EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY POLICY DISCUSSED BY CITY COUNCIL

CITY FATHERS TOLD CANCELLATION AFTER NINE MONTHS WILL COST MORE THAN CONTINUANCE

ENGINEER INSTRUCTED TO PREPARE COMPLETE REPORT ON RICE LAKE OPERATIONS

The regular meeting of the city council was held last evening, with Ald. Dick the only absentee.

The correspondence was especially light, consequently the meeting was not a lengthy one. Mayor McNeish presided.

Mrs. Wm. Seale asked for an arc light at the corner of 12th and Ridgeway. This was replied to by Ald. Irwin who said the light would be installed immediately.

The deputy minister of public works acknowledged the city's request for a dredge on behalf of the Ferry Company. The mayor stated that the Ferry Company had had a reply from Mr. Stevens, M.P. in the negative and the company was going to try and get another dredge to take the place of the "Mastodon" asked for.

Dr. Newcombe and Martin submitted a statement amounting to $125 for treatment of cases of civic employees. E. Peterson's account was put in separately for $72. They were referred to the health committee.

Messrs. D. C. McGregor submitted a statement in respect to the City Employees' Liability Insurance policy. A week ago when the council was considering cancelling the policy it was left over for a week in order that a statement should be got from D. C. McGregor showing what the difference in the cost, if any, would be if the policy was cancelled now or let run to expiration April 1st. The answer received was as follows:

"That the total earned premium, according to condition "K" if policy is cancelled by you amounts aproximately $8,800. The earned premium calculated pro rata amounts to about $7,700 making a difference of $1,100. The writer stated that this would represent an expenditure of over $50,000 for Board of Works and although the corporation would benefit considerably in the matter of premium in hand by cancellation of the policy. Now, he wished to point out very clearly that unless the expenditure during the next three months would greatly exceed $50,000 cancellation of of the policy at this juncture would be to the city's disadvantage.

Ald. Fraser declared there must be some mistake. He did not think there was any policy in existence that would cost more to cancel at nine months than for its full continuance. To determine clearly the position of affairs in this respect, the mayor appointed Ald. Fraser and McRae a committee to investigate it.

Another communication was received from D. C. McGregor & Co. expalining surprise at the attitude taken at last week's council meeting re accident to Wm. Spence which led almost to a determination to cancel the policy. It was stated that the only point at issue was whether or not the city was responsible. They had advised that the city had no legal liability and with Mr. Spence thinking that he had a case they (the company) were prepared to carry out their contract with the city by defending the case at their own expense.

A letter in the same regard was received from the city solicitor stating that according to D. C. McGregor & Co's. letter the city was not liable and accordingly the Insurance Co. was bound to protect the city's interest as per the policy. The city might, however, be desirous of acting in a generous manner towards Mr. Spence, he said, in which case the Insurance Co. could not be looked to to pay the charges incurred.

The engineer submitted a plan and specifications for the grading of Keith road from Bewicke avenue westerly to the city limits or MacKay road. It was resolved to go ahead with the work by advertising it.

Messrs. Lindburg and Lund made an offer of $1.50—$200 for the completion of their contract on Keith road estimated at from 50 to 75 cubic yards. the figuers submitted approximately to cover the two latter amounts.

It was referred to the Board of Works.

The N. V. City Ferries Co. gave notice of a meeting of the shareholders of the company on January 2nd for the purpose of receiving the auditors' report to the shareholders and the balance sheet for the past fiscal year.

Ald. McRae moved that a plebiscite be taken at the general election on admitting D. L. 272 within the city limits on condition only that the owners be paid for street and lane clearing and also that all street end rights be turned over to the city. The motion passed with Ald. Irwin seconding it. He pointed out that as the district lot was under provincial regulations there would be no charges against it.

Under the heading of inquiries Ald. Foreman asked for a full detailed report on the Rice Lake tunnel and reservoir scheme to the end of the year. The engineer was instructed to prepare this.

In respect to the annual statement the mayor said the treasurer was prepared to give information to any of the alderman for his use at the annual ratepayers meeting.

CHOICE OF CITY HALL SITE DEFERRED UNTIL THURSDAY

FURTHER OFFERS TO BE RECEIVED AND CONSIDERED IN THE INTERIM

In pursuance of an arrangement made at the last regular meeting of the council, the city fathers met specially yesterday afternoon in order to consider further the choice of a city hall site. Ald. Fraser was the only absentee.

At the outset Ald. Dick raised the question as to whether it was the council's intention to definitely select on their own accord a site from those submitted and considered or whether they purposed making the matter the subject of a plebiscite.

After some discussion on general lines the alderman framed his query into a motion to the effect that the question be put to a plebiscite and that the school site be one of the sites recommended to the people, together with one other as might be arranged in a future motion.

Ald. Foreman took exception to this on the grounds that there were two motions embodied.

The mayor suggested that the different sites should be considered first, to which Ald. Dick contended that this had already been done.

"We are here," said Alderman Irwin, "to get the best possible site for this purpose. If any additional offer has come in I propose that it should be read."

The mayor announced that one additional offer had come in and this, read by the clerk, proved to be from A. O. Cooper, who submitted lots 8 and 9, block 110, D. L. 548, overlooking Victoria Park. This was offered for $10,000.

The aldermen then proceeded to express different opinions as to what exactly should be done under the circumstances. Finally Ald. Irwin moved to the effect that the meeting should consider the question and submit a recommendation to the regular meeting of the council the same evening.

Ald. Dick declared that he would disfavor the idea of getting into the question with one alderman absent from the meeting. The mayor, however, remarked that it was impossible for the matter to be held up through the absence of one alderman. Notices of the meeting had been sent to each member and it was impossible to drag an alderman to the city hall. His Worship considered that the matter should not be referred by the present council to any other council. "We are quite competent to deal with the question," said the mayor.

Ald. Irwin then moved that the time for receiving offers be extended until Thursday next.

