Survi ors of Sunken Cruisers Only 839

LONDON.---September 25th.---The survivors of the three sunken Cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy, destroyed by German submarines in the North Sea numbered only 839 souls. The death list numbering 1400.

Germany's New Guinea possessions has fallen into the hands of the Australian forces, practically without resistance. Thus another of Germany's possessions is lost to her.

English raid of airships on Dusseldorf destroyed airships of the Germans and all their sheds. The Germans retaliated by sending a force of airships over Ostend. Bombs were dropped into the city killing many.

Canada's Forces Now Crossing The Atlantic

Australian Forces Occupy German New Guinea

Valcartier.---Sept. 26th.—Most of Canada's are now on the Atlantic on their way to the front. So carefully was their departure kept secret that they had sailed several days before the news was allowed to leak out. A large British Fleet is convoying the transports across Atlantic.

London, Sept. 24th.—The latest news to get through from the front brings reports of the taking of nearly twelve miles of intrenchments by the English by a brilliant bayonet charge. The English found the trenches filled with dead and injured Germans.

The French are steadily bearing down and pushing the Germans to the rear in the centre.

On the east the Russians and Servians are meeting unbroken successes, the Austrian army being all but demoralized.

London, Sept. 25th.—The survivors of the three sunken Cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy, destroyed by German Submarines in the North Sea numbered only 839 souls. The death list numbering 1400.

Provincial Police And Military Services

Several of the Provincial Police on duty in this section having registered with the Company of Frontiersmen now drilling for the front and war service, on communicating with headquarters at Victoria to ascertain their standing received a collect wire that their places would not be kept for them in the Police Service and that compensation would cease on their acceptance of military service.

In view of the stand taken by Banks and Business Houses throughout the Dominion the action of the Department at Victoria seems harsh, that a man should on account of his desire to enlist and serve his country at the front, have to lose his standing or rating in the Police Service after perhaps years of service. We think there must be some misunderstanding and that more detailed instructions from Victoria will correct this first impression.

Fire Benefit Concert

The Benefft for the Fire Department of South Fort George, the first of the season, it being announced that once a month an evening would be set a side by the management of the Fort George Theatre, was a decided success Thursday night.

As usual our people responded handsomely and turned out to enjoy the pleasentest evening of entertainment the town has had in some time.

In addition to war scenes and humorous sketches thrown on the curtain, very pleasing renditions were given by local talent.

Mrs. McElroy and Mrs. McLaughlin added very greatly to the occasion and were heartily received for encores. Both these ladies possess natural stage talent and enter into their part with that pleasing abandon and whole heartedness that added to the finish of their artistic renderingsgave a pleasing impression that captured completely their auditors.

Mrs. Rushforth's piano selection was played as only a master of that instrument can play and we shall hope to hear more of her work this winter. But we suggest to the management that the next time they ask her to play they see that the piano be moved to the front of the audience.

The tones of the instrument were drowned by the sidewings and flies of the stage. We strongly suspect also some of the keys and wires of the piano need attention.

Mr. McGregor's rendering of "The Lost Chord" was a delight, as was also his encore; Jim surprised us. He has been keeping his talent too long buried. We will see that it comes to the front oftener

Mr. Roddis and Mr. Hall sang very pleasingly, familiar selections, always new and welcome. Mr. Roddis being the first on the programme no doubt felt the newness of the situation and although he got away to a bad start, soon recovered himself, his nervousness was but transient, and before the close of his second number had the aundience with him. He certainly possesses a pleasing voice. As for Mr. Hall his selections were given from the start with finish and style showing off his splendid voice admirably. His work was commented on by all with whom we have spoken or come in contact.

Mrs. McElroy was ably supported on the piano in her accompaniment and dancing by Miss Patterson. Mrs. Rusforth doing the same for Mrs. McLaughlin.

Altogether it was an enjoyable event such as has seldom been given in South Fort George.

