FINANCIERS TAKE HOLD

WINNIPEG CAPITALISTS PREDICT BRIGHT FUTURE FOR SOUTH FORT GEORGE —ACQUIRE LARGE INTERESTS

The Winnipeg capitalists who arrived here last week from Fraser Lake with N. S. Clarke, general manager of the Fort George Lumber & Navigation Co., left for Ashcroft by the Chilco on Monday morning last. Both gentlemen declare themselves greatly impressed with the beauty of the South Fort George townsite, and with the possibilities of the place as the present and future commercial centre of the Fort George territory. Before leaving town they closed negotiations with N. S. Clarke to acquire a half interest in the Fort George Lumber & Navigation Co., the largest commercial organization of its kind operating in the northern interior today. It is understood that the name of the company will be changed to the Fort George Timber & Transportation Co., Limited.

J. A. Adamson is the managing director of the Western Trust Co., of Winnipeg, a director of the United Empire Fire Insurance Co., and his name appears on many other boards, as a factor in the government of heavy financial enterprises. Dr. J. K. McLennan, secretary-treasurer of the J. D. McArthur Company, of Winnipeg, the well-known firm of railway contractors, is also a prominent figure in the financial circles of the middle west. The J. D. McArthur Company were awarded the largest individual contract on the construction on the transcontinental, which extended from Winnipeg to the Great Lakes.

The purchase of the large interest in the Fort George Lumber & Navigation Company by these capitalists, for a large figure, speaks volumes in favor of this place. Such investments as this find their basis on the solid foundation of the city of South Fort George. All the two-color advertising matter ever printed would not influence one iota the amount of capital required to take over a half interest in such an enterprise as the Fort George Lumber & Navigation Company.

This concern own three steamboats operating on the Fraser river, capable by combined effort, of transporting about two hundred and fifty thousand pounds of freight at one time. Besides these boats there is now well advanced in course of construction a splendid sawmill, with a capacity of 25,000 feet a day. This mill is equipped with the latest wood-working machinery and ample power to supply the town with electric light, which is a project also under contemplation by the company.

In addition to the investments of capital in the Lumber & Navigation Co., which was the object in view which brought these capitalists into the wilds, we are glad to note their personal investments in city property here. Mr. Adamson purchased outright one of the best corners in town, together with the lot adjoining. This property is situated on the corner of Second and Hamilton avenues and was sold by W. J. Mackay of The Herald for two thousand dollars. Dr. McLennan also purchased three lots on Hamilton and Third from L. G. MacHaffie for twenty-five hundred dollars. Both these sales show an advance of fifty per cent. over their original price six months ago.

J. A. Adamson, in conversation with The Herald, stated that South Fort George "looked good to him." He stated that the northern interior country was, in his opinion, a splendid agricultural country which, during the next five years, would see marvellous strides in both agricultural and industrial development.

Accompanied by N. S. Clarke, the Manitobans journeyed over the trail from Quesnel to Fraser Lake, a point some 250 miles west of here up the Nechaco valley, where they looked over some land holdings, which they have recently acquired. From Fraser Lake they made their way to this point by canoe, down the Nechaco river.

The Fort George Lumber & Navigation Company will discontinue all operations early next month until next spring, with the exception of logging out some five million feet of timber for next year.

Arthur Holland, the Provincial land surveyor, arrived this week from the Crooked River, where he has been surveying land for the G. T. P. Lands Co., of Vancouver, since May of the present year. Mr. Holland had a crew of nine men with him. The party had to break ice on the small lakes along Crooked River on their way out to Giscombe.

A complimentary dinner was tendered the officers and crew of the B. X. by the residents of South Fort George and adjoining townsites, last Saturday evening, at the newly opened Hotel Northern. The event took the nature of a Thanksgiving offering at the resuscitation of this fine river boat from her recent mishap, which at one time looked as though a resumption for this year would be out of the question. Any other company but this "admirable clock of precision" would have foregone the two trips made after the accident and berthed the boat for the winter. But the B.X. Co. is a system with a "system," brought to perfection through fifty years' mastery of detail on the longest and best stage line in existence. And furthermore, the officers of this new boat have imbibed the principles of the land chain of the old organization by bringing up to South Fort George, on her last trip of the season, the largest tonnage ever carried on the Fraser, above Soda Creek — ninety tons. This enterprise on the part of the transportation company led the philanthropic merchants to heroic deeds, which resulted in grouping the officers and crew in the dining room of our prohibition hotel, and in dry wit, dry song and still drier toasts, made plain their appreciation of their efforts at the termination of navigation for 1910. The toast list ran the gamut from Our Friendly Townsites to The Press. With the former were coupled the names of J. Williamson and J. T. Carter. Both these gentlemen were envoys extraordinary from adjoining suburbs, the Hudson's Bay and Central Fort George. The representative of the Honorable Adventurers, spoke touchingly and feelingly of the hardships encountered by bold navigators on the Fraser from the time of Simon Fraser down to Captain Brown, but he lamented the fact that a wave was creeping over the country that had for its ultimate object the dethroning of an admirable aid to social felicity.

