is around, and a large quantity of Paris green is being used as an exterminator. Owners of pigeons beware, as Paris green does not agree with them.

Land Sales.

One hundred and fifty lots in one and one-half hours is the record of sales made by Robert Ward & Co., Ltd., Tuesday morning. A few days ago this firm gained possession of District Lot No. 265, North Vancouver, known as the Lonsdale estate. News of the purchase was noised about and buyers anxiously awaited for an announcement of the date when particulars of the tract could be bought, which appeared in the last issue of THE EXPRESS. Early Tuesday morning, before Ward & Co.'s office was open, people were waiting outside. The sale began at 8:30 a. m., and before 10 o'clock more than half of the 300 lots were sold, the prices paid ranging from $250 to $800. The lots are described as very choice and level. The selling firm declares that the entire district lot will be disposed of within a few days.

SEAL OF INCORPORATION.

Alderman Jordan said that "in adopting for our seal and emblem the bee hive, anchor and wheel, we hoped to portray therein both the true spirit of our citizens as well as our geographical, commercial and industrial position. The bee hive, between the anchor and wheel, represents industry, the anchor and wheel represents progress." The true significence of this emblem is not an inspiration, but an actual fact; which must necessarily impress everyone who has the good fortune to become one of North Vancouver's citizens. We already have some important industries that utilize the mode of transportation, of which the anchor is the emblem. With the advent of the joint traffic bridge, wheel will meet keel, and rail meet sail. Then will our emblem be complete.

HENRY GEORGE.

Here was a man absolutely honest, with no bad habits, industrious and economical, but lacking in that peculiar something that spells success. The type is not rare. One trouble was that our Henry George stuck to no one place long enough to make himself a necessity. Men of half his ability made twice as much money.

The days went by and Henry George wrote to Trump, "I am advance agent for the stork." Now storks bring love and hope—and care, and anxious days and sleepless nights. Henry George's domestic affairs had steadied his barque, and while his relatives in Philadelphia thought he carried an excess of Romish ballast, it was all for the best. He read, studied, thought, and wanting little his mind did not list to either port or starboard.

Henry George had graduated from the case into the editorial room. He worked on all the newspapers by turn in San Francisco and Sacramento, and had come to be regarded as one of the strongest editorial writers on the Coast. The business office was beyond his province, and as a newspaper was a business venture and is run neither to educate the public nor for the proprietor's health, the manager did not look upon Henry George as exactly "safe." And hence the reason is plain why George was regarded as a sectional bookcase and not a fixture.

At thirty he had evolved to a point where the New York Tribune asked him to write a signed editorial for them on the Chinese question. Then he wrote for the Overland Monthly; and when a great literary light came to San Francisco to appear on the lyceum stage, Henry George was asked to introduce him to the audience, especially if the man was believed to have heresy secreted on his person, in which case of course the local clergy took no risks of contamination, not being immune.

On the occasion of the death of a certain tramp printer, whose name is now lost to us in the hell-box of time, no clergyman being found to perform the service, Henry George officiated, and preached a sermon which rang through the city like a trumpet call, extolling not what the man was, but what he might have been. This custom of the laity taking charge of funerals still exists in the West, to a degree not known, say in New England, where in certain localities people are not considered legally dead unless both an orthodox doctor and an orthodox preacher officiate.

The very poor, and the outcasts of society, in San Francisco began to look upon Henry George as the Bishop of Outsiders. Often he was called upon to go and visit the striken, the sick, and the dying. And there was a kind of poetic fitness in all this, for the man possessed that superior type of moral and intellectual fibre which makes a great physician or excellent priest—he could "minister." And it was only division of labor that separated the offices of doctor and priest, and actually they are and should be one.

In Sacramento now lives a successful merchant, a Jew by birth, and a man of great grace of spirit, who has this superior spiritual quality which makes his services sought after, and in response to demand he goes all over the state saying the last words over the dust of those who in their lives had lost faith in the established order, or had too much faith in God.

After his thirty-sixth year Henry George slipped by natural process into this semi-religious order—a priest after the order of Melchisedek. He was spokesman for those who had no social standing, a voice for the voiceless, a friend to the friendless, even those who were not friends to themselves. But at thirty-seven he was up on the mountain side where he saw to a distance that very few men could. He felt his own dignity and knew his worth. The president of the University of California recognizing his ability as a thinker and a speaker asked him to give a course of lectures on economics.

He gave one—this was all they could digest.

California colleges have had a lot of trouble with economics—it has been a theme more fraught for them with danger than theology. How Californians make their money and how they spend it is a topic which in handling requires great subtlety of intellect, a fine delicacy of expression and much diplomacy, otherwise twenty-three petards.