During the evening the audience listened kindly to a report on the condition of the Fire Department, its work, receipts and expenses. The season in which danger of fire is greatest is upon us and preparedness may avert serious losses at a time when our people are least able to bear burning out of homes and business.

Every care should be taken about the homes to see that inflamable material is removed and destroyed from places where it might do great damage.

Fires started in the stove and especially your chimmeys and stove pipes should be watched constantly.

About $200 a month is required to keep the Department running and supplied with its material during the winter months. It is hoped that this one expense, so necessary and in which everybody has an interest and benefit, will be kept up to its high state of usefulness. Everybody doing their share and helping in the work will accomplish a great deal and no one will feel the burden.

An evening a month such as was furnished last night will go far also to pass the long winter ahead of us and give both pleasure and profit to the community,

It brings out latent talents too little used and enjoyed. And that we have talent has been displayed on more than one occasion.

The gross receipts from ticket sales amounted to $95.50, expenses $20.75, net receipts $74.75; divided Fort George Theatre Co. $37.50, Fire Department $37.50.

"A SCRAP OF PAPER"

"Just for a scrap of paper," exclaimed the German Imperial Chancellor is his final interview with the British Ambassador—"just for a scrap of paper Great Britain is going to make war on a kindred nation!"

The "scrap of paper" was the treaty guaranteeing the neutrality of Belgium. The whole history of human liberty is written on just such scraps paper.

The Magna Charta was "a scrap of paper."

The Bill of Rights was "a scrap of paper."

The Declaration of Independence was "a scrap of paper,"

The emancipation Proclamation was "a scrap of paper."

The decisions of the British Law Lords are "a scrap of paper."

For a hundred years "a scrap of paper" has maintained an unbroken peace between the United States and the British possessions of Canada along an unfortified frontier of 3,000 miles.

Respect for these scraps of paper measures a nations's honor no less than its freedom. Democray itself is only "a scrap of paper," but it looses forces that no autocracy can stay. The German army is the most wonderful military machine ever constructed by the hand and brain of man, but in the final reckoning of history "a scrap of paper" will prove more powerful than all the Kaiser's legions.

If Berlin did not know that great maxim of democracy, so much the worse for Berlin.

Europe always did have an unparalleled display of ruins to exhibit.

The Mail

The mail via Ashcroft will very likely for the balance of the season be irregular owing to the unreliability of the Fraser at this time of the year. The gasoline boat 'Viper' carried the mail out from South Fort George on Wednesday and the 'P. R. T.' on Friday.

Inbound mail has been late both trips this week.

Steamers B. X. and B. C. Express left for Quesnel and Soda Creek Wednesday and Thursday the water in the river having raised about a foot as result of recent rains. The B. C. had been hauled out here and a new bottom put in where damaged in her recent experience at Hudson Bay Gardens.

In the United Service Institution, Whitehall, London, reposes one of the most beautiful books the world has produced for many generations. Two years have been spent in the making of it, and the cost will be something like $2,500.

It is "The Roll of the Dead of the South African War." It contains about 22,000 names of officers and men killed by the enemy or by disease, set out under the headings of about 300 regiments, regular and irregular. It is to be placed in a shrine behind the bishop's throne in Cape Town-Cathedral.

According to the latest census in Austria-Hungary, the population was divided as follows: In Austria the Slavs (viz., Bohemians, Moravians, Slovaks, Poles, Ruthenians, Slovenes, Servians, Croatians, and Roumanians) numbered 15,724,573, the Italians 727,102, and the Magyars about 9,000. In Hungary the Magyars numbered 8,742,301, the Slavs 8,377,077, and the Germans 2,135,181.

Railroad Officials Pass Through

On Thursday of this week President Chamberlain and Vice-President Donaldson, of the Grand Trunk Pacific, passed through town in their private car enroute to Prince Rupert. They did not stop longer then was necessary to change crews and went right on. It is their intention to stop over here on their return trip.

