The Chilaco Gardens--Paradise of the Agriculturist

Though the Mud or Chilako River is a sluggish water-way, it drains a huge tract of country. It rises in Lake Totuk, a small sheet of water on the eastern slope of the ridge which encloses the Ootsa Lake district, the watershed of the Nechaco. The Mud river then runs slightly south-east for a considerable distance, its volume being reinforced by the surplus waters of Nkltesby Lake and several creeks. Then it describes a sharp turn and takes a northerly course, following a sinuous way until it meets the Nechaco.

The plateau it drains has an altitude of about 2,000 ft., and has compelled the particular attention of the pre-emptor. If the luxuriance of the wild vegetation offers any criterion, then farming in this territory presents incalculably attractive possibilities. The natural grasses grow to a tropical height and density. Sugar cane grass 7ft., red top at 6 ft., brome grass 5½ feet and wild timothy topping 5 ft., were quite common. The vetches are also prolific, being found in such dense masses as greatly to impede ready progress. The growth is strangely diversified. There are some first class stretches of huge marketable timber; other land is covered with poplar and light scrub, which can be cleared easily; while the low-lying expanses are little prairies, on which the timber has been burned off, and are now covered with dense, dank wild hay, averaging in yield between two and four tons per acre, some of these lesser bush-infested stretches are of considerable area; two newcomers whom we met had staked some 3,000 acres of excellent meadowland, about seven miles above the point where we camped.

It is computed that the cream of this valley, suited to agriculture, aggregates about 36,000 acres, of which 15,358 acres have been surveyed by the government and are reserved for pre-emption at 4s. an acre. Whether fruit culture, beyond bush and ground fruits will be possible, only experience can tell, but it is anticipated that tree fruits should be successful up to about 3,000 feet altitude line. Wild bush-fruits flourished in profusion, and this fact lends color to the belief that apples, plums, pears, cherries, prunes, and so forth should do equally well on the bench lands.

The Nechaco valley proper is in reality an old lake bed. The soil is a thick deposit of silt, in some places running to a depth of 40 feet with a clay sub-soil. The silt is freely impregnated with thoroughly decomposed vegetable substance. The rainfall is just sufficient to stimulate growth to perfection, the temperature is equal, and the climate is about the same as that prevailing in Central Europe, which is only natural seeing that the latitude is about the same as that of the south of England.

After leaving the Mud River, we found the land reverting to its gravelly nature on the the high ridges, and more or less densely covered with the interminable jack-pine. While the soil in these upper situations is of little value from the farming point of view, yet, cleared of the timber, it would make excellent grazing, and it can be cleared expeditiously and cheaply by fire, and that the grass will grow thickly when afforded the opportunity is indicated very convincingly by the rich grasses found in the open spaces where the flames had already accomplished their clearing work.

Local and Provincial

Reports of the splendid crop yields of the year are being compiled by The Herald, and will prove to be a wonderful advertisment for the district. A rancher named Campbell from Cluculz Lake gave the following information to us this week which is a fair sample of what the past summer has accomplished. Mr. Campbell sowed 100lbs of seed potatoes in his garden. He informs us that he had lately dug up one row of the crop. This one row contained 125lbs, and there are yet nineteen rows to dig. He tells us also that he planted seed oats in similar ground in the middle of June which are now ripe.

O. B. N. Wilkie, P. L. S. arrived in town from his survey field this week.

Inspector of Surveys Drury, of the Provincial government service was amongst the arrivals on the steamer "B. X." yesterday. Mr. Drury will remain here on Departmental business for a week or ten days.

Owing to the exceptionally low water the steamboats are experiencing considerable difficulty in navigating some of the shallow reaches on the run between this point and Soda Creek. One place in particular, China Rapids, about half way between this point and Quesnel, obstructs free navigation considerably. It is confidently anticipated that the brand-new government will get busy on this river and carry out the work in which the Laurier administration failed in its duty to the people of the undeveloped area of British Columbia's Northern Interior.

W. M. Brown, a brother of Charles Brown of the local mercantile firm of Close & Brown, was amongst the arrivals on Friday's boat. Mr. Brown comes here from New York to visit his brother and parents, who are making an extended visit to their son here.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Church of England here. The building is framed and being enclosed and finished externally. The labor is being supplied voluntarily by local carpenters, and the material of the building is being supplied by subscription. The Rev. R. H. I. Williams is the spirit of energy and is winning many friends here by his commendable work for the Church.