Here is a passage from Henry George's lecture before the University of California:

"For the study of political economy you need no special knowledge, no extensive library, no costly laboratory. You do not even need text books or teachers if you will but think for yourselves. All that you need is care in reducing complex phenomena to their elements, in distinguishing the essential from the accidental, and in applying the simple laws of human action with which you are familiar. Take nobody's opinion for granted: 'try all things: hold fast to that which is good.' In this way, the opinions of others will help you by their suggestions, elucidations and corrections; otherwise they will be to you but as words to a parrot. All this array of professors, all this paraphernalia of learning, cannot educate a man. They can but help him to educate himself. Here you may obtain the tools; but they will be useful only to him who can use them. A monkey with a microscope, a mule packing a library, are fit emblems of the men—and unfortunately they are plenty—who pass through the whole educational machinery, and come out but learned fools, crammed with knowledge which they cannot use—all the more pitiable, all the more contemptible, all the more in the way of real progress, because they pass, with themselves, and others, as educated men."

Descriptive Booklet

The Vancouver Tourist Association have issued a new booklet, which is now being distributed by Secretary Flumerfelt, who will be pleased to furnish copies on application at his office on Granville street. It contains much valuable information regarding the city and surrounding districts, and is profusely illustrated with halftone cuts and views taken in the city. One of the waterfront shows up particularly well, and is, undoubtedly, the best photograph ever taken of shipping on Burrard inlet. Other views are those of Hastings street, looking east from Granville street; a panoramic view of the business district, looking west from the corner of Columbia avenue and Alexander street; views in the park; English Bay bathing beach and one of yachting on Burrard inlet, which shows a number of white-winged fliers of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club out in a brisk breeze.

Two weeks ago we erred to Harry Fogg's fine patch of potatoes, being in full blossom, the earliest recorded for the season. To-day the editor was very agreeably surprised with a presentation by Mrs. Fogg of a parcel of the finest new tubers grown in this province, not even excepting Ashcroft. They were grown in his garden on Fourth street.

D. G. Dick has returned from a trip to the Okanagan country.

A lodge of the I. O. G. T. will be organized in Orange hall, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Robt. and Adam St. John brothers of John St. John, of this city, are here on a visit from Ontario. The first named is proprietor of an hotel at Uxbridge. Adam is resident at London, Ont. The visitors are well-known business men in Western Ontario, and are more than agreeably surprised with British Columbia. It has been more than twenty years since they seen their brother.

The boating club have purchased another four-oared boat for the races from the Vancouver Rowing Club.

SPORTMAN'S LAND

A very instructive and interesting article on "Sportsman's Land," written by Frank L. Clark, Victoria, who is an old-time newspaper man, appeared in a recent issue of Recreation. It is herewith reprinted by request:

Three hundred and seventy thousand square miles, and scarce a mile of it that does not support many more heads of game than human inhabitants, for in all that vast area there are barely 200,000 people. Think of it—a territory three times larger than all of New England, with New York and New Jersey and Pennsylvania thrown in, and fairly swarming with game of every description found in temperate and sub-arctic regions. In the southern districts one may shoot California quail, English pheasants and Hungarian partriges, while in the north ptarmigan and arctic foxes are every-day incidents of the chase. Bear, black, brown and grizzly; deer of many varieties, mountain sheep, mountain goats, panthers, lynx, wolves, wolverines, catibou and moose are in abundance for hunters of big game, and of "small deer." hares, otter, martin, mink, marmots and squirrels there is no end. Feathered game is also very plentiful and widely distributed. These are some of the attractions which British Columbia offers to the sportsmen of the world, not mentioning the fish which, sea and fresh water, she possesses in great variety and exhaustless plentitude—her commercial fisheries yielding from seven to eight million dollrrs annually. One of the great advantages which this province offers to the hunter of big game, equally with his less ambitious brother, is the ease and comfort, with which he may reach

THE SCENE OF HIS EXPLOITS.