Mr. Chamberlain announced that the building of the Round House would go forward at once, and it is to be hoped that other work promised and long expected will soon be under way.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Time For Action

COMMERCIAL BODIES AND CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATIONS CAN DO MUCH FOR THE GEORGES

From Edmonton comes the information that the Board of Trade of that city is alive and working in the interests of their business, their unemployed and their commercial advancement. They are to a greater extent in the position of the Cities of the Georges. Up to now railroad construction brought prosperity for the time being. Hitherto we have laid stress as have they on construction, not on production. Now it is time to extend our efforts in the latter direction.

They have appointed a committee called the Edmonton Board of Public Welfare, for the purpose of creating as much employment as possible.

Premier Sifton has been interviewed regarding the burden of the unemployment and they have put it up to the Provincial Government.

It is a good thought for the Chambers of Commerce & Board of Trade of the city of the Georges.

The Pacific Great Eastern Project is still inactive to the north, and to the south it has quieted down.

The Government by its Lot Sales last June, put the finish on a situation here that looked unpromising enough before the sale, but with the addition of the calamity of war and the financial stringency, the situation grows more serious daily, and actual want and suffering is at our doors. We are a stoical people in the midst of adversity, but it is an adversity we do not deserve, nor did we bring it about.

A blow at the advancement and progress of our district has been dealt, and we think the time has come to meet the situation by ways and means.

We believe if the Government and the railroad companies could be induced to see the situation means would be furnished to tide over the situation.

There is the station site, the round houses, and railroad shops. There is the Pacific Great Eastern construction north. The Government can do much in prosecuting the local road improvements.

The City of the Georges was been promised a great deal while the sale of lots was going on. We still wait for some fulfilment of these great promises.

Possibly finances have stopped some of this work, but some portion of it could be done. The Provincial Government should be importuned to start something in the way of local improvements and call upon the Pacific Great Eastern to begin its northern work.

The business men of the district can be counted on to do their part, but without a pay roll for the working people, the finances coming from the money centres to circulate through work on public utilities they cannot do much.

The Edmonton people are constant and insistent on the mail service to the Georges, more so than we have been for ourselves. The Edmonton Board of Trade has also taken up the question under Government assistance and direction, through which some considerable portion of the large number without employment in all western cities, could be employed to render productive some portion of our great area of vacant land.

Here is another thought for our commercial bodies to take up. Nothing is needed more in this country than roads to the vacant lands and pre-emptions.

Loyal Order of Moose Hold Installation Smoker

At 9 o'clock in the evening on Wednesday of this week the Loyal Order of Moose held a street parade commencing at the river front. The procession marched to the tune of the pipers and were lead by a clown and goat, the members, some eighty-five in number were clothed in white and marched in double file. After having marched around the block the procession retired to the lodge rooms, (Burch's hall.)

The occaison was the installation of the Prince George subordinate lodge No.1051 of the Loyal Order of Moose, initations taking several hours.

At 11.15 the guests were admitted to enjoy selections on the piano, various recitations, songs and bagpipe selections. The waiters appeared on the scene with trays laden with sandwiches, salads, etc. After the luncheon pipes and tobacco were passed, the floor was swept and those present enjoyed 10 rounds of fast boxing. Those present report having spent a pleasent time.

Farewell Luncheon to Mr. Seaman

The departure of H. C. Seaman, one of the pioneer bankers of this place, was made the occasion of an enjoyable luncheon Monday last, at the residence of Russell Peden. The guests were made up of the business and banking fraternity of the town. In many happy speeches and toasts the guest of honor was made aware of the high esteem he was held in by his fellow townsmen. One of the most pleasing features of the luncheon was the presentation to Mr, Seaman of a handsome ring from the gentlemen at the gathering.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S NEEDS.

We had a very interesting conversation one day this week with a Pre-emptor, or rather we listened to a pre-emptor "talk."

He had been on his claim three months. He had built a fine large cabin, very comfortable and warm. That was all.