Ald. Dick was in agreement with this suggestion. The council ought to see above all things that the best site was secured for the city hall. "It should be remembered," the alderman said, "that we did not call for bids in this matter in the ordinary manner of calling for tenders. There was no understanding that we were to accept the lowest tender submitted. There was no understanding that we were to accept the lowest tender submitted. There has been some idea abroad that we were going to accept one bid and that one was to be one of the those submitted to us recently. I am in favor of considering any further offers that are forthcoming."

Ald. Foreman expressed the view that at any rate the council should get down to business and not dilly dally with the question. He agreed with the mayor that the matter should be settled by the present council.

Ald. Dick disclaimed any responsibility for the delays that had occurred.

It was finally decided, on Ald. Irwin's motion, that the time for receiving offers be extended and advertised, and that the council meet on Thursday next at four o'clock to reach some final decision in the matter.

CITY ENGINEER ADVISES EXTENSION OF SEWER SYSTEM

RECOMMENDATION WILL BE DEALT WITH BY COMING COUNCIL

The city engineer, Mr. Angus Smith, in a report submitted to the council last evening, advised the extension of the sanitary sewer system in all directions under local improvement.

The cost of the proposed extensions is estimated at $101,000 if lateral house connections from street mains are not considered or twice that amount if they should be.

The engineer recommended the construction of the work in the following sections—Fourth street, Forbes to St. Andrews, $20,500; Fifth street, Forbes to St. George, $17,000; Sixth street, Forbes to St. George, $19,000; Seventh street, Lonsdale avenue to St. George, $4,100; Tenth street, 8th to Ridgway, $8,000; Eleventh avenue, Lonsdale to Ridgway, $[illegible],500; Twelfth street, Lonsdale to St. George, $4,000; Thirteenth street, Eighth to Lonsdale, $5,200; Fifteenth street, Chesterfield to Lonsdale, $3,500; Nineteenth street, Lonsdale to St. Andrews, $7,500; Mahon avenue, Fifteenth to Seventeenth, $3,500.

The city engineer's recommendation was referred to the incoming council.

Storm Was Lenient to the North Shore

MANY CITIZENS NEVERTHELESS HAD FEARS FOR SAFETY OF THEIR TENT HOMES

The North Shore was not excused its share of the storm last evening. Described as the worst of years, the hurricane swept threateningly over city and districts, but seemed at the same time to entertain a somewhat greater respect for this side of the Inlet than for other regions, for while reports are to hand from all neighboring quarters of plateglass windows smashed, umbrellas ruined and electric wires rent asunder, little else has been reported locally other than doubts and fears as to the safety of tenements and the inconvenience experienced by those returning home late.

It is, however, rumored that one or two residents in exposed sections have had their windows blown in, in addition to finding stray shingles in their back gardens. One citizen states that on his way home he was attacked by such a tremendous uprising of wind that he was compelled, against his will, to run a whole block, finishing, still against his will, in a trench on St. David's avenue. Not the least objectionable feature of the storm was the drenching rain which beat persistently down throughout.

N.V. Hockey Team at Top of Two Leagues

DEFEATED BURNABY AT NEW WESTMINSTER SATURDAY

The North Vancouver hockey team visited New Westminster on Saturday and on the Queen's Park ground engaged in a successful match with Burnaby. Despite the absence of its skipper, Ted. Baylis, who is laid up with a badly fractured ankle, the local players with Meredith as centre, defeated their opponents by three goals to nil, scoring two points in the first half. W. R. Clark in goal did some good sound work. Next Saturday the team plays the Highlanders on the Boulevard ground at three o'clock.

The North Vancouver aggregation are now the top liners in both hockey leagues. Out of nine matches they have won eight and drawn one.

First Mayoral Election Meeting Friday Night

S. D. SCHULTZ WILL ADDRESS ELECTORS IN K. P. HALL

Mr. S. D. Schultz's campaign committee met last evening in the committee rooms in the Aberdeen block and discussed matters generally in regard to the coming mayoral contest.

It was decided that the first "gun" of the campaign should be fired on Friday night, January 3rd, when Mr. Schultz announces he will address the electors in the Knights of Pythias' hall at 8 o'clock. An invitation is extended to other candidates to attend. This initial meeting will doubtless be a largely attended one.

Mr. Schultz's committee will again meet on Thursday evening.

Champions vs. Vancouver, Jan. 4

The next fixture of the season in the Pacific Coast hockey series will be played at the Arena, Vancouver, on Saturday, the 4th inst.

It was expected that the arena at New Westminster would be in shape for the match scheduled for this evening between New Westminster and Victoria, but the Royals' rink will not be ready for another week. The match will accordingly be held over until the ice is ready.

The champions have finished on the short end of the score in each of the two matches which they have played this season owing chiefly to lack of practice. Under normal conditions there is no doubt of their ability to give a good account of themselves and they may be expected to make strenuous efforts to turn the tide in their favour on Saturday evening.

Mr. D. MacLurg will Contest Ward 6

In response to the approaches of a deputation of voters in Ward VI. in the district, Mr. D. MacLurg has agreed to contest that ward for councillorship at the coming elections.

Mr. MacLurg has during the past year been vice-president of the Seymour and North Arm Ratepayers' Association with the formation of which body he was prominently identified. He was also largely responsible for the inauguration of the ferry service between Vancouver and the different points east of the Second Narrows.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

A short service will be held in the church tomorrow (New Year's Day) at eleven o'clock a.m. Miss Jean Clark will sing an appropriate solo.

The communion of the Lord's Supper will be observed next Sunday at the morning service.

On Friday evening at 8 p.m. a preparatory service will be held in the church when the Rev. J. W. Woodside will preach the sermon. At this service the new members will be received. After service the new members will be entertained by the ladies of the congregation.

District Money By-laws Passed by Small Vote

ELECTORATE APPROVE EXPENDITURE ON WATERWORKS AND SCHOOL SITES

Saturday's polling on the district money by-laws was remarkable for its smallness. Two by-laws aggregating $100,000 were passed on the voting of sixty-four ratepayers. One by-law was to raise $62,000 for waterworks purposes in the Lynn Valley section, and this was passed with a vote of 61 to 2; the second by-law was for school purposes, $40,000, and was passed with a vote of 52 to 12. The waterworks by-law is for the purpose of establishing a system for supplying water to the higher levels in Lynn Valley while the school by-law is for the purchase of additional school sites. The polling was as follows:

Waterworks by-law—Lynn Valley, 38 for, 2 against; North Lonsdale, 15 for; Capilano, 8 for.