The coast line being deeply indented by bays and inlets enables one to penetrate many miles into the interior on comfortable steamers, while the Canadian Pacific, Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways give access to scores of good points from which to "hit the trail." Should one desire to cope with the mighty grizzly he can find him at home in the Bridge River and Chilcotin districts, in the Hope mountains, Okanagan, Kettle River and Kootenay, and int he Cascade mountains he will find him in abundance. Mountaiu goats are found everywhere in the Cascade mountains. They are famous climbers, making their homes in the most inaccessible heights, so that he who seeks them has a chance of making a mountain-climbing record as well as securing his game. They are thick-headed beasts, and when one reaches their haunts they are not hard to shoot, as they do not seem to appreciate the danger of a gun with a man behind it. Big horns (mountain sheep) are much more difficult of approach, being exceedingly wary, and patient and persevering effort is necessary to get within range of them. The big horn is found in many parts of the province, the best known variety (Ovis montana) is found in the Rocky mountains, Chilcotin, French Bar Creek, Bridge River, Cassiar and Similkameen, while other varieties (Ovis faunini, stoned and dall) are more or less plentiful in the Atlin district.

WAPITI, THE KING OF DEER,

is confined to the central portions of Vancouver Island, where considerable herds roam the beautiful valleys, which so far, are almost unknown to man. To get to them the hunter must do some hard work by trail, lake and river, but the magnificent head, once secured, is a trophy worth much travail and many inconveniences. The common black bear is very plentiful and may be had in nearly every portion of the province. Recently local naturalists and sportsmen were much interested in the discovery of a new species of bear, cream colored, but in every other respect closely resembling its black cousin. Three of these "white" bears, a dam and two cubs, were killed comparatively recently and brought to Victoria, where Mr. Frank Kermode, curator of the provincial museum, declared them a distinct species. His contention was disputed in several quarters with the argument that the specimens were albinos, but Mr. Kermode's decision has been confirmed by well-known authorities, and the new bear named Ursus kermodei in his honor. Moose are abundant in the northern districts of Atlin and Cassiar, and the mountain caribou is found throughout the province. Black-tailed deer is found everywhere on the mainland west of the Cascades, and on all the islands along the west coast, except the Queen Charlotte group. Mule deer abound in and east of the Cascades to the boundaries of Alberta and North to Peace river.

THE WHITE-TAILED DEER

is only found in the southern parts of the province, chiefly in Okanagan and Kootenay districts. Panthers are most plentiful in Vancouver Island, but they are by no meana rare on the mainland. Lynx and wild cat are found only on the mainland. Gray wolves and prairie wolves are also common all over the mainland. Foxes are not numerous, but are found east of the Cascades and in the far norty. While the sportsman may find ample occupation and excitement anywhere "out of town" in British Columbia, the district of Cassiar probably offers the greatest variety of sport. There he may bag grizzley and black bear, moose, caribou, mountain sheep, mountain goat, lynx, wild cat, panther, and several kinds of deer, besides smaller game, such as otter, hare, mink, etc. Dease lake is an ideal rendezvous for hunters of big game. It is in the northern part of Cassiar district and is reached by steamer from Vancouver or Victoria to Fort Wrangel, Alaska, thence by river steamer up the Stickeen river 150 miles to Telegraph Creek, and supplies can be bought there and at Laketon and McDame Creek. Baron von Plessen, a Danish sportsman, says of a hunting trip in Cassiar: "During the few weeks I was in British Columbia I had the good luck to bring down fourteen bears, ten of which were black and the remainder grizzlies. Besides this we shot three mountain sheep, a caribou, a number of wolves and other animals. We spent most of the time in Cassiar district, where we had fine sport, game being very plentiful there."

GAME BIRDS

also abound throughout the province. Blue grouse is found everywhere. English pheasant (imported several years ago), is now very plentiful on Vancouver Island and the southern mainland, and quail, snipe and plover on the islands and along the coast. Geese and ducks, mallard, canvas-back, teal, widgeon, and several other varieties, swarm along the coast and in the inland lakes, so that the hunters table can be well supplied at all times, for if flesh should fail there is fowl, and lacking that, fish is to be had for the catching. Hitherto the game laws of British Columbia have been rather lax, and in consequence much wantom slaughter was done, especially in the more thickly settled districts. The legislature, however, has awakened to the fact that game must be protected, and at its recent session many important amendments to the game act were passed. In future deer skins are not exportable for six years, heads or horns of deer, mountain sheep and goats are not to be sold; The number of deer, etc., to one gun is limited, and grouse, pheasants and ptarmigan will no longer be exported or sold. The necessity for these restrictions may be understood when it is stated that for years deer have been slaughtered by the thousand for their skins, and game birds, shot in and out of season, have been sold from cold storage. There has also been a destructive traffic in heads, horns and teeth of deer, mountain sheep and goats, which will now be effectually checked. The law, as amended will make it very difficult for pot hunters, resident and non-resident, from plying their ignoble trade, and legitimate sportsmen will benefit proportionately. The new regulations are all the more called for from the fact that two more transcontinantal railways—the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific—will soon build through the heart of the big game country.