Asked as to how much land he had cleared on his quarter section, we were advised it was very heavy clearing, and who ever bought it would have a hard time preparing it for cultivation.

The speaker quickly got away from that question and launched out into an enthusiastic detailed account of the good times they (the pre-emptors) were having hunting, fishing, etc., etc., but not a word about adding to the value of the land.

Is it possible the mind of man is so beset with the personal comfort idea that our duty to the world, to our fellow men, to the accomplishment of some object of value and good to the race is a dead ideal.

One of this pre-emptor's neighbors had made a garden and grown some fine vegetables, splendid specimens of what the country could produce, and our pre-emptor and his neighbor and friends, not adding anything themselves enjoyed quite frequently and we understood constantly, of the one pre-emptor's labor.

the spring broke or go down to California until spring.

These are not the kind of men that are going to make Canada bloom like the rose. We have too many such and not enough of the true laborers.

The dignity of labor, the joy of doing and accomplishment is on the wane. Too many people seeking to live on the other fellow.

Instead of the Government being hard on the pre-emptor as many of them would make you believe, we think the whole law and principle of pre-empting land, needs reconstruction if the Province is to take its place in the front rank of wealth and industry.

The answer to this procedure of pre-empting, make this kind of settling for the fun there is in it, and 160 acres after three years of doing little or nothing. is the present state of the country.

The War and Financial disturbance has found us without a foundation.

The soil is the source of all wealth, but we have had no work done on it or development worthy of the name. The result is that serious distress faces the people. The buying power is becoming more and more exhausted daily.

The people having grown nothing, they have produced no wealth, have nothing to sell, and worse still, nothing to live on in these hard times.

They must have money to send out of the country to buy from others what they refused to provide for themselves.

These are just a few timely thoughts brought home by our present exegencies which we hope will sink into the hearts and minds of our readers.

Carry the thought to its natural conclusion, fill in the spaces with the thousand and one avenues your mind will lead you into and let us ask ourselves the question, how long can we go on existing on the people or ourselves instead of on the land?

Britain's National Debt

At the end of March last the National Debt of the United Kingdom stood at £707,654,000. Following the declaration of war against Germany, Parliament passed a vote of credit for £100,000,000, so that when this money is raised the National Debt will stand at over £800,000,000. In 1816, after the Napoleonic Wars, Britain's National Debt had reached the total of £900,436,000 the highest in the history of the country. Before the year 1770, the national debt had been comparativeiy insignificant. During the American War it increased from £129,000,000 to £250,000,000 and for the following eighteen years remained almost stationary. The Napoleonic Wars cost the country over £600,000,000. From 1816 to 1854 was a period of steady reduction, but the outbreak of the Crimean War in the latter year led to an addition of £33,000,000 to the national debt.

Canada's Gain

All signs point to the gain of Canada through the results of this war. Much as we dislike to feel that we are benefiting by others misfortunes, nevertheless this seems to be a well settled fact in the minds of all men of international reputation and business acumen.

First, after this war is over, with homes devastated and families broken, there will be no encouragement to begin all over again in the old places, and many of Europe's best people will come to Canada, the last white man's land, to begin once more. Then the taxes that will be a necessity in the countries devastated will make it wise to escape and the people will come to free Canada. Then the fear of more wars will settle in the minds of the people of what use to go on accumulating and rebuilding if again in a few years' time it all has to be lost in more war.

From the markets of the world comes the news of sixteen years' records broken in the prices of food stuffs, wheat particularly, in which Canada will gain as never before in the marketing of her crops.

The Herald has consistently maintained that the present is only transient, and that in the near future a greater prosperity is due than ever before for our great country.

THE GAME OF LIFE

GEORGE V. HOBART

Knock, and the world knocks with you,
Boost, and you boost alone!
When you roast good and loud
You will find that the crowd
Has a hammer as big as your own.

Buy, and the gang is with you;
Renig, and the game's all off;
For the lad with the thirst
Will see you first
If you don't proceed to cough.