School by-law—Lynn Valley, 32 for, 8 against; North Lonsdale, 15 for; Capilano, 5 for, 4 against.

St. Edmund's Social a Great Success

The ladies of St. Edmund's church entertained at a most enjoyable social and dance in the Horticultural Hall last night. The hall was crowded and about fifty couples took the floor and enjoyed the light fantastic to the strains of good music, while many of the other guests took seats at the various whist tables and competed for the valuable prizes offered, and a large number preferred sitting around watching the dancing.

A very nice lunch supper was served in the outer room and spoke volumes for the catering of the ladies of the church committee who were untiring in their efforts throughout the night to see that each one enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent and indeed the ladies are to be congratulated upon the successful way in which they succeeded in their efforts. After supper Mayor McNeish made a short speech after which dancing was resumed and kept up until the small hours of the morning.

Mr. Donald Campbell made an excellent master of ceremonies. It is hoped that the committee will be able to present Father Bedard with a goodly sized cheque, the proceeds of the sale of tickets which will be placed to the credit of the church funds.

COUNCIL ENDORSES SUGGESTION FOR JUVENILE COURT FOR GREATER VANCOUVER

At a short meeting last evening the district council endorsed Magistrate McArthur's suggestion for a Juvenile Court for all Greater Vancouver. An estimate of the cost of the maintenance is to be obtained. Co-operation with the other municipalities is recommended to the incoming council.

Upon the suggestion of Reeve May the district also decided to ask the board of directors of the Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company for delivery of $15,000 worth of shares immediately, this being ten per cent. of the aggregate authorized for purchase in a by-law recently passed by the electorate.

Service of Song at St. Agnes'

St. Agnes' church was well filled on Sunday evening when the service took the form of a carol service of song. A "shortened form of evening prayer" was read by the vicar and instead of a sermon the choir rendered the following program, every item of which was good, but the solos sang by Mrs. Hewett and Mr. Craddock deserve special mention. The choir was under Mr. H. C. Wright as conductor and Mrs. Fea as organist, with Mrs. Atkinson as the solo accompanist.

Hymn, "O Come all ye Faithful,"; hymn, "It came upon the midnight clear"; carol "Carol sweetly carol"; solo, "Night of Nights," Mrs. Hewett; trio and chorus, "We three Kings," C. Harris, R. Blackwell, F. Upham; hymn, "The First Nowell"; solo, "Lead Kindly Light," Mr. Craddock; solo and chorus, "When Christ was Born," Mrs. Fea; hymn, "While Shepherds Watched"; vesper.

St. Paul's Scholars give Capable Entertainment

The children of St. Paul's school last evening provided a capital entertainment to an appreciative audience. The scholars throughout gave unmistakable evidence of careful coaching, which, combined with clever adaptability on their own parts, resulted in the presentation of amusing playlets, well rendered songs, instrumental and band music, and other versatile features. The program was as follows: "Prize in German Lottery," little comedy, by the senior girls; "Off to Klondyke," motion song by the senior boys; "Glittering Dewdrops," piano duet, by Masters Henry King and David Joseph; "Stilts," drill song, by the boys; "Slumberland Shadow," by the junior class (boys and girls); "Mr. Fizzy's Lodging House," a screaming farce, by the boys; "The Grandmammas' in Grandma's Land," by the junior girls; "The Tall Top Hat," action song, by the junior boys; New Year's Greetings and New Year's Song, by the pupils of St. Paul's school.

A NEW YEAR'S CAROL.

Ah! dearest Jesus, Holy Child,
Make Thee a bed, soft, undefil'd,
Within my heart, that it may be
A quiet chamber kept for Thee.
My heart for very joy doth leap,
My lips no more can silence keep,
I, too, must sing with joyful tongue
That sweetest ancient cradle song,
"Glory to God in Highest Heaven,
Who unto man His Son hath given,"
While angels sing with pious mirth
A glad New Year to all the earth.

S. D. SCHULTZ
Candidate for Mayor

To the Electors of the City of North Vancouver:

As a candidate for the mayoralty, it may not be amiss to say that my record as a pioneer resident of North Vancouver should be an earnest of my conscientious desire to serve my fellow citizens in such manner as may best promote their interests.

Identifying myself with North Vancouver in 1903, and showing the faith, which has never lagged, by clearing three acres as a home site at a time when even ordinary facilities of roads and sidewalks were wanting, and having devoted no inconsiderable time in the public interest, I may claim some share in th results achieved by those zealous workers who have contributed to the upbuilding of our city.

It cannot be gainsayed that North Vancouver possesses superior attractions and will be looked upon with increasing favor, not only by the many who care for a beautiful environment, but also by those who are seeking a profitable field to engage in manufacturing and other industries. With our natural advantages rapidity of settlement may be safely estimated to be in proportion to the means which are taken to provide the accessories of an up-to-date community. Confronted, however, with the fiscal limitations incidental to a comparatively small population, it is essential that our revenues should be husbanded in such a way that the substantial and continuous development of the past few years should be maintained. North Vancouver must keep pace with the progressive suburban municipalities to the south. There must be no attempt to cry "Halt"—a steady and conservative advance must be made in all the departments of municipal work.

With the goal of progress on prudent lines constantly in view, I will heartily endorse any measure designed to introduce more economic and efficient service and treatment in any of our civic departments. The above indicating the general lines I would follow, I will now address myself as briefly as possible to a consideration of the various branches of municipal work.

The policy respecting streets, roads and sidewalks introduced on a scientific and comprehensive plan by the 1909-10 councils of which I was a member, and which has been followed so successfully by the 1911-12 councils will receive my endorsement. Under that policy streets are being cleared in regular order without discrimination from the waterfront to the furthest boundaries, and at the same time ample provision has been made to meet the wants of settlers wishing to build homes in remote sections.