The Socialists are completing a building and reading room opposite Campbell's drug store on Laselle Avenue, to be open for anyone who wishes to spend a few quiet hours reading.

Dr. D. B. Lazier has added an addition to his house on Fourth Street and has furnished the extra space for a consulting room and surgery.

George Henderson, of Slocan City, who is perhaps one of the best practical authorities on mining in the boundary country, looked over the mineral claims located near the Fort George townsite, last week. He stated that, in his opinion, there was not three hundred feet of the formation in place. The claims are located in a lime dyke, which can be traced for miles. That values may exist there in paying quantities Mr. Henderson does not dispute. The method of surveying about 100 mineral claims on ninety-five percent of which no development work has been done, smacks of flim-flam promotion methods.

W. J. Mackay, of The Herald, returned from a trip to the coast yesterday. Mr. Mackay states that from all indications South Fort weorge will be one of the liveliest towns on the G. T. P. route from next spring onwards.

J. O. Williamson left for Stuart Lake this week with a scow load of supplies for his store.—This is a fact.

Pete Landry, P. L. S. is expected here shortly from the Bear Lake country, for the winter.

A member of O. B. N. Wilkie's survey party was drowned in a canyon on the Bear River last week. No details are forthcoming at this moment.

A. K. Bourchier left here this week for Tete Jaune Cache with a scow load of merchandise to open a store at that point. Mr. A. G. Hamilton, of this town, is behind the enterprise. Mr. Bourchier expects to make the trip in thirty days. He is accompanied by Mrs. Bourchier and Mrs. Keith. Ten Indians are tracking the load.

From Vancouver comes a plea that The Herald will not expose the identity of one of the jail-birds in George Hammond's employ on the excuse that the man is getting a new start. We would suggest that the individual referred to is certainly not moving in an environment that speaks very well for the consistance of his effort. Some time ago George Hammond called the editor of this paper a blackmailing publisher in the Winnipeg Post. We are going to choke that statement down the bucket-shop crook's throat. When operating in Chicago George Hammond's success was generally accredited to an American adventuress named Eva Small. Hammond should look the lady up again—she was clever.

In Comox-Atlin the "man from the north" will not go east. In Yale-Cariboo the tooth carpenter who ran aganst Martin Burrell is buying a new stock of artificial molars. The Saturday Sunset in Vancouver, is once again beautifully discredited, and now well on the toboggan, and the Vancouver World is heard wheezing out vain regrets from under the debris.

A BRIGHTER FUTURE ASSURED.

The Northern Interior of British Columbia now has a chance to receive government recognition of her legitimate claims and requirements. Our member will have an opportunity of opening up the great section of the province that has laid dormant owing to the district having, in the past, been represented by a member of the opposition. The Fraser river between Tete Jaune Cache and Soda Creek needs opening up for the safe navigation by steamboats, and the dangerous rocks and shoals that menace the safety of lives and property should be removed.

FOUR YEARS OF MARRIED LIFE.

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. George McLaughlin on Fourth Street was the scene of a sumptuous banquet on Thursday evening last. The occasion was the celebration of the popular realty-operator's fourth year of married life. There were present a dozen or more guests, who sat down to an inviting repast. The flowing bowl was also there, and after the banquet music and cards were resorted to. Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin were the recipients of a present from the guests as a token of their esteem. The Herald is not given to the chronicling of social events yet in this instance the above gay affair was too great a success to be overlooked, and also marks an epoch in the existance of a most popular family so we hasten to add our congratulations.

EDMONTON DRUMMERS TO INVADE FORT GEORGE SOON

Russell Peden, of the Northern Lumber Co. here, who has been on a business trip to Vancouver and Edmonton, arrived here early in the week from Tete Jaune Cache by canoe, having made the return journey to this place via the G. T. P. line of construction and the Fraser River. Mr. Peden states that the interest in the Fort George section has increased a great deal since the settlement of the Indian Reserve deal here. In Edmonton the commercial houses are preparing to cater to the trade of this whole district, at present supplied from the coast cities via the Cariboo road. Many of the wholesale houses in the Albertan capital are sending their travellers into this new field this fall to accept orders for goods to be delivered next summer over the G. T. P. from Edmonton to Tete Jaune Cache, and thence by way of the Fraser River to South Fort George, Quesnel or Soda Creek. The contractors are making good progress with the grade, said Mr. Peden, and steel should be into the Cache by June of next year. J. Stewart, of Foley, Welch & Stewart, the contractors for the line, will make a tour of the route between here and the Cache in the near future, coming down stream by canoe. Mr. Peden had an uneventful trip down the Fraser from its headwaters, and has resumed direction of the company's milling operations here.