Be rich and the push will praise you,
Be poor and they'll pass the ice,
You're a warm young guy
When you start to buy—
You're a slob when you lose the price.

Be flush and your friends are many,
Go broke and they'll say 'Ta! Ta!'
While your bank account burns
You will get returns,
When it's out you will get the Ha!

Be gay and the mob will cheer you,
They'll shout while your wealth endures;
Show a tear'ful lamp
And you'll see them tramp—
And it's back to the woods for yours.

There's always a bunch to boost you,
While at your money they glance;
But you'll find them all gone
On that cold, gray dawn
When the fringe arrives on your pants.

136,000 Tons Vanish At Sea In Three Years

Ships totalling 136,000 tons, faring forth from the world's ports during the last three years, have never been heard from. With them have been lost 1,000 lives, and the seas have given back nothing to show on what uncharted reefs disaster may have lurked. These are the figures of Lloyd's, and Commander J. Foster Stackhouse of the British Naval Reserve is now in Washington to secure American co-operation in solving these mysteries of the deep and in clearing the seas of hidden perils.

The residents of Berlin are fully as nervous about what may happen their city as the citizens of Paris.

Some Facts Concerning Printing . .

GOOD Printing need not cost you more than the inferior. It's success lies in the "get-up," type arrangement, and color scheme. It is simple and dignified type-setting that attracts. Simplicity appeals to all classes of people. The most pleasing attracts the most attention and consequently the most custom. A firm's goods are judged by the class of printing sent out. This is the most economical way of attracting fresh customers. Printing is a public link which connects the maker of the goods with the people who buy them, therefore, printing properly handled will always sell goods. Your brisker competitor knows this; You think he pays for it? He knows that YOU'LL pay for it, and you might as well pay for some for yourself as pay BY LOSS OF TRADE for his.

Winners of Saturday Night's Exhibition

Before an audience of several hundred enthusiastic fans, on Saturday night, at 10 o'clock, two of the fastest bouts ever witnessed in this neck of woods were fought in the Fort George Theatre.

(Written From The Losers Point of View)

McKay vs. Wilson

McKay and I entered the ring at the same time, each in our respective corner. In about two minutes the mitts were thrown into the ring and my second took his choice; referee Robarts then made his appearance and the next second the gong rang. I shook hands and returned to my corner. Time.

Round One.—I met Mac in the centre of the ring and we exchanged blows, McKay landing me a hard blow over the kidneys. I landed on Mac several times but with little effect. Rouud ended even.

Round Two.—Mac was inclined to fight at top speed and I tried to carry the pace and in so doing received a right swing to the jaw and I saw stars of all colors. McKay's round.

Round Three.—My wind was giving out but I continued to keep the pace and after some hard fighting Mc. landed a right arm jab to my jaw which put me to the floor, but not out; at the count of eight I began to rise but was again beaned on the jaw, and when the referee again called nine I made my final attempt to get to my feet, but Mac who was waiting administrated by a well aimed blow the 'haymaker' that put me away for the count.

Anderson vs. Kid Noble

I entered the ring a little late, Andersen having previously entered was seated in his corner. Referee Robarts then introduced us. The mitts being brought my seconds then proceeded to tie them, when I discovered to my surprise that one of the mitts chosen by my seconds had a torn thumb, I told the referee. Anderson not wishing to delay the fight gladly exchanged mitts with me and the scrap started. Time.

Round One.—Anderson landed several left jabs and I got in a few hook blows that made him take notice. Round ended even.

Round Two.—I landed several swings but with little effect. Anderson tore in and landed a hard blow that almost took me off my feet and outwitted me with his clever footwork. Anderson's round.

Round Three.—We met in the centre and exchanged blows, after which Anderson tore into me and I found it hard to guard off his blows as he seemed to land at will. I went to my corner weak and almost out of wind. Anderson's round.