I am in favor of permanent pavements on business streets, but do not criticize the present council for putting in macadam roads, such course of action having been dictated by restricted borrowing powers and the necessity of immediately providing better means of communication.

Whilst a member of the council I gathered data proving it was more economical for the city to produce its own crushed rock than to purchase same and as a result of my investigation, and on my motion, the council resolved to purchase machinery for road making

Health being the essential of all well-governed communities, the extension of sewerage to new zones will receive my cordial support

I am in favor of a municipal gas plant being installed whenever the means of the city will allow of a start being made, the record of many other cities showing that municipal gas plants can be operated more economically than by private companies.

It should be the pride as much as the duty of everyone to lend active support to our public school system, and it will be my aim as a native son and public school boy of this province, to do my best in aiding our school board in bringing our schools to the highest point of efficiency. Health and sturdiness are necessary for the battle of life, and our boys and girls should have physical as well as mental training. Play grounds equipped with the first in North Vancouver on the Board of Trade and in the council to advocate the purchase of entire blocks for school purposes and I have had the gratification of seeing my efforts come to fruition.

In addition to participating in the promotion of the company that was organized to compete with the old ferry company, and the legal fight that ensued thereon, as chairman of the municipal transportation committee, I devoted considerable time to the settlement of the terms upon which the ferry franchise was acquired by the city, and subsequently took part in the discussion and adoption of the memorandum and articles of association of the present company. This was a forward step to which can be traced the major part of our recent development. Any clean attraction that may tend to augment the revenues of the ferry will receive my support.

North Vancouver, including city and sister municipalities to the east and west, should be made the mecca of all tourists Last year, with the assistance of Mr. Gladwin, I succeeded in inducing the government, through our member, Mr. Carter-Cotton, to contribute $3,000 to the improvement of the Capilano road and in the future, whether elected or not, my services will at all times be available to improve the facilities of communication to the many points of attraction in our famed scenic wonderland.

Following my efforts in the Board of Trade, I succeeded as a member of the council in inducing the B. C. Electric to extend the boon of w hite tickets to the patrons of our electric lines, and I further did my best in advocating safety appliances on cars and ferries. and succeeded in arousing public opinion to the necessity of providing fenders and emergency brakes for cars and additional life boats and rafts for the ferries. The safety of the travelling public will continue to be one of my chief aims

I will use every effort to expedite the construction of the Second Narrows bridge and will also urge that the P. G. E. be compelled to build its road according to the terms of the agreement

For the past four years I have, both privately and publicly, advocated the establishment of a civic centre, and no more ideal sites can be presented for municipal, provincial and federal buildings than the blocks surrounding Victoria Park Mr. Stevens, M.P. has given the assurance that if the city takes the initiative, he will employ his best efforts to obtain an appropriation for the purchase of a site for the federal building constructed in harmony with the civic centre idea. Having such decided views as to the advantages of a civic centre, I strongly favor the new city hall being built on one of the squares facing Victoria Park.

Desirous of rendering services on the lines and ideas above expressed, I therefore respectfully ask the vote and influence of the ratepayers in my behalf.

S. D. SCHULTZ.

We, the undersigned committee, endorse the above views expressed by our candidate, Mr. Schultz, and would ask our fellow ratepayers to give their valued assistance in securing his election:

YOUR FORTUNE IN TEACUP

The following rhyme, which is the translation of an old Chinese tea song, will prove useful in reading teacup fortunes:

One leaf alone, alone you'll be;
Two together, the priest you'll see;
Three in groups, your wish you'll gain;
Four, a letter from a loving swain;
Five, good news the letter will bring;
Six in a row, a song you'll sing;
Seven together, great fortune waits
For you. So say the teacup fates.
Tea leaves short and tea leaves tall
Bring you company great and small;
Tea leaves many and dotted fine
Are of bad luck the surest sign;
Tea leaves and clean the rim,
Your cup of joy o'erflows the brim.

Are rendered more acceptable from the fact that they are useful.

Do you know that Tungsten lamps give three times the amount of light obtained from a carbon lamp with the same consumption of current?

Would it not be advisable for you to secure this improved form of lighting?

After you have considered the above queries visit our salesrooms and ask the lamp counter clerk to demonstrate the difference between the Tungsten lamp and the ordinary carbon lamp.

For the convenience of our customers we carry a full line of Tungsten lamps of an approved type in stock.

HELPING TO SOLVE THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

We intend to help you solve the high cost of living by adopting the cash system. By this method we can run our business more economically, take our cash discounts, and as the man who pays won't have to put up for the man who forgets to, taken altogether it will mean quite a saving for those who deal with us and besides we realize it is the only possible way to hold the business that rightfully belongs to this side from going across the Inlet. And right here we would respectfully ask those who have been in the habit of going to Vancouver for their Groceries to at least figure with us. While it is everybody's privilege to buy where they please, we take it for granted that all being equal they would prefer to help build up their own town. We are starting an Alteration Cash Sale with the New Year. All our stock has to be moved to make room for New Departments we are adding—Boots and Shoes, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear, Men's Furnishings and Hats—and we are anxious to get our stock reduced to the lowest possible notch in both the Grocery and Hardware Departments before beginning the alterations to the store. Come expecting to get Bargains in both lines. Delivery will be prompt and every purchase guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. We take this opportunity of thanking all who have favored us with their patronage, and trust that under the money saving system they will continue to favor us. Wishing one and all a Happy New Year.

ALEXANDER SMITH
Candidate for Mayor

Alex. Smith Announces Election Platform

SEWERAGE QUESTION IS CITED AS CHIEF PLANK

Mr. Alexander Smith, who last week consented to enter the field for the pending mayoral election, has formulated a comprehensive "platform," which will be found below, embodied in a letter addressed to the city's electorate:—

To the Electors of the City of North Vancouver

Ladies and Gentlemen:

After much pressure and repeated solicitation of a very large number of friends, comprising ratepayers and citizens, I have consented to accept nomination, and beg to offer myself as candidate for the office of mayor. I respectfully and earnestly ask your support at the forthcoming election in January, 1913.