VAST COAL DEPOSITS IN THE BEAR LAKE COUNTRY

F. C. Swannell, P. L. S., arrived in town this week from an extended journey into the Bear Lake country on government survey work. Mr. Swannell gave The Herald some very interesting information regarding a section of the province of which very little has yet been heard. The Bear Lake country lies near the intersection of the 56th., parallel of latitude with the 127th. parallel of longtitude. Bear Lake forms part of the system of waterways that is the headwaters of the Skeena River. Many years ago, during the Findlay River and Manson Creek gold excitement, Fort Connelly, situated on the Lake was a supply station en route to the mines, but the Hudson's Bay post there is now non-existent except in name. Mr. Swannell was accompanied by Indian Agent McAllan, who is choosing tracts of land throughout the country for Indian Reserve purposes, under instructions from the Indian Department at Ottawa. Mr. Swannell surveyed the reserve at Bear Lake which includes the best of the waterfrontage on its shores. The route into the country is hard to travel. Stuart Lake is the point of departure northwards, from the trading-post area, and the journey is thence by way of the chain of lakes and their drainage rivers, principal amongst which are Tacla and Trembeleur Lakes and Driftwood River. On the shores of Bear Lake there lives a tribe of the ancient Sickanee Indians. They are aboriginal in the extreme, living the true Indian life, as hunters and trappers. They are meat eating Indians and do not cultivate the soil to any extent, but hunt in the glacier country north-east of the lake. As an agricultural section very little can be said for the territory owing to its high elevation, but from the little exploration of the country carried on up to the present time, indications would point to the fact that it is a good mineral section. Father Cocola of the Oblate Mission to Indians, who carries his ministrations even to the meat-eating Indians of Bear Lake, told The Herald that Indians had shown him a splendid coal area in that section.

A Faithful Employee's Vivid View of his Master's Magnanimity

The bird-of-a-feather flock of promoters in Vancouver, headed by the president of the Natural Resources Security Company Limited, are able to pass off the blitherings of their employees, squeezed into the press somehow, as bona-fide material coming from disinterested parties. When this company was engaged in showing up the get-rich-quick bunch of promoters in Vancouver last spring the "interests" headed by G. J. Hammond sought to exterminate us as a menace to their operations. We were then publishing, besides this paper, the Observer in Quesnel. George Hammond sent in a ten-cent printer named G. J. Hutchcroft, with a ready-printed rag to boost his interests and put the Northern Interior Printing Co., Ltd., out of business by advertising that they would publish land ads., at one dollar each. This man Hutchcroft recently arrived in Winnipeg, after having lived in Quesnel for six months. He talks as though he had nothing to do with the come-on gang, but admired their work. He was never within a hundred miles of this place, and was a printer on the Observer, which was then edited by a rag-picker from Minneapolis and a stock salesman who feeds from the crumbs which fall from the promoter's table. His "dope" handed out to The Winnipeg Telegram, ran, in part, as follows:

"My own opinion, said Mr. Hutchcroft, is that on the western half of the Indian Reserve is where the G. T. P. station will have to go, because the eastern part of the Indian Reserve is low land. I have recently seen the blue prints filed by the G. T. P. with the B. C. government showing the location of the railroad terminal yards on the Fort George Indian Reserve and they are exactly where they were shown on the maps of the Natural Resources Security Company issued over a year ago. I don't know how that company got their information, but I do know that they have done more for the Cariboo country and Fort George in particular than all the other townsite people combined. I have observed their policy for nearly a year and I know they are giving everybody a fair deal."