Among those present were: Captain O.F. Brown, Captain Baker, Purser Stewart Adamson, Engineer Heay, J. A. Davis, W. Kennedy, R. Peden, Malcolm McNevin, L. G. MacHaffie, J. Munro, P. A. Landry, J F Templeton, F O'Flaherty, H C Seaman, J B Daniell, J Findlay, A Forrest, D Brewster, F J Johnston, J Williamson, G E Bowes, H B Close and J T Carter. W J Mackay acted as chairman who, after three hours spent with song, music and story, brought the dry banquet to a close with the unanimous sentiments of those present — "Glad to have met, sorry to part, but glad to see you here May 1, 1911."

The subdivision of lot 932 by the Calgary Land Company forms the latest addition to the townsite lands here. Lot 932 is the western half of a pre-emption owned by a native half-breed named James Bird. For some reason his pre-emption was divided into two parts some three years ago and lot numbers assigned to each. The Calgary Company's half contains 80 acres. The size of the lots is 25 to 28 feet in width by 120 feet deep, the blocks being bisected by 16-foot alleyways between the lots. The property is a good one, but will hardly see much active development until the Hudson's Bay land is sub-divided, together with lot 931, owned by the Northern Development Company. Admitting that the property is worth the prices asked from a speculative standpoint, we fail to see why the Calgary Land Company should find it necessary to follow the example of the promoters of doubtful properties and misrepresent facts in its advertising literature. This concern "plays to the gods" by advertising with great multi-colored folders embellished with enormous type styles and the old hackneyed phrases about opportunity banging on the panels, etc., etc. One folder (three feet by two) prints some "indisputable reasons why Fort George is destined to become a large city." Accompany these reasons are illustrations purporting to show agricultural lands in this district, whereas they represent farms between Soda Creek and Quesnel, 100 miles south of here. The Calgary Land Company have secured one of the best subdivisions here. It adjoins the Indian reserve on the south, about half way along the southern boundary. They paid for the property the highest acreage price yet realized on townsite property here. Taking these facts into consideration it seems unnecessary to exaggerate.

The weather the past fall has been a chapter of revelations to those who were of the opinion that the district was chilly in October. Here is what J. P. Flynn, a carpenter, says of the tenth month in year in South Fort George: "I have worked in Alberta for nine years and on the Crow in British Columbia for two years, but this is the first October I have worked outside without using gloves."

THE BARGAIN FOUND TO INCLUDE THE PUBLIC'S MAIL CONVENIENCES TO THE PUBLIC'S DETRIMENT

When the Natural Resources Security Company purchased from the original owners their subdivision on the Nechaco waterfront they purchased also the registered name of Fort George, the exclusive right to use which in connection with a British Columbia townsite they obtained by legal procedure, under the act which governs townsite registration. They christened the waterfront addition with the name given to the Hudson's Bay post here a hundred years back by the pioneers of the great trading company's New Caledonia brigade, and blazoned the fact abroad that they possessed the registered legal townsite of Fort George—which helped them to sell lots of lots.

When Postoffice Inspector J. R. Greenfield arrived here in August to look into departmental matters, he found a town and a townsite. He established a postoffice in both places and named them after the registered names of the subdivisions on which they were located, Fort George or the townsite of the Natural Resources Co., and South Fort George for the town on the Fraser river.