Round Four.—Harry met me at my own corner and landed several blows that staggered me and I caught the ropes for support. I felt a heavy blow to the jaw after which all was blank. When I came to myself again I realized that I had been knocked out and had fallen through the ropes to the floor some five feet below, narrowly averting the piano in my downward plunge. With the exception of giving my shoulder a slight wrenching, I consider myself very fortunate in not receiving a more serious injury and feel none the worse for the accident.

Jack Robarts refereed both bouts and gave entire satisfaction.

The fans after seeing two of the best contested bouts ever pulled off in this district went home satisfied that they had received their money's worth of good clean boxing.

Toronto World.—The World does not believe that Germany can stand for many days the tremendous strain of her position, especially as it becomes not only more aggravated but wider also, more intensive, more extensive:

There is the strain of fighting in Belgium and France; the strain of resisting the Russian invasion on the farther border of Germany. The Slav peoples represented by Servia are a growing menace to Austria. Italy threatens to come in, anyway there is the strain of watching that side of the situation, and now the strain that Japan has caused by declaring war.

But if the strain of operation is enormous, still more intense is the strain of direction, the strain on the German general staff in charge of everything, directing the fighting, directing the defence watching the nations that are becoming daily more a menace. There is the strain of directing the navy, even if it does nothing.

Another almost overwhelming strain is the internal condition of Germany. Sixty million of people left at home who have to be fed, kept in heart, kept at work or at least from doing mischief; the wide-spread seeds of rebellion not sullenly bursting into revolution and tyranny of the military system. The strain and emotion of the women and children of the six millions of men under arms is almost beyond imagination.

Victories over the Belgians, the occupation of Brussels, the march on to Paris, does not relieve this accumulating strain.

The big and wise policy of Great Britain and the allies would appear to be to keep Germany under this relentless and growing strain that she has brought upon herself. Germany must blow up under it.

Ottawa Citizen.--The militarist rulers have thrown away Germany's trade. The German merchants' chance of ever getting it back would seem to be remote. No wonder the big shipping lines, with some of the finest ocean-going vessels ever built, are willing to sell out to the United States. All over the world the great machine of international finance is now concentrating on making profit by Germany's disaster, while the deluded common people do the toiling and fighting and suffering.

We have fir, popular, jack pine, spruce and balsam wood. Johnson & Finlaison.

The Labor of a Human Being

"The Labor of a human being is not a commodity or an article of commerce."

In these few simple words is embodied a great principle and fundamental truth.

Labor was a commodity and an article of commerce when it was bought and sold under cover of the common law, as in the case of indentured servants, when it was trafficed in by wholesale between nations and individuals as in African slavery, when children were exploited in mills; and when great employers imported thousands of working men to take the place of higher priced labor as in the states.

These infamies have all been stopped by law.

It is more than a sentiment even more than a principle.

It is an invincible truth as deadly to the mummers of so called political economy in the books as to inhumaity and greed in action.

A Montreal sauer kraut factory has gone out of business on account of the public prejudice against German diet.

ON BETTER BASIS FROM ECONOMY

The prospect of 135,000,000 bushels of wheat, and over 210,000,000 of other grains, must be taken as an indication that the farmers are in excellent circumstances. Deducting 10,000,000 bushels for waste, and 15,000,000 for seed, the balance at $1 net means over one hundred millions. In addition, there are other grains flax, oats, rye, and barley, in twice the quantities; though at two-thirds the price, the prospects for the farmers of the west are anything but dark. Furthermore the mixed farming done in the west this year has its harvest of hogs, sheep, cattle, and horses all bringing good prices.

While Canadians do not wish to be enriched at the cost of suffering and privation in the countries now being swept clean of everything by the fighting armies in the field, yet it is inevitable that the Canadian farmer must indirectly benefit from his produce, which must be bought by the countries reduced to starvation by the war.

Lord Kitchener sleeps and eats in the war office. A seasoned campaigner, ordinary comforts are disregarded when the tremendous responsibilities of his duties demand every moment of his time.