My qualifications for this high office are known to you all, and I am led to believe that my long residence and experience of the city's needs, my business connection with the city and my record during the previous four and one-half years that I conscientiously served you, fully qualify me and warrant my candidature

Sewerage.—The question of a comprehensive and efficient system of sewerage for all time is to my mind of the most vital importance. I really believe it is essentially necessary that we engage the services of an expert engineer in this special department of engineering to examine the present system without further delay and to

Streets.—I am of the opinion that wherever possible streets should be made of a permanent nature. In the main streets of the city I would advocate the laying of cement sidewalks and utilizing the plank sidewalks at present in use for the extension of sidewalks where needed in the residential parts of the city.

Public Utilities.—I am a firm believer in municipal ownership, especially as regards all undertakings of public utility, and it has pleased me to see that the present council has already turned their attention to the terms of the present lighting agreement, which expires shortly.

Second Narrows Bridge.—I have consistently worked to help forward in every possible manner the speedy construction of the Second Narrows bridge and shall continue to use my best efforts to this end.

Civic Centres.—The early establishment of a permanent civic centre for the city is to my mind of the highest importance; but as the present council has this matter now under consideration, I consider any further remarks would be ill-timed.

Tramway Services.—The representation recently made by the District of West Vancouver seeking the co-operation of the Board of Trade and citizens of the North Shore generally to aid them in getting the B. C. Electric Railway Company to extend their car service into West Vancouver is of great importance and will receive my support, for in my opinion much benefit and business to the merchants of this city would result.

Public Parks and Open Places.—I may state that it was at my suggestion that Mahon Park was purchased by the city in 1911. In the past I have strongly upheld such policy, and did all I possibly could to induce the city to purchase the Lonsdale Gardens in conjunction with the ferry system, but unfortunately without success.

Mayor's Salary.—As I interpret the statutes, no provision is made for a mayor's salary, except in cities having a population of 20,000. I am far from desirous of placing the responsibility on the council of voting me any emolument by resolution, and if elected I can promise to serve the electors to the best of my ability without such unprovided remuneration.

Yours faithfully,

ALEXANDER SMITH.

THE LOGICAL COURSE OF NORTH SHORE DEVELOPMENT

The prosperity of any community, commercially speaking, is derived from the amount of money that is annually put in circulation within its confines. There are two features of this currency circulation which determine the measure of prosperity which the community enjoys, namely, its magnitude and its stability. The larger the circulation and the more certain and regular it becomes, the greater the prosperity enjoyed.

In an agricultural district, or in a community situated in an agricultural district, the source of this currency is found in the annual marketing of the crops, and the probability is that the influx of money will be confined to a few months in the year, during which the crops are being disposed of. In an industrial and shipping community, however, the order is entirely different. In communities of this order the commercial prosperity may be summed up in a single word, namely, "payroll." The industrial and other firms earn the money from outside sources and distribute it in part to their own employees in the form of salaries and in part to other local firms with whom the original firm deals, and by the latter recipients it is distributed to their employees, and all these employees of these respective firms, in their turn, place the money in circulation throughout the community. The goal which every industrial and commercial community has ever before its mind's eye is the increase of the number of its industries, with the ultimate object of building up the largest possible regular fortnightly or monthly payroll.

The enviable record of the city of Hamilton in this regard during the past ten years is a case in point. In 1900 the amount of capital invested in industrial concerns in that city was $13,494,953, and in 1910 it had increased to $58,013,768. The value of the product of these concerns in 1900 was $17,122,346, and in 1910 $55,125,846. The population of the city in 1901 was 52,634, and in 1911 it was 81,969, an increase of over sixty per cent. The amount paid in the city in wages and salaries in 1900 was $4,054,592, and in 1910 $11,600,898, an increase of over 288 per cent. The payroll of that city from the industries now established amounts to practically one million dollars per month. The influence of the circulation of this amount of money every month, upon a stable basis, in any community will readily be seen to spell prosperity to an advanced degree.

There are certain pre-requisites upon the part of any city, however, before it can hope to attain any appreciable importance an an industrial centre, one of which is competitive transportation facilities, either by land or by land and by water. It is just at this juncture that the crucial point is reached in this line of reasoning relative to making North Vancouver that which nature has pre-eminently designed it to be, namely, a populous and prosperous industrial and seaport centre. It is undeniable that this city has already attained without railway connection proportions rarely, if ever, equalled under such conditions, but it is fair to state that that has been accomplished because of the proximity of a large centre across the inlet, in relation to which the city stands today as a favored residential suburb. It is likewise true that upon this basis alone the North Shore could procure a population of scores of thousands, but it is also true that as a residential suburb only, the residents must continue to earn their livelihood across the Inlet to a large degree, and the North Shore could never become a self contained and independent community in the real sense of the term.

If upon this side of the inlet there is ever to be established a waterfront lined with prosperous industrial establishments, if there is ever to be built up on the North Shore a large and thriving industrial population, with its contingent population and institutions—a populous and wealthy centre, if the status of the local community is ever to be elevated to that of a strong, self-reliant centre, because of the presence of a large and stable payroll, then it is absolutely imperative that the magnificent natural advantages with which the North Shore is endowed be rendered accessible upon a basis which will prove attractive to manufacturing and industrial concerns, a sine qua non of which is that competitive systems of continental and world-wide transportation be brought to the doors of industrial concerns upon our waterfront and elsewhere throughout the local area.

Here the real significance of the construction of Second Narrows bridge becomes evident. The completion of that structure would mean that not only one but four or five great transcontinental railway systems which now run into the city of Vancouver, within a few furlongs of the North Shore, would at once find access to the local waterfront, thus affording exceptional advantages in competitive land transportation, while the unexcelled deep sea littoral found along that waterfront would in due course become the scene of the arrival and departure of competitive systems of world-wide water transportation, the whole presenting (with our many natural advantages previously cited) truly ideal conditions for the successful operation of industrial establishments upon the largest scale.

From the completion of Second Narrows bridge will date the real beginning of the career of the North Shore as an industrial and seaport centre and close upon that event may be expected to be set in operation a movement locally along those lines such as will progress with ever increasing weight and momentum until the permanent payroll of the North Shore, having its rise solely from local sources, will place this community in the very forefront of the great, prosperous and independent manufacturing and seaport centres of the continent.