Mr. Hutchcroft's own opinion is carefully based on Natural Resources Company's instilled ideas for employees. As everyone knows the enterprising townsiters have carelessly shifted the station around their advertising maps to present the proper attraction for the particular land they were selling. When the operators have to fall back upon the blitherings of insignifigant printermen of the Hutchcroft calibre they are certainly up against it.

Ashamed to Publish Result of their Vote

The Fort George Tribune is ashamed to publish the figures of comparison between the votes polled on their Nechaco River townsite and that of South Fort George, which were two separate polling stations. The Hammond organ indulges in several columns of blitherings anent its own good work for the cause. If the Conservative party has to stoop to pander to the support of townsite organs, edited by the employees of an ex-American crook, by handing out columns of government advertising, it would seem to be degrading the name of the party. The Fort Georfe Tribune has very little influence beyond the ranks of the "sales solicitors" who use it to dress their windows with, as a necessary adjunct to the rest of their decoy methods of salesmanship.

We owe the Liberals of Hammondville a most sincere apology for an error which crept into our columns last week. In giving the results of the election at that town, we credited the majority of two votes to the wrong party. The correct results of the poll in get-rich-quick-George's townsite was as follows:

Liberals.....4. Conservatives.....2

CONSTRUCTION CAMPS BAD.

Reports of conditions existing in the construction camps through the Yellowhead Pass show that the sanitary condition and the regulations round there are deplorably lax. The railway commission does not appear to be active in the regulation of construction camp conditions, and this is very glaringly apparent in the Yellowhead today. There does not appear to be an efficient medical corps and contagious illness is raging in the ranks of the pick and shovel men. Something must be done.

Authentic Map of Townsites.

Showing areas sub-divided.

The plan reproduced herewith is authentic. It shows the situation of the lands subdivided into townsites here today. It is the first work of its kind published showing the location of the station grounds on Indian Reserve No. 1 here, sold this week for railroad townsite purposes, as filed in the Kamloops Registry office by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company. The plan was executed by the firm of Gore & McGregor, the well known provincial land surveyors who have been carrying on survey work in this section for many years past.

The lots initialed N. R. S. Co. lying to the west and south of the Indian Reserve are the various townsites owned, or being sold on a profit sharing plan, by the Natural Resources Security Company, of Vancouver.

The only buildings on any of their sites are located on subdivision 938, which is, together with 937, the land registered by them under the name "Fort George." Here the townsite company have built a large hotel, and a number of other buildings. The other subdivisions, Lots numbered 937, 1429 and 777 are at this time entirely undeveloped except for a few avenues cut through the jack-pine and two roughly graded streets. Lots 2608 and 2507 are known as the Hodgkins addition. This addition is owned by a number of Victoria speculators and is being sold by the Natural Resources Company. Lot 1427 is of doubtful ownership. It was staked in the name of Harbour Engineer Bacon of the G. T. P. at Prince Rupert, and is called "railroad property" on the advertising maps of the resourceful resources concern. It is not yet subdivided. All the above subdivisions are a long way from the present centre in the scene of townsite development here, and very little development work will be done on any of them, unless undertaken, as at the present time on Lot 938, by the owners.

Lot 417 is owned by the Hudson's Bay Company and their post, founded over 100 years ago, stands on it. The Provincial Government Agent's office is also located on this land. It is considered possible that the Hudson's Bay Company will subdivide their land together with the railway company. Lot 932 is the property of the Fort George Land Company. It has been subdivided but temporarily withdrawn from sale. Lots 933 and 934 are the townsites of South Fort George, the business, industrial and residential centre of the total area subdivided at this time. The whole of the waterfront on this townsite forms a natural dock, owing to the fact that the site is on a series of natural terraces the lowest of which is about ten feet above high water mark. On all the other sites, especially those on the Nechaco River, the river frontage is of little commercial value, owing to its height above the river.

Lot 1426 is owned by the Walch Land Company, of Winnipeg, and is a good property for residential purposes. Lot 913 is owned by J. M. Wiley, of Winnipeg. Plans are now being prepared for its sub-division. Lot 925 is owned by A. Lindsay, of Winnipeg, and is subdivided for residential property. Lots 1431,934 and 1432 are held under reserve by the provincial government. The large island at the junction of the two rivers is owned by Messrs Williams & Murdoff, of Vancouver, who will probably sub-divide.

The sub-divided area today aggregates about 2000 acres.