BOARD OF TRADE

There was not a large attendance at the meeting of the board of trade, which was held in the city hall on Tuesday evening. Vice-president Phillippo presided, and Secretary Irwin was also in his place.

Steele Brothers, of Winnipeg, wrote re pamphlets relative to North Vancouver. Referred to tourist and settlers' committee.

The premier, the president of the council, and minister of finance respectively, wrote acknowledging receipt of the board of trade petition in relation to the proposed railway, traffic and vehicular traffic bridge across the Second narrows, with the promise that the matter would be brought up at an early opportunity.

In reply to a letter from the Commercial West, Minneapolis, the secretary was instructed to say that as soon as circumstances would permit that the board of trade would be pleased to consider the question of advertising.

On motion F. W. Templer was unanimously elected a member.

A letter was received from A. R. Steacy relative to the piling of the wharf, that an inspection be made prior to Dominion day celebration. Referred to His Worship Mayor Kealy and council.

W. E. Flumerfelt, secretary of the Vancouver Tourist Association, being present was requested to favor the board with an address, which he delivered in a very instructive and interesting manner. He said that no city in Canada has made the rapid advancement that North Vancouver has made in so short a time. It has secured a first class water system, electric railroad, lighting, telephone, miles of graded streets and sidewalks. North Vancouver is fortunate in having able men in the city council and the board of trade as well as the other public institutions. He referred in a practical way to the securing of greater industrial development, beautification of the city, paving of streets, etc. He incidentally remarked that entertainments and attractions that would induce visitors to see North Vancouver, and would be the practical object of securing settlers, as they would then see for themselves as to the commercial advantages. (Applause).

Chairman Phillippo thanked Mr. Flumerfelt for his efficient assistance and kindly co-operation with the board since its inception.

Mayor Kealy spoke in relation to the road to the Lynn Valley canyons, and suggested that the secretary take the matter up with the tourist and settlers' committee, requesting them to ascertain what is being done in relation thereto.

Adjourned to call of the chairman.

CITY AND COUNTRY

A. A. Crowston sells only developed, equipped and proven mining properties of unquestionable value.

The Indians of B. C., in meeting assembled, recently decided to send Chief Joe Capilano and party of chiefs to Ottawa about the middle of September where they will meet Earl Grey and Premier Laurier regarding the land question and other matters.

Rev. John A. Cleland, of Rossland, was a guest at the Hotel North Vancouver this week. His impression of the city were most enthusiastic. He has been an extensive traveller, and recommends the Ambitious City as one of the best that he has been in. The hotel accommodation cannot be excelled anywhere in America.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lennie, of New Westminster, were here on a visit this week.

Charles Dolan was in the city this week in company with his brother-in-law, Dr. McPhillips, of Vancouver. Mr. Dolan is an actor from New York and is playing an engagement at the Orpheum. He has travelled extensively as most actors do, and says that North Vancouver is one of the most ideal sites for a great city he has seen on this continent. No doubt when Mr. Dolan retires from the profession that he has graced for so many years, he might be induced to build a residence among the magnificent scenery so lavishly displayed upon all sides of North Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Eickhoff, of Victoria, were among the visitors to the city this week, also Miss Eickhoff.

A baseball game between the Vancouver Athletic Club team and the New Westminster team will be attraction at North Vancouver on Dominion day. Arrangements for the game have been about concluded, and the New Westminster team will be the strongest they have sent out of the Royal City for some seasons. It will include a few of the old crack players, among whom will be S. Schultz, the crack pitcher a couple of years ago. The game will be the first important one played across the inlet and should draw a big crowd. It will be the forerunner of a large number of games, and no doubt the North Vancouver club will soon have a crack team of its own in the field.

Mr. John Cornyn, president of the Northern Securities, Ltd., died Wednesday at noon, from injuries received while diving from a float at English Bay bathing beach on Tuesday evening. Mr. Cornyn struck his head on the hard sand bottom. At ordinary times the dive would have been attended with no harmful results, but the tide was very low. Mr. Cornyn was 39 years of age, and leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss. He has lived in Vancouver for several years, and was a large owner of real estate, being the head of the Northern Securities, Ltd., since it was opened, a branch of which is in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fowler returned on Wednesday after an extended trip to Southern California, Iowa, Illinois, the eastern states and Ontario. They will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Spence, on First street, after which Mr. Fowler will resume his duties on the Vancouver World. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler will make North Vancouver their home in future.

WANTED.—By a young lady, position as lady's help; North Vancouver preferred. Address, H. P., EXPRESS office.