Now that matters with reference to Second Narrows bridge have reached that advanced stage in which the bridge company is "all but" in position to call for tenders for construction, the North Shore municipalities and public bodies and all other municipalities and public bodies interested in this important work, could not pursue a wiser course than to devote their fullest energies to a combined and supreme effort to carry this movement successfully past the very last obstruction and to clear the way for an immediate commencement of the construction of the bridge.

GROWTH OF CANADIAN MANUFACTURES

Gratifying progress in Canada's industrial prosperity is denoted by the census of manufacturers taken in June 1911, for the year 1910, particulars of which are just published Compared with the census for 1900, the latest enumeration shows an increase in the ten years of 4,568 in the number of working establishments (employing five operatives or more) an increase of $800,667,122 in the value of capital, an increase of 170,030 in the number of persons employed, an increase of $127,759,066 in earnings by way of salaries and wages, and an increase of $584,922,284 in the value of products.

The exact figures for 1910 are as follows:

Establishments	19,218
Capital	$1,247,583,609
Employees on salaries	44,077
Salaries	$43,779,715
Employes on wages	471,126
Wages	$197,228,701
Products	$1,165,975,639

The table of groups of products shows the order of precedence on the basis of the value of products to be as follows: First, food products; second, timber, lumber and their re-manufactures; third, textiles; fourth, iron and steel products; fifth, miscellaneous industries; sixth, metal and metal products other than steel; seventh, vehicles for land transportation; eighth, leather and its finished products.

By provinces, upon the basis of the number of industries British Columbia stands fifth, as follows:

Ontario	5001
Nova Scotia	1480
New Brunswick	1158
British Columbia	651

By provinces on the basis of capital this province stands third as it does also on the basis of salaries and wages and of total value of product.

An excellent basis for comparison of wages in the several provinces is provided by the tables as follows:

In Ontario, 238,817 operatives received in wages for the year the sum of $69,432,967, or an average of $439.

In British Columbia 33,312 operatives received in total wages for the year the sum of $17,240,670, or an average of $518.

Wages appear to have been the highest, however, in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, in each of which provinces the average was slightly over six hundred dollars and lowest in New Brunswick with an average of $336 and in Prince Edward Island with an average of $141.

By provinces on the basis of the rate of increase of the value of products Alberta stands first with an aggregate increase of $17,475,506 or 1,330.64 per cent., Manitoba second with an aggregate increase of $40,746,139 or 315.19 per cent., and British Columbia third with an aggregate increase of $45,756,457 or 234.77 per cent.

The record of the North Shore for the year 1912 is one of steady advancement. It is true that not all the hopes which were entertained have been fulfilled in accordance with anticipations and that in some important respects developments which it was expected would take place during the year were not forthcoming, but it is likewise true that those developments have not been abandoned, the year's progress has rendered them certain beyond any possible question, but the time of their occurrence must be moved along into another year that is all.

Meantime, problems of great importance to the internal welfare of the several portions of the North Shore have been successfully solved, public improvements on a large scale have been prosecuted, population has greatly increased in all sections, and substantial progress has been made in the promotion of the community all along the line, in the city of North Vancouver, the district of North Vancouver and the district of West Vancouver.

The outlook of the North Shore upon the future is one of exceptional promise—one that justifies the greatest optimism upon the part of all who are in any way associated therewith. Events of a positively assured nature are pending such as will place this community in the very forefront of prosperous communities of this progressive province. Among these may be mentioned the construction of Second Narrows Bridge the construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, with freight and passenger terminal facilities at North Vancouver, the probable in-coming of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the construction of a large federal wharf and warehouses, and the possible selection of the North Shore as the site of the largest dry dock on the Pacific Coast which the Dominion government has declared that it is their intention to construct on Burrard Inlet.

The passing of the year 1912 finds the North Shore in possession of an assured future, such as very few communities indeed are privileged to enjoy.

Editor Express:

Dear Sir,—In looking over your last issue I notice that an account of the meeting in West Vancouver held by the Ratepayers' Association, was given prominence on your front page.

Having been secretary of this Association at different times for a number of years, I was certain that the resolution of the meeting as published would be misleading to those who had not a thorough knowledge of the situation.

I would, therefore, ask you kindly to publish the enclosed copy of letter which I have sent to the President of the Ratepayers' Association.

Thanking you in anticipation of your courtesy in acceding to this request, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
ANDREW E. LIDDLE.

The letter referred to is as follows:

W. J. Irwin, Esq.,
501 Lonsdale Avenue,
North Vancouver, B. C.:

Sir,—I beg to tender my resignation as Secretary-Treasurer of the West Vancouver Ratepayers' Association to count from date.

My reason for so doing is the action taken as a result of the meeting held at Hollyburn school house, December 12th, 1912. This meeting was called to transact general business and I do not think that resolutions passed at a meeting called by a Ratepayers' Association should be voted on indiscriminately by men who not only were not members but who might not even be ratepayers.

I am altogether of the opinion that the resolutions passed re wharf in D. L. 237 were not the real expression of the ratepayers, and were passed in such a manner as cannot help but prejudice our standing with the federal and provincial governments.

I am also absolutely certain that had it been mentioned on the notices calling a meeting for general business, that the building of a wharf in D. L. 237 was to come up for discussion, the resolution would never have been passed.

Yours respectfully,
(Signed) ANDREW E. LIDDLE.

Drat Them Hens!

Well, drat them hens! when eggs is cheap
They lay the hull place ankle-deep.
Just keeps me lame a-stoopin' round
A-pickin' eggs up off the ground;
A-tryin' to clean some corner out
An' give the crops a chance to sprout.
Just keeps me poor a-hirin' hands
To haul them eggs from off my lands.
They overflow the barns an' sheds,
The kitchen sink an' family beds.
Don't get no chance to eat or sleep,
The way it is when eggs is cheap.