With The Sages

There are three things that come suddenly to mortals; they are life, death and love. One moment we are not, the next we live; one moment we are, the next we are not; one moment our hearts are cold, the next they are on fire.—J. R. Wallace.

Each man's mind is and unknown land to himself, so that we should not be at such pains to frame a mechanism of adventure for getting to undiscovered countries.—Samuel Butler.

The work an unknown good man has done is like a vein of water flowing hidden underground, secretly making the ground green.—Carlyle.

No wife should tell her husband of her mistakes, domestic or otherwise; he will see quite enough of them for himself.—Marie Connor Leighton.

War is that miserable desolation that finds a land before it like Eden, and leaves it behind like Sodom and Gomarrah.—T. Adams.

Our right to enjoyment is limited by the similar right of those who live at the same time as ourselves.—Maurice Maeterlinck.

Hundreds of people can talk for one who can think, but thousauds can think for one who can see.—Ruskin.

GOOD REASON

HE—Is your uncle good at golf?
SHE—Mercy, no! He's very profane.

HOW IS IT AT YOUR PLACE?

"How many people work here? asked the inquisitive one.

"Oh, about half," replied the genial proprietor."

SENSITIVE

WILLIE—Paw, where are all the talking machines made?

PAW—They are not made, my son. They are born.

MAW—You go to bed, Willie.

NOT ENOUGH

The man who said a sucker was born every minute cannot have known there are only 1,440 minutes in a day.

Sept. 24th.—The suspense and anxiety of the last ten days of the Battle of the Aisne has been keen. The battle of the Masne lasting 6 days and of Charleroi 3 days, were, it seemed, not so tense. The censorship is very strict. Our people live midst hope and fear.

Unconfirmed reports give the allies the better of the fight. Physical endurance of the armies engaged must soon give way to the stronger, and the question we are all waiting to have solved is to which side is the victory to be accorded.

* * * * *

London.—Three 12,000 ton battleships each of 21,000 horse power have succumbed, destroyed by submarines of the German Navy. The Aboukir, Hogue, and Cressy. A considerable part of the crews were saved.

* * * * *

New York, Sept. 24th.—An unconfirmed report via New York, states that Lord Kitchener made a quick trip across the channel and was in personal touch with the French and English armies at the front, directing the recent successful movement against the Germans.

* * * * *

Ottawa, Sept. 22nd.—The Bank statement for August will show an increase in circulation of $20,000,000. The greatly increased circulation shows the wisdom of the Government's Policy to strengthen the financial institutions and stimulate commercial activity.

* * * * *

Ottawa, Sept. 23rd.—The Western grain crop is moving more rapidly than for years. The crop promises to be larger than earlier estimates, and wheat reaching Winnipeg and Fort William is grading high.

The first two weeks of September 9121 cars were moved to 3352 in the same two weeks of last year.

Geneva, Switzerland, via Paris.—The destruction of the magnificent Cathedral of Rheims bv the Germans is condemned on all sides.

Not One Cent For Plunder.—One of the surest symptoms of ill health in men is indecision. Another is the exaggeration of difficulties, real or imaginary. Commercial debility is proclaimed in the same way.

GOOD ENGLISH

At a moving picture show:-"Young children must have parents."

In a barber shop-"During alterations patrons will be shaved in the back."

In a cleaning shop:—"We die for others—why not let us die for you?"

In a clothing store:—"These pants look better on your legs than on our hands."

TOO MUCH FOR IT

Patrice-I guess it's trying to get one of those hesitation waltzes out of its system

The Hidden Life

We live our inmost lives alone;
At best we are but little known,
And even those who know us best,
Have probed to find within our breast
That secret place, that hidden source
Of life's expression. But, of course,
They probe in vain. The life lived there,
No mortal soul may with us share
Deep in the confines of the heart
Where all life's mighty issues start
There is a hidden sphere, unknown
To others—there we live alone.
Alone! Alone! We long in vain
For sympathy to ease our pain;
For some heart that can understand.—Grace Howe Burby.