The general public are not aware of these nice distinctions which identify the centre of population from the maze of houseless streets on the Nechaco river. They recognize only Fort George, the name of a Hudson's Bay post which, like many another of that company's old fur trade posts chosen years ago, is destined to become a great city through the advent of railroad transportation, which will develop the dormant resources convergent to the point. When they want to reach their friends by mail here, or when they desire information regarding this place they address their communications to Fort George, of course. To avoid having the mail intended to reach citizens of the town of South Fort George, carried to the postoffice on the Nechaco river which distributes mail matter to the employees of the Natural Resources Co., hitherto the postmaster from that point has accompanied their hotel bus to the postoffice here where, after the mail had been received, at the mail boat landing, a general sorting by both postmasters would be made and the mail intended for the townsite company's minions would go forward intact. This was an arrangement which proved most satisfactory. The public here were not inconvenienced by such a method, and their mail was not delayed by being carried four miles further after reaching its destination to satisfy a townsite company who want to have a separate mail from this town altogether, knowing that their "postoffice," without such a service, was but a sub-office and was not a good advertisement for the "legal registered townsite of Fort George."

At last, however, the service has been rudely disrupted by the granting of this separate service. Recently the postmasters of both towns received notification from the postoffice inspector to the effect that after date all mail matter addressed to the two towns would go forward in separate sacks made up strictly in accordance with the addresses. This service went into effect last Saturday on the arrival of the mail boat "B.X." South Fort George received one mail sack of letter mail and a few papers, whilst the postmaster from the townsite carried away the bulk of the people's mail to his eyre on the Nechaco heights where, after disintegrating the mail intended for that office from the great bulk of the mail intended for this point, but addressed to Fort George, it was returned here for distribution. In the meantime the banks, business men and citizens in general of the bona fide town here sat whistling for their mail, awaiting the indulgence of the postoffice which handles the mail for the Natural Resources people and the few "business houses" that are located on their site, owing to "inducements" held out by that company.

This is where we butt in.

The Herald has told its readers all about the townsites hereabouts, without diverging one jot from the path of truthfulness, So, we have done our duty. We care not how many hundreds of lots the Natural Resources people sell to the trusting public, providing that the public repose their trust in a proposition that they thoroughly understand. We are trying to help them to this desirable information.

But now for the second time this year the townsite people are interfering with a matter which af-

South Fort George seems to be getting the worst of it from the government departments. We are, by the right of the people's will, entitled to government offices here, but we have not got them. The people are entitled to their mail when it arrives, but have to wait now, whilst a corporation "get theirs" first. Why a young and growing city should be shoo'ed about—like a kind-faced-cow in a silver stream—by alien corporations, we can't understand, and as the matter is incomprehensible to anyone but some of the wizards on the "inside," we have given up trying to.

The Winnipeg capitalists who visited South Fort George this week, predict the laying of G. T. Pacific steel to Tete Jaune Cache by June the first next year. This sounds impossible, yet considering the source, it gives cause for reflection. Very little definite information is obtainable regarding the progress of the grading contracts the other side of the mountains that divide the Cariboo district from Alberta, and some day soon the fact that things are really moving over there may be appreciated by the arrival of some gang of grimy dago shovel men, in a dug-out, from where the end of the grade strikes the Pacific watershed.

The total attendance of the annual meeting of the B. C. Conservative association, which is going to be held on November 17, in Nelson, is expected to be over two hundred and fifty. Vancouver, Victoria and Cariboo are the three places that will have more than ten delegates. Cariboo will have twenty, Victoria forty, and Vancouver 50,

BACK FROM THE PEACE RIVER

James Petry, Frank Watson and Kit Carson, three old-timers in the northern interior, arrived this week from the Peace river country, where they have been cruising land for Vancouver people. Mr. Petry's report to us on the Peace river country at this time of the year is surprising. Although the altitude of the Peace river valley is several hundred feet lower than this point, that country is generally believed to have a more rigorous climate. This, however, is not so, the past summer having been entirely free from frosts. Next week we will publish a full account of Mr. Petry's journey.

fects the convenience of the public at large. Last July they secured the government building site for their town, which selection was, however, annulled later by a public meeting presided over by the government agent of the district, whose action was afterwards supported by Government Auditor Gopel. That was the first time. Now the postoffice department have inaugurated a mail service which will continue to be a general mix-up here until the postoffice department either change the name of the office on the Nechaco river townsite, or go back to the old regime.

Changing the name of postoffices which conflict with the prompt delivery of mail, comes within the jnrisdiction of the department. We have already seen this done in the district, when the name of the little town of Stanley was changed to Van Winkle, and we believe that there are more people in Van

The road gangs having completed their work on the Mud River road came into town this week. Road work will be discontinued until the early spring. Malcom McNevin, the superintendent, is to be commended for the work he has accomplished during the past season.