But drat them hens! when eggs is dear
They sit around for half a year—
Eatin' my wallet to its marrow,
With no more conscience than a sparrow;
Indulgin' in a conversation
On every subjec' since Creation
Exceptin' "eggs an' how to lay 'em."
Makes me so mad I want to slay 'em.
Here's eggs a-sellin' by the carat
And every darned hen is a parrot!
Just ornamentin' this here sphere
Is all they do when eggs is dear.

By grab! us folks is worse than hens;
Hens can't lay eggs exceptin' when's
The layin'-time, but people could
Do different, often, if they would.
Now, take a bank: it lends its pile
When them New York banks set the style,
An' then I'm glad to let it keep
My money, 'cause my money's cheap.

But let a big bank quit, an' say!
Then I can't get my bank to pay
Me dimes for dollars. 'Tain't becuz
There's fewer dollars than there wuz;
'Tain't that I need 'em that I set
On that bank's steps an' swear an' sweat;
It ain't becuz there's few or many;
It's just becuz all folks is henny!
An' we insist on doin' what
The rest is doin', right or not.
No use to drive, no use to coax—
So drat them hens! an' drat us folks!

—Edmund Vance Cook in Country Gentleman.

The customary Hogmanay Dance by the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society will be held in the horticultural hall tonight at 9 o'clock to the strains of Reynolds' orchestra. NOT ENOUGH OPERATORS

Railway and Wireless Concerns Short of Keymen to Transmit Messages

With new federal laws in effect requiring railways and ships to be provided with more telegraph and wireless operators, there is a widespread scarcity of men and women to work the keys. The commercial telegraph companies are also feeling the shortage. All sea-going vessels are now required to carry two operators, where one was deemed sufficient before. Schools for telegraph operators are finding it extremely difficult to meet the demands of all branches of the service. The Morse Telegraph Company, opposite the Orpheum theatre, Seattle, will gladly mail you, upon request, a catalogue outlining the courses for men and women. This is the largest school of the kind in the Northwest. 6-1-13

...AND A LOVE MATCH.

By A. M. Davies Ogden

It is so fatally easy for a misunderstanding to arise.

Johnson, galloping swiftly through the long lane of overarching June green, was musing somewhat bitterly upon this fact. It was over a month now since he had seen Helen Grannis, a month which had done a great deal toward quickening a spark hitherto not entirely recognized into a vivid flame. He had tried to see her, but unsuccessfully, and now his thoughts were brooding, as so often before, over that last unfortunate meeting. Was he to blame or she? Yet how could the fault be his?

Once again he went back mentally to the beginning—that day when he had telegraphed to ask if she would ride. They had often spoken of so doing, and this had been his first opportunity. The answer had been that she would be at the club at 4 o'clock. Johnson, promptness itself, cantered over from the stable at 4 precisely. There he waited. He waited until half after 4; he waited until a quarter to 5. There was no sign of Miss Grannis. At last reluctantly he rode toward the park, wondering what could have happened. The first person he met, walking her horse slowly down the main drive in the direction of the gate, was the girl herself, and with her, talking eagerly, was Ransome Sinclair, the man of all others whom Johnson most detested.

For a moment Johnson had stared, really incredulous, unable to trust his eyes.

Then, with a formal lifting of his hat, he was past, the dark red mounting to his cheek and rage in his soul. Had she forgotten the engagement, or had she deliberately thrown him over for Sinclair—Sinclair with his millions, who could give her everything?

In the sudden blackness revealed by the flush of jealousy Johnson realized for the first time how much this slender, dainty girl, with her pretty little air of stateliness, meant to him.

He had hardly gone a mile before the impulse which had made him bow and pass on looked the height of ridiculousness. Of course, there was some mistake. Why had he not stopped and asked her? But, although he turned at once, it was too late; the two had vanished.

He had telephoned that night. Miss Grannis was out for dinner. He had called the next afternoon. Miss Grannis had chosen to ride with another. The week after, when he had tried calling once more, the house was closed. He found that the family had departed for their country place.

Johnson was in despair, but it was not entirely a bad thing for him; it taught him a lot.

As he turned in now at the Newlands place and dropped off his horse some one moving down by the tennis court suddenly brought his heart into his mouth. Could it be she? He knew that Miss Grannis and Ida Newlands were great friends. Was it possible she might be stopping here for a week end! With tingling pulses he went forward. It was—it was! And he might never have known! Somehow he managed to answer properly the greetings of Ida and the men grouped about, then he turned to Miss Grannis.

He was unreasonable enough to be disappointed when the girl gave him merely a conventional smile. He felt that he was the one with the right to be angry. Ida Newlands looked sharply at them both. She knew Helen Grannis well enough to divine that something had occurred.

Now, as she saw Johnson, after a moment, turn aside, her nimble wit leaped to a sudden guess of the truth. And as she caught Johnson's flush as Sinclair came across the lawn her conviction deepened. But what could be done? In that last month Sinclair had been pushing his advantage hard. She knew that Helen was wavering. Ida did not fancy Sinclair; it was her brother who had asked him today. And she did like Johnson. With a swift inspiration she jumped to her feet.

"Let's have some tennis!" she exclaimed. "Helen, I will challenge you and Mr. Johnson to try to beat Mr. Sinclair and myself. Here's your racket," pretending not to see the girl's reluctance. It was the only way she could think of to bring them together.

Johnson could put up a good game. He was tall, with long legs and arms that seemed to cover every corner of the court. And Helen had a clean, telling stroke. Sinclair, however, was no mean adversary. They would have to play up. But Johnson was not thinking of tennis. This was his chance. He must make the most of it before she joined that chattering group. As he brought the balls to Miss Grannis for her service he looked down at her for a moment.

"Why did you not come to the club that day?" he asked abruptly. "I waited and waited"—

"Waited!" echoed the girl. "Why"—

"Ready!" interrupted Sinclair, and Helen flashed a ball over the net. Johnson, his heart beginning to beat fast, tightened the grip on his racket. There had been surprise, unmistakable surprise, in Helen's eyes.

"Did you not expect me to meet you at the club?" he demanded as they changed courts.

"You lost that point," was the impatient response. "No, of course not. I always mount at the park entrance."

"But the maid said"—persisted Johnson.

"Then the maid was mistaken. An, be careful!" as he nearly missed a returned ball.

A strange desire not to be beaten had suddenly sprung to life in her breast. They must win this set, she and Johnson. They must not be beaten by Sinclair. She looked across the net at his red, rather heavy face. Could she marry him? Her family had hoped for it. He was a splendid match, of course—and yet—what did Harry Johnson mean by asking why she had not come to the club? She had told the maid to say that she would be at the park entrance and then to telephone the club for her horse.

"Waited there an hour," said Johnson. "And then to meet you coming out of the park—with another man! What could I think?"

"Ah!" said the girl, with a quick indrawn breath. Couldn't he have known that she was only walking her horse up and down while she waited? The meeting with Sinclair had been pure chance. She, too, had waited, growing more and more annoyed with the awkward position in which she found herself; annoyed also by Sinclair's tardiness, his polite wonder, and then to have Johnson appear, raise his hat and pass on! The girl bit her lip again at the memory.

Then suddenly as she caught the look in his eager, earnest eyes her own softened. After all, he had a bad time too. And all through that stupid Marie's having the messages confused. With an impulsive gesture she turned. "Do play!" she exclaimed. "We must get this set."

Sinclair, rather sulky at being forced to play on a hot afternoon, had hitherto not chosen to exert himself, letting the games go to his adversaries, but now he was beginning to be interested. If they were to win, Johnson must concentrate. And Johnson, all at once infected by something in the girl's man-

Scientific Principles of Forestry

Dr. B. E. Fernow, Dean of the Faculty of Forestry in the University of Toronto will issue very shortly a new edition of his "Economics of Forestry" of which the 1907 edition is entirely exhausted. The book is the standard of the English speaking world on this subject, as Dr. Fernow is not only the first technically educated forester in America, but was the inspiration of conversationists during his thirty years' work in the United States and Canada. A completely new set of statistics on the development of forestry practice all over the world, and in particular Canada, will be embodied in the new work.

Dr. Fernow's principles can be stated briefly as follows:

1. Forests grow to be used.

2. Not all forest growth is desirable and to be maintained, i.e. where the forest grows on lands suited for agriculture.

3. In the virgin forest there is practically no growth, for timber rots as fast as it grows.

4. Forests are self perpetuating—nature will produce forests if man does not destroy them.

5. The forester is needed to direct the work of nature—to see that no rot, no fire loss occur and that the best growth conditions are maintained.

6. Forest crops are slow crops—in Canada, for instance, it takes from eighty to one hundred years to produce a crop of saw logs.

7. Forestry is the business of the state or municipality—since it is profitable only in the long run.

Recommended that a by-law for $30,000 for extension of mains and making lot connections and a by-law for $30,000 for the continuance of Rice Lake operations be introduced.

Re the account of Drs. Newcombe and Martin for attendance on Eric Peterson. Recommended that the same be referred back to the doctors in order that they may forward a detailed statement.

The question of the taxation of drug stores was left over for consideration at next meeting.

Recommended that a by law for $5,000 for lane purposes be submitted to the electors at the forthcoming election.

Re request from Messrs. Livingston, Garrett, King & O'Dell on behalf of Mr. A. Rowan owner of lot 5-29-548 for damages for the cutting of a lane across his property. Recommended that the engineer inspect the property and that subject to this inspection Mr. Rowan's property be placed in the same condition as it was prior to the cutting of the lane through it.

Re letter from Dow, Fraser & Co. Ltd. stating that they have in their possession executed conveyances from Wm. Singleton and Jas. D. Wolfer and Quit Claim Deeds from the mortgagees of block 29-548 and that they are prepared to hand these over on receipt of a certified copy of a resolution accepting these lands for lane purposes and a resolution giving Mr. Singleton the right to remove any buildings on such lands within 18 months of this date and also payment by the city of the charges in connection with the matter amounting to $15. Recommended that the resolutions in connection be passed and forwarded together with cheque of $15 to Messrs. Dow, Fraser & Co.

A Little Beauty Talk

Headache is often the result of indigestion. No woman, however perfect of feature, can be truly beautiful when a racking pain draws her face full of fine lines and dulls the expression of the eyes. The next time you are suffering with headache try drinking a half glass of cold water into which have been put the juice of half a lemon and a half teaspoonful of soda. The drink is not unpleasant, and in many cases it brings almost immediate relief.

A woman whose hair is always soft and glistening has disclosed the secret of her attractive coiffure. She buys a package of absorbent cotton from the druggist. Next she strips a layer from it and places the layer over the bristles of a wire hair brush, pushing it well down until the bristles penetrate the cotton, which should lie close to the back of the brush. Then she strokes the hair, beginning near the scalp and giving a vigorous stroke to the ends. A few of these firm strokes will reveal how large a quantity of dust and smoke can be taken up by the cotton, the result being the same as the cold cream bath to the face at the end of the day.

Just as cold cream leaves the face bright and fresh, the cotton brushing leaves the hair with a brilliant sheen and a natural fluffiness.

The cotton stroke should be administered every night just before retiring, an open window being the ideal place for the beautifying process.

Every woman has known the misery of needing a shampoo after a journey and not being able to have it at once because of lack of facilities. The hot and cold water may be handy, but not the shampoo medium. So prepare this before you leave home and carry it along in a tightly stoppered bottle—a three ounce vial will do.

Boil castile soap shaved to a powder, about two heaping teaspoonfuls in a little water, putting in about two soupspoonfuls of washing soda. When getting ready to wash the hair, massage a wee bit of cold cream into the scalp, then slightly wet the hair and work in the scalp jelly or liquid—into the scalp, of course.

Rinse as usual, trying to keep the successive waters at an even temperature. It is the sudden change from hot to cold water that makes the hair harsh, as it is so often found to be after the most careful shampoo.

The reason given by beauty people for boiling the soap used in shampoos is that this preparation makes it still more bland. If the hard cake is rubbed directly upon the hair it is bound to be harsh and less bright than if the head is washed by a regularly prepared soap as directed.