The steamer Chilco arrived from the Cottonwood Canyon on Monday last loaded to the guards with freight. She left again early on Tuesday morning for Soda Creek, taking down about thirty passengers, mostly surveyors. The Chilco will continue to run until the actual freeze-up barrs her progress. N. S. Clarke, manager of the company, informed us that the boat is carrying her equipment, for pulling out on to the ways, aboard, and that if ice is met she will return to Quesnel and be hauled out for the winter.

Several lots have changed hands this week for good figures, the transfers principally being on Fourth street. This is due to the proposed buildings which will be erected on this street before next summer. Amongst those planned are J. A. Fraser's store at the corner of Fourth and Laselle, the Traders' Bank of Canada, at the corner of Hamilton and Fourth; a theatre, next to the Burns' building, and a drugstore and numerous other buildings. Indications point to a main business street running along Second street to Laselle avenue, up this avenue to Fourth street and down Fourth to the mail boat landing.

Pete Landry, of the engineering firm of Gore & McGregor, left on Monday last for Quesnel with a party of men to survey a block of land up the Quesnel river. Mr. Landry will return here in about a month.

A dam has been made across the slough on the Hudson's Bay land for the purpose of raising the water to make a skating rink.

C. Dake, one of the associates of John Houston in the founding of the Nelson Tribune, committed suicide at Prince Rupert on October 16. He went to Nelson in the early nineties.

The British Columbia & Dawson Railway company's application to the Dominion government for incorporation embraces the proposal to build from Lytton along the Fraser river to Fort George, to a crossing of the Nechaco river at the mouth of the Stewart river, following same by way of Stewart lake, Thatcher river, Trembleur lake, Middle river, North Tacla lake, Driftwood river, Bear lake, passing through Fort Conley, thence along valley of Skeena river to summit between Skeena and Stickeen rivers, down the Stickeen to Telegraph creek, thence up Telegraph creek to the headwaters of Teslin river and into the city of Dawson; also from Ashcroft to the Fraser river near where Big creek enters that river; also from point near Lillooet along the south side of Seaton and Anderson lakes, and via Lillooet lake and river and Harrison lake to Vancouver.

The snow has fallen. After the beautiful weather of the Indian summer, so abruptly terminated by Wednesday's snow storm, we are at last obliged to face the stern realization of the fact winter is upon us. This snow will stay. The mild fall weather continues, however, and although the temperature is a little too low to allow the snow to thaw we anticipate two or three weeks' open navigation on the Fraser before the freeze up.

John A. Fraser, the well-known merchant of Quesnel, has let a contract for the building of a splendid store here. The work is to commence shortly and the building is to be completed before the arrival of the first boat in the spring. Mr. Fraser, who represents this section of Cariboo in the Legislative Assembly, is one of the most successful business men in the district. He came to Cariboo some twenty-five years ago as a school teacher. The late Senator James Reid took him into his mercantile and manufacturing business as manager, which position he held for fifteen years, resigning to enter into business himself in Quesnel. J. A. Fraser has always thoroughly appreciated the importance of South Fort George as a coming centre of industry and we are glad to note his intention of entering into business here.

Good progress is being made in laying steel on the first one hundred miles of the G. T. P. ont of Rupert. On October 8 the steel was at mile 84, and the end of the first hundred miles will be reached in less than two weeks. Piling is being driven for a trestle to reach the gravel at Kitsumkalum, where ballast is to be obtained for the ballasting of the road. Timber for snow sheds is being cut at different points along the line and some of the snow sheds will be built this winter. As to keeping the line open all winter, the railway people will do their utmost and it will not be their fault if it is not kept open all winter. It is possible the whole matter will be determined by the sort of weather encountered the first half of the winter.

Work has already commenced on a tote road from the point at which the rail head will rest for the winter to Beaver Dam, where the Skeena is to be bridged and if the river steamers are unable to carry all the supplies and materials for the bridge up the river this fall they will be brought by horses and sleighs.

At Prince Rupert it was the opinion that the contract for the remaining section between Aldermere and Tete Jaune Cache would be let about November 1. The distance from Aldermere to South Fort George is 237. The distance from South Fort George to Tete Jaune Cache is 315. This contract calls for 552 miles and is one of the longest to be let in the province.
